Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 1. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2002

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING.

TO EACH READER OF THE ADVOCATE.

Nature's forms instinct with beauty,
They are round us everywhere;
One and all assigned some duty,
To be useful whilst they're fair.

Rose is made for idle splendor,
Though their use is past our ken;
Yet we know they hourly render
Service even unto men.

Graceful blooms on stems uplifted,
Sweet-toned birds of plume and song,
Each within its sphere is gifted,
Each within its sphere is strong.

And the same Creating Power,
Whence these lives are all sustained,
Bids the all enjoy their hour;
May this life be so ordained!

—Selected.

Selections.

"The Venice of the Orient."

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

The ten days spent in Soochow gave me opportunity to see and learn much of that famed and truly wonderful city. The capital of the large and wealthy province of Kiang-su holds a distinguished place among the great cities of China. Founded 2,400 years ago, a literary center from the days of Confucius, the home of scholars and statesmen, the silk and embroidery market of the Orient, like its lofty pagoda, the highest in the world, Soochow occupies the most exalted place in the affection and admiration of the Chinese people. Five hundred years before the Christian era its great wall was built, thirteen miles in length, fifty feet thick on top, with six massive gates that swing beneath magnificent arches worthy the triumphal entry of the gods. The streets are typically and uncomfortably narrow, but usually clean, and very busy communication with different parts of the city must be had on foot or in a sedan chair. I did not see a wheeled vehicle—not even a wheelbarrow, in that great capital of over 500,000 people. There may be some, of course, but the carriages and freight wagons are the coolies of coolies. Canals afford ample accommodations to certain distant parts, but not to the bongs, bazaars, temples, and pagodas—places of special interest to a foreigner. So on foot we went, and wandered for weary miles, hardly thinking of the rough cobble-stones until we got home. The streets are only roughly and unevenly paved. They are not rough, in fact, but have been worn as smooth as glass by the footprints of millions through the long and a half millenniums. If every stone had a tongue to speak, what history might be related of Kiang-su's magnificent and beautiful capital! The very thought is awe-inspiring.

The place first visited—and a most conspicuous building it is—was the Confucius Temple, which dates back to the year 300. Here, as in every other place of idolatrous worship yet seen in China, there is dirt and neglect. The idol images seem not to have been washed and burnished for a century, and the candlesticks might well be classed for a museum of antiquities with the period of Rameses. Can it be possible for a people who take so little care of their gods to have much faith in them? Will the heart neglect what the eyes? These questions would not down as I looked into the dingy, musty, malodorous temples dedicated to Buddha, Confucius, and Lao-tze, the founder of Taoulsm. This City Temple, which embraces two large buildings and thirteen smaller ones, and with its hundreds of gods, great and small, is the religious center of the capital. But not many faithful did we see at their devotions, and never in a temple have I seen more than two or three persons at one time engaged in worship. One young lad came, clothed in white and shod in sackcloth, to burn "ghost money" and candles for the benefit of his father, recently deceased. From the shrine, where he bowed his head to the floor three times, he retired to another building in which purgatory is grotesquely represented. There he burned money and bowed, sadly deceived with the superstition that his dead father would receive that money transmitted into the currency of the spirit-world, and thereby be able to provide for his needs. A handsome, intelligent-looking lad he was. How my heart yearned with a desire to teach him a more excellent way"!

In another part of the city is the Confucian temple. This is the center of a group of buildings within a large inclosure, surrounded by a high wall ten feet thick, and painted yellow, the national color. Here are buildings and rooms with tablets dedicated to the sages—a multitude which I had not the time to number. In the main building is an ornamental board in Chinese character, with this tribute to Confucius, "Teacher and Example for Ten Thousand Ages." And, indeed, no mere man has ever so controlled and molded the thought of so many millions as this sage of the Celestials. A man of marvelous gifts he must have been. His moral teachings are the gospel of the Chinese. They believe them, but do not practice them. If their lives were as good as their books, this would be a greater nation. This splendid temple is inhabited by thousands, maybe millions, of bats. I stood at the door and held my nose while studying the points of interest. The word for bat in Chinese, I understand, means happiness or good luck. These people, therefore, have great respect for the bat. Probably on that account he is allowed to take undisputed and indecent possession of this sacred shrine. Just in rear of the main building is another and smaller, dedicated to the mother of Confucius. The stone tablets, on which were engraved astronomical figures and the map of the city, I could not read, not being very familiar with "Soochow colloquial," or even with "Mandarin." All Chinese temples I have seen, except the "Beamless Temple" in Soochow, have the same style of architecture. The roof is tile-covered; the eaves project a great ways over the walls, and at the corners turn up in graceful curves. The several stories of the pagodas are so constructed, and nearly all the larger dwelling-houses in the towns and cities.

The "Beamless Temple," not very far from this great Confucian shrine, is so called because there is not a piece of wood in it. From foundation-stone to pinnacle everything is brick and granite. The second story is supported by a complicated system of arches, and so is the roof. It was so built in order to preserve the sacred books from fire.

En route to the temple, we passed the large yamen occupied by the Imperial Tailor and his retinue. A yamen is the official residence of an imperial officer. There are a number in Soochow. The Imperial Tailor is intrusted with the delicate and responsible duty of purchasing the silks, satins, and other goods found in this market, for the Palace in Peking. He has a large number of runners, keeps up quite an establishment, moves in august procession on the streets, and must be an important public functionary. But the "Son of Heaven," as the Emperor is styled, could not afford to be robed in silks purchased in the ordinary way. Just what margin the Imperial Tailor allows between the amount he receives and the sum the merchant is paid, one only knows from the fortunes amassed in a few years.

By far the best view of "The Venice of the Orient" is from the top of the Great Pagoda, 250 feet high. The irregular streets below can scarcely be seen, as the projecting eaves of the houses almost meet. Dr. Parker observed, as we stood on the veranda of that ninth story, the loudest noise in this city is the human voice. And so it was. Not the whistle of a single engine, or the buzzing of a flying wheel, or the whirring of a single spindle. Everything is done by hand, and every movement ordered by the human voice.

Had we remained a half hour longer on the Pagoda, we would have witnessed a shocking scene—the beheading of a criminal. We saw the execution grounds quite near, but had no thought that in a few moments human blood would stain that green grass. Only a few paces from the Pagoda, down the street, we met the officers with the prisoner in charge. In front a file of guardsmen, armed with muskets, marched in double ranks, followed by the prisoner swung to a pole with ropes, and borne by two men. His feet were ironed, his hands tied, and, with ropes around his body and legs, he was swung to a pole like a hog. The agonized expression on that poor man's face will follow me to the grave. Behind him came the magistrate with placid face, in a handsome sedan chair. He was to preside at the execution. In a few moments a headless body was thrown in the grave, and the head stuck up at a city gate or other conspicuous place as a fair warning to like offenders. Only the Christian religion will correct this barbarism. No nation can develop in civilization that adopts such a bloody and horrid mode of punishment.

In China no prisoner is punished before he confesses his crime. But to force confession, sometimes the most dreadful torture is practiced. At length the suffering man, to escape agony in death, confesses, that he may more speedily die. Except in cases of conspiracy, or when martial law is declared, all capital cases must be reviewed and passed upon at Peking.

The bongs and shops of a Chinese city do not display goods as in the West. You have to call for each article, which is labeled and securely covered. And the different goods are shown first; the best last. There is Chinese shrewdness in that plan. He asks a good price for the different article, and by easy process puts a higher figure on the better. Thus he has a liberal margin for scaling, and then make you pay well for all you get. That is well for Chinese profits. As a matter of fact, their manufactured goods, as a result of very cheap labor, are much lower than can be purchased in Europe or America.

On the streets I noticed boxes nailed up in conspicuous places. Knowing China had no postal system, I wondered what they meant. One of the brethren solved the problem by informing me that they were receptacles of bits of paper containing printed matter. So devoted are these Soochow people to learning, and so sacredly do they regard the Chinese character, that they would not allow a scrap to be trodden under foot. These are gathered up and burned with religious ceremony. Such is Soochow's tribute to letters.

On the morning after Conference adjourned I had the privilege of attending a Chinese wedding and enjoying (?) the feast. The marriage ceremony was performed by Dr. Parker in the First Methodist Church, the groom being a Christian, though the bride is yet a heathen. He came in first, arrayed in a long black satin robe, and wearing a hat, turban-shaped, with the brim turned up all round, and a red crown adorned with a gilt ornament. On the front pew he sat, as motionless as a statue, and impassive as a North American Indian. There was no twinkle in his eye, or play of smile in his face, to indicate joy on his wedding day. The bride soon appeared at the door in a red sedan chair, and was conducted down the aisle by two women, as the heavy red embroidered cloth over her head in the shape of a veil would not allow her to see. The ceremony over, the young groom bowed to the minister and the friends, and then retired, going immediately to his own home to await his bride. We went to the house, were admitted into the bridal chamber, and got a glimpse of the bride's face. Her eyes were closed, and she said not a word; and, according to Chinese custom, would not speak to anyone till the next day. Red is the bridal color—so everything was brilliant. The trunks containing her trousseau, furnished by the groom, were red, as also the candles which were burning, the pictures on the walls, and spread on the bed. The two large, red candles represented the two young people, and it is a superstition among them that the one which burns the longest will rule the household. They are watched carefully as the flame seeks the socket. The wedding feast, which we attended, and which was also furnished by the young benedict, was in the dining-room at Buffington College. We ate with chop sticks, the groom acting as head waiter and giving general direction. The bride was at home a few blocks away. The following is the list of dishes, most of which I sampled, and a few somewhat enjoyed: 1. Watermelon seed; 2. Pomegranate; 3. Orange; 4 Sugar cane; 5. Pickled plums; 6 Redham jelly; 7. Green beans; 8. Sliced ham, with sea-weed; 9. Cucumbers, with shrimps; 10. Shark fins, with cabbage and pork; 11. Chicken, with sea-cucumber; 12. Cold chicken, with oysters and cabbage; 13. Duck, with pork and bamboo shoots; 14. Hog brains and marrow; 15. Mushrooms and collards; 16. Gizzards and livers; 17. Cold duck, with jelly-fish; 18. Cold pheasant, with greens; 19. Boiled ham; 20. Boiled pork; 21. Shrimps hashed; 22. Sugar and pork fat dumpling; 23. Rice; 24. Porpoise.

For a napkin, at close of feast, a towel dipped in hot water is handed each guest. A few towels serve quite a company. All the wedding toggery among the poor and middle classes is rented. The expenses borne by the groom even then are large, and often involve him in debt requiring a long time to pay.

Another rare privilege we had—a call upon a distinguished gentleman of the official class, an ex-governor of a neighboring province. Bro. Gray accompanied us, and acted as interpreter. We went in sedan chairs. Our cards, on red paper and in Chinese character, were sent in before us, when the wide doors swung open and our chairs borne into the spacious court. There a satin-robed gentleman, the governor's secretary, received us, and led the way into a large reception-hall, where the aged statesman in silk stood alone to give us greeting by bowing quite low and shaking his own hands. He conducted us into another reception-room, furnished in approved Chinese style. Between every pair of chairs around the three sides of a room is a small table—the chairs and table at the end, opposite the door, being the largest and handsomest. They are the seats of honor, the first place on the left. Tea was served at once, the courteous host taking each cup from the servant with both hands, and presenting to his guests. It is polite to return the bow, and receive it with both hands. We were as Celestial as possible. Then talk began, the venerable statesman, according to Chinese politeness, asking the age and birthplace of each, where we were from, whither going, how long we would remain in China, and what was our business. We, in turn, inquired as to his age, and expressed surprise that a gentleman of seventy-two should look so young and vigorous—a compliment he was not slow to appreciate. He talked quite intelligently of the war between Japan and China, and spoke very kindly of America's attitude thereto. One curious question the old gentleman asked much amused me. He inquired if the fung shui was favorable with us. Fung shui, literally "wind and water," means good luck—fortunate circumstances, etc. He treated us most politely, and expressed gratification at our call. After thirty-one years in the public service, he has retired to spend the evening of life in his native city.

The governor's innocent question about the fung shui recalls some things seen and heard which show what tyrannous influence it has over this superstitious people. En route to the Great Pagoda we passed the house of a very wealthy gentleman, and this story was told me in connection with him. He had serious sickness in his family, and applied to a fung shui doctor to ascertain the cause. The shrewd old fraud saw his opportunity. After patient and pious (?) inquiry he discovered that it was because the gentleman's land was not in a Chinese square—another's property projected somewhat into one corner. He, of course, made ready to purchase. The doctor told the other poor householder not to sell until he gave the word, bargaining with him as to amount of his lion's share. The few square yards were not worth more than one hundred dollars, but he stood firm until $10,000 were paid. Whether the sick recovered, I did not hear; but the doctor feathered his nest comfortably off the superstition.

Not far from Buffington College, to the east, I noticed every day a number of tall, bare poles. They are over the mansion of the distinguished P'ang family, and placed there for fung shui protection. When Dr. Parker put a modest clock-tower on Buffington College, it was higher than the P'ang mansion, and disturbed the spiritual equilibrium between that aristocratic home and the Juk Pagoda to the west. So, in order to restore the lost harmony, these poles were erected, reaching up to the height of the clock-tower. It is passing strange that a people so strong-willed and full of brains should be dominated and degraded by such arrant nonsense. Only the truth of God will ever exorcise that direful superstition.

We looked into two or three silk-weaving huts. There are no large factories, with hundreds of operatives and improved machinery propelled by steam. All those beautiful silks and satins, of richest colors and rarest figure, that have made the Chinese the marvels of exquisite taste and delicate workmanship, are made by hand, and in the humble dirt floored huts of the poor. I wondered that such beauty could come out of dirt. The looms are crude, wooden, old-time things, worked by hand. One man throws the shuttle and pulls the beam, while a boy, perched on a seat above, manipulates certain strings by which he lifts and shifts the sleys, and produces those figures of every lovely pattern. The silk thread is furnished these weavers, and the work done for a maximum of ten cents a yard.

In that way also embroidery is done. There are thousands of women in Soochow so employed. They get the thread from a dealer and do the work at home—and for a mere song. If poor, tired fingers can make eight cents a day, good wages are supposed to be earned.

All gentlemen above the coolie class wear long finger nails. They look like claws, but are much esteemed and carefully cultivated. If able to afford it, silver shields are worn for their protection; if not, bamboo is substituted. Long finger nails are an evidence that the person is not engaged in manual labor. Dr. Parker is authority for the statement that some clip them occasionally to be used as a medicine. Just how they are compounded, and what place they occupy in the Chinese materia medica, I did not learn.

Mission work in Soochow has been prosecuted under many difficulties and against stubborn opposition, but the day of a larger hope has dawned. Both the Northern and Southern Presbyterians have been working there for twenty years and more, and the Baptists began about seven years since. Our cause is progressing most hopefully. I shall be greatly disappointed if the next few years do not show a marked advance.

On Thursday afternoon, with a pain in the heart, I bade the dear friends in Kiang-su's capital a regretful good-by.

Shanghai, Oct 22 1894

—Nashville Advocate.

"Displacing the Religious Press"

The following, from the Advance, is heartily commended to all our readers:

The Congregationalist, discussing the estimates made by two daily papers of the opportunities and requirements of modern religious journalism, says:

Religious newspapers are spurred by their competition to a broader outlook, a larger charity, and to greater enterprise. They will hold and enlarge their influence only by meeting the greater wants of their constituents. But those which have steadfast confidence in the religious aspirations and faith of Christian readers are finding encouraging response to their efforts. Religious journalism requires greater abilities and greater toil than ever before.

The papers alluded to think that religious journalism is declining because daily journalism is taking its place. They say that the religious paper that makes its secular features most prominent suffers least. There is truth in the last statement. The church paper that ignores secular affairs deserves to suffer as much as the secular paper would should it entirely ignore all religious facts and affairs. Both kinds of papers have their "spheres," but both have some things in common. If harvests are large, record of and comment upon the fact in the religious paper are as dutiful as the celebration of Thanksgiving Day. If there is war in the Orient, the outline history and record should be made for reasons other than that battles may endanger Christian missions. If a church burns, the daily paper records the disaster. If the whisky trust is threatened by bankruptcy, or is conspiring to corrupt legislation, the religious paper should utter its opinion in editorials which may be more like a dry sermon than are the editorials in a daily. Some people read the daily regularly, but never go to church or read a church paper. Others read their church papers and do not see a daily ten times a year. The church paper may be the only one that enters some families, and it should therefore be an outline record of significant secular affairs, which record will include the only significant points that remain after lies are unsaid, alleged news is proven false, and the real facts are definitely ascertained.

This work requires training, hard work, hard cash, observant looking after the world's progress, matured intelligent judgments, and should be as well done and as well said as if prepared for the best daily in any land. If a church paper neglects this records and secular discussion, the intelligent family that proposes to keep in touch with the world will read a secular paper that does not forget there is a world. Then, when times grow "hard," the church paper will be forgone and the secular paper will remain. The religious paper that thus forgets there is a world, and people interested in the world, will itself be forgotten. Itself the only reminder of the church in that family, the church also will be forgotten when the religious paper goes out of the family.

A religious family paper can be a messenger from both the church and the world. If properly constructed it can mirror the church's aims and the needs, struggles, mistakes, and care and salvation of the world. A good church paper is the church's messenger and reminder. It co works with the pulpit. No one needs to compare the relative spheres and values of the paper and of the pulpit. The intelligent accept both, and each of the two servants magnifies the work and sphere of the other. The daily paper will supersede the church paper when the lecture platform supersedes the pulpit, and the market-place has displaced the temple. The church paper should not have less religious reading, but should rather have more secular contents. The issue should be large enough to contain both. It mistakes when it is exclusively religious, and when it lacks enough religious and churchly contents. It may be well too large for one person to digest in full, but it should present a portion for each in due season.—Advance.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

This is the age of woman's rights, woman's elevation. Let the good work go on. In due time the law of fitness will have its way. Madame de Stael once asked Napoleon Bonaparte who was the greatest woman in the world. He replied brusquely: "The woman who has borne and reared the greatest number of children."

"During 1894 the annual Juggernaut procession in Serampore (India) did not take place. Not enough enthusiasts could be secured for the pageant. Praise God, from whom all blessings flow!

Hard times because of abundant crops! Farmers suffering because of cheapness of wheat and cotton—the result of over production. Anybody to be pitied?

The Fortnightly Review contains an elaborate treatise on the subject, "The State as a Patient." Sickness and remedy are explained. But he does not make mention of the vast number of physicians treating the invalid, each provided with his panacea. Poor patient!

Gladstone's translation of Horace's odes is universally condemned by critics. Should not think that he had any qualification for such work. The poet poignant, terse, epigrammatic; the translator verbose, prolix, diffusive. Gladstone is a man of great versatility but here his gifts proved insufficient.

Forty three banks and other prominent business firms of Denver, Col. have addressed a petition to the governor of that State not to close the gambling-houses, etc. It would render many valuable structure tenantless. Vast pecuniary loss would ensue. The dollar is the god whom the said petitioners worship.

A writer in La Medicine Moderne asserts that sedentary occupations predispose to tuberculosis more than any others. He gives statistical proof.

We ought to judge a man's merits not by his qualifications, but by the use he makes of them.

Lord Rosebery insists that temperance should be made a matter of public regulation. Nine-tenths of all crimes are committed by men and women while under the influence of alcohol.

Jew Dean.

The Dwight Manufacturing Company, of Massachusetts, has selected Alabama City, four miles from Gadsden, Ala., as the site for its $500,000 cotton factory, and the Alabama people want the other Massachusetts company, which is looking for a location for its $500,000 factory, to locate there as thereabouts.

... THEM BACK

If you should find a little lamb
Out in the dark and cold,
You'd want to take it home, I know,
And put it in its fold

And you would give it food to eat,
And make it sung and warm;
You'd put it in the shepherd's care,
Lest it should come to harm.

Christ's little lambs are not all safe,
They're wand'ring everywhere;
If we love him as Peter did,
They should be in our care.

And we must lead them back to him,
Our Shepherd strong and good;
His fold is large enough for all,
And he will give them food.

—Exchange.

Communications.

From "Rex B."

MR. EDITOR: I have read Bro. Featherstun's letter in last week's ADVOCATE with much pleasure. It strikes me as being timely, sensible, clear and logical. It occurs to me that the apostles of the second-blessing theory will be in a bad box when their peculiar doctrines are subjected to the test of scriptural warrant, and that their only peg on which to anchor their belief will be found in the utterances of Mr. Wesley, and a few others who have allowed their imaginations to get the better of their common sense and their respect for the God of all grace. That Mr. Wesley taught and believed in a second blessing, I admit. I do not claim to be much of a theologian; but when Mr. Wesley asks himself the question, "Is there such a thing as Christian perfection?" and answers it in the affirmative, and then a little further along asks, "Is it absolute?" and says, "No," I immediately feel a sense of fatigue. When anything is perfect, it is perfect, absolutely so, or the English language is a poor medium of thought and communication! Taking the arguments adduced by Mr. Wesley, in his "Christian Perfection," as a whole, or in sections, they strike me as being lame and unworthy of the founder of Methodism, and unworthy a place in any system of theology. In fact, when I had finished reading, I was less impressed with the truth of the doctrine than before I began. But knowing that Mr. Wesley, Watson, Clarke, Coke, and others of the great lights in Methodism, believed and taught the doctrine of a second blessing, are we and the church to swallow the heresy simply because they did? Is the opinion of these eminent Christian gentlemen to be the rule and guide of our faith and practice, or is the Word of God the standard? If the former is to go, then we are in the same fix as the Pharisees, to whom the Master said, "In vain ye worship God, teaching for doctrine the commandments of men." We are taught in the Word that the way of life is so plain that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need make no mistake. This being true, the doctrine of salvation, by sections and in broken doses, must, of necessity, have no place in the plan of redemption, for the reason that it is not susceptible of easy explanation, and nine-tenths of its converts are utterly ignorant of its intricacies, its crooks, turns and contortions. Some of them believe themselves sinless; that the old Adam is destroyed; that they can't lose what they have got—no, not if they tried to do so! In other words, a part of the literature they are circulating teaches and emphasizes the doctrine of once in grace, always in grace!

I think Calvinism is as reasonable as to assume that God Almighty trifles with human souls, which is the doctrine taught by some of the great lights in the second-blessing contingent. Bro. Carradine told us that God, out of consideration for the weakness of humanity, when he convicts us of sin, forbears to reveal the true state of our case all at once, but simply convicts of actual transgression in regeneration, and prior to the reception of the second installment of divine grace shows that the devil is in and will undoubtedly get us unless we join the army of the elect! His reason for dividing the work into two acts is, that no sinner could be confronted with his actual sins and a knowledge that the devil, in the shape of the "residue theory," is in him, and survive the knowledge! The arm of God is not shortened that he can not save to-day, as he did when he stretched forth his hand and touched the leper; nor was there a period of convalescence in the case of Peter's mother-in-law, or in that of the man sick of the palsy! On the contrary, the leper was cleansed, Peter's mother-in-law got up and got the dinner, and the paralytic took up his bed and went home. Nor was the resurrection of Lazarus, or that of the widow's son, performed in sections! Now, if these miracles of our Lord have any signification, they are typical of the power of divine grace in the salvation of sinners, as well as to demonstrate the power of the Son of man to the people about him. The Brazen Serpent was a type of our Lord, and the effect of a look at it was instantaneous, and the cure accomplished at once, not in broken doses.

It seems to me that the idea that our God, infallible in mercy, who "so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life," all powerful as he is, must take two trials before he can accomplish the purification of a human soul, is an insult to Deity and an outrage on common sense. Aside from the fact that there is not a word in the Bible that can be justly construed as teaching such a doctrine, the above is, to my mind, a sufficient refutation of the heresy. The fact that the apostles of the new dispensation can and do find a second blessing secreted in hundreds of passages of Scripture proves nothing, for the reason that common sense rejects the interpretation put upon them.

In the interpretation of Scripture, the character and attributes to Deity must be kept in constant remembrance, and no meaning should be assigned to any passage inconsistent with that character and those attributes. This being true, and none will dare deny it, it follows that the assumption that God saves souls like a man builds a house won't answer at all. A sinner comes to God for salvation; he fulfills all the requirements of the gospel, in the way of repentance towards God and faith in the Lord Jesus, and we can in the light of God's character and attributes confidently believe that when he says, "I will, Be thou clean," that the work of salvation is perfect in all its parts and complete as a whole! No after-clap except a steady growth until the full stature of manhood in Christ Jesus is reached. When our Lord enlightened Nicodemus as to the way of salvation, he said nothing to him about the child jumping from infancy to manhood at one leap. He assumed that Nicodemus had sense enough to know that such a thing would be contrary to reason and nature, as well as common sense, hence we find nothing in the third chapter of St. John's Gospel, which is the corner-stone of Methodist theology, on which to build a second-blessing theory. It is to be hoped that our second-blessing brethren will heed Bro. Featherstun's suggestion; drop Wesley, Watson, Carradine, Fletcher, et al, and trot out at least one passage in God's Word that, without a forced construction, can be made to substantiate their creed. I would like to see and read one, if it can be found; but there is little probability that I shall be gratified in that respect.

Now, a word in reference to the presumptious tirade against Dr. Walker in same issue. I think it has come to a pretty pass when such upstarts as Rev. A. C. Burt presumes to read such men as Dr. Walker a lecture on Methodist doctrine and standards, and exhort them to make higher attainments in grace. It his effusion is a specimen of the work of divine grace in the shape of a second blessing, I much prefer that of regeneration, which has the effect, if no other, of causing those who experience it to treat old age with respect—to be meek, humble, gentle, considerate of the feelings of others, although they are counter to our own opinions. Fraternally, REX B.

Natchez, Nov. 26.

Methodist Standards of Doctrine.

There is very evident a wide-spread ignorance of what are included in "our standards of doctrine," and of what our church requires concerning her standards.

1. What are these standards?

The term occurs but once in our Discipline, viz: In our first Restrictive Rule, where the General Conference is forbidden to "alter or change our Articles of Religion, or establish any new standards or rule of doctrine contrary to our present existing and established standards of doctrine." There is not one word in our Discipline to indicate what these "standards of doctrine" are. McTyeire's Manual does attempt to indicate what they are; but different editions give different statements concerning the matter. Good as the manual is, it is in no sense law, and in some instances it is not even a correct interpretation of law. Dr. Tigert, in his Constitutional History of American Episcopal Methodism, shows that in 1808, when this Restriction Rule was adopted, it was generally understood among Methodists in America and England that the standards of Methodist doctrine were the Twenty-five Articles and Mr. Wesley's fifty-two sermons and his Notes on the New Testament. The English Minutes of 1784 and the American of 1789 indicate beyond all question that these were then the standards of doctrine. No change in this matter took place; therefore, in 1808, when the delegated General Conference was provided for, and this Restrictive Rule was adopted, these were still "the present existing and established standards of doctrine." No addition to this list of standards and no subtraction therefrom can be made until this Restrictive Rule be either abolished or amended. This has never been done—adopted in 1808 it stands unchanged to-day. These were the "existing and established standards of doctrine" in 1808; they must be so to-day. Everything else is by this rule excluded. Watson's Institutes have been written since then, the Hymn Book was not then in existence; for them to be considered standards would be a positive violation of both the letter and the spirit of this Restrictive Rule.

That a book is put into the Course of Study for undergraduate preachers does in no sense make it a standard: if so, our Bishops, who select these books, would be frequently violating this Restrictive Rule; and the Discipline which empowers the Bishops to fix this course of study would itself indicate a gross violation of it on the part of the General Conference, which made the law which thus empowers the Bishops. The putting of Watson's Institutes into the course gives it no more force as a standard than the putting therein of the works of Fisher, Pope, Tigert, Porter, or Broadus, some of whom are not Methodists at all, nor do our Bishops intend to indorse all of the utterances of these books.

2 What does our church require concerning these standards?

Does it require of me to accept as infallible truth every statement found in them? Must I do this or leave the church and disclaim being a Methodist? Much light has been thrown on New Testament exegesis in the last four or five decades of discovery and deeper learning. Must I shut my eyes to the truth and accept Wesley's interpretation, or else leave the church and renounce Methodism, in the event I find something in his Notes contradicted by the light of later discovery or deeper learning? Let us see!

1. The only belief required of one who joins our church is a belief in the Apostle's Creed. (See Discipline, pp. 207 and 210.) Not one word is asked about accepting any other standards of doctrine.

2 When itinerant preachers are received into full connection certain questions are asked. (See Discipline, pp. 69 and 70.) In none of these is there one word about standards of doctrine.

3. In our ordination service for deacons the candidates are asked: "Do you unfeignedly believe all the canonical Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments?" (pp. 237 and 238). Not one word is said about any other standards of doctrine.

4 In our ordination service for elders the candidate is asked: "Are you persuaded that the Holy Scriptures contain sufficiently all doctrine required of necessity for eternal salvation through faith in Jesus Christ?" He is also asked: "Will you be ready with all diligence to banish and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrine contrary to God's word?" Not one word is said about other standards of doctrine. (See pp 246 248.)

5 In our Discipline provision is made for trying preachers and members "who disseminate, publicly or privately, doctrines contrary to our Articles of Religion." (See pp. 119, 124 and 128.) Here nothing is mentioned as a standard save the Articles of Religion; and the offense is not holding or believing, but disseminating doctrines contrary to these articles.

Now, suppose a preacher should join issue with one of the fifty two sermons or with the Notes on the New Testament by Mr. Wesley, and yet not with the Bible, has he violated any promise or covenant? He certainly has not. Suppose his utterance does not conflict with the Twenty-five Articles, has he committed any offense? Not according to the Discipline. Why should he quit the church or renounce Methodism? Let Mr. Wesley himself answer: "The distinguishing marks of a Methodist are not his opinions of any sort. His assenting to this or that scheme of religion, his embracing any particular set of notions, his espousing the judgment of one man or of another, are all quite wide of the point. Whosoever, therefore, imagines that a Methodist is a man of such or such an opinion is grossly ignorant of the whole affair; he mistakes the truth totally. * * * We believe the written Word of God to be the only and sufficient rule both of Christian faith and practice. * * * But as to all opinions which do not strike at the root of Christianity, we think and let think." (Wesley's works, Vol. V., p. 240—Ed. of M. E. Church, 1839.) With Dr. Tigert I plead, "Let us get back to Wesley." Let us learn that a Methodist is not a heresy hunter, not tied to any hobby dogma; but, in the spirit of the Master, is ready to think and let think."

In what sense, then, are Wesley's Notes and first fifty-two sermons standards? In the sense that they are, in the main, correct expositions of Scripture. To make them more than this would be to invest Mr. Wesley with infallibility. An infallible founder is as monstrous as an infallible Pope; and an infallible Wesley is nearly as unthinkable as an infallible Leo. Nothing could have been more repugnant to Mr. Wesley himself than such a suggestion. In his preface to these sermons, he says: "Some may say I have mistaken the truth myself. * * * It is very possible that I have. But I trust, wherein soever I have mistaken, my mind is open to conviction. I sincerely desire to be better informed. I say to God and man, 'What I know not teach thou me.'" Mr. Wesley never dreamed that he had reached the ultimate facts of Revelation.

As a matter of fact, is there an intelligent Methodist in England or America to-day who accepts everything Mr. Wesley wrote, even in his Notes and first fifty-two sermons? For instance, in Sermon XLV. he most certainly teaches that infants are regenerated in baptism. (See also Works, Am. Ed. of 1839, pp. 12 and 13.) Who of us can accept such an assurdity?

A human standard is a fallible standard—a fallible standard must be a standard only in a secondary sense. For a church to set up a fallible standard, and require strict conformity to it, would be a disgrace to nineteenth century civilization, and repugnant to common sense. Ours is not such a church.

The Deed of Declaration, which is the charter of British Wesleyan Methodism, written by Mr. Wesley himself, and our Fifth Article of Religion, with the vows required of our preachers, indicate beyond all question that the Bible is the only standard of Methodism in the sense of being an infallible guide to the truth. Mr. Wesley's Notes on the New Testament and his first fifty-two sermons and our Twenty-five Articles may be called standards only in a secondary sense, as being, in the main, correct expositions or expressions of truth. Neither Watson's Institutes nor the Hymn Book, nor any other book in or out of the course of study, can in any sense be called a standard of Methodist doctrine.

H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

History Repeats Itself.

(Concluded.)

"Then the high priest rose up, and all they that were with him (which is the sect of the Sadducees—'suitable associates for such deeds'), and were filled with indignation, and laid their hands on the apostles, and put them in the common prison. But the angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, 'Go, and stand and speak in the temple all the words of this life.' And when they heard that, they entered into the temple early in the morning, and taught. But the high priest came, and they that were with him, and called the council together, and all the senate of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought. . . . Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence: for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned. And when they had brought them, they set them before the council: and the high priest asked them, saying: 'Did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name (Christ)? And behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us.' Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, 'We ought to obey God rather than men.' Then stood there up one in the council, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a doctor of the law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apostles forth a little space; and said unto them: 'Ye men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what ye intend to do as touching these men. . . . And now I say unto you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to naught: but if it be of God, ye can not overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God.' And to him they agreed: and when they had called the apostles, and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer such shame for his name. And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ." And read Second Psalms also.

Are any of "the people imagining vain things" now, for the purpose of trying to repeat any of the history we have been just going over? If so, they had better "agree to" the judicious counsel of the learned and prudent Gamaliel, and stop their futile folly, and profit by the sad fate of those who have already blundered and fallen, and the glorious results that have followed in spite of them. And, if any misguided Lilliputian undertakes to belittle the founder of Methodism, whom "the Lord raised up to spread scriptural holiness over these lands," and whose memory is revered by all wise and good men, and then pretend that he ministers "spiritual things," and that, therefore, the Methodist people ought to support him temporally, he will stultify himself egregiously, and soon come to grief. He will be apt to incur the just condemnation due a renegade son who attempts to disparage the memory of his own father and mother, who had wasted their lives in anxious solicitude and arduous toil trying to make something of him, and help him get to heaven, at least.

Brethren, let all be reasonable, and "do unto others as they would have others do unto them." "If ye bite and devour one another, take heed that you be not consumed one of another." Let everybody avail themselves of all the warmth and fullness of God's love and blessings, and none stand out in the cold and dark shivering and "gnashing upon others with their teeth." Let each help the other his burden to be and so fulfill the law of love.

D. W. FOSTER

Plaisance, La.

What is the Sin of Nature?

This is a question of no mean importance. The basis doctrine of our holy religion is the fall of man, his consequent depravity. "Sprung from the man whose guilty fall corrupts his race and taints us all." There is an intimate connection between correct scriptural views upon this doctrine and that of holiness and sanctification. It was when David felt his deep, thorough depravity that he wrote: 'Behold, in iniquity was I brought forth, and in sin did my mother conceive me. Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts; therefore do thou cause me to know wisdom in the recesses of the heart. Cleanse me from sin with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow. Create unto me a clean heart, O God! and a firm spirit renew thou within me."

The same great principle and truth is manifest in the experience and writings of St. Paul. It is worthy of note that David, in the Old Testament, and Paul, in the New, have left us fuller descriptions of their experience, and more prayers for our instruction, than all the other writers put together. The fifty-first Psalm and the seventh chapter of Romans ought to satisfy any reasonable man upon this subject. Paul has a deeper and clearer insight into the nature of sin—the sin of our nature—and with keener anguish cries out, "Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?"—or this body of death. (See Mr. Wesley's notes on the seventh chapter of Romans.)

It seems to me the very same criticisms and objections which are brought against our standard doctrines on the subject of sin in believers, and the sin, or depravity, of our nature, can, with equal consistency, be brought against the standard doctrines of the Holy Scriptures, specially those in St. Paul's epistles. "Having, therefore, beloved, these promises, let us cleanse ourselves from all pollution of the flesh and of the spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God." (II. Cor. vii, 1.) It is in harmony with this instruction that we are taught to pray, "Grant that all carnal affections may die in us, and that all things belonging to the spirit may live and grow in us." This petition teaches the distinction between the carnal and natural affections. No church would ever have in its ritual, 'Grant that all natural affections may die in us." That would be a vain and superstitious prayer, and no sensible person would say, Amen! to such a request. An intelligent and earnest member of the Christian Church said that prayer against carnal affections came mighty nigh being Scripture. Glad that prayer ever found a place in my memory and heart. It has been a great blessing to me; has been offered and accepted and heard. Carnal, carnality—these are harsh words; no music in them; they belong to the same class St. Paul uses in describing the works of the flesh. They grate upon the ear—the carnal mind, carnal tendency. Pure nature is all right; carnality in every and in all degrees is wrong. Would that every minister and layman would close this year praying and living on the line of this wise petition, "Grant that all carnal affections may," etc. There is a natural birth and a spiritual birth. There is a natural life and there is a spiritual life. How wondrous is St. Paul's sentence, "There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body!" That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit. Human nature has wonderful capacity. The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us. God was manifest in the flesh. We are warranted to pray to be filled with all the fullness of God. There is only one obstruction, and that is sin. We have three definitions of sin: all unrighteousness is sin; whatsoever is not of faith is sin; the transgression of the law is sin. It is the only evil of the universe. We must pray, live, and preach against it.

J. A. PEEBLES.

Selections.

Waiting.

I am amazed beyond the telling at the hoping and waiting which some people pass through. There is no brighter name in all English history than that of Thomas Clarkson. It was while a student at Cambridge in 1785 that he wrote a Latin prize essay on the slavery question. That essay was translated into English, and here you have the very first blow against the one hundred and thirty ships that were then engaged in the slave trade off the coast of Africa. Associations were formed in the principal towns; other essays were printed and scattered broadcast; Wilberforce and Pitt were soon over, and did giant service in the House of Parliament. Finally, in 1796, after thirteen years of constant agitation, the bill of Wilberforce against the slave trade was brought to a vote—and lost.

Nothing daunted, Clarkson again took up the work. By essay, by appeal, by statistics gathered from slave ships, he allowed no rest, until finally, in 1807, after twenty-two years of effort, he saw his measures triumphantly carried through, and England free forever from sympathy with the monstrous evil.

And it is some such waiting as this that is linked with so much of our work. The instances are rare when success comes sharp on the heels of effort. For the most part, we have to wait and wait, oftentimes for months and years. It is by line upon line, and precept upon precept, here a little and there a little, that any great good is wrought out. It is half a century from the cone up to the topmost bough of the pine, and it may take nearly that time for any great good you set in motion to be pushed up very far.—Ex.

Keep Right with God.

A child of God should not leave his bedroom in the morning without being on good terms with his God. We should not dare to go into the world and feel: "I am out of harmony with my Lord. All is not right between God and my soul." In domestic life we are wise if we square matters before we separate for the day. Let us part with a kiss. This method of unbroken fellowship should be carefully maintained toward God. Be at perfect rest with him. "Acquaint thyself with him, and he at peace, for thereby good shall come unto thee." If you can not get rest with God, perhaps some fault of character may prevent you enjoying that perfect rest. See where that flaw is. Are you living in any sin? If so the sun may have risen, but there is a bandage over your eyes; you will still be in the dark. Get rid of that which blinds you. Or are you trusting yourself, as well as trusting in Christ? Are you relying on your experience? Then I do not wonder if you miss the rest of faith. Get rid of all that spoils the simplicity of your faith. Come to the Lord, and rest in him. Tell out your grief to Jesus, and he will breathe on you, and say, "Peace be unto you."—Our Young Folks.

A Pagan Wonders.

A high-caste Brahmin of Bombay has published for the edification of the world his "Impressions of America." He says, innocently or ironically, that this being a Christian nation, a pagan from the East has no business criticising it; but every man has a right to wonder, and this man wonders—wonders much, how "rich ladies and gentlemen, with very high notions of modesty and morality, can go to the theater," and witness the shameful indecencies which he there observed. Evidently our pagan Indian philosopher does not understand that fashion in this country has power to forgive all manner of sins.—Christian Standard.

From the time that at my mother's feet, or on my father's knee, I first learned to lisp verses from the sacred writings, they have been my daily study and vigilant contemplation. If there be anything in my style or thoughts to be commended, the credit is due to my kind parents in instilling into my mind an early love of the Scriptures.—Daniel Webster.

Conversions out of season as it were, resulting from the regular services, are the surest test of vitality in the church. When they do not occur, we should seek a deeper and fuller life, and key our faith and zeal to a higher pitch.—N. C. Advocate.

Mark the man or woman who seeks and sees something good in everybody; there goes a magnificent soul.

One trouble with the world is that there are too many church members and not enough Christians.

You can't expect to feed the mind from the garbage box and look as if you ate heavenly manna.

We try to judge ourselves by our feelings, but God will judge us in the end by our dealings.

Christ fans to get rid of chaff (Matt. iii, 12). Satan sifts to get rid of wheat (Luke xxii, 31).

Idleness in its commencement is like a spider's web, but it finishes in a chain of iron.—Anon.

Every man that wants to make the world better ought to begin with himself.—Ex.

Every time a bad man throws mud at a good man he hits himself in the face.

Our actions are our own; their consequences belong to heaven.—Franol

A Parting Word

There is no work which appeals to my heart as that of encouraging young men to higher manhood and nobler deeds. While I lay down this work for the present, it is the dream of my life that some day Providence will open up a field of usefulness on this line.

Millsaps College is a child of Providence. Generations to come will rise up and bless Maj. Millsaps and Bishop Galloway. One a leader in the financial world, the other a leader of the minds and hearts of men—both a necessity to the establishment of this great institution. The college has had a phenomenal success—yet the successful past is only a prophecy of a brilliant future. The college is getting on the hearts of the people. Enthusiasm is a great endowment—faith and prayer are still greater.

I wish here to express my thanks for the many courtesies extended to me while agent of the college.

In a ministry of eighteen years I have never known a brother who combines to a greater degree all the elements of Christian character as the president of Millsaps. True, kind, wise, and loving we meeting the great responsibilities traveled on him as few men could. Smiles, this king of men! The faculty, interest. Moore, Weber, Smeardon the Arab, Ricketts and Kime of the Sommer S. W. monsoon, is not valid. As the vessel tosses and pitches the brain seems displaced, the stomach loses its strength, the heart its hope. At night you sleep, if you can; in the daytime you recline on deck and wonder if you will have any energy again.

April and May are the hottest months of India. After leaving Trichinopoly I made for Ootacamund, on the summit of the Nilgiris, the Sanitarium of Southern India, the Summer residence of the governor of Madras Presidency, 7,000 feet above the sea, where, with a flannel suit on, you can be comfortable without a fire in Winter or a fan in Summer. Verily, "Ooty," as they call it, is a noble, royal place, with its beauteous lake, public park, evergreen peaks, and beautiful flowery homes.

In all Southern India, and Ceylon, besides horses, bullocks are used as carriage and buggy animals, and it was very interesting at "Ooty" to see even ladies and gentlemen of rank drive up to the fine church door in comfortable bullock-drawn vehicles, and then at the end of the service trot away again.

After four days at "Ooty" I went to Bangalore and spent another four days full of interest, with the climate as cool as could be desired. This city has over 100,000 native population, besides a large British cantonment. It is a British procession in the midst of the independent territory of Mysore; and enough British soldiery to keep watch over the King of Mysore and all Southwest India is stationed there. There is an American Methodist Church in Bangalore; but on Sunday, because nearer to my boarding-place, I attended the Wesleyan services. I was anxious to attend the monthly meeting of all the missionaries of the city Monday night; but after visiting the modern palace of the King of Mysore Monday morning, in the afternoon I took train for Goa, capital of Portuguese India, intending to make a pilgrimage to the tomb of Francis Xavier, "the Apostle to the Indies."

Just before getting out of the territory of Mysore the train passed the Arsikere, largest of the 30,000 lakes and tanks of Mysore, all of which are connected by a marvelous network of canals. In this region, and indeed almost everywhere in India, are seen from the train occasional great herds of sheep and goats, as well as cattle. To reach Goa the line pierces and climbs the Western Ghauts. Near one station it passes over the foot of a beautiful waterfall, called Dudh Sagar, "Sea of Milk."

Goa is on a red-soiled, long, mound-shaped island formed by the sea and some river estuaries. The limit of the railway is Marmagoa Harbor, from whence one crosses to the island in a ferry. Then it is three miles to Panjim, or New Goa. Carriages are obtainable; but I put my satchel on the head of a native who was going the same way, and we went afoot. It was warm, but the road was paved and smooth much of the way, and I wished to go slowly to observe the fort across the river on the left, the palms, shrines and travelers along the way. They were chanting in an old cathedral at the roadside; but most interesting were the wayside shrines of the Virgin Mary and St. Francis. They remind of the Shinto wayside shrines in Japan, with this difference—that the Shinto shrines are often of carved wood or stone, and add to the picturesqueness of the view, whereas these plastered Catholic shrines, with their cheap images, only display the degenerate taste of the Jesuits. The same taste shows itself still, too, in the great palace of the Archbishop, which after several years is just being finished on a fine hill above Panjim. Altogether it is a fine building, and commands a

Notice.

Arriving on the Shreveport district, I find that no arrangements have been made for a home for the presiding elder. However, I am glad that this matter has not been entirely overlooked, but that committees have been appointed to secure funds for this purpose. I trust that each one will push the matter vigorously until sufficient funds may be obtained, at least, to rent and furnish a modest, but comfortable home. Send all moneys to S. B. McCutchen, Shreveport, La.

For the present I have arranged to board my family at the college building in Mansfield.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

Rheumatism in the back, shoulders, hips, ankles, elbows, or wrists, is caused by accumulation of acid in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid and cures rheumatism.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless and reliable.

Bro. R. S. Gale.

The powers of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences are respectfully requested to turn their attention to a question concerning the act of superannuating Bro. R. S. Gale. The [illegible] left it with his presiding elder whether or not he should be [illegible] Mississippi Conference. [illegible] drove at daybreak [illegible] to Old Goa, now in ruins and deserted save by a score or two of priests and servants, but once "Golden Goa." At a time when British enterprise was struggling into barely tolerated existence in India, Goa presented a scene of political and ecclesiastical magnificence, to which, it is said, modern Calcutta has no parallel. The ruins show themselves dimly among the thick growth of palms and other trees. Several cathedrals and convents remain fairly well preserved to show what there was. One cathedral is very large and magnificent. It is the only one in which the daily service is regularly held, a score of priests being hired by the governments for this purpose. While its organ pealed and the priests chanted the morning mass, I climbed far up to the top and saw the huge bell that used to toll the Auto-da-fe. In another fine church is the chapel that holds the silver coffin of Francis Xavier, which, together with its alabaster sarcophagus, is said to be the finest mausoleum in Asia, excepting that of Queen Taj at Agra. Its magnificence, however, is of a different kind from that of the great royal, Mogul tombs of North India, and it is difficult to compare them, except as to cost. Here the heavy silver coffin is the chief part; there the bread marble houses that cover and support the coffins are the chief. Among the many sculptures in the silver I remember specially one representing Xavier acting as servant to a Japanese knight, another of him at the court of the King of Bungo in Japan, and a third of him kissing the ulcer of a patient in a hospital at Venice. For a long time the body was remarkably well preserved, and this was claimed to be miraculous; but since some relic-seeking lady bit off one of the toes, and since the Pope had one of the arms cut off to be sent to Rome, the body has shrivelled so that they are both ashamed and afraid to exhibit it any more.

But after all the superstitions that the Catholics throw around that remarkable life have been taken off, it remains that Xavier was one of the greatest of Christian missionaries. Thousands of pilgrims to his tomb from all parts of India yearly attest this fact.

I went out through a handsome old river gateway, a relic of "Golden Goa," with a fine statue of Vasco Da Gama on it; and by flagging down the little steamer embarked up the river.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. W. C. Harris, Corinth, Miss., Dec. 26, 1894: "We came to our new work on last Thursday. We received an appropriate and cordial welcome. We begin under favorable auspices."

Rev. J. F. Evans, Carrollton, Miss., Dec. 21, 1894: "We are now comfortably domiciled in the parsonage for the Carrollton station. Our reception was in keeping with the love and Christian kindness of this people. With the parsonage furnished and the table supplied, we are ready for the work."

Rev. A. T. Bell, Marion, Dec. 22, 1894: "This has been a very happy day in the old parsonage at Marion. I heard it rumored, when we got back from Conference, that our people intended to 'pound' us, but did not anticipate such a tornado as that which burst upon us to-day. During the day there were premonitory sprinklings; but about 7 P. M. the storm came in full force, and quite a crowd of people invaded us, bearing all sorts of gifts. Among the good things we have got are two loads of wood, cakes, hams, fruit, tea, light bread, fresh pork, soap, souse, molasses, sugar, roast chicken, butter, etc. We spent a very Discussions by New Orleans Preachers' Meeting.

FIRST QUARTER.

Jan. 7—Devotional Meeting. The New Year: How Can Each of Us Make It an Advance over the Past Year? Lewis A. Reed.

Jan. 14—Hindrances to Revivals: How to Overcome Them. C. M. Lyons.

Jan. 21—Relation of the Pulpit to the Reform Movements of the Day. J. L. Pierce.

Jan. 28—In How Far Did Mr. Wesley Intend to Copy the Church of England in the Constitution of the M. E. Church in America? Dr. J. B. Walker.

Feb. 4—Devotional Meeting. The Faith That Looks for Immediate Results of Work for the Master. T. K. Fannt LeRoy.

Feb. 11—What Is the Faith Healing Taught in the Bible? Frank N. Parker.

Feb. 18—What Can Be Done to Further the Plan of the General Board of Education? H. I. Ahrens.

Feb. 25—The Authorship and Historical Setting of the Epistle to the Hebrews. J. M. Henry.

March 4—Devotional Meeting. "Take Heed Unto Thyself"—1. Tim. iv, 16. J. B. A. Ahrens.

March 11—What Can Be Done to Bring the Outlying Masses of Non-Church-Goers to Our Services? Dr. J. T. Sewyer.

March 18—The Epistle to the Colossians: Historical setting, polemic character, and adaptation to our own times. R. H. Wynn.

March 25—What Attitude on Our Part Toward the Seashore Camp Meeting Will Best Serve Its Ends? Fitzgerald Sale Parker.

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

If the hair is falling out, or turning gray, requiring a stimulant with nourishing and coloring food, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is just the specific.

Live louder than you shout. Let the life within authenticate the life without. In a word, keep Christ in the heart, and the life itself will sing and shout his praises. "You see that man there in the body of the house? He's a great shouter, isn't he?" "Yes, he's been making a good deal of noise in the meetings." "Well, he won't say anything to-night when I speak." Sure enough; he was silent. "How do you account for it?" said the speaker. "He owes me five dollars." Get right.

A Noted Minstrel.

M. T. Skiff, formerly business manager for W. J. Scanlan, the Irish Comedian, suffered with Rheumatism for years without relief until he bought a bottle of Drummond's Lightning Remedy. Two bottles made a well man of him. There are a thousand remedies for Rheumatism, but none have received the unsolicited testimonials from prominent people as shown by Drummond's Lightning Remedy. When a cure is wanted, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will ship to your express address two large bottles of the remedy—enough for one month's treatment. Agents wanted.

The Emperor of Russia is said to be the only European monarch whose life is not insured. The companies all rated him as an undesirable risk, and, owing to Nihilistic tactics, as too hazardous to handle.

A Veteran's Story

Jos. Hemmerich.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich, an old soldier, 529 E. 146th St., N. Y. City, writes voluntarily. In 1852, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a struggle of several years in hospitals, was discharged as incurable with Consumption. Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends as a blood purifier and tonic medicine, especially to comrades in the G. A. R.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Try a box. 25c.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. No Postals Answered. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Creddock & Co., 1082 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on sala[illegible] county, "young" lady or "young" Experience not necessary. [illegible] accepted. Must deposit $[illegible] Address P. O. Box [illegible] (Mention this paper.)

You Dye 30 minutes [illegible] others. Just the thing for [illegible] dresses, capes and clothing [illegible] new. Anyone can do it. [illegible] Try them and see. Send 4[illegible] color. Big pay for agents. [illegible] FRENCH DYE CO.

TAKE [illegible] N WATTS, DENTIST. [illegible] 18) CANAL STREET, [illegible] ome Sewing Machine Office, NEW ORLEANS.

And if you are troubled by [illegible] ow treatment all operations in the chea[illegible] eth are Positively Painless by the tooth or patient. Old, [illegible] ed teeth, mere shells and roots of teeth are cured at once and made serviceable for life, at very little cost.

☞ Gold Crown and Bridge Work within the reach of all. Sets of Teeth Cheaper than ever before Made in this City. All Work Guaranteed to Give Perfect Satisfaction. Hours: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Mrs. C. L. CHRISTIAN,
Ladies' - Purchasing - Agent,
PETERS AVENUE, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
oct Jao 25

USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED

TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms. Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away, as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine. None "genuine" without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $1.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to

DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer, Dixon, Ill.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

☞ Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95 (new 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

Axle Grease, Rope, Wagon Jacks, Well Buckets, Oars, Fishing Tackle, Twines, Whips, Scales, Brooms, Brushes, Lanterns, Lamps, Blank Books, Paper, Bags, Axes, Hatchets, Handles, Refrigerators, Water Coolers, Demijohns, Bottles, Corks, Soaps, Sponges, Mops, Flies, Cutlery, Meat Saws, Syrup Kegs, Bungs, etc. . . . . .

Woodenware and Tinware.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street,
NEW ORLEANS.
City and Country Trade Solicited.
E. F. DYER, Pres't. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

DR. CHILES'
Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally, as applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.

DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE.

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

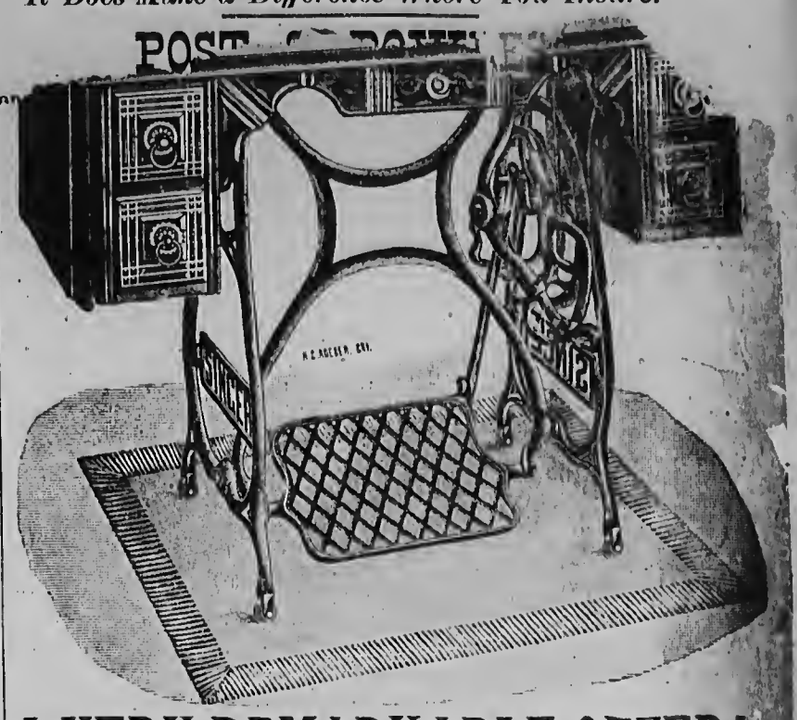
The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years, - $84,520,680
N. Y. Life, " " " " " - 40,684,163
Equitable, " " " " " - 40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington, 90 miles shortest to Birmingham, 60 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Operates [illegible] Shreveport to Cincinnati, all cars of one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

E. W. BARRETT, A. G. P. A. 34 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La. [illegible] HARDY, A. G. P. A. [illegible]

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

IT IS THE

SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE

THEM BACK.

If you should find a little lamb
Out in the dark and cold,
You'd want to take it home, I know,
And put it in its fold.

And you would give it food to eat
And make it snug and warm;
You'd put it in the shepherd's care,
Lest it should come to harm.

Christ's little lambs are not all safe,
They're wand'ring everywhere;
If we love him as Peter did,
They should be in our care.

And we must lead them back to him,
Our Shepherd strong and good;
His fold is large enough for all,
And he [illegible] them food.

A. W. C. BLA[illegible] Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. HEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KENNER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

One inch,	1 week	$ 1 00
" "	2 weeks	1 60
" "	3 "	2 00
" "	1 month	2 40
" "	3 months	6 00
" "	6 "	12 00
" "	12 "	20 00
Two inches,	12 "	36 00
Three "	12 "	50 00

Four or more inches, $15 per inch, per year. Special position, 25 per cent. extra.

Thursday, January 3, 1895.

The city government has picked up the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE — editor, printers, type, press, brick and mortar, real estate and all—and removed it from 112 to 512 Camp street. Let correspondents take notice.

Pat was looking through a fence at a bull which was in a very bad humor. All at once Pat commenced laughing uproariously. When asked why he was laughing, he replied: "I am laughing at the fun I am going to have out of that baste when I get over the fince and hold his nose to the ground." When his fit of laughter had somewhat subsided, Pat sprang over the fence and approached the enraged bovine to put his threat into execution, when all of a sudden he found himself high in the air. He fell just over the fence with a heavy thud which stunned him for a moment. As soon as he could pick himself up, he exclaimed, "Be jabers, it's a good thing I had my laff beforehand; else I wouldn't have had it at all." This applies to the runts, as Lafferty calls them, who are laughing tremendously over the fun they are going to have in revolutionizing Zion. It is well for them to laugh now, for this is the only chance they will ever have. They will be more dilapidated than Pat was when the fun is over.

My Boy.

Horace Mann once said in a lecture that the raising of one boy from the clutches of intemperance was worth more than all the revenue derived by his State from the liquor traffic. After the lecture was ended some one asked him if he did not think that the statement was exaggerated. He replied, "Not if it was my boy." There is a whole world of argument in that sentence. Father, suppose that your son should be the next victim of the saloon, which you have assisted in establishing by signing your name to a petition. Imagine that son going, as thousands as good as he have gone, through the various stages of genteel tippling, irregular debauches, and regular drunkenness down to a drunkard's grave and a drunkard's hell. Would it be a consolation to you to remember that your city has derived a revenue from the ruin of that noble boy? If this experience should be yours a few years hence, will it be a mitigation of your anguish to remember that you prayed the city fathers to open that trap-door into hell?

God, infinite in mercy, who "so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life," all powerful as he is, must take two trials before he can accomplish the purification of a human soul, is an insult to Deity and an outrage on common sense. Aside from the fact that there is not a word in the Bible that can be justly construed as teaching such a doctrine, the above is, to my mind, a sufficient refutation of the heresy. The fact that the apostles of the new dispensation can and do find a second blessing secreted in passages of Scripture [illegible] loaded. [illegible] reason that York is now becoming [illegible]. The better race tracks are close[illegible]ntes into the course gives it no or are advertising their stakes for as a standard than the with a large "if." Breeders and rivers [illegible] of the works of Fisher, racing stables are preparing to wagon—[illegible] or Broadus, some leave the State and the pool- rations. [illegible]dists at all, nor rooms are wide open and are to indorse all doing a rushing business on This is de[illegible] these books. races run in other States. Such our judgment [illegible]hurch require an outcome is what might have Iron Wheel" i[illegible]rds? been foreseen and is the usual re- to circulate in[illegible] to accept as in- sult when good men who mean than those [illegible]tement found in well allow themselves to be led by papers whose [illegible]s or leave the bigots on the one hand and to be is abuse to the [illegible]ing a Method- used as cats paws by blackmail- [illegible]been thrown on ers on the other. [illegible]ds in the last [illegible] discovery and Legislators, like the Trojans of old, should beware of the "Greeks bearing gifts," and should fear the results when they find gamblers and schemers working hand in hand with fanatics for a moral reform. It looks as if they were finding out their mistake too late in the State of New York, and that the Legislature which meets in January will not be able to get them out of the pit into which they have fallen and which was dug for them by the proprietors of the pool-rooms.

The above from the Times-Democrat, of the twenty-sixth, is a trifle puzzling to one uninitiated into the mysteries of the ethics of secular journalism. The Times-Democrat has on several occasions of late spoken in strong terms in opposition to gambling, as well as other vices; and we were simple enough to believe that these utterances were sincere, and that the Times-Democrat was really a champion of good morals. Is it possible that we were mistaken in this? So it seems from the above editorial. The good people of the State of New York in the recent election put into the organic law of the State a clause prohibiting gambling. This was done by an overwhelming majority. The people who rendered this verdict against the gambling infamy were not the Tammanyites, or the saloon ring; on the contrary, they were the very best people in the State. They were the religious element—members of the various churches. Yet these people the Times-Democrat characterizes as "bigots" and "fanatics." What is the matter with our neighbor? What change has come over the spirit of its dream? Oh, we have just thought. Betting on a game of cards is an infamous vice that ought to be repressed by the strong hand of the law, while betting on a horse race is a virtue that ought to be encouraged by the law making power as well as by the press. Is this our neighbor's ethical code? We would really like to know.

Revolutionizing Zion.

Southern Methodism has many able editors; but among them all there is not one who has a keener scent for humbuggery, or who knows better how to puncture a gas-bag, than the veteran who sits upon the tripod of the Old Richmond. In its issue of the twentieth the Richmond contains the following:

History goes round, and comes back to the same place. Just now O'Kelly is revolved in view. The old cry of "Republican Methodism" is reshouted in a noisy way. The spent arguments of the "Mutual Rights" are picked up, like battered bullets on old battlefields, and fired as if brand-new ammunition. Rant revolutionists have scraped of the greasy slime that gummed the axle of the "Great Iron Wheel" (a coarse caricature of our system of church government, which fell years ago into deserved decay, dirt and dismal contempt by reason of its inherent vileness), and painted their faces in war stripes with [illegible] Our Sunday [illegible]

The Sunday for January, [illegible] bran-new dress [illegible]hurch and new design on the first page of the cover. New type is used in the body of the work. The editor announces his programme for the year. The Normal Department is to be conducted by Prof. H. M. Hamill, who is recognized as one of the best workers in his line in the United States. The Doctrinal Teaching will be presented by Rev. Paul Whitehead, D. D. The Primary Department will be under the supervision of Miss Bertha W. Tucker, of Baltimore. "The Orientalisms of the Lesson" will be discussed each week by Rev. M. B. Chapman, late editor of the St. Louis Advocate. The Blackboard Illustrations will be prepared by Charles A. David. Each of this corps of writers has been selected on account of special fitness for the work assumed. The samples presented in this number are such as to whet the appetite for more. Our Sunday-school Magazine now compares favorably with any we know of. Dr. Kirkland has already vindicated the wisdom of the General Conference in electing him to this important position.

Bishops Are Men.

One of the new lights of the tripod sagely informs us that Bishops are men. What a wonderful revelation! What? The son of Adam who happens to poll more votes in a General Conference than anybody else—is he a man after that? Doesn't he at once become a god? Does he eat and drink and sleep like other folks? Who ever heard of such a thing? What a pity that this oracle did not come into the world sooner to enlighten its dense ignorance. Perhaps this wonderful sage will after a while tell us that evangelists are men also? How the world does move!

The Church Paper.

The church paper has a value that is too little appreciated. What the members of a church need to make them intelligent and loyal in the support of their denominational enterprises and institutions is information as to the progress and needs of the work. One who is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions and requirements of the church's activities may not always be a liberal supporter of these activities. Because of a defective early training, or of peculiar social conditions, he may refrain from meeting just obligations. But certain it is that the one who lacks a fair knowledge of the church and the agencies which it employs to promote its work can not have a broad-minded, generous interest in what is going on. He must know in order that he feel and do. The mission of the church paper is to give this helpful knowledge.—Religious Telescope.

thing else is by this rule excluded. Watson's Institutes have been written since then, the Hymn Book was not then in existence; for them to be considered standards would be a positive violation of both the letter and the spirit of this Restrictive Rule.

That a book is put into the Course of Study for undergraduate preachers does in no sense make it a standard: if so, our Bishops, who select these books, would be frequently violating this Restrictive Rule; and the Discipline which empowers the Bishops to fix this course of study would itself indicate a gross violation of it on the part of the General Conference, which made the law which thus empowers the Bishops. The putting of Watson's say to God and man, 'What I know not teach thou me.'" Mr. Wesley never dreamed that he had reached the ultimate facts of Revelation.

As a matter of fact, is there an intelligent Methodist in England or America to-day who accepts everything Mr. Wesley wrote, even in his Notes and first fifty-two sermons? For instance, in Sermon XLV. he most certainly teaches that infants are regenerated in baptism. (See also Works, Am. Ed. of 1839, pp. 12 and 13.) Who of us can accept such an absurdity?

A human standard is a fallible standard—a fallible standard must be a standard only in a secondary sense. For a church to set up a fallible standard, and require strict conformity to it, would be a disgrace to nineteenth century civilization, and repugnant to common sense. Ours is not such a church.

The Deed of Declaration, which is the charter of British Wesleyan Methodism, written by Mr. Wesley himself, and our Fifth Article of Religion, with the vows required of our preachers, indicate beyond all question that the Bible is the only standard of Methodism in the sense of being an infallible guide to the truth. Mr. Wesley's Notes on the New Testament and his first fifty-two sermons and our Twenty-five Articles may be called standards only in a secondary sense, as being, in the main, correct expositions or expressions of the truth. Neither [illegible]

It is announced that "since the Japanese have occupied Seoul, the capital of Korea, the king of that country has issued a decree proclaiming freedom to all religions and the abolition of slavery, granting permission to widows to re-marry, abolishing the law by which the whole family of a criminal should be punished with him, and instituting other reforms."

It is pleasant to know that the very respectable delegation that went to Washington last week to see the Secretary of State on the matter of the Armenian atrocities were cordially received by him, had an interview of two hours, and came away with the conviction that our government would do all that it properly could to prevent the recurrence of such outrages.

BOOKS.

BALCONY STORIES. By Grace King, 245 pages. Illustrated. Cloth, $1.25. The Century Co., New York.

The reputation of Grace King as an author is well established, so that the mere imprint of her name at once enlists the attention of the public. In this volume the author recounts a few "experiences, reminiscences, and episodes, picked up as only women know how to pick them up from other women's lives—or destinies, as they prefer to call them, and told as only women know how to relate them." Creole life in Louisiana, more especially in New Orleans, pre-eminently the city of balconies and charming verandas, is the theme vividly illustrated by the scenes and incidents described. Quaint indeed, yet realistic and fascinating, are the pictures here presented of a people and of a form of civilization fast being transformed. These tales of Louisiana life will prove entirely interesting to those who know somewhat of the race and language peculiarities treated of. The book is neatly printed and bound, and is adorned with a number of beautiful engravings. For sale by Geo. F. Wharton & Bro., New Orleans.

ROYAL HELPS FOR LOYAL LIVING. Daily Readings for a Year from the Seers and Poets of all Ages. Compiled by Martha Wallace Richardson. 16 mo, red edges. Price, $1. Postage free. Thomas Whittaker, Publisher, 2 and 3 Bible House, New York.

This is a delightful and helpful year book. God's Word, a text for every day and hearty words of cheer from God's honored servants, both in prose and praise, are to be found on every page. The selections are exceptionally good, and a number of tender and comforting poems are to be given in full. The extracts are made with remarkable care and judgment, and so large a company of writers have been drawn on that it has unusual value. It is just the book for a holiday gift, for its blessing will bide for many a year.

devour one another, take heed that you be not consumed one of another." Let everybody avail themselves of all the warmth and fullness of God's love and blessings, and none stand out in the cold and dark shivering and "gnashing upon others with their teeth." Let each help the other his burden to be and so fulfill the law of love.

D. W. FOSTER.

Plaisance, La.

What Is the Sin of Nature?

This is a question of no mean importance. The basis doctrine of our holy religion is the fall of man, his consequent depravity. "Sprung from the man whose guilty fall corrupts his race and taints us all." There is an intimate connection between correct scriptural views upon this doctrine and that of holiness and sanctification. It was when David felt his deep, thorough depravity that he wrote: 'Behold, in iniquity was I brought forth, and in sin did my mother conceive me. Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts; therefore do thou cause me to know wisdom in the recesses of the heart. Cleanse me from sin with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow. Create unto me a clean heart, O God! and a firm spirit renew thou within me."

Conference[illegible] principle and truth was grante[illegible] experience and writ- cause to all [illegible] It is worthy of [illegible] $100,- 000 as a memorial fund, in honor of Dr. H. F. Johnson. The object of this endowment is to put a liberal education under Christian influences in reach of every deserving young woman.

Believing that this cause will certainly commend itself to all our people and to indicate by force of example what our object is, we will give one pupil from each pastoral charge in the Mississippi Conference free tuition. Of course, this gift is to the girl who otherwise could not come. Is it asking too much of you, my brethren, to request you to make this offer known to all young women of your acquaintance?

Whitworth is here to bless the church with earnest, consecrated women. Send the girls and young women of your charges to Whitworth, and we will send them back home able to do any work God has for them to do.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Pres.

Brookhaven, Miss.

One Answer.

Last week I suggested to ADVOCATE readers an object worthy of a Christmas present. The present was to render help towards the maintenance of a young preacher whose resources have failed. I am rejoiced to acknowledge the receipt of ten dollars from an unknown friend. "Where are the nine" more? The young man is eminently worthy of help, and the help afforded will redound to the good of the church and the glory of Christ in fitting him for the ministry.

Now, who else will contribute to this worthy cause? What you do, do quickly. C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La.

Domestic Missions.

The collections for foreign missions this year was slightly short of last year while the collections for domestic missions fell off almost one-fifth. This was, perhaps, due in some measure to sharp criticisms through the press of the management of the Board. They objected to large appropriations to city missions as compared with the appropriations to country charges. But the results through the passing years continue to commend the wisdom of the Board. The East and West End charges in Meridian, at the recent session of the Conference, asked to be allowed to sustain themselves; others will doubtless follow their example at the next session of the Conference. Rev. J. W. Chambers has been appointed the Conference Secretary of Missions. T. S. WEST, Treas.

Dec. 23, 1894.

Rev. D. A. Little.

Bro. D. A. Little died at 4:20 P. M., on December 27. His remains were taken to Port Gibson for burial. He retained a clear and peaceful mind up to his last moments. Left a message of love to his brethren in the ministry. His dying testimony was clear, and his last charge to his family most touching and practical. A true man and a strong man in Israel is fallen. We will miss his wise counsels and his sweet fellowship. We will await the more extended memoir. R. S. WOODWARD.

Meridian, Miss.

NOTES.

Some churches are busy hives full of active workers, others are quiet museums containing only some splendid specimens of mummies and fossils.

***

Rev. T. H. King, of the Mississippi Conference, now serving the Tranquil charge, was happily married to Miss Josie H. Mobley, at her father's home, near Yazoo City, on the morning of Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev. W. J. Ferguson, of Mississippi Conference. May God's richest blessing rest upon the fond couple!

broadcast; Wilberforce and Pitt were soon over, and did giant service in the House of Parliament. Finally, in 1796, after thirteen years of constant agitation, the bill of Wilberforce against the slave trade was brought to a vote—and lost.

Nothing dannted, Clarkson again took up the work. By essay, by appeal, by statistics gathered from slave ships, he allowed no rest, until finally, in 1807, after twenty-two years of effort, he saw his measures triumphantly carried through, and England free forever from sympathy with the monstrous evil.

And it is some such waiting as this that is linked with so much of our work. The instances are rare when success comes sharp on the heels of effort. For the most part, we have to wait and wait, oftentimes for months and years. It is by line upon line, and precept upon precept, here a little and there a little, that any great good is wrought out. It is half a century from the acne up to the topmost bough of the pine, and it may take nearly that time for any great good you set in motion to be pushed up very far.—Ex.

Keep Right with God.

A child of God should not [illegible] gress [illegible] bedroom in the morning without [illegible] only men on good terms with his G[illegible] dare to go into [illegible]

Be sure to read the appeal of Dr. W. Carter. Those persons who [illegible] plain that they do not know of [illegible] thing that they can do for the [illegible] have here the opportunity they [illegible] long been looking for.

***

The Boston Transcript kept a rec[illegible] of football accidents during last [illegible] son, of about eleven weeks. T[illegible] players were killed, one was p[illegible] lyzed, one became insane, and ne[illegible] fifty others were injured, some s[illegible] ously.

***

The horrible outrages committed the Turks upon the Armenians c[illegible] tinue. The Cologoe Gazette publi[illegible] a letter from Armenian which c[illegible] veys the news of twenty-three villa[illegible] laid to waste and eleven others pillag[illegible] Forty priests have been massacred.

***

We invite special attention to the [illegible] tice of Bro. J. W. Chambers in anot[illegible] column. His very liberal proposi[illegible] ought to meet with many respon[illegible] Our preachers can render a service [illegible] making this offer known to the unf[illegible] tunate Methodists who do not read [illegible] ADVOCATE.

***

There was a hung jury in the ce[illegible] brated boodle aldermen case wh[illegible] has been dragging its slow len[illegible] along through the courts of this [illegible] for several weeks. As there was ov[illegible] whelming evidence of guilt, and [illegible] solutely none in rebuttal, the opini[illegible] prevails that bribery was resorted [illegible]

***

We publish in this issue resolutio[illegible] of the Raymond Sunday-school w[illegible] regard to the death of the superinten[illegible] ent, Maj. George W. Harper. M[illegible] Harper will be sadly missed in Ra[illegible] mond and the region round about. [illegible] was one of the old landmarks of t[illegible] vicinity. He had been for many ye[illegible] one of the pillars of Methodism.

***

The Q. & C. railroad has extend[illegible] all ministerial permits for the year [illegible] until Jan. 15, '95. It frequently ha[illegible] pens that preachers moving about [illegible] first week in January lose the benefi[illegible] reduced rates, the old permit havi[illegible] expired and the new not having be[illegible] arranged for. This shows thoughtf[illegible] and magnanimity on the part of t[illegible] management.

***

Ouachita parish, La., has gone d[illegible] by a handsome majority. We exte[illegible] our heartiest congratulations to the no[illegible] ble band by whose exertions this gre[illegible] reform was achieved. It is significa[illegible] that success was achieved in spite [illegible] the opposition of Rome and of th[illegible] Protestant Episcopal Church. Mor[illegible] reform can not always be checked eve[illegible] by sham religion.

***

We have received a handsome calen[illegible] dar from R. J. Downey, to whom ou[illegible] thanks are hereby tendered. Mr. Downey is one of our regular adver[illegible] tisers. Those who need anything i[illegible] his line can not do better than to giv[illegible] him a call. He gives prompt attentio[illegible] to any business entrusted to him, an[illegible] he is thoroughly reliable. Be sure t[illegible] read his advertisement in another col[illegible] umn.

***

Rev. D. A. Little, of the Mis[illegible] sissippi Conference, died at his hom[illegible] in Meridian on the evening of th[illegible] twenth-seventh. He had been i[illegible] bad health for many months, and [illegible] had been in bed with slow fever [illegible] for several weeks. His death will be [illegible] greatly regretted by his brethren in the [illegible] Conference, as well as by his numerous [illegible] friends in various sections of the State. He was a good preacher, and a man of [illegible] most excellent spirit. He was admirably adapted to the presiding eldership, and has filled that position most [illegible] of the time for many years. The family have our profoundest sympathy in their bereavement.

A Parting Word!

There is no work which appeals to my heart as that of encouraging young men to higher manhood and nobler deeds. While I lay down this work for the present, it is the dream of my life that some day Providence will open up a field of usefulness on this line.

Millsaps College is a child of Providence. Generations to come will rise and bless Maj. Millsaps and Bishop Galloway. One a leader in the financial world, the other a leader of the minds and hearts of men—both a necessity to the establishment of this great institution. The college has had a phenomenal success—yet the successful past is only a prophecy of a brilliant future. The college is getting on the hearts of the people. Enthusiasm, great endowment—faith and prayer are still greater.

I wish here to express my thanks for many courtesies extended to me while agent of the college.

In a ministry of eighteen years I have never known a brother who combines in a greater degree all the elements of Christian character as the president of Millsaps. True, kind, wise, and active, he is meeting the great responsibility placed on him as few men could. Long live this king of men! The faculty—Messrs. Moore, Weber, Swearingen, Harmer, Ricketts and Bailey—deserve the highest esteem of the church. These Christian scholars are making a great impression on the student body.

In the midst of our plans for another year who should come to bid us God-speed?—our friend Morgan—a student who has made poverty no barrier to education, and shown to young men of Mississippi that an education is within the reach of all. "Bro. Morgan, how much is it costing you to live this session?" "Very little," he replied—"about $3 per month."

Good-bye, dear Morgan. I expect to meet you some day a victor in life's battles, wearing the laurels and honors which oftener come to a life of adversity than wealth.

Let me thank the brethren of the North Mississippi Conference for the appointion asking for my reappointment to the agency. I appreciate the appointion more than words can convey. The memory of my visit to your Conference constitutes one of the brightest spots in memory's field. I will never forget Morehead, Brooks, Ramsey, Thames, Burroughs, Stone, the Camerons, Anderson, Leech, Park, Augustus, Bowen, Standifer, Dollar, Mc Murrah, Price, Geddie, Clifford, Pilkey, Rickey, Honnell, the Malones, McIntosh, Luter, Hargrove, Shipman, Johnson, Mitchell, Wyatt, Thayer, Millicot, Bingham, Gill, and many others I could name.

A Methodist preacher has already been assured of a welcome, and should a transfer knock at your door next Conference you need not be surprised. Love is a wonderful magnet. No engagement to hold a meeting for Dr. Price in Water Valley and other invitations will give me an opportunity to see faces I love.

The contract is out for the Brooks Cottage—send on the cash. My address for the present will be Jackson, Miss. Kindly, I. W. COOPER.

"Any Port in a Storm."

That's a good maxim, but it will not work as a rule in the purchase of a remedy for Rheumatism. Any of the cheap nostrums will not effect a cure—in fact, some of them will. Get Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy, and a speedy cure is certain. One bottle is worth a hundred of anything else, and for that reason it is the cheapest when a cure is wanted. The two bottles sent to any address by express upon receipt of $5. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

To Students of Millsaps College.

I have moved to Jackson to educate my only child at Millsaps College. In order that I may be able to do this, I must have a few boarders, and, as a special inducement to students to come, I will board the first six who come, at only ten dollars (each) per month; give them nice, comfortable rooms, and do all I can to promote their happiness and make them feel at home. They furnish only such things as are required by the boarding-houses on the campus. My home is very retired and quiet, a considerable distance from the business part of town, and only a pleasant walk from the college.

MRS. M. M. LOWRY,
710 N. State St., Jackson, Miss.

Any preacher who is desirous of supplementing his salary by taking a job as "nice and clane and aisy" as a Bishop's job is in Pat's estimation, will find it to his interest to communicate with the undersigned. The earlier the better. W. C. BLACK,
Present Bishop 122 St. New Orleans, La.
They pronounced that I ng around the world to FACT. is the common saying now in an as-
And however much you may ll praised before you see it, it will

Notice.

Arriving on the Shreveport district, I find that no arrangements have been made for a home for the presiding elder. However, I am glad that this matter has not been entirely overlooked, but that committees have been appointed to secure funds for this purpose. I trust that each one will push the matter vigorously until sufficient funds may be obtained, at least, to rent and furnish a modest, but comfortable home. Send all moneys to S. B. McCutchen, Shreveport, La.

For the present I have arranged to board my family at the college building in Mansfield.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

Rheumatism in the back, shoulders, hips, ankles, elbows, or wrists, is caused by accumulation of acid in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid and cures rheumatism.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless and reliable.

Bro. R. S. Gale.

The powers of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences are respectfully requested to turn their attention to a question concerning the act of superannuating Bro. R. S. Gale. This brother left it with his presiding elder to decide whether or not he should go into the Mississippi Conference. He was transferred and would have gone on from New Orleans to Meridian; but, like some other preachers, he lacked the means and would not borrow.

Bro. Gale has been with us one year, and has faithfully filled every appointment except one on account of the illness of his child. He had no thought but of continuing his labor, and he and his excellent wife are into the deepest distress by the unexpected blow. All the churches are thrown shocked by this treatment, and hope that it happened through a mistake that may soon be corrected. The whole work would have gladly received Bro Gale again as pastor.

Bayou Sara has supplied a home and paid its assessment; but through the low price of cotton, and consequent hard times with the farmers, the other churches have not paid up. Bro. Gale is, therefore, left in a sad plight with a wife and three little children to share a poverty he has never before known.

Bro. Gale is not more than forty-five years of age, and is in very good health. He refused an office with a very good salary, that he might preach the gospel; so we beg that he be given a work. Respectfully,

THOMAS RAYNHAM,
WILLIAM TOWN,
Stewards and Trustees.

Bayou Sara, La., Dec 23, 1894.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are unequalled for clearing the voice. Public speakers and singers the world over use them.

A Whisky Contrast.

Last week two towns in Louisiana went dry by a large majority; one by ballots, one by fire. The city of Monroe by ballots, the "city" of Napoleonville by fire. A contest has been waged in Monroe for prohibition, and won. On the twenty-first instant the New Orleans Picayune said, in its reportorial columns, speaking of the Monroe contest, that the people were never before so arrayed against each other. On one side were the Methodist and Baptist preacher, with their congregations, and also the Presbyterian congregation (they are at present without a pastor), the best people of the city and parish. On the other side for whisky were the saloon men, the hoodlums, the Catholic priest, Episcopal rector and Jewish rabbi. There is the contrast in this case. This is worthy of study: these for whisky, and those against whisky. But God gave the victory to the former, while the latter should with shame cover their faces.

On the night of the nineteenth instant a fire broke out in the town of Napoleonville and consumed sixty-three houses. Every store, hotel and saloon was consumed, also the livery stables. This fire in a short time accomplished what ballots could not do. But, alas! after $200,000 had gone up in smoke, and relief had been asked, a saloon had to be started, and my informant, the editor of the local paper there (who was himself burned out), states that a saloon was opened within three hours after the fire was under control in the court-house! And, further, I learn that yesterday (Sunday) in the treasurer's office in the court-house a saloon was in full blast, notwithstanding the fact that there is a law against selling on Sunday. What brazenry! What defiance! In the court-house on Sunday selling liquor! These are the facts in the case, Mr. Editor. I make make no comments. I leave that to you.

Thus these two towns afford us an object-lesson, with contrasts inwrought curiously.

H. S. JOHNS.

For Dyspepsia

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. B. B PETTITT, Sherman, Texas, "I have used it in dyspepsia with success. I think it is a fine rem-

Discussions by New Orleans Preachers' Meeting.

FIRST QUARTER.

Jan. 7—Devotional Meeting. The New Year: How Can Each of Us Make It an Advance over the Past Year? Lewis A. Reed.

Jan. 14—Hindrances to Revivals: How to Overcome Them. C. M. Lyons.

Jan. 21—Relation of the Pulpit to the Reform Movements of the Day. J. L. Pierce.

Jan. 28—In How Far Did Mr. Wesley Intend to Copy the Church of England in the Constitution of the M. E. Church in America? Dr. J. H. Walker.

Feb. 4—Devotional Meeting. The Faith That Looks for Immediate Results of Work for the Master. T. K. Faunt LeRoy.

Feb. 11—What is the Faith Healing Taught in the Bible? Frank N. Parker.

Feb. 18—What Can Be Done to Further the Plan of the General Board of Education? H. I. Ahrens.

Feb. 25—The Authorship and Historical Setting of the Epistle to the Hebrews. J. M. Henry.

March 4—Devotional Meeting. "Take Heed Unto Thyself"—I. Tim. iv, 16. J. B. A. Ahrens.

March 11—What Can Be Done to Bring the Outlying Masses of Non-Church-Goers to Our Services? Dr. J. T. Sawyer.

March 18—The Epistle to the Colossians: Historical setting, polemic character, and adaptation to our own times. R. H. Wynn.

March 25—What Attitude on Our Part Toward the Seashore Camp Meeting Will Best Serve Its Ends? Fitzgerald Gale Parker.

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

A prehistoric city has been discovered in Guatemala. It was covered up by a volcanic eruption some thousands of years ago.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

"LET IT ALONE THIS YEAR ALSO."
(Luke xiii, 6-9.)

1. The vineyard is the church.

(1) The Master built it—prophetically, typically, actually.

(2) Set a hedge around it. A pillar of fire by night. "I'm with you always," etc.

(3) Digged a place for the winefat. The means of grace accomplished their design.

(4) Built a tower. Established and perpetuated the holy ministry.

(5) Let it out to husbandmen. The reign of grace is intact. Now is the day of salvation.

2. God takes cognizance of every individual person. "A fig tree planted," etc.

(1) Socially, most men think more highly of themselves than they ought. Be not puffed up.

(2) Religiously, though, men are apt to depreciate themselves. Bought with a price.

3. The proprietor's complaint and instruction to the dresser of his vineyard.

(1) Had sought in vain for fruit for three successive years.

(2) The fruitless tree was injurious to others. It only cumbered the ground.

(3) To cut it down. Withhold means of grace, prosperity, health, even life.

4. The dresser of the vineyard, understanding Christ, interceded for the fruitless fig tree.

(1) Let it alone this year also. Delay sentence a while longer.

(2) I will dig about it. Will providentially visit him with weal or woe.

(3) Will dung it. Will circumstance him more favorably.

(4) If after all that fruitless, then let it be cut down.

5. The year we've begun may be that special year of grace.

(1) Then delay not to work out your soul's salvation.

(2) Show your faith with your works. Be a faithful church member. Visit the sick. Aid the poor.

"Herein is the Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit."

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTALS ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 133, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

You Dye in 30 minutes Our turkey red dye on cotton won't fade, boil or wash out—all others will. Tonk's French Dyes are different from others. Just the thing for hard times. Make the carpets, dresses, capes and clothing as bright and attractive as new. Anyone can do it. No mistake if you have Tonk's. Try them and see. Send 4c. for 8 pkgs., or 1c. for one, any color. Big pay for agents. Write quick. Mention this paper. FRENCH DYE CO., Vassar, Mich.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

-Reduced Rates-

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the

YAZOO AND MISSISSIPPI VALLEY RAILROAD.

They will be on sale Dec. 24, 25 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 2, 1895, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Y. and M. V. agent.

-REDUCED RATES-

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the south of Cairo, on Dec. 24, 25 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 2, 1895, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Illinois Central agent.

Illinois Central Railroad

JOSEPH CONRAD'S

Steam Wood and Coal Yard,

COR. ST. ANDREW AND MAGNOLIA.

	Per Load.
Sawed baker's pine in blocks, 12-in.....	$1 50
Sawed and split baker's pine, 12 or 16-in..	1 50
Sawed and split mixed wood, 12 or 16-in..	1 75
Sawed and split oak, 12 or 16 in	2 00
Sawed and split ash, 12 or 16-in.....	2 25

With sack of charcoal, 20 cents extra; also stone coal and coke for sale cheap. Delivered free.

-McClure's Magazine-

FOR 1895.

Volume IV. begins December, 1894.

A splendidly illustrated life of the great feature of which will be

NAPOLEON,

SEVENTY-FIVE PORTRAITS of Napoleon, showing him from youth to death; also portraits of his family and contemporaries and pictures of famous battlefields; in all nearly 200 PICTURES.

Begins in November and runs through eight numbers. The EIGHT NAPOLEON NUMBERS, $1.00.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

by authority from the archives of the

PINKERTON DETECTIVE AGENCY

Lincoln and Pinkerton (November, 1894); the Molly Maguires; Allan Pinkerton's Life; Stories of Capture of Train Robbers, Forgers, Bank Robbers, etc.; each complete in one issue, 12 in all.

SHORT STORIES BY:

W. D. HOWELLS	RUDYARD KIPLING
CONAN DOYLE	CLARK RUSSELL
ROBERT BARR	OCTAVE THANET
BRET HARTE	CAPE KING

JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS, and many others.

NOTED CONTRIBUTORS.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON
F. MARION CRAWFORD — ARCHDEACON FARRAR
SIR ROBERT BALL — PROF. DRUMMOND
ARCHIBALD FORBES — THOMAS HARDY

Send three 2-cent stamps for a sample copy to the publishers,

S. S. McCLURE, L't'd,
30 LAFAYETTE PLACE, New York

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,					$34,520,680
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	40,684,165
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.

Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE MOST PERFECT Pianos

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN,
MASON and HAMLIN,
LUDWIG,
GILBERT, Etc.

AT LOW PRICES, ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,
1001-1003 Canal Street.

Pianos On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

A Marvel of Cheapness.

A Superb Commentary on the Whole Bible

FOR ONLY $6.

We have made arrangements whereby we can offer the celebrated Jamieson, Fausset and Brown Commentary at a price which places it within the reach of all. This work, as is well known, occupies a prominent place in the very front rank of modern commentaries. It embodies the results of all previous research and scholarship. Read carefully the following testimonials, noting particularly the sources whence they come:

Late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

I think it the best Commentary upon the whole Bible which has been issued within the last fifty years, and I should be very sorry to be deprived of the pleasure of consulting it.

Rev. J. H. Vincent, Bishop M. E. Church.

This book deserves a place on the table of every Bible student. It contains notes of the choicest and richest character on all parts of the Holy Bible. It is the cream of the commentaries carefully collected by three eminent scholars. Its critical introduction to each book of Scripture, its eminently practical notes commend it strongly to the Sunday-school worker and to the clergyman. Then, it is such a marvel of cheapness.

James Strong, LL.D., S. T. D., Author of McClintock & Strong's Religious Encyclopedia.

It is exceedingly terse, pithy and pointed in its notes, and admirably evangelical in its statements. The results of much reading, reflection and research are evinced in its pages.

I cordially recommend it, as containing more and sounder illustrations of the sacred volume than any other work I have seen.

Rev. J. F. Hurst, D. D., Bishop M. E. Church.

For immediate and practical availability, I do not know where to go for its equal. Besides bearing constant traces of thorough scholarship, its spirit is all that the evangelical Christian could desire. I regard the work as worthy of unqualified commendation, and believe that its introduction into the homes of our people would be the means of diffusing not only an increased knowledge of the Sacred Word, but of sympathy with its requirements.

Rev. H. Clay Trumbull, Editor S. S. Times.

A comprehensive commentary of the entire Bible, in a single volume, at moderate cost, has been long desired by American Sabbath-school teachers. I think that the work is admirably suited to meet that want. Prepared by men of right hearts, clear heads and minds well stored—men who, believing the Bible, and loving its most precious truths, have studied it long and prayerfully, and with the best and most varied helps—it comes to the aid of the partly-furnished Bible student, giving to him concisely the results of the most extensive research in earlier and later days, explaining Scripture by Scripture, and pointing suggestively to the deeper meanings of the sacred text. I do not know of its equal, within its scope and cost, and I believe it will have, as it merits, a very wide circulation, and will do great good.

Rev. S. M. Merrill, D. D., Bishop M. E. Church

The learning displayed in the work is varied, extensive and modern, embodying the results of the latest and most important discoveries in science, and the highest skill and criticism. The expositions are brief, clear and remarkably accurate. In this regard we esteem it a work of rare value. As a reliable, popular exposition of the Sacred Word, we cordially recommend it as superior in several respects to the older Commentaries.

Rev. Philip Schaff, D. D., Professor in Union Theological Seminary, New York.

I do not hesitate to recommend it to English Bible readers as a sound, judicious, devout, and—considering the size—comprehensive exposition of the Word of God. It meets the growing demand of the Christian community for exegetical works that shall embody, in popular form, the best results of the latest philological, archæological and critical research, and must prove eminently useful. It deserves, and no doubt will soon reach, a wide circulation in this vast country.

Scores of similar commendations could be presented did space permit. The work is printed on good paper, and well-bound in one large super-royal octavo volume of nearly fourteen hundred double-column, closely printed pages. We will send the work postpaid to any address on receipt of $6. We will also give it as a premium to any person who will send us six new subscribers with the cash—$12. We will do this, and also give each subscriber anyone of the twenty-five cent books here named—Premium Cook-Book, Drummond's Addresses, Hawthorne's Works, or anyone of the Fifteen Poets advertised by us. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK.

A lamp with wrong chimney stinks if it does not smoke. Get the "Index to Chimneys."

Write to Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa. for it.

Pearl glass, pearl top, tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO.
26-28 N. William St.
New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON.

ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD."
E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 5000 MORE BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

Our Journey Around the World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. ☞ The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. One sold 200 in his own township; another, a lady, 58 in one Endeavor Society; another, 152 in 15 days—all are making money. 73d thousand. Now is the time. ☞ Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write at once for Circulars to

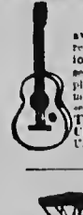
A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.



These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D. with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

CARRIAGES Buggies & Harness.

"A" Grade, $65.

"A" Grade, $81.50.

Two highest awards at World's Fair for Strength, Beauty and Low Prices. Six years ago we discarded the Dealer and began selling direct to Consumers at wholesale prices. Result: upward of 100,000 Vehicles sold and our factory now the largest on earth, dealing direct with consumers. Send for our roaminoth 125 page illustrat. free catalogue.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

Leave

Doubtful Seeds alone. The best are easy to get, and cost no more. Ask your dealer for

FERRY'S SEEDS

Always the best. Known everywhere. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells you what, how, and when to plant. Sent Free. Get it. Address

D. M. FERRY & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

Christmas Novelties

IN

RUGS, WALL PAPER, MATTING, WINDOW SHADES UPHOLSTERY.

New Patterns.
New Colorings.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,
116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Telephone 139.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts. —Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates

HOME CIRCLE.

THE OLD PORTRAIT.

"Homely?" Well, perhaps she is;
But I never have thought her so,
And it may be you wouldn't
If you had known her well, you know.

Yes, the eyes have lost their lustre,
And the hair is gray, I know;
But the voice—ah! you never heard it—
It was always sweet and low.

The face may be full of wrinkles,
And the brow be marked by cares;
But when I look at those faded lips
I only think of their prayers.

I doubt if her hands were ever
As fair and small as your own;
But I know at another's failings
They would never cast a stone.

I can look through the eyes' faded lustre
To the loving heart within,
And can see beneath the withered face
The life of patient suffering.

And I think that the angels bending near,
When she knelt at night to pray,
Still kept their watch for her dear sake
When they took her from earth away.

For oft when my feet were straying
From the paths that led aright,
Has her tremulous voice in praying
Come back again to me at night.

So I can not see its homeliness,
Though since you spoke I've tried,
For every line of her sweet old face
My love has glorified.

Grumblers.

There are some people in the world who seem determined not to be happy, nor to let anyone else be. One day last week while on the way to the office, we were thrown in company with a man who, from his own statement, is of all men most miserable. He thought the street car company were criminally negligent in not providing accommodations for travel, the cars were never on time, the road was rough. His wife was a good enough woman, but she never had things ready, coffee was cold, and he did not feel as if he had eaten a mouthful of breakfast. One of his neighbors had a raft of ill-natured, noisy children, and the other had a rooster and a dog that took turns keeping him awake at night. We tried to change the subject, as he seemed determined to talk. We called his attention to the beautiful improvements at the Elsinore Gate entrance to Eden Park. "Yes," he said, "it was a great improvement, but the people were robbed to get the money to make it, and half of it went into the pockets of officials." We remarked that it was the result of an appropriation to give work to the unemployed, and that, as we looked at it, we could not help recalling the generous action that carried relief into eight hundred homes, and that the green grass and blooming flowers were refreshing and restful to tired workers on their way home from the heated atmosphere of the city. He said: "That may be true, but three-fourths of the men put to work were lazy, and not worthy of being helped." The influence of this cross-grained, ill-natured, unappreciating, ungrateful and fault-finding man began to have an effect on us not pleasant to contemplate. We were tempted to speak in the abstract about people being the cause of their own misery, but we turned away from him with the words of Burns in our mind, and almost on our lips:

"This world is not so bad a world,
As some would try to make it;
But whether good or whether bad,
Depends on how you take it."

Life is too short to spare even a moment in morbid complaint of cross-grained things, unless it be to ascertain whether we ourselves are not the primary cause. It is safe to say that our traveling companion did his share in bringing about the things of which he complained. We could not help thinking of that poor, tired wife, discouraged in her efforts to make her companion comfortable and happy, driven almost to despair by his continuous fault-finding. Such a man ought not to marry, for old bachelors, never having experienced the joy of a happy home with ministering spirits constantly in attendance, have some justification for being grumblers. We could be happier with a rooster perched on the headboard of the bed, the dog tugging at the quilt, and the neighbor's children playing hide and seek in our bedroom, than if compelled to live with such a companion as we have described. Happier far is the companionship of those who take the other extreme. We remember a story of a good woman, who could not be forced to speak evil of anyone, and always had a good word for those who were condemned. Some friends thought to test her by condemning Satan, when she replied that they would do well to imitate his industry.

In a certain sense, the world will be what we make it. If we have the highest type of joy in our hearts, it will be communicated to those about us. If we are helpful to others and try to make their burdens easier, the very act will lighten our own, and the double measure of blessing will come with the gratitude of those who have been helped. There is no pleasure so sweetly remunerative as that which comes from our silent efforts to help others without giving offense to their pride. Everyone who cheers and helps others, cheers and helps himself.—Herald and Presbyter.

Hasty Words.

A word spoken thoughtlessly may involve the speaker in great and lasting inconveniences, or do a serious injury to others. Herod, by a hasty oath, was compelled to murder John the Baptist, whom he highly respected. Moses, the meekest of the human race, was so irritated as to speak irreverently, by which he incurred the displeasure of God, and was not permitted to enter the promised land. Jephthah, whom Paul reckoned among the faithful, being too anxious for success, made an unguarded vow. And who has not, in like manner, suffered from giving hasty vent to his feelings?

By being too hasty in judging and censuring, before we are properly informed of the circumstances, we may also injure the character of our best friend. By precipitately taking up a report, without due examination, many an innocent family has been rashly condemned, and many a neighborhood and church have been plunged into confusion. Whenever we hastily determine the character of others from an imperfect acquaintance with them, and express our premature opinions upon the subject, we do a lasting injury. It is often impossible to remove prejudices caused by hasty expressions, and the baneful effects may extend into eternity.

Some are led into this conduct through want of reflection; some, because they do not possess sufficient sagacity or acquaintance with the world; some by a mere propensity of talking. But whatever may be the cause, we shall see the propriety of guarding against so wicked and mischievous a practice, if we wish well to ourselves, to our neighbors, or to religion.

An excellent preservative against hasty words is calmness of temper—a most valuable acquisition. It will also be highly useful to become acquainted with the dispositions, views and principles of those with whom we have to act. To prevent much of the mischief done by hasty words, a habit of thinking before speaking should be cultivated. An apostolic precept, demanding universal and constant attention, is "Be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath." The happiest results will be produced by a frequent and solemn recollection of our Savior's declaration: "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."—S H. Barrett.

The Modern Novel.

The novel in our day has become more largely than formerly the medium of conveying special views of life. We have the religious novel, the political novel, the socialistic novel and the skeptical novel, each using the narrative form as a means of imbuing the reader's mind with the author's views of life. The stream can not rise higher than the fountain. That fiction may be the means of conveying either good or bad lessons few will not deny. One of the most deplorable things regarding the modern novel is the extent to which it is used in the work of breaking down the sacredness of marriage, and promulgating loose and un-Christian ideas of the relations of the sexes. Several of the most popular novels of this year are adapted to make light of gross departures from sexual purity. Passion is exalted as a law of life. Women who have fallen from purity into gross immorality are the heroines of the story. Sympathy and admiration are enlisted for the wrong doer, in a way that makes wickedness attractive, and vice an excusable weakness. Such books stain the imagination and are more corrupting that the presentation of formal arguments in favor of vice.—The Christian Guardian.

A London clergyman once related in a public meeting that he had fallen in with a certain infidel who, in the bitterness of his opposition to a Bible Christianity, said "he wished all the churches were swept from the land, beginning with Spurgeon's." "Then which of you infidels will be the first to take upon himself the responsibility of Mr. Spurgeon's orphanage?" was the clergyman's reply.—Christian Observer.

Planting the Standard.

All hail Columbus! Behold the great navigator as he lands. The perils of the deep are past. The clouds of fear have vanished. The night of gloom has ended. In the heavens the sun of success shines resplendent. Morning has dawned.

Imperiously the banner of haughty Spain greets the daylight. Upon its fluttering folds are inscribed the destinies of a new world. Its gleaming surface marks a long advance in the evolution of the human race. It tells a story of prophecy unparalleled, of development unapproached in the fullness of recorded time. It crowns with triumph the efforts of genius.

The World's Fair contained no finer statute of the great discoverer than this colossal figure. It commanded from its pedestal, the eastern entrance to the Administration building. The majesty of its dimensions, the vigor and aggressiveness of its expression and the artistic finish of its composition made it admired as a genuine sculptural triumph.

Another Standard Proudly Displayed

at the Fair was that of

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Standard of Excellence for Forty Years.

It was the standard of unequalled strength, perfect purity and wholesome results. The award to Dr Price's of highest honors at the Fair furnishes conclusive evidence of its superiority over all other baking powders.

HYGIENE.

Take Care of Your Health.

Why will a man wait until his health fails him before he will begin to take care of it? One never misses his health until he feels sick, nor does he value his strength until weakness overtakes him. Take the "home bell drill" every morning and night, and practice deep breathing the first thing on getting out of bed in the morning and just before going to bed at night.

As one breathes so he lives. The simplest and best breathing exercise is a dozen deep breaths taken a dozen times a day. Wear clothing loose. Don't worry. Don't hurry. Sleep all you can, but go to bed early. Eat plain food and not overmuch of it, and chew that well. Keep your head up, chin in, and the back of your neck close to the back of your collar at all possible times. Don't let a day pass over your head without taking enough exercise to produce free perspiration.

Keep the bowels open by laxative foods and doing body-bending exercises. Drink a glass of cool water as soon as you get out of bed, and keep your bed-room windows open a little at the top and bottom the year round, more in Summer and less in Winter. The smooth, evenly developed body is the most enduring, and is produced by a moderate amount of varied, hygienic, body-building work taken daily.

Follow out these few health hints and they will not shorten your life by a single day; but if you do not, you will surely cut off your physical life by months and years according to the amount of your sinfulness.

A glass of cool water in the morning, with a half lemon squeezed into it, is a sort of a stomach bath, and washes out that important organ so that it will be in a better condition to receive its breakfast. Besides it will aid the bowels in their important work of removing waste from the body.—Robert J. Roberts, in Young Men's Era.

Hot Milk as a Stimulant.

No one who, fatigued by overexertion of body and mind, has ever experienced the reviving influence of a tumbler of this beverage heated as hot as it can be sipped, will willingly forego a resort to it because of its being rendered somewhat less acceptable to the palate. The promptness with which its cordial influence is felt is indeed surprising. Some portion of it seems to be digested and appropriated almost immediately, and many who now fancy they need alcoholic stimulants when exhausted by fatigue will find in this simple draught an equivalent that will be abundantly satisfying, and far more enduring in its effects.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

ORANGE CUSTARDS.—Needed: The juice of ten large oranges, a teacupful of sifted sugar, the yolks of twelve eggs, one pint of cream. Sweeten the orange juice with the sugar, and set it over the fire; stir constantly till hot, when skim it carefully, and set aside to cool. When nearly cold add the yolks of eggs beaten very light, and the cream. Put all into a saucepan, and stir over a very slow fire until thick. Pour into cups and serve cold. If desired, the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, with a teacupful of pounded sugar, may be used, a heaped tablespoonful on the top of each cup of the custard.—Nashville Advocate.

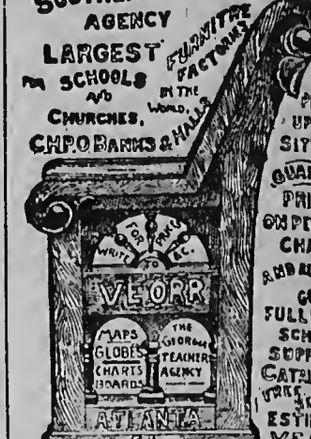
CRANBERRY PIE.—For a rich, luscious pie take a deep pie tin; line it with ordinary pie crust, and fill with raw cranberries, being liberal with them. Add sugar with a generous hand, and when you think you have put in enough, put in more. Add from three to four tablespoonfuls of water, according to the size of the pie; sift a little flour over the top, dot with the slivers of butter, and cover with puff paste. Have the oven a good heat at first; then let bake slowly from thirty to thirty-five minutes. When done sift powdered sugar over the top.—Exchange.

SWISS SOUP.—One quart of milk, a slice of onion, one tablespoonful of flour, salt, pepper, and two eggs. Put the milk and onion into a double boiler (reserving a little of the milk to rub the flour in), add the flour, salt, and pepper, and boil from six to ten minutes. Beat the eggs light and put into a tureen, pour over them the boiling milk, having first removed the onion, and serve immediately.—Sed.

YOUNG SPIRIT

a vigorou and robust follow good But all fail vital pow weakened debility an manly pow from bad ha tracted by through of their ruin sequences spirits, impaire morose, temper, fear of impending calam thousand and one derangements mind, result from such pernicio All these are permanently cu proved methods of treatment patient leaving home.

A medical treatise written i charte language, treating of symptoms and curability of su sent securely sealed in a plain receipt of this notice, with 10 cent for postage. Address, World's Medical Association, Buffalo, N



H. P. BUCKL

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN FINE WATCH

Jewelry, Silverware and Spe

Large Stock of American W

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Paci Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and

The Standard Gauge Short Line to

City of Mexi

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car S

GALVESTON, SAN ANTON
PASO and FORT WORTH, Te
DENVER, Colorado,
LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANC
California,
and to the CITY OF MEXIC

For full information regarding ra and sleeping-car reservations, apply pany's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. M G. P. A

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R

In connection with the Southern Pacific now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Slee

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's ne solid vestibule train the "Sunset Limit Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Ange San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNI

—VIA—

NEW ORLEANS

Is run on Illinois Central Train No. leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY NESDAY, and stations from Goodman EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RE TIONS to the Pacific Coast. In additio is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Slee

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to L geles, via Avondale, by the same ro train, leaving stations, Cairo to EVERY THURSDAY and stations from man south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER

Tickets and full information as to ra train time can be had of agents of the Route and connecting lines, or by add F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r A

Usher, and a man of spirit. He was admi- ...ou to the presiding elder- ...e has filled that position most ...me time for many years. The fam- ...ly have our profoundest sympathy in their bereavement.

From Bombay to Delhi and Agra.

BY HENRY G. HAWKINS.

hern India has the great archi- l Hindoo temples; Western In- the wonderful rock-hewn cave s; Northern India has the great palaces, mosques and mauso- Indeed, the last places visited were more interesting than those y described; but it is too much ect you to follow me through a ption of them all. You would wearied, for I who saw became d and wished them no longer. e such a thing as looking, look- oking, until you can no longer understand or enjoy. Then to ore is like forcing food down a ch stomach. Amid the marble th India I felt my mind in this ion more than once.

till give only a summary to you. ing Goa, I went to Bombay, which the largest city of India, and e finest and largest modern pub- ings of Asia. There are street score of huge cotton mills, public gardens; and the East eal seem to meet there. The Towers of Silence, the Caves of nds, the Museum, churches and public institutions could easily t and interest a traveler for a . I spent only five days there, en went north, stopping at Ah- ad, Ajmere and Jeypore. These ities are entirely different from nother in plan and architecture. hmadabad is old, and its builders are ared to have been fine, substan- rtists. They did much work in d wood and marble. Ajmere is ttle cement and some marble. As me down upon the city from the in fort above it appears perfect- ely white. It and Jeypore are pulant, and though Jeypore is ered the city, the marble college Rajput princes is in Ajmere. re was built broadly and magnifi by an astronomer and philoso- the Emperor Joy Sing, who his capital from Amber, six distant, because its site had uitable for a great city. a has the finest museum in India the least seen by me in my Ahmedabad gave fine music museum garden Monday oon. Altogether, Jeypore must e of the most interesting cities in orld.

Ajmere on Sunday, I accidentally with the Scotch Presbyterian mis- ter, who arranged an that in Jey- I was entertained by their Mr. ; and Mr. Traill, through the Resident, got permission from Maharajah (King) for us to visit on day morning the ancient palace at . We rode into Amber and even the old palace gate on an ele- furnished by the Maharajah.

Gos I had my first sight of a d elephant; at Amber, the second. I to Dihli next, and there I saw the of not less than seven distinct . It was capital of the Mogul ors, and is called the Rome of . At one city was conquered and d another would be built up out- the ruined walls. Twelve miles the present large city on the lim- ith original Delhi are a mosque the wonderful Koolnb Minar, the est minaret in the world, unless Eiffel Tower be considered a ret; it was on the plain near , to the other side, that, in the nce of native princes, high offi- and 50,000 British and native sol- Lord Lytton declared Queen Vic- Empress of India.

lhi has some mighty mosques and ; and though the famous peacock e of the Moguls was long since to Persia, its marble stand and arble Hall of Audience in which s kept remain to delight the trav

The marble buildings of Delhi Agra are distinguished by their tize and the pietra dura, or inlay- of precious stones, in the solid ble. By conquering armies at dif- times much of the precious has been taken away and baser substituted; but the effect is still delightful upon the beholder.

Agra, where I went next, inside fort are the Pearl Mosque, made e and out of white marble, and old palace with its various apart- ts. A few miles from the city is mighty tomb of Akbar, one of the test of the Mogul Emperors. And ember that a great Mogul tomb of in India approaches nearer to the of a pyramid than to what you I have been accustomed to con- r tombs.

bout a mile from Agra, in a noble en on the banks of the river, sits Taj Mahal, or tomb of Queen Taj, favorite wife of Shah Jehan. The peror [illegible] proposed the ilest mo[illegible]had ever been ted to [illegible]he result was Taj Mahal[illegible]he most beau- l build[illegible]rld. I read in hop Mar[illegible]t after he and present [illegible]rix looked at hey pro[illegible]it was worth g aroun[illegible]to see; and s the o[illegible]g now in In- And [illegible]ich you may r it prais[illegible]see it, it will not disappoint you when you do see it, but you will wish to go back and look again. And its echo is so glorious and mellow, carrying your soul out into eternity. Descriptions of the Taj Mahal are vain. You can get some faint conception of its sublime beauty, perhaps, by imagining a marble casket carved and inlaid with precious stones, perfectly beautiful, set as tastefully as possible upon a marble stand, with well-proportioned marble minarets at each corner; and then imagine the whole magnified until it has the dimensions of a mighty palace hall, not losing one bit of its original lustre, gaining sublimity only by its immensity.

Some distance from the Taj on the other side of the river, is another marble tomb, the Itimad-ud Daulah, which anywhere else in the world but in the neighborhood of the Taj would be a marvel of marble beauty.

MARRIAGES.

REILY—WILLSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. M. Willson, Lismore, Concordia parish, La., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev. J. White Davis, Mr. Thomas G Reily, of Mooroe, La., and Miss Emma Willson, of Concordia parish, La.

TERRY—BARR.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Cumper Institute, Miss., Dec 19, 1894, at 7 P M, by Rev. R H. Barr, Mr. J. F. Terry to Miss E. R Barr, all of Kemper county, Miss.

JEFFRIES—BARNETT.—At the residence of the bride's father, Barnett, Miss., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev. L. Carley, Mr R C Jeffries and Miss Nannie Barnett, all of Barnett, Miss.

TINGLE—HAYS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. M. Hays, Dec 18, 1894 by Rev. Thos. J. Martin, Mr W. J. Tingle to Miss Margie Hays, all of Bienville parish, La.

HICKS—WIMBERLY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Harriet Wimberly, Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev. Thos. J. Martin, Mr. D. N. Hicks to Miss Missoury F. Wimberly, both residents of Red River parish, La.

WALTON—AYCO K.—At Beulah, Miss., Dec. 23, 1894 by Rev. Jas. L. Bowling, Mr. Henry J. Walton to Miss Willie E. Aycock, both of Bolivar county, Miss.

WILKINSON-FULTON.—At the residence of Mr. Rob Cosso, Jefferson county, Miss., on the afternoon of Dec. 19 1894 by Rev. John W. Crisler, Mr. Robt. R. Wilkinson to Miss Stella Fulton.

OBITUARIES.

GAYLE—Died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Odum, Mrs SARAH C. GAYLE (nee Castoo). She was born in Amite county, Miss., Dec. 6, 1821; died Dec. 22, 1894. She moved to Louisiana in 1875

She had been a great, but patient sufferer for two years. She united with the Methodist Church soon after she moved here, and had been a true member ever since. Every one loved her. She always gave heed to the cry of the poor and needy. She was a kind and affectionate mother, a devoted peace-maker. Her influence, like the aroma of a bruised flower, lingers in the minds and hearts that knew her. She was confined two weeks to her bed before death, and her suffering was great, but she murmured not once. She sang hymns the day before she died. She sang, "Glory! salvation is free for you and me." She clapped her hands, and said, "Glory! Jesus has come." Oh! her death has afflicted a wound in our hearts that time alone can heal. We loved her so much. But why should we weep when we know she is free from suffering, sorrow and care, and is at peace in the arms of Jesus, which none of us could give to her. It is our loss, but her eternal gain. Then, dear children cease to mourn.

Farewell, dear mother; you have gone on before to greet us on that blissful shore.

HARPER—Whereas, In the providence of God, death has again entered our community and removed from our midst Maj Geo. W. HARPER, one of Raymond's most valued and honored citizens; And, whereas, A good man, a devoted husband, affectionate father and faithful Christian has gone up to his happy reward; therefore, be it Resolved, That in the death of Maj. Harper Raymond and the community at large have lost one of its best and most useful citizens.

2 That the Methodist Church, of which he was a useful and consistent member for about thirty years, has lost one of its brightest lights.

3 That the Methodist Sabbath-school of Raymond, of which he was for more than a quarter of a century a most faithful and efficient superintendent, has sustained an irreparable loss.

4. That we, the teachers and pupils of his Sabbath-school, do mourn the death of our beloved superintendent, realizing how difficult it will be for his place to be filled; and hereby extend our deepest, most heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, and especially to his heart-broken wife.

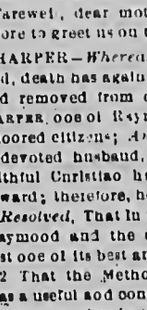
5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent in the family of the deceased, to the Raymond Gazette and NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication, and also be placed upon the records of the Sunday-school.

TEACHERS AND PUPILS.

I. A. C. Hallenbeck, do say consumption can be cured by Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. My mother, years ago, contracting a terrible cough soon became unable to attend to her household duties. Prominent physicians pronounced it incurable consumption. We knew of Dr. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and commenced giving it to her. Before two bottles had been taken an improvement was noticed, and by the time one dozen bottles had been consumed she was well, and has never been troubled since. We have recommended it to many and always have it in the house. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, bronchitis, it is without a rival. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

The devil is not so much concerned about your profession as he is about your practice.—Exchange.

PIMPLES



Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Rash, and all other unsightly skin troubles cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample. JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Weak Mothers

and all women who are nursing babies, derive almost inconceivable benefits from the nourishing properties of

Scott's Emulsion

This is the most nourishing food known to science. It enriches the mother's milk and gives her strength. It also makes babies fat and gives more nourishment to growing children than all the rest of the food they eat.

Scott's Emulsion has been prescribed by physicians for twenty years for Rickets, Marasmus, Wasting Diseases of Children, Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs, Emaciation and Consumption.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

DO YOU WEAR PANTS?

Trousers cut to order from $3.00 to $10.25. Suits cut to order from $13.25 to $45.00. We have the finest line of Fall and Winter goods, at the lowest possible price. We make a speciality of making Pants in twelve hours.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS COMPANY,

59 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.

out jan4

EAGLE BRAND the Best

No Tar ROOFING No Tar

It is superior to any other Roofing, and unequalled for House, Barn, Factory or outbuildings; it costs half the price of shingles, tin or iron; it is ready for use and easily applied by anyone; it is the best roofing in the market, in durability, to all others. Send for estimate and state size of roof.

RUBBER PAINT.

The best known Paint in the world for tin, iron or shingle roofs, fences sides of barns and outbuildings; it costs only 60 cents per gallon in barrel lots, or $4.50 for a five gallon tub. Color, dark red. It will stop leaks in tin or iron roofs that will last for years; it is guaranteed not to peel, crack, scale nor wash off, and it's fireproof against sparks. TRY IT.

SHEATHING PAPER.—500 square feet, $3. Keeps buildings cool in Summer and warm in Winter.

Excelsior Paint and Roofing Co., 155 Duane St., New York.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,420,726

All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Statuary, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Imitation of Christ—Thomas a Kempis.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscribes between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96

W. C. BLACK.

Methodist Choirs

in thousands of churches are using

EPWORTH ORGANS AND PIANOS

to their entire satisfaction.

The Epworth Organs and Pianos are made in the most thorough manner. Great care is taken with the action, voicing and tuning. In all essential features the Epworth is equal to the very best instruments made. As the Epworth is shipped direct from the factory to the people without the expense of middle men, the purchaser is saved from $25.00 on an Organ to $100 on a Piano. Thousands of our preachers and people have bought Epworths and say they are delighted with quality of finish, action and tone. Epworth Organs and Pianos are sent on trial and if not found as represented may be returned at our expense.

You May Order Through Your Preacher,

who will allow you to test the instrument in your own home or church, and if it is not found as good as represented we will refund the freight paid and pay return charges.

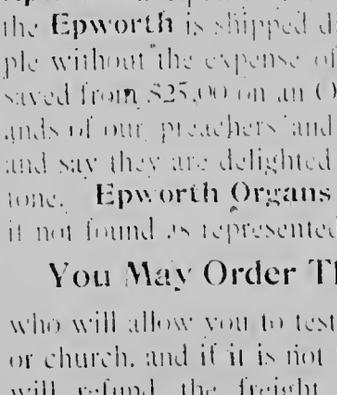
Catalogues, Pictures and Prices Free

if you state whether instrument is wanted for church or home and give name and address of your preacher.

Address the publisher of this paper.

LORD TENNYSON'S THREE FAMOUS POEMS.

IN MEMORIAM,
IDYLLS OF THE KING,
THE PRINCESS.



Three Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large clear type on good paper, and substantially bound by a new process.

This "In Memoriam" of Tennyson is one of the grandest and loftiest elegiac poems in all literature. Like the "Lycidas" of Milton, it was written to commemorate the untimely death of a bosom friend. In the case of Tennyson's masterpiece, the friend mourned was Arthur Hallam, son of Henry Hallam, the distinguished Historian, who was engaged to the Laureate's sister, but who died in Austria in 1833. The elegy was published in 1850. It is a long and passionate outburst of song, written to assuage the poet's grief for the loss of his friend and with the avowed motive of giving utterance in the saddest but most musical lines, to reflections on life, death and immortality.

"The Idylls of the King" have won for themselves an abiding place in the political literature of the age. The work is a series of connected poems reviving the legend of King Arthur, Merlin, and the Knights of the Round Table; in which the poet not only restores the age of chivalry, purified and elevated, but gives noble expression to the aspirations of man, the hopes of religion, and the harmonies of nature. It is distinguished by much imaginative passion, elevated thought, and wonderful poetic art. The work has taken high rank among the classics of our English tongue.

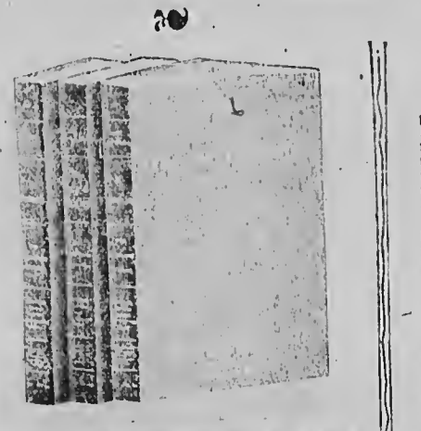
Hardly has a lovelier story than this of Tennyson's "The Princess" ever been written. Though cast in semi-heroic verse, it enshrines one of the loveliest lyrics and snatches of exquisite songs in the language. The extreme advocates in our day for the emancipation of women no doubt quarrel with the poet for the conclusions reached in the poem; but the Laureate was conservative in all things, and could hardly be otherwise in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." This, in brief, is the purpose and motive of the poem—to illustrate woman's struggles, aspirations, and proper sphere in relation to man and her own intellectual life.

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. Those who desire a cloth-bound edition are referred to our advertisement headed, "15 Poets in Library Cloth—Poet's Popular Edition." Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

HAWTHORNE'S BEST WORKS.

Four Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large type on good paper and substantially bound by a new process.



The House of the Seven Gables,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

A masterpiece of Hawthorne's, full of the [illegible] New England romance. It stands [illegible] other Romances as the [illegible] writer of fiction [illegible] day. The work is, perhaps, the finest [illegible] rose in all the [illegible] literature.

Mosses from an Old Manse,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

Another delightful companion for the hour, is this collection of magazine papers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his works, it is distinguished for its simplicity and truth.

Twice-Told Tales,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

Hawthorne, the most distinctly American and by far the most popular of our writers, has given the world an undying book in "Twice-Told Tales." In these all the delicacy of expression as well as the clearness of thought, which [illegible] the scarlet [illegible] "The Scarlet Letter."

The Scarlet Letter,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

A [illegible] of intense interest, exemplifying extraordinary power of the author's graphic description and analysis of the [illegible] Puritanism, as [illegible] New England [illegible] we have [illegible]

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. We will also furnish any one of these works in very handsome cloth binding postpaid to any address for the small sum of forty cents. Subscribers who are entitled to a premium as indicated above can have this beautiful book instead of the paper-bound edition by sending twenty cents additional—i. e., $2 20 will pay for the book and the ADVOCATE one year.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Accept None of the Pretended Substitutes

FOR

Royal Baking Powder

BECAUSE inferior and cheaper made baking preparations are sold at wholesale at a price so much lower than ROYAL, some grocers are urging consumers to buy them in place of the ROYAL at the same retail price.

If you desire to try any of the pretended substitutes for ROYAL BAKING POWDER bear in mind that they are all made from cheaper and inferior ingredients, and are not so great in leavening strength nor of equal money value. Pay the price of the ROYAL BAKING POWDER for the ROYAL only.

It is still more important, however, that ROYAL BAKING POWDER is purer and more wholesome and makes better, finer, and more healthful food than any other baking powder or preparation.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Senatobia.....Jan.	5, 6
Coldwater.....	12, 13
Como.....(Mon.)..	14
Panola, at Mt. Olivet.....	19, 20
Morganaville.....(Tues.)..	22
Batesville.....(Fri.)..	25
Courtland, at Center Hill.....	26, 27
Nesbit, at Horn Lake.....Feb.	2, 3
Arkabutla, at Brook's Chapel.....	9, 10
Tyro, at Liberty Hill.....(Wed.)..	12
Wall Hill.....	16 17
Cockrum, at Independence...(Wed.)..	20
Pleasant Hill.....	26, 24
Pleasant Grove.....Mar	2, 3

I will preach at Batesville third Sunday in December, and at Como fourth Sunday. A full attendance of the district stewards at Sardis, Dec. 29, 10 A M, is very much desired.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Leherton.....Jan.	5, 6
Cleveland..	6, 7
Lula.....	16
Belen.....	20
Hill House.....	27
Duncan.....Feb.	6
Clarksdale.....	10
Gunnison.....	17
Rosedale.....	24
Bolivar.....Mar.	3
Hollondale.....	10
Arcola.....	17
Friar's Point.....	24

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Dec. 31, 7 P. M.

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville circuit, at Plagah.....Jan.	5, 6
Corinth circuit, at Gaines' Chapel....	12, 13
Corinth station.....	13, 14
Ripley and New Albany, at New A....	19, 20
Ripley circuit, at Weir's Ch'l (Tues.)..	22
Jonesboro circuit, at J'boro (Thurs.)..	24
Iuka circuit, at Hebron.....	26, 27
Marietta cir., at Hodges' Ch'l (Wed.).	30
Booneville and Baldwyn, at Baldwyn..Feb.	2, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon....	9, 10
Brown's Creek cir., at Pine Grove (Tours.)	14
Pleasant Ridge circuit, at Mt. Zion...	16, 17
Blue Springs circuit, at Blue Springs.	23, 24
Guntown circuit, at Guntown..... Mar.	2, 3

The district stewards will please meet at Booneville, on Wednesday, Jan 2 at 2 P M.

HESLEP R TUCKER, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Atlanta, at Benela.....(Tues.)..Jan.	1
Ellzy, at Young's Chapel....(Thurs.)..	2
Pittsboro, at Chapel Hill.....	5, 6
Toccopola, at Liberty Hill.....	12, 13
Oxford station.....	13, 14
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill.....	19, 20
Grenada station.....	20, 21
Tatum, at Friendship.....(Fri.)..	25
Charleston, at Charleston.....	26, 27
Coffeeville, at Coffeeville.....Feb.	2, 3
Paris at Prospect.....	9, 10
Water Valley cir., at Pleasant Ridge..	16, 17
Water Valley station.....	17, 18
Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.	23, 24

The district stewards will meet me at Water Valley, Jan 3, at 10 o'clock A. M. The stewards are: Ben. Sturdivant, P. M. Miller T. J. Curry, J. H Horn, T. F. Pendergrass, C. B. Foust, R. W Jones, R. E. Neal, T. L. Beadles, W. M. Bowland, W. M. Huffman, J. W. Johnston, H. W. Hauter, L T. Blount, M. G. Dubard.

E. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Kosciusko, at Kosciusco.....Jan.	5, 6
Pickens circuit, at Pickens.....	12, 13
Poplar Creek circuit, at Shiloh.....	19, 20
Sallis circuit, at Sallis.....	26, 27
Bekona circuit, at New Hope.....Feb.	2, 3
Lexington and Tchula, at L.....	9, 10
Ethel circuit, at Ethel.....	12, 17
New Port circuit, at Bethel.....	26, 4
Stewart circuit, at South Union.....Mar.	1
Eupora circuit, at Eupora.....	2, 3
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer.....	9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester.....	16, 17
Ackerman cir'uit, at Liberty Hill....	23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall.....	28
Louisville circuit, at Louisville.....	30, 31

The district stewards will meet me at the Methodist Church in Durant, Feb. 7, at 7 P. M. A full attendance is desired.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Potts' Camp and Myrtle, at Potts' C..Jan.	5, 6
Waterford, at Lebanon.....	12, 13
Holly Springs circuit, at Pleasant G..	19, 20
Olive Branch at Centre Point.....	22, 27
East Holly Springs, at Mount Hope..Feb	2, 6
Red Banks at Wesley Chapel.....	9, 10
Cornersville, at Bethlehem.....	16, 17
Mount Pleasant, at Mount Pleasant..	23, 24
Ashland, at Salem.....Mar.	2, 3
Pontotoc.....	9, 10
Abbeville.....	16 17

District stewards will meet in the Methodist Church, Holly Springs, Monday, Jan. 7, at 9 A M

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tupelo station.....Jan.	5, 6
Okolona circuit.....	10
Okolona station.....	12, 13
Verona and Nettleton.....	19, 20
Prairie circuit.....	26, 27
Houston and Wesley.....Feb.	2, 6
Buena Vista.....	9, 10
Shannon.....	16, 17
Saltillo.....	23, 24
Nettleton.....	26
Fulton.....	28
Tremont.....	2d
Amory and Smithville.....Mar.	2, 3
Quincy.....	8
Aberdeen circuit.....	9

The district stewards of the Aberdeen district will meet at Okolona, in the Methodist Church, 11 o'clock Jan. 11, 1895

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd.....Jan.	5, 6
Delhi, at Delhi.....	6
Rayville, at Rayville.....	8
Monroe, at Monroe.....	10
Calhoun, at Indian.....	11
West Monroe at West Monroe.....	12, 13
Bastrop, at Bastrop.....	14, 15
Oak Ridge at Oak Ridge.....	16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove.....	19, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro.....	21, 22
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove...	23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg.....	26, 27
Waterproof at Waterproof	28, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence Feb.	2, 3

Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Parker Chapel.....Jan.	6
Dryades Street.....	13
Craps Street.....	20
Algiers.....	27
Carondelet Street.....Feb.	3
Covington.....	10
Moreau Street.....	17
Louisiana Avenue.....	24
Lower Coast, at Wesley.....Mar.	3
Rayne Memorial.....	10
Talisheek.....	17
Felicity Street.....	24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbia.....Jan.	5, 6
Nugent, at Palestine.....	12, 13
Alexandria.....	13, 20
Simsport, at Simsport.....	26, 27
Melville at M.....	27, 28
Pineville, at P.....Feb.	2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce.....	9, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship.....	16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill.....	23, 24
Glenmora.....Mar.	2, 3
Atlanta at A.....	9, 10
Montgomery, at M.....	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte.....	16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs.....	23, 24

District stewards' meeting in Alexandria, at the church, Wednesday, Jan. 9, 1895.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lafayette.....Jan.	2, 6
Washington, at Washington.....	5, 6
Indian Bayou, at Indian Bayou.....	9
Crowley.....	13
Lake Charles.....	16, 14
West Lake.....	15
Sulphur Mine, at S. Mine.....	17
Franklin.....	19, 20
Jeanerette, at Jeanerette.....	23
Morgan City and Berwick	26, 27
Patterson, at Patterson.....	29
Abbeville, at Abbaville.....	31
New Iberia.....Feb.	2, 3
Teche circuit, at St Martinsville....	5
Grand Chenieres, at Leesburg.....	9, 10
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur.....	16
Prudhomme, at Roberts ave.....	16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island.....	20

The district stewards will meet at Lafayette, Jan. 8, at 2 o'clock.

H O. WHITE, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Caddo, at Keachi.....Jan.	5, 6
Mooringsport, at Greenwood.....	12, 13
Shreveport—First Church.....	20, 21
Shreveport Mission.....	20, 21
South Bossier, at Allenton.....	22, 27
Wesley, at Davis Springs.....Feb.	2, 3
Coushatta, at Coushatta.....	3
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches.....	9, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall.....	16, 17
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville.....	18
DeSoto Mission	21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel.....	22, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup.....Mar.	2, 3
Many, at Prospect.....	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant....	16, 17
Anacoco and S Vernon, at Holly G...	23, 24

District stewards will meet in the pastor's office in First Church Shreveport, La, at 10 A. M., Jan. 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired and expected.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Downsville, at Downsville.....Jan.	5, 6
Farmersville, at Farmersville.....	12, 19
Minden, at Minden.....	19, 20
Valley, at Pleasant Valley.....	26 27
Ringgold, at Audrew's Chapel.....Feb.	2, 9
Pleuville, at Mill Creek.....	9, 10
Lisbon at Lisbon.....	16, 17
Summerfield at Harmony.....	23, 24
Vienna, at Vienna.....Mar.	2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston.....	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge.....	13, 17
Gansville at Gansville.....	23, 24
Homer, at Homer.....	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia.....Apr.	6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan. 31, at 10:60 A M.

J. D HARPER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Purvis, at Purvis.....Jan.	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg.....	12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia.....	19, 20
Nicholson, at Nicholson.....	26, 27

District stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A. POWELL, P. E

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The cold weather of Dec. 28 caused a loss of $2,000 000 to the orange and vegetable crops of Florida.

The National Committee of the Populist party met in St. Louis last week, and issued an address to the party and people.

Two firemen were killed while at work on a fire in New York City on Dec. 29 Four other firemen were injured at the same time.

The steamboat G. W. Sentell, recently repaired and laid up temporarily, was burned completely, on Dec. 27, while lying at the wharf in this city.

Secretary of State Foster has started for Japan, where he will join the peace commissioners of the Chinese government to act as their legal adviser.

The severe cold weather in the East and Northwest, last week, did much damage to telegraph wires. Railway traffic at many places was seriously hampered.

The talk of an early extra session of the Fifty-fourth Congress has been revived at the Capitol by the contingencies growing out of the failure of necessary legislation to pass at the present session.

The fire department of San Francisco has acquired a water tower battery, invented by a department machinist, which will throw 4,000 gallons or sixteen tons of water a minute into a burning building.

The Lexow Committee, which has been investigating municipal corruption in New York City, adjourned on Dec. 29, subject to call, thus closing a series of investigations which were brimful of startling revelations of police crookedness.

Special reports to the Manufacturers' Record show for the closing week of the year a fair degree of activity in the general industrial interests of the South. Cotton mills are reported as very busy, with a good many of them running night and day.

The Navy Department will recommend to Congress the appropriation of $200,000 for the beginning of work on the Algiers dry dock. The amount of $50,000, already included in the estimates, is entirely too small to be of much avail during the next fiscal year.

The secretary of the Smithsonian Institute is devoting himself to inventing a flying machine. He made his first experiment last week out in Virginia. The machine is described as looking like a great white butterfly, ten feet from tip to tip of wings, and to have been beautiful. It is made of aluminum.

A company of New York and Chicago capitalists has been formed for the purpose of securing concessions from the Mexican government for the building of jetties and securing deep water at Soto la Marina, on the Gulf coast, midway between Tampico and the United States boundary. It is the intention to also construct their connection with the principal cities of Mexico.

FOREIGN.

Revolutions are brewing in Guatemala and San Salvador.

On Dec. 29 the Rt. Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone celebrated the eighty-fifth anniversary of his birth.

By vote of the Greek Chamber of Deputies the whole of this year's crop of currants will be detained and destroyed. This is intended as a heroic measure to save the currant trade from the utter ruin threatened by overproduction.

Emperor William has ordered the marble palace at Potsdam, where he spent the final few days of his married life, to be put in readiness for the Crown Prince, who will there receive his own court and regime. The Crown Prince, Frederick William, was born May 6, 1882.

Rio de Janeiro is reported to be in a state of panic. The troops refused to leave the city for the south. President Moraes has discovered that the army is devoted to Peixoto. The principal officers refuse to assume command to take the field in Rio Grande do Sul, and the whole country seems on the brink of rebellion again.

What Does It Mean?

FACT OR FICTION ABOUT TWO GREAT FAIR AWARDS.

A newspaper paragraph denounces as "false" the claim of a baking powder company to an award at the World's Fair. Whom can it mean?

Certainly not Dr. Price's. Why? Because, as the records show, Dr. Price's exhibited, competed and received the highest award, both at Chicago and the California Midwinter Fair. The award in California included Golden Medal. The official examiners pronounced it the strongest, the purest, the most wholesome and efficient of all the baking powders. Its title to confidence is not questioned.

Can it be the manufacturers of a New York powder, fictitiously labelled "absolutely pure" who are making "false" claims? That would be strange indeed, inasmuch as they were not even considered in the awards.

Was it Ammonia in the New York powder that prevented its makers from competing? If not, what?

Telegrams referring to President Cleveland's determination as regards retaliation for duties imposed on American merchandise have caused a profound impression in mercantile circles in Cuba. The impending threat, if allowed to take effect, through the apathy and narrow views of the government, will be the deathblow dealt to the sugar industry.

Signs multiply to show that the United States is on the verge of a great tariff war with all Europe. France now appears to be following in the lead of Germany in placing restrictions and obstacles in the way of the importation of American food products, and, as in the case of Germany, this is a development of the agrarian policy, and is intended to help the French farmer, although ostensibly put forward as a measure in the interest of public health.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Morton and Forest, at Morton.....Jan.	5, 6
Newton and Hickory, at Hickory....	12, 13
Lake, at Lake	19, 20
Decatur, at Decatur.....	26, 27
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove.....Feb.	2, 6
Carthage, at Carthage	8, 10
Clarksburg, at New Providence.....	16, 17
Shiloh, at John's	23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh	23
Westville, at Westville.....Mar.	2, 6
Brandon station.....	9, 10
Sleen's Creek and Mis., at Marvin....	16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove.....	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood.....	23
Trenton, at Gasque.....	29
Montrose, at Montrose.....	30, 31

O. MCDONALD, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Summit, at S.....(11 A. M Fri.)..Jan.	4
Adams, at A.....	5, 6
Crystal Springs .....(7 P. M.)..	9
Caseyville, at Sweetwater.....	12, 13
Brookhaven.....(7 P. M.)..	13
Martinsville, at Union Chapel.....	19, 20
Hazlehurst.....(7 P. M.)..	20
North Wesson.....	26, 27
Wesson.....(7 P. M.)..	27
Gallman, at Bethesda.....Feb.	2, 3
McComb City .....(7 P. M Fri)..	8
Whitestown.....	9, 10
China Grove, at Holmesville.....	16, 17
Magnolia and Osyka, at M.....	23, 24
Providence, at Bahala.....Mar.	2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams.....	9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Natchez Jefferson Street.....Jan.	5, 6
Natchez, at W C.....	6, 7
Barlow, at Rehoboth.....	12, 13
Fayette, at Fayette.....	19 20
Woodville.....	26, 27

District stewards will please meet me at Gloster, Jan. 15, in the Methodist Church, at ten o'clock. The preachers are invited to be present.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Shubuta.....Jan.	5, 6
Waynesboro and State Line.....	12, 16
Pachuta.....	19, 20
Vossburg.....	26, 27
Heidelberg.....Feb	2, 6
Ellisville and Laurel.....	9, 10
Eastabuchie.....	16, 17
Mathersville and Mission.....	23 24
Waynesboro circuit.....Mar.	2, 3
Leakville.....	9, 10
Williamsburg.....	13, 17
Mount Carmel.....	23, 24

Pastors will please let me know immediately where their Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards will meet in the Methodist Church at Enterprise, Wednesday, Jan. 16, at 8 A. M.

L. CARLEY, P. E

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg—Crawford Street.....Jan.	5, 6
South Vicksburg.....	6, 7
Edwards.....	12, 13
Bolton, at Bolton.....	19, 20
Port Gibson.....	26, 27
Harriston, at Pine Ridge.....Feb.	2 3
Hermanville, at Hermanville.....	9 10
Utica, at Utica	16, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs.....	23, 24
Mayersville, at Beulah.....Mar.	2 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork.....	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel.....	16, 13
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia.....	23, 24
South Warren, at Willes' Chapel....	30 31

The district stewards will meet in Crawford Street Church Vicksburg, Jan. 4, at 10 A. M A full attendance is requested and homes will be provided for all who come by Dr. Andrews.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Jackson—First Church.....Jan.	6
Jackson—Capitol Street.....	8
Canton.....	12, 13
Benton circuit, at Bentoo.....	19, 20
Yazoo City.....	23, 27
Silver Creek and B Lake, at B L (Sat.) Feb.	2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City.....	3, 4
Yazoo circuit at Mount Carmel.....	9, 10
Flora circuit at Flora.....	16, 13
Madison circuit, at Madison.....	26, 24

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

WALTER BAKER & CO.

The Largest Manufacturers of

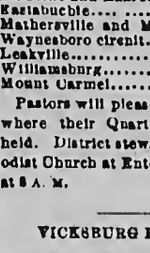
PURE, HIGH GRADE COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES

On this Continent, have received

HIGHEST AWARDS

from the great

Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS In Europe and America.



Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE ASSESSMENTS 1895.

District.	Bishops.	For. Miss.	Dom. Miss.	Church. Ex.	Conf. Claim.	Educa'n
Vicksburg	$ 200	$ 1,135	$ 450	$ 450	$ 800	$ 23
Jacinto	225	1 280	500	450	850	26
Meridian	180	1,185	450	450	720	21
Natchez	200	1,125	450	280	800	23
Seashore	165	1,070	425	300	660	19
Brandon	165	1,000	400	280	660	18
Enterprise	165	1,070	425	160	660	19
Brookhaven	200	1,265	500	450	800	23
	$1,500	$9 050	$3,600	$2,820	$5,950	$1,77

Lost his Position.

That really happened to a certain grocer's clerk, because he couldn't induce customers to take an inferior brand of washing powder in place of Pearline. The grocer said, "If you can't sell what I want you to sell, I don't want you." Now it doesn't take a very wise woman to decide whether this was an honest grocer. And a woman wise enough for that, would be likely to insist upon having nothing but Pearline. There is nothing "as good as" or "the same as" Pearline, the original—in fact, the only—washing-compound. If they send you something else, send it back. 399 JAMES PYLE, New York.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO..

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . and Coke

Wholesale and Retail.— 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS

oct feb8

GEORGE C. LOGAN, Agent,

COAL AND COKE,

No. 410 BARONNE STREET,

Telephone 1283. Bet. Poydras and Perdido, New Orleans.

oct jan28

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 831.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,

PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.

Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.

L. S. WIDNEY.....Manager.

CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valeocedaod Magazine Sts.

oct jan29

COLUMBIAN TEACHERS' BUREAU

Secures positions for teachers and teachers for positions. Operates in Southern States, Mexico, Central America, and all civilized South American States Membership is solicited from first-class, successful teachers, or such as have specially prepared themselves for the work, regardless of section, nationality, or religious faith. The Bureau is proceeding upon an entirely new plan, which has been gradually and successfully matured with a two-fold purpose: First, the Bureau's interest; second, the interest of thousands of teachers victimized by unscrupulous agencies. For further information, address with stamp.

COLUMBIAN TEACHERS' BUREAU Vanderbilt Building, Nashville, Tenn.

Lower Bethel.

The tenth anniversary of the Sunday-school, under the management of Mrs. J. J. Watson, was celebrated at the Lower Bethel, Monday night, by an entertainment consisting of songs and recitations by the children of the Sunday-school, which was a very pleasant affair, and reflects credit upon the management of the entertainment. After the exercises the many pretty and useful presents that had been donated by the public were distributed among the children. Capt. Coslon, of the Fire Patrol, has the thanks of the management for assistance rendered in making the entertainment a success.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

Premium Offer Extraordinary.

We are still handling the Epworth pianos and organs. We sell these instruments under a guarantee. We have one of the pianos in use in our own home, and a superb instrument it is. We will sell any instrument in the catalogue for cash at thirty three and a third per cent. discount from catalogue prices. Or we will sell at the catalogue price, and take payment in subscriptions to the ADVOCATE, giving a commission of one dollar on each new subscription. Send for catalogue. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Harmon's "Select Sermons."

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.
Governor's Office.
Richmond, Va., Sept. 4, 1894.

Rev. J. W. Harmon, Paulding, Miss.—

Dear Sir: Permit me to thank you sincerely for the handsomely bound volume of your sermons which you recently sent me, and also for the kindly spirit of your letter which accompanied the book. I shall read the volume with pleasure, and doubt not that I shall derive much good from it. Again thanking you for your courtesy, and with much respect, I am,

Yours very truly, CHAS. T. O'FERRALL.

The work will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, $1. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp street, New Orleans, La.

Cairo, a village in the Republic of Colombia, has been completely washed away by a cloudburst. Fifty of its inhabitants were drowned. The storm penetrated to Santa Marta, where great damage was done by the wind and the rain. About forty-five houses were blown down in Santa Marta, and a number of casualties occurred.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"Early Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11¼x13¼ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2 40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2 40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 2. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2003

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE STILL SMALL VOICE.

Not in the whirlwind's mighty blast,
Nor in the earthquake's ansing shock,
Nor in the scorching, blinding flame,
Does God come to his little flock;

But in the still small voice of love
He comes to woo and bless and cheer,
Until the church is soothed to rest,
And gone is every hurtful fear.

—Exchange.

Selections.

Some Characteristics, Conceits and Customs of the Chinese.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

Of only a few things indicated by the title of this letter can I write, though my note-book is full. One with an open eye is constantly seeing the ludicrous and grotesque, with much to amuse and admire. Behind these strange sights and sounds and smells there are a remarkable people and a great civilization. Laugh at their conservatism as we may, ridicule their cowardice as we please, sneer at their superstitions as we wish, yet they have the oldest unified government in the world, the longest unbroken political history, and support contentedly the largest, densest population. To remain thus intact for more than four thousand years, and command the support of so vast a citizenship, speaking various dialects and separated by so many lines of latitude and longitude, is an achievement without a parallel in the history of nations. And this is the more remarkable when we think of the commercial and political rapacity of the powerful Western nations seeking for centuries her dismemberment and destruction. Back of all this solidity and stolidity there must be a strong foundation of granite character on which to build. The civilization has its philosophy in the people who compose it.

In another respect China occupies a unique place in the family of nations. Though unwarlike, she is a great colonizer, and whenever conquered by an Eastern power, she never failed to control and civilize the conqueror. The Roman Empire carried her civilization with her victorious eagles into every country she conquered. China has absorbed her conquerors, given them her language, literature, and religion, and ultimately made them loyal and veritable Chinese. The Tartars overran and conquered the country, but they soon yielded to the superior force of China's civilization, and became the most ardent Chinese of the Chinese. Is there such another record in the political history of the world?

It is said the Chinese have no patriotism, and invidious comparisons are made with the Japanese, whose island kingdom is loved with the intensest ardor by every subject from prince to peasant. In this judgment one may be deceived. In the first place, the Chinese are not a demonstrative people; secondly, they hate war and love peace, soldiers are contemned, and peace is desired at any price; thirdly, they are scattered over a vast area, with slow means of transportation, no general postal system, and inefficient methods of intercommunication; fourthly, they may despise a reigning dynasty, but still love their country. This last I believe to be true. Every Chinaman is proud of his country, reveres its history, worships its ancestry, is attached to its soil, and when he dies wants his body to sleep in its generous bosom. That attachment has been one secret of China's political solidarity through more than sixty-six cycles of change and revolution in other parts of the world. This conclusion I have reached after talking with the most learned scholars and devoted missionaries, and refreshing my reading of history by closest observation on the field.

The Chinaman is remarkable for his imperturbable temper when occasion requires. I have seen them quarrel and fight each other, on house-boats and in the streets; but when dealing with a foreigner, and duty seemed to demand, a Chinaman is as undisturbed as a Sphinx, and as cold as a glacier. Dr. Allen says he "never blushes except in his eyes," and never allows passion to defeat his purpose or sway his judgment. He keeps his eye steadily on the main issue, and his temper perfectly in hand. That characteristic makes him a consummate diplomatist. As illustrative of this, I heard an amusing story on a Western statesman, commissioned to conclude certain pending negotiations with the Chinese government. After much delay and many meetings, and minor quibblings with the Celestial representative, the impatient Westerner lost his temper, and struck the table rather vigorously with his fist, accompanying it with an explosive expletive. The imperturbed Chinaman, of course, adjourned the conference, and with many regrets. The occidental statesman lost a night's sleep over his folly and threatened failure of his mission, and then wrote a letter of apology, requesting another conference. They met—with the Chinaman in command of the situation, as well as his temper.

I have frequently heard this expression since reaching China, "He saved his face." It is suggestive of a national characteristic, and plays an important part in all Chinese intercourse. The idea is, that though defeated in any plan or purpose, there must be some semblance of compromise so as to save him from a complete backdown and humiliation. There must be some plausible way of escape—he must "save his face." This is seen in every trade you make, and on up to every national treaty. If a Chinaman is rebuked or discharged, he wants to "save his face" by resigning—to have as little blush and loss of reputation as possible. The shame of exposure and the ignominy of loss they dislike more than the loss itself. To this sentiment is partly due the use of the "middleman" in every transaction, from the arranging a betrothal to the transfer of an estate. Bro. Anderson gave me a piece of personal history illustrative of this desire and determination to save the face. He was concluding the purchase of a lot for a church when an obstructive official made frivolous and iniquitous claims and objections. The matter was referred to higher authority, when the aforesaid official so skillfully shifted his point of objection that, by yielding a foot or two of ground, the property was secured and he "saved his face." Concession to this sentiment is often necessary in dealing with persons other than Chinese. And where vital principle is not involved, it is well. Do not humiliate, but let a man save his face.

Though they have not progressed very far from their first crude inventions, we are really indebted to the Chinese for the mariner's compass, gunpowder, the suggestion of the art of printing, and probably other things valuable. That they have original and great capacity is beyond question. The Chinaman surrenders his own convictions and customs very slowly, and never adopts others without being quite sure of their adaptability to, and utility in, his present condition.

I have heard much of filial piety among the Chinese. Well, Confucius taught it, all their books reiterate it, and many thrilling stories are written to enforce it; but I find that in practical every-day life the Chinaman is not more filially pious than anyone else. They pay great respect to the dead, but often sadly neglect the living. I heard of an old beggar in Soochow who laid around the gates of our missionaries and received charity every day. At length the old man in rags and dirt passed away. Suddenly his daughter, the wife of a prosperous gentleman, appeared on the scene, provided a nice coffin, employed priests and musicians, and gave the old beggar-father a grand funeral. She allowed him to live in rags and die of want, but buried him in state. The old mendicant living was harmless and a nuisance, but the father dead his spirit could avenge and torment. So she buried him, worshiped him, burned ghost-money for his use in the spirit-world, and wore sackcloth in his honor. That is a picture from real life and actual death.

This story, which I have seen repeatedly enacted in several cities, brings up the whole baneful, mournful system of ancestral worship. It is the one great blight upon Chinese character and life, deadening the noblest impulses and destroying vast resources. For this alone not less than $150,000,000 are expended annually. Every third shop in every town in the Empire has ghost-money for sale, or other things used in that grotesque worship. It is pitiable to see the display in the homes of the dead and at funerals. I have seen several Taoist priests in the house repeating prayers, beating drums and gongs, tossing up most skillfully cironlar pieces of tin or brass, and occasionally stopping for chatter and a laugh, while the family sat or stood around robed in sackcloth, and apparently much entertained.

The Chinese believe that a man has three souls—one remains with the corpse, one with the ancestral tablet, and one goes into the spirit-world. When a member of a family is very ill, they think one soul has left the body. Then they go out and wail, loudly and piteously pleading for the spirit to come back, at the same time, if at night, holding a lantern to show it how to return. Our friends tell me they have often heard these mournful cries in the night, and that they are really heart-rending. I heard of the children in one family going out and begging a little brother to return, crying, "Little b-r-o-th-er! Little b-r-o-th-er!" until others were moved to tears. When death at last comes, the first thing done is to place a cup of cold water at the door for the spirit to take a last drink. Then they burn a suit of clothes, that the dead may be presentable, and command proper consideration from the police and runners about the yamen of the spirit-world. A quantity of money is burned also, that the dead may not lack for necessary funds. After this, bedding, boots, shoes and other personal articles are committed to the flames for the spirit's use and comfort. The coffin and burial clothes are most important. A man's respectability is estimated by his dress and coffin. In response to this silly sentiment, families often impoverish themselves on coffins and funerals; and men, in order to secure proper sepulture, not infrequently superintend the making of their own coffins, and select a lucky place for the grave. On every seventh day, for seven sevenths, the ladies of the family weep in concert, calling the dead by name, and recounting their virtues. At certain fixed intervals after death they have what may be called entertaining the spirit. He is supposed to return, accompanied by other spirits. On those occasions relatives and friends are invited to be present, priests are employed to chant and pray, and the elaborate ceremony is concluded with a feast. The last important matter is settling the fung shui of the grave—making final selection of a lucky place. That is one reason so many coffins remain on the ground unburied for a long time. Now, all this superstitious nonsense shows how entirely life in China is but a slavery to death; how the dead dominate the living, and how the grave flaunts unchallenged its victory in the face of heathen despair. What an appeal to the church to send them a gospel of hope and faith in a conquering Christ, that will enable them to repeat the Christian's challenge: "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

There is difference of opinion as to prevalence of infanticide in China. Some time ago there was a symposium on the subject, with opinions from missionaries and foreign officials in different parts of the country. These I have read, and the weight of testimony supports the belief that many children are annually sacrificed in the Empire. This is concluded from the imperial decrees and proclamations of local mandarins against drowning female children, from the laws against infanticide, the pictorial illustrations seen all over China showing the different ways it is done, and also the number of foundling hospitals established. The first foundling hospital, projected in 1247, was called an "Establishment for pitying the little ones." One writer stated that, when he was a resident of Peking, a cart was driven along certain thoroughfares in the early morning in order to collect the female children that had been exposed during the night. The reasons for such a horrible practice can easily be discovered by anyone who studies the constitution and by-laws of Chinese family life.

The extent to which organized beggary is carried in China is something stupendous; and the extremes to which beggars will resort in order to extort charity are marvels of satanic ingenuity. If such genius were directed to legitimate pursuits, a comfortable and honorable living would be more easily made. Some instances related to me are disgusting beyond the power of imagination to depict. They are regularly organized and officered, and every beggar is under authority. He begs by rule—his district assigned, his methods given, his story taught him, and his daily returns carefully reported. I have seen one stand before a hong and wail piteously, until the desperate merchant dropped a few cash in his upturned palm in order to get rid of him.

I saw a very interesting old man in the Sunday morning congregation at Soochow, and heard the exciting story of his life. His cheeks were branded with the characters that stand for Tai-Ping, and was done by the rebels during the Tai-Ping rebellion. But he escaped from their hands and remained loyal to the Imperial government. He is an itinerant engraver, a poor man, but quite intelligent, and now a happy Christian. For five and fifty years he was a devout Buddhist and an ardent idolater, despising Christianity and hating the foreigner who preached it. But he heard the message, the Holy Spirit used it to his conviction, and he at length accepted the Savior, and was received by Bro. Anderson into the church. He gave him the brass idol over which he had bowed for over half a century, and the little prayer books used in his daily devotions. I shall take the image home for friends to see the veritable inanimate object that commanded the homage of an immortal soul. What the Word of Life did for one poor darkened idolater it can do for multiplied millions. Li Tien Siang, the old brother mentioned above, is among the first-fruits of a vast resurrection harvest to be garnered in the valleys of China.

This is a land of small farmers and very few large landed estates. There is much individual wealth, but it consists in stocks and city property. Land is so sub-divided that holdings are as small as one-sixth of an acre. It is doubted if any farms in the world are better cultivated. The same soil which is now feeding millions has been yielding annually its increase for over two thousand years. Never less than two, and sometimes three, crops are gathered yearly from every tillable acre under the Emperor's flag. And yet it seems not to grow tired of its heavy burdens. But such constant and industrious fertilizing was never known. Nothing is lost, and everything is made to produce. Farm tenants pay their rent out of the main crop—usually one-half. The other crops are the exclusive property of the tenant. These rates have been fixed for centuries, and are rarely varied. On this account there is no ill-will between landlord and tenant, and no agrarian movements ever disturb the fears of the one or excite exaggerated hopes in the other.

A movement is on foot to secure further revision of the American treaty. Our missionaries now hold property in the interior, and claim other rights, by borrowed privilege. This is done under what is known as the "favored nation clause" in certain treaties. The treaty with France provides specifically that French missionaries shall be allowed to live and hold property in any province of the Empire. Now, under the "favored nation clause," which recites that additional rights granted in treaties with other nations shall not be denied the citizens of that country, American, English, and other missionaries have claimed French privileges. But there is a desire to have the right accorded directly and unquestionably.

If a line has been written that will induce any reader to purchase some books on China, and begin a study of this great country, and especially this magnificent mission field, the hour we have spent together will not have been in vain. Its magnitude oppresses me, but the mightiness of its possibilities and prospects thrills every fiber of my being.

Shanghai, Oct. 24, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

The Waifs' Home.

The Waifs' Home, in which Dr. Clay does so much good work, was filled yesterday with all kinds of Christmas gifts for the poor. Books and toys, cakes and candies, fruits and nuts, clothing and turkeys and knick-knacks and blocks piotured over with old Crusoe and scenes from the Spanish main, tin pins, donghnuts, and little wooden dudes, gayly carved cavaliers and variegated troubadours in pasteboard came in by baskets full to the Home to be distributed among the poor. Two large rooms were filled to overflowing. Each basket was accompanied by a note, sometimes bearing the name of the donor, as often being anonymous. In one corner of most of these were two little words, preaching in themselves a sermon from Holy Writ. They were, "Don't publish." Dr. Clay's desk was littered over with notes from all classes of people—from old men and elderly ladies, from young ladies and little misses and boys, from societies, letters with money from rich people—all for charity without display, given from the heart.

A visit to the Waifs' Home convinces one that if charity is modest, it is effective, and brings joy where misery dwells, dispelling the cheerlessness of children, scattering joy in the homes where adversity rules, and warming like some genial ray of light falling unexpectedly on some half-withered plant. It might be said of such practical charity that it reflects happiness like the light of heaven, and brightening every countenance as a mirror, transmitting the beams of a supreme and ever-shining benevolence.—Picayune, Dec. 25, 1894.

Can there be any doubt as to this point: that if all professors of religion were to live so that men would believe in the sincerity and divinity of their piety, infidelity would die and Christianity would soon triumph? The great difficulty of our time is the poor religions living of church members, their failures to do right, the misrepresentation they make of our holy Christianity in the spirit and conduct which they exhibit. Others judge them by their fruits. Their fellow-Christians are pained and discouraged, and sinners infer that religion is a poor, weak thing, a miserable abortion, a fraud.—Florida Advocate.

Communications.

A Mississippi Missionary.

[We heartily commend the following communication from the pen of Dr. C. G. Andrews to the careful consideration of all our readers. The Mississippi Conference, at its recent session, committed itself to this enterprise, and raised a large part of the funds required. The balance can be easily raised without burdening anyone. Let everyone give according to ability, and our new missionary will soon be in the field. Bishop Galloway's letters have shown how important this work is, and how urgent is the need for more men. —EDITOR.]

After a missionary address by Dr. Walter Lambuth at the late session of the Mississippi Conference, and a practical appeal by Bishop Keener, presiding, it was stated that Rev. John Burrus Fearn, M. D., a native Mississippian, was very anxious to be sent as a missionary to China, but that the Board of Missions could not send him for want of funds. Dr. Lambuth, the Missionary Secretary, stated that it would take one thousand dollars to send him out and maintain him for one year. An effort was made to secure that sum just then, and seven hundred and fifty-one dollars were raised in cash and subscription. I am charged with raising the balance. The Board of Missions will send him as soon as the thousand dollars are in hand. I make this appeal through the ADVOCATE to all lovers of the cause of Christ to help in this matter. Send your contributions, great or small, to me. The young man is in every way worthy, is of excellent family, is about twenty three years of age, of robust constitution, tall and well formed, possessed of a good academical education, and has a diploma as doctor of medicine from the Memphis Medical College. He has had several months' experience in the practice of medicine and surgery in the State Hospital, where he came in contact with almost every variety of disease. He is now at Moody's Training-school in Chicago. He is very pious, and feels a special call to China.

There is a special need for medical missionaries. I hope that doctors of medicine who see or hear of this appeal will send their contributions in money to me to enable their brother physician to go and labor among the heathen. Surely from the friends of Christ, and from the friends of the noble profession of medicine, the requisite sum will soon be forthcoming.

Those who subscribed at Conference will please forward to me the sum promised without delay.

I will acknowledge the receipt of all money forwarded to me, both to the sender and also through the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 2, 1895.

Another Ten.

The call I made for help for the young preacher whose resources were unexpectedly cut off has been answered by an "elect lady," known to many readers of the ADVOCATE, sending me ten dollars. This is the second ten, and I am expecting to hear from other persons to make up the amount needed. The case is worthy and one of urgent need; so, friends, don't hesitate to send me something. It will be a sad thing if this young preacher has to leave school in the middle of the session. I think there are enough Christian men and women who read the ADVOCATE who will combine and say, "It shall not come to that."

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La., Jan. 7, 1895.

In the Living Present.

In the Postoffice Department the "spoils system" operates very injuriously. Here civil service reform is imperatively necessary. Postmaster-General Bissell, in his annual report, recommends to take the Postoffice Department out of politics altogether. Quadrennial changes were hurtful to efficiency. He adds humorously: "Perhaps two Postoffice Departments, with separate chiefs, would answer the end. One whose officials hold office because of efficiency, regardless of politics; the other composed of professional politicians whose sole duty shall be to abstain from postoffice affairs."

In matters of locomotion wonderful progress has been achieved. Electric street cars, Pullman sleepers, steamships which are swimming palaces, cause us to shudder when we read Byron's "Brutal Lisbon Packet." In the "good old times" a vessel required three months to cross the Atlantic Ocean; now a mail steamer accomplishes that journey in less than a week.

The "Advocate of Peace" lectures the churches very censoriously. National and international peace was not being sufficiently advocated in our pulpits. We hold when Jesus shall reign supremely among men, swords will be converted into plowshares. By the way, was it not political impertinence when the so called Peace Congress, which met at Brussels last year, officially suggested to the various governments realignment of their boundary?

Henry Loomis Nelson is the newly-appointed editor of Harper's Weekly. Though comparatively a young man, he is an experienced journalist. It will require great ability to fill the "Easy Chair" of Geo. William Curtis.

Wonder if Gov. Gary Evans, of South Carolina, spent his time among the "commissary wagons" during our late Confederate War. Those who fought and bled for the Lost Cause are now proud of being called American citizens. The governor said in his inaugural address: "We are Carolinians by birth and choice; Southerners we are from principle; Americans from force of circumstances."

Mrs. B. Harrison's new book, "A Bachelor Maid," will add to existing mischief. It proposes to lead in the revolt from man's domination. Woman's emancipation! 'Tis mere bosh. Tennyson aptly says:

"The woman's cause is man's; they rise or sink Together, dwarfed or god-like, bond or free."

ICH DIEN.

Directory.

The following are the addresses of the Methodist pastors of the city of New Orleans:

Bishop J. C. Keener, D. D., LL.D., 75 Dublin street.
Rev. J. T. Sawyer, D. D., 3333 Magazine street.
Rev. J. L. Pierce, 1437 St. Mary street.
Rev. T. K. Faunt LeRoy, 2023 St. Charles avenue.
Rev. F. N. Parker, 1437 Calhoun street.
Rev. C. M. Lyons, 1313 Pleasant street.
Rev. F. S. Parker, 1437 Calhoun street.
Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D., Algiers.
Rev. J. M. Henry, 53½ Port street.
Rev. R. H. Wynn, 5027 Constance street.
Rev. H. H. Ahrens, 581 Burgundy street.
Rev. L. A. Reed, 157 North Liberty street.
Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D., corner Constance and Aline.
Rev. C. Keener, Joseph, near St. Charles.
Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., (old) 323 Second street.

HIS CARE.

BY REV. JOHN PARKER

God holds the key of all unknown,
And I am glad;
If other hands should hold the key,
Or if he trusted it to me
I might be sad.

What if to-morrow's cares were here
Without its rest"
I'd rather he unlock the day,
And, as the hours swing open, say,
"Thy will is best."

I can not read his future plan,
But this I know:
I have the smiling of his face,
And all the refuge of his grace
While here below.

Enough; this covers all my want,
And so I rest:
For what I can not, he can see,
And in his care I sure shall be Forever blest.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Lucknow, Benares, Nasik, etc.

BY H. G. HAWKINS.

Cawnpore and Lucknow are interesting on account of their connection with the great Indian Mutiny. Lucknow, too, has some interesting buildings. Under one of these is an arched space said to be the greatest in the world; another has a fine great gateway built in imitation of the gate at Constantinople, by which comes the name Sublime Porte. There is a Methodist Publishing House at Lucknow, and it is the headquarters of the Oudh district of the North India Conference. I was entertained there by Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Parker, veteran missionaries, who have had no small part in the great work of the Methodists in North India. The annual accessions in that Conference approach near to 10,000.

I next went to Benares, the most sacred city of the Hindoos. Macaulay, in his Essay on Warren Hastings, gives a good description of this "labyrinth of lofty alleys," with its merchants, priests, and beggars. Much of that description holds true to this day.

Making a short stop at Allahabad, I then went west again almost back to Bombay, and stopped at Nasik, the sacred city of West India. Here was the once-famous school for African boys rescued from slavery. The grounds and buildings are still retained by the Church Missionary Society, and the mission among the natives continues. There are some interesting cave temples near Nasik. The Christian village carpenter went with me to visit them. He proved to be a schoolmate of that Jacob Wainright who was with Livingstone when he died in Africa, and who took his corpse to England.

Trains from the east going into Bombay by passing over the Western Ghauts give the most remarkable stage of Indian travel. My next stop was on the Ghauts, in order to visit the fine Cave of Karli. The Sunday was spent with J. E. Robinson, presiding elder of Poona district. A lady evangelist once living in Kentucky, a preacher of sanctification, well acquainted with Dr. Carradine, spoke at the morning service. Monday night I attended a conference of missionaries, making them a talk on Japan, and then hastened south to visit Bijapur, the Palmyra of the Deccan. Among other things at Bijapur is the mausoleum called Gol Gumbaz, which has the largest domed space in the world. Its whispering gallery will repeat a syllable for you ten times, or cause your gentle footsteps to sound like the tread of a regiment.

From Bijapur I went by rail along the east of India back to Tuticorin, making only one or two short stops. From Tuticorin I went back to Colombo to resume the voyage home. I would like to write to you of Ceylon and the glorious journey from Colombo by rail to Kandy, the mountain capital of the Kandyan Kings; but more would weary you, and I should be on deck observing some of this Red Sea region through which we are steaming.

A Postscript Letter on India.

BRITISH RULE.

BY HENRY G. HAWKINS.

In one or two of my letters things may have been written that would tend to make the reader believe that the British lords in the East are altogether unjust and cruel. But the longer one stays in India the more convinced does he become that British rule was best for India.

As I rode into Bombay on the train a fellow-passenger saw "Mississippi, U. S. A," on a page of one of my books. He forthwith spoke to me; and we soon made acquaintance with each other. He was the heroic young American, A. W. Prautch, who was just out of a month's imprisonment, the result of a trial caused by his charging some official of neglect and criminality in executing some anti-opium regulations. His friends thought the sentence very unjust, and so it may have been. And there have doubtless been occasional injustice and even robbery by the British in India ever since Warren Hastings, the first governor-general, began to find plausible reasons for extracting money from the unwilling hands of wicked and luxuriant princes for the purposes of trade and government. But there have been and still are many God-fearing British officers in India, and there is under the sun no more civilized government than the British. The natives know this and, however many faults and charges they may make against their present masters, they will end by saying that they know none that would be better, and that these are preferable to the native princes. And there are so many different peoples in India that the only recourse is for the strongest to rule. Even now it is only fear of soldiery that prevents the enmity between Hindoos and Mohammedans from venting itself in bloodshed; and if the English were suddenly to let go, in the struggle for mastery that would ensue wrecked would be the railroads and public institutions, ruined the mighty cities, and carnage would prevail until animosity had exhausted itself.

Furthermore, it was only by request that the English established themselves as the paramount power in some provinces. Thus, in Rajputana the Kings of Jodhpur and Jeypore were draining the life-blood and the resources of their kingdoms in the feuds that ever and anon broke out between them; until, tired and exhausted, they made request for British mediation, and agreed to pay for a permanent British Resident. These Kings still live in their palaces with their harems, and manage internal affairs much the same as before; but to the British Resident are referred all interprovincial matters. The British Resident once there is there to stay; but his presence means peace, and he can exert much influence also for internal reform. Therefore, let England colonize in Africa or wherever her presence can greatly benefit humanity's interests; but let her do it, not for vainglory, but in the fear of God.

And let us pray that there may be divine mediation between labor and capital in the United States, and that all internal affairs may be systematized according to equity and justice; so that the United States may have more time and competency for foreign affairs, and may have more and better influence in Christianizing mankind. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

Slipping in to Shoot My Popgun.

MR. EDITOR: Realizing that I am small fry, I venture on the battle-ground of the D. D.'s, A. M.'s and large parsons to shoot my popgun, fearless of the forty-pounders, because of my miniature; and, of course, I, as the other writers, think this should, at least, forever settle the question and satisfy all the concerned.

I have learned that great men and good men sometimes err. Now, that Mr. Wesley has done this I do not charge; but some of our brethren have him in a considerable twist on the subject of sanctification. This is either the result of their zeal for a second work of grace or thoughtlessness in them to make his doctrines harmonize. Mr. Wesley, like Paul, has written many things, some of which are hard to understand. Now, that Mr. Wesley taught sanctification to be a separate and distinct work of grace, and instantaneously obtainable and not necessarily a growth, I think is a misconstruction of his sermons as a whole. I concede that, to a casual reader, he seems to teach a residue theory or a necessity for a second blessing in his sermons on Sin in Believers and Repentance in Believers (Vol. I., sermons 13 and 14); yet, if they be carefully and prayerfully read and studied, we find that he is treating the case of backslidden, and not devout, Christians. Take his Scripture references to Corinthians, Ephesians, Galatians, and Revelation, and you find that he alludes to those who have in part lost their first love. In reference to I. Cor. vi, 9-11, he says, "But a man can not be clean and sanctified, holy, and at the same time unclean, unsanctified, unholy." He answers, "Yes, indeed, he may; so the Corinthians were." So we understand him to mean that the sanctified are possessed with the same spiritual propensities that the regenerate are. The fact of the whole matter is, that Mr. Wesley was persistently fighting the doctrine that there were no higher heights in the Christian life after conversion, which was the theory of Zinzendorf. On Repentance in Believers, Mr. Wesley says, "Repentance is necessary not only for the sinner, but for every subsequent stage of our Christian course." So we conclude it is for the sanctified as well as the regenerate. For what will the second blessing-ist repent? Yet Mr. Wesley says we need to repent in every Christian degree.

Let's stick to Wesley, brethren. Wesley says in his sermon on the New Birth (Vol. II., sermon 45): "What is the nature of the new birth? It is the change wrought in the whole soul by the Almighty Spirit of God when it is created anew in Christ Jesus." "When it is renewed after the image of God in righteousness and true holiness;" when the love of the world is changed into the love of God, pride into humility, passion into meekness; hatred, envy, malice, into a sincere, tender, disinterested love for all mankind. In a word, it is that change whereby the earthly, sensual, devilish mind is turned into the mind which was in Christ Jesus. This is the nature of the new birth. "So is everyone that is born of the Spirit." Now, I hope no man presumes to rise above our Master. If in the new, or spiritual, birth we have the mind which was in Christ, what is left for us to do but to go on to perfection, growing up into our living head to man- and womanhood in Christ Jesus?

Mr. Wesley, in describing the new birth, says: "A child is born of a woman in a moment, or, at least, in a very short time. Afterward he gradually and slowly grows till he attains to the stature of a man. In like manner a child is born of God in a short time, if not in a moment. But it is by slow degrees that he afterward grows up to the measure of the full stature of Christ. The same relation, therefore, which there is between our natural birth and our growth there is also between our new birth and our sanctification."

Now this, brethren, is Methodist doctrine, and I love it and endorse it. Mr. Wesley says babes in Christ are sanctified; the M. E. Church, South, says the same. Mr. Wesley says sanctification begins with the new birth, and gradually grows to maturity. Now, brethren, do not make Mr. Wesley contradict himself.

Your brother, P. H. HOWSE.

Correspondence.

Sunset Reflections.

MR. EDITOR: There is something hard to define, but very palpable, in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE that makes for righteousness all the time. One can hardly be a reader of the paper without becoming a better, as well as a wiser, man. Some papers I have ordered discontinued to my address because their influence upon me and my family was felt to be evil. They were calculated to stir up ill-feeling and foster pessimism; to cause us to fall out with our fellows instead of leading us to higher planes of personal attainment in things intellectual and divine. No wonder the eyes of our church have so often rested upon the occupants of tripod in the office of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE when on the lookout for chief pastors in our Methodism. "Faithful in one sphere, faithful elsewhere," is a motto worthy of universal acceptance.

This scribe is now closing out his seventieth year. He has had the opportunity to learn many a lesson. He has learned a few—some of them by slow and even painful experience. It has been said that "experience keeps a dear school, but that fools will learn in no other." Happy is he who can learn from the experience of others—that is, from observation. This class of learners is unfortunately too small. Most of us take lessons in the dearer school; have sad experiences before we become wise; must burn our fingers ere we dread the fire. Some become drunkards in spite of the fatal experience of multitudes around them. In like manner some preachers have closed their eyes against mistaken steps of ministerial brethren, and have learned too late in sad experiences of their own. Now, at threescore and ten, I can plainly see errors into which I fell in the earlier days of my ministry. Some of these I feel inclined to show up hereafter, if opportunity offers, as a warning to others setting out on their ministerial race. The church has been good to me. I feel that I ought to have done more for her; could have done more had I earlier known what I know now at the age of seventy.

J. H. BRUNNER.

Hiwassee College, Tenn.

Selections.

The Debasing Character of Asiatic Faith.

There is a popular tendency to indulge in comparison between Christianity and heathen systems of religion, in a way to minimize the contrast between them. We hear much of the excellencies of heathen systems—a direct fruit, no doubt, of the Parliament of Religions. The fact is, there is no true standard of comparison. There is only room for contrast. Christianity is heaven-born and heaven-ward bound; heathenism is from the pit and tends to the pit.

It would be well for those who have been misled by the glamor thrown over Paganism by its apostles in this country, to read what Mrs. Isabella Bird, the distinguished traveler and authoress, said recently in an address on the religions of Asia:

"As a traveler, and not as a mission-worker, do I speak of what I have seen of the desperate needs of the un-Christianized world. I have visited the Polynesian Islands, Japan, Southern China, the Malay Peninsula, Ceylon, North India, Cashmere, Thibet, Central Asia, Persia, Arabia and Asia Minor. I lived much with the people in their own houses and among their tents always with a trustworthy interpreter, sharing their lives as much as possible, and to some extent winning their confidence by means of a medicine chest which I carried. Wherever I went I saw sin and sorrow and shame.

"I think we are getting into a sort of milk-and-water view of heathenism, not of African heathenism alone, but of Buddhism, Mindism and Mohammedanism also, which prevails in Asia. Missionaries come home and they refrain from shocking audiences by recitals of the awful sins of the heathen and Moslem world. When traveling in Asia it struck me very much how little we heard, how little we know, as to how sin is enthroned and deified and worshiped. There is sin and shame everywhere. Mohammedanism is corrupt to the very core. The morals of Mohammedan countries are corrupt and the imaginations are wicked. How corrupt Buddhism is! How corrupt Buddhists are!

"Just one or two remarks as to what these false faiths do. They degrade women with an infinite degradation. I have lived in zenanas and harems, and have seen the daily life of the secluded women, and I can speak from bitter experience of what their lives are—the intellect dwarfed, so that the woman of twenty or thirty years of age is more like a child of eight intellectually, while all the worst passions of human nature are simulated and developed in a fearful degree—jealousy, envy, murderous hate, running to such an extent that in some countries I have hardly ever been in a woman's house or near a woman's tent without being asked for drugs with which to disfigure the favorite wife, to take away her life, or take away the life of the favorite wife's infant son. This request has been made of me nearly two hundred times.

"The whole continent of Asia is corrupt. It is the scene of barbarities, tortures, brutal punishment, oppression."—Evangelical Messenger.

Let Us Take Time.

Let us take time for the good-by kiss. We shall go to the day's work with a sweeter spirit for it.

Let us take time for the evening prayer. Our sleep will be more restful if we have claimed the guardianship of God.

Let us take time to speak sweet, foolish words to those we love. By and by, when they can no longer hear us, our foolishness will seem more wise than our best wisdom.

Let us take time to read our Bible. Its treasures will last when we shall have ceased to care for the war of political parties, and rise and fall of stocks, or the petty happenings of the day.

Let us take time to be pleasant. The small courtesies which we often omit because they are small, will some day look larger to us than the wealth which we have coveted, or the fame for which we have struggled.

Let us take time to get acquainted with our families. The wealth you are accumulating, burdened father, may be a doubtful blessing to the son who is a stranger to you. Your beautifully kept house, busy mother, can never be a home to the daughter, whom you have no time to caress.

Let us take time to get acquainted with Christ. The hour is coming swiftly, for us all, when one touch of his hand in the darkness will mean more than all that is written in the day-book and ledger, or in the records of our little social world.

Since we all must take time to die, why should we not take time to live—to live in the large sense of a life begun here for eternity?—Selected.

Living at Our Best.

Do not try to do a great thing; you may waste all your life waiting for the opportunity which may never come. But since little things are always claiming your attention, do them as they come, from a great motive, for the glory of God, to win his smile of approval, and to do good to men. It is harder to plod on in obscurity, acting thus, than to stand on the high places of the field, within the view of all, and to do deeds of valor at which rival armies stand still to gaze. But no such act goes without the swift recognition and the ultimate recompense of Christ. To fulfill faithfully the duties of your station; to use to the uttermost the gifts of your ministry; to bear chafing annoyances and trivial irritations as martyrs bore the pillory and stake; to find the one noble trait in people that try and molest you; to put the kindest construction on unkind acts and words; to love with the love of God even the unthankful and evil; to be content to be a fountain in the midst of a wild valley of stones, nourishing a few lichens and wild flowers, or now and again a thirsty sheep; and to do this always, and not for the praise of man, but for the sake of God—this makes a great life.—F. B. Meyer.

The devil has to work hard to get a finger on the man who loves his Bible.

You Must.

And now shall I write out duty? It is so plain that seemingly it needs no writing out. It is this, you must love. You can not escape the claim. All about are dependent ones needing just the help you can bring. You turn away from them, and you turn away from the "ought" of your whole nature. A thousand voices are crying, a thousand hands are reaching for your love, and give it you must, or trudge a vagabond out into the desert of duty. I have been looking into your purse. It may not be as large as some, but it holds very much beyond your actual needs. You could give hundreds of dollars, perhaps thousands of dollars, and scarcely feel it. God has dropped good bargains right at your feet, and your only credit is that you have stooped down and picked up those bargains.

And now what is your duty? It is to give. You play the miser and you play the devil. No rich man in all the world owns one dollar of his money beyond his actual needs. It is owed by the hungry ones, wanting bread; by the naked ones, wanting clothing; by the orphaned ones, wanting shelter; by the sick ones, wanting hospitals; by the outcast ones, wanting the gospel. These are the ones that own your money, and give you must, or be run through by the sword-blade of an accusing conscience.

O, I bless God for duty met by everyone. For Florence Nightingale nursing, because her tender heart drove her to nursing; for George Peabody giving, because his generous nature made him give; for William Gladstone talking, because Ireland's woes beat so tearfully against his great heart. Do you meet duty the same? Know that you can not escape it. In some way, at all times, it comes, never letting you alone.—Miller.

We often hear the quotation, "Man was created in the image of God." This is true, for God has revealed it, and his word is truth. But many men do not favor God much in their lives and characters. Only the perfect, or ideal, man resembles God in the highest sense. The perfect man is a wonderful combination of virtues and attributes. Dr. Flower, of London, England, has described the perfect man in these words. He asks the question? "What is it to be a perfect man?" and then gives this answer:

"To observe all the laws of health; to obey all the laws of one's physical being; to obey all the laws of the higher nature; to legitimately gratify all the bodily and mental powers; to avoid all bad habits and morbid actions; to avoid that which would injure or wrong others; to think and act independently; to take the responsibility of all actions; to be constantly improving; to protect the innocent and helpless; to be true to one's self and others; to act so as to command respect; to be a patriot and philanthropist; to leave the world better than he found it, and a posterity better than himself; and to let the higher powers of mind control his lower."—Alabama Advocate.

On the Potomac river, about seventy miles below Washington, in the town of Wakefield, Va., the ruins of a chimney are all that is left to mark the site of the house in which the father of his country was born. In accordance with congressional action, steps have been taken to acquire the property and to erect upon it a suitable monument. This latter is to be of American granite, and will cost $11,000. The successful proposal, out of thirty-three submitted to Secretary Gresham, provides for a shaft 51 feet high, on a base 12 feet square. This height will be sufficient to make the obelisk visible from the decks of vessels navigating the channel of the Potomac, nearly four miles away. Washington's birthplace will be added to the landmarks on this historic stream.—Exchange.

Incendiarism in this country and Canada is responsible, according to the calculation of the New York Journal of Commerce from estimates furnished by conservative insurance companies, for an annual property loss of $30,000,000, or one-fourth of the entire loss by this destructive agent. No mention is made of lives imperiled or involved in this frightful aggregate, of the interruption to business, or of the tax levied upon the community at large by premiums to replace this loss. These should also be considered; and the penalty for arson should be made so severe and unrelenting that those tempted to it would not dare to take the risk of its commission.—Zion's Herald.

Character grows and strengthens continually; each day discovers some change in us and the change is in a specific direction. There is a tendency in us toward fixity of moral nature. This development of character into distinct and permanent form is rapid. Youth is the formative period of life; then the nature is plastic; it receives impressions easily, and the impressions are lasting.—Philip Moxom.

Protestantism.

Protestant Christianity is a growing power. It is affecting to-day larger areas of population than ever. Never before did it exert a more potent or benign influence. Contact with it has modified greatly the Roman Catholicism of the nineteenth century, and caused various reformatory changes in Italy, France, Austria and Spain. In the United States especially, Roman Catholicism is a different thing from what it is in South America. So, also heathen nations feel the quickening touch of Protestant countries, as witness the effect of the influence of the United States, England and Germany upon India, Siam, Japan and China. Both relatively and absolutely is Protestantism gaining ground. According to the latest statistics, the Protestant population of the world is 142,000,000. These figures are encouraging to all who believe in the principles of civil and religious liberty, and who seek their perpetuation and increase. The progress of Protestantism during the past hundred years is most marked, and the next century will no doubt present a still grander exhibit. Protestant propagandism has set in motion agencies which mean the conquest of the globe.—The Presbyterian.

Only Idiots Have no Creed.

It has been the fashion during the World's Fair Congress of Religions to scoff at creeds. When a speaker said a particularly keen thing against them the crowd laughed, and the newspapers reported it as a particularly smart saying. The whole thing showed ignorance. Everyone who thinks has a creed—political, financial, industrial, social, moral. Only idiots have none.—Epworth Herald.

Why should any person cherish animosity? Life is too short for the maintenance of hurtful passions—for the holding of an implacable temper, an unforgiving spirit, even toward those who may have greatly injured us. Thinking of life's brevity—thinking how often we need forgiveness—there should come the promptings of a generous and kindly feeling, impelling us to forgive each other, and thus show the greatness that bears a divine and heavenly stamp.

"The best families, the most useful families and the happiest families in every congregation, are those in which family worship is regularly maintained, the church paper taken and carefully read and the work of the church often talked about." Every experienced pastor will say "Amen" to that.—United Presbyterian.

If you wish to know whether you are a Christian, inquire of yourself whether, in and for the love of God, you seek to make happy those about you by smiles and pleasant sayings. Are you a comfortable person to live with? Are you pleasant to have about?—Gail Hamilton.

He that is habituated to deceptions and artificialities in trifles will try in vain to be true in matters of importance; for truth is a thing of habit rather than of will. You can not in any given case, by any sudden and single effort, will to be true if the habit of your life has been insincere.—F. W. Robertson.

Cling fast to the hand that is leading you, though it be in darkness, though it be in deep waters—you know whom you have believed. Yield not for a single moment to misgivings about future storms. Infinite love, joined to infinitive skill, shall pilot the way through every strait and temptation.—J. Alexander.

Open your hearts every morning to Christ. Let him enter and repair the strings that sin has broken, and sweep them with his skillful fingers, and you will go out to sing through all the day. Only when the song of God's love is singing in our hearts are we ready for the day.—Miller.

Happy for us if we learn, while yet there is time, that earth's "material" things, the trifles even of our daily lives—its burdens, its envies, its stings—may all be transmuted, transfigured, into the spiritual; that the "perishable" may be stamped with imperishable worth.—James H. West.

Life, like war, is a series of mistakes, and he is not the best Christian nor the best general who makes the fewest steps. He is the best who wins the most splendid victories by the retrieval of mistakes.—Tom Freeman.

He who dallies with the tempter is lost; he who counts the cost of honesty is already dishonest; he who sets a price upon his integrity has no integrity to sell.

To silence an enemy of the Bible ask him for a chapter and verse. A pump-hose would not cool him off quicker.

Make life a ministry of love and it will always be worth living.—Browning.

Jaffa.

BY H. G. HAWKINS.

Fifteen thousand pilgrims land at Jaffa (or Joppa) annually. The harbor is a small basin formed by natural rocks on which the remains of an ancient port are still traceable. Hence Jonah sailed on his tempestuous voyage. "But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare thereof and went down into it, to go with them unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord. But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken."

And hither were brought the cedars of Lebanon for Solomon's temple. "Then Hiram, the King of Tyre, answered in writing which he sent to Solomon, 'We will cut wood out of Lebanon as much as thou shalt need; and we will bring it to thee in floats by sea to Joppa, and thou shalt carry it up to Jerusalem.'"

Oldest of cities, floked with sacred froth
And classic fable from thy earliest dawn,
By name, The Beautiful! Still fair and stately
As seen by mariner that steers his course
From the far west, when Summer sun goes down
Beneath yon level stretch of ocean blue,
And flings the ripples of its dying light
Full in thy face!
— Lays of Holy Land.

Jaffa is mentioned on old Egyptian monuments, and it is linked with classic fable, because, according to Greek mythology, Andromeda was chained on the rocks here, in order that she might be devoured by a huge sea monster, but was released by Perseus.

In Hebrew its name means "Beauty;" and the view of it from the sea as it dips its feet in the rolling waves might still justify the title. The houses are of stone, and rise one above the other from the sea to the top of a rock 776 feet high. Many travelers have been disgusted by the narrow, dirty, and sometimes muddy, streets. But it is a very good sample of an oriental city. Its wall has recently been torn down and the stones sold for other purposes.

Two places are shown, each of which has some claim to be the house of Simon the Tanner, where Peter was entertained. "And it came to pass that he tarried many days in Joppa, with one Simon a tanner. And while on the housetop here the heavenly voice spoke unto him, 'What God hath cleansed that call not thou common.'" It was the breaking down of the partition wall between Jew and Gentile, and soon after that "The apostles and brethren that were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the Word of God."

At Joppa Peter restored life to Tabitha, or Dorcas, the woman "full of good works and alm-deeds which she did," the young lady who at her birth got the name "Gazelle" from her parents, and used her influence derived from beauty and station for the glory of her Lord. While she was dead all the widows stood by "weeping, and showing the coats and garments which Dorcas made while she was with them." Bonar exclaims: "Oh, if Napoleon had done one such deed as Tabitha, instead of staining the page of history and his own name by acts done here that make the reader shudder, forcing the cry, 'How long, O Lord!'" Here he murdered his prisoners after having promised them safety. And there still stands the Armenian Monastery in which he poisoned his sick soldiers. Where his army encamped is now a large garden beautiful with oranges and other trees.

Jaffa produces about 10,000,000 oranges annually; and grapes, figs, pomegranates, and various vegetables are abundant. It has now 23,000 population and is growing.

A Noted Minstrel.

M. T. Skiff, formerly business manager for W. J. Scanlan, the Irish Comedian, suffered with Rheumatism for years without relief until he bought a bottle of Drummond's Lightning Remedy. Two bottles made a well man of him. There are a thousand remedies for Rheumatism, but none have received the unsolicited testimonials from prominent people as shown by Drummond's Lightning Remedy. When a cure is wanted, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will ship to your express address two large bottles of the remedy—enough for one month's treatment. Agents wanted.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

The Jaffa-Jerusalem Railway.

BY H. G. HAWKINS.

The glare of the Summer sun, and its reflection from white streets and walls, made waiting at the Jaffa railway station not very pleasant. But at about one o'clock the train was formed alongside the station, and I was directed by the polite young clerk to secure a seat before it became crowded. I went into a second-class car. The contrance is from the end like that of American cars; but the benches are cushionless, and extend along the sides of the cars. Gradually other passengers came in until the car was about full. Among them were two ladies accompanied by a consular escort. (How a Turk can put on the insignia of his office, red, white, and other colors, cloth so thick and tight as to resemble armor, pistols, and knives!) These ladies spoke French; others of the passengers spoke Russian, Greek, German, and one jet-black Arab was along, but none understood English. A lemonade vendor offered to serve, but he was not patronized. Perhaps many of the passengers had, like myself, stopped at the Jaffa public fountain and there quenched all their thirst.

The whistle of the Jaffa-Jerusalem train is very shrill and loud. The line makes a curve to the north for the first mile or two, skirting some of the fruit plantations for which Jaffa is famous. Then it keeps a direction mainly southeast for more than half its extent, all the way across the Plain of Sharon, until it reaches the foot of the mountains of Judea, at a point one west of the city of Jerusalem. The purpose of such a course is very evident, namely, that the line may not have to go diagonally across the mountain ridges, but may take directly up some of the torrent valleys, and thus ascend the "mountains that are round about Jerusalem." There are many windings in this last part, and views of rugged scenery are afforded.

It is a substantiated fact that the annual rainfall of Palestine is on the increase; but the dry season is still very long, from May to October; and from the car window in the last of July, after leaving the plantations of Jaffa, I saw of greenery upon the Plain of Sharon only patches of sorghum sugar cane, the elegant olive groves between Lydda and Ramleh, some cactus hedges, an occasional palm, a few shrubs and scant flowers, whose names I did not know; and in the mountains, excepting the vineyards and a few olives near the villages, it was the dry heather everywhere.

No man was putting his hand to the plow; but unmuzzled oxen were treading out the grain, and numerous shepherds with staves were tending their long flocks of sheep and goats that seemed to get sustenance somehow on the dry lands. Far up the mountain at one point a man was seen bearing a half-grown lamb in his arms; and once a horseman galloped over the plain, both steed and rider decked in full array, as is seen in pictures of Arab horses.

The first station is Lydda, about two miles south of the old town of Lydda, where Peter cured Aeneas, who had kept his bed for eight years. "And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron saw him and turned to the Lord."

Only about two miles from Lydda is Ramleh, the second and most important station. The town of 8,000 population is seen from the train. The carriage road from Jaffa to Jerusalem passes through Ramleh, and travelers used always to stop and climb the tower of Ramleh, the view from which is said to be fine. From Ramleh also there is a road to Gaza, but not suitable for carriage.

The line then passes near the ruins of Gezer, a city which was presented by Pharaoh to Solomon, his son-in-law, as his daughter's dowry. Many sites are along the way, some certain, some only probable and traditional.

Sejed, in a plain that is one of the Sultan's private domains, is the third station; Der Aban, at the foot of the mountains, is the fourth; and fifth is Bittir, on a terrace, with a copious spring, to which the people of Jerusalem often resort since the completion of the railroad.

Winding, winding, tugging, tugging; and at last the engine, puffing and blowing, slowed up alongside the Jerusalem station.

The following are the facts in reference to the building and running of the railroad. Fifty-three miles long, 30 being over plains, 23 in mountains, but no tunnels, the road running around the mountains; 5 deep cutting, 4 or 5 fine iron bridges, track one metre in width, the wooden ties from France, delivered in Jaffa, cost 80 cents each; half the rails from France, half from Belgium; the 5 engines made by Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia; cars made in north of France; coal from Cardiff and Belgium, 200 tons used daily; 5 stations, besides termini. The Jerusalem terminus is 1 mile from the city. Here 8½ acres of land were purchased for $25,000, though 30 years ago it could have been got at $1 per acre. This station is 2,476 feet above station at Jaffa, the steepest grade 2 per cent.; cost $2,000,000. The headquarters of the company is in Paris, where the principal owners live. Three hundred Italians, a large number of Egyptians and Algerians, and the peasants were employed in building. The blasters and stone cutters were from Bethlehem and Beit Jala, men whose ancestors have been stone cutters from ancient times. The Arabs on plains received 30 cents and 35 cents; the Egyptians, 40 cents and 50 cents; and the stone cutters 70 cents to $1 per day. Time 3½ hours up, 3¼ hours down. Fare: First class, $2 50; second class, $1. It is difficult to prevent the Winter torrents from damaging the road.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. W. T. Currie, Covington, La., Jan. 1, 1895: "On last Friday evening Bro. Rawls and myself were thrown from a buggy. Bro. Rawls has been in bed ever since, but will be up in ten or fifteen days. I have to walk with a stick. I was able to preach on last Sunday. We ask your prayers."

Rev. M. E. Tumlin, Shannon, Miss., Dec. 31, 1894: "I was sick with malarial fever during our Conference at Sardis, and could not attend. I realize that I missed much, but I thank the Father of all our mercies that I am up again, and hope to be able to commence my work the first Sunday of the year 1895. Regards to all the brethren whom I have not seen for twelve months, but still remember and love."

Rev. R. M. Blocker, Jeanerette, La., Jan. 1, 1895: "I reached my charge, Jeanerette, on Dec. 14. My family came later. We are comfortably domiciled, yet the parsonage is rather small. Additions will be made as early as convenient. We have been kindly received, and our table loaded down with good things. God bless these kind hearts! The congregation is not large, but prompt and attentive. The prayer meeting is lively and the Sunday-school good. Jeanerette numbers about 2,000 souls—mostly Roman Catholics. I find a great deal to do, and am hard at it. The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE seems to be in demand. Pray for us."

Rev. T. G. Freeman, Sallis, Miss., Dec. 27, 1894: "I have moved to Sallis—a new work for me. The people are so kind. They met us cordially and gave us a hearty reception, sending in many good things to eat—turkey, fresh meat, canned fruits, and supplies too numerous to mention. Oh, how much at home it makes a preacher feel after tearing up and moving on, having nothing to start off on! I think I will like this work, and pray that the Lord may reward this kind people for their interest in their preacher. I pray that this may be a year of great success in the Master's kingdom. Pray for us. The Lord bless you in the ADVOCATE work. I want to do more for the ADVOCATE this year than ever before."

Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, Tupelo, Miss., Dec. 28, 1894: "I write from my new field of labor. You must come to Tupelo and know this good people and this thriving town. This scribe and his wife arrived here on Saturday morning, Dec. 15, and received a most hearty and generous welcome to our new home. It is all neat and well supplied. The people open their hearts and hands to us. The sainted Moon did not labor in vain here. His successor, Bro. J. W. Honnoll, has turned over to me a well-organized church of active members, a live Sunday-school and Epworth League and good prayer meeting. Good congregations have greeted me so far, and the appearance is full of hope. O, for grace to meet the demand and do the Master's work to which I am sent."

Rev. J. A. Bowen, Macon, Miss., Dec. 28, 1894: "We begin our second year in Macon station with much promise. These good people gave us every expression of true welcome, Sunday, Dec. 16, we commenced a meeting which continued four days. The preaching was done by Rev. Winans Drake, of Crowley, La., and Rev. Robert Wynn, of New Orleans, La. These gifted, consecrated young men did us much good. They led our people to a better life. We have more loyal young people in this charge than any I ever saw! During the past year we received 46 members—net gain of 21. An increase in the Sunday-school of about one hundred. All the collections paid in full. Two hundred and fifty-four church members paid $2,300 for all church purposes last year. This Conference year the Official Board is arranging for an increase in Christian liberality. Nearly every day the pastor and his family are remembered in some substantial way. This charge and their pastor have made a covenant to work and pray for a year of great spiritual power. If there is a better appointment in the North Mississippi Conference, we have not seen it. The ADVOCATE is popular. Come to see us."

That Tired Feeling

The great benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. B. Emerton, a well known merchant of Auburn, Me., says: "About 5 years ago I began to suffer with very severe pain in my Stomach, gradually growing worse. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver and Kidney troubles. I improved at once and am very much better and feel more like working.

Mr. J. B. Emerton.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

always gives relief and great comfort. It is a God-send to any one suffering as I did."

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. Price 25c.

AYER'S
THE ONLY
Sarsaparilla
ADMITTED

READ RULE XV.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA WORLD'S FAIR Chicago 1893

"Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was admitted because it is a standard pharmaceutical preparation, and all that a family medicine should be.

At the WORLD'S FAIR.

Dr. VAN WATTS,
DENTIST.
No 170 (NEW No. 918) CANAL STREET,
Over New Home Sewing Machine Office,
NEW ORLEANS.

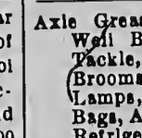
Under an entirely new treatment all operations on the teeth are Positively Painless, without harm to the tooth or patient. Old, aching, abscessed teeth, mere shells and roots of teeth are cured at once and made serviceable for life, at very little cost.

☞ Gold Crown and Bridge Work within the reach of all. Sets of Teeth Cheaper than ever before Made in this City. All Work Guaranteed to Give Perfect Satisfaction. Hours: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Mrs. C. L. CHRISTIAN,
Ladies' - Purchasing - Agent,
PETERS AVENUE, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
out jan25

USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED
TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away, as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine.



None genuine without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $4.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to
DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer, Dixon, Ill.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.
I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

☞ Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 822 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.
$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.
A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.
J. BLASS & SON,
Old No 95 (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

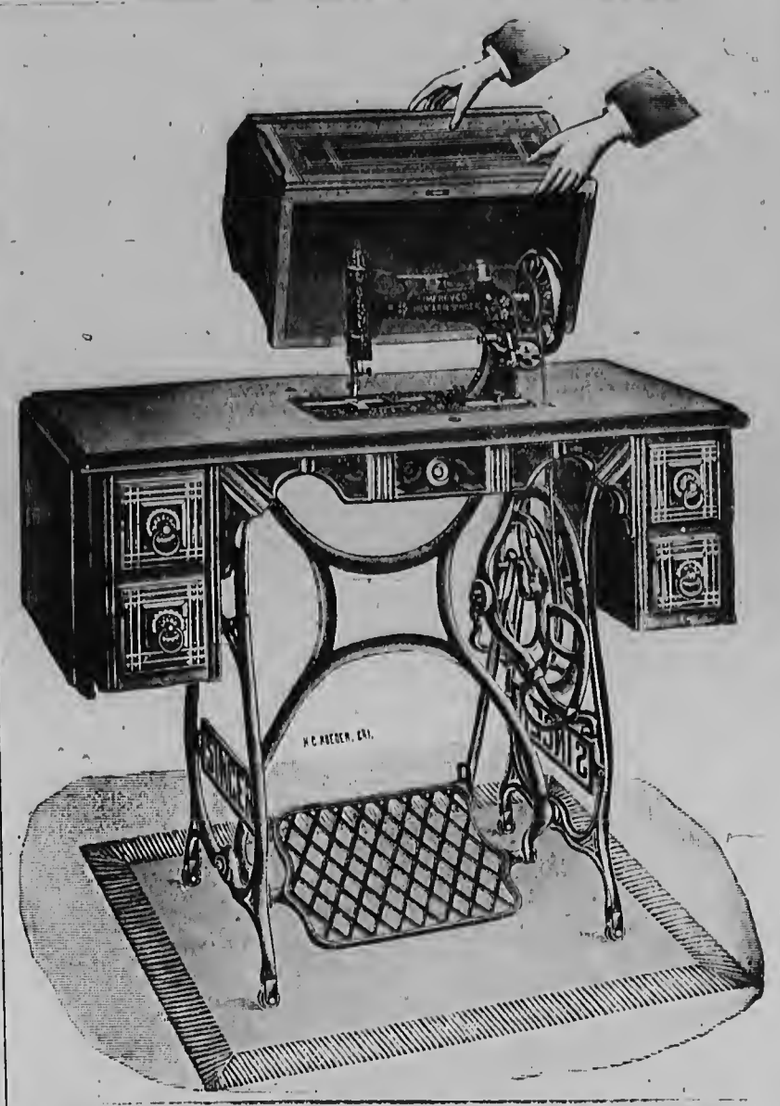
Axle Grease, Rope, Wagon Jacks, Well Buckets, Oars, Fishing Tackle, Twines, Whips, Scales, Brooms, Brushes, Lanterns, Lamps, Blank Books, Paper, Bags, Axes, Hatchets, Handles, Refrigerators, Water Coolers, Demijohns, Bottles, Corks, Soaps, Sponges, Mops, Flies, Cutlery, Meat Saws, Syrup Kegs, Bungs, etc. . . . . .

Woodenware and Tinware.
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street,
NEW ORLEANS.
City and Country Trade Solicited.
E. F. DYER, Pres't. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

DR. CHILES'
Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally, but applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.
DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 3 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington, 6 miles shortest to Birmingham, 60 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries a Shreveport-Atlanta Sleeper, Shreveport to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through cars from Shreveport to Atlanta via Birmingham without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Washington and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

E. T. GARRETT, A. G. P. A., 34 St. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. J. HARDY, A. G. P. A., GALVESTON, TEX.
W. C. RINEARSON, Gen. Pass'r. Agt., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE
SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J JONES
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

One inch,	1 week	$ 1 00
" "	2 weeks	1 60
" "	3 "	2 00
" "	1 month	2 40
" "	3 months	6 00
" "	6 "	12 00
" "	12 "	20 00
Two inches,	12 "	36 00
Three "	12 "	50 00

Four or more inches, $15 per inch, per year
Special position, 25 per cent. extra.

Thursday, January 10, 1895.

Notice to Subscribers.

If your renewal is due, and you did not send it to Conference by your preacher, send it at once by mail to us if you do not wish to be cut off. Do not forget this. If you desire the paper continued, and you can not send the money right now, but will do so by Feb. 1, 1895, drop us a postal at once, and we will wait on you until then. Either send us the money at once, or drop us a postal.

Cranky Leadership Again.

A friend of ours, a most excellent Christian woman, takes us to task for what we said recently anent Miss Willard. She thinks our article conveys the idea that the W. C. T. U. is committed to the doctrines advocated by Miss Willard, viz.: Henry-Georgeism and governmental control of the press. We do not see how such a construction could possibly be put upon our words. We did not speak of the W. C. T. U. at all. We know perfectly well that the W. C. T. U. has not committed itself to these wild fantasies of their leader. Upon questions of this sort Miss Willard speaks for herself alone, even in her annual address before the W. C. T. U. National Convention. But while this is true, it is also true that Miss Willard is trying to lead her white-ribbon sisters in this direction. This is her sole object in making such a deliverance. It was against such teaching upon the part of a gifted and influential leader that we uttered our protest. For Miss Willard, personally, we have the highest regard. She is one of the most gifted women of the age, and she is a Christian of the noblest type; but this constitutes no reason why journalism should not lift up its voice in indignant protest when she seeks to lead in a direction fraught with the direst perils to everything that constitutes a high order of civilization. Governmental ownership of the press would be one of the greatest calamities that could befall this heaven-favored land. The very thought is an anachronism too grotesque to be seriously considered. The trend of civilization is in the opposite direction. With Miss Willard's temperance work we are, as we have always been, in hearty sympathy. We hope to find room soon for an extract from her annual address, which we can heartily commend.

In the future St. Louis, Mo., will be headquarters for the Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle. A three-year's course of systematic reading and study on missions in all lands. Those who desire to take such a course will please address Rev. Marcus L. Grey, president C. M. R. C., St. Louis, Mo.

"The Great Iron Wheel" No. 2.

A certain Southern Methodist paper is so entirely similar in its spirit and its methods to J. R. Graves's obsolete book, the "Great Iron Wheel," that we think the most appropriate name for it would be The Great Iron Wheel No. 2. This paper, in a recent edition, devotes considerable space to the editor of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

It loses its temper completely and uses adjectives in fish-market style. "Unkind," "vicious," "like an idiot," "qualified for the asylum"—these are samples of the epithets which it hurls at us in rapid succession. And what is our offense? We branded as a slander the assertion that the Southern Methodist Church is dominated by rings like the rings which have made American politics a stench in the nostrils of civilization. Only that, and nothing more.

It does not quote us fairly. We said in our article, of two weeks ago, that the aforesaid editor owes it to the church and the world to prove its charge or retract it, or else withdraw from the church. In his reply the editor omits the word "prove" altogether. This is the worst sort of garbling. That is the most important word in the whole article.

Whenever the editor of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2 proves his charge, we will retract all we have said about his retracting and withdrawing from the church. Has he proved his charge? Perhaps he thinks so, for there are people in the world who seem to be entirely unable to perceive that there is a difference between proof and assertion. He asserts that there is a ring in the Tennessee Conference and another in the North Georgia Conference; but he has furnished no proof whatever. Of course, everybody knows that there are two factions in the Tennessee Conference growing out of the famous Kelley case; but we hold that it is an egregious misnomer and a grevious offense against good morals to characterize either of these factions as a ring. The term "ring" is a very offensive term. It signifies, as everybody knows, moral corruption. A ring is a body of men banded together to accomplish selfish ends by corrupt methods. Now, we do not believe that the hundred and sixteen members of the Tennessee Conference who voted to sustain Dr. Kelley in his course were or are corrupt men. We believe they acted from honest conviction. And what is true of them we believe to be true of the twenty-five who voted against Dr. Kelley. We believe they are just as honest and just as true as the others.

The Great Iron Wheel No. 2 may have abundant proof of the existence of a ring in the Tennessee Conference; but it has not yet given that proof to the public. Until it does so, we shall, even at the risk of being blackguarded, continue, as we have heretofore done, to believe that the members of the Tennessee Conference are like other Methodist preachers—upright, honorable men.

So far as the North Georgia Conference is concerned, the only proof offered of the existence of a ring there is that some of the appointments do not suit Editor No. 2 of the Tennessee Methodist. Now, of course, this same Editor No. 2 may be a better judge of the needs of the church and the qualifications of men than all our Bishops. Whenever we are convinced of that fact, then, if we should ever again be honored with a seat in the General Conference, we will vote to make him Archbishop, with a general supervision over all appointments. Until we are convinced of this, however, we shall continue as heretofore to believe that our chief superintendents make appointments in the fear of God, and that, although human and therefore fallible, they are as good judges of the qualifications of men as any other body to whom the work of making appointments could possibly be relegated, not even excepting editors and evangelists.

The Christian Index, published in Atlanta, Ga., one of the ablest and most influential Baptist papers in the South, has in its last issue an article in which the writer takes as his text the utterances of Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2, and extends a hearty invitation to the poor, Bishop-ridden, ring-cursed Methodists to come into the Baptist fold. He makes a special, earnest, pathetic appeal to the aforesaid Editor No. 2 to go down into the liquid grave. We can not speak for the aforesaid Editor No. 2, but we can assure the Index that it need not provide a fresh supply of water yet a while. The Methodist Church survived the Great Iron Wheel No. 1, and it will survive the Great Iron Wheel, No. 2.

The Gospel Advocate, the leading Campbellite paper of the South, in a recent issue devotes its first page and part of another to Southern Methodism, which it supposes is on the verge of disruption. It bases its opinion on what it reads in the Great Iron Wheel No. 2.

Keeping Good Resolutions.

Who does not at the beginning of each year form good resolutions, and lay new plans for the future? As we review the past, and reflect upon our misdeeds and imperfections, we, one and all, shrink back from the dark picture, and solemnly vow that hereafter our lives shall be fashioned after another pattern. Conscious of innumerable failings and derelictions of duty, humanity finds pleasure in the thought of taking a fresh start in life along with the birth of another year. The liquor lover, the gambler, the profane swearer, each resolves to yield no more to his besetting sin. The prayerless, indifferent church member, too, feels compunctions of conscience, and determines to do better. What man is he, be he saint or sinner, who, after close introspection, does not feel the need of improvement? What righteous person is he who is thoroughly satisfied with himself? What manner of Christian is he who longs not for fresh accessions of grace?

It is well that we should turn over new leaves now and then, especially at New Year; but a sad feature of the case is that our good resolves so quickly come to nought. How few are the persons who have sufficient strength of character to keep their vows throughout the year. Why do so many fall by the wayside while the year is yet young? With some the reason is that their resolutions were only surface-deep. Imagining they were sincere, they deceived themselves; for they never had the real purpose to wholly abandon evil or questionable habits and practices. Partial reformations, as most of us are aware, seldom amount to much. Many a man falls a victim to intemperance and brings reproach upon his family name because he resolves not to touch intoxicants except on election day, the Fourth of July, or Christmas Day. Trifling with sin is like toying with a deadly serpent. Ere we know it we are bitten beyond recovery.

With most persons, however, the true secret of failure in attempts at reformation is trust in self. Good resolutions are meaningless unless they be accompanied with implicit reliance upon the divine power. It is sheer nonsense to talk of thoroughly reforming men without the assistance of God. He it is "who works in us both to will and to do of his good pleasure." Forsaking villanies, lopping off excrescences of character—this is not righteousness. Wicked men often reform because they see disease and death ahead as the result of their evil practices. Public opinion, the fear of the law, and regard for the health not seldom drive men to outward righteousness, so that reformation does not always imply a life of godliness. Some men are honest only so long as it pays to be so. Others are virtuous and clean-mouthed while under observation, but no longer.

Little importance then can be attached to the forms of goodness which do not spring from the fear of God and the desire to please him. "Quitting one's meanness" is not conversion, but is only the initial step thereto. Unless there be a cleaving unto God as our righteousness, our resolutions to lead new lives will be profitless. No wonder that so many give over the struggle after a few weeks or months. Never a prayer do they utter to God for help and guidance. Or if they pray, their petitions are occasional. But what magazines of spiritual power are opened up to the consecrated Christian. He knows that God does not require impossible things of us, that none of us shall be tempted above that we are able. With Paul he is ready to say: "I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me."

The Unchangeableness of the Gospel.

Change is the chief characteristic of the material world. Nature is ceaseless in her activity. The elements are constantly dissolving co-partnership to enter into new combinations and relations with each other. Rivers shift their beds; plains grow up in forests; the winds waft the clouds hither and thither; the rocks and hills are unceasingly being eaten away by the rains and carried down to form new lands; trees and plants perish and decay only to give place to other forms of vegetation. Life springs, as it were, out of the very jaws of death. The forms of animal life now found upon the earth differ vastly from those of earlier geologic ages.

Not only is change the great law of nature, but it is also the law of human progress. It is the chief glory of man that he is ever moving on to higher things. The achievements of to-day will not suffice for the morrow. In all realms, whether of art or literature or science or philosophy or government, there is a species of evolution, the goal of perfection being ever approximated, but not attained. Formerly children were taught their a b c's first; now they learn to read before they know the letters apart. Doctors a few decades back grievously tormented fever patients by limiting the amount of water drunk. What modern physician thinks of withholding nature's universal beverage? The scientists of one age advance theories and reach conclusions which those of a succeeding age completely overturn. Wherever we turn we see change. Laws, customs, languages, governments and nations are alike undergoing transition.

Recognizing the wide-spread dominion of the principle of evolution, men attempt to apply it to the religion of Christ; but here they find it inoperative. Philosophers have supposed that the religions of the world are all evolutions in religious thought, the gospel of Christ being the crowning work, the grand consummation. But on close investigation the analogy breaks down utterly. Sir Monier Williams, a prominent English official, was for forty years a careful student of the so-called Sacred Books of the East. Yet he testifies of Buddhism, Confucianism, and the other pagan religions, that, beginning with a spark of truth, they end in total darkness. The Bible is the only book in the world the teachings of which do not have to be revised to suit the times. Not a single fundamental doctrine of Scripture has been affected by the verbal revisions made by the scholars. The man who accepts Christ has no fear that the conditions of salvation will be changed to keep pace with human progress. "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul."

When we consider the transitory nature of earthly things, and observe the numberless changes going on around us, we are impressed with the great need of something enduring. Political parties are forced from time to time to adopt new platforms and advocate new principles. The preacher of the gospel, however, proclaims the same old, yet ever new theme—"Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, to-day, and forever." The atonement, the resurrection, the judgment, repentance, faith, and love—these are the subjects which the Christian minister in every age discourses upon.

The gospel of Christ has survived the shock of nearly nineteen centuries and the crash of numerous empires. The searchlight of investigation, instead of shaking, has only served to confirm our faith in the world's Redeemer. The great fact of the resurrection of Jesus is more clearly proved to-day than ever before in the world's history. The gospel requirements have not changed one iota since the time the jailer at Philippi cried out: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" The same Spirit that on the day of Pentecost came down in such mighty power still broods over men, leading them to repentance, and giving joy and peace to the trusting soul. In the centuries gone by countless millions have died, sweetly trusting in the hope of eternal life, and millions to-day have the same hope "as an anchor to the soul." How true it is that the world by wisdom knows not God. What superstition, what endless groping in darkness characterize the nations as yet unlighted by the revelation of God! Even the "divine" Plato, the most enlightened of the Greeks, sighed for the coming of a being who should illumine what in him was dark.

Christianity bears no surer work of its divine origin than the fact that civilization has not outgrown it. Grand inventions, the spread of knowledge, and the possession of greater liberty have not lifted men out of sin. Humanity needs the regenerating, transforming power of the gospel just as much to-day as when Paul preached the unsearchable riches of Christ in cities foul with corruption and pagan superstition. Though all else should change, in the gospel of Christ we have that which is substantial and imperishable. It has afforded comfort and consolation to men in every age and condition in life. The peasant and the prince, the philosopher and the slave, have alike experienced its joys and its uplifting power. At the stake, in prison, in sickness, in health, in misfortune, in prosperity, in wisdom, and in ignorance, men have rejoiced, and do rejoice in hope of the glory of God.

Stolen Clerical Robes.

Some months ago there appeared at Amite City, La., a man calling himself S. M. Drover, and claiming to be an elder in the Methodist Episcopal Church. His parchments were in due form, and bore every mark of genuineness. By invitation of the pastor he preached frequently at Amite City, and the people were delighted with him. He was a man of fine appearance and pleasing address. He soon received invitations from brethren serving adjacent charges to assist in revival services. In this sort of service he proved a decided success. He captivated the people wherever he went, and many conversions resulted from his ministry. When the Louisiana Conference met in this city, in December, he applied for admission and, being heartily endorsed, he was admitted. On Sunday he was publicly recognized by Bishop Granbery as an elder received from the M. E. Church.

Meantime, however, some things had leaked out concerning him which aroused suspicion in the minds of several brethren. So on Monday morning the vote by which he was admitted was reconsidered, and he was allowed to withdraw his application, which he consented to do as soon as he learned that a fight would be made against him. He still protested, however, that his papers were genuine, and that he would completely vindicate himself in a very few days. As he had given references as to his character, Rev. S. S. Keener at once began an investigation. A communication from Bro. Keener in another column reveals the result.

Either Drover is identical with S. M. Driver, or he is not. If he is, then the penitentiary is the place where he properly belongs. If he is not S. M. Driver, then he is an unmitigated fraud. The Louisiana Conference is to be congratulated upon having so soon gotten rid of such a villain. Our Bishops and Conferences in other sections should be on the lookout, as he will no doubt turn up somewhere else as an expounder of the gospel bearing some other name. He is a taking fellow. He preached at Louisiana Avenue Church during Conference and, as usual, captured his audience, preachers and all, with a few exceptions. It is well to heed the admonition, "Lay hands suddenly on no man."

BOOKS.

AMONG THE ESQUIMAUX; or, Adventures under the Arctic Circle. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. 317 pages. Illustrated. Cloth, $1.25. The Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia.

The productions of Mr. Ellis are widely read and deservedly popular, for he has the happy faculty of furnishing the young mind wholesome entertainment as well as instruction. The book before us tells in a graphic way of the adventures of a bluff sailor named Jack Cosgrove, and of two London lads who sailed in the good ship "Nautilus," bound for York Factory, a trading port on the Hudson Bay. The story abounds in thrilling, though by no means improbable, incidents, and is of just the character to delight the average boy's heart. A book so stimulating in its tendency, so elevating in its moral tone, so bright and breezy withal, merits the highest commendation. Attractively printed and bound, and containing a number of beautiful engravings, it is sure to be eagerly read by the young people. Sold by all book sellers, or sent prepaid on receipt of price.

THE WORLD IN THE CHURCH. By J. T. Sawyer, D. D. Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn. Price, 25 cents.

The above work has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price.

NOTES.

The address of Rev. S. M. Thames is Aberdeen, Miss.

The address of Mrs. F. P. Little is Port Gibson, Miss.

Presiding Elder Sawyer reports a fine day at Parker Chapel last Sabbath—a full house and several penitents at the altar.

From a private letter from Bishop Haygood we learn that his health is much improved and that he is now on the road to recovery.

On our first page will be found a clipping from the Picayune concerning the Waifs' Home. Read it and see what Bro. Clay is doing in behalf of suffering childhood.

Rev. J. A. Randolph, Greenville, Miss., Jan. 1, 1895: "Please say that my address is now Greenville, Miss. Everything moving off hopefully, and we expect a good year. Come and see us."

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 AND 2107 THIRD AVE.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Premium Offer Extraordinary.

We are still handling the Epworth pianos and organs. We sell these instruments under a guarantee. We have one of the pianos in use in our own home, and a superb instrument it is. We will sell any instrument in the catalogue for cash at thirty-three and a third per cent. discount from catalogue prices. Or we will sell at the catalogue price, and take payment in subscriptions to the ADVOCATE, giving a commission of one dollar on each new subscription. Send for catalogue. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Apportionment of the District Stewards to the Various Charges on the New Orleans District for Conference Collections and Presiding Elder's Allowance for 1895.

	Presiding Elder.	Foreign Missions	Domestic Missions	Church Extension.	Conference Claimants.	Bishops.	Centenary & Mansfield.	General Board of Education.	Paine and Lane Inst.
Carondelet	20 per cent of amounts paid pastors in charge	$ 495 00	$168 40	$125 60	$ 211 60	$ 50 00	$ 50 00	$12 50	$ 8 45
Felicity		247 50	84 20	62 80	105 80	25 00	25 00	6 25	4 20
Rayne Memorial		371 25	126 30	93 75	158 70	37 50	37 50	9 35	6 35
Louisiana Avenue		247 50	84 20	62 80	105 80	25 00	25 00	6 25	4 20
Dryades		185 60	63 15	46 90	79 35	18 75	18 75	4 70	3 15
Moreau		148 50	50 55	37 50	63 50	15 00	15 00	3 75	2 55
Algiers		148 50	50 55	37 50	63 50	15 00	15 00	3 75	2 55
Porter Chapel		123 75	42 10	31 25	52 90	12 25	12 25	3 15	2 10
Cape and Gretna		74 25	25 25	18 75	31 75	7 50	7 50	1 90	1 25
Carrollton		74 25	25 25	18 75	31 75	7 00	7 00	1 90	1 25
Pinquemine and Donaldsonville		148 50	50 55	37 50	63 50	15 00	15 00	3 75	2 55
Lower Coast		36 90	12 65	9 35	15 85	2 00	2 00	95	60
Covington		24 25	8 45	6 25	10 50	2 00	2 00	65	40
Thibodeaux		24 25	8 40	6 25	10 50	2 00	2 00	65	40
Totals		$2,350 00	$800 00	$ 93 75	$1 005 00	$234 00	$234.00	$59 50	$40 00

New Orleans, Jan. 2, 1895.

M. O. WOOLFLEY, Secretary Board Dist. Stewards.

Important Notice.

To the Preachers in Charge of the Seashore District, Mississippi Annual Conference—

Dear Brethren: Please announce from your pulpits on your first round, or, at least, early in the year, that all persons who expect to apply for license to preach, at the next District Conference, should make their application for recommendation at the first Quarterly Conference, as the District Conference may be held before the second round of Quarterly Conferences are held.

Your brother,

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

THE GENUINE "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are sold only in boxes. They are wonderfully effective for Coughs, Hoarseness or Irritation of the Throat caused by cold.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

The manuscripts were placed in the hands of the printers on Monday, Dec. 24. Assurance is given that the Minutes will be finished and ready for mailing by Jan. 20, at farthest. Up to date very few of the postoffices of the preachers have been furnished. Brethren, where the name of your charge does not plainly indicate the post office, please furnish the name of your postoffice for insertion in the Minutes without delay.

Where changes have been made in the pastoral charges and new circuits have been formed, presiding elders and pastors will please furnish me the number of members, so that I can equitably distribute the Minutes.

C. G. ANDREWS, Sec.

December 28, 1894.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTALS ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

A Miserable Taste.

That which hangs about most medicines is what we refer to. CREOLE FEMALE TONIC is an exception. It has a taste as pleasant as cordial, as comforting as wine, as sparkling and refreshing as spring water! Cures all diseases and irregularities of the uterine system, and brings the bloom of health to the cheeks.

Any preacher who is desirous of supplementing his salary by taking a job as "nice and clane and aisy" as a Bishop's job is in Pat's estimation, will find it to his interest to communicate with the undersigned. The earlier the better. W. C. BLACK,

112 Camp St. New Orleans, La

The prohibition placed on the sale of American canned beef in Germany has been removed.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O., Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine 1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

Christmas Novelties

IN

RUGS,

WALL PAPER,

MATTING,

WINDOW SHADES

UPHOLSTERY.

New Patterns.

New Colorings

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Telephone 189.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years, - $34,520,630
N. Y. Life, " " " " " - 40,684,165
Equitable, " " " " " - 40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York.

120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.

Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.

P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 676. NEW ORLEANS.

oct feb8

GEORGE C. LOGAN, Agent,

COAL AND COKE,

No. 410 BARONNE STREET,

Telephone 1283. Bet. Poydras and Perdido, New Orleans.

oct jan29

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 831.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,

PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.

Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.

L. S. WIDNEY, ... Manager.

CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St., and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

oct jan29

COLUMBIAN TEACHERS' BUREAU

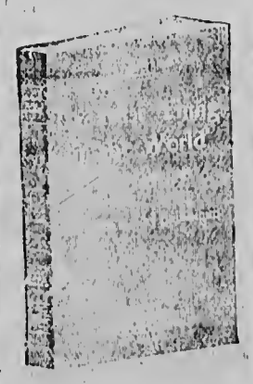
Secures positions for teachers and teachers for positions. Operates in Southern States, Mexico, Central America, and all civilized South American States. Membership is solicited from first-class, successful teachers, or such as have specially prepared themselves for the work, regardless of section, nationality, or religious faith. The Bureau is proceeding upon an entirely new plan, which has been gradually and successfully matured with a two-fold purpose: First, the Bureau's interest; second, the interest of thousands of teachers victimized by unscrupulous agencies. For further information, address with stamp.

COLUMBIAN TEACHERS' BUREAU, Vanderbilt Building, Nashville, Tenn.

THE most successful farmers and gardeners buy their seed directly from the growers; for this reason we raise largely the most risky kinds, especially Cabbage and Onion Seed. This latter is extra fine this season. No catalogue contains more varieties of vegetable seed, and none more of the new that are really good—see outside cover for an illustrated selection from our new specialties, which we will sell at half rates. Catalogue free.

J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers,
MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

DRUMMOND'S ADDRESSES.



ENAMEL PAPER COVERS.

The Greatest Thing in the World and Other Addresses.

By PROFESSOR HENRY DRUMMOND.

We know of no addresses more suited to the religious spirit of the time than those of the thoughtful author of "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." They contain no denunciation of blind and rash unbelief; on the contrary, the writer is one of the most helpful and suggestive of the modern school of Christian apologists. He takes his stand on a very broad basis and expounds, earnestly yet logically, the great truths of religion.

1 VOL. 16mo. LARGE TYPE. 245 PAGES.

These Charming Addresses have been called for by the reading public to such an extent that more than 50,000 copies have been published.

THE VOLUME CONTAINS:

THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD—PAX VOBISCUM—THE CHANGED LIFE—"FIRST"—HOW TO LEARN HOW—WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN? THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE and A TALK ON BOOKS.

Publisher's price, twenty five cents. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who will pay his subscription to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. For fifteen cents additional we will send a neat cloth-bound edition. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Sacrifices Necessary.

The Christian system was inaugurated by an infinite sacrifice on the part of the Son of God. That sacrifice is the key-note to every department of the system. Each separate department is to be carried forward to completion through the self-sacrifice of the workers. Self-denial is the first step in every forward movement in the work of the world's redemption to Christ. In the many enterprises in which the church is engaged to disseminate divine truth self-sacrifice is the most potent factor. There can be no success on any line without it.

Louisiana Methodism has done and is now doing a good deal towards supplying the people with a pure gospel. The self-sacrifice which characterized the work of our fathers and mothers, and which has brought us into so good a heritage, not only adorns the pages of Methodist history in Louisiana, but will have honorable mention in the annals of eternity. We rejoice in so glorious a history, and that we have come into so rich an inheritance. But however glorious our history, and however rich our inheritance, we believe that the grandest of all opportunities is now open to Louisiana Methodism. In the providence of God and by the beneficence of Mississippi Methodism the Louisiana Conference has come into sole possession of a college whose buildings are worth many thousand dollars. Under the joint administration of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences Centenary College has built a name and established a character known far and wide. In all these years a quiet, solid work has been done in Christian education, and it has told for good on the welfare of both States. This institution is now the property of Louisiana Methodism, and our opportunity is now before us, not only to sustain it, but to build it into grander proportions that it may do a larger and more glorious work.

The history of Louisiana Methodism does not show a good record in the matter of Christian education. We seem not to have a clear apprehension of its value to us as a church. So little have we seemed to appreciate it that very few of our people have ever given any considerable sum of money to foster it. As far as I know, but one person has ever given as much as five thousand dollars at one time to the cause of Christian education. And yet there are Louisiana Methodists who are worth many thousands of dollars! The church has been expecting these rich folks to endow her college, and the expectation has been a vain one. It is not worth our time to indulge any longer in the illusions of that hope. The poor Methodists of Louisiana are the heirs to the grand opportunity upon which the rich Methodists would not enter. The rich have refused the honor and the crown of reward. Now let the poor do the great work and earn the honor and wear the crown.

Can the poor build up the cause of Christian education? Christian men and women, whose hearts glow with love to God and whose lives are strong in helpfulness to their fellow-men and women, can make a grand success of any good thing they attempt. In this case poverty itself enhances the value of the opportunity open to them, because it affords a field for self-denial, and self-denial is a fundamental principle in Christian action and life. In sustaining and enlarging and equipping Centenary College for a wider usefulness the poor Methodists of Louisiana have the best opportunity for the practice of self-sacrifice that will, perhaps, ever come to them. Will they close with the opportunity and make a grand success of our college?

I know these are hard times; but the question is, Can we afford not to have a Christian college, where our boys shall be educated under the fostering care and guidance of our own church? "The poor can't give much." The little which is given through self-sacrifice is worth more and will go further and do more and last longer than a millionaire's thousands. A college that is built up by the self-denials and prayers and sympathies of poor Christians, because they want to honor God and bless the church and benefit the State by sending forth men educated after a Christian model, will be a power for good long after the builders have reaped the reward for their self-sacrifices in the heavenly mansions. The very hardness of the times, then, can be converted into a glorious means of grace, for when are self-sacrifices more dear to our Lord than when we make them out of the very midst of our deep poverty? The opportunity is ours, and our poverty enhances its value and thus augments our responsibility in the matter.

Many of our people have given already their notes as an endowment fund, and the college has been sustained by the interest—which—these—notes—bear. But the interest on these notes has come in so slowly that we find ourselves very much embarrassed, and a fear is growing that we may not be able to weather the storm. Here is an opportunity for self-denial on the part of the givers of these notes. The college can't get along without that interest. By a little self-sacrifice every giver of a note can send that small interest. Take the example of a brother in Missouri in a like situation. We clip from the St. Louis Advocate, of recent date, this editorial note:

We paid this week the last dollar of the $500 subscribed to the new college building at Fayette, 8 per cent. interest in bank to the contrary notwithstanding. But we had better pay this interest on a small amount than for such an important enterprise to be hindered. Missouri Methodism ought to put on sack cloth and ashes for our miserable, miserly, meanness in dealing with educational institutions. Borrow the money, brother, and pay your subscription, and you will feel better. We speak from experience.

We urge all our friends to do something of this kind, and to do it quickly. If we can get through this session without breaking down, the success of the college is an assured fact. Now, let everybody help us, be it ever so little, and we will snap our fingers in faces of all the croakers, and thank God and take fresh courage.

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La.

The Way to reach catarrh is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by purifying the blood, removes the cause of the disease and permanently cures catarrh. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

Drover—Driver.

MR. EDITOR: The following letter from Rev. John Coyle, D. D., presiding elder of the San Francisco district, the referee of Rev. S. M. Drover, will explain itself:

20 Liberty St.,
San Francisco, December 18, 1894.

Rev. S. S. Keener—

Dear Bro: Your communication is just at hand. Never heard of Rev. S. M. Drover, (Driver). Therefore if he holds a recommendation from me, it is a forgery. Rev. S. M. Driver was a member of our Conference. He ran off with a woman and left his wife and children destitute. He was tried, suspended, and at the last session of our Conference expelled. That is all I know of him. The woman left him after they had lived together some time. Fraternally yours,

JOHN COYLE.

Brain-Workers

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

When night comes, the literary and active business man's brain is hungry from the exhausting labor of the day. Horsford's Acid Phosphate quickly supplies the waste of tissue, and refreshing sleep results.

New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The following is an extract from the report of the Committee on Publishing Interests at the last session of the Mississippi Conference:

Our own Conference organ, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, under editorship and management of our brother, Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., demands and deserves our heartiest commendation and support. We are happy to be able to say that the ADVOCATE is one of the best family papers published. We believe that our Methodism would be wonderfully advanced in Mississippi if this ADVOCATE could be put into the homes of all our people; for we can not imagine a true, intelligent Methodism possible without the information concerning the church which we get only from such Conference organs as the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Baldness is either hereditary or caused by sickness, mental exhaustion, wearing tight-fitting hats, and by overwork and trouble. Hall's Hair Renewer will prevent it.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE ALTAR.

(Exodus xxx, 1-10; Rev. viii, 3.)

"Altar" is derived from two Latin words, alta ara—elevated place. Among the heathen the place of worship was usually on high summits. See Elijah and the priests of Baal offering up sacrifices on Horeb.

1. In the New Testament church the altar—the material altar—is superfluous.

(1) No material sacrifices are required at our hands. Christ was once offered for the sin of all men. The altar a cross.

(2) The incense offered was symbolical of prayer. Now the altar is in the heart of believers. Christians commune with God as friend with friend.

2. In the Roman Catholic Church, and in churches aping the former, the Jewish altar is maintained. The error is palpable and easily understood.

(1) The Catholics adhere to transubstantiation. That is, they believe that in the Holy Eucharist the bread and wine are actually converted into flesh and blood of Christ. This being accepted, the administration of this sacrament would be tantamount to offering up sacrifice.

(2) This being accepted, their ministry is properly called priesthood. The Roman Catholic clergy are called priests.

(3) As a rule, the heathen custom is observed of locating the altar in the eastern portion of the house of worship.

(4) Devoid of the life of the Holy Spirit, the Jewish perpetual lamp is kept burning on the altars. Adhere to material oil and light.

(5) Not understanding the design of incense, the burning of incense before the altar is observed to this day.

3. Among Protestant Christians the habitual practice of holding family worship is symbolically called "family altar." The families are the nuclei of society. If the former are pure, the latter, too, partakes of that character. Habitual family prayer is a sacred duty.

(1) It creates a sacred halo around wedlock.

(2) Preserves peace and good-will among husband and wife, parents and children, employers and employees.

(3) Renders home life charmingly beautiful.

(4) Wins the entire family for Christ and the church.

(5) The saints of all ages have highly appreciated family prayers.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

"Not even "pearl glass" or "pearl top" lamp-chimneys are right, unless of right shape and size for your lamp. See "Index to Chimneys."

Write Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa, maker of tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs
THE GREAT
French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to
E. FOUGERA & CO.
26-28 N. William St.
New York.

BLANCARD'S -IODIDE OF IRON.
ALSO IN SYRUP PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.
None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD."
E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 5000 MORE BOOK AGENTS
Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book
Our Journey Around THE World
By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 200 beautiful engravings. ☞ The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. One sold 200 in his own township; another, a lady, 58 in one Endeavor Society; another, 152 in 15 days—all are making money. 75th thousand. Now is the time. ☞ Distance no hindrance, for we Pay Freight, Give Credit Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write at once for Circulars to
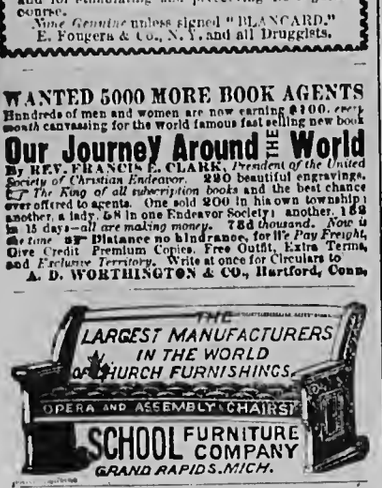
A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.



CARRIAGES
Buggies & Harness.
A Grade, $45.

A Grade, $37.50.
Two highest awards at World's Fair for Strength, Beauty and Low Prices. Six years ago we discarded the Dealer and began selling direct to Consumers at wholesale prices. Result: upward of 100,000 Vehicles sold and our factory now the largest on earth, dealing direct with consumers. Send for our mammoth 125-page illustrated, free catalogue
ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST—SUPPER.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers labelled thus:
JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

You
Can Get
Ferry's Seeds at your dealers as fresh and fertile as though you got them direct from Ferry's Seed Farms.
FERRY'S SEEDS
are known and planted everywhere, and are always the best. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells all about them.—Free.
D. M. Ferry & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

DEAFNESS
and head noises relieved by using WILSON'S COMMON SENSE EAR DRUMS. Entirely new, scientific invention; different from all other devices; the only safe, simple, comfortable, and invisible ear drum in the world. Hundreds are being benefitted where medical skill has failed. No string or wire attachment to irritate the ear. Write for pamphlet.
THE DEAFNESS
WILSON EAR DRUM CO.
141 Trust Bldg. LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING
CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS
In the World.
PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.)
Send for Price and Catalogue.
McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE CHURCH
Bells, Peals and Chimes.
Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin only, and so warranted. Best Hangings and Workmanship in the Country. Highest Award at World's Fair and Gold Medal at Mid-Winter Fair.
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
E. W. Vanduzen Co., - Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO.
SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS
FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c.
Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and Terms FREE.

Home Circle.

THE SCHOOL-HOUSE SPRING.

My feet to-day have found the way
Down to the mossy brink,
Where, five and thirty years ago,
The grand old arch of oak below,
We children knelt to drink.

And pictured there saw faces fair
Uplifted to our view,
While beckoning boughs allured our sight,
Through swaying avenues of light,
To heaven's unsullied blue.

But now alone, lo no one known,
I kneel by vacant places;
And through the vistas stretched below
See far-off skies of long ago
That hide my playmates' faces.

O spring, so still, nor good nor ill
With thee is hid or hushed;
Thou that didst glass my childhood's grace,
Dost mirror now a bearded face,
With sin's slow fever flushed.

Who shall recast the mounded past,
And give me then for now?
Bring back the early mourned from thence,
And set the seal of innocence
Once more upon my brow.

I only know that waters flow
Beyond the sun-lit spaces,
Where, nevermore athirst to drink,
I yet may bend above their brink,
And see the dear, lost faces.

—New York Observer.

Decreasing the Moral Hazard.

Faithful parents are chiefly anxious for the moral welfare of their children. The cautious father and mother are constantly building over against the child's moral danger in direct influences for good and in the effort to provide an environment which shall appeal only to the better nature. Perhaps no influence goes so far for good or for ill as the kind of reading which is found in the home. What the young read is quickly reproduced in character. Here the religious press enters upon its highest mission. The religious journal, dropping into the home each week, with its modicum of thought and light for each member of the family, is especially serviceable in decreasing the children's moral hazard. In the most sluggish home the religious weekly awakens conversation and discussion and inspires to nobler living. The Religious Telescope thus forcibly corroborates these suggestions:

"The regular weekly visits of a live religious paper in a home where children are growing up is a molder of character for good, the power and value of which it is impossible to compute. Young people grow up very largely the creatures of their environment. Surround the children with the influences of a pure, harmonious, attractive home, well supplied with wholesome religious reading matter, and they, in nearly every case, will grow up noble-minded, honest, upright citizens. But let the home be low, coarse, vile, unattractive, supplied with dime novels and vulgar, fictitious reading matter, and they are almost certain to grow up with low ideals of human life, and fall into the ways of vice and crime. Now this is not a mere whim or fancy, but the statement of a fact of vital importance to parents—a fact which experience has demonstrated in thousands upon thousands of instances; and they are the truly wise, kind parents who recognize this fact, make their homes pleasant, and supply their children with a good religious paper. The minds of children are naturally active. It is right that they should be so. They are like a dry soil thirsting for the dews and the refreshing showers. They must, they will have something to feast upon. If good reading matter is not put within their reach, they will sooner or later supply themselves with that which is vicious. If home is not made pleasant and attractive, they will drift out into vile associations. If what they read is debasing, and those with whom they associate are corrupt, they are sure to fall in love with these things, and drift down to ruin. . . . The only safeguard against such a disaster is in the course indicated above. Fathers, mothers, are you supplying your boys and girls with a good religious paper and good books? If you are, they will not fail to rise up and call you blessed."

Plain Speaking.

There are people who take great credit to themselves for their extreme plainness of speech, which they fancy to be a sign of sincerity. "I say precisely what I mean," one of these persons will calmly tell you, intimating, in most cases, that what they meant was disagreeable and likely to hurt somebody's feelings, but that they had too much strength of mind to hesitate on that account. It never occurs to these well-intentioned, but brusque and overcandid souls, that it is not an absolute necessity always to speak, that there are times when silence is golden.

We are not called upon invariably to pronounce judgment on our fellow-creatures. Often we are not in possession of all the facts in a given case, we do not know the circumstances, we can not accurately discern motives, and our conclusions, being based on imperfect acquaintance, and being formed by fallible minds, are wholly erroneous. This is especially so when we have a grievance, when we think that we have been neglected, when our vanity or our self-love has been wounded. By hasty speech we may become guilty of great injustice; we may plant the seeds of distrust and suspicion or trample friendship under foot.

There is no insincerity in saying a pleasant thing, for there is fortunately always one point of view from which some pleasant word is justifiable. In that beautiful twelfth chapter of Romans, which formed the basis of a blessed lesson in the Sabbath-school, a consecration of our whole selves to God found its natural outcome in a tender and thoughtful altruism. As Christians, we are in duty bound to forget ourselves and to live for and with others, in all gentleness, sympathy and courtesy. "In honor preferring one another!" Can there be a nobler rule for daily life at home and in society?—Selected.

A Good Name.

A young man does not always find it easy to get on in the world without education or family influence, or personal friends, or property, or health; but he will find in the long run that it is far easier for him to make his way among men without any or all of these advantages than to make substantial progress in the world without the reputation of a good character, even though he has all these other possessions. Character stands for something everywhere, in spite of its frequent slightings. Men who are themselves lacking in a good character appreciate and value it in others. A band of robbers would want an honest treasurer.

The young man whose word can not be believed, whose honesty is not above suspicion, and whose personal life is not what it ought to be, is not the young man that the business world has open places for. He may have health, and wealth, and family position, and a host of friends, but if he is without character he is at a disadvantage in every position in life. When a young man who has lost his good name makes an honest effort to recover it, he finds that his way upward is a hard one—a great deal harder, in spite of all other helps, than it would have been if he had made a right start without these helps. Friends are comparatively powerless in their efforts to win confidence for one who has proved himself unworthy of it on former occasions. Then it is that the young man is likely to realize as never before that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," even as a worldly investment. Because it is so hard to get on without a good name, or to regain it when once surrendered, every young man who has that possession ought to count it above price, and to have a care lest he lose it.—Sunday-School Times.

A Sunny Face.

Wear it. It is your privilege. It has the quality of mercy—it is twice blessed. It blesses the possessor, and all who come under its benign influence. It is a daily boon to him who wears it, and a constant, ever flowing benediction to all his friends.

Men and women, youth and children seek the friendship of the sunny-faced. All doors open to those who smile. All social circles welcome cheerfulness. A sunny face is an open sesame to hearts and homes. By it burdens are lightened, care dispelled, sorrows banished, and hope made to reign triumphant where fear and doubt and despondency held high carnival. Your own life will be sweetened, your own joys heightened, by your perennial heaven lighted sunny face. Get the glow and radiance from such nearness to the throne as God permits to his own. Bring from a holy and divine communion a face luminous with happiness, and let it glow and shine on all around.

A little child on the street of a great city, wishing to cross at a point where the surging throng and the passing vehicles made the feat dangerous to the strong, and especially so to the weak, paused, hesitated, and then asked a sunny-faced gentleman to carry her across. It was the sunny face which won the child's confidence. Childhood runs into the arms of such.

The Woman's Era.

Within Her Sphere She Reigns Supreme.

Woman claims her own. Her field widens constantly. Every day brightens her prospects. Her progress foreshadows the greater triumph at hand. Emancipation and equality are her positions in the years to come.

Prophetic of final victory were her achievements at the World's Fair. At her shrine there erected the nations bowed. The lesson taught at the "Woman's Building" will last "till time shall be no more." Their enlightening influence will be felt around the globe throughout the dawning century.

Only less memorable were the honors gained at the Fair by

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award conferred on this peerless preparation, is a fitting accompaniment of the laurels won by the women of America.

Religion and Hygiene.

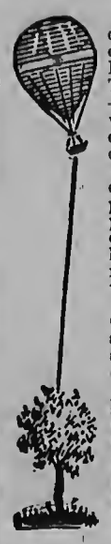
It may be truly said that hygiene is a prescription of God, written large in life, history, nature and Scripture, which needs not a graduate of pharmacy to decipher. This prescription, we may venture to say, is, in part at least, pure air, clean thoughts, pure hearts, good food and obedience to law. To decline the prescription may be said to be to insult God, and to take one's self from under the care of the great Physician.

In so far as science is a correct transcript of nature, it also is from God—is but "thinking his thoughts after him"—and its clear teaching of the need to observe natural law is a religious duty also. The unclean liver met stern rebuke, not only under Moses, but he does so in all places and ages under God's natural laws. God arrests him, and destroys by agency of second causes, as surely as if patent miracle were called in to effect the work. To breathe bad air, to have unwashed bodies, is to violate eternal law. To crowd families where there is not "room to be virtuous" is to sin—to breed sin—and almost compel crime. To sell putrid meat and market rotten vegetables is to violate the laws of the universe. It might seem novel to arraign a man doing these things, not for neglecting a city statute, but for breach of the law of God, but in reality such would be his sin.

The familiar excesses of drunkenness, and the like, have long been understood as coming within the laws of religious hygiene, and for more than a hundred years the English-speaking people have had the proverb, "Cleanliness is akin to godliness," but our age is beginning to extend the circle and to bring the whole of life within its circumference. As men are likely to better observe rules, the higher their obligation, we may expect that the recent clearer perception, that correct hygiene is not merely a matter of one's personal desires, but takes on a certain sacred obligation, will have a wide regenerative effect. In these matters we hope that communities will cease to consider the items of expense in introducing hygienic conditions, and will consider first the importance of carrying out those conditions that are prescribed by the great Physician. The highest source of hygienic measures is the recognition of their religious aspect; that the laws of bodily well-being are the laws of God; that he favors their observance and is against their breach; that individuals, communities and nations are bound, by eternal obligation, to observe these laws, and so to promote their welfare.

Some public opinion is even now in process of creation as will brand all unhygienic conditions and make it shame for communities and individuals to tolerate them. Man is a delicate piece of mechanism, viewed from the physical side, and nothing short of the most careful, and rigid inspection of, and attendance to, the laws of well-being can promote it.

Goethe has said that "life is like a game of chess, and that the laws of nature are the laws of the game." The laws of God, in the human body, are surely the laws of the game, for men in regard to bodily condition. Absorbed in the present, and unready to be much concerned about those who are to come after us, this connection of hygiene with religion impresses the duty to pass on a clean and sanitary world to the generations to whom it will belong when our day is over, and that untainted bodies, uncorrupted blood, unvitiated conditions, are owed by us to the future. As we see cities cleanse themselves, and throw their guardianship over the streams to protect from taint; as we see the laws of health taught more carefully and widely than ever before, and writers on all sides vigorously appealing for improved sanitary arrangements; as we see nations exercising the quarantine for public protection; as we see food inspected and a great blaze of light thrown upon how men should care for the bodily life—we send a salutation across the ages to Moses, who did more than Æsculapius or Hippocrates, for he recognized and taught that hygiene has an outlook toward God, and that to observe the laws of sanitation is in so far to obey God; and, above all, we recognize that the Spirit of him who spent so much of his time on earth in healing bodily disease is reaching out more and more toward health in this far-away time.—Herald and Presbyter.



IT STOPS THE PROGRESS of Consumption. The marvelous cures of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are certain of this. They've proved it for years past—and they're willing to sell it with the agreement that if it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, they'll return the money.
Consumption is that scrofulous condition that comes from impure blood. The "Discovery" prevents it, if taken in time, cures it completely, if you haven't waited too long; gives relief and comfort, even in advanced cases.
Use it in severe, lingering Coughs, Asthma, Weak Lungs and every Bronchial, Throat and Lung Affection.
D. C. ROSENBALM, ESQ., of Dutch, Grainger Co., Tenn., writes as follows: "I had been going down in strength and weight for months. I was not able to sit and I smothered very often. After taking 'Discovery' my cough was relieved, I could walk three miles without trouble, catching cold don't distress me now. As long as I live I'll praise 'G. M. D.'"

H. P. BUCKLEY.
8 Camp Street,
DEALER IN
FINE WATCHES.
Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.
Large Stock of American Watches.
Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.
Sunset Route.
THE DIRECT and FAST LINE
TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN Texas, New Mexico, Arizona,
California and Oregon.
The Standard Gauge Short Line to the
City of Mexico
Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas,
DENVER, Colorado,
LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California,
and to the CITY OF MEXICO.
For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.
J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.
In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a
WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper
To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for CALIFORNIA
—VIA—
NEW ORLEANS
is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a
WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper
THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket
RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE
Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing
F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

THE Animal Extracts
Prepared according to the formula of
DR. WM. A. HAMMOND,
In his laboratory at Washington, D. C.
The most wonderful therapeutic discovery since the days of Jenner.

CEREBRINE, FROM THE BRAIN.
MEDULLINE, FROM THE SPINAL CORD.
CARDINE, FROM THE HEART.
TESTINE, FROM THE TESTES.
OVARINE, FROM THE OVARIES.

The physiological effects produced by a single dose of Cerebrine are acceleration of the pulse with feeling of fullness and distention in the head, exhilaration of spirits, increased urinary excretion, augmentation of the expulsive force of the bladder and peristaltic action of the intestines, increase in muscular strength and endurance, increased power of vision in elderly people, and increased appetite and digestive power.

Dose, five drops. Price, two drachms, $1.
THE COLUMBIA CHEMICAL CO.
Washington, D. C.
Send for Book. 101

Week of Prayer of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

An inadvertently the Board of Missions of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society selected the same time—viz, the second week in February—as the time for their anniversary exercises, it has been deemed wise by the latter to change the time of their annual services to the corresponding days in March, viz, 6-10. Each Auxiliary is requested to observe this special season of prayer; to secure, if possible, a sermon on home missions for Sabbath morning, March 10, and an open meeting of the society for the night service. Copies of the program for the latter can be secured by writing to the general secretary.

By order of the Central Committee.
MRS NATHAN SCARRITT,
General Secretary.

Asthma can't be cured? Oh! yes it can. Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar will do it. I know it because it gave me relief. Every winter I was troubled with asthma, especially if the weather was damp, suffering severely. I took about six bottles of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and am completely cured. It is the remedy for asthma. CHAS. HEINES, 5004 Chippewa Street, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar is a sure and speedy cure for coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and consumption, and gives immediate relief in cases of croup and whooping-cough. Try it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

It is true wisdom to speak but little of the injuries you have received, or the good deeds you have done.—Christian Leader.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

MARRIAGES.

PATTON—LEE.—At the residence of Dr. Lee, Kosciusko, Miss., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. Thos. Cameron, Mr. N. E. Patton, of Shuhuta, Miss., to Miss Eddie Lee, of Kosciusko, Miss.

MORGAN—KELLEY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Eola, La., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. Jno. B. Kent, Mr. Ivey F. Morgan to Miss Lula Kelley, all of Avoyelles parish, La.

BASS—O'QUINN.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Hassville, La., Dec. 24, 1894, by Rev. Jno. B. Kent, Mr. James W. Bass to Miss Zolla O'Quinn, all of St. Landry parish, La.

BERRY—BROOKS.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Westville, Simpson county, Miss., Dec. 27, 1894, by Rev. J. C. Ellis, Mr. O. E. Berry and Miss Laura Brooks, all of Simpson county, Miss.

LILLY—ALFORD.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Gallman, Miss., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. R. W. Bailey, Mr. J. E. Lilly and Miss Kate L. Alford.

ANDING—ROBERTSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, McNair, Miss., Dec. 5, 1894, at 8 P. M., by Rev. Ira B. Robertson, Mr. Prentiss I. Anding to Miss Ellene I. Robertson, all of Jefferson county, Miss.

BRAZIER—LEGGETT.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Leggett, Clarke county, Miss., Nov. 14, 1894, by Rev. W. W. Moore, Mr. Green Brazier, of Wayne county, Miss., to Miss Addie Leggett.

JONES—CHAPMAN.—In the Methodist Church, Waynesboro, Miss., Dec. 24, 1894, by Rev. W. W. Moore, Mr. Marshall S. Jones and Miss Hennie Chapman, both of Waynesboro, Miss.

HUFFAKER—REDDING.—In Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev. R. W. Bailey, Prof. Z. C. Huffaker, of Bristol, Tenn., and Miss Carrie Redding.

PERRETT—MARCHETTI.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 25, 1894, by Rev. R. W. Bailey, Mr. J. P. Perrett and Miss Mary Marchetti, both of Hazlehurst.

McLEHANY—DILLARD.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 24, 1894, by Rev. R. W. Bailey, Mr. W. L. McLehany and Miss Belle Dillard.

BABB—McANULTY.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Kossuth, Miss., Dec. 12, 1894, by Rev. D. W. Babb, Mr. Eugene T. Babb to Miss Mittie Lee McAnulty.

NABORS—TATE.—At the residence of the bride's step-father, Mr. Charles O'Kelley, Dec. 16, 1894, by Rev. H. M. Young, Mr. S. M. Nabors and Miss Eugenia Tate, both of Tippah county, Miss.

STANDFORD—TIGRET.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. H. P. Tigret, Dec. 24, 1894, by Rev. H. M. Young, Mr. Frank Standford and Miss Della Tigret, both of Tippah county, Miss.

CROCKETT—CAMPBELL.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 21, 1894, by Rev. W. H. Lewis, Mr. W. A. Crockett, of Rolling Fork, Miss., to Miss M. Allee Campbell, of Vicksburg.

SULLIVAN—CARUTHERS.—At Como, Panola county, Miss., Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, 1894, by Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, Prof. J. Magruder Sullivan, of Centenary College, Jackson, La., to Miss Pattie Caruthers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. K. Caruthers, of Como, Miss.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.
N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. L. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf., Mrs. E. D. Jones, Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf., Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison.

Salutatory.

The editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE has kindly placed at the disposal of the Missionary Societies of the three Conferences named above a column of his paper to be edited weekly by the editors named, each acting for a month at a time. We are sincerely grateful for this kindness, and gladly embrace this opportunity of bringing our work prominently before the women of our church within these three Conferences. The greatest source of weakness and indifference in our workers is the lack of information concerning the progress and needs of the work, and while we are conscious that our societies are not as strong numerically as they should be, we are fully persuaded that were the members we now have as fully informed on the progress of the work in the various fields and the many needs of the work as they should be, there would be more enthusiastic work for missions, more loving interest in missions, and more liberal giving to missions—all of which would cause such progress in the work abroad as has not been dreamed of. Could our women be impressed with the marvelous blessings that crown their lives because of the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ, and contrast with these the hard, loveless lives of their sisters who sit in heathen darkness, surely they could withhold no part of their hearts, their time, their energies nor their earthly store that is needed in this great work.

The editors of this column sincerely desire the prayers of the women who shall read this column, that, under God, it may be the means of stimulating our workers at home to more devoted service for our Lord, and of arousing those who feel no interest to see the great need of their help in the work.

Two considerations especially move us to place this weekly column before the women of our church:

In the first place, it enables us to obtain much more information as to the workings and needs of the Auxiliaries within the bounds of these three Conferences than it is possible for us to obtain otherwise. Our Woman's Missionary Advocate can not be praised too highly. It should be read by every member of the Woman's Missionary Society in the M. E. Church, South; but it can not possibly give much space to the local workings of every Auxiliary within thirty-five Conference Societies, and be published monthly. This column published weekly, and confined to three Conference Societies, will supplement the work of the Woman's Missionary Advocate by giving us an opportunity to know much of the work of the Auxiliaries of these three Conferences, and for much interchange of thought as to the best means of work, and suggestions as to the solution of difficulties that continually confront us. To this end we invite through this column reports from the local Auxiliaries of the work being done and the progress made, also questions concerning any obstacles which you may find in your local work. These reports or questions can be sent to your respective Conference editors, who will have them published as their time comes. We also ask the careful attention of each individual member to the contents of this column, that you may promptly furnish any information which you, from experience in the work or from reading, may have obtained. The editors desire the earnest co-operation of all that our column may be a means of help to all.

Our second reason for editing this column is that there are many members of our missionary societies into whose homes only one church paper comes; some not being able to take more, others thinking so. Through this column we desire to furnish these members as much information as possible, keeping them fully in touch with the work, that those who are unable to take the Woman's Missionary Advocate may not be left without any help in this line, and that those who are able, but do not know it, may be aroused to seek more extensive missionary reading.

To each member and each Auxiliary we extend a New Year's greeting, and pray that this may be a year of great and successful work for the Master.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Are You Fortified?

When you are in a low state of health, and on the verge of illness, there is no nourishment in the world like to restore strength. Scott's Emulsion nourishes, strengthens, promotes the making of solid flesh, enriches the blood and tones up the whole system.

Scott's Emulsion

TRADE MARK.

For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Consumption, Scrofula, Anæmia, Loss of Flesh, Thin Babies, Weak Children, and all conditions of Wasting.

Buy only the genuine! It has our trademark on salmon-colored wrapper.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

THE MOST PERFECT

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN,
MASON and HAMLIN,
LUDWIG,
GILBERT, Etc.

Pianos

AT LOW PRICES,
ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,
1001-1003 Canal Street.

EAGLE BRAND the Best

No Tar ROOFING No Tar

It is superior to any other Roofing, and unequalled for House, Barn, Factory or outbuildings; it costs half the price of shingles, tin or iron; it is ready for use and easily applied by anyone; it is the best roofing in the market, in durability, to all others. Send for estimate and state size of roof.

RUBBER PAINT.

The best known Paint in the world for tin, iron or shingle roofs, fences sides of barns and outbuildings; it costs only 60 cents per gallon in barrel lots, or $4.50 for a five gallon tub. Color, dark red. It will stop leaks in tin or iron roofs that will last for years; it is guaranteed not to peel, crack, scale nor wash off, and it's fireproof against sparks. TRY IT.

SHEATHING PAPER.—900 square feet, $3. Keeps buildings cool in Summer and warm in Winter.

Excelsior Paint and Roofing Co., 155 Duane St., New York.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,728

All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Imitation of Christ—Thomas a Kempis.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscribes between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96.

W. C. BLACK.

A Methodist Family

CAN BUY A

FINE EPWORTH PIANO

Direct from us and save enough money to pay for your Music Lessons at 50 cents each. In other words we can sell you a Fine Epworth Piano under our direct-from-factory plan at about $100 less than you will have to pay an agent or dealer for an instrument of equal quality.

The Epworth

is thoroughly reliable in every particular. The manufacturers of the Epworth Pianos and Organs have a world-wide reputation for good work. If you need a

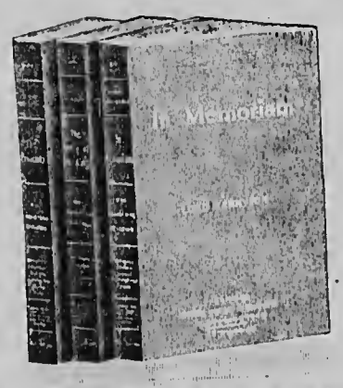
Piano or Organ SEND FOR CATALOGUE and TERMS

and we will show you how to get a fine instrument at a low price. You may order through your preacher, who will allow you to test the instrument in your home before paying and if not found as represented you may return the instrument and we will pay the freight both ways. Thousands of Methodist preachers and people testify to the excellence of the Epworth Pianos and Organs. Every Epworth Warranted for Five Years.

Address the publisher of this paper.

LORD TENNYSON'S THREE FAMOUS POEMS,

IN MEMORIAM,
IDYLLS OF THE KING,
THE PRINCESS.



Three Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large clear type on good paper, and substantially bound by a new process.

The "In Memoriam" of Tennyson is one of the grandest and loftiest elegiac poems in all literature. Like the "Lycidas" of Milton, it was written to commemorate the untimely death of a bosom friend. In the case of Tennyson's masterpiece, the youth mourned was Arthur Hallam, son of Henry Hallam, the distinguished historian, who was engaged to the Laureate's sister, but who died in Austria in 1833. The elegy was published in 1850. It is a long and passionate outburst of song, written to assuage the poet's grief at the loss of his friend and with the motive of giving utterance in the saddest but most musical lines, to reflections on life, death and immortality.

"The Idylls of the King" have won for themselves an abiding place in the political literature of the age. The work is a series of connected poems reviving the legend of King Arthur, Merlin, and the Knights of the Round Table, in which the poet not only restores the age of chivalry, purified and elevated, but gives noble expression to the aspirations of man, the hopes of religion, and the harmonies of nature. It is distinguished by much imaginative passion, elevated thought, and wonderful poetic art. The work has taken high rank among the classics of our English tongue.

Hardly has a lovelier story than this of Tennyson's "The Princess" ever been written. Though cast in semi-heroic verse, it enshrines one of the loveliest lyrics and snatches of exquisite songs in the language. The extreme advocates in our day for the emancipation of women no doubt quarrel with the poet for the conclusions reached in the poem; but the Laureate was conservative in all things, and could hardly be otherwise in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." This, in brief, is the purpose and motive of the poem—to illustrate woman's struggles, aspirations, and proper sphere in relation to man and her own intellectual life.

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. Those who desire a cloth-bound edition are referred to our advertisement headed, "15 Poets in Library Cloth—Poet's Popular Edition." Address

Rev. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

HAWTHORNE'S BEST WORKS.

Four Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large type on good paper and substantially bound by a new process.

Mosses from an Old Manse,

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

Another delightful companion for "The Four" is this collection of magazine papers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his works, it is distinguished for its simplicity and truth.

Twice-Told Tales,

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

Hawthorne, the most distinctively American and by far the most popular of our writers, has given the world an undying work in "Twice-Told Tales." They have all the beauty of expression as well as the subtlety of thought of Hawthorne's greater works, and the same weird charm is the earlier romances, "The Scarlet Letter."

The House of The Seven Gables,

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

This masterpiece of Hawthorne's is full of the imaginative charm of romance. Its delicacy of touch, its author is unapproached by any writer since his own day. The work is, perhaps, the purest piece of poetic prose in all the range of American literature.

The Scarlet Letter,

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

A romance of intense [illegible] and extraordinary power of mental analysis and graphic description. For an artistic exposition of Puritanism, as modified by New England [illegible] we have nothing [illegible]

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. We will also furnish any one of these works in very handsome cloth binding postpaid to any address for the small sum of forty cents. Subscribers who are entitled to a premium as indicated above can have this beautiful book instead of the paper-bound edition by sending twenty cents additional—i. e., $2.20 will pay for the book and the ADVOCATE one year.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

ROYAL Baking Powder

Absolutely pure.

Highest of all in Leavening Strength. —U.S. Govt. Food Report.

The official report shows Royal Baking Powder chemically pure, yielding 160 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder, which was greatly in excess of all others and more than 40 per cent. above the average.

Hence Royal Baking Powder makes the lightest, sweetest and most wholesome food.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Potts' Camp and Myrtle, at Potts' C.,Jan.	5, 6
Waterford, at Lebanon	12, 13
Holly Springs circuit, at Pleasant G..	19, 20
Olive Branch at Centre Point	26, 27
East Holly Springs, at Mount Hope..Feb	2, 3
Red Banks at Wesley Chapel	9, 10
Cornersville, at Bethlehem	16, 17
Mount Pleasant, at Mount Pleasant..	23, 24
Ashland at Salem ....Mar.	2, 3
Pontotoc	9, 10
Abbeville	16 17

District stewards will meet in the Methodist Church Holly Springs, Monday, Jan. 7, at 9 A M

J. D. CAMERON P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tupelo station....Jan.	5, 6
Okolona circuit	10
Okolona station	12, 13
Verona and Nettleton	12, 20
Prairie circuit	26, 27
Houston and Wesley....Feb.	2, 3
Buena Vista	9, 10
Shannon	16, 17
Saltillo	23, 24
Nettleton	26
Fulton	25
Tremont	2?
Amory and Smithville....Mar.	2, 3
Quincy	6
Aberdeen circuit	8

The district stewards of the Abereeen district will meet at Okolona, in the Methodist Church, 11 o'clock, Jan. 11, 1895.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville....Dec.	30
Macon ....Jan.	5, 6
Crawford	11
Columbus	12, 13
Starkville circuit	19 20
Columbus circuit	26, 27
Brooksville....Feb.	2, 3
West Point	9, 10
Tibbee	16, 17
Sturges	23, 24
Ceda Bluff ....Mar.	2, 3
Hebron	9, 10
Shuqualak	16 17
Macbulaville	23, 24

District stewards will meet at Artesia, Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

T. G. WIER, P. E

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Valden....Jan	12, 13
Carrollton station	19, 20
Greenwood station	26 27
West....Feb	2, 3
Winona circuit	2 10
Carrollton circuit	16, 17
Indianola and Falconia	23 24
McNutt....Mar.	2 3
Sidon	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	13, 17
Black Hawk	23, 24

The district stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greenwood, Jan. 26 at 11 A. M. As I have no plan of the district, the preachers on circuits will please write me the place of their first Quarterly Conference. My address for the present is Holly Springs, Miss

J. B. STONE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Summit, at S.....(11 A.M Fri)..Jan.	4
Adams, at A	5, 6
Crystal Springs.....(7 P. M.)..	9
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	12, 13
Brookhaven.....(7 P. M.)..	16
Martinsville, at Union Chapel	19, 20
Hazlehurst.....(7 P. M.)..	20.
North Wesson	26, 27
Wesson.....(7 P. M.)..	27
Gallman, at Bethesda....Feb.	2, 3
McComb City .....(7 P. M Fri)..	8
Whitestown	9, 10
China Grove, at Holmesville	16, 17
Magnolia and Osyka, at M	23, 24
Providence, at Bahala....Mar.	2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams	9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis, at Purvis....Jan	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia	19, 20
Nicholson, at Nicholson	26, 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at P....Feb	2, 3
Biloxi, at Biloxi	2, 10
Moss Point ....Sun. night ..	13, 17
Escatawpa, at Mt. Zion (Sun. 11 A. M.).	16, 17

District stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A POWELL, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Morton and Forest, at Morton....Jan.	5, 6
Newton and Hickory, at Hickory	12, 13
Lake, at Lake	19, 20
Decatur at Decatur	26, 27
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove....Feb.	2, 3
Carthage, at Carthage	2, 10
Clarksburg, at New Providence	16, 17
Shiloh, at John's	23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh	28
Westville, at Westville....Mar.	2, 3
Brandon station	2, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis, at Marvin	16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood	28
Trenton, at Gasque	29
Montrose, at Montrose	30, 31

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Natchez Jefferson Street....Jan.	5, 6
Natchez, at W. C	6, 7
Barlow, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Fayette, at Fayette	19, 20
Woodville	26, 27

District stewards will please meet me at Gloster, Jan. 15, in the Methodist Church, at ten o'clock. The preachers are invited to be present.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Shubuta....Jan.	5, 6
Waynesboro and State Line	12, 13
Pachuta	19, 20
Vossburg	26, 27
Heidelburg....Feb.	2, 3
Ellisville and Laurel	9, 10
Eastabuchie	16, 17
Mathersville and Mission	23, 24
Waynesboro circuit....Mar.	2, 3
Leakville	9, 10
Williamsburg	16, 17
Mount Carmel	23, 24

Pastors will please let me know immediately where their Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards will meet in the Methodist Church at Enterprise, Wednesday, Jan. 16, at 2 A. M.

L. CARLEY, P. E

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg—Crawford Street....Jan.	5, 6
South Vicksburg	6, 7
Edwards	12, 13
Bolton, at Bolton	19, 20
Port Gibson	26, 27
Harriston, at Pine Ridge....Feb.	2, 3
Hermanville, at Hermanville	9 10
Utica, at Utica	16, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	23, 24
Mayersville, at Beulah....Mar.	2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Willis' Chapel	30, 31

The district stewards will meet in Crawford Street Church Vicksburg, Jan. 4, at 10 A. M. A full attendance is requested, and homes will be provided for all who come by Dr. Andrews.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Jackson—First Church....Jan.	6
Jackson—Capitol Street	8
Canton	12, 13
Benton circuit, at Benton	12, 20
Yazoo City	26, 27
Terry circuit, at Terry....Feb.	2, 3
Yazoo circuit, at Mount Carmel	9, 10
Flora circuit, at Flora	16, 17
Madison circuit, at Madison	23, 24

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lafayette....Jan.	2, 3
Washington, at Washington	5, 6
Indian Bayou, at Indian Bayou	9
Crowley	10
Lake Charles	12, 13
West Lake	15
Sulphur Mine, at S. Mine	17
Franklin	19, 20
Jeanerette, at Jeanerette	22
Morgan City and Berwick	26, 27
Patterson, at Patterson	29
Abbeville, at Abbeville	31
New Iberia....Feb.	2, 3
Teche circuit, at St Martinsville	5
Grand Chenieres, at Leesburg	9, 10
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur	14
Prudhomme, at Roberts Cave	16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island	20

The district stewards will meet at Lafayette, Jan. 3, at 2 o'clock.

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Downsville, at Downsville....Jan.	5, 6
Farmersville, at Farmersville	12, 13
Minden, at Minden	19, 20
Valley, at Pleasant Valley	26 27
Ringgold, at Andrew's Chapel....Feb.	2, 3
Bienville, at Mill Creek	9, 10
Lisbon, at Lisbon	16, 17
Summerfield, at Harmony	23, 24
Vienna, at Vienna....Mar.	2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gansville at Gansville	23, 24
Homer, at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia....Apr.	6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan. 31, at 10:30 A M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Wilson, at Wilson....Jan.	5, 6
Slaughter, at Slaughter	12, 13
Clinton, at Clinton	13, 14
Bayou Sara, at Thompsons	19, 20
Jackson, at Jackson	20, 21
Baton Rouge, at Baton Rouge	25
Ascension, at Antioch	26, 27
Gross Tete, at Colton....Feb.	2, 3
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford	2, 10
Zachrie, at Zachrie	10, 11

District stewards will meet in Clinton, Monday, Jan. 14, at 2 P. M. Pastors respectfully invited to be present.

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Caddo, at Keachi....Jan.	5, 6
Mooringsport, at Greenwood	12, 13
Shreveport—First Church	20, 21
Shreveport Mission	20, 21
South Bossier, at Allenton	26, 27
Wesley, at Davis Springs....Feb.	2, 3
Coushatta, at Coushatta	5
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	9, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall	16, 17
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville	19
DeSoto Mission	21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup....Mar.	2, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant	16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G	23, 24

District stewards will meet in the pastor's office in First Church, Shreveport, La., at 10 A. M., Jan. 19. A full attendance is earnestly desired and expected.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbia....Jan.	5, 6
Nugent, at Palestine	12, 13
Alexandria	19, 20
Simsport, at Simsport	26, 27
Mellville at M	27, 28
Pineville, at P....Feb.	2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce	9, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship	16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	23, 24
Glenmora....Mar.	2, 3
Atlanta at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	23, 24

District stewards' meeting in Alexandria, at the church, Wednesday, Jan. 9, 1895.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd....Jan.	5, 6
Delhi, at Delhi	8
Rayville, at Rayville	2
Monroe, at Monroe	10
Calhoun, at Indian	11
West Monroe, at West Monroe	13, 13
Bastrop, at Bastrop	14, 15
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove	19, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro	21, 22
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove	23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	29, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence.Feb.	2, 3

Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation, and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

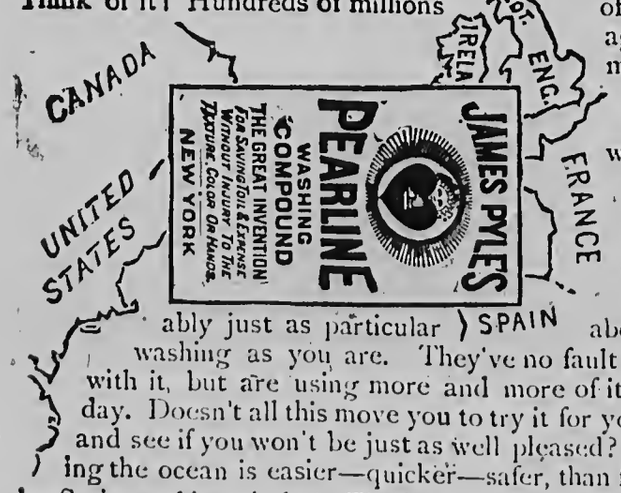
B. F. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Parker Chapel....Jan.	3
Dryades Street	18
Craps Street	20
Algiers	27
Carondelet Street....Feb.	3
Covington	10
Moreau Street	17
Louisiana Avenue	24
Lower Coast, at Wesley....Mar.	3
Rayne Memorial	10
Tallisheek	17
Felicity Street	24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

'Twould Cross the Ocean many, many times, if you could put in a line all the packages of Pearline that have been used. Think of it! Hundreds of millions of packages, to millions of different women; each one of these women probably just as particular about her washing as you are. They've no fault to find with it, but are using more and more of it every day. Doesn't all this move you to try it for yourself, and see if you won't be just as well pleased? Crossing the ocean is easier—quicker—safer, than formerly. So is washing clothes. The latter is due to Pearline.



Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 579 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Algiers Iron Works, opposite the city proper, was burned on last Sunday.

Gen. Post, a member of Congress from Illinois, died in Washington on Jan. 6.

John Burns, M. P., the English labor leader, sailed on Jan. 5 on the Cunard Line steamer Etruria for Liverpool.

A pilot boat was sunk by a collision with a schooner in Boston harbor on Jan. 5. Four of the crew were drowned.

Six persons were injured in a railroad wreck which occurred on Jan. 3, on the Philadelphia and Reading near Germantown.

Cotton seed oil is being largely imported from America for the manufacture of oleomargerine; 1,500,000 gallons, worth $600,000, were imported last year, which is double the amount Great Britain imported from America.

Gov. Foster has issued a forcible appeal to the people of Louisiana urging them to give sugar, rice and whatever else they can contribute from their superabundant crops to the relief of the starving farmers of Northern and Western Nebraska.

Representatives of the live stock business of the South and West were in session, Jan. 5, at the Chicago Live Stock Exchange. They comprise the executive committee of the National Live Stock Exchange, and will take action regarding the European embargo upon American stock.

It is the opinion of Senator Caffery that an extra session of Congress can not be averted. It is his belief that the House Democrats are so divided upon the subject of the currency and are so wedded to the silver theory that it will be impossible to pass any financial measure which will not carry with it some silver amendment.

There has been much suffering and destitution caused in certain portions of the West, and particularly in Nebraska, by reason of the protracted drouth and failure of the crops in that section. Many thousands of deserving people have been rendered destitute, and official appeals for aid in their behalf have been issued.

Hon. J. C. Manning, the populite leader of Alabama, has arrived in the city. Mr. Manning came here to make arrangements for the ballot reform convention, to be held in this city on the eighteenth instant. The convention will be held probably in the Washington Artillery Hall, and will be attended by representatives of all political parties in all the Southern States.

One of the most important bills that will command the attention of the present session of Congress is that providing for the reorganization of the personnel of the navy. This bill was recently introduced by Representative Adolph Meyer, of this State, as a result of a resolution adopted by the Joint Committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate appointed for the special purpose of investigating the condition of the personnel of the navy and suggesting remedies for removing the existing congestion.

With the advent of the new year the future of the cotton industry assumes the position of the most important matter before the people of the Southern States. As a result of the enormous crop of 1894, coupled with the depression existing in all branches of trade, cotton has so depreciated in value that the price is now generally admitted to be considerably below the cost of production. Such being the case, the policy to be pursued with respect to the next crop becomes a serious problem, which must receive a solution within the next few months.

FOREIGN.

The Toronto Globe's building was burned on Jan. 6. The building is a complete wreck.

The new Prime Minister of Canada, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, is close on to 72 years of age and was born in England.

The Mexican government has made formal demand on Guatemala, indicating the amount of damages inflicted by invading Guatemalans. The total indemnity asked is $1,868,544.

All trustworthy signs now point to a speedy peace between China and Japan. Events have marched with great rapidity in the last two weeks. The Chinese hopes of resistance have broken down, and a formal offer of direct negotiations has been made.

It is stated that the Mikado has conferred upon Emperor William the Grand Order of the Imperial Chrysanthemum in recognition of the service rendered by German officers to the Japanese officers who have been under their instruction in military and naval science.

The magnetograph at Paris is reported to have recorded the recent earthquake at Constantinople twelve minutes after the shock, the distance covered being 3,000 kilometers, or about 1,800 miles. The oscillation must, therefore, have traversed Europe from east to west at the rate of 150 miles per minute.

Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, of the Fourteenth Regiment of Artillery, recently attached to the general staff of the French army, who was tried by court-martial, convicted of treason in disclosing important War Office documents to foreigners, and sentenced to deportation and imprisonment for life in a fortress, was publicly degraded on Jan. 5 in front of the military school of Paris.

The New Year

Finds Hood's Sarsaparilla leading in three important particulars, namely: Hood's Sarsaparilla has

1. The largest sale in the world. It accomplishes
2. The greatest cures in the world. It has
3. The largest Laboratory in the world.

What more can be said? Hood's Sarsaparilla has merit: is peculiar to itself, and most of all, Hood's Sarsaparilla cures. If you are sick, it is the medicine for you to take.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE ASSESSMENTS 1895.

District.	Bishops.	For. Miss.	Dom. Miss.	Church. Ex.	Cont. Claim.	Educa'n.
Vicksburg	$ 200	$ 1,135	$ 450	$ 450	$ 870	$ 230
Jackson	225	1,260	500	450	850	265
Meridian	180	1,185	450	450	720	210
Natchez	200	1,125	450	280	800	235
Seashore	165	1,070	425	300	660	195
Brandon	165	1,000	400	280	660	195
Enterprise	165	1,170	425	160	660	195
Brookhaven	200	1,265	500	450	800	235
	$1,500	$9,050	$3,600	$2,820	$5,950	$1,770

"Early Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2.40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2.40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

To Students of Millsaps College.

I have moved to Jackson to educate my only child at Millsaps College. In order that I may be able to do this, I must have a few boarders, and, as a special inducement to students to come, I will board the first six who come, at only ten dollars (each) per month; give them nice, comfortable rooms, and do all I can to promote their happiness and make them feel at home. They furnish only such things as are required by the boarding-houses at the campus. My home is very retired and quiet, a considerable distance from the business part of town, and only a pleasant walk from the college.

MRS. M. M. LOWRY,
710 N. State St., Jackson, Miss.

"Any Port in a Storm."

That's a good maxim, but it will not work as a rule in the purchase of a remedy for Rheumatism. Any of the cheap nostrums will not effect a cure—in fact, none of them will. Get Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy, and a speedy cure is certain. One bottle is worth a hundred of anything else, and for that reason it is the cheapest when a cure is wanted. The two bottles sent to any address by express upon receipt of $5 Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Cuticura

Instantly Relieves SKIN TORTURES

A warm bath with Cuticura Soap, and a single application of Cuticura, the great skin cure, afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure in every form of torturing, disfiguring skin humors.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: Newbery, London. POTTER DRUG & CHEM. CORP., Boston, U.S.A.

New Chrysanthemum Seed

These charming new types of Chrysanthemum from Japan bloom the first year from seed. They embrace all styles, varieties and colors, including the exquisite new Ostrich Plume types, Rosettes, Globes, Pinbrated, Miniature and Mammoth. Sow the seed this spring and the plants will bloom profusely this fall either in pots or in the garden. From a packet of this seed one may have a most magnificent show of rare beauties. Price 25c. per pkt., or FOR ONLY 30c. WE WILL MAIL ALL OF THE FOLLOWING:

1 pkt. NEW JAPANESE CHRYSANTHEMUM Seed.
1 pkt. BEGONIA VERNON, mixed, finest of all.
1 pkt. GIANT WHITE SPIDER FLOWER, new.
1 pkt. JAPANESE WINEBERRY, king of berries.
1 pkt. NEW SPOON GOURD, curious and useful.
5 bulbs NAMED GLADIOLUS, 1 each of White, Pink, Scarlet, Yellow and Variegated.
5 bulbs MAMMOTH OXALIS, different colors.
1 bulb VARIEGATED TUBEROSE, Orange flowers.
1 bulb ZEPHYR FLOWER, a perfect fairy-like gem, and our GREAT CATALOGUE with 8 magnificent colored plates and covers, and sample copy of the MAYFLOWER with two great chromo plates. These 5 packets of seed Novelties and 10 choice bulbs (worth $1.35) will all flower this season, and we send them for 30 CENTS only to introduce our superior stock. 4 collections for $1.00. Catalogue will not be sent unless asked for, as you may already have it.

Order at once, as this Offer may not appear again.

Send us the names of 5 or 10 of your neighbors who love flowers and we will add a fine Novelty, FREE.

OUR CATALOGUE of Flower and Vegetable Seeds, Bulbs, Plants and Rare new Fruits is the finest ever issued, profusely illustrated with elegant cuts and colored plates. We offer the choicest standard sorts and finest Novelties. We are headquarters for all that is New, Rare and Beautiful. This elegant Catalogue will be sent for 20c., or free if you order the articles here offered.

JOHN LEWIS CHILDS, Floral Park, N.Y.

FREE TO ALL!

Our New Illustrated Catalogue of Plants, Roses, Bulbs, Vines, Shrubs, Small Fruits, Ornamental Trees, Grape Vines, Seeds, etc., will be mailed free to all applicants. 110 pages. Most complete Plant Catalogue published. Satisfaction guaranteed.

20 Acres Nurseries. 20 Rose Houses; 45 Greenhouses.

Address NANZ & NEUNER, Louisville, Ky.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D., with privilege of examination. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 3c. stamp.

AGENTS MAKE $5 a Day Greatest Kitchen Utensil invented. Retails 25 cts. 2 to 3 sold in a house. Sample postage paid FREE. FORSHEE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

JOSEPH CONRAD'S

Steam Wood and Coal Yard,

COR. ST. ANDREW AND MAGNOLIA.

	Per Load.
Sawed baker's pine in blocks, 12-in	$1 50
Sawed and split baker's pine, 12 or 16-in	1 50
Sawed and split mixed wood, 12 or 16-in	1 75
Sawed and split oak, 12 or 16 in	2 00
Sawed and split ash, 12 or 16-in	2 25

With sack of charcoal, 20 cents extra; also stone coal and coke for sale cheap. Delivered free.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 3. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2004

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

[The following lines are worthy of a place in anybody's album.—EDITOR.]

"There is many a rest in the road of life,
If we only would stop to take it;
And many a tone from the better land,
If the querulous heart would wake it.
To the sunny soul that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth,
The grass is green and the flowers are bright,
Though the wintry storm prevaileth.

"Better to hope, though the clouds hang low,
And to keep the eyes still lifted,
For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through
When the ominous clouds are rifted.
There was never a night without a day,
Or an evening without a morning;
And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes,
Is the hour before the dawning.

"There is many a gem in the path of life
Which we pass in our idle pleasures,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown,
Or the miser's hoarded treasures.
It may be the love of a little child,
Or a mother's prayer to heaven,
Or only a beggar's grateful thanks
For a cup of water given.

"Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling,
And to do God's will with a ready heart,
And hands that are swift and willing,
Than to snap the slender, delicate threads
Of our curious lives asunder,
And then blame Heaven for the tangled ends,
And sit and grieve and wonder."

—Selected.

Selections.

Last Days in Shanghai.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

Returning from Soochow, kindly accompanied by Bro. Anderson, we stopped for several hours at Quinsan, twenty-five miles away, once a walled city of political importance and commercial prosperity, but since the Tai-Ping rebellion injured almost to ruin. The old walls still stand, a mournful memorial of former grandeur, and in some open spaces are old stone figures, immense in size, of horses, lions, sheep and men, which once guarded the passage-way to costly tombs erected in the Ming dynasty. Just inside the city is a lofty volcanic hill, or mountain, surmounted by a tall pagoda, on which an ancient temple stands. To the top we climbed in order to get another, and last, view of the beautiful, fertile valley in which so many crowded millions live and sin. Towns and villages by the thousand were in the sweep of vision, while to the northward the great pagoda in Soochow seemed a majestic pillar in one of God's first temples, supporting its roof of blue sky frescoed with clouds of every harmonious hue. Here we had the best conception of China's vast system of canals, marking the country like a checker-board. And much can be said in their favor. I am not sure but they are better for these people than macadamized roads. Once made, they are inexpensive to keep. They never become impassable on account of floods and mud, and in addition to being a highway of travel, they help to support the people by their bountiful yield of fish, and furnish easy mode of irrigating the land. The express speed of the impatient West is not possible on them, but the rate of movement exactly suits the conservative Orient. The farm wagon is a boat in which the family go to town, and take their products to market.

Near the foot of the mountain is the Buddhist temple, recently repaired, and evidently much honored by the faithful. There were more signs of fresh paint, and of cleanliness and care, than we have seen elsewhere in China. And an object of worship was there, different from anything heretofore found—a full-rigged house-boat, with jolded sails, oarsmen standing on deck, the lauda in command, and within certain gods, neatly robed, before which were kneeling-boards, candles, and incense sticks. That, I suppose, is for passage on the great canals in the spirit-world, and the deity on board is a sort of Buddhist Neptune in command of winds and tides.

In Quinsan we have a rented chapel and a school; but the results of many years' labor are not very encouraging. It is difficult to establish work in a new place without the presence and influence of a foreigner. Here is an ancient city of 25,000 people, and is "left to be supplied"—not even a native helper available for appointment. We need, and must have, more men for the China Mission.

A week in Shanghai has given splendid opportunity to see more of this Occident in the Orient, this greatest city in all Eastern Asia. It is the heart of China from which flows commercial blood into every province. All ship lines have either their terminal or way stations here. To go from one part of the Empire to another one has first to come to Shanghai. Our mission is most fortunate, therefore, in having headquarters in this New York of the East. And the work of years is now bearing fruit. The most popular church in Shanghai, with the largest native membership, is our handsome Central Church, the timely and princely gift of a godly layman in Missouri. It would delight his heart to see the hundreds crowding that building every Lord's day, and to look in at the Epworth Leagues, the probationers' meetings, the class and prayer meetings, the love-feasts, and other joyous conventicles. With Central and Trinity Churches, we are firmly established in that part of the city. On the Hongkew side another is much needed. When secured, we will have centers from which to move upon vast thousands.

Accompanied by Dr. Allen, we had the pleasure one morning of being received into the home of one of the most distinguished literary men in China, and a Christian as well—Mr. Worg, a long-time resident in Hong Kong. He is a member of the London Mission, and attends Dr. Muirhead's church. He has traveled much, having spent some time in India and Great Britain. For several years he was associated with Dr. Legge at Edinburgh in translating the Chinese classics, and since returning to his native land, has devoted himself to authorship and journalism. He aided Dr. Medhurst in translating the Bible, and is himself the author of fifty volumes, original and translated. We were received with great cordiality, and in the highest style of true Chinese politeness. He talked freely on home and foreign affairs, and hesitated not to condemn the suicidal policy of his country in being so slow to accept Western ideas and reforms. His strong conviction was that the war with Japan will result in certain changes, but an internal revolution would come before the giant sleeper was fully aroused. I was delighted to meet this distinguished man of broad views and vast attainments—the representative of a distinct force—the type of a small, but increasing, class of Chinese thought. On his desk was a globe, which itself indicated that he had outgrown the Celestial conceit that China is the world, and her Emperor the only ruler. He conducted us into his large library, and seemed pleased to introduce his guests to his companions of fifty years.

We had the pleasure of a dinner and evening in the home of the venerable Dr. Muirhead, for over forty years a missionary in China under appointment of the London Mission. Though a scholar and author of repute, he has devoted his laborious life to evangelistic work. It is said he has probably preached more sermons to these heathen than any man in the Empire. Dr. Edkins, the great sinologue, was present also, and Rev. Mr. Lels and wife, of Tien-Tsin, just returned from a year's absence in England.

One afternoon was given to a visit out beyond the walls to see the "baby towers"—places in which little children are thrown without expense or trouble of burial. Some doubt had been expressed by several as to the continuance of this barbarous practice; but when we saw a new, or recently repaired "tower," opened the iron shutter over the window through which the little bodies are thrown, and were sickened with the odors of decaying flesh and bones, there was no lingering question in our minds. Funerals and coffins are expensive in China, and that is given as apology for this heartless custom. Alas for such a product of heathenism! There is something yet for the gospel to do in this land of oriental odors and baby towers.

On the street, en route, we saw a man—a criminal—fastened to a post, with a board around his neck. That is one mode of Chinese punishment—the offender has his neck made fast in a board, and is seated near where his offense was committed. On the board is his name and the crime for which he is made to suffer. For different lengths of time he is thus condemned—taken to prison at night, and staked out at the same place during the day. Whether or not this humiliation is an effective deterrent of crime, I did not learn, but am inclined to think so.

One morning I accompanied Bro. Reid on a pastoral visit to a dying member, and saw the same triumph of faith often witnessed at home. Mrs. Mo, long a member of our church—among the first-fruits of Dr. Lambuth's ministry—is slowly walking into the valley of the shadow of death, but without the slightest fear, and with a firm rod and staff for comfort. She joined, with a failing voice, in the hymn, responded to the prayer, and gave joyous testimony to the grace of God which conquers the grave. She said Jesus was her blessed comfort, and that she was patiently awaiting his message to go home. The religion of the Lord Christ accomplishes the same results in China as in America. I was really glad to have looked on that radiant face and heard the testimony of that dying saint. Oh, let us speed the message and messengers that will thus convert every heathen home into a sanctuary of God! What a contrast to the hopeless wailing I had heard, accompanied by the monotonous repetitions of dirty-looking priests with gongs and drums to play their interludes. Grace will make a Chinese heart glad in the hour of death.

Recently Bro. Reid received a lady into the church, whose history is a lesson, if not inspiration. When quite a child she attended the day-school for one year, of Miss Fay, a missionary of the Protestant Episcopal Church—induced so to do by the gift of a few cash a day. She did not become a Christian, but ceased to worship idols. Twenty-five years passed; that child grew to womanhood and motherhood. The seed planted in the young mind silently developed, amid unfavorable conditions, until at length the heathen girl became a Christian woman. The entire family have turned from dumb idols to the living God. After twenty-five years the harvest time came. What an encouragement to our dear sisters engaged in day-school work! So much of time and toil seem to go to waste, but they can not tell which will grow. The story of this child is a call to holier service and more patient waiting.

I saw yesterday the costly and handsomely-carved silver case in which the Bible, specially printed and bound, is to be presented to the Empress Dowager in honor of her sixtieth birthday, by the Protestant Christian women of China. The book itself will cost $1,000. It is hoped and believed that this expression from the loyal Christians of the Empire will be most acceptable, and will have no little influence in winning more liberal favor from the government, besides the opportunity of reaching directly the Palace with a message from God. The celebration of this occasion was to have been the greatest event in Chinese history for a century or more. One road and street, for ten miles, were to have been covered with carpets and decorated with lamps, pictures, and everything attractive in Chinese manufacture. This, however, will be abandoned on account of the war. It is significant that in this country, in which women are at a discount—are secluded and kept in ignorance—are protested against at birth and regarded as a calamity in youth. The ruling spirit in all national affairs is a woman. Greater than Emperor and cabinet officers is the Empress Dowager, who has placed crowns on several brows, and who is the creator of viceroys and governmental policies.

Bishop Ninde spent some days in Shanghai after his return from Peking, and while awaiting a steamer for the Central China Mission. He attended our regular Saturday night missionary prayer meeting, at McTyeire Home, and gave a much enjoyed fraternal talk. I am grateful for the privilege of much delightful association and conference with this noble brother and ecumenical Methodist.

I leave China with unfeigned regret. I have become, in my feeling and faith, quite a part of our beloved missionary band. The vastness and importance of this mission field grow upon me with every day's observation and study. When these millions are turned to Christ the millennium will begin to dawn. When this dense cloud is rifted, the whole world will soon "roll into light." Then how great should be our plans and efforts for such divine achievements!

In an hour the little steamer of the French mail line will take us down the Woosung to where the great ship "Oceanien" is anchored, awaiting her passengers for the South. Thanking God for these memorable weeks in Far Cathay, I leave for a look at other mission fields, and on to the land of first and tenderest love.

Shanghai, Oct. 27, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Church "Rings."

Some persons give expression to the belief that there exist in our church what are denominated "rings"—that is, associations of a voluntary and informal sort dominated usually by some one prominent character, whose object is the promotion of selfish, personal ends of this dominant individual or his supporters.

We all understand what "rings" are in politics or municipal affairs. They have been, without exception, corrupt and dangerous. Their vital breath is fraud. Dishonesty and falsehood are their favorite instruments. Cheating, stealing, bribery, and trickery—all permeated and made effectual by "the love of money"—are their "fruits." Under their sway true liberty is lost to individuals and the State; unjust and unequal taxation is imposed, and its proceeds made way with for personal use of corrupt members of the "ring;" offices are portioned out as "spoils," not bestowed as a "public trust" upon competent persons; vice of every sort is winked at, and made to pay tribute in money at the same time, especially the infamous traffic in intoxicating liquors.

Does any sane man believe that anything resembling these exists in our church? To ask the question is to answer it.

What, then, do they mean who are so ready to talk about "rings" in churches and Conferences?

Perhaps no more than this: that they themselves, or friends of theirs, have failed to get what they wanted and expected and believed that they were entitled to; some connectional office, some good appointment, some privilege or exemption, some snug berth specially adapted to their needs or convenience just now, and without adequate proof to that effect, believe that they have been kept out of it by a combination or conspiracy of certain persons who have adroitly brought about their disappointment. These indefinite conspirators have somehow employed an "influence," imagined to be in their possession, upon some functionary (for example, a Bishop or a presiding elder) or some electoral body, such as the General Conference, to defeat the just and reasonable expectations of the man or men from whom proceeds this talk about "rings."

But invariably, when the matter becomes tangible, the evidence fails to substantiate any such theory of these cases. A man is not elected because he did not get votes enough; he was not thought qualified in comparison with some other who got more votes. The majority may be mistaken, but they think not, and are entitled to their opinion. And A. has not failed to go to X station because of a "ring," but because the people of X being aware of his desire to "get there, too," were opposed, with or without a good reason, to his appointment, or because the Bishop and his advisers honestly believed B. to be a better man for the place. Are these men, upon whom the responsibility rests, to give up their judgment to gratify A.'s conceit about his own excellences and abilities?

In Conferences it is sometimes rashly said that nothing can be done, nor any place bestowed, unless it be agreeable to a "ring" composed of some persons named. These brethren, thus invidiously singled out, know—none know better—how many of their preferences and opinions and judgments in the Conference come to naught. And if many things they recommend or advocate are done, what is this but the influence of leadership which prevails in every body like a Conference? Such men are recognized by their associates as safe and judicious; they have common sense and knowledge of affairs; they are believed by the majority, whatever some interested or disappointed man may allege to the contrary, to be pure, honest and unselfish, and they acquire and retain weight in the councils and in the assemblies of the church. Were not Early and Smith and Doggett and Duncan and Peterson and Edwards entitled to be heard, and their judgment to be relied on? Shall we listen to every dissatisfied or factious man who, because he can not, by common consent, occupy such a position of influence in the church, wishes to disparage everybody who can, and to represent all such men as influenced by unworthy motives?

The body of our preachers, and of our people as well, are independent and incorruptible. They are no man's servants, and come and go at nobody's call. On great issues affecting the welfare of the church, and especially its freedom and growth, they may be relied upon to do, "without fear, favor, or affection," what they are persuaded is for the glory of God. Those who conscientiously think alike will act together.

Nor do we believe that there is any real desire on the part of our chief officials or their friends to evade criticism and respectful, though sharp, discussion of the wisdom and propriety of what they do. There may be here and there an unpleasant exhibition of what is called "toadyism;" but whenever offensively obtruded, it will be severely rebuked. The general course of administration by those in authority among us is "square," and "according to godliness." Being fallible men at best, they may and do make mistakes. These can be corrected without wholesale allegations of corruption, and charges that pious men of high character are so base as to form "rings" to evade responsibility, and secure ends and objects unworthy of holy men and the best interests of Christ's kingdom.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

Correspondence.

Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

THE NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, having added to its many courtesies the tender of a column for the use of the P. and H. M. S. in its three Conferences, we gratefully accept this offer in behalf of the North Mississippi Conference society, and pray that this kindness may result in encouraging the faithful, arousing the indifferent, and also in bringing these three Conference societies more closely together.

The rapid growth of our society, and a close study of its aims and methods, afford very convincing proof of the need of this work, to which God, through his church, has called us. It is comparatively easy to excite an interest in the demands for our help within our home Conferences; but the reading of our church papers and study of our P. and H. M. literature is necessary to awake our women to the calls upon us for more extended work. When they do read and do study the movements of our church, their sympathies naturally follow the grand onward march. How can there be any "women at ease in Zion" when our faithful city missionaries are hampered by the lack of trained helpers; when, on the frontiers, some of our ministers, with their families, are "enduring hardness as good soldiers of Christ;" when, in the mountain regions of our home-land, so many of our race are living in the direst illiteracy and fatal ignorance of gospel truths; and when the Cubans are coming in hosts to our shores, giving us the grandest opportunity for home mission work?

In this column we do not propose to deal in generalities, but will, from time to time, furnish items of interest from our Conference society and from the general work. We ask the prayers and co-operation of our members, and will be glad to receive from any of them facts and figures of interest.

Since the last annual meeting in October of the North Mississippi Conference society (so ably presided over by Mrs. T. B. Hargrove in the unavoidable absence of the president), we have assisted two parsonages in our Conference—one by a special donation, the other by regular appropriation—thus making four parsonages aided by us since the Annual Conference of 1893.

MRS. H. W. FOOTE.

Contributions to Mississippi Missionary.

The following persons have paid their subscriptions to send Rev. John Burruss Fearn, M. D., as a missionary to China, viz.: Dr. W. R. Lambuth, $10; Rev. T. B. Holloman, $5; Young lady from East Mississippi Female College, $5; Rev. H. M. Ellis, $10; Rev. M. L. White, $1; Mrs. Marr, $1; Rev. J. T. Abney, $5; Rev. J. T. Nicholson, $5; Rev. J. W. McLanrin, $5; Rev. C. D. Cecil, $10; Mr. H. Thornton, $5; Meridian South Side Mission, $15; Mr. H. D. Godbold, $5; Rev. R. J. Jones, $10; Mrs. W. T. Beall, $5, Dr. T. S. Weal, $2; Mrs. W. W. Hoskins, $2.50; Mrs. W. W. Cammack, $1; Rev. C. G. Andrews, $100, amounting to $202 50.

The Missionary Board is desirous of sending him out just as soon as the money is in hand. I would be much obliged, therefore, if the other subscribers would send their money to me without delay. The sum of $249 over and above the present subscription is yet needed. Will not the friends of the good cause take advantage of this opportunity to honor the Lord with their substance? All contributions will be acknowledged through the mail and in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan 12, 1895.

A Third Ten.

The young preacher in whose behalf I have made a call for assistance seems to be growing in favor. From up the country a good sister writes: "Enclosed you will find ten dollars as a present to the young preacher whose resources have failed. I hope to hear soon through the ADVOCATE of eight more who will respond. I feel glad to help in any way that I can that will redound to the good of the church and the glory of Christ." Such giving is sure of the blessing of Him "who loveth a cheerful giver." Who will be the next to win the Lord's favor by a cheerful giving to this worthy case?

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La., Jan. 12, 1895.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Roman Catholic dignitaries are very industrious on the field of literature. Cardinal Gibbons has published an elaborate treatise in the Catholic World, entitled, "The Needs of Humanity Supplied by the Catholic Religion." He attempts to show that his church purified society by teaching that marriage is a sacrament; by inveighing the heinous crime of infanticide; by providing asylums for the sick, the orphan, the aged and infirm, and fallen women; by befriending the slave and working classes generally.

Dr. Talmage has made arrangements to preach every Sunday in the Academy of Music in New York. The lots on which his former Tabernacle in Brooklyn was erected have been sold for less than they cost fifteen years ago.

Gov. Fishback, of Arkansas, asserted publicly that the "social evil" could not be abolished, but should be regulated. The associated preachers of Little Rock, by resolution, denounced the governor's views. Now the governor, in turn, inveighs against said preachers, declaring that they were of the same type as those who charged the Savior with impurity.

A certain Marquise de Fontenoy, by syndicate arrangement, furnishes various American papers, in daily installment, the various scandals among European nobility. Most of it of carrion character, reeking with moral filth. Sad that American readers crave such recitals.

Lord Rosebery, the heir of the Rothschild millions and proprietor of the fastest race-horses, finds it very difficult to maintain himself as English Premier. Having abandoned Home Rule, he caters to the good-will of the Irish agitators by proposing to support a bill for the abolishment of the House of Lords. Said agitators doubt the Premier's sincerity. They would abandon him and leave him without a majority if they were not fighting among themselves on account of funds contributed by Irish-Americans.

McGlynn, the political priest, who was deposed by Bishop Corrigan in New York on account of his advocacy of Henry Georgeism and other vagaries, has repented and applied for readmission into the Roman fold. Promising to be a dutiful son of the church hereafter, he has been restored to the priesthood.

Bishop Vincent, of the M. E. Church, advocates keeping our churches open for prayer day and night. Outfit, arrangements and service should be made very attractive to the young. If well heated and open all night, the tramp would not ask for anything better.

ICH DIEN.

For the Advocate.

TO MY MOTHER.

MRS. M. E. WIGGINS.

Whose youngest daughter Lillie died on June 23, 1894

My mother sweet in sad and lone,
Because the light of home is gone;
Still linger not o'er crumbling sod,
Her ransomed soul is with her God.
The youngest, dearest of daughters seven
Will spend this Christmas-tide in heaven.
She tuned her heart to sing on earth,
'Twill celebrate the Savior's birth.
Oh, weary days, so sad and long,
Since hushed has been her earthly song.
They've been for her such glorious days,
With heart so full of love and praise
For him who brought her safely here
To join with all her kindred dear.
Then listen, for at evening hour
Her spirit comes with soothing power.
She knows how much your heart must bleed,
She knows how much her care you need,
But knows that you must wait awhile,
And, by your faith, your hope, your smile,
Bring all your children soon to join,
In spotless robes, the blood-washed throng.
So, mother dear, in patience wait;
It may be soon, 'twill not be late,
Ere you shall meet your Lillie fair
In portals where there comes no care.
To-day she sings in glad relief,
Without a thought of mother's grief,
Her Christmas song. Oh, may it rise,
The sweetest one in paradise!
And, mother, you have children still,
Whose pleasure is your precious will.
They love you, and will gladly share
Whatever comes to you of care.
You love the hand that dealt the blow:
Some time the reason why you'll know.
Oh, joyous thought, soon we shall meet,
And lay our sheaves at Jesus' feet!

S. W. H.

Water Valley.

The above should have appeared earlier, but was accidentially delayed.—EDITOR.

Communications.

Debate on Baptism.

MR. EDITOR: As some false reports have gone out concerning the debate which took place between Bros. T. W. Dye and W. A. Crum in November, at Oak Grove—a Campbellite Church within the bounds of my work—on the subject of baptism, I thought it behooved me to make a plain statement through the columns of the ADVOCATE in regard to it, as I was present and heard every word from beginning to end. Of course, I can only give a short synopsis in this paper, but, I trust, enough to make the correction I think expedient. They discussed the subject in the two propositions.

1. In the commission, "Go teach all nations," baptizing them should read, "immersing them." Affirmed by W. A. Crum, denied by T. W. Dye.

In Bro. Crum's first speech he introduced about twenty quotations from different lexicographers, showing that the first definition of the word baptidzo was always immerse, or dip; and the second meaning was sprinkle, or pour. In reply, Bro. Dye stated that he had only given the definition of the word in classic Greek; that the Bible was written in Hellenistic, or New Testament, Greek, and no such definition could be found there. The word "immerse" was of Latin extraction, and always meant to plunge in, to sink.

In Bro. Crum's second speech he did not refute Bro. Dye's statement, but dodged the issue by striking off in another direction. He said that the word baptidzo either meant immerse, or sprinkle, or pour. If it meant the first, it could not mean the latter; if the latter, then it could not mean the former. That he interpreted it to mean immerse, and was consistent with himself when he denied sprinkling, or pouring, as baptism at all. But Bro. Dye was inconsistent with himself that he interpreted it to mean sprinkling, or pouring, and then would baptize by immersion when requested to do so, and that when a Methodist preacher went down into the water and baptized a candidate by immersion, he said to the world by that act that sprinkling, or pouring, was not the true definition, and so contradicted himself.

Bro. Dye, in reply, stated that the word baptidzo was not a modal word, but a word of general import. It was not a specific term; therefore, did not refer to mode at all, but to the act itself. This explains the reason why the word baptidzo was transferred, and not translated, when conveyed from the Greek to our language. The Methodist did not find the mode in the word, but back of that in other Scriptures. Bro. Crum then asked him to give a definition, or meaning, of the term. Bro. Dye replied, personal purity, or cleansing, was the symbolic meaning.

It was the general verdict that Bro. Crum had not met the arguments that Bro. Dye had presented; that the word did not mean immerse.

2. Proposition that infants are scriptural subjects for baptism. Affirmed by T. W. Dye, denied by W. A. Crum.

In Bro. Dye's opening speech he showed that God made two covenants with Abraham.

(1) A land covenant, in which he defined the lines and boundaries as minutely as a surveyor in describing a section of land to-day.

(2) A spiritual covenant, and that Abraham should be the father, not only of the land covenant, which included only the Jewish nation, but also of the spiritual covenant of which Christ was the promised seed, and by whom he should be the father of many nations; and he showed that children were included in both of those covenants, circumcision being given as the sign, or seal, the symbolic meaning of which was personal purity, or cleansing.

In reply, Bro. Crum stated that Bro. Dye had made a speech an hour long, and had not mentioned baptism one time, but tried to refute his statements in regard to the covenants, and labored excessively to prove that there was only one covenant made with Abraham, and that was a land covenant, and admitted that children were included in that covenant, not by the rite of circumcision, but by birth, and that circumcision was only a sign, or seal, of recognition to the rights and privileges contained in that covenant; that the spiritual covenant was not made until Christ came, and then the children were taken out. Gal. iv, 22: "For it is written that Abraham had two sons; the one by a bond-maid, the other by a free woman," which things are an allegory, for these are the two covenants. Nevertheless, what saith the Scripture? "Cast out the bondwoman and her son." And he added with great emphasis, "Cast they go."

In Bro. Dye's second speech he propounded this syllogism: that the subjects of a kingdom have all the rights and privileges of that kingdom. Children are the subjects of God's kingdom, for Christ said, "Of such is the kingdom of God." Water baptism is a sign of recognition to the rights and privileges in God's kingdom; therefore, children are scriptural subjects for water baptism.

Bro. Dye proceeded, by a continuous chain of evidence from Genesis to Revelation, that the church of to-day was the same church that was in the wilderness. The condition of admission was the same; faith in Christ, the spiritual covenant, was the same, and children were admitted at eight days old; therefore, children have a right to be admitted into covenant relation with God now, because God never abrogated that covenant, or any part of it, but said it should be an everlasting covenant.

In reply, Bro. Crum tried to throw Bro. Dye's syllogism into a fallacy. "In this way," he said, "there was no connection whatever between those two covenants, or the church now; and then, there were no Christians before Christ, and there is no more reason or argument in Bro. Dye's syllogism than this: A horse is an animal; Bro. Dye is an animal; therefore, Bro. Dye is a horse."

This created quite a laugh, and some swallowed it as a sweet morsel and a sound argument. He then read about eighteen objections to infant baptism.

1. Repentance was the condition of baptism. "Repent, every one of you, and be baptized," was a Bible declaration. As infants could not repent, therefore, they were not scriptural subjects.

2. Water baptism was applied for the remission of sins, as it was said to Saul, "Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins." As infants have no sins to wash away, therefore, they were not scriptural subjects.

3. Faith was another condition to baptism. As infants could not exercise faith, therefore, they were not scriptural subjects.

4. That infant baptism destroys free agency. As infants could not help themselves; etc.

In reply, Bro. Dye said that Bro. Crum tried to throw his syllogism into a fallacy, but missed it. He only got the silly part, and missed the gism. He should have put it this way: A mule is an animal; Bro. Crum is an animal; therefore, Bro. Crum is a mule.

Bro. Dye then proceeded with his argument, linking chain after chain of evidence together until he had a continuous chain reaching from Genesis to Revelation, furnishing evidence sufficient from the Word of God to satisfy every unprejudiced mind that infants were scriptural subjects of baptism. Being notified that his time was out, he asked for five minutes more to bid adieu to the audience, and then followed as fine a piece of oratory as I ever listened to, by representing the different churches coming forward on the day of judgment with a flower as a motto, and placing it at the Savior's feet, the Baptist and Campbellite Churches bringing a beautiful water lily that would not grow only where there was much water; naming all the different churches and the flower they brought. Finally the grand old Methodist Church came forward with a lovely rose and a cluster of buds of different sizes around it, and then the Savior, stooping and taking up the flowers, entwines them into a beautiful bouquet, which would not have been complete without the lovely buds that clustered so gracefully and tenderly around the rose.

Bro. Crum closed with an anecdote, as he had produced most of his argument in that way. It was a felicitous conclusion. It was about this: A mother placed a baby in its father's lap and went out to see about supper, and in a short while the baby began to cry. The father tried to pacify the child, but could not. He then called the mother to come and quiet him, but the mother said: "Make it hush yourself. I have tried, and can't do it." The father retorted. "Well, then," the mother replied, "If it won't hush any other way, give it a spanking." But the father hallooed back: "If you want the child spanked, you've got to do it yourself. It's too little for me to spank." "Just so," he said. "If Bro. Dye won't hush now, and you want him spanked, you will have to get somebody else to do it. He is too little for me to spank."

The president then arose and thanked the congregation for their good behavior, and announced the debate ended, and said that he had learned two things: 1. That Bro. Dye was a horse, and, 2. That Bro. Crum was a mule.

Bro. Dye wanted judges selected who would be competent to decide the question, but Bro. Crum would not agree to it. Said he wanted to leave it to the intelligence of the community. The debate continued four days. They spoke to a crowded house each day. One of the most intelligent men who attended was heard to say that he was surprised and disappointed. Surprised to find that Bro. Dye had so much scriptural ground for his argument, and disappointed to know that Bro. Crum had so little.

I have simply tried to write a plain statement of the facts in the case; and if I have unknowingly misrepresented anything, would be glad to be corrected. Yours in Christian love,

C. W. PERKINS.

Tyro, Miss.

The Temple Site and Jews' Wailing Place.

BY H. G HAWKINS.

Though I spent only a part of a day at Jaffa and only a few hours on the railway, much of my Palestine space has been taken up with them, and I must summarize again on Jerusalem, where twenty days full of interest were spent. Five of these days were devoted to excursions of a day's length each to places distant from the city; but every night was spent in the city.

Most noteworthy is the site of Solomon's Temple. The mosque here, with its mosaics and its dome over the rock, is very fine, and its sanctity is held by the Moslems second only to that at Mecca. It is walled in and guarded, and a consular escort is necessary in visiting it. Altogether it is made to cost a single traveler nearly two dollars; and, in my case, the saying that what costs is appreciated the more, did not hold good. But one is filled with real awe to know that he is walking upon ground that Solomon walked upon, and where the priests and high priests of Jehovah officiated. The court outside the mosque is paved and very extensive, and the whole is called the Temple Plateau. The natural unhewn rock under the dome of the mosque is called the Holy Rock. It is 57 feet long and 43 feet wide, and rises about 6½ feet above the surrounding pavement. According to Jewish tradition, Abraham and Melchizedek sacrificed here, Abraham was on the point of slaying Isaac here, and the rock is said to have been anointed by Jacob. As it was regarded as the central point of the world, the Ark of the Covenant is said once to have stood here, to have been afterwards concealed here by Jeremiah, and still to lie buried beneath the sacred rock. On this rock also was written the "shem," the great and unspeakable name of God. Jesus, says tradition, succeeded in reading it, and he was thus enabled to work his miracles. The probability is that the great sacrificial altar stood here, and traces of a channel for carrying off the blood have been discovered on the rock. The Moslems adopted all the traditions of the Jews concerning the rock and greatly improved upon them. Thus they maintained that the hollow under the rock is where the spirits of the deceased assemble twice weekly to pray; that the rock came from Paradise; that here will resound the blast of the trumpet which will announce the judgment; that God's throne will then be planted upon the rock. Mohammed declared that one prayer here was better than a thousand elsewhere. And this is not half of all the traditions.

Within the same enclosure, but lower down the plateau, is the mosque El-Aksa, founded originally as a Christian church by the Emperor Justinian. Solomon's Palace was somewhere thereabouts. The whole of the southeast corner of this paved Temple Plateau is supported by artificial substructions, the purpose of which was to form a broad level surface. From this corner we descend by about forty steps to these substructions. Their extent is very surprising. They consist of semi-circular vaults, 28 feet high, resting upon a hundred huge square piers. They are called Solomon's Stables; and it is known that the Crusader Kings used them as stables. The rings to which they fastened their horses still exist. But it may be that in Solomon's time they were used for the great multitudes of various animals that were brought to the Temple for sacrificial purposes before the great feasts.

A Jew, I think, is never allowed to enter the Temple enclosure; but they have purchased the right to weep by the western wall of the temple. It is one of the saddest, weirdest, most interesting sights in the world—those Jews there leaning against the weather-beaten wall, kissing the huge old stones and weeping for their palace that is destroyed, the walls that are overthrown, their majesty that is departed, their great men who lie dead, the precious stones that are burned, for their priests who have stumbled, their kings who have despised Him. To stand there and look on makes a person know and feel.

Near the southwest corner of the temple wall, and forming a part of it, is the arch of a bridge called Robinson's Arch, because it was discovered by Robinson, the great American explorer of Palestine. It is 50 feet wide; it has stones 19 and 26 feet in length; and it is evidently part of a bridge which in ancient days spanned the Tyropœon Valley, connecting Mt. Moriah with Mt. Zion. In the days of Jewish glory they did not build with little stones, and whenever in walking about the city you see a stone built in huger than the rest, it takes you back to Jewish days. The size of the unfinished column which the Russians found when laying the foundations of their large buildings astonishes you even when you look at it the second or third time. And the great underground quarry where the hewing for Solomon's temple was probably done is a wonder.

"Apostolic Succession."

Yesterday being Sunday, and with us a very rainy day, we had no services at our (the Methodist) Church. About three o'clock a hearse drove up the street past our house. In a very few minutes an old brother came to my room, and asked me how I would like to walk with him around to the Catholic Church; that a friend of his had died, and the funeral services would be conducted at the Catholic Church. I readily consented, and walked around with my friend and brother. There I found a small congregation assembled with the priest to perform the last service to a departed friend. Of course, the candles were burning, as is the custom with this church on these occasions.

There were two things that struck me with considerable force. The first was the zeal of the priest. I could not help from admiring his zeal, but was forced to the conclusion that St. Paul gives us of some: that he has a zeal, but not according to knowledge. The second thing that was forcibly impressed on me was the duplicity of the priest. He exhorted his hearers when any of them got sick to send for the priest; not to send for another preacher. That he was of the apostolic succession, direct from the apostles. I was struck with the wonders, and wondered if he could get in a thousand years of the apostles. I was filled with astonishment when the priest told his congregation that they should send for him in case of sickness, as he had power to forgive sins; that he was God's vice-regent on earth; that as the keys of heaven had been given to Peter, as Peter's successor, he now possessed the keys, and whatever he loosed on earth should be loosed in heaven. I thought if he honestly believed himself to be in the line of succession, I doubted his believing that he had power on earth to forgive sins. Yet some in his congregation looked as if they believed his arrogant statement.

UNCLE JOHN.

Correspondence.

Shepherds and Sheep.

MR. EDITOR: Your paper seems to be such an old, true and tried friend that one can just begin and write the uppermost thought without wasting time and patience in platitudes.

The uppermost thought just now is about the many changes that have come to preachers and people by the late transfer of shepherds and sheep from one fold to another.

Jeremiah, the weeping prophet, wrote: "Woe be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture! saith the Lord." Methodism is equal to this emergency even, and, as the five thousand sheep have been scattered only and not destroyed, they expect to find green pastures and good shepherd in the new fold.

We said "good-by" to our shepherd, Rev. A. H. Shannon, and may not clasp hands again on this side of the river; but over on the other side, where the great majority are gathered, we will meet again. He has been faithful over a few things, and the promise is, "My word shall not return unto me void." When the summing up comes he may be joyfully surprised to find that some of the seed sown by his hand has brought forth an hundredfold for the Master's kingdom.

Our little flock was greatly edified by the presence in our midst of the Rev. George Bancroft and his good sermons and uplifting talk to the Sunday-school. He and his noble wife were visiting their daughter, Mrs. C. M. Poole, en route to Conference. Bro. Bancroft was side-switched more on account of his wife's bad health than any inability on his part to do regular work. A world to save, "heathen at our doors," and no work for the preachers. What anomalous thing is this? We sing,

"If you want a field of labor,
You can find it anywhere;"

and it is to be proven that this is so, and "the laborer is worthy of his hire." So the Lord will provide.

But, dear ADVOCATE, all know that you have a wide field, and you are desirous of enlarging the borders of your phylacteries; and if the preachers will help our good editor in this work, they will find themselves helped and blessed in their work. So mote it be!

MRS. L. CEARY SADLER.

Dr. I. W. Cooper.

We, the students of Millsaps College, desire to express our appreciation of Dr. Cooper, and our regret at his having to sever his connection with us. Since he has been our agent he has gone all over the State, visiting our homes and urging upon us and our parents the importance of higher education. He has, by his ardent love for young men and his forceful energy, opened up the way for many poor boys to obtain a collegiate education, who probably would never have entered a college. We desire to express through the columns of your paper our sincere regard for Dr. Cooper, and our appreciation for what he has done for us. We regret very much that he has been taken from this field, and hope that he may again be our agent when another is to be chosen. But, though we should never enjoy this happy relation again, Dr. Cooper will cease to live in our affections only when they perish.

(Signed) G. L. Teat, H. D. Roberts, T. F. Morgan, J. B. Randolph, J. T. Calhoun, R. W. Harmon, Edgar O. Bailey, Committee.

An Extract from a Letter of a Young Lady to a Friend.

My home has always been in the town, but I think a country life would be as pleasant. I have always been a great lover of nature; and I enjoy the beautiful flowers, the graceful forest trees, and the wild bird's song. It rejoices my heart to know that your highest desire is to live a Christian life. I joined the church as a seeker when a little girl, and felt for a long time unworthy to be a member; but I think God has blessed my efforts in taking my place with Christians. I thank him that I had the moral courage sufficient to start for heaven. I have learned to trust him, and to take him at his word, which otherwise, perhaps, I would never have done had I not united with his people. You say you think the church is for Christians; but I think it is the place for all who wish to be Christians. Once in the fold of the church, we have the prayers of a great many Christians which we would not otherwise have. Once in the family of the children of God, we become more like them, as we do by associating with refined persons. Let me urge you at once to unite yourself with the church, and rest assured that God will accept the offering. God's blessings will rest upon the decision made publicly in his favor, and I believe that soon you will rejoice in his love. As soon as we trust and believe heaven is ours, God does the converting part. Oh, how much pleasure the Christian has which the irreligious never realize! Those who have chosen God for their friend, and are striving to secure heaven for their future home, have much brighter prospects than those who have placed their affections on the perishing things of earth.

LILA.

Selections.

Views of Heaven.

A leading divine says: "When I was a boy I thought of heaven as a great shining city, with vast walls and domes and spires, and with nobody in it except white angels, who were strangers to me. By and by my little brother died, and I thought of a great city with walls and domes and spires, and a flock of cold, unknown angels, and one little fellow that I was acquainted with. He was the only one that I knew in that country. Then another brother died, and there were two that I knew. Then my acquaintances began to die and the number continually grew. But it was not until I had sent one of my little children back to God, that I began to think I had a little interest there myself. A second, a third, a fourth went, and by that time I had so many acquaintances in heaven that I did not see any more walls and domes and spires. I began to think of the residents of the Celestial City. And now so many of my acquaintances have gone there, that it sometimes seems to me that I knew more in heaven than I do on earth."

Religion with Relish.

Many people take their religion as though it were an exceedingly bitter pill which they would not touch if they could possibly help it. They go to prayer meeting if they can not find any excuse for staying away that is at all decent. They do a variety of right things simply because they feel they must, and, having a conscience, are driven thereby as with lash and spur. Others there are who offer willing and cheerful service. They give to God not grudgingly or of necessity—give their best and count it far too little. Their religion is the joy and glory of their life. Their faces light up as they think of Jesus and rejoice over the fact that no one can take him from them. They do not drag themselves to church or class, but move with swift feet as to a feast. Which kind of Christians are genuine? Which are likely to do good? Which honor their Savior? Why should not all serve God with relish?—Zion's Herald.

It was a cold, rainy morning in March. The pastor of a certain church was sitting by his fire reading, when his ringing door-bell startled him. On going to the door, he found a plain-looking man awaiting him. "Good morning, sir; come in, won't you?" "No, thank you. Is this Mr. Blank, the Presbyterian minister?" "Yes, sir; what can I do for you?" "Well, sir; I am a Presbyterian. My name is Smith. I have just moved here from Geneva. My wife and I are living on Knox street. I have sent for our letters, and they will be here next week. I hope that you will come out to see us soon." "Well, now, my dear brother, I am very glad you came to see me. Come in, come in, and let's have a talk. You are the first man that ever hunted me up in this manner." "No, thank you; I must be going. We could not work to-day, and I thought that I would come and hunt you up and let you know that we were here. Good morning." —Christian Observer.

When we pray for any virtue we should cultivate it as well. Let the petition which you voice before God be a charge which you address to yourself. By turning requests into precepts, and the offering up of our desires into self-applied injunctions, we best understand what is meant by acceptable prayer. By what we ask of God we see what it is that he requires of us. Thus we prove the sincerity of our words and gauge the measure of answered prayers. Praying that you enter not into temptation, watch also that you do not.

It is a mistake to suppose that moroseness is wisdom. It is rather an indication of brutism. It is man's nature, and a part of his duty to talk. Know when, where, what and how to speak, then speak. The Savior often talked from morning till night. The disciples went everywhere telling the story of the cross. It is our duty to strive to make others happy, and this we can often do by a few words of encouragement. True, the incessant gabbler is a nuisance, but the intelligent conversationalist is a blessing to his race.

There has been a good deal said in a deferential way about "honest doubt," but honest conviction is deserving of far more respect than it generally receives. Some one once said that "there is more 'grit and go' in one honest conviction than in a whole bundle of doubts."

It is not what we read, but what we remember that makes us learned. It is not what we intend, but what we do that makes us useful. It is not a few faint wishes, but a life-long struggle that makes us valiant.—Beecher.

A ten-dollar bill does not rattle in your pocket, but two nickels will. In like manner the man with only two grains of sense will make more noise than one with a head full of brains.—Centralia Guard.

A very rich man said: "I worked like a slave till I was fifty to make my fortune, and I have been watching it like a detective ever since for my lodging, food and clothes."

No matter what sort of emotional tempest you may have experienced, your heart is not pure unless your life is clean.

When people find out that a man is mean at home they don't care what he professes to be in church.

Find a man opposing the Bible, and you find one who has sins that he don't want to give up.

The man who is unfaithful with one talent wouldn't do any better if he had a hundred.

No man can get nearer to God than he is willing to work to bring everybody else.

A conceited man is apt to think that he can get along without God's help.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 AND 2107 THIRD AVE.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf.,Mrs. G. L. Lipscomb..Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison....

Motives for Missionary Work.

[Read by Mrs. A. M. Williams before the Woman's Missionary Society of the South Georgia Conference.]

To examine our motives and apply to them the light of the gospel is a great means of grace, and the principles thus discovered that actuate us in the work should inspire others to join in the great enterprise.

There are many reasons why missions should be pressed, but a Christian is actuated by only one motive when we reach the last analysis—that is, love. The power of Christianity reduces all action to that simple principle of love as the motive.

The Jew had many rules of life, and it became a perplexity and religion a burden. Much of his time was spent in working out the hundreds of minor laws laid down for his observance by the Rabbis of the day, but Jesus proclaimed the divinity of our religion when he declared that love was the fulfillment of all law. We can never be Christians until our hearts glow with that sublime emotion. The enthusiasm born of love warms our hearts and minds up to the point where duty is recognized, imparts an irrepressible zeal to our natures, makes cost fall of consideration, counts all suffering for the object sought a delight, and makes every yoke easy and every burden light.

This love begins in Christ—it springs from him and moves with him. The discontented soul longing for rest and purity, disappointed in its search after earthly joy, dissatisfied with itself, depressed with its hopelessness, meets the idea of Jesus. At first there is a repulsive tendency because the soul feels such a nature can only despise an unworthy one like itself. But the tenderness of Christ in dealing with every sinning soul, the sweet persuasiveness of his invitations, and the hopefulness of his promises, draw the soul on to him, and in the course of time Jesus becomes "all in all." His teachings fascinate, his life transports with admiration at its wonderful unselfishness and devotion to the good, his work thrills in its power and scope, and Christ becomes the power of the Christian's life. He carries in his heart only the interests of his Master, and in great emergencies is ready to say with William Carey, "Prayer and pains, through faith in Jesus Christ, will do anything."

We hear Jesus talk about "my Father's business," and we learn from him that that business is "to seek and to save the lost."

You ask me my motive in working for missions. I reply, "I love Christ, and Christ's love constrains me." No one with an intelligent love for Christ can withhold service from the missionary cause. An intelligent love for Christ is the essence of the missionary spirit. Some lovers of Jesus are anti-missionary because they have never had brought to their minds the view Christ has of the world, nor the interest he has in the salvation of all mankind. They are not co-laborers with him because they have not an intelligent love. —Selected.

Don't Take Our Word,

But ask your doctor if there is any cure for Rheumatism. If a member of the old school, he will say there is none. If of the more modern and progressive practice, he will say that Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism is the only known specific, and that its proprietors offer a reward of $500 for a case it will not cure. The preparation is both internal and external, consists of two large bottles—one month's treatment, and is sent by express to any address upon receipt of $5. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

A Sign of the Times.

The New York Independent mentions an incident that took place recently in Venezuela which is very significant. News has been received by the American Bible Society of the arrest and subsequent release of Rev. Joseph Norwood, agent of the society in Venezuela. The offense charged upon him was that of selling copies of the Scriptures. Mr. Norwood had been for some years engaged in traveling through Central and South America in Bible work, and last Summer was appointed to Venezuela. He states that on Oct. 8, while in a station of Mendoza, he was arrested by a police officer and placed in a cell, the prison being one of the filthiest and most unwholesome he had ever seen. He was fortunately enabled to communicate with United States Minister of Caracas, who demanded his immediate release, his retention as prisoner being in direct violation of the Constitution of Venezuela, which guarantees religious liberty both to natives and foreigners. Immediately the Minister of the Interior dispatched an official telegram ordering his release. He was then set free from custody, and the chief of police who had ordered his arrest was dismissed from his office. This circumstance shows that the old intolerance of religious bigotry still lingers; but the release of Mr. Norwood, and the dismissal of the chief of police who had ordered his arrest, show that the principles of light and liberty are spreading. No doubt, the interference of the American Minister was the chief cause of Mr. Norwood's release; but the railroad and telegraph are bringing countries nearer, and spreading liberal ideas in lands that were once excluded from the light.—Guardian.

For Indigestion and Nervousness

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. W. O. Hoyt, Rome, Ga., says: "I have found it both an agreeable and useful remedy in many cases of indigestion, and also in nervous troubles attended with sleeplessness and a feeling of exhaustion."

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. B. F. Jones: "We are delightfully situated here. Our reception was most cordial, and the prospects for the year are flattering."

Rev. F. M. Keen: "We have just got moved; had a cordial reception. I preached at both of my appointments—Ellisville and Laurel—in 1894. I trust that the new year will bring increased prosperity to the ADVOCATE, as also great peace and happiness to its editor and his family."

Rev. J. M. Weems, Port Gibson, Jan. 7: "My address will be 301 Cherry street, Vicksburg, Miss. I have appointed the following as a District Parsonage Committee for the Vicksburg district: Revs. C. G. Andrews, J. P. Drake, H. M. Ellis, and T. A. Holloman and H. L. Dinkins."

Rev. J. C. Park, Booneville, Miss., Jan. 3: "The family of our esteemed presiding elder, Rev. H. R. Tucker, is made sad by the death of Sister Tucker's mother, Mrs. T. Deloach, who 'fell on sleep' Dec. 29, 1894, at her home in Decatur county, Tenn. She died in triumph. Let the church pray for the bereaved."

Rev. J. H. Evans, Williamsburg, Miss., Jan. 1: "We are all at Williamsburg, and I suppose will make this place our home for life. As the Conference has forced me to superannuate, I will try to be resigned. I am trying to fix myself and family so that we will not be in a suffering condition. God bless you and the ADVOCATE."

Rev. W. W. Mitchell: "We are comfortably housed in the neat little parsonage at Lexington. Thoughtful ladies of the church and community had preceded me, leaving behind them many evidences of their appreciation of the cause we represent in the way of neatly arranged rooms, spread tables, and well-filled larder. Pray for us that we may have a profitable year."

Rev. B. T. Crews: "I am starting off well my second year. My people have gone to work to recover the parsonage and do such other repairing as is needed to be done. The outlook for the year I think very good. I do not heartily indorse your editorial in reference to the fledgling editor, and I do hope he will retract or give up his credentials, for he can't prove his charges. Happy New Year to you and yours."

Rev. Jno. A. Miller, Ruston, La., Jan. 5: "The weather has been so excessively bad since my return from Conference that I have not been able to do much. Have preached only one time. Bro. R. Randle filled one Sunday for me as he passed through to his work. Our people, however, are in good spiritual condition. Bro. T. B. White has settled in our town, and is now very sick. The physicians think his condition precarious. Let the whole church unite in prayer for him."

Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, P. E., Mansfield, La., Jan. 1: "I begin my first round Saturday next. I find that my predecessor, Bro. Harp, has wrought well on this district, laying a good foundation upon which to build for the Master. I can not hope to excel him in earnest, faithful work for the church. The preachers of the district, so far as heard from, are beginning to get in touch with their people, and a good year is confidently expected. I pray the blessings of God upon you and the dear old ADVOCATE."

Rev. E. N. Evans: "I am at my post of duty, well received and highly pleased. We found parsonage all furnished and an ample supply of provisions, a good cook with supper ready. These people make us feel that we came to be served instead of serving. I like the way these folks do things. They voted whisky out, and it goes out. The cry that 'prohibition does not prohibit' will not last long here. These folks have a stubborn and wise look on their faces. They mean business. We are done with saloons. Our work opens up grandly. We are working on the line of 'applied Christianity,' and Rum, Romanism and High Church pretensions are not in it. They are on the other side. The silent minority are on the side of right and the triumphant majority."

Rev. J. R. Roy, Columbia, La., Jan. 3: "At the last Annual Conference I was appointed to the Columbia circuit, Alexandria district. On Dec. 29 I left Simsport charge, which I served last year, which in many respects was very gratifying to me as pastor. The Lord greatly honored the effort there. May he bless the labors of my successor in his work and those I learned to love. On the twenty-eighth I reached my new work (Columbia), and was cordially received and welcomed by the good people of this place. God grant that we may have a Pentecost here this year. Dear brethren, pray for us, for I feel that we need help. The weather has been so bad since our arrival that we have not met but few of our people, yet have made pastoral calls. I am sorry to say, upon inquiry, I find that our church at Columbia is in an abnormal condition. I speak in a general way. There are some who, I believe, are endeavoring to live right. I also find that the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is not taken; only found it as yet in one home. God forbid that this should continue longer. Enclosed find cash for six subscribers to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. I will endeavor to send more soon. We are now in the parsonage, very comfortably situated. It is in great need of repairs. I hope the preachers will make an effort to keep our parsonages in good condition. They can if they will. It is a deplorable fact that some of the brethren seem to think that all that is necessary is to make it do while they are there; or if the next preacher wants any repairs done, he can do it. This is discouraging to those who have to provide homes for preachers: that some preachers take no care of parsonage property. Therefore, it is our duty to try to have a decent parsonage, for we don't know who will come next. Brethren, we deserve as good houses as anyone else. So let's do our best to improve our parsonages, instead of tearing them up and letting them go to wreck. Brethren, pray for us."

SINCE CONFERENCE.

Having no move to make, we have been at home with former parishioners and have preached five times to good congregations. Our congregations have increased, at least, one-fourth during the past year. We preached on Christmas Day at 11 o'clock, and one auditor had the curiosity to count, and reported forty-two ladies and forty-two gentlemen present. It has been said that gentlemen will not attend church in Franklin.

On Christmas Eve a storm set in at this parsonage, which continued the remainder of the week, and it brought sugar, coffee, syrup, preserves, vegetables, fruit, baked chickens, dressed turkey, cold cash, and cakes enough to last a month. We anticipate a good and prosperous year. Amen!

H. ARMSTRONG.

Jan. 2, 1895.

Large as a Dollar

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His legs were so lame that sometimes he could not sit down, and when he tried to walk his legs would crack open and the blood start. Physicians did not cure. I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two weeks the sores began to heal up; the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles of Jos. Ruby.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

he was entirely free from sores." HARRY K. RUBY, Box 356, Columbia, Penn.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache. 25c.

Saved His Life
BY USING
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"When my adopted son was seven years of age, he had as severe a cough as I ever knew anyone to suffer from. He coughed incessantly, and spit up blood. I tried everything I could think of, but he constantly grew worse, and I feared the poor little fellow would surely die. At last, I gave him Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, being recommended to do so by the physician. This medicine gave the child speedy relief and effected a permanent cure."—Mrs. M. E. DEBAT, Liberty, Texas.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Received Highest Awards
AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Dr. VAN WATTS,
DENTIST.
No 170 (New No. 918) CANAL STREET,
Over New Home Sewing Machine Office,
NEW ORLEANS.

Under an entirely new treatment all operations on the teeth are Positively Painless, without harm to the tooth or patient. Old, aching, abscessed teeth, mere shells and roots of teeth are cured at once and made serviceable for life, at very little cost.

☞ Gold Crown and Bridge Work within the reach of all. Sets of Teeth Cheaper than ever before Made in this City. All Work Guaranteed to Give Perfect Satisfaction. Hours: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Mrs. C. L. CHRISTIAN,
Ladies' - Purchasing - Agent,
PETERS AVENUE, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
oct jan25

USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED
TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms. Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away, as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine. None genuine without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $4.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to

DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer, Dixon, Ill.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.
I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

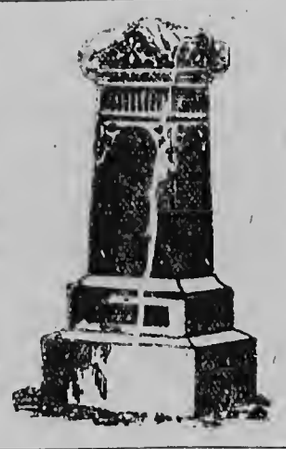
☞ Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.
$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,
Old No 95 (New 109) ST. CHARLES STREET.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

JOSEPH CONRAD'S
Steam Wood and Coal Yard,
COR. ST. ANDREW AND MAGNOLIA.

	Per Load.
Sawed baker's pine in blocks, 12-in.	$1 50
Sawed and split baker's pine, 12 or 16-in.	1 50
Sawed and split mixed wood, 12 or 16-in.	1 75
Sawed and split oak, 12 or 16 in.	2 00
Sawed and split ash, 12 or 16-in.	2 25

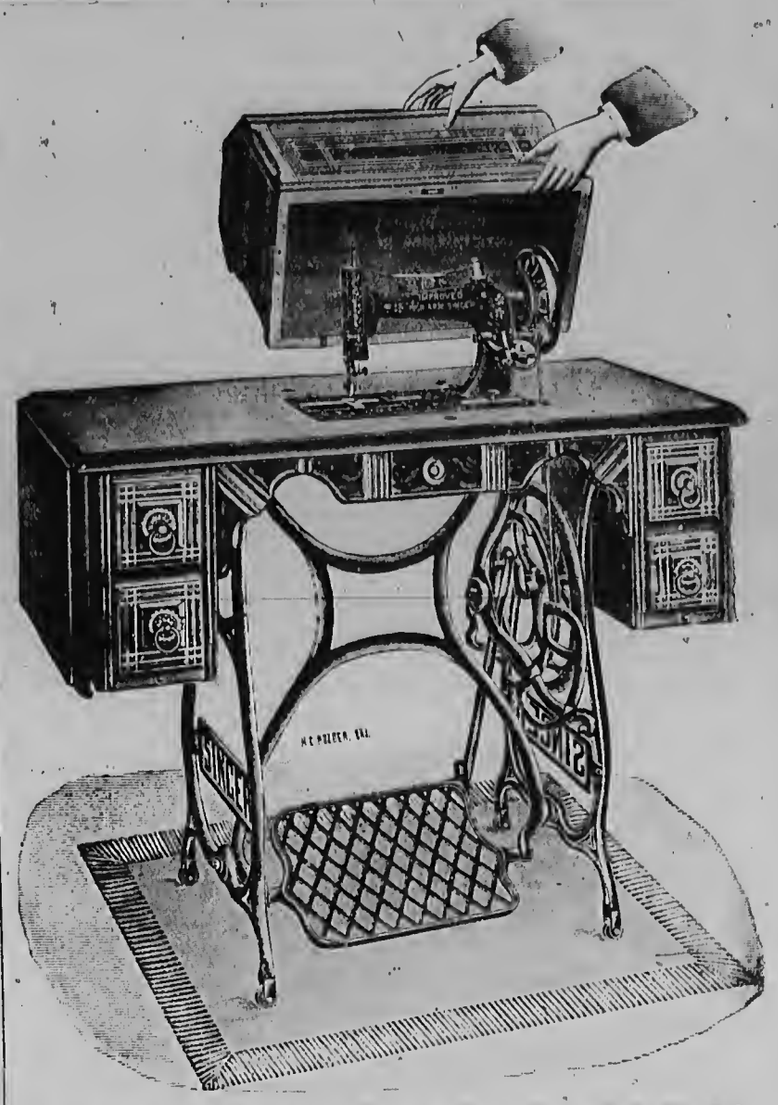
With sack of charcoal, 20 cents extra; also stone coal and coke for sale cheap. Delivered free.

DR. CHILES'
Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally, is applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.
DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under work without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is a mile shorter than any other line between New Orleans and Cincinnati, all under one management.

It carries you from Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston over the shortest route, and in quicker time.

That runs Solid Vestibule Trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York over the shortest route, and in quicker time.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Runs Solid Vestibule Trains from Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one management.

It carries you from Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York with only two changes of cars.

That runs through Sleepers from Shreveport to Atlanta, via Chattanooga without change.

That runs Solid Vestibule Trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That runs Chair Cars between New Orleans and Shreveport, via New Orleans.

That runs Solid Vestibule Trains from Texas and California to Shreveport, via New Orleans.

HARRITT, A. G. P. A. 34 St. Charles St., NEW ORLEANS, LA. HARDY, G. P. A. VICKSBURG, MISS.

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r Agt., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE

SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WEEB, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

One inch,	1 week	$ 1 00
"	2 weeks	1 60
"	3 "	2 00
"	1 month	2 40
"	3 months	6 00
"	6 "	12 00
"	12 "	20 00
Two inches,	12 "	36 00
Three "	12 "	50 00

Four or more inches, $15 per inch, per year.
Special position, 25 per cent. extra.

Thursday, January 17, 1895.

Cotton Convention.

At the Cotton Growers' Convention held in Jackson, Miss., last week, seven States were represented. Gov. Stone, of Mississippi, presided. Ex. Gov. Eagle, of Arkansas, was present as a delegate. Resolutions favoring an anti-option law were passed with only three dissenting votes. Such a vote from such a body of men representing a number of States ought to have an effect on Congress, and we do not doubt that it will. Gov. Stone, in his address to the Convention, advocated the establishment of small cotton factories in the towns and villages all over the South.

The Convention effected a permanent organization to be known as "The American Cotton Growers' Protective Association." Branches of the association are to be organized in every community, and the organization is to be complete only when seventy-five per cent. of the cotton growers in eighty per cent. of the cotton counties have been admitted to membership. Every planter wishing to become a member must take an obligation that he will not plant in cotton during the year 1895 more than seventy-five per cent. of the number of acres planted during the year 1894. There are to be no salaried officers; but provision is made for the payment of expenses necessarily incurred in the discharge of official duty. The membership fee is two cents for each acre of land planted in cotton in 1894.

An appeal is made to planters to adopt the policy of diversifying crops as much as possible. Corn, peas, potatoes and cane are specifically mentioned as profitable crops for this section. The raising of stock, especially hogs, is commended. The establishment of additional cotton factories in the South is strongly urged.

We think the Convention wrought wisely. If the planters will at once join the organization and carry out its recommendations, a new era will dawn upon the South. But the success of the movement will depend upon the farmers themselves. If they hold back, and do not go into the organization, then the Convention's work all goes for nothing. To us it seems that the cotton planters ought to need no urging in this matter. The present price of cotton is all the argument that is needed. We shall await developments with interest.

It was announced on Jan. 15 that M. Casimir-Perier, President of the French Republic, had resigned his office.

Logic! Charity! Modesty!

In one of his recent editorials Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2 has shown himself to be the great of the age. Having made the assertion that the Southern Methodist Church is dominated by rings similar to those infamous rings which have been proved to exist in the political world, and having been challenged to prove his assertion, he does so in the following words:

MASTER LOGICIAN

"Come to Georgia and see our Atlanta ring, and see if the circle is not complete and the ring is not round. . . . Take some of the appointments in the North Georgia Conference and say there is no combination, and you will say that some men are powerful lucky."

That is as clear as a sunbeam. If there are appointments made in the North Georgia Conference that do not meet the approval of Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2, then, of course, there is a ring at work—a ring as rotten as Tammany.

In order that the full force of this admirable logic may appear let us throw it into the form of a syllogism, thus:

Major Premise—If any preacher in any Conference gets a better appointment than I think he deserves, that appointment must have been made as the result of the machinations of a ring.

Minor Premise—Some preachers in the North Georgia Conference got better appointments than I think they deserve.

Conclusion—Therefore, there is a ring in the North Georgia Conference.

The genius that is competent to the task of constructing that major premise has no peer in the annals of the world as a logician. The shades of Whateley and Aristotle will henceforth hide their diminished heads. Vanderbilt University ought at once to secure him at any cost to fill the chair of Logic.

But remarkable as these utterances are for the exhibition they make of logical acumen, they exhibit in a still more striking manner several moral traits. Where, for instance, can be found a sublimer display of than is here brought to light. There are twelve presiding elders, if we mistake not, in the North Georgia Conference. Among them are several men who are widely known throughout the connection as men of sterling integrity. Others not so extensively known are no less highly esteemed within the circle of their acquaintance. Now, an ordinary Christian would think it highly improper to make a charge through the public prints that there is among these men a ring as rotten as the rings that have brought disgrace upon American politics. Not so, however, with Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2. His charity is so profound that it impels him to proclaim to the world that there is rottenness hidden away in the North Georgia cabinet. He knows it to be so because there are some appointments made in the North Georgia Conference that are not according to his taste. This is the superlative degree of heaven-born charity, the ne plus ultra of the love that thinketh no evil.

CHARITY

Another very commendable trait of character is here brought out in a most striking manner, viz.,

MODESTY.

When the appointments have been made at an Annual Conference, a man of only ordinary attainments in the way of modesty, in case some of the appointments are a little surprising to him, says to himself: "Those who make the appointments have given much more time to a study of this matter than I have. Therefore, whatever doubts I may entertain, I will either keep them to myself or else speak of them only in the circle of my personal friendships." Not so, however, with that incarnation of modesty, Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2. He is sure that he knows more about the fitness of particular men for particular places without any special investigation than any Bishop assisted by a dozen presiding elders can possibly learn after any amount of investigation. So he at once sets the printers of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2 to work to let the world know what egregious blunders have been made by the poor, stupid Bishop and his still more stupid cabinet. The principle which guides his pen on this subject may be stated thus:

If any Bishop shall dare to make appointments which do not approve, then

I

I

will denounce him just as my fancy may dictate.

Whereunto shall we liken this unprecedented modesty, this marvelous humility. We are forcibly reminded of a remark made by a distinguished jurist concerning a certain individual whose humility (?) he wished to compliment—that he was "just waiting for a vacancy in the Trinity."

Lawlessness Denounced from the Pulpit.

Yesterday, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, on the occasion of the funeral services over James Cooke, who was killed in a fight in a bar room on Saturday night last, Rev. Father Nugent, the officiating priest, uttered from the pulpit a bitter and scathing denunciation of the criminal practices of carrying concealed, upon the person, deadly weapons, and of congregating in bar rooms on Saturday and Sunday nights to engage in drunken debauchery.

It is not too soon that the pulpit is exercising its influence and raising its voice against crime and social lawlessness. All civil and political power is in the people. If they approve or excuse lawless practices, how can there be any punishment of criminals? Public opinion is growing too lax on this subject, and it must be strengthened and braced up. Many violations of the plainest laws are witnessed with indifference where they ought to be rebuked in the sternest manner. All this must be changed. It is not enough that the press is aroused to the seriousness of the situation. Not only must it do its full duty in awakening public opinion, but the pulpit should also cry aloud and spare not. It is full time, in this year of 1895 and in this goodly city, that a beginning should be made.

The above from the Picayune, of recent date, sounds a little queerly to Protestant ears. So far as the practice of carrying concealed weapons is concerned, all good Protestants will wish the reverend father success in his crusade; but that "bitter and scathing denunciation of congregating in bar rooms on Saturday and Sunday nights" is a little too much for Protestant risibles. It is a fair inference from the above that it is perfectly legitimate in the eyes of the Holy Roman Church for people to congregate in a barroom provided they do it at some other time than "on Saturday night or Sunday." The offense is not in the act, but in the time of its performance. Now, Protestants are accustomed to hear fulminations from the pulpit against going to the bar room at all—Saturday, Sunday, or any other day. Yea, they are accustomed to hear scathing denunciations of the saloon itself as the vilest infamy of modern civilization.

Father Nugent is not the only Romish ecclesiastic who doubts the propriety of selling whisky on SUNDAY. One of the items in the famous pronunciamento of Bishop Waterson from which an appeal was taken to Satolli was a denial of the sacraments of the church to a member who runs a saloon on Sunday. A man may run his crime-factory up to midnight on Saturday, and he may begin again early Monday morning, and still be a good Catholic, worthy to partake of the sacraments of the church. And this sort of stuff is what all newspaperdom has been gabbling about as a great reform. Protestants can hardly keep their faces straight as they read.

But let us not be impatient. If Rome signalizes the year 1895 by a crusade against "congregating in bar rooms on Saturday night and Sunday," perhaps by the year 3895 she may actually begin to suspect that the saloon is not a means of grace on other days. Let us give her credit for progress, however small it may be.

Suicide Statistics.

The number of suicides in the United States during the last five years is as follows: '89, 2,224; '90, 2,640; '91, 3,331; '92, 3,860; '93, 4,436; '94, 4,912. By inspecting these figures it will be seen that there has been a steady increase year by year during this period. The list has more than doubled in five years. These figures are appalling. Just think of it. Thirteen persons committed suicide every day during the year 1894. What is the cause of this appalling increase of the crime of self-murder? We verily believe that the main cause has not been tabulated, and is not likely to be very soon. Setting aside the cases caused by insanity and alcohol, we believe, as we have already stated in these columns, that the most prolific source of this species of crime is Ingersollism. Infidel literature in multitudinous forms is widely disseminated, with an increase of suicide, to say nothing of other crimes, as its legitimate fruitage. Propagate infidelity and you propagate crime.

We again say to parents that they can not exercise too rigid an espionage over the literature that comes into their homes.

Morbus Sabbaticus.

Morbus Sabbaticus, or Sunday sickness, is a disease peculiar to church members. The attack comes on suddenly every Sunday; no symptoms are felt on Saturday night; the patient sleeps well and wakes feeling well; eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on, and continues until services are over for the morning. Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon he feels much better, and is able to take a walk, talk about politics, and read the Sunday papers; he eats a hearty supper, but about church time he has another attack and stays at home. He retires early, sleeps well, wakes up Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work, and does not have any symptoms of the disease until the following Sunday. The peculiar features are as follows:

1. It always attacks members of the church.
2. It never makes its appearance except on the Sabbath.
3. The symptoms vary, but it never interferes with the sleep or appetite.
4. It never lasts more than twenty-four hours.
5. It generally attacks the head of the family.
6. No physician is ever called.
7. It always proves fatal in the end—to the soul.
8. No remedy is known for it except prayer.
9. Religion is the only antidote.
10. It is becoming fearfully prevalent, and is sweeping thousands every year prematurely to destruction.

The above from one of our exchanges we hope will cause at least a few of those afflicted with this fearful malady to use the prescribed remedy. Still we do not hope for large results, for it is one of the striking characteristics of this disease that the patient has no desire to be cured.

A New Book.

DAILY MESSAGES FROM THE KING by His Messengers. Selected and arranged by S. R. Z. 18 mo, 354 pages. Price, $1. Marcus Ward & Co., New York.

From the preface, written by Margaret E. Sangster, we quote as follows:

"In these 'Daily Messages,' collected by a Daughter of the King—a young girl gathering these flowers of text, quotation, and song from old fields and new—there is much to feast the soul and please the heart. So much of the work of the King's Sons and Daughters is of necessity along lines of activity in philanthropic and Christian endeavor, that a little book which cultivates the mystical, brooding and devotional element has a niche awaiting it. Not all the messages here are from those who know the King, but all are alike instruments in an almighty hand."

This elegant little volume, finished in gilt, contains beautiful and appropriate quotations for each day in the year, and would make a handsome gift book.

The Magazine of Travel.

THE MAGAZINE OF TRAVEL. Monthly. Illustrated. The Magazine of Travel Publishing Co., E. H. Talbott, President and Manager. 10 Astor Place, New York.

We are in receipt of Vol. I., No. 1, of the above-named periodical. The scope of this new candidate for popular favor is given in the following announcement:

The Magazine of Travel announces itself as having a definite object in life. With its title as a text, it proposes to devote its pages almost entirely to the exploitation of travel and kindred interests. No subject offers more opportunity or material for literary treatment; few subjects combine as many elements of interest to so general a public. The magazine urges travel as an educational medium, and later will advance defined plans of specific education by travel. Papers on this subject will be published from time to time, always from the most competent authorities. The desire of the management is to produce a periodical which, like a good dinner, shall have its solid and serious dishes, its attractive entrees, not enough of sweets to impair digestion, and towards the end some material light and pleasant, with a sort of final pousse cafe of bright things from the pens of those who have a pretty wit; and so, in a way, having outlined the character of its enterprise, the Magazine of Travel offers its first number for discussion.

The first number reaches the standard presented in this announcement. It is full of good things. As this periodical has no competitor in its chosen field, we predict for it a large circulation. It is well printed on good paper and is handsomely illustrated. The aspiring young man who reads this magazine will find his horizon continually broadening.

NOTES.

During the session of the Florida Conference, last week, at Jacksonville, Rev. G. Taylor, a superannuate, fell dead on the street from heart disease.

***

We regret exceedingly to chronicle the destruction of Huntsville (Ala.) Female College by fire on the eighth. The dispatches report the loss as $45,000; insurance, $25,000. We think the loss is underestimated.

***

We have received letters from a number of brethren in the patronizing Conferences, giving us their heartiest endorsement in the work of defending the church against the assaults of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2.

***

Be sure to read the article on our first page from the Richmond Advocate about rings in the church. It is as good as if it had come from the pen of the editor of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE; and that is as high praise as we could bestow upon it.

When an editor feels called upon to say about as often as the moon changes that he is not in a bad humor, that he is not mad with anybody, that he loves everybody, that he never says spiteful things, people shake their heads, and ask, "Why is it thus?"

***

The Merrimac Mills, the largest cotton factory at Lowell, Mass., has decided to move to the South. This is the third large factory in Lowell that has joined in this Southward exodus. These say that they can reduce their expenses about twenty-five per cent. by coming South—an all-sufficient reason.

***

The newspapers tell a story of a son of Erin, named Michael Fernan, living at Elmira, N. Y. who has been asleep for six years. It is said that he has waked up only three times, and then only for a few minutes. Nourishment is administered without his knowledge or consent. Rip Van Winkle should look to his laurels.

***

Gov. Fishback, of Arkansas, has gone into the papers in advocacy of the policy of licensing houses of ill-fame. By so doing he has raised a storm about his ears. But for the fact that his term of office expires in a few days, it is probable that mass meetings would be held for the purpose of demanding his resignation. So the newspapers say.

***

The town of Keatchie, La., has voted out the liquor traffic by a vote of 120 to 3. Prohibition is making rapid strides in North Louisiana, where Protestantism is the dominant religious force; but in South Louisiana, where Rome holds sway, it is different. South Louisiana will have a chance to throttle the liquor traffic when it dethrones Rome—not sooner.

***

The manufacturing development of the South is marvelous to one who looks at the facts and figures. Take cotton for an illustration. In a single decade—from 1880 to 1890—the capital invested in this single industry in the Southern States increased from $21,000,000 to $97,000,000; and the establishments now under construction will in a few months swell this amount to $108,000,000.

***

According to the census of 1890 the United States is the richest country in the world. Its per capita wealth is exceeded by only two countries, Great Britain and France, and France's excess is so small that the two may be considered as equal. Moreover, the United States is growing in wealth at a rate that has no parallel among the nations. "He hath not dealt so with any nation."

***

Notwithstanding the sectional acerbities developed in the realm of politics, there is after all a substratum of genuine fraternal feeling among the citizens of different sections of this great republic. When the South is stricken by pestilence, her appeals for help meet a generous response in every quarter. Let gaunt famine stalk through any section, leaving behind her a trail of woe, and at once all sections vie with each other in an effort to afford relief. A gratifying instance of this sort of generosity is furnished by this city, which has recently forwarded a train load of provisions to the starving farmers of Nebraska.

***

The death rate in New Orleans for the two weeks ending Jan. 5 was nearly 4½ per cent. This is more than double the average mortality for this city, and is not very far below that of an ordinary epidemic. The increase is doubtless attributable to the severe Winter weather of the past few days. Freezing weather is very unusual in New Orleans, and the poorer classes are not prepared for it either in their houses or their clothing. This, with an insufficient supply of fuel, has caused pneumonia to rage with fearful fatality. The mortality has been greatest among the colored people. During the week ending Jan. 5 the mortality among the colored people looked only a very small fraction of being six and a half per cent. This death rate is not often surpassed during epidemic years.

***

The United States census shows that the percentage of crime is much less among the white people of the South than among those in the country at large. In other words, the South, leaving the negro element out of the account, is far more law-abiding than any other section. These are not figures gotten up by the South in its own interest. The United States government prepares separate statistics of crime among the two races for the express purpose of ascertaining whether there are racial differences in this respect. These carefully prepared governmental statistics vindicate the South against the charge of lawlessness which is continually made in the newspapers of the North. While all this is true, it is also true that the South, as well as other sections, needs to repent in sack-cloth and ashes before God on account of her deeds of high-handed crime.

CHOICE ROSES AT 5 Cents

OUR RAINBOW COLLECTION OF 20 ROSES FOR $1. PREPAID BY MAIL

The Roses we send are on their own roots, from 10 to 15 inches high, and will bloom freely this Summer, either in pots or planted in yard. They are hardy ever bloomers. Please examine the below list of 20 choice fragrant monthly Roses, and see if you can duplicate them anywhere for an amount so small as $1. They are nearly all new kinds. We guarantee them to reach you in good condition, AND WE ALSO GUARANTEE THEM TO BE THE BEST DOLLAR'S WORTH OF ROSES YOU EVER PURCHASED.

LIST:—Champion of the World, brightest pink, the best rose ever introduced. Henry M. Stanley, apricot yellow, very fragrant. Pearl of the Gardens, deep golden yellow. Bridesmaid, rich pink, nona better. The Queen, pure white, always in bloom. Christine de Noue, rich maroon and deliciously sweet. Princess of Wales, amber yellow, deepening to orange. Rhelogold, beautiful shades of saffron and tan. Star of Gold, the queen of all yellow roses. Wabac, a great rose, in bloom all the time. Golden Gate, creamy white and old gold. Francisca Kruger, coppery yellow and peach. The Bride, the loveliest of all white roses. Queen's Scarlet, richest dark velvety rose. Princess Beatrice, canary yellow, edged bright rose. Etoile de Lyon, richest deep sulphur yellow. Souvenir of Wooton, richest crimson in clusters. Catherine Mermet, everybody's favorite. Mad. Camille, beautiful salmon and rosy flesh. Md. Caroline Testout, large handsome flowers of glowing pink.

We will also send our Iron Clad Collection of 14 Hardy Roses, all different colors, $1. Try a set. 20 Chrysanthemums, all prize winners, $1. 16 Geraniums, double and single, flowered and scented, $1. 15 choice Begonias, different, $1. 40 packets choice Flower Seeds, all different kinds, $1. Our handsome, illustrated Catalogue, giving above Roses, Plants and all Seeds, mailed for 10 cts. stamps. Don't place your order before seeing our list. WE CAN SAVE YOU MONEY. We have large two year old roses for immediate effect. Liberal to club raisers, or how to get your seeds and plants free. We are the LARGEST ROSE GROWERS IN THE WORLD. Our sales of Rose Plants alone last season exceeded a million and a half. When you order Plants and Seeds, you want the very best.—Try us. Address,

GOOD & REESE CO., Box 93 Champion City Greenhouses, Springfield, Ohio.

Mention this paper.

PERSONALS.

The postoffice of Rev. J. D. Harper, presiding elder of Arcadia district, Louisiana Conference, is Homer, La.

Rev. W. H. Huntley has been appointed by Bishop Keener to Waynesboro station, made vacant by the death of Rev. D. A. Little.

Rev. C. M. Lyons, the new pastor at Louisiana Avenue, begins his pastorate auspiciously. The indications are that he will have a decidedly prosperous year.

Hon. Charles Gayarre, the famous jurist and historian, celebrated his ninety-first birthday on Wednesday, Jan. 9. He is held in high esteem by the people of New Orleans.

Mrs. S. Bilden, a Jewess, has been lecturing in the Jewish synagogues of this city, having previously lectured in various other American cities, in the interest of an Orphan's Home which she has founded in Palestine. She commanded large audiences, and created much interest in her work. She has been doing benevolent work in Palestine on a large scale.

Mrs. M. M. Snell is holding a series of gospel temperance meetings at St. Charles Avenue M. E. Church, corner St. Charles and Calliope streets. Services are held each day at 10:30 A. M. and at 7.30 P. M. We know of no place in the South that is in greater need of temperance work than this city. Mrs. Snell is a woman of remarkable gifts, and it is to be hoped that the seed she sows will produce abundant fruitage.

Rev. D. A Little.

A PLEA FOR HELP.

The family of our deceased brother is without a home or means of subsistence, as I learn from reliable authority. To relieve the present distress I will contribute five dollars within thirty days. I hope many ministers and laymen of the Mississippi Conference who knew and loved Bro. Little will come to the rescue in this time of need. Rev. H. M. Ellis, P. C., at Port Gibson, Miss., will no doubt gladly receive and pay over contributions to Sister Little, who for the present resides there.

D. G. W. Ellis.

Daleville, Miss., Jan. 15, 1895.

[The New Orleans Advocate responds heartily to Bro. Ellis' proposition.—Editor.]

Important Notice.

To the Members of the North Mississippi Conference Brotherhood:

At our last meeting held at Meridian, Miss., during Conference, your treasurer was instructed to call your attention to the following clause in our By-Laws: "Any member suspended for non payment of dues, or mortuary fees, may be restored, etc."

This makes the non-payment of the annual dues of ten cents forfeit membership in the Brotherhood. At the last meeting only about half the members paid annual dues. The brethren who failed to make this payment of ten cents will please forward same to me at this place.

Yours in Christ,

(Rev.) B. F. Lewis, Tr.

Woodville, Miss.

Notice.

The following are the Committees of Examination for the Shreveport district:

For Admission on Trial—J. M. Brown, W. F. Henderson, J. B. Williams. For Deacon's Orders—N. S. Cornell, W. H. Hill, P. M. Brown. For Elder's Orders—W. H. LaPrade, B. F. Crews, S. S. Holladay.

Let all applicants meet their respective committees at the District Conference, thoroughly prepared for Examination on the prescribed course of study. J. L. P. Sheppard, P. E.

If you need a good medicine to purify your blood, give nerve strength and build up your entire system, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It prevents sickness by making pure blood.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sick headache, indigestion and biliousness. 25 cents.

Ministerial Educational Association of the Louisiana Conference.

I desire to call attention to the fact that, during the recent session of the Louisiana Conference, a movement was inaugurated by some of its members that ought to commend itself to the favorable attention of all friends of Christian education, and that ought to enlist their support. This movement was the organization of a society to be known as the Ministerial Educational Association of the Louisiana Conference, and the object of which shall be to assist deserving ministers who reside within our Conference bounds in obtaining a collegiate education. Funds are to be regularly secured through membership dues of five dollars per annum to be paid by the first of September of each year; and the association shall also have power to acquire funds by special efforts, and by receiving donations, bequests, etc. The dues and other resources of the association shall constitute a fund which shall be loaned in amounts not to exceed one hundred dollars a year to young ministers who shall be carefully selected by an Executive Committee elected for this purpose; and each beneficiary must have received the endorsement of his pastor and presiding elder, and must have been specially recommended by the District Conference of which he is a member. The money so disbursed will be due within one year after the beneficiary leaves college, and shall thereafter bear six per cent. interest.

Any minister, either in full connection or on trial, in the Louisiana Conference is eligible to active membership, and any other person who will pay the annual dues is eligible to honorary membership.

The above is a general statement of the plan of the organization. The president of Centenary College heartily endorses it, and thinks that it will be productive of much good if it is properly supported.

The association was organized with twenty names enrolled as members, already enough to justify the selection of one beneficiary by the opening of college in the Fall.

The following were elected officers: Rev. John F. Foster, president; Rev. W. W. Drake, vice-president; Rev. R. H. Wynn, secretary; Rev. Fitzgerald S. Parker, treasurer; Rev. J. M. Henry, Rev. W. H. LaPrade and Rev. W. Sohuhle, Executive Committee.

I will be glad to correspond with anyone who desires to become a member of the organization, or who wishes further information concerning it.

Rev. W. W. Drake and Rev. W. Sohuhle were appointed as solicitors for membership, and I would suggest that the president increase the number of solicitors by appointing one from each presiding elder's district.

Money for dues should be sent to Rev. F. S. Parker, corner Calhoun and Garfield streets, New Orleans.

Robert H. Wynn, Sec'y.

Tried! Proved! Valued!

When your throbbing head says head-ache, don't wait until your nerves are all in a jangle; but use PRESTON'S HED-AKE which cures in 15 minutes. No Cure! No Pay!

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

Help Wanted.

Our Bro. Mellard has had the misfortune of losing his horse; this being the second horse that has died for him during the three years serving this charge. The circuit is poor and scarcely gives a support to its pastor, and Bro. Mellard is unable to buy a third horse. Will not the friends who read this send us a contribution to provide our preacher with a horse? Send money to Dr. C. B. Holmes, Palmetto Home, Miss.

E. G. Dunn,
J. B. Dunn.

Whitworth College.

One hundred and twenty pupils given free tuition. Write for particulars. Second half term opens Jan. 29. Carl Faelten, Director of the N. E. Conservatory, will be with us in February. Advantages unexcelled.

Rev. John W. Chambers, Pres.

Dr. George W. Rembert.

Dr. George W. Rembert, of Natchez, Miss., one of the leading dentists of that State, has removed to this city, and opened an office in the Godchaux Building, on Canal street. Having known Dr. Rembert intimately for fifteen years, and having been his pastor for four years, we can speak from personal knowledge as to his character and professional skill. As a dentist, we do not believe that he has a superior in the land. He is, moreover, a high-toned, honorable Christian gentleman. We know of no man who is more thoroughly reliable or who has a keener sense of honor. We most heartily endorse every word that is said of him, personally and professionally, in the following letter of Rev. W. B. Lewis, pastor of Jefferson Street Church, Natchez, Miss.:

Natchez, Miss., Dec. 5, 1894.

Dr. G. W. Rembert—

My Dear Friend and Brother: It is with deep regret that I have learned of your contemplated removal from Natchez to New Orleans. While it is natural for a man of your abilities to seek a broader field in which to practice your profession, yet the loss of such a man as you from our community will be none the less deplored. I have known you long and well, and have reason to esteem you highly as a gentleman, and as a dentist skilled in your profession. For many years our relations have been of the most cordial and pleasant nature; but for the past two years, in which I have been for the second time your pastor, these relations have grown more tender, until I contemplate our separation with genuine sorrow. During all these years your deportment has been that of a high-toned Christian gentleman. To me you have been a faithful friend, and I shall ever hold you in remembrance as a brother beloved, in whom implicit confidence may be safely reposed under all circumstances.

I feel it my duty, and it is my pleasure as well, to say further that I regard you as second to none in your profession. Having had much of your practice in my family, I feel prepared to say this. Your work for me and for the several members of my household has always been of the very highest order of proficiency. I am sure that your talents, energy and moral worth will put you at the head of your profession in any place you may locate.

Yours very truly,

W. B. Lewis,
Pastor Jefferson St. M. E. Church, South.

Bronchitis. Sudden changes of the weather cause Bronchial Troubles. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will give effective relief.

Epworth League.

By Rev. Henry H. Ahrens.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE PRIEST.

(Exodus xxviii, 1; Heb. v, 1-5.)

1. The priesthood is of divine appointment. God provided for its institution and perpetuation.

(1) All priests were Levites, though not all Levites were priests.

(2) The office was hereditary. After Aaron and his sons, their male progeny had a birthright to the priesthood.

(3) The male descendants of the female line of Levi held the inferior office of Levite. They led in song, taught, assisted the priests in various ways.

(4) Though men of superior sanctity, marriage, home life, and private property were not denied them.

(5) Were highly respected. Insulting them was deemed tantamount to insulting God.

(6) Originally, the office of high priest secured life tenure to the incumbent. Subsequently, when the office was given to the highest bidder, frequent elections took place. Thus it happened that there were ex-high priests.

2. In the Christian church Christ is the only and true priest. He "is a priest forever after the order of Melchisedek."

(1) As a priest he gave himself, the just for the unjust. The Lamb of God. Typified by Abraham's attempt to offer up Isaac, his son.

(2) As a priest he ever liveth and maketh intercession for us.

"Five bleeding wounds he bears,
Received on Calvary.
They pour effectual pray'r,
They loudly plead for me.
Forgive him, O, forgive, they cry,
Nor let a ransom'd sinner die."

3. All true Christians are, in a certain sense, priests. Are called kings and priests.

(1) Adoring, praising God, our offering is received only when presented in the name of Christ. In the name of Christ means, because of Christ's sacrificial death.

(2) Offering thanks, the same intervention is necessary.

(3) Making known our petitions to God, we have no right to expect our prayer to be heard or answered unless we present at the same time the blood of Christ—pray for Christ's sake.

(4) In intercession the same condition obtains.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home with out pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

Premium Offer Extraordinary.

We are still handling the Epworth pianos and organs. We sell these instruments under a guarantee. We have one of the pianos in use in our own home, and a superb instrument it is. We will sell any instrument in the catalogue for cash at thirty-three and a third per cent. discount from catalogue prices. Or we will sell at the catalogue price, and take payment in subscriptions to the Advocate, giving a commission of one dollar on each new subscription. Send for catalogue. Address

Rev. W. C. Black,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. No Postals Answered. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Any preacher who is desirous of supplementing his salary by taking a job as "nice and clane and airy" as a Bishop's job is in Pat's estimation, will find it to his interest to communicate with the undersigned. The earlier the better. W. C. Black,
112 Camp St. New Orleans, La.

You Dye in 30 minutes Our turkey red dye on cotton won't fade, boil or wash out—all others will. Tonk's French Dyes are different from others. Just the thing for hard times. Make the carpets, dresses, capes and clothing as bright and attractive as new. Anyone can do it. No misses if you have Tonk's. Try them and see. Send 40c for 10 pkgs. or 15c. for one; any color. Big pay for agents. Write quick. Mention this paper. FRENCH DYE CO., Vassar, Mich.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

Linden, Ala.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. Walston.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Dr. George W. Rembert,

DENTIST,

Godchaux Building, New Orleans.
Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

☞Take elevator on Canal street.

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES.

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enameline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

I. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING,
MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS of MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,
SHADES,
Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,
LIMITED,
518 and 520 CAMP ST.
Telephone 139.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,						$84,520,880
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	"	40,684,163
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	"	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above.

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GEORGE C. LOGAN, Agent,

COAL AND COKE.

No. 410 BARONNE STREET,
Telephone 1283. Bet. Poydras and Perdido, New Orleans.
ont jan26

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 331.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY,.....Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.
ut1jan27

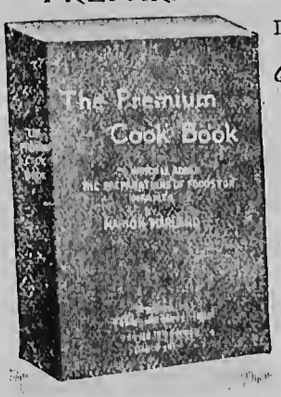
PREMIUM COOK BOOK.

FOR ALL HOUSEKEEPERS.

TO WHICH IS ADDED

PREPARATION OF FOODS FOR INFANTS,

By Marion Harland



1 Vol., 16mo, 300 Pages, Paper Cover.

A BOOK like this is the Housekeeper's Best Friend, saving her an incalculable amount of worry and anxiety, and standing in the stead of years of practical experience. The recipes and instructions are a staple help to the needs and means of an every-day American family, and will not either disappoint a housekeeper by suggesting an interminable line of too expensive dishes, or puzzle her by the employment of foreign or technical terms.

This Work is a Veritable ENCYCLOPEDIA, Containing 1000 Practical Recipes which always come out right.

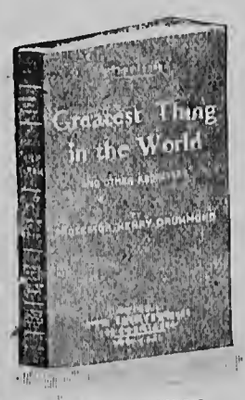
42	recipes for Soups,	30	recipes for Sauces,	30	recipes for Invalid Diet,
59	" Fish,	75	" Vegetables,	26	" Cooking Eggs,
100	" Meats,	116	" Puddings,	150	" Bread & Biscuits,
25	" Game,	45	" Pastry,	41	" Custard & Cream,
40	" Poultry,	101	" Cakes,	15	" Canned Fruits,
23	" Salads,	76	" Pickles,			etc.

50 recipes for Fruits, Jellies, Jams, Candies, etc.

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to February, '96. This offer is not open to any subscriber who has already had the benefit of any previous offer. We will also furnish this work, bound in cloth, to any new subscriber for twenty-five cents in addition to the subscription price of the Advocate. Same price to old subscribers, provided they pay to February, '96. Address

Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

DRUMMOND'S ADDRESSES.



ENAMEL PAPER COVERS.

The Greatest Thing in the World and Other Addresses.

By Professor Henry Drummond.

We know of no addresses more suited to the religious spirit of the time than those of the thoughtful author of "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." They contain no toleration of blind and rash unbelief; on the contrary, the writer is one of the most helpful and suggestive of the modern school of Christian apologists. He takes his stand on a very broad basis and expounds, earnestly yet logically, the great truths of religion.

1 VOL. 16mo. LARGE TYPE, 245 PAGES.

These Charming Addresses have been called for by the reading public to such an extent that more than 150,000 copies have been published.

THE VOLUME CONTAINS:

The Greatest Thing in the World—Pax Vobiscum—The Changed Life—"First"—How to Learn How—What is a Christian?—The Study of the Bible and A Talk on Books.

Publisher's price, twenty five cents. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who will pay his subscription to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. For fifteen cents additional we will send a neat cloth-bound edition. Address

Rev. W. C. Black, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Dealers do not take enough pains to sell the right chimneys for lamps. Get the "Index to Chimneys"—free. Write Geo. A. Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa. maker of "pearl glass" and "pearl top."

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it; if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO. 26-28 N. William St. New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

Note. Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 5000 MORE BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

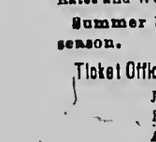
Our Journey Around THE World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. ☞ The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. One sold 200 in his own township; another, a lady, 58 in one Endeavor Society; another, 182 in 15 days—all are making money. 75th thousand. Now is the time. ☞ Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write at once for Circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.



CARRIAGES Buggies & Harness.

"A Grade, $60. Two highest awards at World's Fair for Strength, Beauty and Low Prices. Six years ago we discarded the Dealer and began selling direct to Consumers at wholesale prices. Result: upward of 100,000 Vehicles sold and our factory now the largest on earth, dealing direct with consumers. Send for our mammoth 125 page Illustrated free catalogue

"A Grade, $65.50,

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O

BURPEE'S BRIGHT RED BOOK

"Bright alike outside and inside." Mailed FREE on application. With each copy we will send (late) a beautiful painting of New Sweet Peas until the 50,000 have all been called for. Send a postal to-day.

W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Philada.

CONSUMPTION

To THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for this disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. So certain am I of its power that I feel it my religious duty to send two bottles free to any having lung troubles or consumption if they will send me their express and P. O. address. T. A. Sloeum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive:
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Known Everywhere Sold Everywhere. Grown Everywhere.

FERRY'S SEEDS

Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895.

D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS

PUREST BELL METAL, COPPER AND TIN. Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

Water.

An extract from a lecture delivered in Carondelet Street Church by Dr. L. Sexton, a distinguished professor of the Tulane Medical College, in response to an invitation from the Woman's Home Mission and Parsonage Society:

The chief sources of the water supply in New Orleans are cisterns and the Mississippi river and artesian wells. The cistern has its advantages, for sunlight and air coming in constant contact with the water, purify it. On the other hand, there are various sources of contamination which counteract these advantages of sunlight and air. The cisterns are filled mainly by the gutter pipes running around the roofs of the houses; enormous clouds of dust are constantly settling on these roofs, carrying all the impurities from the street below and the ground. The roofs are never cleaned, and when the rain comes all this agglomeration of filth and dust is washed into the gutters connected with the cisterns, and settles at the bottom of the cisterns, rendering the water impure and a prolific source of germs of disease. The river water is even worse, for the refuse of the country is dumped into the river. Chicago gets its water supply from the great lakes, and on account of the sewerage, it was found necessary to extend the water supply connections five miles out into the great lakes. The same difficulty exists in London, Paris, New York and all great cities, so New Orleans is not alone in the vexatious problem of how to obtain pure water for drinking purposes.

The Mississippi river is the sewer of the nation. Dead carcasses and other impure matter are dumped into it from the source to its mouth, and we in New Orleans get the full benefit of the accumulated filth. Another element which bears weight in New Orleans at this season is that the river is low, the tide is borne inward instead of out, and the tides and eddies form a counter-current coming from the gulf, bringing to use the refuse of the slaughter-house. The water is more brackish at this season than is supposed, and screwmen, longshoremen and other laboring men have been made sick, the result of the tide bringing up impure water from the slaughter-house. Our water is also contaminated by gasses. The cisterns are all located at the wrong sides or ends of the houses. It is best to filter and boil the water you drink. When you use a filter it rids the water of those pathegenic germs that produce disease. Some of these germs are 1-2500 of an inch in diameter, and the finest pores in the filter let in ten or twelve at a time. Under a microscope thousands of these germs, produced by infusion, may be seen. Water should be boiled or distilled in addition to being filtered. Distilled water is first converted into steam and then recondensed. It is possible for every household to have pure water. Every large range is furnished with a reservoir at the back. The capacity of these reservoirs might be doubled, but care must be taken not to have soldered joints in the vessels, for these admit lead poison, while the hot water kills the germs. Lead poison is as dangerous as germs.

Water contaminates the milk we drink. Quite a number of diseases, traced to impure milk as a source, really are caused by the vessel in which the milk is placed having been washed in impure water. To purify river water, to one gallon of water add one or two grains of alum. This causes the mud, or silt, to settle and makes the water clear. Two or three grains of alum to the gallon is a good measure. For water contaminated by lead, a little bicarbonate of soda (the ordinary cooking soda) will suffice to counteract the effect. Lead poisoning is quickly recognized by the physician by a blue line around the gums. Water standing in lead pipes should always be drawn out of the pipe after standing all night. After it is let out, the running water may be safely used.

The great value of mineral waters consist in the quantity that one drinks. These mineral waters claim to cure Bright's disease, stone in the bladder, etc. Bright's disease he characterized as consumption of the kidneys; it is an insult to an intelligent person to tell him that the kidneys may be rejuvenated when afflicted with Bright's disease. No mineral water can make a new set of kidneys. Yet mineral waters are of positive value in some cases. If a patient suffering from kidney troubles sends for a physician he tells the patient to drink plenty of water. The latter gets angry and sends for another physician, and yet the doctor was perfectly right in prescribing plenty of water. The kidneys are made up of a set of tubes; the tubes become clogged, and the free use of water is just like turning on the plug in the gutters; it frees the tubes from impurities—in other words, it washes them out. I prescribe mineral waters because I know that if I merely say drink pure water and plenty of it, the patient pays no attention; but if a water is prescribed that has a flaming advertisement at its side and warranted to cure all these diseases, it will be readily imbibed, and freely. Filtered water would have the same effect in most cases, properly boiled, but Bright's disease often has a dropsical tendency, and the patient says he is already full of water and hoots the idea of taking in more.

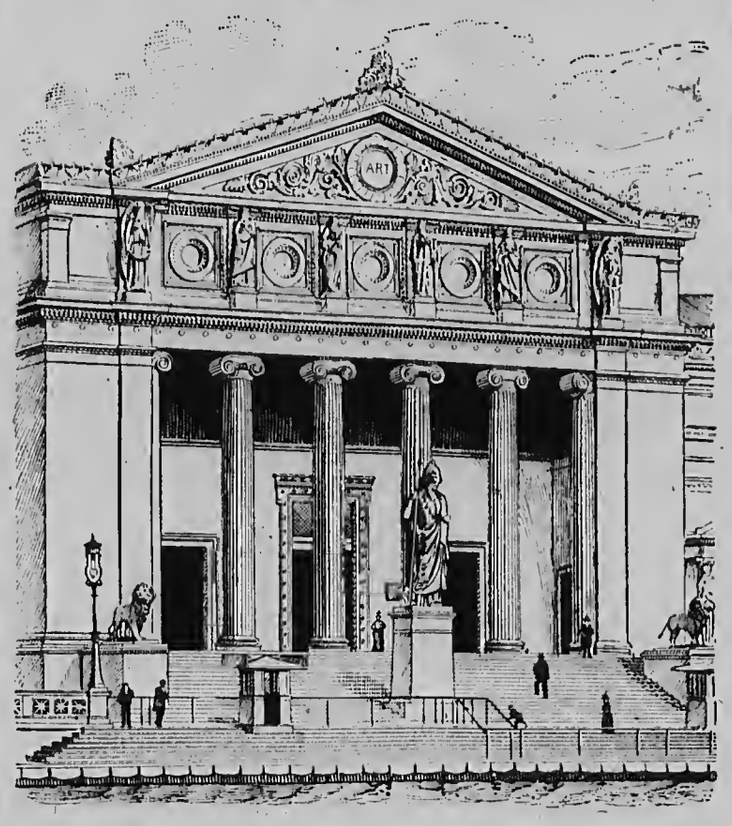
Water is very often as good as any remedy that a physician could prescribe. Russian baths are advantageous in boiling mercurial and lead poison out of the system. The humblest cottage can have the advantage of a Russian bath, by placing the patient in a perforated chair, covering him with a blanket, having a tea kettle at the side connected by a tube and steaming the patient. In all dropsical cases the poison may be sweated out or boiled out. The steam bath may be also taken with an ordinary alcohol lamp; lime water creates a vapor and can be used by those who fear that the alcohol lamp may ignite. The bath that does the most good in fevers is the cold, wet pack. A temperature of 104 degrees may be reduced by applying cold water.

The doctor entered into a description of the methods pursued at the Johns Hopkins University, where cold water is freely used in the treatment of typhoid fevers. New Orleans is prejudiced against the cold water treatment, the Creoles especially preferring the use of the hot orange leaf tea-plan for treating fevers. Hands are raised in holy horror at the pouring of a pitcher of cold water on the head of a fever patient. At the Johns Hopkins University there were forty cases of typhoid fever; thirty patients had the fever thirty days and only two died out of thirty. He wondered what would be thought when that record would be known in New Orleans. They have a method of rolling bathtubs which are long enough for a patient to lie in. If the temperature rises to 103 degrees, the cold water brings it down to 98½. The patient is laid on strips of cotton stretched across the tubs and gradually cooled down until his skin, lips and fingers are blue. He told the attending physicians if a typhoid fever case were treated thus in some New Orleans families he would get a mob after him. It is the long, slow fever in typhoid fever that wears out the system. The disease, like many others, is produced by impure water.

The doctor defined the cold water pack and its application. He advocated a single bed, a hard mattress covered with an oil-cloth and a wet sheet. Wrap the fever patient in this and the temperature is reduced, for the frigid feeling is succeeded by a warm glow, the temperature is reduced and the patient thus made a long stride towards recovery. Some families in New Orleans would be startled by this treatment, but it is better than antipyrine or anti-febrine, which reduces the heat at the expense of the heart's action and blood changes. The douche treatment holds in Bavaria, and he dwelt an instant upon the cold water treatment of Father Kneipp, which is now almost a fad. Father Kneipp, he said, treats joints inflamed with rheumatism by making the patient walk in wet grass. He actually turns the hose on them. In his opinion a rheumatic patient was far better off in his room drinking hot tea.

Among other diseases that may be treated by cold water is tonsilitis. Many cases of follicular tonsilitis have recently been diagnosed as diphtheria, since the anti-toxine treatment came into vogue. We have no more diphtheria in New Orleans this Winter than we had ten years ago. But the papers have been full of serum and anti-toxine and diphtheria and every sore throat trouble is looked upon as a possible case of diphtheria, and many cases were diagnosed as such when they were simple follicular tonsilitis. Tonsilitis may be treated by drawing a wet cold towel around the throat, and drinking large quantities of water. Hot water is a good remedy as a morning drink in cases of dyspepsia, ridding the stomach of mucus that prevents digestion. Dysentery, cholera morbus and cholera infantum may also be produced by impure water. The question is often asked how do physicians and nurses go through epidemics without contracting disease. Simply by not drinking or eating anything that has been contaminated by the patient. Doctors have a theory that typhoid fever is infectious, not contagious. In conclusion, the doctor advocates a pure water supply by means of a company which would tap the Tchefuncta river, or some spring across the lake, and bring the waters of that pure stream to this city, for water is always purer from healthy country places than the river water that runs by a city. It would cost money, but it would pay, in the end, in the good health of the community. He thought that the cistern capacity of every house should be doubled by law and each house have a cut-off water supply, so that polluted water running from the roofs of houses, after rains, could be allowed to run off and a pure supply remain in the cistern. In fine, he advocated a plan that all river water should be purified with alum, filtered and boiled, before drinking.—Picayune.

A Temple of Art.



Not for a Day but for all Time.

Memories of the White City are fading—all but one. Majestic in its beauty the Palace of Art survives to remind man kind of wonders departed. Triumphant over fire and tempest the stately structure stands beside the lake dedicated forever to the service of the people. As a gallery of painting and sculpture it surprised and delighted the nations. As the Field's Columbian Museum it will entertain and instruct multitudes in the ages to come.

A World's Fair in miniature is the museum to-day. While it lasts the public will have before them a vivid reminder of the greater exposition of 1893. It will bring back the vast panorama of splendid exhibits including the fine showing made by

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The analysis of Dr. Price's by government experts demonstrated its immeasurable superiority in leavening strength, purity and general excellence and gained for it the Highest Award at the Fair.

Courtesy to the Aged.

In these hurrying, money-making times, these days of social and mental advancement, our young people are rather apt to forget the courtesy and respect due to older persons. Progressive education is prone to place the children of to-day a step or two ahead of where grandma and grandpa left off, and they put on airs in consequence.

Now, this is all wrong. "Book learning" is not everything. The courtesy that springs from a kind heart is far more than the disagreeable showing off of superior knowledge that places the old people at a disadvantage, though to outsiders it is the young folks who appear the meaner of the two, with their flippant contradictions and their manner quite averse to that which we are taught was the correct one to employ toward our elders.

Old people are entitled to respect, if for nothing else than that they are veterans in the war of life, and as such to be regarded with reverence by the raw recruits who are just beginning their first skirmish. The deference due to gray hair is not sufficiently considered, and when one does come across a young man or girl who thinks it but natural to offer the best chair in the room to any one older than they are, who listens respectfully to words that may seem dull and prosy, yet merit attention because issuing from the lips of people of mature years, then onlookers say, "Those young people have been brought up as they should."

At any rate, whether good breeding, good sense or a kind heart prompts to these little attentions, it is always well to remember that we will some day be old ourselves, in which case we would appreciate the little spontaneous attentions that are given to day carelessly or grudgingly, or are forgotten entirely by the young people, who think that their up-to-date accomplishments cover up their derelictions in a matter so old-fashioned as showing the least deference to fossils whose opinions and manners belong to another age.—Exchange.

No wonder Dr. Wayland Hoyt was moved to exclaim, "If young people only knew the value of their youth!" He says: "A half hour each day steadily given to the vanquishing of some real books in history, science and literature is three hours a week, is more than twelve hours a month, is more than twelve solid days of twenty-four hours each year. What can not the busiest man accomplish by such seizures of fragments of time? Oh, if the young people only knew the culture possible for them by such simple means! And for evermore it is the man who knows who gets to be the human being who does, and to whom the chance for doing comes. Merely frittering newspaper and novel reading—a youthhood only devoted to that—how pitiably sad! No ship drifts into harbor. No young person drifts into an achieving manhood or womanhood.—Exchange.

CURES OTHERS

Mrs. WILLIAM ROBERTS, Bridgeport, N. Y. writes: "If I had not taken your Medicine, I would not be here now. The doctors did me no good, I was just a mere skeleton, could not eat, I would have awful pain in my stomach—pain in my side, bowels and chest; soreness in my back and womb; was weak, nervous, and could not sleep.

MRS. ROBERTS.

After I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I commenced to improve. In two weeks could walk about the house—could eat—did not have any more pain in my stomach—threw away my morphine powders. When I first commenced taking the medicine it made me feel worse. I was hoarse, could not speak aloud for three days; as I got better my pains and bad feelings left me and I could sleep good; my nerves got better. Before I took your medicine I kept my bed four months—got worse all the while. I am now quite fleshy and can work all day."

WHY NOT YOU?

H. P. BUCKLEY.

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES,

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas, DENVER, Colorado, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California, and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing

F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

MARRIAGES.

RAMSEY—MARTIN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Wm. Martin, Vaucleave, Miss., Jan. 3, 1895, by Rev. Geo. W. Huff, Mr. Lee Ramsey, of Mobile, Ala., to Miss Frances Martin, of Vaucleave, Miss.

KIDD—JACKSON.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Jackson, Mansfield, La., Jan. 1, 1895, by Rev. B. T. Crews, Mr. Seaborne A. Kidd, of Barbrick, La., to Miss Minnie D. Jackson, of Mansfield, La.

LANGLEY—BROWN.—At the residence of Mr. R R Ricks, near Mansfield, La., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. B. T. Crews, Mr. Eugene P. Langley to Miss Lizzie M. Brown, all of Mississippi.

BOWMAN—HOLLADAY.—At the Methodist Church, Pelican, La., Dec. 27, 1894, by Rev. B. T. Crews, Rev. H. W. Bowman, of the East Texas Conference, to Miss Mollie Holladay, daughter of the Rev. S. S. Holladay, of the Louisiana Conference.

WEBER—WILLIAMS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. B. T. Williams, near Mansfield, La., Jan. 1, 1895, by Rev. B. T. Crews, Mr. Charlie W. Weber to Miss Willie Williams.

CLAYTON—HEIDELBERG.—In the Methodist Church, Heidelberg, Miss., Dec. 25, 1894, by Rev. Frank M. Keen, Mr. R. P. Clayton to Miss Mattie A. Heidelberg.

ABNEY—HEIDELBERG.—At the residence of the bride's father, Hon. W. W. Heidelberg, near Heidelberg, Miss., by Rev. Frank M. Keen, Mr. S. W. Abney to Miss Adra A. Heidelberg.

MAGEE—STEWART.—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. Hulan Stewart, Jan. 3, 1895, by Rev. M. L. White, Mr. C. G. Magee to Miss Hattie Stewart, both of Mt. Carmel, Miss.

RABURN—WHITE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dec. 24, 1894, by Rev. T. L. Mellen, Mr. John Raburn, formerly of Hancock county, and Miss Lizzie White, of Wesson, Miss.

MORROW—CARNES.—At the residence of Mr. Geo. Brasfield, Jan. 2, 1895, by Rev. T. L Mellen, Mr. Jno. C. Morrow and Miss Neva R. Carnes, all of Wesson, Miss.

CHASTANG—BUNTYN.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Meridian, Miss., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. D. Scarborough, Mr. C. A. Chastang to Miss Annie Buntyn.

PREST—BARNES.—At the residence of the bride's parents, New Orleans, La., Dec. 11, 1894, by Rev. Robert H. Wynn, Mr. Robert Prest to Miss Emma Barnes.

HARRIS—DERBES.—At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. B. Solache, New Orleans, La., Dec. 27, 1894, by Rev. Robert H. Wynn, Mr. John A. Harris to Miss Emerita Derbes.

MAGRUDER—MILLER.—At Parker Chapel, New Orleans, La., Jan. 1, 1895, by Rev. Robert H. Wynn, Mr. Chas. G. Magruder to Miss Hattie A. Miller.

WHITEMAN—DECKER.—At the bride's home, near Jackson, La., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. H. E. Singleton, Miss Sallie Decker and Mr. W. T. Whiteman.

EDMONDSON—CRARY.—At the residence of Dr. Cook, Bovina, Miss., Nov. 20, 1894, by Rev. J. Cecil, Mr George W. Edmondson, of Russell, La., to Miss Clara C. Crary, niece of Mrs. J. Crary Sadler, Pearl River, La., the bride's former home.

SMILEY—COPES.—Near Abbeville, La., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev J. J Kelly, Mr. Edward Smiley to Miss Celia Copes of Mississippi.

JOHNSON—BOMAR.—At the bride's residence in Vermilion parish near Abbeville, La., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev. J. J Kelly, Mr. Roy L. Johnson, of Texas to Miss Maud Bomar

[illegible]—MORRIS.—At New Zion Baptist Church, St. Helena parish, La. Dec. 2, 1894 by Rev. N. J Roberts, Mr. B. T. Young to Mrs. Theo Reen Morris.

PETTIGREW—EASTERLY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Livingston parish, La. Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev N. J. Roberts Mr. G. W. Pettigrew to Miss Ruth Easterly.

TIDWELL—STRICKLAND.—At the residence of the bride Mrs. Rosa H Strickland St Helena parish, La., Dec. 21, 1894, by Rev. N. J. Roberts Mr. L. W. Tidwell to Mrs. Rosa H. Strickland

LINDSEY—THOMPSON.—At the residence of Mr. C. N Reeves, St. Helena parish La. Jan. 3, 1895, by Rev. N. J Roberts Mr. H W Lindsey to Miss Manlva Thompson.

OBITUARIES.

ALLEN.—Mrs. MARTHA A. ALLEN (nee Newsom), daughter of H. C. and Maria L. Newsom, was born Nov. 2, 1850, in St. Helena parish, and died May 8, 1894. She was married to W. L. Allen, April 3, 1873. She was the mother of seven children, ten of whom are still living; one little boy preceded her to the eternal world.

"Mat," as she was familiarly called by almost everyone who knew her, was an affectionate child, very much devoted to her father and mother and to her husband and children. She joined the Methodist Church when quite young, grew up in the Sunday school, and was noted for the interest she manifested in it and her universally good lessons. We all loved her dearly; but, alas! she is gone. The tears of a devoted husband and children and of her fellow-friends and loved ones availed nothing.

She had been a great sufferer here, and just at dawn on that beautiful May morning God said, "It is enough, come up higher"—and she passed peacefully and quietly away without a struggle, leaving evidence behind of her acceptance with God.

And may God grant that her husband, children and loved ones may so live here that when they shall come to press a dying pillow they may all be prepared to meet her on the sunny banks of sure deliverance, "where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." H. C. NEWSOM.

SLOCUM.—Mrs. CLORINDA TENNESSEE SLOCUM died at Bunkie, La., on Dec. 21, aged forty-nine years. She was born in Yazoo, Miss., where her early years were spent. Her maiden name was Easterly. She was first married to J. J. Cotton the second time to R. L. Denham, and the third time to Chas. E. Slocum. She became a resident of Livingston parish, and at the time of her decease was domiciled at Bunkie, Avoyelles parish. Her affliction was painful. She had no hope of recovery from the first.

She joined the M. E. Church, South, at eighteen years of age, thus spending thirty-one years in the service of God. She was an active and faithful worker in the church.

During her affliction, which continued for four months, love and trust held perfect sway over her immortal spirit. She murmured not, but was happy and cheerful amidst the shadows which were settling down upon her earthly life. At the visits of the present writer, at different times, she expressed a perfect trust in Christ. In a conversation with her husband she said all was well, and that she was willing to go if it was the Lord's will to call her. In her dying hour she desired all in the room to live for heaven. While the church has lost a faithful member heaven has gained a devout Christian. J. F. SCURLOCK

HOLLOMAN.—THOMAS R. HOLLOMAN was born Nov. 23, 1818, joined the Methodist Church in early life, and, after a brief illness, died Nov. 19, 1894, at his home in Yazoo county, Miss. He was twice married. One present says: "He died in perfect peace."

Bro. Holloman had many virtues. That he was led of the Spirit in the development of his manhood no one could doubt. Few men excelled him as a husband—always courteous, kind, respectful, thoughtful, painstaking, aiming to fulfil the marriage vow, "to love, honor, comfort and keep her in sickness and in health." He was attractive and lovely in his home life. He was an excellent father. He made every effort to educate his children that they might be qualified for a good and useful life. He had great faith in Christian education. He was a great admirer and lover of the Methodist Church, South. For its success he prayed and toiled till death. He was a good steward in it for more than fifty years. He was the preacher's friend, often advancing his own money to pay the quarterage of some poor person from whom he often never received anything in return. He often delayed payment of his own debts to pay the preacher. The ministry will sadly miss him. His thoughtfulness in providing for quarterly meeting occasions and protracted meetings made him prominent as a lover of the church, and his brethren will miss him at Mt. Olivet and Wesley Chapel. He did not speak evil of his neighbors. The writer does not recall an instance where he even said harmful words to injure one who disliked him. He was a friend to the poor. It seemed to fall to his lot to help many of those whom no one else would help; and for which he was not always kindly rewarded.

God bless the surviving wife and children with saving grace "till they meet again!"

J. W. ELLISON, ex-Pastor.

NEWSOM.—Mrs. A. F. NEWSOM died at her home near Shreveport, La., on Monday, Dec. 3, 1894, in the sixty-third year of her age. She was first married to Mr. L. R. Davis, of Alabama, after whose death she removed, with her three daughters, to Nashville, Tenn. One of the daughters, Mrs. F. C. Eelback, departed this life before her. The other two, Mrs R. J. Mallett, of Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Will Foster, of Shreveport, La., survive her. In 1870 she was married to Mr. G. S. Newsom, of Nashville, at West End, by Rev. W. M. Green. In early life she professed religion, joined the M. E. Church, South, and was ever afterward a consistent Christian. Wherever her lot was cast her goodness and womanly virtues were apparent. As wife and step-mother there were few to equal and none to excel her. She was universally beloved. Though for several years a great sufferer she was, nevertheless, always bright and buoyant. She came very slowly to the crossing of the river. Fully conscious to the last, she sent parting messages to all her friends, gave a last caress to the loved ones gathered about her, and with a whispered, "I am so tired," fell asleep. Sleep on, sweet mother; we will fondly cherish thy memory, and with bright hope await the day when in that brighter, happier land we shall meet nevermore to part. G. S. N.

Nashville Advocate and Alabama Advocate please copy.

ADAMS.—Mrs. MARY S. ADAMS was born Dec. 12, 1830, and died Nov. 1, 1894. She joined the M. E. Church, South, when quite young, and was soon after happily converted, and ever after lived a happy, consistent Christian life.

"Sury," as she was familiarly called by her many friends, was a great sufferer for months before she died, and her mind was clouded and wandering most of the time during her last illness; but during her rational moments she would express a strong and abiding faith in the saving power of God.

She leaves four sisters and two brothers behind to mourn their loss; but they mourn not as those without hope. If they will live faithful and place their trust in God, they will soon meet her again over yonder, on the sunny banks of sure deliverance, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest, and where God has promised to wipe all our tears away. H. C. NEWSOM

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

If you claim to love God with all your heart, don't you believe the angels expect you to do something for him with your money?—Ram's Horn.

We, the undersigned, do testify that we have used Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar for years, for all throat and lung troubles, with the greatest benefit. For coughs and colds it never fails. When taken according to directions, it cures our children of croup and whooping-cough, and for serious lung troubles it always gives relief.

NEW ORLEANS, March 1, 1889.

C. A. Pfeffer, 201 Mira street; Emile A. Martin, 186 Johnson street; John Capdevielle, Jr., 320 St. Philip street; L. Y. Pettit, Bayou St. John; William Noonan, Carrollton; A. M. Ruh, 205 Miro street. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

Read not books alone, but men; and children be careful to read thyself.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper

The foot of the cross is the highest spot on earth.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Blood Diseases

such as Scrofula and Anæmia, Skin Eruptions and Pale or Sallow Complexions, are speedily cured by

Scott's Emulsion

TRADE MARK.

the Cream of Cod-liver Oil. No other remedy so quickly and effectively enriches and purifies the blood and gives nourishment to the whole system. It is pleasant to take and easy on the stomach.

Thin, Emaciated Persons and all suffering from Wasting Diseases are restored to health by Scott's Emulsion.

Be sure you get the bottle with our trade-mark on it. Refuse cheap substitutes!

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All druggists. 50 cents and $1.

THE MOST PERFECT Pianos

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN,
MASON and HAMLIN,
LUDWIG,
GILBERT, Etc.

AT LOW PRICES, ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,

1001-1003 Canal Street.

Pianos Organs

On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF E. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y, H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Imitation of Christ—Thomas a Kempis.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscriber between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96. W. C. BLACK.

Methodist Choirs

in thousands of churches are using

EPWORTH ORGANS AND PIANOS

To their entire satisfaction.

The Epworth Organs and Pianos are made in the most thorough manner. Great care is taken with the action, voicing and tuning. In all essential features the Epworth is equal to the very best instruments made. As the Epworth is shipped direct from the factory to the people without the expense of middle men, the purchaser is saved from $25.00 on an Organ to $100 on a Piano. Thousands of our preachers and people have bought Epworths and say they are delighted with quality of finish, action and tone. Epworth Organs and Pianos are sent on trial and if not found as represented may be returned at our expense.

You May Order Through Your Preacher,

who will allow you to test the instrument in your own home or church, and if it is not found as good as represented we will refund the freight paid and pay return charges.

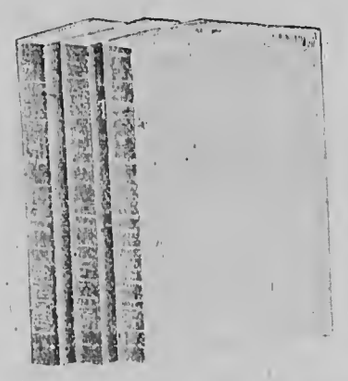
Catalogues, Pictures and Prices Free

if you state whether instrument is wanted for church or home and give name and address of your preacher.

Address the publisher of this paper.

LORD TENNYSON'S THREE FAMOUS POEMS,

IN MEMORIAM,
IDYLLS OF THE KING,
THE PRINCESS.



Three Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large clear type on good paper, and substantially bound by a new process.

The "In Memoriam" of Tennyson is one of the grandest and purest [illegible] literature. Like the "Idylls of the King," it [illegible] to some extent the character of [illegible] the case of Tennyson's "Princess," [illegible] Hallam, [illegible] to the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] most [illegible] and humor [illegible]

"The [illegible] of the King" [illegible] for them [illegible] literature of [illegible] poems [illegible] Arthur, and the Knights of the Round Table, the poet not only retold [illegible] purified and elevated, but gave to [illegible] aspirations of man, the [illegible] much imaginative [illegible] poetic art. The work [illegible] among the classics [illegible]

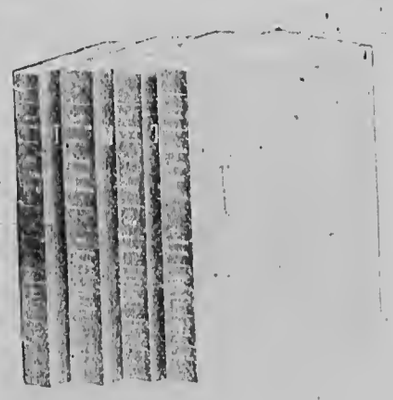
Hardly has [illegible] than that of Tennyson's "The Princess" ever been written. [illegible] In the verse, it embraces one of the loftiest lyrics and [illegible] in the language. The extreme advocates in our day for the emancipation of women no doubt quarrel with the poet if the conclusion reached in the poem; but the Laureate was essentially right in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." The poem is otherwise in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." The poem is a lyric one and motive of the poem—to illustrate woman's struggles, aspirations, and proper sphere in relation to man and her own intellectual life.

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. Those who desire a cloth-bound edition are referred to our advertisement headed, "15 Poets in Library Cloth—Poet's Popular Edition." Address

Rev. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

HAWTHORNE'S BEST WORKS.

Four Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large type on good paper and substantially bound by a new process.



Mosses from an Old House.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

Another [illegible] by Hawthorne entitled [illegible] are all brilliant, [illegible] for its simplicity and truth.

Twice-Told Tales.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

[illegible] by the [illegible] Tales," [illegible] as the [illegible]

The House of The Seven Gables.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

This masterpiece of Hawthorne [illegible] imaginative echoes [illegible] its author is himself [illegible] own day. The work is perfect, the [illegible] poetic prose in all the range of American literature.

The Scarlet Letter.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

[illegible] ideas rigidly [illegible] Puritanism, and [illegible] Hawthorne [illegible]

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. We will also furnish any one of these works in very handsome cloth binding postpaid to any address for the small sum of forty cents. Subscribers who are entitled to a premium as indicated above can have this beautiful book instead of the paper-bound edition by sending twenty cents additional—i. e., $2 20 will pay for the book and the ADVOCATE one year.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Made from the most highly refined and expensive ingredients, and leaves neither acid nor alkali in the food.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Potts' Camp and Myrtle, at Potts' C..	Jan.	5, 6
Waterford, at Lebanon		12, 13
Holly Springs circuit, at Pleasant G..		19, 20
Olive Branch, at Centre Point		26, 27
East Holly Springs, at Mount Hope..	Feb.	2, 3
Red Banks, at Wesley Chapel		9, 10
Cornersville, at Bethlehem		16, 17
Mount Pleasant, at Mouat Pleasant		23, 24
Ashland, at Salem	Mar.	2, 3
Pontotoc		9, 10
Abbeville		16 17

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tupelo station	Jan.	5, 6
Okolona circuit		10
Okolona station		12, 13
Verona and Nettleton		19, 20
Prairie circuit		26, 27
Houston and Wesley	Feb.	2, 3
Buena Vista		9, 10
Shannon		16, 17
Saltillo		23, 24
Nettleton		25
Fulton		23
Tremont		29
Amory and Smithville	Mar.	2, 3
Quincy		5
Aberdeen circuit		8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville	Dec.	10
Macon	Jan.	5, 6
Crawford		11
Columbus		12, 13
Starkville circuit		19, 20
Columbus circuit		26, 27
Brooksville	Feb.	2, 3
West Point		9, 10
Tibbee		16, 17
Sturges		23, 24
Cedar Bluff	Mar.	2, 3
Hebron		9, 10
Shnquaiak		16, 17
Mashulaville		23, 24

District stewards will meet at Ariesia, Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

T. C. WIER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Valden	Jan.	12, 13
Carrollton station		19, 20
Greenwood station		26, 27
West	Feb.	2, 3
Winona circuit		9, 10
Carrollton circuit		16, 17
Indianola and Faisonia		23 24
McNutt	Mar.	2, 3
Sidon		8, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin		15, 17
Black Hawk		23, 24

The district stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greenwood, Jan. 26, at 11 A. M. As I have no plan of the district, the preachers on circuits will please write me the place of their first Quarterly Conference. My address for the present is Holly Springs, Miss.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Senatobia	Jan.	5, 6
Coldwater		12, 13
Como	(Mon.)	14
Panola, at Mt. Olivet		19, 20
Morgansville	(Tues.)	22
Batesville	(Fri.)	25
Courtland, at Center Hill		26, 27
Nesbit, at Horn Lake	Feb.	2, 3
Arkabutla, at Brook's Chapel		9, 10
Tyro, at Liberty Hill	(Wed.)	13
Wall Hill		15, 17
Cockrum, at Independence	(Wed.)	20
Pleasant Hill		23, 24
Pleasant Grove	Mar.	2, 3

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lehertou	Jan.	5, 5
Cleveland		6, 7
Lula		13
Belen		20
Hill House		27
Duncan	Feb.	3
Clarksdale		10
Gunnison		17
Rosedale		24
Bolivar	Mar.	5
Hollandale		13
Arcola		17
Friar's Point		24

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville circuit, at Pisgah	Jan.	5, 6
Corinth circuit, at Gaines' Chapel		12, 13
Corinth station		13, 14
Ripley and New Albany, at New A		19, 20
Ripley circuit, at Weir's Ch'l.(Tues.)		22
Jonesboro circuit, at J'boro.(Thurs.)		24
Iuka circuit, at Hebron		26, 27
Marietta cir., at Hodges' Ch'l.(Wed.)		30
Booneville and Baldwyn, at Baldwyn	Feb.	2, 3
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon		9, 10
Brown's Creek cir., at Pine G.(Thurs.)		14
Pleasant Ridge circuit, at Mt. Zion		16, 17
Blue Springs circuit, at Blue Springs		23, 24
Guntown circuit, at Guntown	Mar.	2, 3

HERLEY R. TUCKER, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Atlanta, at Banela	(Tues.)	Jan. 1
Elry, at Young's Chapel	(Thurs.)	3
Pittsboro, at Chapel Hill		5, 6
Toccopola, at Liberty Hill		12, 13
Oxford station		15, 14
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill		19, 20
Grenada station		20, 21
Tatum, at Friendship	(Fri.)	25
Charleston, at Charleston		26, 27
Coffeeville, at Coffeeville	Feb.	2, 3
Paris, at Prospect		8, 10
Water Valley cir., at Pleasant Ridge		16, 17
Water Valley station		17, 18
Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.		23, 24

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Kosciusko, at Kosciusco	Jan.	5, 5
Pickens circuit, at Pickens		12, 13
Poplar Creek circuit, at Shiloh		19, 20
Sallis circuit, at Sallis		26, 27
Belzoni circuit, at New Hope	Feb.	2, 3
Lexington and Tchula, at L		9, 10
Ethel circuit, at Ethel		15, 17
New Port circuit, at Bethel		23, 4
Stewart circuit, at South Union	Mar.	1
Eupora circuit, at Eupora		2, 3
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer		9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester		16, 17
Ackerman cir uit, at Liberty Hill		23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall		29
Louisville circuit, at Louisville		30, 31

The district stewards will meet me at the Methodist Church in Durant, Feb. 7, at 7 P. M. A full attendance is desired.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lafayette	Jan.	2, 3
Washington, at Washington		5, 6
Indian Bayou, at Indian Bayou		9
Crowley		10
Lake Charles		13, 14
West Lake		15
Sulphur Mine, at S. Mine		17
Franklin		19, 20
Jeanerette, at Jeanerette		22
Morgan City and Berwick		26, 27
Patterson, at Patterson		20
Abbeville, at Abbeville		31
New Iberia	Feb.	2, 3
Teche circuit, at St. Martinsville		6
Grand Cheniere, at Leesburg		9, 10
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur		14
Prudhomme, at Roberts Cave		16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island		20

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Downsville, at Downsville	Jan.	5, 5
Farmersville, at Farmersville		12, 13
Minden, at Minden		19, 20
Valley, at Pleasant Valley		26 27
Ringgold, at Andrew's Chapel	Feb.	2, 3
Glenville, at Mill Creek		9, 10
Lisbon, at Lisbon		16, 17
Summerfield, at Harmony		23, 24
Vienna, at Vienna	Mar.	2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston		9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Gansville at Gansville		23, 24
Homer, at Homer		30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr.	6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan. 31, at 10:30 A. M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

In Part.

Wilson, at Wilson	Jan.	5, 6
Slaughter, at Slaughter		12, 13
Clinton, at Clinton		13, 14
Bayou Sara, at Thompons		19, 20
Jackson, at Jackson		20, 21
Baton Rouge, at Baton Rouge		26
Ascension, at Antioch		26, 27
Gross Tete, at Colton	Feb.	2, 3
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford		9, 10
Zachrie, at Zachrie		10, 11

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Caddo, at Keachi	Jan.	5, 6
Mooringsport, at Greenwood		12, 13
Shreveport—First Church		20, 21
Shreveport Mission		20, 21
South Bossier, at Allenton		26, 27
Wesley, at Davis Springs	Feb.	2, 3
Coushatta, at Coushatta		5
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches		9, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall		16, 17
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville		19
DeSoto Mission		21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel		23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar.	2, 3
Many, at Prospect		9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant		16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G		23, 24

District stewards will meet in the pastor's office in First Church, Shreveport, La., at 10 A. M., Jan. 19. A full attendance is earnestly desired and expected.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbia	Jan.	5, 6
Nugent, at Palestine		12, 13
Alexandria		13, 20
Simsport, at Simsport		26, 27
Mellville, at M		27, 28
Pineville, at P	Feb.	2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce		9, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship		16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill		23, 24
Gleumora	Mar.	2, 3
Atlanta, at A		9, 10
Montgomery, at M		10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte		16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs		23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Parker Chapel	Jan.	6
Dryades Street		13
Craps Street		20
Algiers		27
Carondelet Street	Feb.	3
Covington		10
Morean Street		17
Louisiana Avenue		24
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar.	3
Rayne Memorial		10
Tallisheek		17
Felicity Street		24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.		31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd	Jan.	5, 6
Delhi, at Delhi		8
Rayville, at Rayville		9
Monroe, at Monroe		10
Calhoun, at Indian		11
West Monroe, at West Monroe		12, 13
Bastrop, at Bastrop		14, 15
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove		19, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro		21, 22
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove		23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg		26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof		29, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providance.	Feb.	2, 3

Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation, and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jackson—First Church	Jan.	6
Jackson—Capitol Street		6
Canton		12, 13
Benton circuit, at Benton		19, 20
Yazoo City		26, 27
Terry circuit, at Terry	Feb.	3, 4
Yazoo circuit, at Mount Carmel		9, 10
Flora circuit, at Flora		15, 17
Madison circuit, at Madison		23, 24
Silver Creek and H. L., at H. L.(Sat.)	Mar.	2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City		3, 4
Camden, at Shrock Chapel		9, 10
Tranquil circuit at Locust Grove		16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant		23, 24
Jackson cir., at Flag Chapel.(Wed.)		27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin		30, 31

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis, at Purvis	Jan	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg		12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia		13, 20
Nicholson, at Nicholson		26, 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at P	Feb.	2, 3
Biloxi, at Biloxi		9, 10
Moss Point	(Sun. night)	16, 17
Escatawpa, at Mt. Zion	(Sun. 11 A. M.)	16, 17
Americus, at Rosedale, Wed. and Th	Feb.	20, 21
Vancleave, at Union		23, 24
Ocean Springs and Scranton, at O. S.	Mar.	2, 3
Whittington, at Colevillle(Wed., Th.)		6, 7
Bay St. Louis, at B. St. L		9, 10
Augusta, at Isabella		15, 17
Black Creek, at Mt Zion		23, 24

District stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	Jan.	12, 13
Meridian South Side		16
Binnsville, at Scooba		19, 20
Meridian—East End		23
Portersville, at Brogan's Ch		26, 27
Meridian—West End		30
Marion, at Curtis' Ch	Feb.	2, 3
Meridian—Central		4
Chunkey, at Chunkey		6
Daleville and Soule Ch., at Soule Ch		8, 10
DeKalb, at ——		16, 17
N. Kemper, at Sp. Hill		23, 24
Indian Mission, at Tell Chuluk	Mar.	1
Livewood, at Bethel		2, 3
Neshoba, at Mars' Hill		9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary		16, 17

District stewards' meeting at Central Church, Meridian, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

R. J. JONES, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Natchez Jefferson Street	Jan.	5, 6
Natchez, at W. O		6, 7
Barlow, at Rehoboth		12, 13
Fayette, at Fayette		19 20
Roxie circuit		26, 27
Gloster, at Centerville	Feb.	2, 3
Percy Creek		9, 10
Woodville		16, 17
Woodville Mission		16, 17
Wilkinson circuit		23, 24
N. Wilkinson	Mar.	2, 3
Homo Chitto		9, 10
Amite		10, 17
Meadville		23, 24
Washington	Apr.	6, 7

Preachers will please inform me at Gloster when their first Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards' meeting at Gloster, Jan. 15, 10 o'clock A. M.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg—Crawford Street	Jan.	5, 6
South Vicksburg		6, 7
Edwards		12, 13
Bolton, at Bolton		19, 20
Port Gibson		26, 27
Harriston, at Cane Ridge	Feb.	2, 3
Hermanville, at Hermanville		9, 10
Utica, at Utica		10, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs		23, 24
Mayersville, at Beulah	Mar.	2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork		9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel		16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia		23, 24
South Warren, at Willes' Chapel		30, 31

The district stewards will meet in Crawford Street Church, Vicksburg, Jan. 4, at 10 A. M. A full attendance is requested, and homes will be provided for all who come by Dr. Andrews.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

Directory.

The following are the addresses of the Methodist pastors of the city of New Orleans:

Bishop J. C. Keener, D. D., LL.D., 75 Dahlia street.

Rev. J. T. Sawyer, D. D., 3333 Magazine street.

Rev. J. L. Pierce, 1437 St. Mary street.

Rev. T. K. Fauni LeRoy, 2023 St. Charles avenue.

Rev. F. N. Parker, 1437 Calhoun street.

Rev. C. M. Lyons, 1313 Pleasant street.

Rev. F. S. Parker, 1437 Calhoun street.

Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D., Algiers.

Rev. J. M. Henry, 53½ Port street.

Rev. R. H. Wynn, 5027 Constance street.

Rev. H. H. Ahrens, 581 Burgundy street.

Rev. L. A. Reed, 157 North Liberty street.

Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D., corner Constance and Aline.

Rev. C. Keener, Joseph, near St. Charles.

Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., (old) 323 Second street.

WALTER BAKER & CO.

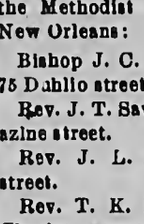
The Largest Manufacturers of

PURE, HIGH GRADE COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES

On this Continent, have received

HIGHEST AWARDS from the great

Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS In Europe and America.



Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Georgia relief train, loaded with provisions and supplies for the starving farmers of Nebraska, is about made up.

General Henry Heth, the gallant Confederate Brigadier, is dangerously ill with acute pneumonia at his home in Washington City.

The ex-State treasurer of Dakota, upon transferring his office to a successor, disclosed the fact that he was about $200,000 cash short.

Recent discovery and development of an extensive deposit of asphalt, within three miles of Ardmore I. T., promises to be the most important event in Ardmore's history.

The Marine Band, under the leadership of Prof. Fanonilli, after trying a long time, has succeeded in getting permission from Secretary Herbert to make a tour of some weeks through the South.

Two train robbers held up a Burlington train near Omaha, Neb., on Jan. 12, and, after binding and gagging the messengers on the express car, helped themselves to the contents of the safe. They escaped.

It can not be said that the bounty out look at Washington is at all promising. It has not been so from the beginning of the session, and the only hope of success has been in the active and energetic efforts of our Congressmen.

The Louisiana Historical Society held its annual meeting on the fourteenth instant, at Tulane Hall, when the audience was addressed by that distinguished orator and profound thinker, Rev. B. M. Palmer, D. D., LL.D.

The reunion of Maryland ex-Confederates to be held in Baltimore, Jan. 19 Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthday, is expected to surpass all former ones in interest. The subject for the reunion is "Jackson's Valley Campaign." Gen. Munford will be the orator of the occasion.

Argument in the case of the people against Mayor Fitzpatrick to oust him from office for misfeasance, malfeasance, and nonfeasance and favoritism came to an end Saturday, and Judge King has begun the preparation of his decision. The trial has been a notable one from the very institution of the suit.

Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, on Jan. 12, presented to the Senate a long memorial from the Pittsburg Coal Exchange, appealing to the Senators and members of the House to use their personal influence with their colleagues in securing for the sugar producers of the country the bounty upon the crops of 1893 and 1894.

A meeting of the government directors of the exposition at Atlanta, this week, has to decide on the question of extending the ground area of the exposition about one-quarter beyond the area originally contemplated. It is altogether probable that the extension will be made, and that it will take up ground to the rear of the building as originally planned.

FOREIGN.

The Dupuy Ministry in France resigned on Jan. 14, having been defeated in the Chamber of Deputies.

An anarchist's bomb exploded in Paris on Jan. 14. Nobody was killed, but considerable damage to property was done.

Out of the total population of France (38 133 355 in 1891) nearly one-half (17,435,883) derives its living from agriculture, 3,570,016 persons tilling their own land.

It has been announced that the Chancellor, Prince von Hohenlohe, will start this week on his long-talked-of visit to Prince Bismarck, who is now at Freidrichsruh.

Simultaneously with the agitation that has been going on in Gotham for the expansion of New York into a "greater New York," by the amalgamation of Brooklyn and certain adjacent rural communities with the present metropolis, there has been going forward on the other side of the Atlantic a similar agitation to consolidate under one government all the twenty-odd boroughs that constitute the "greater London" to which we refer when we speak of the British metropolis.

Count von Moltke, aide-de-camp to the Emperor, has returned to Berlin after accomplishing the imperial mission of presenting Prince Bismarck with a gift of flowers, on the anniversary of the Prince's memorable speech in the Reichstag advocating an increase of the strength of the German army. The Emperor's aide-de-camp brought back from Freidrichsruh a letter in which Prince Bismarck heartily thanked the Emperor, and expressed great regret that his health prevented his coming to Berlin in person.

The Japanese government has publicly announced that the Emperor of China has expressed his desire to terminate the war, and he appointed one of the members of the Hung Li Yamen, the highest rank, named Chang Ying Yamen, to proceed to Japan and arrange terms of peace. But the war party is represented to some extent in the administration, and its influence is much too powerful to be disregarded or for the present held in control. Many of the military look upon China's submissive proposals as a mere incident of the struggle, which will be permitted to preclude the advance of the army or prevent the occupation of Peking.

Notice to Subscribers.

If your renewal is due, and you did not send it to Conference by your preacher, send it at once by mail to us if you do not wish to be cut off. Do not forget this. If you desire the paper continued, and you can not send the money right now, but will do so by Feb. 1, 1895, drop us a postal at once, and we will wait on you until then. Either send us the money at once, or drop us a postal.

"Early Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2.40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2.40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

Drummond's Lightning

Remedy done great work for H. J. Lewis, of Anderson's Mills, S. C. He had Sciatic Rheumatism in the left hip and leg, and for six weeks was not able to sit up or walk a step; and suffered untold agonies. After using Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism for two weeks, he wrote that he could walk and that the pain was gone. If you suffer from Rheumatism and wish to be cured, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and the two large bottles will be sent to your express address. Agents wanted.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

To Students of Millsaps College.

I have moved to Jackson to educate my only child at Millsaps College. In order that I may be able to do this, I must have a few boarders, and, as a special inducement to students to come, I will board the first six who come, at only ten dollars (each) per month; give them nice, comfortable rooms, and do all I can to promote their happiness and make them feel at home. They furnish only such things as are required by the boarding-houses at the campus. My home is very retired and quiet, a considerable distance from the business part of town, and only a pleasant walk from the college.

MRS. M. M. LOWRY,
710 N. State St., Jackson, Miss.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Cuticura

Skin Remedies Are Pure Sweet Gentle And Most Economical

Because so speedily effective. Sold throughout the world. British depot: FRANCIS NEWBERY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG & CHEM. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.

Low ordinary	5¾	@ —
Ordinary	4¾	— —
Good ordinary	4¾	— —
Low middling	4¾	— —
Middling	5¼	— —
Good middling	5 3-16	— —
Middling fair	6¾	— —
Fair	7¾	— —
Galveston middling	5 3-16	— —
Mobile middling	5	— —
Memphis middling	5¼	— —

SUGAR.

OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	2 1-16	2 3-16
Good fair	2 1-16	2 3-16
Common	1 13-16	2
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	1¾	2¼
Prime yellow	2 13-16	2¾
Gray white	— —	3 1-16
Choice white	3 5-16	3¾
Standard granulated	— —	— —

MOLASSES

OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	13	14
Good common	8	9
SYRUP	8	14

RICE.

No. 2	1¾	3¼
Good	4¼	4¾
Fair	3¾	4
Prime	4¼	4¾
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 50	2 85
POLISH, ₩ ton	12 00	13 00

FLOUR.

Extra Fancy	2 70	2 80
Fancy	2 40	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	— —	— —
Winter wheat patents	— —	— —
Minnesota bakers	3 10	3 25

CORN PRODUCTS.

Corn meal	2 25	2 50
Cream meal	2 60	— —
Grits	2 75	2 80
Hominy	2 80	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	43	— —
Yellow	53	54
Mixed No. 2	51	— —
OATS:
Western	37½	37½
Texas rust-proof	41	43
BRAN:
₩ cwt	89	84
HAY:
Prime	14 00	15 50
Choice	16 00	18 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess (Standard)	13 37½	— —
Prime Mess	12 50	12 75
Rumps	11 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	9	9¼
Shoulders	7	— —
Sides, short rib	7¼	7¼
Sides, long clear	7¼	7¼
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	8¾	10½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5¼	— —
Sides, short rib	6¾	6¾
Sides, long clear	6¾	6¾

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	15¾	— —
Common	14	14¼
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
He-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	27	— —
Western Dairy	16	— —
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5¾	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	15½	— —
Coal, cases	14½	15
Cotton seed, crude	23	24
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	5 00	7 00
Louisiana, ₩ [illegible]	1 75	2 00
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 25	2 50
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 85	2 25

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb., ₩ yard	5½	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb., ₩ yard	4¾	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	6½	8½
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 00	4 25
Young Chickens	2 00	3 25
Chickens, Southern	3 25	3 75
Young	2 50	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	9 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	17	18
Southern	13	13
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	13½	18
Louisiana	11	11½
Burry	6	8
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3	3½
Dry salted	4	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	16 00	— —
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

When the hair begins to fall out or turn gray, the scalp needs doctoring, and we know of no better specific than Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST. Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

ont feb8

The Great Church LIGHT.

PRINK'S Patent Reflectory give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. L. P. PRINK, 563 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 4. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2005

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

GIVE A KIND WORD WHEN YOU CAN.

Do you know a heart that hungers
For a word of love and cheer?
There are many such about us;
It may be that one is near.
Look around you! If you find it,
Speak the word that's needed so,
And your own heart may be strengthened
By the help that you bestow.

It may be that some one falters
On the brink of sin and wrong,
And a word from you might save him—
Help to make the tempted strong.
Look about you, O my brother!
What a sin is yours and mine
If we see that help is needed,
And we give no friendly sign!

Never think kind words are wasted—
Bread on waters cast are they,
And it may be we shall find them
Coming back to us some day;
Coming back when sorely needed
In a time of sharp distress;
So, my friend, let's give them freely;
Still and giver God will bless.

—The Housewife.

Selections.

From China to Ceylon.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B GALLOWAY, D. D.

Promptly at 4 P. M., on Oct. 27, the lines were loosed, and the little launch left her moorings in Shanghai for the big ship, "Oceanier," of the French Mail Line, anchored fourteen miles away in the Yang-tse, at the mouth of the Woosung. Nearly all the members of our mission were at the wharf to say good-by. It was a sad, sweet hour. The few weeks spent together had ripened Christian friendship into strong personal attachment, and it was really hard to bid them a long, possibly a last, adieu. My heart was lifted in silent praise to God for the joy and profit of my first visit to "Far Cathay." Enriched in spirit and strengthened in faith and encouraged in purpose, I shall redouble effort for the evangelization of these heathen millions.

We had a smooth sea and pleasant voyage down to Hong Kong, never out of sight of land, passing numerous hills, large and small, and exchanging salutes with other stately steamers going northward. There is an immense business on this China coast—increased very considerably, I imagine, by the exigencies of war. Concealed under the flags of friendly nations, no doubt contraband cargoes are being carried for both the Chinese and Japanese governments. Several officers from a ship thus employed are fellow-passengers on the "Oceanien" for home. And freight rates have so advanced that I am told the numerous ship lines are making money very rapidly.

All the officers and crew of the "Oceanien" speak French—a very few having some smattering of English; but by means of pantomime and some "pidgin" French, we get along quite nicely. We have coffee, or tea, and bread early in the morning, breakfast at 10, a light lunch at 1 P. M., an elaborate dinner at 6, and tea, with crackers or cake, at 8:30 to 9. The dinner, of many courses, is served deliberately, and all expected to be washed down with the best claret. For several of us who never patronize the bottle, the waiter wears a mingled expression of surprise and pity. He, no doubt, pities us as anachronisms, and wonders from what backwoods we have come, and how we ever mustered courage to venture abroad. All the French drink wine, and most of their passengers of every nationality.

On Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock, we rode into the beautiful harbor of Hong Kong. The first view of island, city and harbor from the deck of our vessel was most charming.

We called first at the American consulate, and found not an official, but a cordial, personal, social welcome from the Hon. W. E. Hunt and his charming family. I felt a larger and special interest in this capable and honorable representative of the stars and stripes, because he is a Mississippian, resident at Greenville. A gentleman by instinct and culture, he honors the government of which he is the accredited agent, and makes glad any of her citizens who chance to visit this far-away bustling city. Everything was done to make our stay pleasant and profitable.

We ascended the abrupt, rugged mountain to Victoria peak—went up by cable, and came down by sedan chair. It is difficult to imagine a more pleasing prospect than one gets from that lofty island summit.

Our descent from the "peak" was around the splendid "Magazine road," scientifically graded, well macadamized, and kept in perfect repair. We rode in sedan chairs; an hour and more necessary for the return trip. I give the palm to Hong Kong coolies. They keep step so regularly, and move so firmly, as to give the chair an easy, gentle swing, and make the ride one of constant delight. And there is not that frequent change of chafed and perspiring shoulders that made me in Soochow and Shanghai regret I had consented to so impose on human flesh. But like the typical coolie, whether in Japan or China, they want more than the bargain calls for, and if you be an innocent stranger, they will extort it, even if it takes strong crying and tears.

One of the most interesting places in the city is the Sailors' Home, founded and sustained by the colony. In connection with the Home is a neat little Gothic chapel, and a chaplain is always on duty to minister in spiritual things. In that chapel we saw the "punkas" for the first time—so arranged that two or four men, sitting outside, by pulling ropes, can fan a whole congregation.

I had the pleasure to meet one of the judges, and learned from him that only two criminal judges were appointed for the Chinese population, consisting of 220,000, and that each day's business was easily cleared off from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. That certainly speaks well for the quiet, law-abiding disposition of the Chinese.

While not able to justify the forcible possession of this island and harbor by the English—wresting it by force and without sufficient provocation from an harmless and unwarlike people—yet a striking object-lesson is given of the magic and mighty changes that may be wrought by a higher civilization. In a few years the hiding-place of pirates has become a city of splendid buildings and vast wealth and attractive beauty. England begins all her great colonization schemes by first "colonizing ideas." The island was ceded to her in January, 1841. Now it is a colony of 230,000—220,000 of whom are Chinese. The revenue of the colony for 1893, as reported to me by Consul Hunt, was $1,906,396, about one-sixth of which was derived from opium. The tonnage of the harbor last year reached the enormous figure of 14,319,122, while the passenger list was 1,847,738. The oil imported from America alone amounted to 1,421,189 cases, with ten gallons in a case. It has been ascertained that the Chinese returning from America to this port have brought $7,529,020. The difference between the great city of to-day, and the retreat for pirates and thieves fifty years ago, is the difference between a Christian and a heathen civilization.

Just as the bell rang at noon on Wednesday for the anchors of the "Oceanien" to be lifted, the "Empress of China," on which we had come across the Pacific, and by which we were sending letters to the dear ones at home, slowly moved past us, and began her majestic journey to Columbia's shores. I could not repress a measure of regret that passage had not been secured for a speedy return to the loves and labors of my native land.

Though the temperature grew rapidly warmer as we moved southward, making it necessary to exchange flannels for the thinnest Summer clothing, thanks to a northeast "monsoon," which steadily favored us, the heat was never oppressive. The breezes were soft and balmy, making the days on deck quite as enjoyable as the ideal picture of "life on the ocean wave." Very restful were those days to me, after the hard work in Japan and China.

On the early morning of Saturday we arrived at the wharf in Saigon, the capital of Cochin, China, situated on the Saigon river, forty miles from the sea. This is a French possession, captured in 1859, and formally ceded by treaty in 1862. The French possessions are called Indo-China, and include the colony of Cochin-China, together with protectorates of Tonkin, Anam, and Cambodia. Saigon is far to the south, being in 10 degrees north latitude, and, of course, abounds in tropical beauty and luxuriance. We went ashore at once, and visited many places of interest before our ten-o'clock breakfast. The market was most attractive, crowded, as it was, with buyers and eager, chaffering sellers. Everything was there for sale from an onion to a pineapple, and from a frog to a monkey—fruits, vegetables, birds, fowls, everything. The frog is considered quite a delicacy, and went off "like hot cakes."

The most common and disgusting sight was the universal chewing and spitting of the betel-nut. Men, women and children all chew and spit. It makes their lips red and their teeth black, but all buy and chew. The nut is cut into pieces, one of which, with a leaf of some kind, on which a little red substance is put, said to contain a small quantity of lime, make up the disgusting quid. Some mix a little tobacco with it. That was the most popular article for sale in the morning market. The cocoanut grows here luxuriantly. When young, though very large, it contains quite a quantity of "milk," which is palatable and healthful. They were bought for two cents apiece. In the Botanic Gardens we saw all the flora of the tropics, and so arranged as to produce most exquisite effects. Every tree, shrub and flower that will grow in these hot and moist parallels can be seen in this magnificent garden. There is also a large zoological collection, containing everything from a python to a tiger, and old travelers pronounce the aviary the finest they have ever seen.

The population is much mixed, the Chinese being numerous and prosperous. The natives are dark and very small, especially the women, who are even more diminutive than the Japanese. They mature early in these equatorial parallels, and under the iniquitous custom of the East become wives and mothers often before reaching their teens. I saw one child-mother on the street who could not have been more than twelve years old. The men are also small and not muscular. The East Indians are here, of several tribes and faiths. The men are fond of gaudy-colored, thin wraps, thrown loosely around the body, while the women appear more flashily robed, with rings in ears and nose, and on their fingers and ankles. White marks on the forehead indicate their caste.

Saigon is quite a beautiful city, called by the French "the Paris of the East." The streets are finely macadamized and beautifully shaded. There are some magnificent public buildings, displaying all the genius and taste of French architecture. The palace of the governor-general is a far more elaborate and tasteful structure than the White House in Washington, and the adjoining gardens are a tropical paradise. We visited the Palace of Justice, itself a large and handsome building, and, had time allowed, would have witnessed the trial of a case in an Eastern court.

The Roman cathedral, erected in 1880, is a very large Gothic building, with transepts and nave beautifully adorned. Our ship failing to leave at four o'clock on Sunday morning, as announced, I went ashore and attended service there at eight. The congregation quite filled the spacious temple, the Bishop of the diocese conducting the service. Officers of the army and navy, with their families, were there, and persons of every rank and color—Annamites, Chinese, Malays, Africans, French, English and Americans all together worshiping the same Lord. How I wished that these people had more wholesome teaching and a better type of Christianity! The Catholics have another chapel in the city, and several schools and orphanages. I could not ascertain if there were a Protestant mission in the colony, but suppose not. At night the cafes and theater were ablaze with beauty. A troupe from Paris was performing, having come out on a guarantee from the colonial or municipal government of not less than 125,000 francs. That is the French idea of building a civilization—making large grants of public funds, the money of the people, for fun and fustian. No wonder the sturdy English excel them as colonizers and civilizers.

The "gharry," a four-wheeled light vehicle drawn by one little horse, is quite an institution in this section. And the horses, though very strong, are not larger than Shetland ponies. I saw nine persons in one "gharry" drawn by one little horse.

On the afternoon of the sixth, at 4:30 o'clock, we arrived at Singapore, only 1° and 16' from the equator. As our steamer was to leave at five o'clock in the morning, but little opportunity was given to see the prosperous and beautiful capital of the Straits Settlement. The first attraction before we came to anchor was the Malay boys, almost naked, in their little boats, ready to dive for coins. The passengers emptied their pockets of cash, and we had great fun watching the active little fellows plunge in like frogs and scramble for booty. They never missed one, being able to see under water like fish.

Calling a "gharry," we drove into the city, a mile or two from the wharf; visited the American consulate, the English cathedral, an imposing Gothic structure, with a spire 204 feet high, and in which a congregation of a half-dozen were engaged in an evening prayer service, examined some of the larger public buildings, and drove out to the Botanic Gardens. But as there is no twilight near the equator, and the sun goes down promptly at six every day in the year, we were too late to see the beauties of this tropical Eden. The buildings of the city, though not attractive architecturally, are large and substantial.

Thanks to the thoughtful courtesy and company of a handsome young soldier at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, where inquiry was made, we found our way to the home of Dr. B. F. West, one of the missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Doctor and family returned just a month ago from a year's absence in America, much refreshed and recuperated, ready for another and longer term of enthusiastic service. We attended prayer meeting in the English-speaking church in the evening, and much enjoyed communion with those Methodist saints so far from home. It was a helpful, spiritual hour, and much needed by those who travel on a French steamer. At the close of the prayer meeting a delightful half-hour was spent in the "Mary C.Ninde Deaconess Home," in goodly fellowship with these consecrated missionaries. From these fellow-laborers I gathered much information about their mission which has been so signally blessed of God. Enterprised in 1885, it has already accomplished great things and become a positive force in the island. At the approaching Malaysian Mission Conference, over which Bishop Thoburn will preside, the best reports in the history of the mission will be made. In Singapore there is an English church with over 100 members, self-supporting; a Chinese church with about 200 members, a Malay church with about 40 members, and a Tamil church. There is an Anglo-Chinese school, with 475 pupils, in splendid buildings erected by the community, with very little foreign aid. There is a boys' orphanage, a girls' boarding-school, a Tamil school, about thirty day-schools, and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, a mission press, and Methodist Book Room. Last year there were more than one hundred accessions to the Chinese church. The orphanage, Tamil school and Soldiers' Home are all supported locally. One fact was given which evidences the extreme hostility of Mohammedanism, and the very great difficulty experienced in dislodging that stubborn heresy—though there is a Malay church with a membership of forty, there is really not a Malay member. The congregation is composed of Chinese and others who speak Malay, but not a native Malaysian has accepted the Christian faith. In that connection I recall a scene witnessed while Bro. Keiao and I were walking from the church to the Deaconess Home. We passed a shop in front of which a father, with loud voice and in sing-song tone, was reading the Koran to his family, one of his sons holding the lamp. A very impressive and suggestive picture! May it not account for the fact that the Malays are practically untouched by the gospel?

Of the 184,544 inhabitants of the Island of Singapore, 121,908 are Chinese, and they are the most prosperous. The finest carriages and horses we saw were owned by Chinese merchant princes. Several of them are several times millionaires. And they are liberal, public-spirited citizens. They were the largest contributors to the Methodist Anglo-Chinese School, and two of them are members of the Executive Council, which, with the governor-general, controls the colony. Many of the handsomest bungalows which crown the suburban hills for several miles out of the city are the homes of these gentlemen, and in the city they have a club known as the "Celestial (Chinese) Reasoning Association." These facts indicate the persistent force and immense capacity of the Chinese. The same observations we made also at Saigon and Cholon. The Chinaman can amass wealth where a Jew will starve. There are very few Jews on the eastern coast. As evidence of Singapore's commercial prosperity, these figures are published from the report of 1892: Imports, $150,073,923, and exports, $143,011,967. The revenue of the colony for 1892 was $3,826,603.

Leaving on the early morning of Wednesday, we sailed for five hundred miles through the Straits of Malacca, with palm groves of the Malay peninsula on our right in constant view, and the tropical splendors of Sumatra glistening under a cloudless sun on our left. We are now plowing through the Indian Ocean, and to-morrow, the holy Sabbath, will hail the breezes that "blow soft o'er Ceylon's isle."

Miss Strider, of West Virginia, who for five years has served our mission in Japan, joined our party in Shanghai, and is making with us the homeward voyage.

All tongues and tribes and kindreds and dress are on board—dwellers from all latitudes and longitudes. All gay life is represented here, from a governor-general to a dancing girl. The Lord Christ and his disciples are at a discount.

Indian Ocean, Nov. 10, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Sam Jones and the Bishops.

In order that our readers may know just what sort of fruitage is being produced by the slanderous assaults of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2, we quote as follows from the Christian Index:

"The Rev. Sam Jones is censuring the conduct of the Bishops of the Methodist Church, and declares that the church has its rings as well as other organizations. He declares himself in favor of the election of Bishops for four years, with privilege of re-election if they behave themselves." He is to be congratulated on his protest against rings. Did it ever occur to him that their organization and polity favor ring methods? And when they have all done the best they could, have they not perpetrated something very much like lording it over God's heritage, which is a great crime? When a man studies theology and "joins the Conference," it does seem to us that he bids good-bye to a "right smart of manhood," in that he promises to be good and to obey his "superiors."

We thank God that there is a way for them out of this miserably false attitude. We have many Baptist Churches, and the doors are wide open, and the Bibles are open, too. Let them come in—they are welcome; and as they step across the threshold of one of our meeting-houses, they may realize that they are brethren among the brethren. They have a chance to speak, a right to be heard. If they do not behave, they will be tried by their peers. There are no "superiors," we are all brethren. We invite all of them to come. Everyone of them that preaches will be Bishops—"sure-enough" Bishops. There are no rings among us. Can not be. Our polity is such that in the very nature of things we can not favor rings.

Thank the Lord they are coming. We love them too well to lose sight of them. We hate their episcopacy too heartily ever to cease warring upon it. And we are too well acquainted with the certainty of the success of the truth ever to be discouraged in our efforts to win them. We are sure to get them all after awhile. As certain to do it as the sun is to rise. But in the meantime Bro. Jones need not delay. Let him come right along. He need not bring any letter. We will hear his experience, and if it is sound, and the "brethren" so determine, we will take him in, and he will be the Lord's freeman; and then he can preach anywhere, and be as big a Bishop as anybody. Come on. I wish he would come.

Communications.

Musings.

BY BILLY JOE.

The roar of "cannons" and firing of "popguns" have ceased, and a short lull gives friend and foe a chance to look over the field. No dying groans are heard, no ghastly corpses are seen, but simply a wearied public congratulating herself upon the enjoyment of quiet, sweet quiet, once again. 'Tis neither the second-blessed, nor the un-second-blessed, from whence danger is arising; but, ah! me, take care for those "rings," those fearful instruments of death and torture, in the beloved church of Methodism. They are bigger by far than the rings which little piggies wear in their noses—yes, they are so magnitudinous that an elephant, though aided by his mighty proboscis, could scarcely survive to carry one even a few paces. Nevertheless notwithstanding but, just watch ME "hud" as I run my "Iron Wheel No. 2" over one or more of them; "something must happen." Meanwhile the church is waiting, yet thinking of the something which happened when upon a bull's horn sat a bat, which said, "Look what a dust I'm kicking up."

Graveyard Station, Jan. 18, 1895.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

I commenced sending out the Minutes of the last session of the Mississippi Conference to-day. The average distribution is one copy for about every eleven members. I send by express where there is an office at the residence of the minister; the balance go by mail. Some of the pastors have failed to give me their postoffices. I had to guess at the postoffices of some of them. Where the circuits were changed, and new circuits formed, I had to guess at the apportionment. Some pastors may get fewer copies than they are entitled to. They may remedy the matter by consulting with the pastors of the charges whence their appointments were taken. I distribute the entire 3,000 copies; hence it will be impossible to supply any who may not receive their quota.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 19, 1895.

In the Living Present.

In a dingy castle near Brussels lives Carlotta, the demented wife of Maximilian, the unfortunate Emperor of Mexico. The past has been obliterated from her mind with the exception of the tragedy at Queretaro. When visited by her only brother, the King of Belgium, she does not recognize him.

The Sultan of Turkey, though a man of talent, is controlled by the priesthood and the female cabal of the palace. Their influence render his reformatory efforts nugatory. He looks pale and care-worn. Fear of assassination undermines his health. Woe unto him if he should disregard the traditions of the past and fail to respect public opinion! That opinion is averse to tolerating a Christian church or the distribution of Christian books in Stamboul. The Armenian outrages remain unpunished for the same reason.

The Vanderbilt family have jointly given to Columbia College the sum of $2,500,000. The late W. K. Vanderbilt was the first to give $500,000 to this institution. That was in 1884. Subsequently other donations followed. Recently the family added a gift of $350,000. Thank God for rich men!

Baron Hirsch, the Hebrew philanthropist, has spent more than fifty million dollars for the benefit of the poor and oppressed of his race. Russia absorbed large amounts. His colonies in South America proved a failure. Jews are averse to tilling the soil. His benefactions to the poor in Jerusalem are well known. At his home, in Austria, he is not popular. The people fear him, as one having "the evil eye."

English families average eight members. In fact, the Anglo-Saxon race excels all others in prolificacy. The nobility sets a good example to the people. Queen Victoria is the mother of eight, Princess of Wales of six children. The Duke of Argyle is father of twelve, the Duke of Westminster of eleven children. Small families and national decay go hand in hand.

Rome dislikes the temperance movement. The saloon is its stronghold. The recent encyclical of Pope Leo XIII. prohibits all Roman Catholics from joining the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and the Sons of Temperance.

What's in a name? Let's see: Tipple is the name of an English clergyman. He is the celebrated author of "Sunday Mornings at Norwood." Now his publishers advertise his book: "Tipple on Sunday Mornings."

IOH DIEN.

ANOTHER YEAR.

BY FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL.

Another year is dawning;
Dear Master, let it be,
In working or in waiting,
Another year with thee.

Another year of leaning
Upon thy loving breast,
Of ever-deepening trustfulness,
Of quiet, happy rest.

Another year of mercies,
Of faithfulness and grace;
Another year of gladness
In the shining of thy face.

Another year of progress;
Another year of praise;
Another year of proving
Thy presence all the days.

Another year of service,
Of witness for thy love;
Another year of training
For holier work above.

Another year is dawning;
Dear Master, let it be,
On earth, or else in heaven,
Another year with thee.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Synagogues, Bridal Procession, Church of the Sepulchre.

BY H G HAWKINS.

Jerusalem is full of churches, synagogues, and mosques. Besides many minor ones, the Jews have two chief synagogues. At all hours of the day the old, long-bearded descendants of Israel may be seen here poring over their thumb-worn Talmud and other books. Just before reaching one of these synagogues, on the occasion of my visit, I was fortunate enough to witness a Jewish bridal procession—a very quiet, solemn affair indeed. They were leading the bride, veiled and neatly dressed in white, to the home of the bridegroom. Some friends were going before, but most were immediately around and behind the bride, whose steps up on the rough pavement were very slow and soft—stated as if to give time for thought at each. These two synagogues are good buildings, with large domes, but dirty.

The most active place of worship in Jerusalem is the Church of the Sepulchre, the joint property of about all the Christian sects of the world, except Protestants. Each of these sects has a special part assigned. Thus, there are the Abyssinian Chapel, the Armenian Chapel, Coptic Chapel, Greek Chapel, Latin Society. Then there are many chapels held jointly, making in all twenty-two different chapels in one church, besides aisles, stones, altars, and various stations. Turkish guards are always posted with their guns in the church. These are said to be very necessary on the Easter occasions, when thousands of pilgrims are present, and rivalry between the sects is so great that it has sometimes led to bloodshed. Bishop Marvin and our present Bishop Hendrix were present at one Easter festival, and saw the disgraceful spectacle of the so-called miracle of the Holy Fire. My stay in Jerusalem was in the dull season; but whenever I passed the church during open hours people were coming and going. My first visit was while a Russian service was in progress. Also at the same time a band of Armenian priests and youths came along chanting and bearing tall torches. Other visitors were dipping holy water, bowing before altars, crossing themselves, and kissing sacred stones. Somehow it had a solemn effect on me, and I knew that Christ had been crucified, buried, and the third day had risen from the dead; and, though I could not join in the chants, I did wish to be one angel among the "ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands, saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and blessing." The church is erected on the spot where the Empress Helena claimed to have found the true cross, and upon the site claimed also as the real holy sepulchre. One chapel marks the spot where Christ appeared to Mary Magdalene; in the center of another lies a stone set in marble, which the angel rolled away from the mouth of the sepulchre, and on which he afterwards sat; there is the chapel of the sepulchre itself. Here are shown the cleft in the rock, the spot where the cross of the penitent thief stood, and the Stone of Anointment, on which the body of Jesus is said to have lain when it was anointed by Nicodemus. But it is easier to believe that the bare rock of a hill north of the present city wall, not far from the Damascus Gate, is the true Calvary. I was here that Moody held his meetings when he visited Jerusalem.

"Rev. J. A. Parker" to Bro Burt.

In the confusion resulting from a "move," I have just noticed the communication of Bro. Burt in the ADVOCATE, of Dec. 20.

The long article gives me nothing to reply to, since it is simply a repetition, without proof, of the points in controversy. I have said, and still insist upon it, "Our present established standards of doctrine" alluded to in the Discipline do not include Wesley, Watson, Clarke, et. al, and that these are not recognized as standards by any law of the church ensoled at any period of its history. If so, Bro. Burt can "cut off debate" by simply giving us this law. Until he does so, I shall insist that he is off his base.

About one-tenth of Wesley's writings were recognized as "standards," and allegiance sworn to him personally—"as long as he shall live"—in 1784. But the doctrines contained in that part of his writings which were so adopted have been changed, and the church has made no effort to find out who, nor by what authority, these changes were made, until Dr. Tigert got his resolution adopted at the late General Conference relative to the "Eternal Sonship of Christ." If Bro. Burt will give us an authorized list of "our Standards of Doctrine," as recognized by the General Conference of our church, he will do a great service to posterity, provided he can show that no change has ever been made in these "standards." For near twenty years I have been calling upon such men as Bro. Burt for information concerning these "standards," with the result of having echoed back "STANDARDS."

I have never denied that forty-two of Wesley's sermons, his Notes on the New Testament, "and the Minutes of the Conferences" are standards, or were as long as Mr. Wesley lived. This much I admit. All else I deny except the XXV. Article of Faith, and even these no further than "can be proven by the Word of God."

Bro. Burt says: "Our people are coming back to our standards." Very well. Now, tell us what these standards are, when, and by whom they were made such; whether or not there has been a change in the doctrines these "standards" taught, and if "our people are coming back" to them, he will know where to find "our people."

Very truly, J. A. PARKER.

Do-Without Week.

How shall we keep it? Let the Methodists of Mississippi so keep it that the whole of our foreign and home mission money shall be collected and forwarded—the one to T. B. Holt, treasurer, Nashville, Tenn.; the other to Dr. T. S. West, Jackson, Miss. Send the money by draft, check, money order or registered letter; but let us send on the money. Nine thousand and fifty dollars for foreign and $3,600 for home work is not a large demand to make on the 35 000 members of the church in the bounds of the Mississippi Conference. Five cents on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with ten cents on Sunday from each member, raises the entire amount.

Not one of all our thousands is so poor but that, at least, one cent a day can be consecrated to God. Many more of our poorest can give two cents a day. The well-to-do and the comfortably situated can give ten cents a day and fifty cents on the Sabbath. Our rich can give from five to one hundred dollars each day, and crown their offerings with a thousand on the Lord's day.

How shall it be done? God forbid that I should be an intermeddler in other men's affairs; but the presiding elders are the right arm in doing the work, the preachers in charge are the left.

Let each one of our eight presiding elders write to each preacher in charge under his care, and encourage him to keep this "Do-Without Week." Wherever these presiding elders may preach on Feb. 10, let them preach on missions, and lift a collection for that cause. In holding the Quarterly Conferences, let them inquire especially as to whether the week was kept and as to the benefits derived from keeping it.

While the right arm is doing this good work, let our preachers in charge have an eye to the local situation, but let them keep the week. Let the services be at any suitable hour, but have the services. If one only besides the pastor comes, that is still another who will be present. He says, present to own and to bless. Be sure to give the opportunity each day to everyone present to lay an offering upon the altar. God readeth our hearts and knoweth our lives. He will accept our gifts.

What shall the country pastor do? Do what Christ would have you do. He went about doing good. Be sure and arrange some way so that all your people can keep this week. Be sure and preach to every congregation on missions. Be sure and take the collection. It is an offering of love. Let no soul be denied the privilege.

How shall the members keep it? By attending the public service, or, when this is impossible, by spending, at least, one hour each day in meditating and praying over the subject of the day. By putting something each day into the treasury of the Lord. By sending up on the Lord's day, if detained at home, the gathered offerings of the week.

By so doing every church will pay its assessment in full and more. Every heart will receive a blessing. The work at home and abroad will prosper. There will be meat in God's house, and he "will open the windows of heaven and pour us out such a blessing that we shall not be able to contain it."

JOHN W. CHAMBERS,
Sec. Miss. of Miss. Conf.

Fifty Barrels of Supplies Wanted!

The families of our Western preachers are suffering for the want of suitable clothing. Some of these brethren have grown old in the work of the church, and during this Winter weather are riding long circuits with thread-bare or no overcoats whatever. The cost of living is high in the West, and few receive, counting their salary and the missionary appropriation, over $400. Information has been sought from the presiding elders as to the exact needs of these families, and we have learned that Winter underwear is needed, suitable for adults and children. If propriety permitted the publication of the facts stated in letters written by presiding elders in regard to the suffering in the families of their preachers, the heart of the church would be touched and a response awakened which would be commensurate with the pressing necessities.

Those donating, who can not contribute money, can render substantial aid by contributing the following much-needed articles: Shoes, warm underwear, cloaks, overcoats, bolts of linsey, cotton check, domestic, flannel, gingham, towels, bedding, etc.

Will not fifty churches or societies respond immediately? Write for the name of a family and a detailed statement of their needs.

The society wants to make the standard of donations as high as possible, and insists that nothing be sent that is not both valuable and suitable, purposing that quality and serviceability rather than quantity be the standard.

Donations of money are always preferable to supplies, and will be forwarded without delay by the chairman of Committee on Supplies.

In all cases those sending barrels should prepay the entire cost of shipping. These barrels should be prepared immediately, as the families are needing the things. It is not necessary to wait for the regular meeting to act; but a called meeting has power to attend to this matter.

The Woman's Home Mission Societies of other denominations are doing a commendable work in supplying the needy families of their Western preachers. The estimated value of supplies sent during 1893-4 by the Woman's Baptist Home Mission Society was $12,765 29; Woman's Home Mission Society, M. E. Church, $70,385 40; Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions, Presbyterian Church, $14 959 28.

The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society is just entering upon this line of work. Will not our churches everywhere aid in carrying it on?

MRS. NATHAN SCARRITT,
General Secretary.

Correspondence.

A Loving Tribute to the Memory of Rev. Duncan A. Little, Late of the Mississippi Conference, Now in Heaven.

MR. EDITOR: I do not ask space in which to speak forth the anguish of my heart at the personal loss which I have sustained by the death of our lamented friend and brother beloved; I ask simply for the humble privilege of holding up the picture of my departed friend and brother that may catch the correspondence of observation between friend and friend. He has fought a good fight, he has finished his course, and he has unquestionably obtained his crown. The solemn dirge which perpetuates the memory of the great vacuum created in the ranks of the itinerancy of the Methodist Church in Mississippi will long continue its low and solemn swell. Already lamentations, suitable and sincere, have gone up from every pastoral charge and every district over which he presided.

It is not my purpose to write a sketch of his valuable life—that will be done by abler hands than mine—but I do wish from my heart to express my devout thanks to the God of all grace and all gifts for the friendship and companionship of so faithful a man as Duncan A. Little.

During three years I was the favored pastor of his interesting family when he was the trusted, valiant leader of the militant hosts on the Woodville district. I had the best opportunity to know him intimately in all the relations of life. He was a good man everywhere. In his home he exhibited every mark of the true husband and father. In the social circle he was modest and reserved, but always deferred to as one who was in all respects capable of deciding upon the merits of every case under consideration. In the pulpit he was strong, earnest, practical and spiritual. Many who have been privileged to sit under his ministry can testify truthfully of their growth in grace and knowledge, as they received from him the well-beaten oil and the food convenient for them.

He had also a wonderful capacity for entertaining and edifying by way of the adroit use and presentation of the commonplace things of life. On one occasion he was invited to deliver the annual memorial address on Decoration Day in memory of the Confederate dead in Clinton, La. His theme was, "Camp Life, as Seen by a High Private." He held the vast audience as with hooks of steel from the first sentence to the close of his remarkably appropriate address. The Rev. D. M. Rush, then president of Centenary College, was on the rostrum, and was enthused by the oration. Commenting on the production, Bro. Rush said to the writer in his own emphatic style, "That was the best thing of the kind I ever heard."

Perhaps the most conspicuous quality or characteristic attaching to my exalted friend was his love for the brethren. No presiding elder was ever more painstaking in acquainting himself with all the details of the condition of things within the bounds of his district. I believe he did the best that he was capable of doing for every preacher and every pastoral charge under his supervision. So faithfully did he discharge the duties pertaining to his office in every particular that he did not upbraid himself on account of misadjustments after the Conference was over. His uniform testimony was, "I did the best that I could." Verily he was possessed of a conscience void of offense in this regard. It was a rare thing for him to explain why the Conference did this, or did not do that. He held that the combined wisdom of the Conference was superior to the preconceived notions of individuals. He was a faithful man, an able minister of the New Testament, a tried leader, and a safe counsellor. May his mantle fall upon some brother beloved, so that Israel may not suffer loss! God grant that we may all follow him as he followed Christ!

A letter, just received from dear Sister Little, written as she looked through blinding tears, contains these last words, inspiring to the highest degree, "The way is bright."

No man deserves a more enduring monument than does Duncan Aleck Little! May God comfort that sorrowing circle in that desolate home!

One who loved him,

C. A. POWELL.

From Rev. T. B. Holloman.

MR. EDITOR: Despite the cry of hard times, the new year opens with us well. Recent additions to our boarding patronage inspire us with courage to look for greater things. There is no reason why East Mississippi College should not double her members at the opening of another session, and we confidently expect the same. Our surroundings are pleasant, our advantages are good, and our pupils feel all the freedom and comforts of the home life.

While I write this, Mrs. Holloman and the teachers are having an impromptu concert and tete-a tete with the girls in the parlors of the college.

By experience we know the loneliness and often homesickness which comes to the boy or girl from home; so we accept it as a duty, as well as a pleasure, to dissipate all such feelings. And I dare say a more cheerful, studious, conscientious collection of young ladies was never gathered together.

The sewerage system of our city will soon be completed, when we shall make such additions to our buildings as will make them complete as to convenience and comfort. All modern conveniences will be added at once.

All of the pastors of Meridian are at their posts, and we hear naught but words of satisfaction and cheer. Pastors and people have begun well and planned for a successful year. While the old pastors leave many warm friends, the new ones are highly honored.

I have received from Bro. D. C. Harmon, of West End, a most excellent printed plan for the management of the finances of that congregation. If every church Board was composed of such planners and workers as Harmon, no preacher would have cause to fear for himself or collections.

Have you felt the fall in the mercury very perceptibly in New Orleans? We have found eternal vigilance to be the price of our water pipes.

In the last issue of the Baptist Record I see a call from the young ministers at Clinton for help in their college expenses. The statement is made that thirty-one young men are at Mississippi College preparing for the ministry. How many have we at Millsaps? I dare say not half that many. The call is for boxes of supplies—"substantials"—and $750 to carry them through the session. It will be seen that this is an average of about $25 per student. Will our Baptist brethren of Mississippi fail to meet this meagre call? I think not.

The Ministerial Aid Association of the Mississippi Conference has undertaken this work at Millsaps College, and at present we have six young men upon our list, and would have others but for want of funds. Will not the Methodists of Mississippi send to Bro. M. L. Burton, Crystal Springs, Miss., contributions to this worthy fund?

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

From West Monroe.

MR. EDITOR: I have just returned with my family from a three-weeks' visit to Memphis, Tenn., where I went to be present at a family reunion, to enjoy a little needed rest, and to study new methods of church and Sunday-school work. In every respect the trip was eminently satisfactory and profitable. I found my father and family enjoying excellent health, and comfortably housed in the parsonage of Central Church for another year. The two boys came home from school, and their presence added much of mirth and brightness to the occasion. The only member of the family who could not be with us was the eldest sister, she being in far New England.

On the evening of the fourth, when we reached home, we were somewhat surprised to find the parsonage lighted up, and were much gratified to find that a warm house and warmer reception waited to receive us from the wintry blasts. We had hardly gotten into the house when one of the best neighbors that a Methodist preacher ever had brought us in an elegant supper. As might be supposed, we began to feel at home; but this was but the small cloud that scudded before the great storm that broke on us on last Thursday, when from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M. delivery wagons, boys with baskets, children with packages and servants with waiters and bundles, besieged us. We now not only have a full pantry and many other good things to thank God and the good people of this work for, but we have found that the chords of friendship never vibrate singly. With this impetus we start the new year with hope and strong resolution.

Our new presiding elder, Rev. B. F. White, is with us to-day. What a blessing a good, mature, well-rounded presiding elder is; one who has been all along the line from the large mountain circuit to the city station; one rich in just such experiences as we younger men are just now having. We should thank God for this man among us to watch, guide, and reprove us.

Our new pastor in Monroe, Rev. E. N. Evans, who comes to us from Hot Springs, Ark., is every inch a man, and will take rank with the best men in the Louisiana Conference. He has met with a warm reception, and his sermons are spoken very highly of by those capable of judging.

Bro. White reports that part of his district he has seen to be in fine condition, as far as the preachers and their works are concerned. The men are all at their posts, and doing what they can.

I hear of rejoicing on Rayville circuit over the return for the fourth year of Rev. I. T. Reames. The people of Delhi are rejoiced to have Rev. J. F. Foster back again, and he starts off well, as might be supposed. I hear good news from Rev. R. A. Davis at Oak Ridge, and that Bro. M. G. Jenkins is in favor with the people of Bastrop. The people of Calhoun know that in Rev. R. S. Isbell they have a good preacher and a faithful man of God; and we were not surprised to hear good reports from them.

We are sorry to see that our own editor has incurred the displeasure of the self-appointed "Dictator of the Southern Methodist Church," but hope the time will soon come when the power of the great ring at Nashville—Jones, Haynes & Co.—will be broken, and the church again be at peace.

Wishing you and the ADVOCATE a prosperous year, I remain, as usual,

Yours truly, WM. G. EVANS.

West Monroe, La., Jan. 12, 1895.

Selections.

Self-Forgetfulness.

We believe that many Christians make a mischievous mistake in the perpetual habit of narrowly inspecting their spiritual condition. They get the idea that they can not do any sort of Christian work unless they are so regulated that they can not detect anything wrong in themselves, and hence they groan and wrestle, doing their utmost to get into a better shape for the Lord's business; whereas, the true way is to get eyes off from self, look to Jesus for help, and speedily lay hands on work which God's providence shall bring within reach. Morbid self-inspection hamstrings hundreds of Christians who might be of great service to Christ if they would only get away from themselves.—Selected.

Temptation Everywhere.

We sometime think, when living in a large city, that we should be free from worry and the temptations of this anxious, hurrying age, if we had for an abode a cottage in the country, under the shade of protecting trees. Well, we should only have exchanged city temptations for the different, but not less trying ones that attack people in the country. No change of circumstances—nothing but the grace of God—can enable us to resist temptation. A bad-tempered person can make even a lovely country cottage miserable.

The Bible in Use.

The Bible is to many people an ornament for the center-table. Used in this way, it ought to be expensively bound, and kept free from the marring stains of daily use. To others it is a religious luxury, a very important book to have within reach in case of emergency, because it vouches for the spiritual respectability and the orthodoxy of the owner. To still others it is one of the necessaries of life, a joy, a comfort, a consolation. Among such people the book is seldom found in good condition, from the binder's point of view. It is dog-eared, thumb-marked, and many of its verses are so dimmed by constant use that they are read with difficulty. A family with a dog-eared Bible make earnest church members. God's blessing rests on the book when it is thumb-marked; and if its sacred pages are blotted with tears, all the richer the blessing. Bibles with the gilding perfect are an accusation. They represent the secrets of God under lock and key, where no eye can see them and no heart get at them. —Hiram Golf's Religion.

Evening Prayer.

The hour for evening prayer, when we bow at God's feet, should always be a time for getting right everything that may have gone wrong with us during the day. Then all injuries should be forgiven when we pray, "Forgive us as we forgive." Here all envy and jealousy should be quenched, and the love of Christ should be allowed to fill our hearts.—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

One of our colporteurs, while selling tracts in the district of Lom Palanka, met a young man from a village, who had a copy of the Bible. Inquiring where he obtained it, "the young man said it was given him by his brother, and invited me to go and meet him. I went. As we came near the village I saw a young man sitting under a tree in a vineyard, reading a book. It proved to be this brother, who was diligently studying the Book of God which he had purchased, with some tracts of a traveling bookseller. When I was introduced, we entered into conversation, which was prolonged and interspersed with Bible-reading till we retired at midnight. Next morning, at my request, his father permitted him to accompany me upon my journey. When we reached the khan, where we were to part, we tarried long in the separation, while we talked yet more of the 'old, old story,' and the book which had led him to Christ. Then, at his request, we knelt down and prayed together. Such experiences encourage us much in our work."—From Report of Rev. L. T. Gulid, in charge of mission publishing interests in Bulgaria.

Florence Nightingale said: "If I could give you information of my life it would be to show how a woman of very ordinary ability has been led by God in strange and unaccustomed paths to do in his service what he has done in her. And if I could tell you all, you would see how God has done all, and I nothing. I have worked hard, very hard, that is all, and I have never refused God anything." What an example for us!

"Folks are like flowers. Touch one man, and you will get scratched—he is a cactus. Touch another, and he will fly to pieces—like a touch-me-not. Touch a third, and he will shut up—like a fly catcher. A fourth will poison you—like ivy. A fifth will nauseate you—like a dragon's tongue. A sixth will share his fragrance with you—like a heliotrope."

Churches will never be full of worshipers while Christian homes are full of Sunday newspapers. It requires long hours to read the stuffed sheets, and when through the reader is stuffed with nonsense that he is indisposed to worship God. "Will a man rob God?" The reader of the Sunday newspaper does.—Michigan Advocate.

To put God into the second place in the heart is to put him out of the heart altogether. The first place is the only dwelling to which he stoops in us, and he has to make this clean for himself. All else is unclean when this is unclean; and this must needs be unclean when God is not in it.—Christian Index.

Truly, at the day of judgment, we shall not be examined what we have read, but what we have done; not how well we have spoken, but how religiously we have lived.—Thomas à Kempis.

If wrinkles must be written upon our brows, let them not be written upon the heart. The spirit should never grow old.—James A. Garfield.

Never take your Christianity from Christians, but ask yourself, "How would the Lord have me act?" and follow him.

The filter of misfortune separates true friendship from the scum.

P. AND H. M. S.

Our column for this week can not be better filled than with the following selections from Our Homes. We regret that we have not room to give in full Dr. Lambuth's address, as delivered to the P. and H. M. Convention, held in Nashville in October, last. Sisters, God is calling us to help in this work. Can we refuse to do his bidding?

Our Own Schools.

Our readers have had frequent opportunities in the columns of Our Homes to read of the efforts made by our society to establish schools in the mountain regions of our Southland, and they doubtless noted with interest in reading the minutes of the late convention at Nashville that that body not only enthusiastically recommended the adoption of the schools for Cubans in the suburbs of Tampa, Fla., to which Dr. Lambuth called attention in the able paper to be found in this issue, but that some of the members immediately pledged themselves for $470 in the form of stock at $10 a share.

The Central Committee, at a meeting held soon after, formally carried out the suggestion of the convention and determined as soon as practicable to begin the work. In pursuance of this decision, the General Secretary with great promptness prepared certificates of stock to be taken up by the members of the society. The fund to be raised is called "The Mutual Building Fund," and is to be used for the building of houses necessary for the successful prosecution of all the school enterprises under the care of the Central Committee of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society. The shares of this stock are valued at $1 per share, and are bound together in little books containing ten shares. In these books we find directions for use. The general secretary has also sent out letters addressed to each member of the society, in which she carefully explained the object of the "Mutual Building Fund," which it is hoped will reach $20,000, and the use of the books of shares. If you should secure one of these letters, you will fully understand what is asked of you. If you have not received such a letter, write without delay to the general secretary, Mrs. Nathan Scarritt, Kansas City, Mo., for one. She also explains in this letter that this "Mutual Building Fund" is the special object of the March collections.

The Cuban Mission.

BY DR. W. R. LAMBUTH.

The conversion of Alberto J. Diaz, and his work for Cuba's evangelization, may be ranked among the miracles of modern missions. A young captain in the last Cuban rebellion, Diaz was ordered out with several of his men for a reconnoissance, but being hemmed in by the Spanish troops on a promontory, they were obliged to throw themselves into the sea. Drifting along on the current, Diaz was picked up by a vessel and carried to New York. There he continued his medical studies, begun in the University of Havana, until prostrated by an almost fatal attack of pneumonia.

A young lady in the same boarding-house sought out the lonely stranger so near death's door, and pleaded with God for his restoration and conversion. The prayer was answered. Convalescent, the Cuban asked for a New Testament. Coming to the story of blind Bartimeus, conviction shot through him like an arrow. In an agony of soul he fell upon the floor, and cried out: "Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me." Converted, he started for home yearning for his people.

His family laughed him to scorn and called him a fanatic. Repeatedly rebuffed, he turned to friends in Havana and pressed so earnestly upon them the necessity for repentance and justification by faith that in a few months one hundred converts were organized into a church. Persecution followed; Diaz was beaten; assassins attempted his life; he was repeatedly arrested and thrown into prison. The priests denounced him as a heretic, but with unflinching courage he bore witness to the truth and power of the gospel. His mother and brother at length yielded allegiance and embraced the faith. We see to-day the fruits of his labors in two thousand two hundred and sixty-one converts gathered into seven churches, twenty-one missionaries engaged in evangelistic work at seventeen stations, twenty young men preparing for the ministry, nine hundred students enrolled in day and boarding-schools, and two thousand five hundred scholars study the Bible in Sunday-schools. God be praised for what he hath wrought through a pious American girl and this consecrated Baptist brother.

The Cubans are coming to us through doors thrown wide open in Key West and the city of Tampa. Work on a larger scale should be enterprised by us in behalf of the Cubans. Roman Catholicism has lost its hold upon the thoughtful and influential classes. "Not one native priest in Cuba," was the significant remark made by a Cuban to Bishop Fitzgerald. The priests are aliens and associated with Spanish domination. The young people are not found in attendance upon religious services and are steadily drifting into French infidelity. The success which has attended the work of Diaz in Cuba, and our own devoted Somellian, in Key West, is full of encouragement and suggestion.

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The error of a moment may become the sorrow of life.

Drummond's Lightning

Remedy done great work for H. J. Lewis, of Anderson's Mills, S. C. He had Sciatic Rheumatism in the left hip and leg, and for six weeks was not able to sit up or walk a step; and suffered untold agonies. After using Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism for two weeks, he wrote that he could walk and that the pain was gone. If you suffer from Rheumatism and wish to be cured, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and the two large bottles will be sent to your express address. Agents wanted.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Award.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. O. L. Savage: "The people have given us a hearty welcome. Many elect ladies and brethren met us on our first round. Success to you and the ADVOCATE. A happy New Year."

Rev. W. S. Shipman, Jan. 9: "We have had a most hearty reception from this royal people on our being returned for the third year. This evinces much grace upon their part. The year opens well, notwithstanding the snow and rain. Our congregations are good, and prayer meetings are seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. William Smylie Shipman, the new parsonage baby, is enjoying the very best of health, and sends his first greetings to the ADVOCATE. 'The snow again comes silently down.' I feel like this year will be the greatest year of the ADVOCATE's life."

Rev. E. G. Kilgore, Nebraska City, Neb., Jan. 14: "I am here engaged in revival work. The meeting now in progress at Downs' Chapel is a decided success. The preaching yesterday morning was attended with great power. The church was mightily stirred. Many came forward for prayer, and several were converted. The work has been going a week, and the outlook is good for a grand victory over sin. Great good may be accomplished here, as there is much material outside the church. The weather has been quite unsettled, and at times very cold—the thermometer standing at 18 degrees below zero. Notwithstanding this, the interest in the meeting has increased from the beginning. I go from here to St. Louis. My postoffice address is Searcy, Ark. More anon. Pray for us. May the Lord bless the dear old ADVOCATE. Its visits to our home is a blessing to all."

Rev. R. L. Phillips (supply), Theadville, Miss., Jan. 9: "We arrived on our field Jan. 4, and it is ours to report a revival on the seventh with 8 conversions and accessions to the church. One of our members of State Line Church, Bro. Jack Fleming, died suddenly Jan. 5, and was buried on the seventh, at 11:30 A. M. Bro. Fleming had prayed and worked faithfully for the conversion of some members of his family and friends, and there seemed to be a deep spiritual feeling existing on the day of the funeral service. At the request of a brother the doors of the church were opened after a short funeral address; the result was 8 came forward for membership—all genuine conversions—including one man who was an avowed infidel. A vast concourse was present, and many were evidently moved by the Holy Spirit. I pray the Lord that this revival may increase, widen and rise into a pentecostal wave that shall sweep over this entire work and save it for the Lord this year. Brethren, pray for us."

FROM DE KALB TO CAMDEN.

Having served the DeKalb circuit the full time allowed by the Discipline, I was appointed by Bishop Keener to the Camden circuit. Finding no sale for my horse and buggy, I decided to move through the country, a distance of some 75 or 80 miles. New Year's morning we piled all our baggage on a wagon drawn by two horses, and in charge of Eb. Whitsitt (a local preacher in the Colored Methodist Church), and set out for our new home, Mrs. Breland and the two girls, Pearl and Minnie, riding in the buggy drawn by Charley, the old family horse, and myself and the two boys, Hargrove and Galloway (future Bishops), in a jumper drawn by Fanny, the little black Texas pony. The first night was spent at Coffadeliah, in the comfortable home of Bro. J. H. Foreman, pastor in charge of Neshoba circuit. Bro. Foreman seems to be getting on nicely. He is as jolly as a school-boy, his wife having recently presented him with two fine boys. The next day we reached Philadelphia, the capital of Neshoba county, a little after noon, and hailing at the gate of the Hon. Adam Byrd, one of the leading lawyers of the county, were soon met by Mr. Byrd and his most excellent wife, who very soon had us seated by a good warm fire, and the horses put up and fed. After chatting a few moments, Sister Byrd excused herself for a short while, when she returned and carried us to the dining-room, where dinner was served to the enjoyment of all. We pulled out for Edinburgh, a little town on the Pearl river, but night overtook us before we reached this point, and we stopped and spent the night with Bro. McNeil, a member of the Congregational Methodist Church, and the son of a Congregational Methodist preacher. No one could be kinder than this man and his good wife. By ten o'clock next morning we drove into the stirring little berg, and stopped to warm at the stove of one Mr. Spinks, a leading merchant and, I am told, the largest tax payer in the county of Leake. A more courteous and clever gentleman I never met. We left for Carthage, the county site, some fourteen miles away. After driving some six or seven miles, we stopped for the babies to warm at the home of a young man by the name of Thornton. While we were warming, his wife fixed us a good warm dinner, which we all enjoyed to the utmost. After the ponies had eaten we pulled out again for Carthage, reaching it just a little before night. Calling at the parsonage, we found Sister Hays, the wife of Bro. J. R. Hays (who served this work last year), and her daughter, Sister Henderson, sitting by a good fire. Stopping here a little while to warm, we found that Bro. Sullivan, the pastor in charge of Carthage circuit, had not arrived, but was expected soon. About this time Bros. Burnett and Caddenhead, two of the Board of Stewards for Carthage, came, thinking that their preacher had come. Finding who it was, they asked us to remain at the parsonage awhile, while they, accompanied by Dr. Henderson, son-in-law of Bro. Hays, went up town and made arrangements for us for the night. Dr. Henderson soon returned and told us to drive round and put our teams up at the livery stables, and spend the night with Sister Miller, a widow lady and a staunch Methodist of the old type, who was married in this town (Camden) some twenty years ago. Leaving early next morning, we rolled out for Camden, a distance of twenty-two miles, stopping only long enough to warm once and to eat a cold lunch. We reached Camden about three P. M. Inquiring for the parsonage, we soon stood at the gate, where we were quickly met and cordially welcomed to our new home by Misses Cora Bennett, Carrie Maxwell, and Lilly Maxwell, three of Camden's brightest and best young ladies. Uncle Jack was also on hand to feed the horses, cut wood, etc., and Aunt Lucy to serve about the kitchen. How kind these Christians are! About this time Dr. Clanton, one of the stewards, came in and added his welcome to that already extended by the young ladies. After conversing pleasantly for a short while, supper was announced, when we all repaired to the dining-room and partook of a supper nice enough for a king. After supper was dispatched we all knelt together in prayer, and all bade us good-night. We, of course, began to look around. Examining the larder, we found it literally full—ham, backbone, beefsteak, lard, meal, flour, molasses, potatoes, butter, eggs, sugar, coffee, etc. May the Lord bless our association together and draw us all nearer unto himself!

R. A. BRELAND, P. C.

Mrs. Paisley.

WHENEVER I see Hood's Sarsaparilla now I want to bow and say

'Thank You'

I was badly affected with Eczema and Scrofula Sores, almost covering one side of my face, nearly to the top of my head. Running sores discharged from both ears. My eyes were very bad, the eyelids so sore it was painful opening or closing them. For nearly a year I was deaf. I went to the hospital and had an operation performed for the removal of a cataract from one eye. One day my sister brought me which I took, and gradually began to feel better and stronger, and slowly the sores on my eyes and in my ears healed. I can now hear and see as well as ever." MRS. AMANDA PAISLEY, 176 Lander St., Newburgh N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache. Try a box

"Cannot be Improved!"

So MRS. F. E. BAKER, of Galveston, Tex., —SAYS OF—

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Having used Ayer's Hair Vigor for years, I find that it keeps my scalp clean and the hair in the best condition. My mother, now sixty years of age, has as fine a head of hair as when she was forty, a fact which she attributes to the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. It thickens the growth of the hair and restores gray hair to its original color. I cannot see how this preparation could be improved."—MRS. F. E. BAKER, Galveston, Texas.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., LOWELL, MASS.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Mrs. C. L. CHRISTIAN,

Ladies' - Purchasing - Agent,

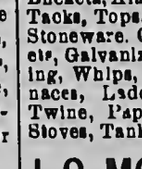
PETERS AVENUE, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

out jan25

USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED

TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms. Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away, as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine.



None genuine; without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $4.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to

DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer, Dixon, Ill.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 822 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES.

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Binding, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

DR. CHILES' Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally, but applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.

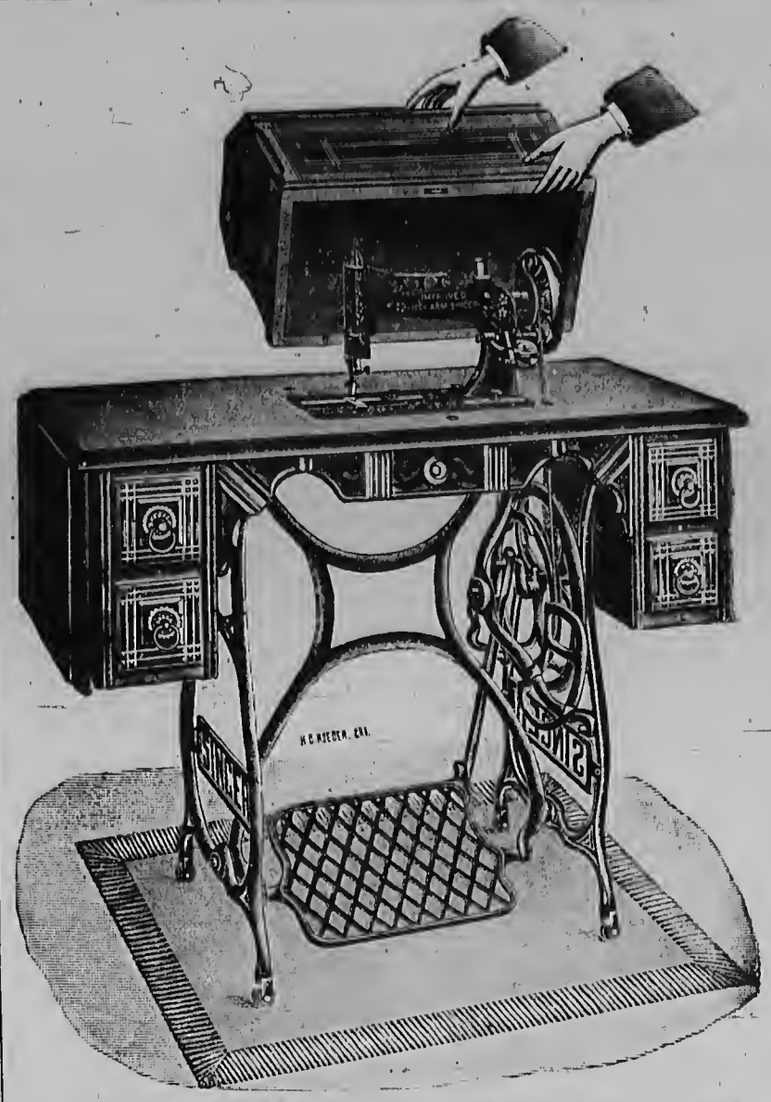
DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE

26 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and the adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being quite flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

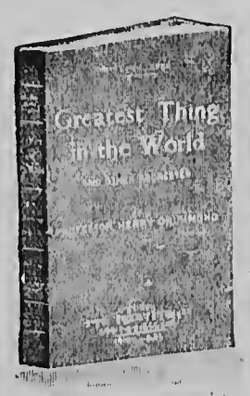
We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

DRUMMOND'S ADDRESSES.



ENAMEL PAPER COVERS.

The Greatest Thing in the World and Other Addresses.

By PROFESSOR HENRY DRUMMOND.

We know of no addresses more suited to the religious spirit of the time than those of the thoughtful author of "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." They contain no toleration of blind and rash unbelief; on the contrary, the writer is one of the most helpful and suggestive of the modern school of Christian apologists. He takes his stand on a very broad basis and expounds, earnestly yet logically, the great truths of religion.

1 VOL. 16mo. LARGE TYPE, 245 PAGES.

These Charming Addresses have been called for by the reading public to such an extent that more than 50,000 copies have been published.

THE VOLUME CONTAINS:

THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD—PAX VOBISCUM—THE CHANGED LIFE—"FIRST"—HOW TO LEARN HOW—WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?—THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE and A TALK ON BOOKS.

Publisher's price, twenty five cents. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who will pay his subscription to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. For fifteen cents additional we will send a neat cloth-bound edition. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J JONES
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WEIR, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

			Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
.. ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
.. ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
.. ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
.. ..	1	90 00	100 00

Thursday, January 24, 1895.

No Proof Yet.

The Great Iron Wheel No. 2 has never furnished proof of its assertion that the Southern Methodist Church is dominated by rings similar to the rings of the political world. Everybody knows that it would joyfully furnish such proof if it could. Its profound silence when called upon for proof is sufficient evidence of the utter falsity of its charge.

Ahead of His Brigade.

A short time ago Editor No. 2 of the Great Iron Wheel No. 2 was the most belligerent journalist on earth. He kept his war paint on day and night, and brandished his tomahawk so savagely, that it looked as if the universe was in danger. Recently, however, he has been as peaceful as a young turtle-dove.

His sudden conversion to the gospel of peace reminds us of an incident that is said to have occurred during the late Civil War. A brigadier-general of militia went into battle almost immediately after receiving his commission, having never seen military service before. In full uniform, with a brand new sword dangling from his belt, and a peacock feather waving proudly from his lofty crest, he put spurs to his steed and was soon out of sight ahead of his brigade. By and by minie balls began to whistle around him, and one struck him amidships. Fortunately, it was a spent ball, and did not even penetrate his clothing, but, as it struck him with sufficient force to cause considerable pain, he supposed that he was badly wounded. He executed a right-about-face, buried his spurs in the flanks of his horse, and made John Gilpin time until he had gotten in rear of his command, having lost cap and sword on the way. As soon as he got his breath sufficiently to articulate, he exclaimed, "Boys, I tell you there aint a bit of fun in fightin'." If the aforesaid Editor No. 2 will behave himself as a Methodist editor should, we will not tell how far he got ahead of his command, and other secrets of his famous retreat. SELAH.

Experience has vindicated the wisdom of the policy of taking the Annual Conference collections early in the year. Scarce as money is, there is a little in circulation now. A little later it will be a very rare commodity. The preacher who raises two or three of his collections now will very likely have little difficulty in finishing up next Fall, while the man who postpones all his collections until Fall is in many cases foredoomed to failure. Of course, there are exceptional cases; and, of course, every pastor must be his own judge in this matter; but a comparison of the results of the two methods will be helpful.

The Significance of Wants.

Strange as it may seem, the possession of many wants is a glorious inheritance, provided there is the possibility of their gratification. In this connection we use the word "want" in its best sense, applying it not to the longing for that which is base and degrading, but to the desire for what is ordinarily harmless. It is a manifest truth that the perception of a want precedes effort to supply that want. Men take no interest in obtaining what they do not feel the need of. Economic history is but the record of man's increasing wants, and consequently of his attempts to meet them. Primitive man subsisted chiefly by hunting and fishing, and he was content with a rough covering of skins to protect himself from the cold and to hide his nakedness. Thus it is with the savage to day. The civilized man, however, has wants without number. It is the perception of many wants that has lifted him above the savage.

Not only, then, is the consciousness of needs the prime cause of human activity, but it is in reality the germ of civilization itself. Without the realization of pressing needs the great inventions would never have been achieved. Uncivilized peoples, conscious of the need of better forms of government, have struggled upward during the centuries, until grand monuments of power and justice have been erected in the shape of stable monarchies and glorious republics where the rights of all are equally respected.

On every hand we find illustrations of the woe that comes upon men whose wants are fully satisfied, and who, therefore, remain inactive. The fact that a man is fully satisfied is by no means proof that his condition is one to be coveted. We in this land of culture and lofty civilization enjoy a thousand comforts and conveniences that to a savage in the wilds of Africa would be valueless; but who of us would like to exchange places with a savage? Many an Indian neither knows nor cares anything about books and literature. Who would say, however, that the life of the Indian is preferable to that of a Longfellow or a Gladstone? Many a boy fancies himself able to cope with the world without the training of the schools. Inflated with the idea of his self-importance and superior talents, he is satisfied with the bare husks of ignorance until by and by bitter experience shows him his mistake, and arouses in him an intense longing for knowledge. But, alas! it is too late. His school days, his heaven-sent opportunities for mental improvement and equipment, have passed. Of what avail is his intellectual hunger now? How comfortless the reflection that once the treasures of wisdom were within his grasp!

Nothing is truer than that things of worth are, as a rule, not bestowed upon those who do not want them. Riches seldom fall into the lap of the spendthrift or the sluggard. Liberty is never the permanent possession of a cowardly, spiritless people. Wisdom never embraces the idler or the time killer. Public offices do not usually hunt up the contented, unaspiring toiler. Even so salvation is not the reward of the non-seeking sinner. As in temporal matters, so in matters spiritual, there is no activity where the perception of want is lacking. Without spiritual hunger there is no seeking for the Bread of Life. As well expect a stall fed ox to run after a hay wagon as to expect a careless, impenitent sinner, or a worldly-minded church-member, to hunger after righteousness. Without the consciousness of imperfection there can not be growth in grace or striving after holiness.

Occasionally one meets with people who seem to be afraid of getting too much religion. Alas! that it should be so; but there is danger of getting too much of the so-called religion, which makes its professors proud, exclusive, intolerant, boasters of their own high estate. No man, however, ever becomes overcharged with the type of piety which manifests itself in obedience to the commands of God, in humility of spirit and conversation, in fervent charity, in deeds of mercy to humanity. Nor need any man fear that God will bestow a deep spiritual blessing without solicitation. Raptures of experience, the higher joys, never come to those who lead prayerless, self-indulgent lives.

One of the saddest reflections that come to a Christian minister is that so many hearers are destitute of spiritual desires. Men and women stifle the voice of conscience and disregard the God-given longing for purity and righteousness, until all their wants are temporal and sensuous. In every congregation there are persons who apparently care no more for religion than a Hottentot does for astronomy. All their tastes and appetites run counter to God. They have culture, ease, abundance of food and raiment, friends with whom to while away the weary hours. The bloom of health is upon their cheeks; the goddess of pleasure invites them to taste a thousand sweets. No bodily or mental want is unsatisfied. Why, then, should they be serious? Why should they concern themselves about repentance, faith, and righteousness, about the life beyond? Imagining they have need of nothing, as the Scripture says, they are "wretched and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." To call that man miserable who has all that heart can wish to the unregenerate man seems the height of absurdity. Truly, the Lord seeth not as man seeth. Many a son of Adam needs to realize that God does not force salvation upon his children as medicine is sometimes forced down the throat of a sick, but rebellious child. The joys of salvation never come to any of us till we long for them as we never longed for any earthly thing. None save they who earnestly seek it experience "the peace that passeth understanding." No Ingersoll or Tom Paine ever received the witness of the Spirit. How full, then, of significance are the words of the Savior, "Woe unto you that are full! for ye shall hunger."

Sorely Afflicted.

Our neighbor, the Times-Democrat, is sorely afflicted. In a recent issue it pours its griefs into the ear of the public in a most plaintive, pathetic wail, a column long. Its sorrow is not of a personal nature; neither is it sectional. Its tears are not shed over any calamity that has overtaken itself, or the city of New Orleans, or the State of Louisiana, or the South. Neither is it weeping over the woes of the famine-stricken sufferers of the far West. No, no. It weeps for a nobler cause than this. That which has touched its lachrymal glands and caused its tears to flow in a swollen, briny stream is the dire calamity that has overtaken the horse-racing fraternity in the State of New York. These men, it tells us, have invested more than $30,000,000 in racing property of one kind or another in the vicinity of New York City alone, to say nothing of other parts of the State. Yet they are under the necessity of emigrating to Chicago, or to some foreign country, if they would continue to ply their trade. It is on account of the grievous wrongs inflicted upon these poor, down-trodden creatures that rivers of waters run from its eyes. Surely if the tens of thousands of pious church-going people in the State of New York, who voted the anti-gambling ticket, had had the gift of prophecy, so that they could foresee the fountains of disinterested, sympathetic tears that would flow in a distant State as a result of their action, they would not have used their ballots so ruthlessly on that fateful day in November last.

Poor Times-Democrat. Poor horse racers! How sad their fate! But is there no hope? Perhaps if those thoughtless New Yorkers could be made to realize the deep grief which their action has caused, they would rise up en masse and set aside that anti-gambling clause in their new Constitution. Will some of the papers of that great commonwealth be kind enough to make the suggestion?

"New Theology."

In a recent issue of the Independent, Bishop Perry has this to say concerning "New Theology" in the Protestant Episcopal Church:

There has been a marked reaction in various quarters of the church against the loose thinking and talking on dogmatic theology, which made the Church Congress of 1893, in its papers and speeches, an offense in the sight of all conservative churchmen. The meeting of the House of Bishops, in New York, in October, was prefaced by a most solemn appeal, in The Churchman, from the venerable Bishop of Western Michigan, Dr. Gillespie, calling attention, as the Bishop of Springfield and others had done before, to the danger threatening the church from the alleged doctrinal unsoundness of some of the leaders of the Broad Church school of thought, and certain schools of divinity where this "liberal" theology was supposed to obtain. It is revealing no secret when we state that the discussion of this subject by the Bishops in council at a session at which more than half of the entire American episcopate was present, revealed a unanimity of belief on the part of the Bishops in the verities of "the faith once delivered to the saints," as gratifying as it was conclusive. The appointment, by unanimous vote, of a carefully selected committee to prepare and set forth to the church a pastoral on the doctrinal questions supposed to be involved in these discussions, which should relieve the minds of those who were troubled by the questioning of the faith in which they had been taught, and which should leave no question as to the attitude of the Bishops on these controversies, was most reassuring. This pastoral may now be daily expected from the press, and it will come with no "uncertain sound."

For the sake of Christianity we are glad to receive this information. The church is speaking on this question none too soon. The Higher Criticism fad has affected the Protestant Episcopal Church, perhaps, more than any other.

The Armenian Horrors.

Human history reveals nothing more cruel, brutal and fiendish than the recent barbarities practiced upon Armenian communities by Kurds and Turkish soldiers. Language does not supply words fit to express the heartless cruelty and unspeakable vileness of these deeds of shame. While the air is full of these barbarities, practiced on women and children, as well as on men, new butcheries and barbarities are reported. And yet, all that has reached the civilized world is only what has escaped Turkish efforts to prevent the facts being known. Any attempt to defend themselves against the wanton assaults of their enemies is severely punished; but the real offenders escape The Kurds are a wild race and are nearly all well armed, as they are expected to aid Turkey in any war against Russia. A writer in The Review of Reviews says that the Armenians under the Russian government are peaceful and contented. There is no justice in Turkish administration of law. The whole system of government is corrupt and rotten. The military forces that should protect these people are their cruel persecutors. What adds to the horror of these barbarities is that they are justified by their religion. The extermination of "infidels," as all Christians are called, is no crime. How long will Christian nations look on, and allow this corrupt government to be the ruler of these oppressed people? If ever war is justifiable, it would be justifiable as the means of punishing and preventing such outrages.—Guardian.

A Good Opportunity.

The friends of Bro. D. A. Little have heard of his death, have seen in the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE that his family needed assistance.

Brethren, have you responded? If you have not, you have an opportunity to do something that will prove a blessing to yourself as well as to the deserving widow and orphans of a brother beloved. A small sum from many will greatly help Sister Little.

The preachers will help; but let us see to it that this privilege shall be divided. I am not going to meet Bro. Little in heaven and be embarrassed with the sad truth that I only prayed for his wife and children, that I sympathized with them only. I want a share in the house that is to be the home of this sister and her children, and so will you, brother, some day. Now is your time. If you, brother layman, can only spare one dollar, send that. If five, so much the better; but be sure to send something, and send at once.

P. A. RICHARDSON.

Centreville, Miss.

BOOKS.

ROMANISM VERSUS PROTESTANTISM. By Rev. R. C. Armstrong. D D. Printed for the Author. Barbee & Smith, Agents, Nashville, Tenn.

The above is the title of a pamphlet of 126 pages. Price, fifty cents. The matter in this pamphlet was first delivered in the form of a series of lectures, and afterwards published in the Texas Advocate. In response to a popular demand for its publication in a more enduring form, this booklet came into existence. It treats of the errors of Romanism in a manner which is likely to command wide attention. Many will think the author too pessimistic in his views concerning the political aims and purposes of Romanism in the United States. Aside from its teaching on this point, however, the work presents a view of Rome as she is at the present day that is worthy of the attention of Protestants everywhere.

The work can be had by addressing the author at Corsicana, Texas.

CHASING A YACHT. By James Otis. 351 pages. Price, $1.25. The Penn. Pub. Co., Philadelphia. For sale by Geo. F. Wharton & Bro.

This is a delightful story, well told. Three bad and two good boys are the characters described. The "Gem" is a tidy little yacht owned by a wealthy gentleman who lives on Lake Champlain. The boat being out of repair, he leases it to Ned and Ray Barclay, who renovate it, and propose to run it for excursion parties on the lake during the Summer months. Three other boys steal the boat; Ned and Ray give chase, and some stirring scenes result. They finally recover the yacht, and all ends happily for them. The boys will be charmed with this book, which, without any attempt at moralizing, teaches useful lessons in pluck, perseverance and truthfulness. It merits a place in any Sunday-school library.

King Humbert of Italy is said to be the most charitable sovereign of Europe. On Christmas he gave $80,000 to the poor and abandoned the ball at the royal palace to save the expense. For more than a year he has not touched the crown income.

NOTES.

Bro. R. M. Blocker, Jeanerette, La., has a good revival in progress.

***

Rev. W. L. Linfield has been changed by Bishop Keener from Meadville to Utica, Miss.

***

The address of Rev. J. E. Dennis has been changed from Melville, La., to Bunkie, La.

***

Rev. Henry Carre won the Glendy Burke Medal in the oratorical contest held recently at Tulane University.

***

The January-February number of our Review lies on our table, but comes too late for an extended notice in this issue.

***

A memorial service will be held at Parker Chapel, next Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, in honor of Rev. J. D. Parker.

***

Mrs. M. M. Snell announced during her meeting here last week that she feels called of the Lord to be a holiness evangelist, and that she intends to obey the call, no matter how many churches it closes against her.

***

The great Brooklyn street car strike, an account of which is given in our news column, affords another exemplification of the dense ignorance that prevails as to the nature of liberty. They suppose that they have the right not only to quit work themselves, but to make everybody else quit—doctrine whose outcome will be anarchy.

***

Letters which we have recently received from friends in California make it almost certain that S. M. Drover is identical with S. M. Driver, who was expelled from the M. E. Church for deserting his wife and children and running off to parts unknown with another woman. The description given of Driver by those who know him personally fits Drover exactly.

***

Dr. Lyman Beecher, in the second of his famous six temperance sermons, said: "There is no remedy for intemperance but the cessation of it. Nature must be released from the unnatural war which is made upon her, and be allowed to rest, and then nutrition and sleep and exercise will perform the work of restoration." This was a wise utterance in the early day in which Dr. Beecher sent it forth, and it remains equally true for to-day.

***

The Central Methodist expresses itself as follows:

"Men who have for their chief stock in trade abuse of the church, and fault-finding on a general, if not a grand, scale, failing to reconcile themselves to the situation, ought to do one of two things: Step out of the church and leave it in quiet possession, or else turn the church out and run things to suit their own liking. This advice is well meant, however it may be received."

***

A brother writes:

Allow me to congratulate you upon your last excellent editorial. A few more "such shots" will tell throughout the church.

This is the sample of the tone of a large number of letters received recently, some of them from prominent and influential men in distant Conferences. We have others marked for quotation, but desist for pity's sake. We lay them away, however, for future use, if occasion requires.

***

The Holston Methodist refers to the announcement by one or two men that they are going to revolutionize the church by making the presiding eldership elective, and limiting the term of the Bishop's office to four years, and then adds, "Put your hand over your mouth while you smile." Smile, of course. The world always smiles when it sees a gnat light upon an ox's horn, and imagine that its weight is about to crush the beast into the earth.

***

The Cotton Growers' Convention, held at Shreveport last week, heartily endorsed the action of the Convention held at Jackson, and took steps towards bringing about a thorough organization of cotton planters throughout the State. It also passed a resolution urging Congress to pass an anti-option law. Will the Louisiana delegation in Congress heed the wishes of the cotton planters, or will they do the bidding of the great cotton-gambling concern in this city?

***

Rev. J. D. Parker died at his home in this city on the seventeenth in the eighty-ninth year of his age. He was a native of North Carolina; was licensed to preach in Virginia considerably more than fifty years ago. He has been a resident of this city for more than forty years. Although he never joined the itinerant ranks, he was eminently useful as a minister of the gospel of Christ. Though he is gone, his works abide. Parker Chapel, of this city, named in his honor, owes its existence to his arduous, self-sacrificing labors. He was a man of deep spirituality—one whose life was a constant proclamation of the truth of our holy religion.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2 50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We vote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured. Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our cure on the market now.

West End, Meridian.

I write to correct the erroneous reports which have, unaccountably to me, gotten abroad, and to relieve the minds of the brethren in regard to the appointment at West End Church. To let them remain uncorrected, the reports might be taken as truths, which are calculated to injure the reputation which this church now sustains for spirituality and liberality and maintenance of the doctrine of entire sanctification. After the appointments had been announced at Conference, and Bro. Hopper was taken from us against the unanimous wish of the church, which was made known to the proper authorities, and Bro. I. W. Cooper was sent to us, it was reported to him by several brethren that the church was all split up and at discord; that the members were rebellious, and would refuse to support him; that an official meeting had been held to protest against the action of the Conference and to consult whether to receive the newly appointed pastor. Some even advised that he leave his family in Jackson until he could come and see if matters could be harmonized. These reports are entirely erroneous. It is true that the church desired the return of Bro. Hopper, and, as he had been here only two years and had accomplished so much, all thought he ought to be returned; but after the appointing power saw fit to remove him, being loyal Methodists, there was no other thought on the part of a single member but to cordially receive the new pastor. As for the church being divided and at strife, I have never known a church more united and harmonious, in perfect accord upon every subject. As for the report that the members were rebellious and would refuse to support the new pastor, let the following facts answer: The Sunday after Conference, there being no preacher present, the writer conducted the services and called the members around the altar for prayer. They gave their hands, pledging themselves to support and uphold the hands of the new pastor in every good work as faithfully as they had done the retiring one.

At the first meeting of the Board of Stewards the pastor's salary was raised one hundred and fifty dollars over last year, a great many of the members voluntarily doubly increasing their assessment to meet the additional expense. So that report was groundless. All the members of the Board of Stewards are in the experience of sanctification and faithfully observe the tithe law, paying a tenth to the Lord, and then give as the Lord prospers them, as do also a number of the members, which is the secret of our financial success. As for the report that there was an official meeting to protest against the action of the Conference, no such action was ever suggested or thought of by a single man, and the unanimous and cordial reception given Bro. Cooper upon the occasion of his first service last Sunday proved all the reports to be groundless.

To relieve the anxiety of all the brethren who are uneasy about Bro. Cooper's welfare, I will say that Bro. Cooper has a good appointment and will be taken care of; and we have a good preacher. If his two first sermons are an index to his preaching, we will be spiritually fed; and we will not renounce our faith or lower the standard of our religion.

The financial report for last year was undoubtedly one of the best, if not the best, in the Conference. All the Annual Conference assessments were paid in full, and several of them were overpaid. The assessment for the presiding elder's salary was $80; amount paid, $83.70. The pastor's salary was $650; amount paid, $810 85 besides parsonage rent, $150 The amount paid for all purposes was $2 072 05. This showing was made despite the general financial stringency, and a railroad strike by means of which we lost several of our best members, besides having a number of others thrown out of employment for several months. We paid five hundred dollars in evangelists, one of whom was a woman, and added over one hundred members to the church. We expect to come up at Conference with a good report. Yours in love,

D. L. HARMON
Sec'y and Treas. Board of Stewards.

Meridian, Miss., Jan. 11, 1895.

A COUGH SHOULD NOT BE NEGLECTED "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are a simple remedy and give immediate and sure relief.

The Fearn Mission.

I report the following receipts on the amount necessary to send Dr. J. B. Fearn as a missionary to China, viz.: Acknowledged previously, $202.50. Miss Lizzie Gresham, $1; Mrs. W. S. Shipman, $5; Two Laymen from Greenwood, Miss., $50; Mr. L. P. Brown, $10; Rev. M. M. Black, $5; Rev. W. B. Lewis, $10; Mr. S. S. Cope, $5; Rev. W. H. Lewis, $12; Mr. John A. Guice, $5; Rev. R. D. Norsworthy, $10; Rev. J. G. Galloway, $5; Mr. D. S. Harmon, $10; Miss E. A. Graham, $1; total, $336 5).

I append an extract from a letter from Rev. W. S. Shipman, of the North Mississippi Conference. The letter was not intended for publication, but I know that he will pardon the liberty I take, because it may be the means of provoking the interest of others in our cause. This is the extract:

I write you this note with a glad heart. Two of my noble laymen have had their hearts stirred in reading your call for help to send Bro. J. Burrus Fearn, M. D., to China, and I enclose to you this day their check for fifty dollars ($50), and also a check for five from my dear, good wife. And these dear brothers, Johnson Brothers, request me to tell you that if the balance needed to send Bro. Fearn can't be raised, for you to let me know. I know, dear Doctor, you will receive, as will the entire church, this news with a grateful heart.

The letter did surely fill me with gratitude, and I believe that the publication of the above extract will do good to others.

Several letters from D. Lamhuth encourage me forward in raising the money, with the assurance that Dr. Fearn will be sent out just as soon as the money is in hand.

Oh, that the Macedonian cry may soon meet with a hearty response!

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 18, 1895.

North Mississippi Conference.

The Minutes of the recent session of the North Mississippi Conference will be ready for distribution in a few days. Brethren whose post-office addresses are not indicated in the appointments will confer a favor by sending them to me at once. J. S. OAKLEY.

Holly Springs, Miss.

Notice.

To the Pastors and District Stewards of the Seashore District—

Dear Brethren: Will you please inform me at once whether or not you will attend the district stewards' meeting, to convene in our church in this city on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1895, according to announcement by Rev. C. A. Powell, P. E. I request the above information so that I will be prepared to furnish you with homes. Please let me hear from you who will attend.

ROBT. SELBY, P. C.

Biloxi, Miss., Jan. 17, 1895.

Notice.

I have agreed to see the Brooks Cottage finished, as I had commenced the work. The contract is out, and all who have subscribed will please send to me at once. My address is 2918 Seventh street, Meridian, Miss.

I. W. COOPER.

A FORTUNE LOST.

It was not at Monte Carlo or Baden-Baden, but at home, in her own house, when her system broke down under the strain of Uterine trouble, that her fortune and good health were lost. CREOLE FEMALE TONIC restored it rapidly by its wonderful influence and tonic power.

Epworth Era.

Bishop Hargrove presented a paper from the Holston Conference, touching the editorial management of the Era. The committee held that D. Steel, as editor of the Epworth Era, is responsible to the Book Committee; but the paper having come before them, it was duly considered and the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Certain unfortunate utterances in the Epworth Era have been widely criticised, and the paper has suffered thereby; And whereas, We are persuaded by D. Steele's assurance to us that special care will be taken to avoid any just ground for objection to the paper; therefore, we express our confidence in him, and our hope that the organ of the Epworth League, so necessary to our work, will receive the hearty support of the whole church.

Resolved, That a copy of this action be furnished to the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and to our other church papers for publication.

Centenary College.

The half of session '94 and '95 is ended. The increased expenses have reduced the funds in the treasury. We need an additional contribution. Some of the Methodists of Louisiana have long promised that when the pupils were obtained, the increased funds would follow. Now, in behalf of the college, I wish to refresh your minds by stating through the ADVOCATE that we have the pupils, and urge you to redeem your promises to yourself and your church by sending in contributions to Dr. Carter, our president. It has been many years, according to the belief of the people of Jackson, since the college has been so well attended as this year. There has never been a better loved or more respected president than Dr. Carter. The boys all love him, and say he is so just and fair that they think he would try and demerit the teachers, if it were necessary. Pay up, brother. Very truly,

C. C. WIER, Agent.

"Double Ten."

Through the good offices of my good friend, Rev. W. S. Shipman, of Greenwood, Miss., I have received two tens for my young preacher. Two souls who love to see the Lord's work prosper, moved by the appeal in the ADVOCATE, send me this, and it came perfumed with the incense of prayer. Surely the Lord has already blessed the donors. He who helps to equip a preacher for his great work is in harmony with God's plans, and can count on a rich reward from conscience and from the Lord.

I have now about one-half the amount needed. Who will be the next to add to this fund?

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La., Jan. 16, 1896

And Still Another.

A good friend on the Mississippi coast sends me a contribution for my young preacher. One man had the opportunity of securing all the reward for this service, and refused; so the reward will go further and do more good by being divided among the many. "God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labor of love which ye have showed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints and do minister." I still lack more tens to accomplish the good work, and while devoutly thankful for what has been done, I ask for more.

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La., Jan. 21, 1895.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting

DAY OF PRAYER FOR COLLEGES.

(1. Tim. iv, 12-16; 1 Cor. Tim. i, 6, 7; 1. Tim. i, 18, 19)

The self-made man is usually very loud in his praises of the maker. He may have met with success in life; but much more he could have accomplished if he had been educated.

1. To call upon God for aid in an enterprise which we can push to a successful termination without aid, is either silly or sinful.

(1) In vain the sluggard asks for abundant crops. Hard toil secures the harvest.

(2) To pray for success in life without individual, earnest effort is useless.

(3) In short, God will not do for us what we can do ourselves. 'Tis ourselves who must keep God's commandments, who must live holy lives. Where our strength fails, God's assistance will not be implored in vain.

2. This being admitted, we ought satisfactorily to answer ourselves the following questions regarding our colleges:

(1) Do we adhere to systematic gradation regarding high-schools, academies, colleges, universities?

(2) Are our schools wisely located?

(3) Do our opulent members liberally support our educational enterprises?

(4) Are our instructors men of superior ability?

(5) Are our preachers assiduously working to secure students for our colleges?

(6) Are our schools equal, if not superior, to similar institutions of the State or sister churches?

3. Being able to answer these interrogatories affirmatively, we should pray:

(1) For the success of educational enterprises everywhere. Education banishes prejudices, conceit, ignorance, superstition.

(2) For the seats of learning in our church particularly. Illiteracy is Satan's favorite soil for the cultivation of all manner of vices. Only intellectual culture will secure to our members the highest places of society. The time for pretense, presumption, arrogance, dash, sham is no more. Only thorough education will now carry the day.

(3) Pray, yes, pray for our colleges—for an increase of students; for additional endowment; for instructors of superior acumen, learning, self-sacrifice, piety.

Premium Offer Extraordinary.

We are still handling the Epworth pianos and organs. We sell these instruments under a guarantee. We have one of the pianos in use in our own home, and a superb instrument it is. We will sell any instrument in the catalogue for cash at thirty-three and a third per cent. discount from catalogue prices. Or we will sell at the catalogue price, and take payment in subscriptions to the ADVOCATE, giving a commission of one dollar on each new subscription. Send for catalogue. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. No POSTALS ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Any preacher who is desirous of supplementing his salary by taking a job as "nice and clane and aisy" as a Bishop's job is in Pat's estimation, will find it to his interest to communicate with the undersigned. The earlier the better. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp St. New Orleans, La.

You Dye in 30 minutes Our turkey red dye on cotton won't freeze, boil or wash out—all others will. Tonk's French Dyes are different from others. Just the thing for hard times. Make the carpets, dresses, capes and clothing as bright and attractive as new. Anyone can do it. No mistake if you have Tonk's. Try them and see. Send 4c. for 6 pkgs., or 10c. for one, any color. Big pay for agents. Write quick. Mention this paper.
FRENCH DYE CO., Vassar, Mich.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

it is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.
LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.
E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOW'S YOUR FIGURE?

Trim? Straight? Well-Developed? Then don't spoil it with ready-made clothes, cut to fit anybody; wear clothes that fit—that were made for you.

HOW'RE OUR FIGURES?

Suits - - -	$13.25
Pants - - -	$3.00
Topcoats - - (Fine Melton)	$10.25

Made to measure—to fit you perfectly; superior material, latest styles.

ADD OUR FIGURES TO YOUR FIGURE

And the result will delight you.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS Company
OVERCOATS AND SUITS
313 ST. CHARLES ST.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,					-	$84,520,681
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	-	40,684,168
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	-	40,117,616

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.
CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GEORGE C. LOGAN, Agent,

COAL AND COKE.

No. 410 BARONNE STREET,
Telephone 1283. Bet. Poydras and Perdido, New Orleans.
oct laoly

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 831.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY, Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.
oct laly29

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . . and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail.— 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576 NEW ORLEANS.
oct 1eb8

THE most successful farmers and gardeners buy their seed directly from the growers; for this reason we raise largely the most risky kinds, especially Cabbage and Onion Seed. This latter is extra fine this season. No catalogue contains more varieties of vegetable seed, and none more of the new that are really good—see outside cover for an illustrated selection from our new specialties, which we will sell at half rates. Catalogue free.
J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers,
MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS

and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $15. Write to-day. "A" Grade, $27.50. Write to-day.

Godey's Magazine.

ESTABLISHED 1830.
Volume CXXX begins January, 1895.

During 1895 GODEY'S MAGAZINE will contain:

A series of articles entitled "FAIR WOMEN," which will contain half-tone pictures of the most beautiful women of the world—of America, England, France, Austria, Spain, and other countries.

A series of articles on WOMEN ARTISTS OF THE DAY, and their work, beautifully illustrated.

THE FAMOUS WOMEN SERIES, in which will be described the famous women of the world, particularly those who have made history.

There will also be illustrated articles on Art and Travel; Sketches, Short Stories, Serials, Poetry, Book Reviews, etc.

THE FASHION DEPARTMENT, which for years has given the latest fads and fashions, is of particular interest to women.

GODEY'S is distinctively a woman's magazine, yet its features are such as to appeal to all members of the family, and the low price brings it within the reach of all.

Subscriptions, $1 a year.
Two cents a number.

Send three two cent stamps to the Publishers for a sample copy.

THE GODEY COMPANY,
32 34 Lafayette Place, NEW YORK.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST.

Old No 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST.,
NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, made Sound and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

Prices.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth.....$8
Partial Sets.....from $3 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns.....from $4 to $5
Gold Filling.....from $1 to $1
Amalgam and Zinc Filling, from 75 cents to $1.00
Extracting, Painless.....50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

Dr. George W. Rembert,

DENTIST,

Godchaux Building, New Orleans.
Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

☞Take elevator on Canal street.

WOOD AND COAL

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts. Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 18 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine block $1.50. Planed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS OF MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,
LIMITED.
518 and 520 CAMP ST.
Telephone 139.

FREE TO ALL!

Our New Illustrated Catalogue of Plants, Roses, Bulbs, Vines, Shrubs, Small Fruits, Ornamental Trees, Grape Vines, Seeds, etc., will be mailed free to all applicants. 100 pages. Most complete Plant Catalogue published. Satisfaction guaranteed. 20 Rose Houses; 15 Greenhouses; 30 Acres Nurseries. Address
NANZ & NEUNER, Louisville, Ky.

AGENTS MAKE $5 a Day Greatest Kitchen Utensil Invented. Retails 25 cts. 2 to 6 sold in a house. Sample postage paid FREE. FORSHEE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

The "Index to Chimneys" tells what shape and size and make to get for every burner and lamp.

Geo. A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa, will send it—write. Pearl glass, pearl top, tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT

French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO.
26-28 N. William St.
New York.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON.

ALSO IN SYRUP.

PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

WANTED 5000 MORE BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. each month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

Our Journey Around THE World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. One sold 200 in his own township; another, a lady, 58 in one Endeavor Society; another, 152 in 15 days—all are making money. 75d thousand. Now is the time. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write at once for Circulars to

A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

BURPEE'S BRIGHT RED BOOK

"Bright alike outside and inside." Mailed FREE on application. With each copy we will send (ful) a beautiful painting of New Sweet Peas until the 500,000 have all been called for. Send a postal to-day.

W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Philada.

Leave

Doubtful Seeds alone. The best are easy to get, and cost no more. Ask your dealer for

FERRY'S SEEDS

Always the best. Known everywhere. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells you what, how, and when to plant. Sent Free. Get it. Address

D. M. FERRY & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF CHURCH FURNISHINGS
OPERA AND ASSEMBLY CHAIRS
SCHOOL FURNITURE COMPANY
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P.O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, F. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D. with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

DEAFNESS

and head noises relieved by using WILSON'S COMMON SENSE EAR DRUMS. Entirely new, scientific invention; different from all other devices; the only safe, simple, comfortable, and invisible ear drum in the world. Hundreds are being benefitted where medical skill has failed. No string or wire attachment to irritate the ear. Write for pamphlet.

THE DRUM IN POSITION

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.
141 Trust Bldg. LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING

CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS

PUREST BELL METAL, COPPER AND TIN. Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE CHURCH

Bells, Peals and Chimes.

Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin only, and so warranted. Best Hangings and Workmanship in the Country. Highest Award at World's Fair and Gold Medal at Mid-Winter Fair.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
E. W. Vanduzen Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS

FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c.

Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and Terms FREE.

HOME CIRCLE.

NOBODY KNOWS BUT MOTHER.

Nobody knows of the work it makes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it takes,
Nobody knows but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes
Which kisses only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows,
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed on baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender prayer,
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the lessons taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience long,
Nobody knows but mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears
Lest darlings may not weather
The storms of life in after years,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody kneels at the throne above
To thank the heavenly Father
For that sweetest gift, a mother's love;
Nobody can—but mother.

—Exchange.

The Oil of Peace.

The absence of small courtesies in the family life destroys the beauty and harmony so essential to its perfection. The lack of attention when one member attempts to speak, and the habit of all speaking together, are responsible for that confusion of talk which takes the place of the graceful conversation which is so desirable an art, and one which lends so much to the pleasure of family life—and pleasure is an important factor in its perfection. The polite formalities of "Excuse me," "Thank you," "I beg your pardon;" the habit of attention; the avoiding of subjects of conversation which arouse heated arguments, are the constant offerings to hosts of people in whom we have but slight interest, and who reciprocate in kind and degree; we never think of omitting these formalities, and use them as the current coin, in polite society. Yet where should society be so polite as within the walls of home? And where does it minister so much to the happiness of the individual as in the circle which bounds his world?

Much of the awkwardness, brusqueness, lack of power of expression which handicap many people in their intercourse with the world can be traced to the lack of polite intercourse in the home—the timid one growing more timid, and losing the self-confidence which is necessary to dignity; the aggressive one being unsuppressed till he becomes a tyrant at home and a nuisance abroad.

Politeness does not mean formality; it means graceful kindness. Said a lady recently, whose manner is full of charm: "My children are my best critics. When I hear the remark, apparently rude, but intended as facetious, 'Mama has on her company manners,' I know I have offended against good taste!" The charm of that household lies in the perfect manners which reduce friction to the minimum, and bring social training to the point of perfect naturalness. You never think of manners when in that home.—Christian Union.

Value of Small Libraries.

Public libraries are inestimable blessings, but the thoughtful reader and student will always strive to possess his own books. Ownership of anything imparts to it an additional interest in the eyes of the owner, and for that reason every man should begin early to form the nucleus of a library which shall be his own. It need not be large or unwieldy; the smaller it is the better the selection is likely to be. Nor should it be obtained all at once. A library is not intended to be bought by the yard or the hundred-weight. It should be the index to the man's character. As the great and finished cathedral of the Middle Ages is the embodiment of the religious aspirations of centuries, representing in its towers and buttresses, and in the very tracery which the sculptor entwined about its columns, the gradual unfolding of the genius of a people through many generations, so a private library should indicate the mental growth and development of its owner.

Few steps in life are entitled to more deliberate consideration than that which a young man should bestow on the purchase of his first book. It is a step which may determine the cast of his whole mental life. He has gone through the mill of the schoolroom, and stands free to make his own selection. If due reflection has been exercised in the purchase of this first book, its contents will be well digested before another is added, and the second will necessarily have some relation to the first. And so the structure rises, and with it the man's mental life is built up, his modes of thought, his ideas of things determined, his character formed. A well balanced, symmetrical library, thus built up, will indicate a well-balanced, symmetrical mind. Such a library reflects the mental life of its owner; it is a constant fountain of inspiration from which he can draw fresh impulses and ideas. To its possessor it is what the soil and air are to the plant. It nourishes and supports his intellectual life, enables it to give forth its rich flower and its mellow fruit, lifts it up into the altitude and beauties of a nobler world, and opens for it a sphere that it may fittingly adorn.—Young Men's Era.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The Power of Kindness.

A thoughtless bad boy stole all the grapes he could find on the vines in a small vinery belonging to a good lady who lived near his mother. The lady's daughter discovered the thief, and was very angry with him. Her mother said to her, "Don't give way to such angry feelings, my dear, but carry the few bunches that the thief has left, with some other nice things such as she needs, to his poor, sick mother."

She did so. She got a little basket and set off with the grapes to the boy's mother. She gave them to her with a kind message from her own mother that she would come next day to see her. The boy saw the young girl on her way to the cottage where he lived, and he thought she was going to tell of the theft he had committed, but when he found out what her real errand was, and saw the kindness shown to his mother by those whom he had injured, his heart smote him. He was so overcome with shame and sorrow that he went and confessed his sin, and offered her the money he had received for the stolen fruit, and declared that he never would steal again as long as he lived.

The lady declined taking the money, but advised him to go to Sunday-school and put the money in the missionary box. He did so, and continued to attend the Sunday-school regularly. This ended in his becoming a Christian, and growing up to be an active, useful man.

"Blessed are the peacemakers."

Here we see how blessed this lady was; the good she did to that bad boy.—Children's Paper.

Reading for Children.

No child can attain a vigorous mental development who is allowed free access to the mass of cheap literature to be had at the present time. Trashy reading impairs the memory, saps the mind of its vigor and destroys the relish for useful knowledge. In this age when great moral and even spiritual truths must be clothed in fiction to be made palatable to the minds of the young, it may be impossible to banish all fictitious works; but care will certainly be required that the fiction does not make a deeper impression on the imagination than the truth does on the heart and conscience. The staid maxims and precepts that illuminated the pages of the spelling books and English readers less than half a century ago, although plain almost to severity in language, yet possessed a brevity and clearness of diction that gave them a wholesome relish, while their dignity of style and earnestness inspired veneration and faith. And although this was one extreme, yet may it not be questioned if it was not more wholesome to the growing mind than the present method, that seeks to convey these teachings through the channel of an excited imagination?—Selected.

"As the Twig Is Bent."

When it is necessary for little children to leave the table before their elders have finished their repast, it is very nice to hear them "beg to be excused" in a polite manner. But when they are a little older grown, too often they seem to forget, when in haste to leave the table, that the mere asking to be excused does not justify them in leaving the table before it is really proper that they should do so, unless it is absolutely necessary.

Nowhere can children be better taught nice table manners than at home, and what they are taught there, and made to practice, becomes a sort of second nature; while that learned later in life is not so easy to practice, and is more like an ill-fitting garment.

When we see young people uneasy and restless, because they have to remain seated at table, while others finish eating, while they had finished some time before, we may know at once that during childhood they had not been taught aright in this one point of table etiquette. Some parents claim that they are glad when their children are through with their meals, and are glad to have them leave the table as soon as possible. Yet if children are taught to behave properly at table, this feeling would not be so often expressed.

Of course when I speak of children remaining at table, I do not mean during a long, ceremonious meal, but during common, every-day family meals. But, says someone, "such things are mere trifles;" yet, my friend, you must admit our lives are made up of trifles, and the common laws of politeness do much toward smoothing the friction of life.—Housekeeper.

Keep a Clean Mouth.

A distinguished author says, "I resolved, when I was a child, never to use a word which I could not pronounce before my mother." He kept his resolution, and became a pure-minded, noble, honored gentleman. His rule and example are worthy of imitation.

Boys readily learn a class of low, vulgar words and expressions, which are never heard in respectable circles. Of course, we can not think of girls as being so much exposed to this peril. We can not imagine a decent girl using words she would not utter before her father or mother.

Such vulgarity is thought by some boys to be "smart," the "next thing to swearing," and yet "not so wicked;" but it is a habit which leads to profanity, and fills the mind with evil thoughts. It vulgarizes and degrades the soul, and prepares the way for many of the gross and fearful sins which now corrupt society.

Young readers, keep your mouths free from impurity, and your "tongues from evil;" but in order to do this, ask Jesus to cleanse your heart, and keep it clean, for "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."—The Christian.

Quiet Forces.

A lamp is a very small thing, and it burns calmly, and without noise, and it giveth light to all that are in the house. And so there is a quiet influence, which, like the flame of a scented lamp, fills many a home with light and fragrance. Such an influence has been beautifully compared to a carpet, soft and deep, which, while it diffuses a look of ample comfort, deadens many a creaking sound. It is a curtain, which from many a beloved form wards off at once the Summer's heat and the Winter's wind. It is a pillow on which sickness lays its head, and forgets misery. It falls as the refreshing dew, the invigorating sunbeam, the fertilizing shower. It shines with the mild luster of moonlight, harmonizing, with its pale, soft tints, many of the discordant hues which the stronger light of day reveals. It is ours to see that this potent home influence is set in the right direction. It should be the place where "things excellent, lovely, and of good report," are generated, to bless all that are in the house. The influence of such a home is not confined to its own narrow limits. Others feel it.—McCheyne.

Some people wouldn't kill a chicken with a hatchet, but will try their best to kill their neighbors with their tongues.—Ram's Horn.

The devil agrees with the man who comes to the conclusion that he has religion enough.

HYGIENE.

Scientific and Practical Condemnation of Beer.

The highest authorities are of the opinion that beer is an injurious drink, and many of them think that it is more pernicious than whisky itself—taken in what they call "moderation." The Christian Advocate treated a phase of this subject editorially in two or three articles some years ago, and will not repeat the authorities then quoted; but Prof. Oertel, of Germany, published a work in 1885 that sets the matter in so clear and strong a light as to establish the belief that the old idea that beer is healthful—or at least harmless—is utterly false. Before Prof. Oertel's time many physicians who studied in Germany had the idea that beer was a most beneficial drink, and recommended it in some cases in this country, and gave testimonials that the working people in the breweries who drink a great deal of beer were robust, strong, and long-lived. But Prof. Oertel and his two friends, Drs. von Pettenkofer and von Voit, who lived where the beer is brewed and the most beer drunk—the professor having a hospital at his disposal where post-mortem examinations are properly and scientifically made, and the consequences of the large amount of beer consumed have been fully studied—have produced a work of such importance that Dr. Schweninger has adopted his conclusions, and applied them in the treatment of Prince Bismarck.

He quotes Dr. Ballinger, who examined two thousand persons in the hospital at Munich, and found that eight per cent. of them died of excessive beer drinking. This life insurance medical examiner says that while some men in the English statistics have reached one hundred years of age who indulged in wine, whisky, and tobacco, so far as he knows none were found who were habitual beer drinkers. In Munich it is not uncommon for people to take from six to eight pints of beer in three hours, and during the day from twelve to twenty. Working brewers take sometimes thirty-six pints, and even forty. The strain of expelling this from the system at the last analysis depends upon the heart.

After a full examination of the subject this medical officer recommends that, as the disorders in consequence of beer drinking increase every year and shorten life, it is advisable for life insurance companies to take the risks of such men on short endowments, and not to take them over fifty years of age. There are, of course, some exceptions to this rule that must depend upon the honest report of the physician and agent.

We have for years made it a practice to converse with hospital and general practitioners, and their uniform testimony is that diseases make rapid destruction of the fat of the beer drinker, and that they do not recover from surgical operations easily or well. This was also the opinion of Sir Astley Cooper, who said that they sank away so often without adequate cause that he was always afraid of the results.—New York Advocate.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

All meats not intended for soups should be exposed to intense heat for the first few minutes of the cooking process, to coagulate the albumen on the outside which prevents the escape of the juices, and, therefore, of flavor and nutrition. To boil meat, inmerse in boiling water and boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then stew gently, but steadily until tender. Long-continued hard boiling toughens the fibre of the tenderest meat, and renders it indigestible and flavorless, since rapid evaporation involves a loss of flavor.—Selected.

CHOCOLATE BLANC MANGE.—Cover an ounce of gelatine with water. Boil one quart of milk, four ounces of chocolate and twelve ounces of sugar five minutes. Add the gelatine and boil five minutes longer, stirring constantly. Flavor with vanilla, and pour into moulds to cool. This dessert may be served with sweetened cream or a rich custard sauce.—Home Journal.

SNOW APPLE PUDDING.—Remove the inside from six large baked apples. Beat to a stiff froth the whites of three eggs, stir into the apple and serve with the following sauce: Beat the yolks of the eggs with one cup of sugar, adding one-half a cup of boiling milk, and flavor with lemon.—Selected.

ALL OVER THE GLOBE

—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are known. They are far more effective in arousing the liver to action than the old-fashioned cathartic pills, calomel or other preparations, and are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No care is required while using them.

They cure biliousness, sick headache, costiveness, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Montgomery, Orange Co., N. Y.

DR. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I suffered untold misery with bleeding piles. I could get no relief night or day, until I commenced using your "Pleasant Pellets," and now for two years or more, I have not been troubled with the piles; if my bowels get in a constipated condition, I take a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and the trouble is all dispelled by next day.

Mary Barnhart

H. P. BUCKLEY.

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES,

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches.

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas,

DENVER, Colorado,

LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California,

and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

Locomotor Ataxia,
Epilepsy . . .
AND ALL DISEASES OF THE
SPINAL CORD
FIND READY AMELIORATION FROM THE USE OF MEDULLINE,
THE EXTRACT OF THE SPINAL CORD OF THE OX, PREPARED UNDER THE FORMULA OF
Dr. WM. A. HAMMOND,
N. H. S. LABORATORY AT WASHINGTON, D. C.
Dose, five drops. Price, two drachms, $1.
Columbia Chemical Co.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
SEND FOR BOOK
Wholesale Agents, Finlay & Brunswig.
Retail by P. L. CUSACHS.

Don't Take Our Word,

But ask your doctor if there is any cure for Rheumatism. If a member of the old school, he will say there is none. If of the more modern and progressive practice, he will say that Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism is the only known specific, and that its proprietors offer a reward of $500 for a case it will not cure. The preparation is both internal and external, consists of two large bottles—one month's treatment, and is sent by express to any address upon receipt of $5. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

We will mail free, on receipt of two cents in stamps, a sample box of Dr. Davis' Liver Pills. They will cure costiveness, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, piles, and all disorders that arise from a diseased liver and impure blood.
JOHN H. COLLINS & CO.,
208 Market St., Phila., Pa.
For sale by all druggists at 25c. per box.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf.....Mrs. E. D. Jones.....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison.....

LOVE COUNTETH NOT THE COST.

There is an ancient story, simply told,
As ever were the holy things of old,
Of one who served though many a toiling year,
To earn at last the joy he held most dear;
A weary term, to others, strangely lost,
What mattered it? Love counteth not the cost.

Yet not alone beneath far Eastern skies
The faithful life hath, patient, won its prize;
Whoever hearts beat high and brave hopes swell
The soul, some Rachel waits beside the well;
For her the road is borne, the desert crossed.
What matters it? Love counteth not the cost.

This theo of man—and what, dear Lord, of thee,
Bowed in the midnight of Gethsemane—
Come from those regions infinite with peace,
To buy with such a price the world's release?
Thy voice descends, through ages tempest toss'd,
What matters it? Love counteth not the cost.

O Christ, Redeemer, Master! I who stand
Beneath the pressure of thy gracious hand—
What is the service thou would'st have from me?
What is the burden to be borne for thee?
I too would say, though care and fear exhaust,
What matters it! Love counteth not the cost.
—Girl's Friendly Magazine.

Dear sisters, let this poem be the key-note for our new year's work. Sometimes we seem disposed to count the cost and determine just how little we can do, and yet feel that our Lord has had his rightful service. Let's not view our service for the coming year from the standpoint of how little, but how much can I do for him who has done so much for me. The following extract from A. T. Pierson to the Christian Endeavor Societies is fraught with living truths to us who labor for our Lord through the channel of the Woman's Missionary Society:

"There never was a man or woman who accomplished much in this world for God or for man that had not the martyr spirit, and back of your Christian Endeavor, with its holy enthusiasm, and its enterprising method, there must be that supreme spirit of sacrifice for Jesus Christ that shall make it possible for God to make you co-workers with God, the Father, co-Saviors with Christ, the Son, and co-witnesses with the Holy Ghost. When the Emperor of China told Poussa, who was the Chinese Palissey, to make him a set of porcelain for the royal table, he five times made the experiment of constructing a set of china that would dignify the royal board, and when he had made the fifth and had placed it in the glazing furnace, and was watching the process of its enameling in sheer despair of ever being able to do any work that was for the acceptance of his royal master through the open door of the furnace he flung himself into the raging flames and perished; and the Chinese sages say that from out that furnace came a set of porcelain so magnificently enameled and gilded and painted that out of sheer jealously that it should ever be set upon a human table the gods caught it up into their palaces.

The Chinese sages wrote wiser than they knew. You never make a work that is for God to accept until you fling yourself into the furnace, and then from that furnace there comes out white that shine with the splendor of the stars and seem to have been decorated by the hands of the angels."

MARRIAGES.

BARRIER—HOPPER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, near Oak Ridge, Warren county, Miss., Dec 19, 1894, by Rev. A. D. Miller, Mr. C. M. Barrier, of Yazoo county, Miss., to Miss Gertrude Hopper, of Warren county, Miss.

SWALEN—MARTIN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. M. Martin, Brookhaven, Miss., Jan. 1, at 10:30 P. M., by Rev. R. D. Norsworthy, Mr. F. S. Swalen to Miss Wessie Martin.

WEEMS—STOKES.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev. J. M. Weems, Mr. R. E. L. Weems and Miss C. Stella Stokes, all of Scott county, Miss.

SANDERS—EICHLESERGER.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Dec. 23, 1894, by Rev. J. M. Weems, Mr. C. C. Sanders and Miss A. C. Eichleberger, all of Scott county, Miss.

TRIPLETT—SWALES.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. P. Swales, Dec. 2, 1894, by Rev. E. L. Rawls, Mr. G. P. Triplett to Miss Myrtle Swales, all of Leake county, Miss.

ROBERTS—MITCHELL.—At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Stephenson, Orange Grove Plantation, Burnside, La., Jan. 9, 1895, by Rev. H. S. Johns, Mr. J. N Roberts and Miss Susie E. Mitchell, both of Artesia, Miss.

BINGHAM—FOOT.—In the Methodist Church, Oxford, Miss., Jan. 9, 1895, by Rev. J. E. Thomas, Mr. T. H. Bingham, of Carrollton, Miss., and Miss May Ella Foot, of Oxford, Miss.

ALLEN—BROWN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. S. Brown, Hayneville, La., Dec. 19, 1894, by Rev. R. S. Coller, Mr. R. F. Allen and Miss Annie W. Brown.

CARTER—DOTY.—In the Methodist Church, Macon, Miss., Dec. 27, at 8 o'clock P. M., by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Prof. W. H. Carter, of Centenary College, Jackson, La., and Miss Nellie Beachtree Doty, of Macon, Miss.

MORELAND—ALLERSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Monroe county, Miss., Dec. 23, 1894, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. H. A. Moreland and Miss Nellie L. Allerson.

HURNDON—GRADY.—At the residence of the bride's father, Monroe county, Miss., Dec. 23, 1894, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. W. R. Hurndon and Miss Ada G. Grady.

SHEMPERT—CONWELL.—At the Methodist Church, in Monroe county, Miss., Dec. 23, 1894, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. W. G. Shempert and Miss F. L. Conwell.

RELEY—JOHNSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Lee county, Miss., Dec. 30, 1894, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. R. M. Reley and Miss Maggie Johnson.

LOWRY—EGGLESTON.—At the residence of Mrs. O. Bertron, Port Gibson, Miss., Dec. 10, 1894, by Rev. B. F. Jones, Mr. Fielding Lowry to Miss Anna Eggleston, both of Port Gibson, Miss.

LINFIELD—HARPER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Annie Harper, Scoluseval, Jefferson county, Miss., Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev. B. F. Jones, Prof. R. P. Linfield, of Summit, Miss., to Miss Lurline Harper, daughter of the late Capt. W. L. Harper, of Jefferson county, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

PITTMAN—In the old churchyard at Montrose, Miss., the obliqne rays of the Wtoter sun shines on a newly made grave. Beneath the sod lies the form of Mrs. D. E. PITTMAN, wife of Prof. O. W. Pittman, and daughter of B. D. and Sarah Alexander.

She was born near Montrose, Miss., Dec. 31, 1870, and was married Dec. 24, 1893; died at her home in Smith county, Miss., Dec. 8, 1894. She gave her heart to God when a small child, and joined the Presbyterian Church, where she lived happily until her untimely death. She has often told me of her bright conversion at the Palmer Camp Meeting, and how much she loved Christ and his cause.

That sweet voice is hushed in death. Those busy, helpful hands are now folded forever over that quiet breast. That active brain plans no more for the comfort of her husband and much-loved infant son. She left weeping husband, parents, brothers, sisters and a great number of relatives and friends. They weep not without hope, for Dora, as she was familiarly called, was too pure for earth, and has gone to join her friends in that world where there is no more sickness, sorrow and death.

E. BURTON.

The Southwestern Presbyterian will please copy.

CAMPBELL—Rev. J. CASEY CAMPBELL died at the residence of his father, Rev. Dr. C. W. Campbell, Harristoo, Miss., on Wednesday, Jan. 9, at three minutes past nine o'clock A. M. He has been living in Centerville, Miss., for the past eighteen months, where he was engaged in business. At the time of his death he, in company with his family, was on a visit to his father's home. He appeared to be in perfect health till he was stricken with typhoid fever, which terminated his life just one week later.

Bro. Campbell was for several years an itinerant in the Mississippi Conference; but at the time of his death was a local preacher. He was faithful to the last, and has now received his reward. He was buried Wednesday in the cemetery at Fayette, Rev. W. W. Simmons and the writer officiating. Many friends were present to pay a last tribute to his memory. A wife and three small children, besides father, mother and many brothers and sisters, are left to mourn their loss, but not without hope. May the God of peace comfort their hearts.

JOHN W. CRISLER.

FLEMING.—Bro. JACKSON FLEMING died Jan. 5 at his home. Deceased was a son of J. H. and Vina Fleming. He was born Dec. 16, 1827; joined the M. E. Church in October, 1854 and was an earnest, consistent Christian.

He was taken with convulsions about five years ago, to which he has been subject periodically ever since, and, although a man of fine physical proportions, he was not able to survive them, but succumbed to the last attack.

Bro. Fleming seemed to anticipate an early demise, and the last year or two of his life was very consecrated. He worked faithfully for the conversion of his family and friends, was regular in attendance at Sabbath-school and church, and zealous in the Lord's work. His experience at the last revival service was touching and eloquent. His last testimony was that he was "ready to go." We pray the Lord to comfort his family and friends.

R. L. PHILLIPS, Supply.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with
HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.
If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly
HEISKELL'S SOAP.
Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, is a constructive food that nourishes, enriches the blood, creates solid flesh, stops wasting and gives strength. It is for all

Wasting Diseases

like Consumption, Scrofula, Anæmia, Marasmus; or for Coughs and Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Loss of Flesh and General Debility. Scott's Emulsion has no equal as Nourishment for Babies and Growing Children.

Buy only the genuine put up in salmon-colored wrapper.

Send for pamplet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

THE MOST PERFECT

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN,
MASON and HAMLIN,
LUDWIG,
GILBERT, Etc.

Pianos

AT LOW PRICES, ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,
1001-1003 Canal Street.

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.
Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,726

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.
17 BOURBON ST., near Canal.
Watchmakers and Jewelers,
AND DEALERS IN
DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.
Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

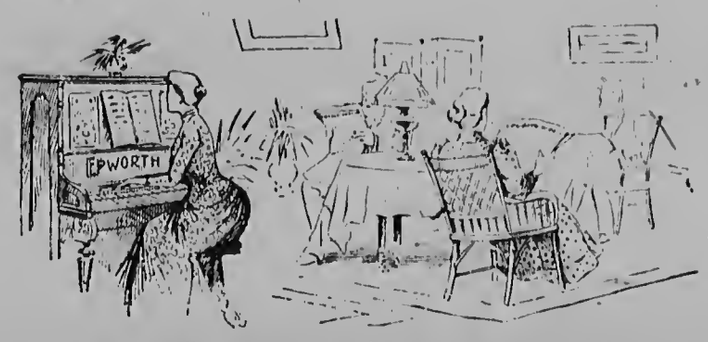
These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with Attractive Design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Dr. Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow—Jerome.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourse on Epictetus.
Imitation of Christ—Thomas à Kempis.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—Ik. Marvel.
Dream Life—Ik. Marvel.
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.
Lucile—Meredith.

This set is worth more than [illegible]
Price [illegible]

Send postpaid to any address in the world on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as premium to every new subscriber who subscribes between now and the 1st of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay in advance for [illegible] January, '96.



A Methodist Family

CAN BUY A

FINE EPWORTH PIANO

Direct from us and save enough money to pay for 200 Music Lessons at 50 cents each. In other words we can sell you a Fine Epworth Piano under our direct-from-factory plan at about $100 less than you will have to pay an agent or dealer for an instrument of equal quality.

The Epworth

is thoroughly reliable in every particular. The manufacturers of the Epworth Pianos and Organs have a world-wide reputation for good work. If you need a

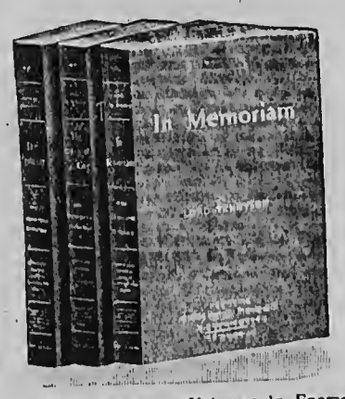
Piano or Organ SEND FOR CATALOGUE and TERMS

and we will show you how to get a fine instrument at a low price. You may order through your preacher, who will allow you to test the instrument in your home before paying and if not found as represented you may return the instrument and we will pay the freight both ways. Thousands of Methodist preachers and people testify to the excellence of the Epworth Pianos and Organs. Every Epworth Warranted for Five Years.

Address the publisher of this paper.

LORD TENNYSON'S THREE FAMOUS POEMS.

IN MEMORIAM.
IDYLLS OF THE KING.
THE PRINCESS.



Three Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large clear type on good paper, and substantially bound by a new process.

The "In Memoriam" of Tennyson is one of the grandest and loftiest elegiac poems in all literature. Like the "Lycidas" of Milton, it was written to commemorate the untimely death of a bosom friend. In the case of Tennyson's masterpiece, the friend mourned was Arthur Hallam, son of Henry Hallam, the distinguished historian, who was engaged to the Laureate's sister, but who died in Austria in 1833. The elegy was published in 1850. It is a long and passionate outburst of song, written to assuage the poet's grief at the loss of his friend and with the art motive of giving utterance in the saddest but most musical lines, to reflections on life, death and immortality.

"The Idylls of the King" have won for themselves an abiding place in the political literature of the age. The work is a series of connected poems reviving the legend of King Arthur, Merlin, and the Knights of the Round Table, in which the poet not only restores the age of chivalry, purified and elevated, but gives noble expression to the aspirations of man, the hopes of religion, and the harmonies of nature. It is distinguished by much imaginative passion, elevated thought, and wonderful poetic art. The work has taken high rank among the classics of our English tongue.

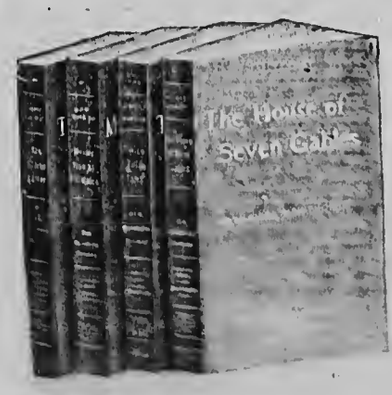
Hardly has a lovelier story than this of Tennyson's "The Princess" ever been written. Though cast in semi-heroic verse, it enshrines one of the loveliest lyrics and snatches of exquisite songs in the language. The extreme advocates in our day for the emancipation of women no doubt quarrel with the poet for the conclusions reached in the poem; but the Laureate was conservative in all things, and could hardly be otherwise in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." Thus, in brief, is the purpose and motive of the poem—to illustrate woman's struggles, aspirations, and proper sphere in relation to man and her own intellectual life.

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. Those who desire a cloth-bound edition are referred to our advertisement headed, "15 Poets in Library Cloth—Poet's Popular Edition." Address

Rev. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

HAWTHORNE'S BEST WORKS.

Four Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large type on good paper and substantially bound by a new process.



Mosses from an Old Manse,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE.

Another delightful companion of the hours is to be found in Hawthorne's pages, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like his works, it is unexcelled, for its simplicity a truth.

Twice-Told Tales,
By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE.

Better AND Cheaper.

THE ROYAL BAKING POWDER is more economical than other brands because of its greater leavening strength, as shown by both the U. S. and Canadian Government Reports.

The other baking powders contain from 20 to 80 per cent. less leavening gas than the ROYAL. So the ROYAL, even should it cost more than the others, would be much the cheaper.

In addition to this the superior flavor, sweetness, wholesomeness and delicacy of the food raised by ROYAL BAKING POWDER would make any difference in cost insignificant.

Highest of all in leavening strength.—
Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lafayette	Jan.	5, 6
Washington at Washington		5, 6
Indian Bayou at Indian Bayou		9
Crowley		10
Lake Charles		13, 14
West Lake		15
Sulphur Mine, at S. Mine		17
Franklin		19, 20
Jeanerette, at Jeanerette		23
Morgan City and Berwick		26, 27
Patterson at Patterson		29
Abbeville, at Abbeville		31
New Iberia	Feb	2, 3
Teche circuit, at St Martinsville		5
Grand Cheniere, at Leesburg		9, 10
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur		14
Prudhomme at Roberts ave		16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island		20

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Downsville, at Downsville	Jan.	5, 6
Farmersville, at Farmersville		12, 13
Minden, at Minden		19, 20
Valley, at Pleasant Valley		26 27
Ringgold, at Andrew's Chapel	Feb.	2, 3
Pleuvi le, at Mill Creek		9, 10
Lisbon at Lisbon		16, 17
Summerfield at Harmony		23, 24
Vienna, at Vienna	Mar.	2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston		9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Gansville at Gansville		23, 21
Homer, at Homer		30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr.	6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan. 31, at 10:30 A M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.- FIRST ROUND.

Wilson, at Wilson	Jan	5, 6
Slaughter, at Slaughter		12, 13
Clinton at Clinton		16, 14
Bayou Sara, at Thompons		19, 20
Jackson at Jackson		20, 21
Baton Rouge, at Baton Rouge		25
Ascension at Antioch		26 27
Gross Tete, at Colton	Feb.	2, 3
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford		9, 10
Zachrie at Zachris		10, 11
Live Oak, at Friendship		16, 17
Port Vincent at Hiff's		21
Pencheton a, at Wesley		23, 21
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar.	2 3
Amite City, at Roseland		9, 10
St Helena, at Greensburg		16 17
Pine Grove, at Pilkin's		17, 16
East Feliciana at Oak Grove		23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.- FIRST ROUND

Caddo, at Keachi	Jan,	5, 6
Mooringsport, at Greenwood		12, 13
Shreveport - First Church		20, 21
Shreveport Mission		30, 31
South Bossier, at Allenton		26, 27
Wesley, at Davis Springs	Feb.	2, 3
Coushatta at Coushatta		5
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches		2, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall		16, 17
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville		12
DeSoto Mission		21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel		23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar.	2, 3
Many, at Prospect		9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant		16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G.		23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbia	Jan.	5, 6
Rugeat, at Palestine		12, 13
Alexandria		19, 20
Simsport, at Simsport		26 27
Melville at M		31, 26
Pineville, at P	Feb.	2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce		9, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship		16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill		23, 24
Glenmora	Mar.	2, 3
Atlanta at A		9, 10
Montgomery, at M		10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte		16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs		23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Parker Chapel	Jan.	6
Dryades Street		13
Crape Street		20
Algiers		27
Carondelet Street	Feb.	3
Covington		10
Moreau Street		17
Louisiana Avenue		24
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar.	3
Rayne Memorial		10
Tallisbeek		17
Felicity Street		24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.		31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd	Jan.	5, 6
Delhi, at Delhi		6
Rayville, at Rayville		2
Monroe, at Monroe		10
Calhoun, at Indian		11
West Monroe at West Monroe		12, 16
Bastrop, at Bastrop		14, 15
Oak Ridge at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove		19, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro		21, 22
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove		23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg		26, 27
Waterproof at Waterproof		29, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	Feb.	2, 3

Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation, and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jackson - First Church	Jan.	6
Jackson Capitol Street		6
Canton		12, 13
Benton circuit, at Benton		19, 20
Yazoo City		26, 27
Terry circuit, at Terry	Feb	6, 4
Yazoo circuit at Mount Carmel		9, 10
Flora circuit at Flora		16, 17
Madison circuit at Madison		23, 24
Silver Creek and B L, at B L (Sat.)	Mar.	2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City		3, 4
Camden, at Shrock Chapel		9, 10
Tranquil circuit at Locust Grove		13, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant		23, 24
Jackson cir., at Flag Chapel, (Wed.)		27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin		30, 31

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis, at Purvis	Jan	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg		12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia		19, 20
Nicholson, at Nicholson		26, 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at P	Feb.	2, 3
Biloxi, at Biloxi		9, 10
Moss Point	Sun nights	16, 17
Escatawpa, at Mt. Zion (Sun. 11 A M.)		16, 17
Amerious, at Rosedale Wed. and Th	Feb.	20, 21
Vancleave, at Union		23, 24
Ocean Springs and Scranton at O S.	Mar.	2, 3
Whittington, at Coleville Wed., Th.)		6, 7
Bay St Louis at B. St. L		2, 10
Augusta at Isabella		16, 17
Black Creek, at Mt Zion		23, 24

District stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb 16, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.- FIRST ROUND

Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	Jan.	12, 13
Meridian South Side		16
Binnsville, at Scooba		19, 20
Meridian—East End		23
Porterville at Brogan's Ch		26, 27
Meridian - West End		30
Marion, at Curtis' Ch	Feb.	2, 6
Meridian Central		4
Chunkey, at Chunkey		6
Daleville and Souls Ch, at Souls Ch		9, 10
DeKalb at ——		16, 17
N Kemper, at So Hill		23, 24
Indian Mission at Tell Ubulok	Mar.	1
Liverwood at Bethel		2, 3
Neshoba at Mars' Hill		9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary		16, 17

District stewards' meeting at Central Church, Meridian, Feb. 18, at 11 o'clock A. M.

R. J. JONES, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Summit, at S (11 A M Fri.)	Jan.	4
Adams, at A		5, 6
Crystal Springs (7 P. M.)		9
Caseryille, at Sweetwater		12, 13
Brookhaven (7 P. M.)		13
Martinsville, at Union Chapel		19, 20
Hazlehurst (7 P. M.)		20
North Wesson		26, 27
Wesson (7 P. M.)		27
Gallman, at Bellheads	Feb.	2, 3
McComb City (7 P. M Fri.)		3
Whitestown		9, 10
China Grove, at Holmesville		16, 17
Magnolia and Osyka, at M		23, 24
Providence, at Babala	Mar.	2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams		9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.- FIRST ROUND.

Shubuta	Jan.	5, 6
Waynesboro and State Line		12, 13
Pachuta		19, 20
Vossburg		26, 27
Heidelburg	Feb	2, 3
Ellisville and Laurel		9, 10
Sastabanohie		16, 17
Mathersville and Mission		23 24
Waynesboro circuit	Mar.	2, 3
Leakville		9, 10
Williamsburg		16, 17
Mount Carmel		23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Natchez Jefferson Street	Jan.	5, 6
Natchez, at W C		6, 7
Berlow, at Rehoboth		12, 13
Fayette, at Fayette		19 20
Roxie circuit		26, 27
Gloster, at Centerville	Feb	2, 3
Percy Creek		9, 10
Woodville		16, 17
Woodville Mission		16, 17
Wilkinson circuit		16, 24
N Wilkinson	Mar.	2, 3
Homo Chitto		9, 10
Amite		16, 17
Meadville		23, 24
Washington	Apr.	6, 7

Preachers will please inform me at Gloster when their first Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards' meeting at Gloster, Jan. 15, 10 o'clock A. M.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg—Crawford Street	Jan.	5, 6
South Vicksburg		6, 7
Edwards		12, 13
Bolton at Bolton		19, 20
Port Gibson		26, 27
Harriston, at Cane Ridge	Feb.	2, 3
Hermanville, at Hermanville		9 10
Utica, at Utica		16, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs		23, 24
Mayersville, at Beulah	Mar.	2 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork		9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel		16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia		16, 24
South Warren, at Willes' Chapel		30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Morton and Forest, at Morton	Jan.	5, 6
Newton and Hickory, at Hickory		12, 13
Lake, at Lake		19, 20
Decatur, at Decatur		26, 21
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	Feb.	2, 3
Carthage, at Carthage		3, 16
Clarksburg, at New Providence		16, 17
Shiloh, at John's		23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh		26
Westville, at Westville	Mar.	2, 3
Brandon station		9, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis, at Marvin		16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove		23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood		26
Trenton, at Gasque		29
Montrose, at Montrose		30, 31

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: Allow me to report through the ADVOCATE the following amounts for '94 and '95 on Indian Mission, to wit:

1894.

P. H. Hale, King, Miss	$ 2 50
Bennie Hale, King, Miss	10
Oscar Hale, King, Miss	10
Robt. L. Moore, Marion, Miss	2 00
Mrs. R. A Harris, Oak Ridge	1 00
Mrs. S. Kidd	1 00
Rev. J. P. Drake, Edwards	1 00
Rev. W. T. Woodward and wife	2 00
Brogan Chapel	2 50
W. W. Neal	1 00
Zou Miller Neal	60
Mississippi Conference	38 75
Rev. A. F. Watkins, Jackson, Miss	5 00
Dr. W. R. Sims, Oxford	5 00
Dr. J. M. Weems, Vicksburg	10 00
Rev. W. J. Furguson	2 50
Dr. W. C. Black, New Orleans, La	5 00
Dr. T. S. Weal, Jackson, Miss	25
Miss Mary Cherry	2 00
Rev. H. E. Partridge, Morton, Miss	2 00

TO BE PAID IN 1895.

Rev. H. E. Partridge	1 00

And now I wish to thank all that helped us on the Indian Mission last year, and to state that the Board of Missions appointed me to act as agent for another year. And as the collections were very short and times hard, I want to ask my friends of the Indian Mission to help us some right away. The work is very important and money needed very much to carry it on. Now, who will be the first, and let it come rapidly. And will all those who have promised and have not paid, please send it on at once, as we need it very much. Some promised on land, or to help pay for land. Please send on amounts at the earliest possible date. Others that have not paid anything on the land, please help us some. Let us do something for this important work at once, and expect the Lord to bless us. And may the good Lord bless abundantly all that will help in this work!

A. D. MILLER, Agent.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

P. S.—Send as before—postoffice money order on Vicksburg or Phœnix Miss; draft or check on Vicksburg or Jackson.

A. D. M.

On God's scales a poor man's best and a rich man's best balance each other.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The cotton crop of Texas has been estimated by experts at between 2,700,000 and 3,000 000 bales.

Macon, Ga., had a half a million fire on Jan. 18. Some of the largest stories in the city were destroyed.

One hundred Northern prospectors were in West Point, Miss., last week. It is said they were looking for homes. Large tracts of land were sold.

The new governor of Delawere is the first Republican who has held the office for a generation. It is said that he can neither read nor write, and has to employ a lawyer to perform his duties.

Jan. 21 was a day of violence and bloodshed in Brooklyn. Seven thousand militiamen and 1 500 police failed to curb the fury of the incensed strikers and a collision ensued, in which blood was split.

The Sugar Trust is threatened with a rival refinery in Camden, N. J. At least it is said that plans are now being prepared by a builder of manufacturing plants to erect a $3 000,000 sugar refinery there, which will have a capacity of 4 000 barrels of refined sugar a day.

Now that the plan adopted by the Jackson, Miss., convention of cotton growers, providing for a 25 per cent reduction in the cotton acreage this year, has had time to be fully discussed throughout this section, it is becoming daily more apparent that the disposition to adopt it is growing more steadily.

The street railway men of Brooklyn are on a strike, and much confusion and violence have resulted. About 7,000 militia are under arms in that city in order to disperse strikers and to assist the trolley companies in running the cars. Over six thousand men are thrown out of work on account of the strike.

The State Department has been informed that the Hamburg authorities have forbidden the importation of cattle and swine from England and Ireland. Inasmuch as a large proportion of the American cattle entering Germany go through England, this will be another severe blow at our cattle interests and our trade with continental Europe.

Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, has left East Northfield, Mass., for Texas, where he will conduct during the Winter months a series of revivals. En route to Texas Mr. Moody will visit New York for the purpose of consulting a specialist in regard to his heart, which has troubled him for several years. His physicians have forbidden him to work longer in Northern cities in Winter.

The next Congress will be overwhelmingly Republican. The Senate will consist of 43 Republicans, 39 Democrats and 6 Populists. The House will consist of 244 Republicans, 104 Democrats and 11 Populists, the Republicans having a two-thirds majority over all, which will enable them to override a Presidential veto, a condition of affairs which has not existed since the reconstruction days of Andrew Johnson.

The stringent law and prohibition are rapidly driving the saloon from Mississippi. If the decrease in the number of saloons continues for the next few years as it has in the last two or three, a saloon will be a curiosity. For the twelve months of 1894 only thirteen counties sold whisky, legally, during any of that period. The revenue derived amounted to $107,600. This is a decrease of $22 800 as compared with the year preceding, and in the number of counties selling whisky a reduction of nearly 50 per cent. Compared with former years, the decrease in both is still much greater.

FOREIGN.

A town in Persia was visited by an earthquake last week, and about one hundred persons were killed.

The rebellion of royalists in Hawaii has been crushed. The revolutionists have taken refuge in the mountains.

It is said the Chinese soldiers fought gallantly at Saikaho, but were defeated by the Japanese after a desperate battle.

M. Felix Faure, Minister of Marine, was elected President of France on Jan. 17, in place of M. Casimir-Perier, resigned.

The Duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, issued a manifesto on Jan. 17. He says the time is near when his country will have a king.

The search of the Crown Prince of Japan for a European bride has a good chance of resulting in success. It is rumored that the granddaughter of Queen Victoria will accept him if he renounces his religious faith and becomes a Protestant.

Advices received from the Fiji islands report that a terrible hurricane has swept over the whole group, doing great damage to shipping. In addition many lives were lost, a number of buildings were destroyed, plantations were ruined, and of five churches at Suva three collapsed.

Negotiations between Mexico and Guatelema are positively declared to be off. It is stated on good authority that a negative answer has been made to Mexico's demands against Guatemala for indemnity for damages inflicted against Mexicans on the border by Guatemalan authorities.

Notice to Subscribers.

If your renewal is due, and you did not send it to Conference by your preacher, send it at once by mail to us if you do not wish to be cut off. Do not forget this. If you desire the paper continued, and you can not send the money right now, but will do so by Feb. 1, 1895, drop us a postal at once, and we will wait on you until then. Either send us the money at once, or drop us a postal.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
Wins the Highest Medals and Diplomas.

"Early Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2.40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2 40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

The Most remarkable cures of scrofula on record have been accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine is unequalled for diseases of the blood. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are hand made, and perfect in proportion and appearance. 25c.

Epworth League International Conference.

The following resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the Epworth League Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, heartily commends the Epworth League International Conference projected and appointed to be held in Chattanooga, June 27 30, 1895.

That they endorse the selection of Chattanooga as the place for holding the International Conference.

That we approve the action taken by Dr. Steel in assisting in the arrangements for the Conference, and request him to do all in his power to make the Conference a success.

That our pastors and Epworth Leagues are urged to lend their full co-operation by assisting in the plans for the Conference, and by sending full representations from our church.

For Sleeplessness
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

If you are a poor sleeper, not only do not forget to put on your night-cap, but on retiring also take a night-cap of Horsford's Acid Phosphate, to make assurance doubly sure.

Whitworth College.

One hundred and twenty pupils given free tuition. Write for particulars. Second half term opens Jan. 29. Carl Faelten, Director of the N. E. Conservatory, will be with us in February. Advantages unexcelled.

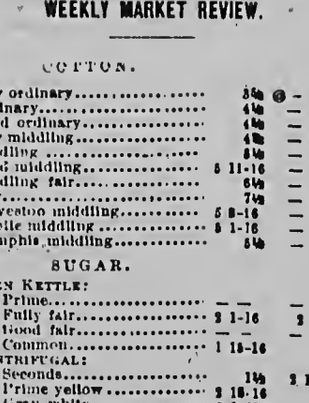
REV. JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Pres.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.



THE SECRET OF BEAUTY of the complexion, hands, and hair, in thousands of instances, is found in the perfect action of the PORES produced by CUTICURA SOAP.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. Newbery & Sons, 1, King Edward-st., London. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 28 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

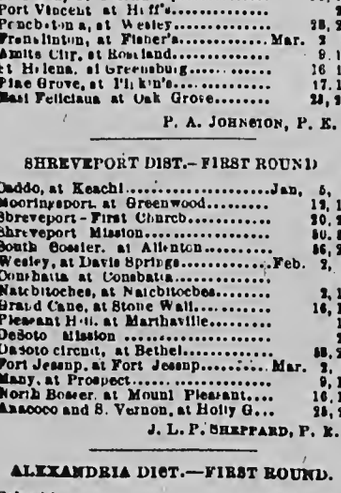
I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5⅝	@ — —
Ordinary	4⅝	— —
Good ordinary	4⅝	— —
Low middling	4⅞	— —
Middling	5⅛	— —
Good middling	5 11-16	— —
Middling fair	6⅛	— —
Fair	7⅛	— —
Galveston middling	5 8-16	— —
Mobile middling	5 1-16	— —
Memphis middling	5⅛	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	2 1-16	2 3-16
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	1 15-16	2
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	1¾	2 11-16
Prime yellow	2 15-16	2⅞
Gray white	3 1-16	3¼
Choice white	3⅛	3 7-16
Standard granulated	3½	3 9-16
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	10	11
Good common	8	9
SYRUP	2	18
RICE.
No. 2	1⅜	2⅛
Good	4⅛	4⅜
Fair	3⅞	4
Prime	4⅛	4⅜
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 50	3 50
POLISH, ₩ ton	13 00	18 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 70	3 80
Fancy	3 40	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	3 75	4 00
Winter wheat patents	3 20	3 25
Minnesota bakers	3 15	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Cream meal	2 10	— —
Grits	2 65	— —
Hominy	3 50	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	48	— —
Yellow	— —	53
Mixed No 2	51	— —
OATS:
Western	36	— —
Texas rust-proof	43	45
BRAN:
₩ cwt	85	87½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	15 50
Choice	16 00	16 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	12 87½	— —
Prime Mess	12 25	12 50
Rumps	11 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	9	10
Shoulders	7	— —
Sides, short rib	7½	7⅝
Sides, long clear	7¼	7⅜
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9⅜	10¼
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5½	— —
Sides, short rib	6⅜	6⅝
Sides, long clear	6⅜	6⅝
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	13⅜	— —
Common	14½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	26	— —
Western Dairy	20	— —
Common	15	14
LARD:
Refined	7½	7⅝
OILS:
Coal, bbls	3½	— —
Coal, cases	15	— —
Cotton seed, crude	28	24
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ —	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	5 00	7 00
Louisiana, ₩ —	1 15	2 00
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 15	2 25
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 25	2 25
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	5½	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	4⅜	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	6½	8½
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 50	3 75
Young Chickens	2 10	3 00
Chickens, Southern	2 75	3 00
Young	1 50	3 50
Turkeys, Southern	7 00	8 00
EGGS:
Western	17	18
Southern	16	19
WOOL:
Lake ₩ lb	12½	15
Louisiana	11	11¼
Burry	6	8
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	5	5½
Dry salted	4½	5
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	16 00	— —
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

Word comes from all quarters that the neatest and most satisfactory dye for coloring the beard a brown or black is Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.



For washing in Salt Water

you can't use soap, but you can use Pearline. You'll notice its wonderful cleansing properties quite as much in salt water as in fresh. You can wash in it or wash with it, just the same.

On shipboard, yachting, etc., you can use salt water and Pearline for washing and cleaning in a hundred ways. You'd have to take fresh water for them all, if you had nothing but soap, and couldn't get hold of Pearline. Luxurious—bathing in salt water.

Beware of imitations. 308 JAS. PYLE, N.Y.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 5. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2006

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

HIS COMING.

BY HORATIUS BONAR, D. D.

They tell me a solemn story.
But it is not sad to me,
For in its sweet unfolding
My Savior's love I see.

They say at any moment
The Lord of life may come
To lift me from the clondland
Into the light of home.

They say t may have no warning.
I may not even hear
The rustle of his garments
As he softly draweth near.

Suddenly, in a moment,
Upon my ear may fall
The summons, "Loved of our Master,
Answer the Master's call."

Perhaps he will come in the noontide
Of some bright, sunny day.
When, with dear ones all aronnd me,
My life seems bright and gay.

Pleasant must be the pathway,
Easy the shining road,
Up from the dimmer sunlight
Into the light of God.

Perhaps he will come in the stillness
Of the mild and quiet night,
When the earth is calmly sleeping
'Neath the moonbeams' silvery light;

When the stars are softly shining
O'er the slumbering land and sea,
Perhaps in the holy stillness
The Master will come for me.

—Exchange.

Selections.

In "Ceylon's Isle."

BY BISHOP CHAS. B GALLOWAY, D. D.

The "Oceanien" came to anchor in the harbor of Colombo after eleven o'clock on Sunday night, Nov. 11; but passengers were not expected to go ashore until morning. About noon on the Sabbath some mountain peaks of Ceylon came into full view, and then for hours, as our vessel sailed around the southern coast, we were in sight of the palm groves and spicy forests that have made this lovely island famous since the days of early chronicles. Her precious stones excited the avarice of ancient merchantmen, while her tropical wealth and political position inflamed the cupidity and ambition of aggressive kings and nations. But as we steamed through the placid Indian sea that restful Sabbath afternoon, my thoughts were engaged with Ceylon's spiritual conquest, and its intimate connection with the first Eastern missionary movement of Methodism. To the south, some eight degrees or more, was the very spot where Thomas Coke suddenly fell on sleep, and was gently lowered into a watery grave. The hills that greeted our eyes were in his great heart when he begged the English Conference to allow him, a veteran of more than sixty years, and at his own expense, to go as a teacher of the true religion to the dusky millions that crowd these torrid parallels. When those remorseless waves shall give up their dead, no nobler hero will ascend the skies than the intrepid and sainted "foreign minister of Methodism." It was appropriate that the first Methodist Church in Colombo, and in all Asia, should have a fitting memorial tablet to the great-hearted missionary whose love embraced all peoples and whose faith sought the conquest of all nations. His co-laborers and companions buried him at sea, and proceeded on their journey with heavy, but brave, hearts to carry out his divinely-inspired plans.

Colombo now has a spacious, but artificial, harbor. At a vast outlay a breakwater has been constructed which gives ample and safe anchorage to all the great merchantmen that sail these southern seas. And the harbor is always quite filled, Colombo being a convenient coal- and trans-shipping port for the lines that ply between the East and West, and southward to Australia.

Before six o'clock in the morning the decks of our ship were crowded with natives, black and copper-colored, in every loud dress and no dress, with trinkets to sell, and eager to turn an honest, or dishonest, penny. Boatmen, coolies, and hotel runners swarmed around us, chaffered so loudly and pulled at us so wildly that we might have imagined ourselves distinguished and long-expected visitors, each vying with the other to do us honor. But every foreigner is accorded a similar welcome. And they are never satisfied. After each bout with these beggars I give a sigh of relief, thank the Lord for escape from another storm, and then begin to brace myself up for the next. We have nothing approaching such scenes in our American cities. And the naked rascals seem to be thoroughly organized. The steamship porters will not handle your baggage; it must be carried out by coolies. The launch or sampan man will only receive it from coolies. And so the wharfmen, cabmen, and hotel porters. At least eleven persons expected tips or payment in getting our baggage from the ship to the hotel, and in the following order: The "boy" who cared for our stateroom, the waiter at the table, the ship baggage master, the three coolies who put our luggage in the boat, the boatman, the porter at the customs wharf, the driver of the "bandy," the boy who accompanies it, and the hotel porter who solicited our patronage. And when you leave the hotel everyone of the entire swarm of servants makes his profound "salam," and expects "master" to remember him. They force themselves upon you, and can hardly be shaken off by violence.

En route to the hotel I called at the post office, and found much good news from the dear home-land. Letters were read and re-read, and then the papers were eagerly scanned for tidings from Church and State. Reports from the Conferences were like bulletins from the field of battle, and I felt a thrill of eagerness to stand in those assemblies and tell of God's wondrous doings in distant Asia.

Everything in Colombo seemed strange to an American's eyes on his first visit to the tropics. The bullock carts—two wheeled vehicles covered with cocoanut palms—the "bandy" drawn by one horse, and so constructed that passengers sit back to back; the little bazaars and shops in which the keepers sat on the floor while their customers stood outside; the streets crowded with peddlers and beggars; the dress of the people, very thin, and either white or of the brightest colors, and their heads either bare or covered with immense red or white turbans, were a few things that awakened intense interest and furnished rare entertainment. What contrasts one sees! The carriages of Europeans, drawn by splendid horses and driven by liveried coachmen, dash along the same streets with little ambling carts pulled by diminutive bullocks, who trot briskly when persuaded, and filled with native nakedness. The European wears a white hat, white clothes, and white shoes, and carries a white umbrella. The native coolie is dressed in his ebony skin, and little else, which shines in the sun like polished glass. He has long, thick, straight black hair, and wears no hat. The vertical sun, which would utterly prostrate a European in a few minutes, has done its perfect work on his complexion, and seems to have no effect upon his brain.

Of course, this hot climate and its luxuriant tropical growth, furnishing easy means of subsistence, produce indolence. We saw the people everywhere, either squatting on the ground or lazily stretched out under the trees, seemingly content with their lot and unconcerned about the future. They are mostly very poor, but in their poverty hold rigidly to certain caste distinctions. They do not accept the heresy that there is dignity in labor. A few bananas, cocoanuts, pineapples, and other fruits will support a high-caste gentleman who goes naked, wears a comb, and congratulates himself that he is not as other men are—especially his low-class neighbor. One high-caste Singalese—porter in the refreshment car on the railroad to Kandy—who sported a round tortoise-shell comb as the badge of his rank, told me that low-class people were not allowed to wear the comb. "Well," said I, "suppose a Tamil coolie makes money, dresses better, and concludes to wear a comb, what would you do about it?" "We would make him take it off; if necessary, would use force. We would take him to the courts." Such is the tyranny of custom even among the uncivilized.

This social distinction is also observed in the dress of the women. The Singalese women wear a white sack and a colored skirt—a single width of cloth—drawn tightly about the waist and tucked in securely without pins, buttons, or other fastening. The Tamil women, instead of the sack, wear a loose cloth, usually of same material as the skirt, thrown over the chest and one shoulder, leaving the other bare.

We visited the museum in Colombo—the Smithsonian institution of Ceylon. Quite creditable is the collection, evidencing intelligent industry on the part of government officials, and the vast resources of this wonderful island. Precious stones of every conceivable variety, marbles and building stones, woods of different grain and fiber, flowers of every hue, birds of every brilliant plumage, and animals of every geologic age and size, with ancient relics, handicrafts, and products of the soil, are there to be seen. We were shown 337 different articles made of the cocoanut palm, from a broom to a bottle of oil, and a bar of soap to a coil of rope. The cocoanut is to Ceylon and Southern India what the bamboo is to China and Japan. Specimens of the masks and musical instruments used in devil dances and worship, too frightfully prevalent in the country, are there preserved. Stone figures and carved pillars from ruins at Anuradhapura, dating back to 437 A. D., indicate the ancient taste and genius of the people for the decorative arts. But space will not allow further mention of this splendid collection.

Beggars! beggars! beggars! They are on every street corner, in every public building, and under the shade of every banyan tree by the roadside. Their diseased and maimed limbs are displayed in a most disgusting way, as piteous and effective appeals for charity. Little naked children ran after our carriage, patting their stomachs to indicate their hunger, and thus beg for bread. The cry of an empty stomach is always heeded, and the little sinners know it.

But while the ignorant coolie class are thus annoying, I would not be understood as underrating the capacity and character of the better classes. I have met several gentlemen of fine intelligence, and understand that the present attorney-general of the colony—a native—has considerable legal ability, and would command position in any country.

Estates is the word used here for plantation. A gentleman owns large "estates," not a plantation. And these estates are now devoted largely to tea culture. The coffee industry, once prosperous, was so disastrously injured for a series of years by what was called the "leaf disease," that its cultivation has been generally abandoned, and the lands planted in tea. "Ceylon tea" is growing in popularity with its increase of production, and is commanding a premium in the markets of Europe. I am told that it must be made quickly and in a certain way, in order to be good. For me it has not been made quickly and in that certain way, more than once.

The national drink is called "arrack," and is made from the flower of the cocoanut tree. It is intoxicating, and much used; but I have not seen a drunken man in all Ceylon. From the license of the manufacture and sale of this drink, which absorbs largely the living of this poor people and deepens their degradation, the government gets an annual revenue of 200,000 rupees. The two great sources of Ceylon's income are tea and cocoanuts. Rice is cultivated, and the paddy fields are most beautiful to Western eyes, but not enough is raised for extensive export. By the way, on our trip to Kandy, I saw the crude methods yet employed to thrash the rice straw. It is done by bullocks. So the ox still treadeth out the corn.

The present governor of this British colony is Sir Arthur Havelock—a name that will recall one of the most brilliant and thoroughly Christian heroes in England's military history. He has a salary of £8,000, and three official residences—one at Colombo, one at Kandy, and another at Newraeliya, up in the mountains 6,200 feet above the level of the sea. His Colombo palace is a splendid and spacious building, a fitting residence for the honored representative of a great government. His administration, I learn, is giving general satisfaction.

We called at the Wesleyan Mission House and Book Room, and also paid a pleasant visit to Wesley College and the historic First Church adjoining, in which there is a memorial tablet to Dr. Coke. The afternoon closing exercises at the college we witnessed, and saw the more than four hundred bright boys file out of the chapel after another day's study of books, and their teachers. Before that marble tablet in the front wall of the church, placed there in August, 1816, I reverently stood, and thanked God again and again for the person and character of the apostolic man who was the first Methodist to attempt the saving of Asia's mighty millions. The day of his martyrdom—May 3, 1811—ought to be Memorial Missionary Day in all Methodism throughout the world.

We visited Kandy, the beautiful mountain capital of the old Kandyan kings, situated 1,700 feet above the sea, and the pride of all Ceylon. It is the Mecca of faithful Buddhists all over the island, and as far as Northern India, because there is sacredly preserved the great Buddha's footprints and one of his teeth. It is seventy-four miles from Colombo by rail, and what is claimed to be one of "the safest and best paying railways in the world." The gauge is six feet, and when the steep ascent of the mountain is begun at Rambukkana, a second engine is attached to the climbing train. Up to that point we sped through cinnamon and palm groves, and with mango-jack, bread-fruit, banana, and other trees on either side, laden with their luxuriance, which in bearing knew neither times nor seasons, had ample assurance that we were really in the tropics. The district along the Maha-nya river has been called "the valley of the shadow of death," because of the dreadful mortality among the coolies engaged in building the road. It is calculated that every cross-tie through that valley of eleven miles was "laid at the expense of a human life." Now the country has been drained, and malarious jungles have given place to prosperous "estates." The valley of death blossoms with healthful and fruitful life.

Our hope of enjoying the magnificent scenery, as we climbed the Attagalla range, was soon obscured by the gathering and bursting of a terrible storm around. But what was lost in opening vistas and views from dizzy heights down into lovely valleys was more than compensated in the grandeur of a mountain storm and the nearly all-night adventure it occasioned. A thick black clouds swirled around the mountains, and torrents, swollen to maddened and mighty streams, roared beneath us, and leaped over the rocks into the yawning depths, while the train felt its cautious way in the thick darkness, we had an experience that comes not often in one's life. I never before felt the awful significance of "outer darkness" as when the great banks of inky clouds shrouded the mountains and filled the valleys and obscured the view while it was yet only five o'clock in the afternoon. And when a bolt of lightning shot through that mass of night and gave a momentary glimpse of the yawning depths, it was indeed terrible beyond description or expression. Shortly after sweeping around "Sensation Rock," our train stopped, and danger signals were given. Great bowlders had been torn from their ancient foundations by the storm, and filled the tunnel, into which we were about to plunge. Had our train not been a few minutes late, those stones would have fallen upon us, and not one would have escaped a speedy death that stormy night. But a good Providence stayed our coming, and, after some hours of waiting, we walked over the mountain to another train, and at two o'clock in the morning found our way to a hotel in Kandy.

No lovelier spot could have been selected for a capital city than this royal home of the Kandyan kings. Enthroned far above the malarial plains, yet engirdled with loftier hills and mountains, and abounding in little vales as beautiful as Cashmere, it was an ideal place for the rulers of a proud nation. Arising early, we strolled around the lake, dotted with little islands and fringed with palms, while the overhanging hills were crowned with charming bungalows of every style of architecture. In a stream which flows from that pellucid lake we noticed hundreds of faithful Hindoos engaged in their early morning religious ablutions. These Hindoo religionists believe in "much water." Several baths a day are necessary to spiritual health, and for penitential reasons the number must be often increased. At a little past nine o'clock, the hour for morning service, we arrived at the "Temple of the Sacred Tooth," the famous Dalada Maligama. By morning service we are not to suppose that the people come in large numbers for worship. That is not true of any heathen temple. There is no such thing as congregational worship in heathendom. The worship is performed by the priests, while the faithful drop in one or two at a time, how once or twice, and pass out.

Passing into the temple, we saw scores of beggars and ill-clad ones sitting at the gates and crowding the corridors, asking alms of the people. Inside there were the noisiest demonstrations witnessed anywhere in the heathen world. At occasional intervals a trumpet, made of shell, was blown, which gave out a weird sound, while old men and young beat gongs, cymbals, and drums, with nasal preludes and interludes that seemed more like the wailing of the lost than the singing of the saved. After a time we were invited behind the heavy curtains and permitted to inspect the sacred and costly shrine where Buddha's tooth is carefully kept and devoutly worshiped. Within several—seven, I believe—golden and jeweled dagobas the venerable molar or bicuspid of the deified teacher of a doomed religion is kept, and is only exhibited on certain feast occasions, or when some distinguished representative of Her Majesty's government visits the ancient shrine. It is really, I suppose, made of deer horn or elephant tusk; but admirably serves the purpose of commanding the superstitious reverence and cash of the ignorant. Flowers in rich profusion were spread upon the altar in front of the tooth—the free-will and frequent offerings of the poor.

In the library adjoining there are valuable treasures of ancient Buddhist literature written on palm leaves. This was our first sight of books made in that ancient style, and gave a vivid idea of how costly it was to make copies, and how easily errors might creep in and be transmitted. That the Christian's Bible has come down through the ages of palm and papyrus leaves with so few omissions and interpolations, preserved in its integrity and entirety, can only be attributed to a sleepless Providence who "hast magnified thy word above all thy name."

A visit to the Botanic Gardens enabled us to see all the rich flora and luxuriant verdure of Ceylon at a glance. A specimen of every tree, flower, and fruit of the island is made to grow within that embowered inclosure of one hundred and fifty acres. We gathered fruit from the nutmeg tree, plucked leaves from the sandal wood, rested on the roots of the India rubber, picked up cloves and other spices beneath the limbs from which they had fallen, was presented with a chocolate pod and wished for a cup, could have smoked cubebs, shied around the deadly upas tree, breathed the fragrance of vanilla, and put leaves of the black pepper, coca (from which cocaine is made), and other growths in our books.

Returning to Colombo, we had a clear morning sky and a splendid view of mountain and valley. Thus four days have been delightfully spent, and the time of our departure for Southern India has come all too soon.

Colombo, Ceylon, Nov. 15, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Creeds are greatly decried, but those who are loudest in their condemnation are loudest in proclaiming their own personal tenets, and in having men think and believe as they do. The so-called "no-creed" men profess to be very liberal, yet denounce all who dissent from their views. The truth is, that those who do not derive their religious ideas from the Scriptures are the most tenacious of their own dogmas, airing them on all occasions, and seeking to make as many converts to them as possible. Those who do not agree with them, and who hold fast the doctrinal statements gathered from the Bible, are called narrow and illiberal. When one drifts away from the divine Teacher, and sets himself up as a human dogmatist, he thinks that the only proper thing for others to do is to separate from what he calls the traditional-creed ranks, and join the company of free-thinkers. But since all men have, and must have, some sort of a creed in regard to religious matters, it is the part of wisdom to have the best, the truest and fullest that God's infallible Word affords.—Exchange.

In the face of the constant assertion that there is no drunkenness in France, statistics show that alcoholic insanity has doubled in fifteen years, and the number of persons who have been placed under restraint on account of it has increased twenty-five per cent. in the last three years.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Said a young upstart to Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes: "There is a conspiracy of silence against my book. What would you do if you were I?" "Join it," was the reply.

A Christian of Amsterdam, Holland, complains of the great lack of spirituality at his home. He says that in the Free Evangelical Church the pastor treats his hearers to sermons on the works of George Eliot. In Aberdeen, Scotland, a so-called man of God preaches every Sunday night on the popular novels of our time. Recently his subject for discourse was the novel, "A Yellow Aster."

Count Tolstoi, the eccentric Russian, whose writings on political economy and social reform bear the imprint of Utopianism, finds it necessary to defend himself in the London Daily Telegraph against the charge of anarchism. We believe him. He is a harmless dreamer. But it is also true that his socialistic excrescences will lead simple readers to the abyss of anarchism, or, as it is called in Russia, nihilism.

Lord Randolph Churchill, one of England's greatest statesmen, died at his home in London on Jan. 24. He was a safe counselor and brilliant speaker. In 1874 he married a Miss Jennie Jerome, of New York. Eight years ago his health failed. It is attributed to causes which involve the honor of the Prince of Wales. He has traversed the earth in search of peace of mind and health, but in vain. His widow and two sons mourn his loss.

A well-known lawyer says that "involuntary hypnotism" will soon take the place of "temporary insanity" dodge in criminal trials. Law, like medicine and other professions, has its fads. We admit that there may be passiveness and subserviency among negative characters which may make them the ready tool of designing, positive men; but the idea of unhinging man's consciousness against his will, and thus carry out the hypnotist's design, is preposterous.

Charles A. Dana, in his address delivered at Cornell University on Founder's Day, defended the Sunday newspaper, calling it the evangel of civilization. No sin in publishing and reading it. Christianity and church life were its beneficiaries. But did not Mr. Dana's position as newspaper man bias his judgment? Storing the mind with the conglomerate contents of the Sunday paper, true devotion at the house of God is impossible.

Thoughtful observers fear the permanency of the French republic. The radical or socialistic party is constantly gaining ground. The young government has had thirty-two Cabinets in twenty-four years. Many of its former leaders are tainted with peculation. The press abounds with bitter recriminations. The new president, M. Faure, being a Protestant, it is feared the fanatical priesthood will precipitate the impending catastrophe. Monarchism and Romanism are faithful yoke-fellows.

IGH DIEM.

The Epworth Era.

The Epworth Era is indispensable to the success of our League work. This work is new to a great many of our people, and needs to be explained as only a paper devoted to this special cause can explain it. The General Conference felt this, and when it completed the organization of the League, it wisely determined to give it a paper that should be a medium of intelligence and intercourse among the Leagues, and a guide and stimulus to its work. We have now been running along since the first of September. We have about 5,000 subscribers. This is not a bad showing, and we may feel encouraged by it; yet we ought to have twice that number by May. We are very anxious for the Era to pay all of its expenses, and justify the agents in making a sixteen-page paper. The House is giving us a beautiful little paper. We have reason to believe it is appreciated by the Leagues. We will spare no pains on our part to make it a genuine helper in their work. The price of it is one dollar a year to single subscribers, and seventy-five cents to clubs of ten. If you want your League to be vigorous and aggressive, send for the Era. Help us reach 10,000 subscribers by May.

NEW EVERY MORNING.

BY SUSAN COOLIDGE.

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new.
You who are weary of sorrow and sinning,
Here is a beautiful hope for you—
A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over;
The tasks are done and the tears are shed,
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;
Yesterday's wounds, which smarted and bled,
Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is part of forever,
Bound up in a sheaf, which God holds tight,
With glad days, and sad days, and bad days, which never Shall visit us more with their bloom and their blight,
Their fullness of sunshine or sorrowful night.

Let them go, since we can not re-live them,
Can not undo and can not atone;
God in his mercy receive, forgive them!
Only the new days are our own;
To-day is ours, and to-day alone.

Here are the skies all burnished brightly,
Here is the spent earth all re-born,
Here are the tired limbs springing lightly
To face the sun and to share with the morn
In the chrism of dew and the pool of dawn.

Every day is a fresh beginning;
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,
And, spite of old sorrow and older sinning,
And puzzles forecasted and possible pain,
Take heart with the day, and begin again.

—From "A Few More Verses."

Communications.

What God Can Accomplish in Us by the Holy Spirit, through Faith, in This Adopted State of Sonship, in Answer to Prayer.

Spirituality, as a substance, is immortal, whether saved in heaven or lost in hell. We can not cease to be. Originally, as from the hand of God, man's entire being was pure, free from any corruption, as a piece of white paper. The paper, by being dipped in ink, will change color, but not substance. The black might be removed, and it made white again.

Paul says, concerning the fall: "But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence." Every conceivable corruption. "Wrought in me," as colors wrought into cloth. This involved the constitutional nature, and put sin under natural law, the fruit of which was sin, unrighteousness. How this was done we may never be able to explain, but so it is. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh," and is as true of the saint as of the sinner. This corruption seems to have begun in thought. The question of disobedience, as the fruit of the forbidden tree, was raised and pushed to its deadly work. The devil seems to have had the power of imparting his own nature to us. Enmity against God took possession of us, and was the power that operated every passion of our poisoned nature. This is the life of our fallen nature. God, through the Spirit and his Word, in some way absolutely inexplicable to us, destroys the power of sin by a continual crucifixion of it, and infuses into us his own nature—love—which becomes the life of the Christian, going through and purifying every passion of our being, operating those passions to obedience, according as the mind may be able to grasp the divine will, in no case the life going beyond this mental grasp or understanding of the divine will. Here the variety of talent, and the crippled condition caused by sin, give rise to the many degrees of faith and varied life from a babe in Christ to the matured father or old man in Christ. Through the Spirit, by his "precious promises," we become "partakers of his divine nature," as was expressed in Christ, as for instance: A stove becomes a partaker of the heat of the fire, and at the same time loses its own natural coldness. Thus heavenly knowledge displaces our ignorance; love displaces our enmity. While this has a beginning, too early and too far back in childhood for us to have a consciousness of it, yet it has a time of conscious recognition, called regeneration, after which we walk consciously of the presence and power of this Spirit, as in our growth, going on unto perfection, developing our being into the image of Christ. In the beginning of this conscious life of God in us every Christian and person accepted of God is sanctified by the blood of Christ; made holy by virtue of the atonement. As a whole, he is sanctified; set apart to the service of God. Heb. xiii, 12: "Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate."

This sanctification holds good to every Christian through life as long as he remains acceptable; but there is another kind of sanctification. St. John xvii, 19: "And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth." In the school of this godly life knowledge displaces ignorance. This sanctification is progressive on unto perfection in knowledge. With, and only after, the sanctification of truth may there be a sanctification of love, as it progresses toward perfection, in all of life's operations. Few there be that ever reach this attainment in this life. Faith may grasp it, but not experience.

Dr. Carradine said of one at Natchez, speaking of sanctification, a second blessing, "He has obtained it by faith, but not by testimony." Well said; and as an experience may never be had this side of the other world. Perfection of being under the Holy Spirit may be possible in this life; and if so, it may be that strait gate through which few enter. We are exhorted to "go on unto perfection." It should be remembered that faith can go far beyond actual experience. The effect of faith through "the abundance of revelations" is sometimes wonderful. But do not get beside yourself because of this faith vision. You are yet on earth. You can glory in that man of faith; but, as Paul said, so we all must say: "Yet of myself I will not glory, but in mine infirmities; for though I would desire to glory, I shall not be a fool: for I will say the truth: but now I forbear, lest any man should think of me above that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me." (II. Cor. xii.)

After all this display of righteousness in you and your life, you must come to realize your absolute nothingness, that you may see it, and give place to the power of Christ in this mysterious work. "Most gladly, therefore, will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me." (II. Cor. xii, 9.) In the third chapter, eighteenth verse, he gives us a figure to illustrate: "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." The nature, character, and life of Jesus becomes to us a wonderful looking-glass; unlike the glass in your room. If you stand before it and look, you see yourself as you are; but when, by faith, we look into the nature, character, and life of Christ; we see ourselves as we ought to be, and as we will be, the effect of which is to bring us into his earthly glory (I. Cor. xv, 49), that at last we may be transferred into the heavenly glory. This is the second blessing. Nothing else can be. "By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God." After the glorious work done in this life, there is a glory to be had in heaven far superior to this earthly experience. "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." (II. Cor. iv, 17.) The Christian life is, therefore, a new man and life grafted upon the old man, or Christ formed in us as a power, infusing new life into us, the same in effect, as if nature was changed, though it is not. Herein lies the mystery: A comparative righteous life flowing from an unholy being. This blessing comes daily, as we ask for it, and our asking will largely depend on the growing demand of a growing life, on unto perfection. J. W. ELLISON

Bethesda, Pretorium, Olivet, Roads.

BY H. G. HAWKINS.

St. Stephen's Gate is in the east wall of the city. Not far from it, northwest of the Church of St. Anne, is what seems the real old Pool of Bethesda, and it has above it the remains of the exact number of porches mentioned. If it be the Pool of Bethesda, and in the same condition, no wonder that the blind man needed some one to help him down, because the steps are many and winding, and the lower part of the way is dark.

Not much farther west from the same gate are the Turkish barracks, very probably occupying the site of the ancient Castle of Antonia and part of the Prætorium of Pilate. The Latins, believing this to be the true site, bought what they could and recently excavated here, finding the old pavement, with the marks upon it, used by the Roman soldiers in playing their games. Here they who should be defiled if they entered the Gentile judgment-hall clamored for the innocent blood of Jesus; here the fierce, thoughtless Roman soldiery, entering into the spirit of the rabble, put on him the crown of thorns, reviled him, smote him with their rough hands; here Pilate, "knowing that for envy they had delivered him," willing to release him, with the words, "Have thou nothing to do with that just man," ringing in his ears, finally "gave sentence that it should be as they required."

Bethany still stands; but Bethphage is in ruins. There are a native village and many large Russian and Latin buildings on the Mount of Olives. As for the Garden of Gethsemane, they have it walled in, levelled off, divided into squares, inclosed by iron railings, thick-set with modern flowers, with pictures of the fourteen stations on the inside of the walls. But this garden seems too near to the city and the Brook Kedron. Yet it has eight olives that are the oldest on the mount—their trunks burst from age.

It was surprising to be able to see from the Mount of Olives not only Jerusalem, but Mizpeh, Bethlehem, several other towns, the blue waters of the Dead Sea, and the mountains beyond.

Such views are obtainable also from Anathoth, Mizpeh, from Mar. Elyas on the way to Bethlehem, as you go to Ain Karin and, of course, from the Frank Mountain.

There are besides the Jaffa road, good roads to Bethlehem, Hebron, Ain Karin, and most of the way to Jericho. Bicyclists may be seen on the Bethlehem and Hebron road; and carriages ply regularly at reasonable rates between these towns and Jerusalem.

Another thing that surprised me was finding Palestine so rocky, and stony, as I suppose is no other country. All the other roads except those mentioned above are for footmen or horsemen, and only the donkeys and horses that are raised on the soil can travel them with safety to the rider.

Correspondence.

Georgia Letter.

Bishop Keener once said to me: "Smith, you can send a Georgian anywhere, and he will go, but you can not keep him there. The old red hills will draw him back again." But when Black went back from Georgia and Steele from Tennessee, both to Mississippi, I began to think that a Mississippian had something of the same spirit.

You know Georgia has three Conferences—the North Georgia, the South Georgia, and Mulberry Street. The successor of Dr. Black, who is the sole member of the last-named Conference, says that the Bishop sent him to take charge of it without his consent; but he took charge of it, and vi et armis settled its discussions, and now he has one of the most beautiful Sunday-school rooms in Georgia, and the audience-chamber of the church has been entirely renovated. The Doctor made quite a sensation by pitching into things generally, and we had some hope his stern, true words would bring about good political results; but, as usual, the shrewd politicians tricked us, and the good government club got in its men, and the liquor men got in their work. The fact is, that there never was a great reform brought about by legislation. People reformed by Christian agencies have made good laws, but good laws never reformed a wicked people. You may have as many laws as you please, and they may be as good as you wish; but unless your people are truly religious, the laws will be disregarded. I am sure the temperance cause has suffered not by having good laws, but by not having created by moral agencies a sentiment in their favor. However, the turning on the light by Dr. Monk did permanent good.

The death of the editor's two friends, Dr. Clark and Dr. Bass, would make to him a sad change if he were to return to his old home. They were both of them very dear to me. Friends of more than thirty years' standing grow very few as we near the terminal. Dr. Clark was a very unusual man. He was of sturdy New England stock transplanted to Georgia before he was born. A blood kinsman, I think, of Charles Sumner, educated at Brown University, he had many of the traits of a thorough-going Yankee; and yet he had all the traits of a warm-hearted Georgian. He was an excellent scholar—perhaps a little too enamored with scholarship. He had re-read scores of times the Greek New Testament until it was as familiar as his vernacular. He had once been a professor of Latin, and his acquaintance with Latin literature was extensive. Perhaps there was nothing in Greek or Latin lore handed down to us which he had not read. His strangely mixed story, "Esther," aims, under the cover of a burlesque, to give an exhibit of the life of the Roman in the first days of the Empire—the days when the sun of Roman glory, reaching its zenith, began to decline; and what appears to be extravagance in his descriptions was really found in the days before Pompeii was buried, and before the Goths and Vandals spoiled the great city. Dr. Clark could never be content to leave anything unsaid when he discussed any subject, and so he was sometimes too diffuse; but he always wrote in elegant English, and always had something to say. He was a very kind-hearted, affectionate, transparent man.

Dr. Bass, the president of the Wesleyan, his life-long friend, was, perhaps, as different from him as a man could be. While he wrote beautiful English, while he was an admirable president, he was not, and never claimed to be, a scholar. He had graduated, and he filled his professor's chair; but, unlike Dr. Clark, he had no special fancy for the original Greek, nor for the Latin classics. He was eminently practical; a brusque, but exquisitely tender man; as firm as a Roman general, but as tender as a mother in dealing with his girls. I am sure no man ever did more for the poor, and said less about it, than my old friend. He looked death calmly in the face for many long months, and made his exit from this world grandly.

The death ravages in Georgia last year—to me, at least—have been fearful. Not only have I lost Clark and Bass, but Anderson and Branham, of the North Georgia Conference. We could not hope that Uncle Walter Branham, who had passed his fourscore years, could be with us long; but Anderson was young and mentally so vigorous, and seemed to be so needful to us.

We are, I am glad to say, at peace in Georgia. I wish I could say that of all sections of our Methodism. It is a sad comment of our professions when we can not discuss a purely philosophical question without losing our tempers. I was so sorry to see that even the genial "Gilderoy" wanted our second-blessing brethren to go to another house and leave us in peace. I do not agree with these brethren. I think many of them have been very unwise, and have used words, the meaning of which they do not properly understand, and shown tempers the reverse of heavenly; but I should hail it as a sad day when they left us, or we left them. In the enthusiasm born of a new and rich experience young men especially are not always moderate in tone or careful in statement; and after all, what is all the fuss about? Here is a picture: Two good Methodists meet on the levee in New Orleans. It is Sunday morning. They have not known each other before, but one says, "My friend, can you tell me the way to Carondelet Street Methodist Church?"

"Why, yes; I am going there myself. Come with me."

"Thank you, I will. Are you a Methodist?"

"Well, a rather poor specimen, I am afraid; but I have been a Methodist thirty years."

"And so have I. Well, I hope you've been converted."

"Yes, thank God, thirty years ago."

"And you enjoy religion?"

"Yes, bless the Lord! I do every day."

"And you live right?"

"Yes, by God's grace, I have no condemnation."

"Say, have you ever had a second blessing?"

"A second blessing? Why, I have had a thousand."

"No, a distinct second blessing, like Bro. Hopper and Bro. Carradine."

"Well, I can not say that I have."

"Have you read Dr. Godbey's 'Holiness or Hell?'"

"Why, no."

"Don't you believe in the second blessing?"

"No, I don't."

"And you pretend to be a Methodist?"

"Yes; but I don't pretend to be a fanatic."

"My friend, I am afraid you are on the wrong road."

"Well, I am not on your road; I am no crank."

"No; but you are, I fear, a time-serving formalist on the road to hell."

"Well, I don't want to quarrel; so I think I'll stop here."

"Why, that's Dr. Palmer's Church."

"Well, that will suit me, I reckon. Any way I don't want to discuss this question any more; and if I can't get out of it, I am going elsewhere."

"Well, if the Methodists go back on the second blessing, I am going back on them;" and so they part.

I think the little devil who, disguised as an angel of light, gets up these angry discussions is entitled to a premium from Beelzebub for his ingenuity.

Can't we agree to disagree?

GEORGE G. SMITH.

Class of 1876, North Mississippi Conference.

The late session of the North Mississippi Conference, in the hospitable town of Sardis, was full of pleasure and spiritual good to all the members of that strong and growing body; but more than to any others, perhaps, it was a real benediction to the members of that class which was received on trial in that Conference at Sardis, 1876.

The class held its usual annual "class meeting." The eighteen years that have passed since their names were first entered on the Minutes of the Conference have witnessed many changes in that body, and even that small company of thirteen hopeful boy preachers has not escaped untouched, but their success demonstrate that thirteen is not altogether an unlucky number.

E. B. Ramsey, after serving Como, Grenada, Starkville, and Oxford, was transferred to the Memphis Conference and stationed at the First Church, Jackson, Tenn., where he labored for four years, but is now the successful pastor of First Church, Paducah, Ky.

C. M. Terry, after serving with great acceptability circuits, stations, and districts, was first, because of failing health, on the superannuated list, and now lives near Sardis, Miss., in the enjoyment of a spiritual life that is beautiful and attractive.

J. T. Moody, after having made full proof of his ministry on circuits and stations, was transferred from his work in Kosciusko, Miss., to his heavenly home. The name of J. T. Moody is kept in honor by the class. To live as he lived, and die as he died, is the hope of his class-mates.

Fizer, after only a few years of labor in Mississippi, was transferred to Arkansas, where he became distinguished as a preacher and an unsuccessful candidate for governor, and was located by his Annual Conference.

W. A. Adams, having served most acceptably several charges in this Conference, was transferred to Northwest Texas Conference, and is now serving Cloud charge, the largest circuit in Southern Methodism. It consists of eight counties, and has seventeen appointments.

D. M. Cogdell, who on account of failing health was granted a supernumerary relation, has moved to Texas and located.

W. A. Dollar, after eighteen years of faithful and successful labor in Mississippi and Texas, was granted at this session of the Conference a supernumerary relation.

Thomas J. Newell, after eighteen years of service—six years as pastor and twelve as president of the Conference Female Institute—was transferred to the Memphis Conference and stationed at Paris, Tenn., where God is greatly blessing his labors.

—— Eggleston received only one appointment. His health failed, and at his own request he was discontinued. He moved to Texas, and the class has lost sight of him. If he still lives, they would be glad to know of him.

There remains, therefore, in the active work in the North Mississippi Conference of the class of thirteen only four: J. M. Wyatt, who has borne himself well in all the places to which the church has called him, and is now the faithful pastor at Clarksdale, Miss. R. A. Burroughs, who is the successful presiding elder of the Grenada district, with residence at Water Valley. J. E. Thomas, who is now serving his fourth year in Oxford, Mississippi's University town; and J. A. Bowen, who is, perhaps, the best-known member of the class, having done much evangelistic work, both in his own and other Conferences. He is now in charge of that most delightful station, Macon, Miss.

Bros. T. B. Malone, J. W. Bell and H. C. Parrott have affiliated with the class, and are members honored and beloved, though they did not enter with the class in 1876.

At the close of this eighteen years the class enters the following record: One discontinued; one dead; two located; one supernumerary; one superannuated; one in the regular work in Texas; two in the Mississippi Conference; and four only remain in the active work in North Mississippi.

UNUS.

Selections.

The Influence of a Mother's Prayer.

More than thirty years ago, one lovely Sabbath morning, about eight young men, students in a law school, were walking along the banks of a stream that flows into the Potomac river, not far from the city of Washington. They were going to a grove, in a retired place, to spend the hours of that holy day in playing cards. Each of them had a flask of wine in his pocket. They were the sons of praying mothers. As they were walking along amusing each other with idle jests, the bell of a church in a little village not two miles away began to ring. It sounded in the ears of those thoughtless youths as plainly as though it were only on the other side of the little stream along which they were walking.

Presently one of their number, whose name was George, stopped and said to the friend nearest him that he would go no further, but would return to the village and go to church. His friend called out to their companions, who were a little ahead of them: "Boys! boys! come back here; George is getting religious; we must help him. Come on, and let us baptize him by immersion in the water." They told him that the only way he could save himself from having a cold bath was by going with them. In a calm, quiet, but earnest way he said:

"I know very well that you have power enough to put me in the water, and hold me there till I am drowned; and if you choose, you can do so, and I will make no resistance; but listen to what I have to say, and then do as you think best. You all know that I am two hundred miles away from home; but you do not know that my mother is a helpless, bed-ridden invalid. I never remember seeing her out of bed. I am her youngest child. My father could not afford to pay for my schooling; but our teacher is a warm friend of my father, and offered to take me without any charge. He was very anxious for me to come; but mother would not consent. The struggle almost cost her what little life there was left in her. At length, after many prayers on the subject, she yielded and said I might go. The preparations for my leaving home were soon made. My mother never said a word to me on the subject till the morning when I was about to leave. After I had eaten my breakfast she sent for me, and asked me if everything was ready. I told her all was ready and I was only waiting for the stage. At her request I kneeled beside her bed. With her loving hand upon my head, she prayed for her youngest child. Many and many a night I have dreamed that whole scene over. It is the happiest recollection of my life. I believe, till the day of my death, I shall be able to repeat every word of that prayer. Then she spoke to me thus: 'My precious boy, you do not know, you never can know, the agony of a mother's heart in parting, for the last time, from her youngest child. When you leave home, you will have looked for the last time, this side of the grave, on the face of her who loves you as no other mortal does or can. Your father can not afford the expense of your making us visits during the two years that your studies will occupy. I can not possibly live as long as that. The sand in the hour-glass of my life has nearly run out. In the far-off, strange place to which you are going there will be no loving mother to give you counsel in time of trouble. Seek counsel and help from God. Every Sabbath morning, from ten to eleven o'clock, I will spend the hour praying for you. Wherever you may be during this sacred hour, when you hear the church bells ringing, let your thoughts come back to this chamber, where your dying mother will be agonizing in prayer for you. But I hear the stage coming. Kiss me farewell!' Boys, I never expect to see my mother again on earth. But, by God's help, I mean to meet her in heaven."

As George stopped speaking the tears were streaming down his cheeks. He looked at his companions. Their eyes were filled with tears. In a moment the ring which they had formed about him was opened. He passed out and went to church. He had stood up for the right against great odds. They admired him for doing what they had not the courage to do. They all followed him to church. On their way there each of them quietly threw away his cards and his wine-flask. Never again did these young men play cards on the Sabbath.

From that day they all became changed men. Six of them died Christians, and are now in heaven. George is an able Christian lawyer in Iowa; and his friend who wrote this account has been for many years an earnest, active member of the church. Here were eight men converted by the prayers of that good Christian woman. And, if we only knew all the results of their examples and their labors, we should have a good illustration of a mother's prayers.—Bible Models.

Meditation Grows Obsolete.

The times are against the making of a man. We are too busy making everything else. In our ambition to outdo what has been done we no longer depend upon individual effort; we sink a hundred individuals to make a single colossus—muscular, brainy, but soulless. The man who ought to have become a great man has become the thumb, or the forefinger, or the right eye of a great corporation. In such positions we cultivate talent, not character. In fact, the development of the man is discouraged—business sets highest value on an impersonal head.

The same tendency is noticeable in our religious life. In our ambition to do, we are fast losing our ambition to be. "Meditation" grows obsolete; we talk of "activities" instead. The church resounds with the shouts of laborers and overseers who are calling for more laborers. There is an incessant running to and fro, and a noisy counting of sheaves. The ideal Christian of the day is the man who is so busy looking after other people's souls as to forget that he has a soul of his own. We praise the man who prays with his hands. It is a natural reaction from the selfish piety of a past age when men sat in the cloister and kept their hearts inflamed by constant probing. Perhaps when we have learned that of two evils we are to choose neither, we may discover between these two extremes the happy mean of feeding our souls enough to strengthen us for our work, and working enough to make us hunger for stronger meat.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

One's Friend.

Money can buy many things good and evil; all the wealth of the world could not buy you a friend, nor pay you for the loss of one. "I have wanted only one thing to make me happy," Hazlitt writes, "but wanting that, a true friend, I have wanted everything." And, again: "My heart, shut up in the prison house of this rude clay, has never found, nor will it ever find, a heart to speak to."

We are the weakest of spendthrifts if we let one friend drop off, through inattention, or let one push away another.

One good friend is not to be weighed against the jewels of all the earth. If there is coolness or unkindness between us let us come face to face and have it out. Quick before love grows cold! Life is too short to quarrel in, or to carry black thoughts of friends. If I was wrong, I am sorry; if you, I am sorrier yet, for should I not grieve for my friend's misfortune?

The mending of your fault does not lie with me, but the forgiving it does, and that is the happier office. It is easy to lose a friend, but a new one will not come for calling, nor make up for the old one when he comes.—Robert South.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We vote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as one of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our Cure on the market now.

P. AND H. M. S.

Need among the Mountain Whites.

If we could view as a whole, in our great cities and in many of our towns, the forces in array against sin and destruction; the Christian universities, colleges, hospitals, asylums, homes; and the multiform work done by churches and missions in the highways and slums and in social circles and fashionable boulevards—if we could hear the thousands of prayers ascending any hour of the day, and the numberless songs of praise and triumph, we would be almost ready to exclaim, "The kingdom of Christ is come upon earth!"

But there is another side to this picture, dark and awful. All along the eastern border of our Southland, that people live and die without laws and without the commonest rights of civilization. Christian people who have traveled through these districts have been appalled at such revelations of ignorance and depravity.

These are the ones for which we would make the strongest appeal. You would not wonder that they are ignorant and degraded, that the faces of these women are pitifully sad and hopeless, could you understand how they are shut in from all the best things our bright world affords, and how wretchedly poor they are.

One main reason for their present condition is their absolute illiteracy. The average length of term for a school to be open in a mountain district is from six weeks to three months a year. The usual amount of school funds does not exceed $100 a year, and sometimes the school is closed for years in order that the funds may accumulate and a building be put up.

Crimes are covered by the mountains of five of the Southern States which would put to shame the dives of New York City. Whisky is distilled in abundance. Tobacco is in general use among men and women, and even little children. One painful fact is that of early marriages among the girls, very many marry between the ages of twelve and fifteen. It is needless to say that many of those united so early do not continue faithful. Consequently the country is full of children adrift, who are knocked about from one place to another.

The encouragements for Christian work in these regions, however, far outweigh the discouragements. These people speak our own language, and hence a missionary is ready to go to work the minute she arrives. There is no tedious waiting to see the fruits of labor: indeed, the rapid development of good in the character of a girl, for example, transplanted into a Christian boarding-school, is little short of miraculous. Amid all the deprivation and sin and misery, there is a pitiful longing for better things.

Our Parsonage and Home Mission Society has already taken two mountain schools near Asheville from which we will hear results later on. As our society is rapidly increasing in numbers and interest, shall we not rally about this great and needed work for Christ, establishing churches and industrial schools in these regions, and bringing these needy ones into fresh heart-to-heart contact with intelligent Christian humanity? Not the zeal for "our rights," but the zeal for others' wrongs is the sentiment that will draw a halo around the brow of every consecrated worker. These hungry-hearted and empty-handed human beings in our Southland need us. We must not look alone at their depravity nor their low and repelling immorality. We are inside the fold of Christ—they are outside; we are inside churches that feed our souls—they are outside; we are inside laws that protect our lives and our property—they are outside; we are inside homes that enfold us with tenderness and make high our aspirations—they are outside. Can we not see in these destitute human beings, shut out from all privileges of civilization and Christianity, their Savior and Brother and ours, and hear his words of appeal to us: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock!"

ARABEL W. ALEXANDER.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. C. T. Mudholland, Leocompte, La., Jan. 23: "I don't write often to the ADVOCATE. I am going to break my rule and write. The people of Lecompte have received us kindly, and are endeavoring to care for us. Like Paul, we are living 'in our own hired house.' The ladies have gone to work and are furnishing it nicely, for which we feel thankful. The congregations are good. We hope to do a good year's work for the Lord. We are beginning to feel at home among these people. May Lord bless them!"

Rev. W. T. Currie, P. C., Covington, La., Jan. 21: "I arrived at my work, Dec. 26; was met with a warm reception by the people of Covington. I have preached at all of my appointments, and congregations were good. The people are hungering and thirsting after righteousness. We have received three into the church. We contemplate building a church at Slidell. We are working and planning for a glorious revival. The outlook for such is good. God has said, 'Ask, and ye shall receive.' We are asking that mourners may be converted and believers sanctified. God's promises are sure. He has promised it, and we are standing on his promises. Pray for us."

Rev. P. H. Howse, P. C., Woodville, Miss., Jan. 16: "I reached my new work on Christmas Day. My family reached the parsonage on Dec. 27, 1894, about 7:30 P. M. We found a good warm fire when we reached there, which had been kept up since that morning, expecting our arrival by half-past two o'clock that evening; but wife missed the passenger train at Roxie in the morning, and had to wait for the evening train; hence she reached Centerville at 5 o'clock P. M., and we had to drive out nine miles. The people had given us up, and had all gone home except two of the brethren; but we found a great many nice things in the safe to eat, and there has been a nice breeze blowing ever since, which has brought in almost daily such things as are refreshing and substantial. I feel that I am among a good and appreciative people, and I appreciate them. I trust that God will enable us to work together this year congenially and successfully in the vineyard of his Son. I have met a number of my people, but not all of them. I have preached at three of my appointments to good and attentive congregations. May God bless the editor and his paper!"

Rev. M. J. Miller, North Wilkinson circuit, Natchez district, Mississippi Conference, Jan. 17: "We reached the parsonage Jan. 11, and have been kindly received by the people. They expected us on the tenth, and brought dinner to the parsonage for us. Well, as we did not get to enjoy that dinner, we accept the effort of the brethren and sisters to give us dinner in the parsonage our first day as a token of what will follow all the year. Thank you, brethren, for your kind thoughtfulness. The people are constantly giving us some token of their appreciation of us in the shape of hams, meal and molasses. May God abundantly bless each one that is contributing to the necessity of the pastor and family, and thus helping to bear the burdens that would otherwise be unbearable. I have only reached one appointment on the work, and, owing to the very cold day, we had a small turn out. We are hoping and praying for a great revival all over this country. And we feel that with one of the very best presiding elders (a revivalist in the true sense) in the Conference, and a number of noble workers in the district, with the scores of truly consecrated men and women as co-workers, that we may confidently expect a glorious year. And now, Mr. Editor, allow me in advance to say if you want to be in some old-time Methodist revivals just come over this Summer and help us some in our meetings. But enough for this time. Pray for us. May God bless you and the ADVOCATE!"

COUSHATTA, LA.

On Dec. 21 we reached this place, our appointed field of labor for this year. It cost us pain to part from our many dear friends at Jeanerette, for we had learned to love them not only for Christ's sake, but for their own great worth. The only unfaithfulness rests with the stewards, and the chairman of that body was prompt and true. The others did nothing in any way that the pastor ever heard of. But this remissness was amply atoned for by the Ladies' Aid Society. We have never known a truer band of Christian ladies. But for them we would have no church in Jeanerette. They truly did all they could, and that was a great deal. A long, long time will pass before we shall forget the beautiful group-picture formed by the bright faces of those who were at the depot at the parting hour. Our worthy successor, Bro. R. M. Blocker, was with them. God bless each one of that group, and many others who were not there! At the end of life's journey may each and all be ready to pass through the gate into the city.

It was a long, rather tronblesome and quite expensive trip, via Cheneyville, thence to Mansfield, over Texas and Pacific railway, where a night was pleasantly spent under the splendid roof of Mansfield College. We had never seen the venerable structure before. It crowns the summit of the highest hill in that too-much broken town. The president, Dr. McVay, met us at the depot and conducted us to a well-furnished and most comfortable room in the college. The Doctor's hospitality is "large and free," and pleasant indeed to partake of. We met a number of the bright young ladies who are there receiving a liberal, Christian education, preparatory to their life work. This institution belongs to the Methodist people in our State, and is worthy of a far more liberal patronage than it at present receives. Let every Methodist young lady in the State seeking an education go to Mansfield. It is a splendid place to study. It is twenty-five miles from Mansfield to this place, and the road is as rough as any in the State, I suppose. Up hill and down, is the way you go. Nor did we feel the expense of the trip till we quit the railway. If anybody doubts that railroads are good things let them travel a while by land. It took $17, and nearly a day, to travel the distance of 25 miles.

We reached the cozy little parsonage just about an hour earlier than was expected by our new-found friends. But the news soon spread through the town, and in a few minutes we were surrounded by a band of Christian ladies, each bearing a package which was deposited on the table in the dining-room. So at once we were made to feel at home. Already an ample supply of wood is in the yard; six fine Wyandotte chickens in the yard and a fine Jersey cow in the lot. So you see how easy it is for a preacher to move and get fixed up. We have two appointments on the charge. Have not yet preached at the one in the country, but are greatly pleased with the one in town. Our church is the leading one in town; the edifice is quite a nice one. The stewards hold a meeting this week. We have met most all of them, and are favorably impressed with them. They look like good men and generous. We expect to hold a meeting, beginning the fourth Sunday; the evangelist Morphis is to do the preaching. After the meeting we confidently expect to get rid of the saloon in the town and parish. Then we will have a nice town, with two churches and a splendid school.

Mr. Editor, allow me thus early to express the wish to see you at our District Conference at Keatchie. Our presiding elder, J. L. P. Sheppard, has not been to see us yet; but is, we hear, moving off well with the work of this large district. An effort is being made to establish a district parsonage at Shreveport. This we regard as unfortunate, since it is so far from the center of the district. It occurs to us that Mansfield, for several reasons, would be the proper place for the presiding elder to reside. He would be very near the center of his district and might have an influence for good on the college. Those of my people who have expressed themselves would be glad if the district parsonage could be located at Mansfield. People here say you are giving the church a good, strong, healthy paper. We shall endeavor to get more of them to take it. It will surely do them great good. That God may bless you and the paper, and make you powerful for good in Louisiana and Mississippi this year, is the fervent prayer of Your brother in Christ.

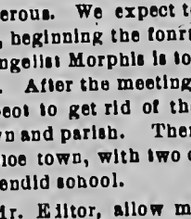
JAS E. RIDDLE.

Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeespert, Penn.:



Willie Tillbrook.

"My little boy Willie, now 6 years old, two years ago had a bunch under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. He finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving Willie Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with excellent results and he has had no more trouble. His cure is due to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

He has never been very robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger."

HOOD'S PILLS do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

FAIR FACES

Disfigured by Eruptions

ARE CURED BY

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

"Some years ago, I was in a terrible condition with a humor, or eruption, which broke out all over my face and body. Seeing the testimony of others as to the efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in like cases, I concluded to give this medicine a trial, and the result was a thorough cure, no sign of the complaint making its appearance since. I have no hesitation in recommending Ayer's Sarsaparilla for any kind of skin disease."—J. W. DEAN, Moss Point, Miss.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla The Only

Admitted at the World's Fair

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 28 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,

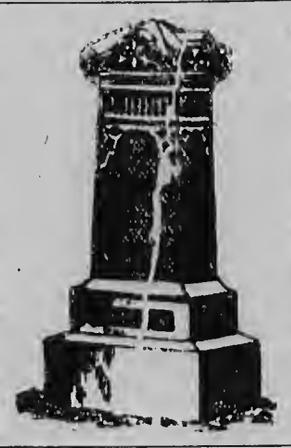
Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES.

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

DR. CHILES'

Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally; all applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.

DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS'

PRINTING OFFICE

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST.

Old No. 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth.....$8
Partial Sets.....from $1 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns.....from $4 to $10
Gold Filling.....from $1 to $1
Amalgam and Zinc Filling, from 75 cents to $1.00
Extracting, Painless.....50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

WOOD AND COAL

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine block $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood and Coal at lowest rates.

Dr. George W. Rembert,

DENTIST,

Godchaux Building, New Orleans.

Corner Canal and Charires Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

Take elevator on Canal street.

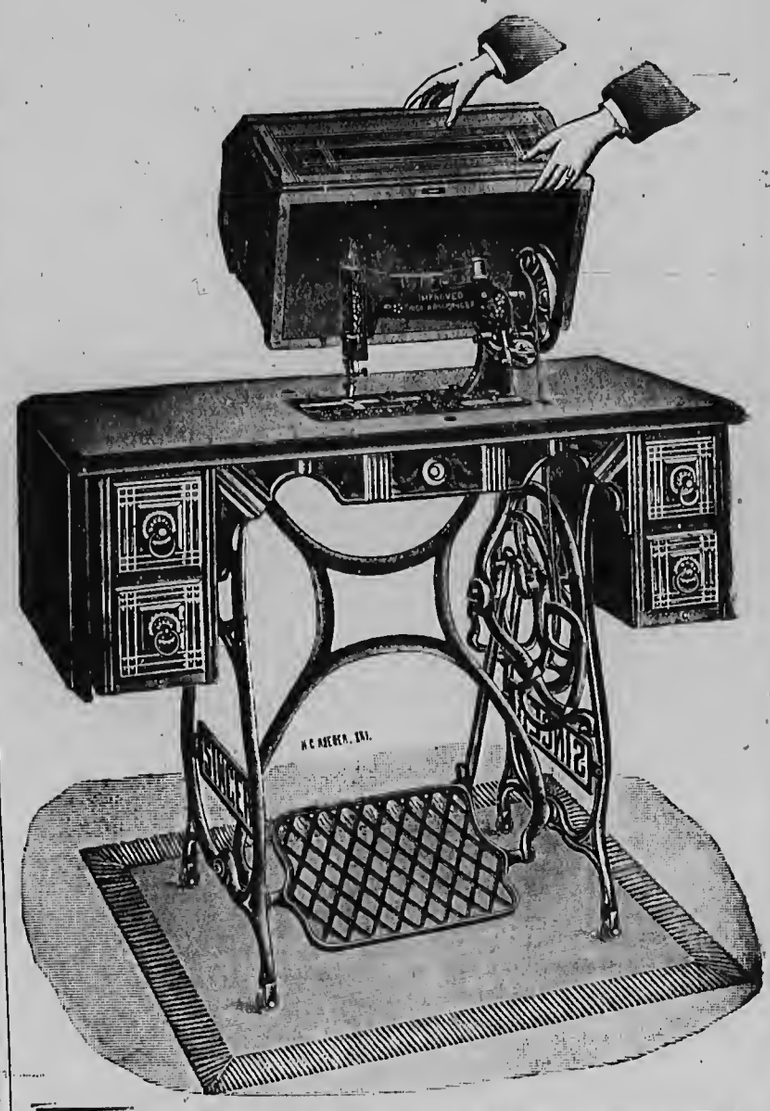
USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED

TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine.

None genuine without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $1.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to

DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer Dixon, Ill.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Fine Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 513 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 513 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

			Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	.....	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks,	.....	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3 ..	.....	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month,	.....	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	.....	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6 ..	.....	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year,	.....	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 ..	.....	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1 ..	.....	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1 ..	.....	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1 ..	.....	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1 ..	.....	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $18 50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, January 31, 1895.

Debs' Sentence.

Eugene V. Debs, the leader of the American Railway Union strike last summer, has been sentenced by United States Circuit Judge Woods to imprisonment in the county jail for a period of six months. His associates will suffer a similar penalty, but reduced to one-half. The indictment in this case was not for violence, but for contempt of court in disobeying its order. It was brought to the notice of the federal court during the period of the strike that a conspiracy existed to hinder and interrupt interstate commerce and the carriage of mails upon the railroads centering in Chicago; upon which, Justices Woods and Grosscup issued an injunctive order to the defendants, which order they disregarded, continuing the strike and rendering necessary the resort to military force. For this contempt of court, and nothing else, they were sentenced. The significance of this decision lies in this—that a precedent has been established for the authority of the federal government in similar cases. Henceforth strike leaders can be enjoined to cease hindering railroad traffic; and if they disobey, they may, on conviction, be imprisoned for not merely six months, but for many years, the sentence being left to the judgment of the court.

A Sad Confession.

Archbishop Ireland makes this confession: "I have walked through the streets of our city and looked over the doors of business and banking houses for Catholic names, but I am sorry to say I found very few. But O, great God! what sorrow and bitterness came to my heart when I looked over the doors of our saloons and found on nearly all of them Catholic names." May those who agree with him in his church, on the total abstinence question, increase in number and influence.

When a fellow comes out vaporing and boasting that he is a through-and-through Methodist, and then turns loose with invectives generally upon church officials and organs, and makes "truly loyal" an epithet of contempt for those who have no fire brands to hurl, we can only believe that an imagined personal grievance has turned his head until "he knows not what spirit he is of."—Arkansas Methodist.

Defiling the Home.

It is manifest that if Christian parents do not exercise a sharp oversight of the books and papers read by their children, the most polluting publications may easily defile and then destroy their homes. Nor is it enough to keep out the bad. Good books and good papers must be brought into the home. Otherwise the education which all desire for their children may be turned into a curse. It were better that our children were too ignorant to read than that they should read to their corruption.

Are our preachers doing all they could to circulate pure books and papers? Are our preachers in the cities and towns, where the evils or bad prints are greatest, doing anything at all? We fear not.—Wesleyan Advocate.

We heartily commend the above to the careful consideration of all our readers. The conviction is growing upon us day by day, from what our eyes see and what our ears hear, that one of the deadliest foes with which the church of God has to contend at the present day is found in the literature that circulates in the homes of our people. The enemy is all the more dangerous because of his insidiousness. Oftentimes he does not come proclaiming himself the enemy of God and all good. On the contrary, he professes great reverence for things sacred. And yet he is all the while in the most artful manner sapping the very foundations of faith in the eternal verities of God's Word. A great deal of what passes for fine literature is simply sugar-coated infidelity. And along with this faith-destroying process there goes a revolution in ethical conceptions. Vice is made attractive and virtue hideous. The old, God-honored, hero-making ethical standards are held up to ridicule in a way that can not fail to be effective with young, impressible minds whose principles are not yet firmly fixed. All this satanic work, and much more that we have not time now to specify, is going on in Christian homes oftentimes without the knowledge of pater familias and mater familias. The younger members of the household invest in literature according to their own taste, and read ad libitum, while the father and mother know nothing and care less about its character. Here, unless we are greatly deceived, is one of the gravest problems that confronts the church of to-day.

The Methodist Review.

The Methodist Review, for January and February, has a hundred and thirty-eight pages of reading matter, exclusive of advertisements. The first article—A King of the Brambles, by Maurice Thompson—is, no doubt, good literature; we have not had time to read it. Rev. R. H. Mahon, D. D., makes a strong defense of the work of the Commission appointed by the General Conference of 1890 to revise those chapters of the Discipline which relate to trials and appeals. Dr. Paul Whitehead writes vigorously in vindication of the work done by the Committee of Seven appointed by the General Conference of 1894 to revise the work of the Commission. The Higher Criticism employs the scholarly pen of Prof. W. F. Tillett. Prof. J. S. Bisset has a thoughtful, well-written paper on "The Study of History and Political Science for Southern Youths." Other articles are: O. W. Holmes, by Prof. Baskerville; Old Japan, by J. C. Newton, D. D.; Christian Liberty and Church Organization, by E. L. T. Blake, D. D.; T. O. Summers, by the editor.

We have perused this number with more than ordinary interest. We are glad to learn that the Review is rapidly extending its circulation. Surely a great church with a membership of a million and a half ought to give such a publication sufficient patronage to make it self-sustaining.

At the End of Their Tether.

The anarchists in this city at last find themselves confronted by the United States government. A short time since some of the steamship companies doing business in this port employed a number of longshoremen at the rate of forty cents an hour. The wages of longshoremen has been for years fifty cents an hour. On learning of the employment of men at the reduced rate of forty cents, a number of the fifty-cent longshoremen banded themselves together, and with pistols and other weapons drove off the new employees. The ship owners appealed to the parish authorities for protection, but without avail. Thereupon the United States government was appealed to in the person of Judge Parlange, who immediately issued an order restraining the rioters from further participation in such lawlessness. As it is hardly probable that the anarchists feel themselves strong enough to contend with the United States army, it is supposed that they will now subside. The idea of using force to prevent free American citizens from doing manual labor for less wages than fifty cents an hour! It is high time that some people should be taught the A B C of citizenship.

A Few Figures.

The annual collection for foreign missions, for the quadrennium just closed, were, from all sources, as follows: 1890-91, $251 299.46; 1891-92, $304,-017.94; 1892-93, $338,971.94; 1893-94, $236,948.87. Total, $1,-139,914.85. A net increase over the preceding quadrennium of $225,535.90. The assessment for the quadrennium was $1,405,500. The amount realized from the regular collection under this assessment was less than $1,000,-000; the remainder of nearly $150,000 was raised as "specials."

The year 1891-92 shows an increase in regular collection of $30,000 over the preceding year; also a "special" of $41,000, most of which was pledged at the Fall Conferences and raised in the early part of the Conference year of 1892-93. The year 1892-93 shows an increase in regular collections of $907, and a special of $74,620. This "special" was pledged at the Conferences in the fall of '92, and collected in the early part of the following year. The year of 1893-94 shows a disastrous decline of $30,000 in the regular collection. The "special" also came down to the small figure of $18,000, but "specials" were not pressed as in the previous years. The assessment for the year 1894-95 is $350,000; appropriation, $235,000. There is a margin of $115 000. There is a debt that needs it. "During the past eight years interest occasioned by delayed collections has amounted to upwards of $25,-000."

The Methodist Episcopal Church.

From an article in the New York Independent by Bishop Hurst, concerning the operations of the Methodist Episcopal Church during the year 1894, we make the following extracts:

A steady advance during 1894 has been made. In missions there has been decided growth. Less than forty years ago our first missionary to India, the Rev. William Butler, landed in Calcutta. To-day there are four Annual Conferences in the Empire, and during 1894 the accessions in one of these alone—that of North India—amounts to 18 000.

Progress has been made in educational unification. A Senate exists, whose duty it is to report to the General Conference—the legislative body—and to classify our higher educational institutions, to secure unity in the curriculum throughout the church, and to see that no institution has the name of college which does not teach an adequately advanced curriculum.

The Board of Education has appropriated $67,000 for 1895, for the education of young people, chiefly those preparing for the ministry. This is in no sense a gift, but a loan, to be repaid at proper time with interest. The fund is chiefly raised by the children of the church on the second Sunday of June, which bears the name of "Children's Day." No benevolent interest of the church is making greater advance than this. In a brief time its income has doubled and it is constantly gaining new strength. During 1894 the Board aided 1,539 students, in a hundred different institutions of learning, to the amount of $70,000.

The question of fraternity between the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has assumed a new phase. The General Conference of the latter body, in May last, proposed measures looking toward federation in certain important directions. These can not be acted upon appropriately until the Methodist Episcopal General Conference of 1896; but the impression produced upon the two churches has been most favorable. As to organic unity, no steps have been proposed; but it is getting to be a universal belief that many minor differences can be removed, and that an increased community of interest can be recognized and developed. A cordial spirit of fraternity is in the air. The day of controversy as to historical antagonisms seems to be past. Both churches are looking forward to a common mission of work for the building up of the kingdom of Christ, and for better methods of laboring in common brotherhood. The old history, with its shadows, is setting; the new, with its steady and lasting sunlight, is now dawning.

The successive steps in the life of the Romish Church are succinctly pointed out thus by the Christian Irishman: "It is interesting to note the growth of the Roman Catholic Church to the state in which it now is. It claims to have been always the same, but history is against it. Once the Christian Church was pure, but the Roman branch drifted further away with each succeeding century from that original simplicity. Its successive steps in error and assumption were taken in the following order and at the following times: Invocation of the saints, 375 A. M.; the service in Latin, 600; Papal supremacy, 606; images and relics, 787; baptism of bells, 965; canonization of saints, 993; the celibacy of the priesthood, 1000; transubstantiation, 1000; sale of indulgences, 1095; use of beads in worship, 1090; the sacrifices of the mass, 1100; the confessional box, 1215; restriction of the Bible, 1546; purgatory, 1439; worship of Mary, 1563; seven sacraments, 1547; creed of Pope Pius IV., 1564; immaculate conception, 1854; papal infallibility, 1870." A handy reference table is that.

Some preachers are so confident of their own ability and merit that when others are preferred before them for important positions they feel sure the church is governed by rings.—Exchange.

BOOKS.

TOUCHING INCIDENTS AND REMARKABLE ANSWERS TO PRAYER. As related by John B Gough, Bishop Bowman, LL.D; Mrs. Mary Grant Cramer, James H. Potts, D. D.; Matthew Hale Smith, John Wesley, T. De Witt Talmage, D D.; George Muller, Bishop Simpson, D. D.; William Carvosso, John Knox, Martin Luther, D. L. Moody, A. B. Earle, D. D.; Charles G. Finney, S. A. Keene, D. D.; S I. Prime, D. D.; C. H. Spurgeon, D. D.; Mrs. Maggie Van Cott, B. Fay Mills, Edward Payson, D. D; George Fox, Mark Guy Pearce, H L. Hastlogs, and many others. By S. B. Shaw. Published by S. B. Shaw, Dutton, Mich., near Grand Rapids. 1895.

The above is the title of a book which lies upon our table by courtesy of the publishers. We have seen frequent notices of the work in various exchanges, but have not until recently had the privilege of perusing it. The expectations excited by complimentary press notices have been more than met. The reading of the work is a positive delight. The work is properly described by its title. Such an array of "remarkable answers to prayer" we have not found elsewhere, and "touching" is exactly the right word to describe many of them. This is a book which we can heartily commend to everybody. No preacher ought to be without it, and a copy of it would be a positive benediction in every household, Christian or unchristian. In order that our readers may get a taste of its delicious flavor we publish on our second page an extract from it. If anyone can read that incident with unmoistened eyes, he has our profoundest sympathy. Believing firmly that the circulation of this book will be an inspiration to good works, we have made arrangements with the publisher to handle it as a premium. Our premium offer will be found in another column.

DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE. Teachers' Edition. By William Smith, LL.D. Revised and edited by Rev. F. N. and M. A. Peloubet, authors of "Select Notes on the International Lessons." Comprising its antiquities, biography, geography, natural history and literature with the latest researches and references to the Revised Version of the New Testament. Over eight hundred pages, with eight colored maps and four hundred and forty illustrations. Large 12 mo. Cloth; very unique binding in black and gold. Retail, $2 00; sheep, $3.00; half-morocco, gilt top, $3 50.

The above title is an accurate description of a publication by Porter and Coates, Philadelphia. The basis of this work is the great Bible Dictionary of Dr. William Smith, which is conceded to be one of the very best works of its class in existence. Smith's work, however, is too voluminous for general use. The publishers, believing that an abridged edition of Smith's great work would meet a felt want on the part of Sunday-school teachers and Bible students generally, engaged the well-known commentators, F. N. and M. A. Peloubet, to prepare such a work. The work of abridging has been admirably done. The matter left out is that which is not specially needed by the masses. The great body of the work is precisely as Dr. Smith left it. Valuable additions have been made embodying the results of modern research. We heartily commend it as a most valuable aid to Bible students. Those who desire to own the work can procure it of us on better terms than from the publishers themselves. See our premium offer on another page.

NOTES.

Belhaven College has an attendance of 115 pupils.

***

The postoffice this year of Rev. H. O. White, P. E., will be Opelousas, La.

***

The Legislature of South Carolina has passed a scientific temperance instruction law. This reduces the number of States without such a law to four.

***

Bishop Hurst expresses the opinion that the so-called liberal theology of Germany is on the wane, and that the tide of education is toward the evangelical standard.

***

A number of brethren are proving their love for the ADVOCATE by working diligently to extend its circulation—the best evidence in the world. May their tribe increase!

***

Don't fail to read our new premium offers—the Oxford Bible, the Smith-Peloubet Bible Dictionary, and Touching Incidents and Remarkable Answers to Prayer. They are the best we have ever made.

***

The annual sermon at the opening of the Spring term of Whitworth College will be preached by Rev. J. W. McLaurin, Feb. 3, at 11 A. M. The outlook for the new term is reported as decidedly encouraging.

***

The commencement sermon for Millsaps College will be preached by Bishop E. R. Hendrix, Sunday, June 9; and the annual address will be delivered by Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, Monday, June 10.

***

The Macon (Ga.) News announces that Rev. Alonzo Monk, D. D., pastor of Mulbery Street Church, in that city, will take his departure early in February for a three-months' trip to the Holy Land. There now. Who knows but that we might have seen Jerusalem had we remained in the pastorate. But there is no such fate in store for a man who is both editor and publisher of a great religious journal like the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. Our best wishes accompany the Doctor on his journey.

Mr. F. W. Schroeder and Miss Rachel Ella Schroder were united in the bonds of matrimony at Moreau Street Church on Tuesday evening last, the pastor, Rev. J. M. Henry, officiating. May prosperity and happiness attend them through life!

***

The Wesleyan Advocate announces the death of Mrs. Lucy Smith at her home in Macon, Ga. Sister Smith was a daughter of Bishop J. S. Key. She was a very bright, attractive woman. Her death will be mourned by a large circle of friends. We sympathize deeply with the bereaved family. In her death we feel that we have lost a personal friend.

***

The world is improving. Mr. Richard Watson Gilder passed Christmas Day inspecting the lodging houses of New York City, as chairman of the Tenement House Commission. Replying to an interviewer, he said: "I have not found anything like the squalor and wretchedness which used to prevail when as a boy I visited the Five Points with my father"—who was a Methodist minister.

***

A large audience gathered at Parker Chapel, Sunday afternoon, to attend the memorial service in honor of Rev. J. D. Parker. Very appropriate and interesting addresses were made by Revs. R. H. Wynn, F. S. Parker, F. N. Parker and J. T. Sawyer. No man in New Orleans Methodism was more universally respected and beloved than was Rev. J. D. Parker, and no one gave more diligent attention to the work which his hands found to do for the furtherance of the Master's kingdom.

***

Readers of this paper will do well to see in another place our offer on the "Footsteps of the Man of Galilee." Dr. Palmore, of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, himself an Eastern traveler, acquainted with the scenes of the Holy Land, says he has paid fifty cents a piece for photographs much inferior to these pictures, sixteen of which, with the most intelligent and skillful description of what they represent, we offer subscribers of the ADVOCATE for ten cents, postage paid by us. One would wait long to get such a book at less price.

***

There is a great deal of random talking and writing about the relations between the church and "the masses." The common assertion that between the workingmen and the Christian Churches there is a wide gulf fixed often fails to be supported by facts. A writer in the Forum, lately, alleged that in Fall River, Mass., the churches simply and entirely neglected the masses. He was talking without any real knowledge, for a recent census shows that ninety-six per cent. of the population of Fall River reported themselves as affiliated with some of the churches of the place.—Exchange.

***

It is to be hoped that "Do-Without Week" will prove a season of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. If our people everywhere will observe the week as a season of earnest, fervent, importunate prayer, this will be the case. God will not fail to give unto those who ask according to his word. Then, if the giving is of the character indicated in the name, "Do-Without Week"—i. e., if it is a giving that represents real self-sacrifice—our depleted missionary treasury will be replenished, and each donor will have the right to expect the blessings of our heavenly Father to rest upon him.

***

Our Baptist brethren in this city are engaged in a line of work that is a little out of the usual order. They have established a sort of theological school for the benefit of country pastors who feel the need of help in this direction. The session lasts one month. Three lectures of an hour each are given each day. Rev. D. I. Purser, the originator of the movement, lectures on Pastoral Work. Systematic Theology is discussed by Rev. John H. Purser. Rev. Mr. Whitington lectures on Homiletics. Rev. D. I. Purser inaugurated a similar enterprise some years ago at Birmingham with great benefit to the denomination in that State.

***

On Saturday evening, Jan. 24, the corner-stone of the Y. M. C. A. building in this city was laid with appropriate ceremonies. The exercises were held in Washington Artillery Hall. The opening prayer was made by Rev. B. M. Palmer, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian Church. Right Reverend Davis Sessums delivered an address which was ornate and interesting, and which surprised us by its broad catholicity. Then followed a very appropriate address, breathing just such a fraternal Christian spirit as we expected, from our old school-boy friend, Rev. D. I. Purser, D. D., pastor of Valence Street Baptist Church. The honor of placing the corner-stone was very properly conferred upon one of the princely laymen of New Orleans Methodism, Bro. J. H. Keller, through whose munificence in the donation of a $9 000 lot the erection of the building is primarily due. The building will cost $45,000, and will be a very handsome one.

Pastoral Address.

...e Preachers of Columbus District, North ...issippi Conference—

...ar Brethren: We have, through the ...t mercy of God, been permitted to ...e the labors of the past Conference ..., and to enter upon another year of ... and opportunity and blessing. ...ough in the evening twilight of the ...teenth century, we are yet in the ... dawn of the brightest and best ... the world ever saw. The signs of ... times are full of promise. The ...herhood of humanity is being rec... ...ized more and more, and the spirit ...the Christ-child is going out in prac... ...l beneficence as never before. The ...ions are getting closer to each ..., and the civilized world is lis... ...ng to propositions for the adjust... ...t of all national quarrels by a ...ceful arbitration. Vast wealth is ... accumulated in Christian na... ... The holders shall be willing "in ... day of his power." Ever and ... some money king opens heart ... hand in munificent offerings for ... uplift of humanity. More than ...y millions of dollars have been ...n in recent years for purposes of ...cation. The church already largely ...trols the higher education of our ...ured land. Latent forces, long ...ment, are being brought into ac... ...n for the furtherance of the gospel. ... children and youth of the church ... being organized and trained as work... ...for God and humanity. The Sun... ...-schools grow apace, while Chris... ...n Endeavorers, Epworth Leagners ... other young people's associations, ...ugh of recent growth, run up their ...bership almost into millions, and ...r their youthful blood into the ...bbing heart of the church, impart... ... a more ardent and vigorous life. ...other latent force lately brought ...o action is seen in the greater effi... ...ncy of woman's work. Said one of ...m, "Yes, this is woman's day." ...man is advancing rapidly to the ...eground, and is becoming a potent ...tor in great humanitarian and ...ristian enterprises. In a deeper and ...ader sense, than we have been ...ld in read, even in Genesis, she is ...ne to be a helpmeet to man. Great ...ral and social reforms are being ...jected, notably the temperance ...vement, which, under its modern ...se of prohibition, like a rising ...d, is coming to sweep away the ac... ...ed traffic in alcohol from our ...uthland; coming, like a white-...ged angel, to bless the hearts and ...mes of our Southland. There is not ...hisky saloon in Columbus district! ...ese all are signs of the times, ...peful and inspiring to a high de... ...e. Rays from a "glory-beaming ...," they tell us that the dayspring ...m on high hath visited us. It is a ...vilege to live in such a time. But ...t greater privilege to be co-labor... ...with one another, and with our ...ised Lord in his vineyard, under ...h favorable auspices.

...ear brethren of Columbus district, ...us appreciate our high calling, our ...rileges and opportunities, and, put... ...g forth all our strength, let us, by ...d's grace, make this the best year ... our ministry. To this end you ...ll indulge me in a few words of ex... ...rtation.

1. Let us be abundant in labors, and ...t us pray daily for each other, for ...d's blessing upon the preachers and ...eir work throughout the district.

2. Let us begin early to lay plans to ...sure, in full, all the collections or... ...red by the Conference.

3. Let us go beyond the stereotype ...unds of accustomed work. Visit ...ur people from house to house; or... ...nize prayer meetings, Epworth ...agues, Sunday-schools, Woman's ...ssionary and Parsonage and Home ...cieties; go into the by-paths; preach ...d work in out-of-the-way places.

4. It will be helpful to greatly ex... ...nd the circulation of our church pa... ...rs and other religious literature. ...w down the district with missionary ...flets, gospel tracts and good read... ...g. Let each pastor try to secure, ...least, five or ten new subscribers to ...e NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

5. When your presiding elder comes ... his accustomed rounds, get all the ...p from him you can. "Work him ...r all he is worth." Appoint special ...rvices ahead for him, preaching, Sun... ...y-school talks, lectures on temper... ...nce and education. Don't let him ...end too much time at the preacher's ...tel," pleasant as it is. Some of ...ur people are glad to have him at ...eir houses, and always invite him. ...thers are backward about it, and seem ...ol to know how to invite him. Send ...our presiding elder out, or go with ...im, among your people. He would ...ke to visit them all at their homes. ...t ready for your quarterly meeting. ...ave your reports written out as re... ...ired by the Discipline. If practi... ...able, begin on Thursday or Friday in ...reparatory services. Magnify the ...ffice; not the man, the occasion; ...ake it one of uplift to your church, ...nd of spiritual benefit to your congre... ...ation.

Your brother and companion in ...he kingdom and patience of Jesus ...hrist, T. C. WIER, P. E.

Mission Outlook.

Rev. D. L. Anderson, Suchow: "'China is the most hopeful mission field of our church.' (Bishop C. B. Galloway.) We are not accustomed to hear such words, and they make us feel better. Old China will come to the front yet. But with three men about broken down, the question of workers is getting to be a serious matter here. Can't something be done for us? We want good men. . . . The war has not in the least affected us. It is dragging on slowly. No one can tell how it will turn out, but it must be for the furtherance of the gospel."

Rev. R. A. Parker, Song Kiang: "It is a source of great joy to preach the gospel to this people in their own tongue. . . . I realize more fully every day that we must sympathize with these people if we would lead them to Christ. . . . We regret that loss of health takes Bro. Hendry from us this year. He is a power among the Chinese. Can you not send some one to take his place? We need such men to form breastworks against the iniquities which overrun this empire. While there are some trials, the joys of missionary life are so great that the trials sink into utter insignificance. The best of all is, God is with us."

These words from the front demand heroic answer. What Bishop Galloway's eye saw in vision, let us realize by our gifts of men and money. Let us each one, preacher and layman alike, take for our motto during "Do-Without Week," "I have done all I can do." If we do, there will be no balances due on assessments, but a noble excess which will enable our Board of Missions to send 70 new men into the field. Brethren of Mississippi, let us do our full share of the work.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Conf. Sec.

A Pointer.

He started (improvidently) to his friend's wake,
Neglecting to take along PRESTON'S HEDAKE;
Next day was a time of the saddest surprise,
His head pained, he scarcely could see from his eyes.

The Increased Circulation of the Review.

In September the usual edition of the REVIEW was quickly exhausted, and it was found necessary to publish a second supply of TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY copies. The first edition of the November number was slightly in excess of the two September issues combined; but again it was found necessary to supplement the edition with issues which aggregated FIVE HUNDRED. Of the current number for January - February, 1895, THREE THOUSAND copies are published, an increase of TWELVE HUNDRED copies over the first September issue, and an edition largely in excess of any previously published since the establishment of this REVIEW, if not unequaled in the history of REVIEW publications in the South. This is encouraging, but not satisfying. The Conference season is about over. Only the Florida and Baltimore Conferences remain to be visited. The REVIEW ought to have a circulation of FOUR THOUSAND copies, and to have it at once. The editor and publishers ask the liberty to call upon every subscriber to lend a helping hand. Will not every preacher call attention to the REVIEW from the pulpit on the Sunday most convenient to him during January or February? Will not every presiding elder take a copy to his Quarterly Conferences, and invite the attention of all our official laymen to THEIR Church REVIEW? Remember that a club of five subscribers, with $10, forwarded to Barbee & Smith, entitles the sender to his own copy for one year FREE. If any preacher has already paid for the REVIEW, he may forward $8, with his list of five names, and retain $2, thus easily securing his REVIEW for nothing. We hope to make the REVIEW for 1895 indispensable to all our preachers, and of the highest interest to all classes of readers. Some brethren have secured the five names without difficulty by a simple announcement from the pulpit or by reading the table of contents of a single number. Brethren, help! and put the REVIEW at once on the effective (self-sustaining) list.

To the Preachers in the Vicksburg District.

DEAR BRETHREN: I desire that you prepare and preach to all your congregations, as soon as you may, a sermon on the object and end of Christ's mission to the church. (Text, Col. i, 21 22.) Let our people thoroughly understand that we wish purity and loyalty in the church, not because the law of the church requires it; but that the law of the church calls for it, because the law of Christ demands it. This fact must be pressed upon the hearts and conscience of our people, if we would save them and ourselves.

Your servant, J. M. WEEME.

IRRITATION OF THE THROAT AND HOARSENESS are immediately relieved by "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Have them always ready.

NOTICES.

Gloster, Miss., is my address. Brethren who expect to write me please make a note of this in Conference Minutes. B. S. RAYNER.

Gloster, Miss., Jan. 25, 1895.

The district stewards for Brandon district will please meet in the Methodist Church in Morton at 10 A. M., Feb. 15 1895. C. MCDONALD.

Forest, Miss., Jan. 24, 1895.

Our church and parsonage at this place (Bolivar, Miss.) was destroyed by fire last night (Jan. 26). Nothing saved; total loss, leaving preacher and family in very destitute circumstances.

JAS. L. BOWLING, P. C.,
Bolivar charge, North Miss. Conf.

I will gladly receive and receipt for any amounts contributed for the relief of Sister Little and her family. It should be unnecessary to say this; but for fear some one should misunderstand my silence, it may be best to announce. Yours truly,

H. M. ELLIS.

Port Gibson, Miss., Jan. 24 1895.

Sent with the Order.

The C. F. Risley Co., Wholesale Druggists, 62 Cortlandt St., New York, ordered a large supply of Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism, and sent this with the order: "It is strange that your remedy is not more generally known, as its effects on rheumatism are simply marvelous—superior to any rheumatic medicine we have ever sold." This is high praise, but the remedy fully deserves it. If you have the rheumatism, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will ship to your express address two large bottles—enough for a month's treatment. Agents wanted.

The World in the Church.

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn. Price, 25 cents.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
Worlds Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE GOLDEN CANDLESTICK.

(Exod. xxv, 31 33; Heb. ix, 2; Rev. i, 12; iv, 5.)

In the Jewish tabernacle, and subsequently in the temple at Jerusalem, the golden candlestick constituted a prominent implement. In a vision at Patmos St. John was shown seven golden candlesticks, and in the midst one like unto the Son of Man.

1. The golden candlestick typifies the church of God.

(1) The candlestick was an elevated structure for the facilitation of illumination. The church is commissioned to bring the Light of the World to the world.

(2) The Mosaic candlestick was of pure gold, very valuable. The membership of the church is composed of those who seek or who have received the washing of regeneration. Valuable, because it is instrumental in saving souls—souls more valuable than all things terrestrial.

(3) The candlestick (it was really a lamp with seven apertures for ignition), without extraneous infusion of oil, was of no practical value; but neither is the oil for purposes of illumination without the lamp. Then love and cherish the church—

"The church our blessed Redeemer bought
With his most precious blood."

2. Oil and ignition gave the candlestick its practical value. Thus true object and design is accomplished. The Holy Ghost is the sacred oil. Ignition, too, he secures. Where he is there is light, life and glory. The unction from the Holy One gives the church its beneficent influence.

(1) The Holy Ghost indited the Holy Scriptures. Holy men of God spoke as the Spirit gave them utterance.

(2) The Holy Ghost explains the Holy Scriptures. The Spirit searcheth all things, even the deep things of God.

(3) The Holy Ghost, as a light, reveals to the sinner his native darkness, leads to repentance.

(4) He converts the penitent. "The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest," etc.

(5) Bears testimony to the happy consummation of regeneration. "The Spirit beareth witness," etc.

(6) Enables us to pray. He it is who enables us to say, Abba—Father.

(7) He leads God's children into all truth.

"He leadeth me! O blessed thought!
O words with heavenly comfort fraught."

(8) He is the Comforter. Comforts in life's distresses and tragedies.

(9) Dwells in the believer and conforms everything in and relating to him unto himself. Where the Holy One is there is holiness.

For other notices see eighth page.

The Fearn Mission.

I report the following receipts on the amount necessary to send Rev. J. B. Fearn, M. D., as missionary to China, viz: Acknowledged previously, $336 50; Bishop Keener, $10; Miss Mabel Rivers, $1; Mrs. Jessie R. Jones, $1; Mrs. S. Eastland, $5; J. D. Ireland, $20; Parsonage and Home Missionary Society, Paulding, $5; Mrs. J. B. Anderson, $5; Mrs. M. K. Shelmire, $5; total, $388 50.

The amount subscribed to date is $841. When we get the balance of $159 subscribed, and all subscriptions paid, another earnest soul will be sent to teach the gospel to the people of the land of Sinim. "The King's business requires haste."

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 26, 1895.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTALS ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Notice.

Will the preacher who wrote the ADVOCATE two or three years ago that he could cure stammering, please write to Dr. C. F. Carnes, Thomastown, Miss?

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOW'S YOUR FIGURE?

Trim? Straight? Well-Developed? Then don't spoil it with ready-made clothes, cut to fit anybody; wear clothes that fit—that were made for you.

HOW'RE OUR FIGURES?

Suits - - -	$13.25
Pants - - -	$3.00
Topcoats - - (Fine Melton)	$10.25

Made to measure—to fit you perfectly; superior material, latest styles.

ADD OUR FIGURES TO YOUR FIGURE

And the result will delight you.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS Company
OVERCOATS AND SUITS
313 ST. CHARLES ST.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,						$84,520,680
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	"	40,684,163
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	"	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above.

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.
CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.
Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WEBER
EMERSON
HARDMAN

The Crowning Glory of American Manufactured

Pianos

ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,

1001-1003 Canal Street.

A Magnificent Premium Offer.

The Smith-Peloubet Dictionary of the Bible.

One of the Very Best Works of Its Class in Existence.

Read the Following Press Notices.

From The Christian at Work.

There is nothing of its kind equal to it. In many respects the abridgment is preferable to the original work, for its information is more readily available. The abridgment has been entirely in the direction of matter not specially helpful to teachers, while some subjects have been rearranged to make them clearer, and in some instances fuller and more definite information has been added. The dates at which persons lived, or when events took place, have been inserted, not because absolute reliance can be placed upon their accuracy, but in order to show the relative positions of each, and hence to give a clearer idea of the history and progress of events. The revision and editing by Revs. F. N. and M. A. Peloubet has been most admirably performed. Possibly there are teachers who can do without this dictionary, but even they will find themselves all the better equipped for their work with this invaluable aid in hand.

From the Evangelical Churchman, Toronto, Canada.

We give a hearty welcome to this volume, which we cordially recommend to Sunday-school teachers and Bible students. It contains in a compact form the most essential and helpful portions of the great Bible Dictionary of Dr. William Smith. Very substantial additions have been made, especially in the embodiment of the results of the recent explorations in Palestine and the East. The freshest and most reliable information is here given. Those who desire a cheap, compact and portable dictionary will find here just what they require.

From The Standard, Chicago.

We have the fruits of the latest researches here incorporated. The revision is a good-sized work of 818 pages, with illustrations and maps of the best description. The notes are not voluminous or exhaustive, but they are sufficiently so. All points that need a word of explanation or elucidation in the Bible are dwelt upon. The chronological tables are very full and are very carefully arranged, a harmony of the Gospels and an outline of the "Apostles and their History" being added. It is a beautiful book, the page clear and the type everything that could be asked for.

The book has over eight hundred pages, with eight colored maps and 440 illustrations. Price: Cloth, $2; Sheep, $3; Half Morocco, $3 50. We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of price. Subscribers to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, however, belong to a privileged class, who can get it on much better terms.

OUR OFFER.

Any person who is a subscriber to the ADVOCATE, and who will pay his subscription to June, '96, can have the work, cloth-bound, sent to him, postpaid, for $1 35, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, and send us two new subscribers at the regular rate—$2 per annum—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. This offer may last but a little while; therefore, don't delay. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington. 67 miles shortest to Birmingham. 90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

BARRETT, A. G. P. A. 34 ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. L. HARDY, A. G. P. A., VICKSBURG, MISS.

W. C. RINEARSON, GEN'L PASS'R AGT., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE

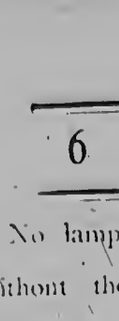
SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

No lamp is a good one without the right chimney. The "Index to Chimneys" free.

Write Geo A Macbeth Co. Pittsburgh, Pa. maker of "pearl glass" and "pearl top."

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche



FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to E. FOUGERA & CO. 26-28 N. William St. New York.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP. PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 5000 MORE BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

Our Journey Around the World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. ☞ The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. One sold 200 (in his own township) another, a lady, 58 in one Endeavor Society; another, 152 in 15 days—all are making money. 75d thousand. Now is the time. ☞ Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write at once for Circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

BURPEE'S BRIGHT RED BOOK

"Bright alike outside and inside." Mailed FREE on application. With each copy we will send (fint) a beautiful painting of New Sweet Peas until the 500,000 have all been called for. Send a postal to-day. W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Philada.

You Can Get Ferry's Seeds at your dealers as fresh and fertile as though you got them direct from Ferry's Seed Farms.

FERRY'S SEEDS

are known and planted everywhere, and are always the best. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells all about them,—Free. D. M. Ferry & Co. Detroit, Mich.

CONSUMPTION

To THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for this disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. So certain am I of its power that I feel it my religious duty to send two bottles free to any having lung troubles or consumption if they will send me their express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also agent C. O. D. with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World

PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS OF MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

518 and 520 CAMP ST.

Telephone 139.

HOME CIRCLE.

BE KIND TO FATHER.

My boy, be kind to father,
For he's been kind to you;
He's sought to lead you safely
Your life's brief pathway through;
He's cared for you and loved you,
He's tried to save you pain,
And given kindly counsel—
I hope not all in vain.

He wants to see you happy,
He wants you to be true;
His hopes and pride are centered,
Believe it, boy, in you.
How much of joy and comfort
Is in your power to give
This faithful, loving father,
If rightfully you live.

Be manly, true, and honest
In everything that's done,
And show him that his counsel
Is treasured by his son;
Be kind when old age sprinkles
His snowflakes in his hair,
And make his last days happy,
With loving words and care.

—Selected.

Irritants in the Home Life.

BY SUSAN TEALL PERRY.

If anyone should tell us that we do not love our dear ones in the home circle, how very indignant we would be! How quickly we would show our resentment in the answer we would make to such a charge! And yet in what different ways we oftentimes disturb the peace of our dear ones, and speak sharp words which hurt like sword thrusts! How often we are thoughtless of their comfort, or jealous of them because of their preferred honors and belongings! And how unfair we are many times in our estimates of those who are nearer and dearer to us than all the world besides! That we do love them truly, tenderly, is proved when illness overtakes them, and we fear that the family circle may be broken. How unselfish we are then; how tearfully we ask their forgiveness for all the unkind acts and words we have done and said! And when the dear ones have been removed from the home, how we long to have them come back home again, that we may show them how very dear they were to us! And then our regrets are, not that we sometimes were good and kind to them, and studied their comfort and pleasure, but that we did not do always those things which made for their peace and happiness.

Some parents allow one child to be the oracle of the rest of the children. Unconsciously that child who may be cleverer than the rest, perhaps, gets into a habit of having his or her own way, and grows to think that way is the only way that should be followed. One mother excused herself for this indulgence because, "You know, that if Mary does not have her own way, it is so disagreeable for all the rest of us." Whether Mary is the more clever or not, the spirit of self-conceit and self-aggrandizement is in her to such a degree fostered that as she grows up she will consider her own opinions and judgments of things so much wiser and better than other people that she will become an offense.

Not long ago a child in the writer's hearing asked the meaning of a word. "The idea that you don't know the meaning of that word!" exclaimed the eldest sister in a tone of derision. Then the brother looked up from the book he was reading to add: "What a stupid child you must be not to know what such a simple word as that means!" The little questioner quailed beneath the disgust of her elders, and timidly tried to justify her ignorance by saying that she never heard the word before. Then a peal of laughter resounded about the room, as one after another expressed surprise at the questioner's unpardonable ignorance.

The dear little child will hardly get courage to ask information of her more learned brothers and sisters again, and being a sensitive little one, she is oppressed with her inferiority, and her tender heart aches that she is not so clever as the others. If we should tell those older brothers and sisters that they do not love this little one, they would rise in indignation. But that child's opinions, statements and conclusions are invariably treated as being wholly unworthy of notice. A child who suffers from timidity is the very one that should be encouraged to express herself and ask information regarding subjects unfamiliar; but instead of that she is overawed, and withdraws within herself, and feels that she has not the talent of judging for herself. Consequently, she loses the identity she should foster. Every child should be taught to respect the opinion and individualities of its brothers and sisters. Fairness in family training is a characteristic which should be cultivated as one of the essentials of good discipline.

James Russell Lowell says that the three hardest words in the English language to say are these: "I was wrong." If by force of self-discipline we could make these words the easiest to say when we know justice demands them, how peaceful and happy would be our dear home life with one another! "Ah," said Dean Stanley, "how easy it is to fix our attention only on the weak points of those who dwell with us, to magnify them, to irritate them, to aggravate them, and by so doing make the burden of life unendurable, and thus destroy our own and others' peace and happiness!" Watch out, dear friends, that none of those irritants get into our home circles.—New York Evangelist.

The Folly of Overwork

"Some of us do too much sewing," writes Margarat Sangster. "Why spend so much time, for instance, in refashioning clothes that are in order and nice, simply because they are not precisely in the latest mode? A tired little woman showed me the other day a gown which it had taken her a steady week, with two late night sittings and a fierce attack of headache, to change. Sew we must and sew we will, my sisters; but don't let us expend too much time and effort on the endeavor to be always up to date in our dress. Why not be independent enough to adopt our own style, to a certain extent.

"We might be less tired if we learned not to feel in haste. People talk of being wearied by worry. Hurry wears upon one quite as much as her twin fiend, worry, and both are task-mistresses carrying whips. To worry and to hurry are to grow old in youth, to lose the sense of the elastic nerve and the buoyant spirit. If we can shut the door on these demons, we shall be less tired by far than if we give them entrance. Fretting over the inevitable distresses and annoyances of our situation has much to do with tiring us. Fretting seldom does any good. It frequently does harm. Foreboding is as idle and as surely fraught with evil."—Christian Herald.

A Word to the Boys.

If we are to have drunkards in the future, some of them are to come from the boys to whom I am now writing, and I ask you if you want to become one of them? No, of course you do not!

Well, I have a plan that is just as sure to save you from such a fate as the sun is to rise to-morrow. Never touch liquor in any form. That is the plan, and it is not only worth knowing, but it is worth putting into practice.

I know you don't drink now, and it seems to you as if you never would. But your temptation will come, and it will probably come in this way. You will find yourself some time with a number of companions, and they will have a bottle of wine on the table. They will drink and offer it to you. They will regard it as a manly practice, and very likely they will look upon you as a milk-sop if you don't indulge with them. Then what will you do? Will you say, "No, no! none of that stuff for me?" Or will you take the glass, with your common sense protesting and your conscience making the whole draught bitter, and a feeling that you have damaged yourself, and then go off with a hot head and skulking soul that at once begins to make apologies for itself, and will keep doing so during all its life! Boys, do not become drunkards.—Dr. Holland.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Tribute to a Mother.

Children, look in those eyes, listen to that dear voice, notice the feeling of even a single touch bestowed upon you by that hand! Make much of it while yet you have that most precious of all good gifts, a loving mother. Read the unfathomable love of those eyes; the kind anxiety of that tone and look, however slight your pain. In after-life you may have friends; but never will you have again the inexpressible love and gentleness lavished upon you which none but a mother bestows. Often do I sigh in the struggles with the hard, unearing world, for the sweet, deep security I felt when, of an evening, nestling in her bosom, I listened to some quiet tale suitable to my age, read in her untiring voice. Never can I forget her sweet glances cast upon me when I appeared asleep; never her kiss of peace at night. Years have passed away since we laid her beside my father in the old churchyard; yet still her voice whispers from the grave, and her eye watches over me, as I visit spots long since hallowed to the memory of my mother.—Lord Macaulay.

Home at Dark.

Too much discipline possibly there was in the old Puritan upbringing of children; too little of it there certainly is in many modern households. Whoever has occasion to be out of doors in the evening, in most residence quarters of our town, is made painfully aware that too many children are outside their homes when they ought to be in their beds. Often these children are girls just at the entrance of womanhood, more often boys of twelve to fifteen years. An expert has expressed the opinion that if the police had power to keep children off the streets after dark it would diminish vice and crime by one-half. Might not our pastors add to their usefulness by specifically and pointedly admonishing parents on this subject, if they are not now doing it? In some towns the evil is a large one.—Messenger.

Do Not Scold.

For the sake of your children do not scold. It is a great misfortune to have children reared in the presence and under the influence of a scold. The effect of the everlasting complaining and fault-finding of such persons is to make the young who bear it unamiable, malicious and callous-hearted, and they often learn to take pleasure in doing the very things for which they receive tongue-lashings. As they are always getting the blame of wrong doing, whether they do it or not, they think they might as well do wrong as right. They lose all ambition to strive for the favorable opinion of a fault finder, since they see they always strive in vain. Thus a scold is not only a nuisance, but a destroyer of the morals of children.—Selected.

The Secret of Success.

The elder D'Israeli said that the secret of all success consists in being master of your subject, such mastery being gained by continued application.

Some years ago there was living in a certain town a boy named Thomas. In his studies he had to work hard, but he never left a lesson unmastered.

If he had not been able to finish a task with his class, he would, when the time came to recite, frankly acknowledge that he knew nothing of that lesson, not having yet perfected the previous one. This habit of continuing at one thing until he had mastered it followed him through life, and he became the redoubtable Stonewall Jackson, noted for his perseverance under difficulties.

The Boys.

At ten years of age a boy thinks his father knows a great deal; at fifteen he knows as much as his father; at twenty he knows twice as much; at thirty he is willing to take his advice; at forty he begins to think his father knows something, after all; at fifty he begins to seek his advice, and at sixty—after his father is dead—he thinks he was the smartest man that ever lived.—Atchison Globe.

I know somebody who can never let a mistake pass uncorrected. He somehow seems to think our blood would be upon his head if we believed we started out for a walk at half-past three, when he could prove to us it was only twenty-seven minutes past.

HYGIENE.

Apples for Sedentary People.

The remedial use of apples is worthy of notice. Chemically, the apple is composed of vegetable fibre, albumen, sugar, gum, chlorophyl, malic acid, gallic acid, lime and much water. Furthermore, the German analysts say that the apple contains a larger percentage of phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable. The phosphorus is admirably adapted for renewing the essential nervous matter—lecithin—of the brain and spinal cord. It is, perhaps, for the same reason, rudely understood, that old Scandinavian traditions represent the apple as the food of the gods, who, when they felt themselves to be growing feeble and infirm, resorted to this fruit, renewing their powers of mind and body. Also the acids of the apple are of singular use for men of sedentary habits, whose livers are sluggish in action, those acids serving to eliminate from the body noxious matters, which, if retained, would make the brain heavy and dull, or bring about jaundice or skin eruptions and other allied troubles. Some such experience must have led to the custom of taking apple-sauce with roast pork, rich goose and other like dishes. The malic acid of ripe apples, either raw or cooked, will neutralize any excess of chalky matter engendered by eating too much meat. It is also the fact that such ripe fruits as the apple, the pear and the plum, when taken ripe and without sugar, diminish acidity in the stomach, rather than provoke it. Their vegetable sauces and juices are converted into alkaline carbonates, by the chemical action of stomach juices which tend to counteract acidity.

Pure Air in Sleeping-Rooms.

Notwithstanding the fact that the gospel of fresh air has been preached unremittingly for the last few years, and that every intelligent person understands the beneficial effects of oxygen and the equally injurious qualities of the impure air which is breathed out of the lungs in a confined space, there still remains an unaccountable prejudice against letting in the outer air in cold weather. In many houses, except when the beds are aired or the floors swept, the windows are really never opened, the one airing being deemed sufficient if the temperature is below freezing. Very few people comparatively would dream of leaving their window open at night, although it is a practice that has been recommended by physicians over and over again, and it is a known fact that fresh air in a bed-room even on the coldest night is not harmful, but healthy.

"Instead of colds coming from atmospheric changes, as people generally suppose," says a noted physician, "they generally originate, in my opinion, by breathing impure air. Ninety-nine per cent. of what are termed colds are nothing more nor less than the poisoning of the mucous membrane by bad air."—Ex.

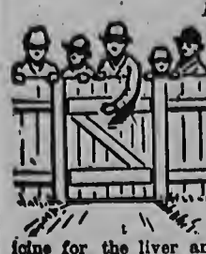
THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

EGGLESS PLUM PUDDING.—One large cupful of bread crums, one cupful each of suet, chopped fine, or butter, molasses, raisins and sweet milk, one tablespoonful of soda, one teaspoonful each of salt, cloves and cinnamon, and two cupfuls of flour. Steam two and one-half hours.—Selected.

TOMATO OMELET.—Beat well three eggs, a pinch of salt and a teaspoon of flour or a teaspoon of cornstarch. Add two-thirds of a cup of strained canned tomatoes. Stir well and pour into a well-buttered spider. Cover with a tin cover and set a hot griddle on this. Place where it will brown, but not burn. When the mixture has thickened, slip a pancake-turner under it, fold over, slip on a hot platter and serve at once.—Selected.

ROLLS.—One and a half pints of new milk, one cupful of hop yeast, half a teaspoonful of salt, and flour to form a dough which must be covered and left to rise over night. In the morning add the whites of two eggs well beaten, half a cupful of butter, and flour enough for kneading. Knead the dough briskly for ten minutes, roll out to the thickness of half an inch, cut in four-inch squares, brush the tops with sweet milk, and fold over cornerwise; place them close together in buttered pans and set in a warm place until light, then bake in a quick oven.—Exchange.



KEEP THEM O— all those g the seeds of di that are trying and night to g foothold in you tem. You can't it, unless your is active. That all you have to pend upon, to them out of y blood.

The very best m icine for the liver and the blood, is Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. T that when you're getting thin, when have pimples or eruptions, when you've appetite and feel "run-down" (these warning signals)—and you'll save your from serious illness.

Franklin, Lane Co., Ore.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION: Gentlemen—My wife, of whom I w you, is another woman as far as her health concerned; since taking your "Golden Medi Discovery" and "Pellets," she says she better than she has for years. She has gai twenty-five pounds in three months.

C. W. Brown

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCO

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natu laws which govern the operations of digest and nutrition, and by a careful application the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Epps has provided for our breakfast and su per a delicately flavoured beverage which save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a co stitution may be gradually built up until str enough to resist every tendency to dise Hundreds of subtle maladies are floati around us ready to attack wherever there weak point. We may escape many a fa shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified w pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or mi Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers labelled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopa Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles

Large Stock of American Watches

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas, DENVER, Colorado, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California, and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co. now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA

—VIA—

NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves station, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

W. F. M. S.

...ed Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

...Miss. Conf...Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb,..Como, Miss.
...La. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
...Conf.....Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison....

To the Treasurers.

...s the fiscal year draws to its close a ...rd to the treasurers of auxiliaries ...y not be inappropriate. Have you ...e your utmost to collect all delin... ...ent dues and contingent fund for the ...ar? This does not mean, Have you ...led the roll at the regular monthly ...elling and received the dues of the ...all proportion of the membership ...o were present, leaving the others ...thout reminder? but, Have you ...ked over your roll in private to find ...o was owing the society, and what ...ount? Have you spoken to those ...o owe as you have met them, or ...e hunting them in their homes, ...t you might obtain the amount due? ...this must be included when we say ...have done our utmost. Some of ...ese amounts seem too small to ex... ...nd so much time and strength in ...llecting them; but think what an in... ...ere we would see in our treasury ...re all these little amounts collected. ...is also very important that the ...dges made at the recent annual ...etings be fulfilled.

...e, of the North Mississippi Con...ence, enjoy this year the rare privi... ...of sending out our own mission... ..., Miss Viola Blackburn, of Holly ...rings. She has been for two years ...training for her work in the Scarritt ...ble and Training-school, and is now ...ol ready to be accepted by the ...man's Board and be appointed to ...field of labor. This fact should ...ke the pledge-money of unusual in...est to us, and we should use every ...ans in our power not only to redeem ...pledges, but to make a liberal ...nk-offering above the amount ...dged. I would also remind the ...rth Mississippi Conference society ...here that this pledge includes only ...ll auxiliaries, as the children's ...dge goes to Miss Barnes' special ...d for the Little Worker; so any ...th auxiliary that fails to meet its ...dge may cause serious delay in our ...k.

...rs. Trueheart, in her last letter to ...ference corresponding secretaries, ...: "We start upon the new year ...h a depleted treasury, but with ...ng faith that our beloved workers ...l see to it that no paralyzing debt ...threatens the Woman's Board."

...e would remind treasurers and ...illaries that the ease attendant ...n the much-talked-of surplus can ...ed no longer, as the surplus is ...idedly a thing of the past, and we ...to redouble our energies, that we ...not cripple our work or incur ...t. I would urge auxiliary treasu... ...to let neither timidity or fancied ...of time prevent the fullest dis...ge of the duties of their office, but, ...roughly understanding the great ...of means for the carrying on of ...Lord's work, to bestir themselves ...collect every cent possible before ...year closes.

An Experience Party.

...the end of the fiscal year draws ...some may be casting about for a ...to increase the final offerings or ...h raising the pledge-money. Hav... ...seen the above-named party tried ...h good results, I give this explana... ...of it. About a month or six weeks ...ore the time you desire to have the ...rty distribute to every man, woman ...d child who will take one small ...de, on which must be printed some...ing like the following: "I, —— ——, ...mise to make by my own exertions ...less than the sum of one dollar for ...sions, to be paid at the Experience ...rty (giving place and date)." Dur... ...the same week in which these are ...tributed publish in your town paper ...explanation of the party. Several ...ngs must be made plain: first, the ...ney must be earned, and, second, on ...night of the party each one must ...how the money was earned in verse. ...ery week before the party there ...uld be some notice in the paper ...ping the public reminded of it, and ...the paper of the week immediately ...ceding the party there should be a ...inder as to time and place, and an ...nouncement that those who had not ...en a card and earned a dollar, and ...re not thereon entitled to entrance, ...uld be admitted for a small sum—..., 25 cents. The ladies of the Mis...nary Society should furnish some ...ht refreshments to be served to all ...ests, and the trustees should arrange ...good music and some recitations or ...dings. These, with the original ...es, can not fail to make an elegant ...tertainment. Those who undertake ...e will be surprised to find how many ...d how ingenious will be the schemes ...money making, and how many in ...om the poetic element seemed en...ely lacking, inspired by the occa..., will venture to make rhymes.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

McCLENDON—JAMES McCLENDON was born of Christian parents in the State of Georgia, Jan. 31, 1816, and departed this life near Lisbon, La., Oct. 24, 1894, aged seventy-eight years eight months and twenty-three days. He was the eldest of fourteen children—nine sons and five daughters—four of whom are now living—three sisters and his youngest brother, the Rev. Thomas H. McClendon, of the Louisiana Conference.

Bro. McClendon was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in his youth. He was united in marriage to Miss Louisa A. C. Tait, in Heard county, Ga., Dec. 11, 1838. She, too, joined the M. E. Church in early life, and together they began the warfare of life as soldiers for Christ in their young and vigorous days. They moved to Claiborne parish, La., and settled near Lisbon in 1848, where they lived prosperous and happy together through a long and useful life. To them were born twelve children—seven sons and five daughters. Five of their children and the mother preceded the father to the glory land. His sons—Enos H. and Rohl. F.—still reside in this parish; the former a prominent lawyer at Homer, La., the latter a successful farmer in the neighborhood of Lisbon. His daughters all married Christian gentlemen, and are blessed in this world's goods. Thus the Lord cares for them and "withholds no good thing from them that walk uprightly."

Bro. McClendon was a modest man. "Swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath." He was reserved in manners, gentle and unassuming in character, faithful and true to the cause of right. He was a devoted husband and affectionate father. As a citizen he was highly respected and honored; his counsel and advice were appreciated by all. As a Christian he was the leader in our church, and always ready to work and testify for Jesus. When he settled at Lisbon in 1848, there was no church organization in the community, and in the early part of 1849 he, with a few others, soon organized the Lisbon Church with a membership of seventeen, all of whom except one (Thos. B. Wafer, of Blenville parish) have crossed over the river. Bro. McClendon was an active and efficient layman, often holding two offices in the church at the same time. In the early history of the Lisbon Church he was the main steward and class leader, and always prided in punctuality and correctness in his dealings with the church. He kept a complete list of the church membership from its foundation, and when in later years we were required to make up a church register Bro. McClendon brought forth his little old class books, and from them we made out (so the presiding elder said) the most complete church register in the district. No one will miss him more in church work than this writer, having been our special friend and co-laborer in the Sunday-school, always there on time and ready to "do with his might."

To his brother, sisters, children, relatives and many friends bereft, I would admonish not to weep because of his departure, but let the remembrance of his long, devoted life to Christ inspire us with renewed courage to "fight the good fight of faith, laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that [we] may lay hold on eternal life."

His friend, J. W. DAWSON.

THOMPSON—Little ANER, son of Baxter L. and Katie A. Thompson, was born Oct. 9, 1888, and died Nov. 7, 1894 after suffering for two weeks.

He was beautiful, sweet and good, and was beloved by all who knew him, as was betokened by the tear stained faces at his burial. We think God takes the fairest, purest buds to blossom in the garden of Paradise. We know he loved little Aber, as he had such an affectionate disposition. May God help us to be resigned to his will, and be able to say with John "The Lord gaveth, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

No more on earth shall mama and papa behold that loving little face, that carried sunshine wherever it went, nor hear that soft, sweet voice, far sweeter to them than any music; but may we not live in hope of seeing his shining face, and hearing his sweet voice singing around God's throne? MAMA.

TRAHAN—Sister EVALINE TRAHAN was born in Vermilion parish, La., Sept. 29, 1820; was married to Etol Trahan, Dec. 23, 1835, and died at her home, Dec. 25, 1894. She was married fifty-nine years and two days. This union was blessed with eleven sons and five daughters.

Sister Trahan had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, for a quarter of a century, in which she consistently lived, faithfully wrought and triumphantly died. She had been blind for a number of years, and a great sufferer; but this temporal blindness could not dim her spiritual skies. Five days before her death, at her request, I administered the Lord's Supper to her and her husband and children as they knelt around her bed. Our tears were stirred as we beheld that scene. Her last hours were in great peace, and early on the morning of the anniversary of our Savior's birth she went up to heaven. May her husband and children meet her there! J. J. KELLY.

MAYFIELD—ELIJAH J. MAYFIELD died in New Orleans, Jan. 7, aged seventy-five years.

Bro. Mayfield was a member of the M. E. Church over fifty years. He loved to read his Bible. He loved to talk of the wondrous love of God. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn for him. We sympathize with the bereaved. Weep not for departed loved ones.

W. T. CURRIE, P. C.

The preacher who takes a dead aim at himself is sure to hit somebody else.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has made a name and record in the past fifty years that is enviable. Thousands of people having tried it for coughs, colds, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis and consumption know its value, and would not be without it. Why? Because it cures where other remedies fail. We recommend it for children subject to croup and whooping cough. It will give relief and cause speedy cure. The medical profession recognize it, and physicians frequently prescribe it for lung troubles. These facts have pushed Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar to the front rank. It is the best remedy for coughs, colds, all throat and lung affections, and no family should be without it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample. JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

For Twenty Years

Scott's Emulsion has been endorsed by physicians of the whole world. There is no secret about its ingredients. Physicians prescribe because they know what great nourishing and curative properties it contains. They know it is what it is represented to be; namely, a perfect emulsion of the best Norway Cod-liver Oil with the hypophosphites of lime and soda.

Scott's Emulsion

For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Consumption, Scrofula, Anæmia, Weak Babies, Thin Children, Rickets, Marasmus, Loss of Flesh, General Debility, and all conditions of Wasting.

The only genuine Scott's Emulsion is put in salmon-colored wrapper. Refuse inferior substitutes!

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

ont feb8

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal.

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscribes between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96.

W. C. BLACK.

THE OXFORD BIBLE

A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in a small compass, adapted for all classes.

First American TYPE-SET Edition

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessity of a number of books, while it will concentrate the mind of the student on his work. MINION, 12mo size, 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 inches. From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word and page for page, a fac-simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.

THIS is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, made from new type set plates and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper. The binding is the desirable Divinity Circuit style from the best American Leather, with leather lining inside, round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.

The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising nearly 400 pages, are, as all thorough Bible students well know, the result of years of careful labor and research by the most eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day, who have brought them to that point of perfection where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and convenient explanatory Cyclopedia of Biblical Information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Jacob unwillingly sendeth Benjamin. 16 Joseph entertaineth his brethren. 26 His joy at seeing Benjamin.

Before CHRIST 1707

AND the famine was sore in the land.

2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

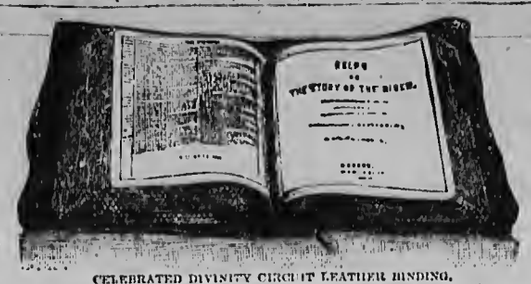
3 And Judah spake unto him, saying,

Before CHRIST 1707

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house;



CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEATHER BINDING.

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS, Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with context, over 40,000 references. Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 10,000 references. Scripture Atlas, with Index. Glossary of Bible Words. Bible Calendar. Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and pronunciation. Summary and Analysis of the Old and New Testament.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.

A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

1 The Title of the Bible.
2 The Canon of Scripture.
3 Versions of the Scriptures.
4 Genuineness and Integrity of the Old Testament.
5 Summary of the Books of the Old Testament.
6 Summary of the Book of the Apocrypha.
7 Chronology of the Old Testament.
8 Genealogy from Adam to Jacob.
9 Itinerary of the Journeyings of the Israelites to their settlement in Canaan.
10 Miracles of the Old Testament.
11 Parables of the Old Testament.
12 Special prayers in the Old Testament.
13 Brief Historical Summary of the Interval between the Old and New Testaments.
14 Genuineness and Integrity of the New Testament.
15 Summary of the Books of the New Testament.
16 Harmony of the Gospels.
17 Our Lord's Miracles.
18 Our Lord's Parables.
19 Names, Titles and Offices of Christ.
20 Prophecies relating to Christ.
21 Recorded Appearances of Christ after His Resurrection.
22 Family of the Herods.
23 Chronology of the Acts and Epistles.
24 Paul's Missionary Journeys.
25 Paul's Voyage to Rome.
26 Special Prayers in the New Testament.
27 Passages from the Old Testament quoted in the New Testament.
28 References in the Old Testament not being exact Quotations.
29 References in the New Testament to Incidents recorded in the Old Testament.

BIBLE LANDS.

(Their Inhabitants, Conformation, Principal Charateristics, etc.)

30 Ethnology of the Jews and their Neighbors.
31 Jewish Sects and Parties.
32 The Jewish Year.
33 Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
34 Mountains of the Bible.
35 Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
36 Animals of the Bible.
37 Birds found in Palestine.
38 Reptiles of the Bible.
39 Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
40 Insects of the Bible.
41 Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
42 Geology of the Bible.
43 Precious Stones of the Bible.
44 Music and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
45 Weights and Measures.
46 A Glossary of Antiquities, Customs, etc.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, Obsolete and Ambiguous.
Subject-Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Dictionary of Scripture Proper Names, with their pronunciations and meanings.
Index to Scripture Atlas.
Scripture Atlas.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $4.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still, any subscribor who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each. We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address Rev. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La

IN THE WILD WEST

"Don't Shoot The Organist,"

"He's doing the best he can on that old wheezer. Our new Epworth Organ will be here next Sunday, and we promise you better music."

While the above is only a little joke, it suggests that many of the organs in our churches are worn out and should be "located." The publishers have arranged with the manufacturers to furnish our readers with

Epworth Organs and Pianos AT FACTORY PRICES.

We assure you that these instruments are high grade and strictly reliable. They rank right up with the best made. Thousands of our preachers and people testify to the quality of the Epworth. If you need an Organ or Piano for church or home send for catalogue giving name and address of your preacher, and we will mail you information that will save you a handsome amount. We ask no money until instruments are tested and found as represented.

Address the publisher of this paper.

THE Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made. It has received the highest award at the U. S. Gov't official investigation, and at all the Great International Expositions and World's Fairs wherever exhibited in competition with others.

It makes the finest, lightest, sweetest, most wholesome bread, cake and pastry. More economical than any other leavening agent.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

New Iberia	Feb.	3
Teche circuit, at St Martinsville		5
Grand Chenieres, at Leesburg		9, 10
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur		14
Prudhomme at Roberts ave		16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island		20

H C. WHITE, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ringgold, at Andrew's Chapel	Feb.	2, 3
Bienville, at Mill Creek		9, 10
Lisbon at Lisbon		16, 17
Summerfield at Harmony		23, 24
Vienna, at Vienna	Mar.	2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston		9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Gansville at Gansville		23, 24
Homer, at Homer		30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr.	6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan 31, at 10:30 A M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Gross Tete, at Colton	Feb.	2, 3
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford		9, 10
Zachrie at Zachrie		10, 11
Live Oak, at Friendship		16, 17
Port Vincent at Huff's		21
Ponchetoula, at Wesley		23, 24
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar.	2, 3
Amite City, at Roseland		9, 10
St Helena, at Greensburg		16 17
Pine Grove, at Pikin's		17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove		23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wesley, at Davis Springs	Feb.	2, 3
Coushatta at Coushatta		5
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches		9, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall		16, 17
Pleasant Hill at Marthaville		19
DeSoto Mission		21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel		23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar.	2, 3
Many, at Prospect		9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant		16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G		23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Pineville, at P	Feb.	2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce		9, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship		16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill		23, 24
Glenmora	Mar.	2, 3
Atlanta at A		9, 10
Montgomery, at M		10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte		16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs		23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carondelet Street	Feb.	3
Covington		10
Morgan Street		17
Louisiana Avenue		24
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar.	3
Rayna Memorial		10
Tallineck		17
Felicity Street		24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P		31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd	Jan.	5, 6
Delhi, at Delhi		6
Rayville, at Rayville		9
Monroe, at Monroe		10
Calhoun, at Indian		11
West Monroe at West Monroe		13, 13
Bastrop, at Bastrop		14, 15
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge		16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove		18, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro		21, 23
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove		23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg		26, 27
Waterproof at Waterproof		29, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	Feb.	2, 3

Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation, and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

Nothing Cheap about It.

Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism is put up in large bottles, and once seen it is never mistaken for any other preparation. All the cheap remedies put together are not worth one bottle of Drummond's Lightning Remedy, and any sufferer who has taken it will bear witness to its marvelous power, and say they have never seen its equal. Particulars sent by mail, and the full month's treatment of two large bottles by express upon receipt of $5 Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

POSTAL CARD REPORTS.

Rev. F. B. Ormond, Herbert, Miss., Jan. 15: "My people have given me a warm reception, and I feel that the Lord was with the Bishop when he appointed me to the Lluwood charge. Pray for me."

Rev. E. F. Edgar, Magnolia, Miss., Jan. 19: "We arrived here on the first instant, and were cordially received and loyally welcomed by the elect women and generous men of Magnolia. We are very comfortable and happy. The signs are hopeful and encouraging for a successful year. We are the recipients of much kindness. There is a great work needed to be done, but we have a great people. Pray for us."

Rev. Thos. J. Martin, Ringgold, La.: "I drop you this note to inform you of a very painful accident that happened to our beloved pastor, Rev. B. H. Sheppard. On the morning of the sixteenth instant he slipped up and dislocated his right arm at the elbow very badly. He suffered severely, but is improving now. His brethren are looking after his interest by responding to his wants. His appointments will be filled. We ask the prayers of the brethren in his behalf."

Rev. S. J. Davies, Alexandria, La., Jan. 21: "The work on this district for the incoming year is very encouraging. Every charge visited by the presiding elder up to this time is pleased with the preacher and have begun the year's work with bright promise of success. Alexandria, under the fostering care of Bros. Jackson and Grace, widens the borders of her garments and feels the pulse of a new life. The church in West Alexandria is an assured success. The First Church falls into line with an Epworth League. Big Cane and Chicot, Columbia and Nugent, all seem happy, contented and are at work. The presiding elder is riding around and looking on. That is all he has to do. Plenty of outdoor exercise makes him healthy, wealthy and wise."

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least, one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Whitworth College.

One hundred and twenty pupils given free tuition. Write for particulars. Second half term opens Jan. 29 Carl Faelten, Director of the N. E Conservatory, will be with us in February. Advantages unexcelled.

REV. JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Pres.

A School-Boys' League.

There was held in New York City recently a convention made up of members of the School-boys' Anti-Cigarette League, which was recently formed in the metropolis. Thousands of boys have joined it, persuaded of the manifold injuries which the use of tobacco involves. A few leading citizens have interested themselves in the movement, which promises to extend to other cities. However the use of tobacco may affect grown persons, no one can question, or measure, the harm which it works when taken in the form of cigarette-smoking into the system of a lad, stunting the growth, benumbing the faculties, poisoning the blood, and filling the victim in extreme instances with permanent injuries.—Exchange.

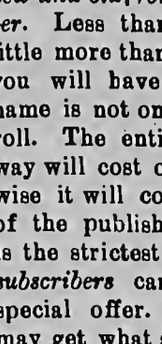
"Early Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2 40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2 40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

WALTER BAKER & CO.



The Largest Manufacturers of
PURE, HIGH GRADE
COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES
On this Continent, have received
HIGHEST AWARDS
from the great
Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS
In Europe and America.

Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The farmers of Louisiana met in convention at Natchitoches last week.

Three coal barges foundered off the coast of New York last week. Thirteen persons were drowned.

Within the past few days the receipts of cotton at New Orleans have reached the two-million-bale mark for this season.

A brewery building in Mendota, Ill., was wrecked by an explosion on Jan. 25. Seven men were killed and six were injured.

Councilman Callahan, who was convicted of bribery and sentenced in the Criminal Court of this city, has been granted a new trial by the Supreme Court.

A spreading rail on the Vandalia road caused a disastrous wreck in Coatesville, Ind., on Jan. 28. Two passengers were killed and two scores were wounded.

Capt. Townsend, of the United States engineers, reports the Louisiana and Arkansas levees in good condition, and the incomplete work in no danger from the high water in sight.

The joint conference of the representatives of the Southwestern and Southern Railway and Steamship Association, which had been in session in Memphis, Tenn., for three days, adjourned without reaching any agreement.

A large mass meeting of citizens of Waco, on Jan. 25, definitely decided to rebuild the Texas Cotton Palace, recently destroyed by fire. The new structure will be of steel and brick, and, as far as possible, fireproof. The cost will be $100 000 and the building finished Sept. 1.

A well-organized effort has been inaugurated to secure a reduction of 25 per cent. in the acreage of the coming crop, and the experience which the farmers of the South have had with 5-cent cotton has prepared them to accept any reasonable plan which holds out a promise of advancing prices.

The Senate has passed the Nicaragua Canal Company bill by a good majority. This was not wholly unexpected, for the canal has been very strong in the Senate, and it was quite certain that if it passed either House of Congress it would be the upper one. This, however, does not mean its success. The House of Representatives is less friendly to it, and it may hang fire between the two branches of Congress.

Louisiana greets the suffering people of Nebraska with twenty carloads of provisions and supplies. In 1893 Nebraska's corn crop was nearly 160 000 000 bushels. In 1894, wasted by excessive drouth, the vast corn field yielded less than 14 000 000 bushels. This meant starvation for the people and for their domestic animals. As a protracted drouth had utterly destroyed the grass, there was no food for cattle and other grazing flocks, and they, as well as the hogs and horses, had to be sold and sent to regions more prosperous.

FOREIGN.

A new Cabinet has been formed in France.

M. DeGiers, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, is dead.

Ex President Peixoto, of Brazil, is sinking rapidly, and his death is expected at any moment.

There is danger that the Panama Canal works will be destroyed by discharged employees. The works are guarded by troops.

The relations of Prince Ferdinand, of Bulgaria, with Austria are becoming worse and worse. Rumors are afloat that a conspiracy is in existence to depose him.

The Japanese government has let China distinctly understand that, unless her representatives come with full power to conclude peace, they will not be received. This announcement is due to the distrust that the Japanese have of the Celestials.

Salt Rheum often appears in cold weather, attacking the palms of the hands and other parts of the body. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, cures salt rheum.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache. 25 cents.

France has the same difficulty to face as the United States, the framing of a budget that will provide enough money for the support of the government and yet not press too hard on the people. Rich as it is, extravagance, the support of a great military establishment, great public works and other expenditures have brought about deficits of late years, and it has been difficult to frame a budget that would meet the expenditures.

Lack of vitality and color-matter in the bulbs causes the hair to fall out and turn gray. We recommend Hall's Hair Renewer to prevent baldness and grayness.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

A crowded meeting in favor of Australian federation was held in Melbourne, Australia, last week. The chief justice of Victoria, Mr. Madden, presided, and among those present were the premiers of New South Wales, South Australia and Victoria. The premier of New South Wales made a speech, during which he advocated the abolition of hostile tariffs and urged the Australian colonies to federate now before they are compelled to do so in a hurry.

When it became apparent some days ago that the relations between Mexico and Guatemala had become so strained that war was threatened, President Cleveland offered to the Mexican government the kind offices of the United States in the way of mediating between the prospective belligerents, so as to avert an armed conflict. The Mexican government has promptly, though politely, declined the kind offices of the United States, and intimated plainly that the question in dispute could not be submitted to arbitration.

Notice.

The following are the committees of examination for Brookhaven district for 1895:

For License to Preach—B. F. Jones, J. W. Chambers, E F. Edgar.

For Admission on Trial—R. W. Bailey, I. B. Robertson, M. L. Burton.

For Deacon's Orders—T. L. Mellen, W. W. Morse, W. G. Backus.

For Elder's Orders—J. M. Morse, H. P. Lewis, W. W. Hopper.

Pastors will call attention of applicants to this announcement.

R. D NORSWORTHY.

Brookhaven, Miss., Jan. 22, 1895.

P. S.—Let all concerned cut this notice out and keep it till District Conference. N.

For Over Indulgence

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Think of your head in the morning after a night's hard labor, and take Horsford's Acid Phosphate for speedy relief.

Notice.

The following examining committees are appointed to serve at the Brandon District Conference, to be held at Steen's Creek, Miss., ——, 1895:

For License to Preach—R. F. Witt, R. Bradley, J. F. Robinson.

For Admission on Trial—H E Partridge. B. H. Rawls, W. J. Roberts.

For Deacon's Orders—J. W. Ellison, R. A. Sibley, R. W. Burton.

For Elder's Orders—J. T. Nicholson, W. W. Hurst, Irvin Miller.

C. MCDONALD.

Forest, Miss., Jan. 26, 1895.

Committees.

I have appointed the following committees for the Opelousas district, Louisiana Conference:

For License to Preach—T. S. Randle, S. H. Whatley, J. S. Saunders.

For Deacon's Orders—F. G. Hocutt, R M. Blocker, R P. Howell.

For Elder's Orders—Jas. A. Parker, J. M. Beard, H. Armstrong.

H. O. WHITE P. E.

Opelousas District, La. Conf., Jan 23, 1895

Do-Without Week.

FEB 4-10, INCLUSIVE

Feb. 4—Prayer and Thanksgiving for Fifty Years of Divine Blessing on Our Missions. "Behold what God hath wrought!"—Num. xxiii, 23.

Feb. 5—Prayer for the Coming of the Holy Ghost upon the Home Church. Luke xxiv. 49; Acts. i, 8; ii, 4.

Feb. 6—Prayer for Increase of Missionary Thought, Prayer, and Liberality.—Matt. xxviii, 9; xvxvii, 18; Mal. iii, 10

Feb. 7—Prayer for China and Japan That Their Present Struggle May be Made of God a preparation for God's Conquest.—Joel ii, 11.

Feb. 8—Prayer for Brazil, Mexico, the Indians and the West.—Isa. ii, 2, 3.

Feb. 9—Special Prayer for Our Missionaries, and for the World's Spiritual Conversion.—Ps. ii, 8.

Feb. 10—Missionary Sermon.

Collect the daily contributions at each service. Special contribution Sabbath.

J. W. CHAMBERS, Miss. Sec.

It is a little curious that the church member who goes to bear an infidel lecture on the Bible "just from curiosity" never gets curious to know what the Bible has to say about itself.—Exchange.

SLEEP & REST
For Skin Tortured
BABIES
And Tired
MOTHERS
In One
Application of

Cuticura

The only speedy, permanent, and economical cure for torturing, disfiguring eczema, every species of itching and burning skin and scalp diseases.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. Newbery & Sons, 1, King Edward-st., London. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. U. S. A.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 31.

Pennsylvania Coal Company

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY, Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

A NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK

Touching Incidents
—AND—
Remarkable Answers to Prayer,

AS RELATED BY

John Wesley,	Bishop Bowman,	S. A. Keen,	Chas. G. Finney,
Bishop Simpson,	John Knox,	A. B. Earle,	T. DeWitt Talmage,
John B. Gough,	Martin Luther,	B. Fay Mills,	Frances E. Willard,
Edward Payson,	C. H Spurgeon,	D. L. Moody,	George Muller,
James Caughey,	Wm. Carvosso,	Guy Fox,	James H. Potts,

And Many Others.

Read a few of the good things said of it.

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal: "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Cumberland Presbyterian: "It is indeed full of touching incidents calculated to quicken the faith of all who read it."

Pres. Franklin College, New Athens, O.: "This is one of the best and most interesting books we have ever seen."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well-bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the desponding Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearts to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

The book contains 320 pages, and when open measures 8½ by 12½ inches, and is beautifully bound in full cloth.

It is written in clear, simple, forcible language, yet it presents a rich variety. It is equally adapted to the learned and unlettered. All classes of readers can understand it and all be helped by it.

Young and old, saved and unsaved, all read it with delight. Leaders of the various Christian denominations commend it highly.

OUR OFFER.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, 96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $45. Write to-day.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 6. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2007

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

SOME TIME.

Some time, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forevermore have set,
The things which our weak judgment here had spurned,
The things o'er which we grieved with lashes wet,
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue,
And we shall see how all God's plans are right
And how what seemed reproof was love most true.
And we shall see how, while we frown and sigh,
God's plans go on as best for you and me,
How when we called he heeded not our cry
Because his wisdom to the end could see."

—Selected.

Selections.

Scenes and Shrines in Southern India.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B GALLOWAY, D. D.

Leaving Colombo on the afternoon of Nov. 15, in a small steamer of the British India line, we had a smooth and pleasant night voyage over the Gulf of Manaar to Tuticorin. The distance is only 150 miles, and was made in fourteen hours. Usually that narrow strait, serving as a sort of funnel for monsoons, is very rough, and the best sailors have to pay tribute to choppy seas. But the weakest stomach was undisturbed that night, and the heavy rains cooled the breezes sufficiently to make "tired nature's sweet restorer" a balmy and blessed guest. Our ship anchored five miles from the shore, and the only means of reaching land was in a small steam launch in which were crowded 175 coolies, several second-class passengers, baggage, mails, and nine or ten of us who came over in the cabin. As the little craft shot up and down over the rough waves, and the coolies got seasick, the crowded deck neither looked nor smelt like a lady's parlor. But these all got safely to land.

And so we "stood on India's coral strand." The land of memories and monuments, of ages and sages, and early home of art, literature and religion was reached at last. It was difficult to realize that we were on historic soil, and our surroundings tended little to dispel the illusion. The wharf was crowded with the same darkness and undress we had seen in Ceylon, and the grotesque figures that walked the narrow streets or rode in bullock carts were not ideal evolutions of heroic and patrician blood. But Tuticorin is not a good introduction to the land of saints and sages. It is a small place, low and flat, with indifferent houses, and a people constitutionally conservative in physical energy. We were soon assured, however, that the lovers of our Lord had gone before us. A sign over a little shop attracted attention, on which, in large capitals, were these words, "Bible Depot." It was a depository of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and the bright young native Christian in charge gave his American brethren cordial welcome. How these native Christians, despised and ostracized by their own people, do hunger for brotherly sympathy! The loneliest persons in heathen lands are not the foreign missionaries, but the native preachers in communities where the church is being planted. That and other large depositories seen elsewhere recall an interesting fact published by a missionary several years ago. He said: "There is, perhaps, not a person in India who can read but has access to the Scriptures in his own tongue, and even in his own dialect."

We only tarried in Tuticorin until the train left at 2 P. M. for Madura, an hundred miles away, the ancient and renowned capital of Pandya. Arriving at 7:30, we found lodgings in the station-house, where two rooms and four beds are furnished for wayfarers by the enterprising railway company.

In the early morning we called a gharry, and with polite Mr. Jacob for a guide, started out to take in the sights of this famous temple city. We first visited the large sacred tank, nearly a half mile square, in the middle of which is a little island and a richly ornamented stone tower. That pagoda is a mausoleum and memorial, built by the last king of Madura in honor of his brother who sleeps beneath it. Pilgrims come by scores and hundreds to bathe in these sacred waters for spiritual purification, and as a necessary preparation for temple worship. In these sacred waters we saw many persons performing their religious ablutions, and afterward filling their water pots to take home for use in preparing their husband's meals. Others were washing their clothes, imagining that the waters of the gods would impute virtue to the garments they wore.

Adjoining the tank is a handsome bungalow owned by Rajah Ramnad, a man of wealth and influence. On that property is one of the largest banyan trees in India. We measured it, and found that from side to side the branches covered 225 by 204 feet. There were 178 tree trunks supporting these long limbs, that had grown from roots which had sought the ground and found a home. What a blessing is the banyan in this land of scorching suns!

The magnificent marble and stone palace of the Madura kings was next visited. Though built in the early years of the seventeenth century, its granite foundations are undisturbed, and its massive columns seem strong enough to support the dome of a planet. The throne-room is now a hall of justice, and the high-seat of the heathen king has become the bench of a Christian jurist. The royal private apartments, where it is said the head that wore a crown slept in a swinging bed suspended midway between the floor and lofty dome, is kept very much as in the days of Tirumel the Great. This is certainly a grand specimen of Hindoo architecture.

Thence we were conducted to the great Hindoo temple, one of the largest and grandest in all this land of celebrated and sacred shrines. Think of its immense proportions, 744x847 feet, and every square inch of outside surface ornamented with stone or stuccoed figures! The entrance is incomplete, while the immense stone pillars and the magnificent gate, cut out of a solid piece of granite, with carved heroic figures on either side and over the arch above, attest the grandeur of the plan on which it was projected. The lofty towers, or "gopuras," as they are called, at the corners, are completely covered with colored and ugly figures of animals, reptiles, gods, and goddesses. Inside is "the hall of a thousand columns," each column carved with figures, and each figure has a silly history, out of which the priests make merchandise. There, also, is the sacred bull, a large bronze, recumbent figure, greasy and grotesque. It is oiled daily, and worshiped hourly. Flowers in rich profusion had just been offered to his godship. Into the holy of holies, at the end of a long, dark corridor, where dim lights were burning, only the priests and their attendants are permitted to enter. Not in all Asia have we seen such imposing, impressive, and imperious heathenism as here. It is so constructed as to awe the superstitious, amaze the ignorant, excite the emotional, and has sufficient subtle philosophy to command the credence and support of the more intelligent. And back of it all there is a caste spirit and public sentiment—the growth of ages—so tyrannous and unrelenting as to hold the classes in abject and absolute servitude. Talking with two intelligent young Hindoos, who lived in Madras, but had visited this famous temple, they acknowledged the grotesqueness of their religion, and their discontent with its rites and rigid requirements, but said they were powerless. Losing faith in the religion of their fathers, and lacking faith in the only true religion of the Lord Jesus Christ, they are, of all people, most miserable. Just how large a number they represent among the higher classes I can not say.

Retiring from the temple, we were accosted by the sacred elephant, who roared out a peremptory demand for tribute money. He got it. There is no resisting an elephant when he proceeds to take up a collection. From the ground he can pick up the smallest coin, and politely hand it to the rider on his back. And the sacred white cow had free access to halls and corridors, and seemed to command as much respect as a goddess. I have yet to learn of a single thing, in the heavens above, or the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth, that these people will not worship. A farmer will worship his plow, and a carpenter his tools, before beginning his daily labor. It has been estimated by competent authority that they have "330,000,000 gods, though no one would pretend to name the thousandth part of them."

We regretted not having time to visit the prosperous missions of the American Board in Madura; but one of their native preachers, Rev. James C. Rowland, called at our lodgings and gave us much valuable information. The sixtieth year of the mission has just been completed, and the statistical returns show a membership of 4,109, with 14,810 adherents and communicants—an increase during the past year of 616. One of their oldest and noblest missionaries, Rev. J. E. Chandler, after forty-seven years of faithful service, died of cholera some months ago. We passed their schools, hospitals, and churches, and were delighted to learn that the work was never so fruitful and the outlook so cheering.

By the early afternoon train we left for Trichinopoly, an hundred miles distant, where it was proposed to spend a restful and worshipful Sabbath. In this hot country church services are held in the early morning before breakfast, and in the late afternoon. At St. John's Church, in which sleep the remains of Bishop Heber, was very near the station, we went there for early communion at seven o'clock, and regular service, with sermon, at eight. It was genuine joy to be again in a Christian church, and a distinguished privilege to worship in the sanctuary where rests the body of the apostolic Bishop, who wrote the greatest missionary hymn in the world. The church, erected in 1809, is a modest, substantial building, with circular windows open to the floor, the roof supported by immense pillars, and surmounted on the outside by a stone balustrade. At both ends of the structure there are spacious porches, over one of which is a dome and bell tower. How impressive were the associations of that sacred place! There were the mute lips which first sang the song that had thrilled the generations, and made melody all round the world. There was the palsied hand which had written the noblest missionary measures that had ever kindled martial fires in the heart of the church. Those very walls had heard the voice whose echoes were still sounding down the ages. I felt it a sweet privilege to be there, and sit near the honored dust of one of God's kings and priests, who for over seventy years has worn a royal diadem. Since he died for India, what hath not God wrought? Then there were few believers; now they are numbered by multiplied thousands. Then the missionary was persecuted; now he is tolerated, and soon will be honored. The young preacher intoned that beautiful service, thereby detracting from its solemn impressiveness, while surpliced native choir boys chanted the responses. The sermon was a twelve- or fourteen-minutes' homily on creeds, from the text, "He that cometh to God must believe that he is." It was harmless as a dove. I wondered how a successor of the sainted Heber, and in that inspiring atmosphere, with dying heathen around him, could content himself to deal in such puerile platitudes. After service we lingered in the historic church, and went inside the chancel to see the slab over the Bishop's grave.

In another part of the city is St. Peter's Church, built, I understood, by "Father Swartz" in 1756, where Bishop Heber preached his last sermon.

In the evening, though the rain was heavily falling, I attended service in the Wesleyan Chapel, and heard a helpful sermon from an earnest young missionary, who came out just six weeks ago from England, and entered upon his great life-work. With Rev. Mr. Thomas and the other missionaries we had a delightful eleven-o'clock breakfast the next day, and much talk about our large Methodist family scattered in all parts of the world. The mission in Trichinopoly, in its educational and evangelistic departments, is enjoying increased prosperity.

Early Monday morning we drove through the crowded streets to Trichinopoly Rock, a great mass of solid stone 618 feet high, long used for a fortress, and historically associated with the wars of Southern India for more than two hundred years. But a magnificent view one gets from that lofty summit!

Coming down the street we met an elephant procession, with a priest marching in front carrying a vessel filled with sacred water from the Kaveri river, to be used in the little rock temple. This river, which sustains almost the same relations to Southern India that the Ganges does to the North, we crossed on our way to Seringham—the Island Temple of Trichinopoly, and the largest in all India. As we crossed the bridge which spans this sacred stream hundreds of men and women were seen bathing therein, washing their clothes and filling their water-pots. These Hindoos are immersionists. I noticed that they went under the water several times, and then poured it upon their heads from a cocoanut shell or copper pitcher. The first duty of the morning is to take sacred water and thoroughly wash the mouth, using a stick, until retching is produced. This is to expel the devils that may have crept in during the night. I saw scores of men and women thus religiously exercising that morning. After bathing in the sacred river or tank, the worshipper is marked on the forehead according to the god he worships.

Seringham Temple is inclosed by a series of four walls, 60 feet high and 4 feet thick, and each inclosure entered by massive gateways crowned with gopuras that are high and wide enough for the triumphal processions of the greatest gods in all their lists of popular deities. Between the third and fourth walls there is a populous and sacred street, around the entire quadrangle, in which 12,000 Brahmans reside. No Gentile outcast can find a dwelling in that exclusive community. They live to themselves, and are as grossly immoral as they are disgustingly fanatical. It is a sin for them to touch even the hand of another caste, and should he be so wicked he must go through quite a process of penetential bathing. It is well this climate is so warm, for these frequent ablutions would otherwise be a severe strain on the loyalty of the most credulous. It would be hard even for a heathen to "shiver and shout" at the same time.

Within what is called the "Horse Court" may be seen probably the finest equestrian stone figures in Southern India. They are really marvels of the highest art and rarest skill. I saw a horse and seven other figures, each symmetrical and perfectly poised, all carved out of a single stone, and connected together. There also, on massive stone columns, are represented the ten incarnations of Vishnu, "the second person of the Hindoo triad." He first came as a fish, then as a tortoise, then as a boar, and on through various animals to man, with the head of a horse. The prophetic significance of this last, the superstitious believed, was that the land would be conquered by a nation that rode horses. Thus they account for British rule in India.

While examining those figures a Brahman passed with a large banana leaf in his hand. Our guide told us that the banana leaf was the Brahman's dinner-plate. But he must have a clean plate—that is a fresh leaf for each meal. As for anyone else to use his plate would be almost unpardonable defilement. Our attention was also called to a poor woman dressed in coarse white cloth. She was a widow, and is the most despised and down-trodden person in all India. Many of them I have seen, and my heart has been touched by the story of their wrongs. Widows are not allowed to wear jewelry, must dress in white, shave their heads, sleep on the floor or ground, never chew the betel nut, and eat only one meal a day, and that of dry rice cooked in a vessel apart from the family. She is held responsible for the death of her husband, on the ground that had she not been so wicked and unworthy he would not have died. No wonder the poor things practiced suttee by either burning or burying themselves with their dead husbands. Death by any horrid means is preferable to a life of such constant torture. And if the government did not prohibit and prevent, suttee would be as popular to-day as ever.

In the early afternoon we bade adieu to Trichinopoly and spent some profitable hours in Tanjore.

Madras, India, Nov. 21, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

A Carnival of Lust.

The greater facilities for transmitting news, giving us a much wider field of observation, may explain the larger number than formerly of reported outrages. And so the per cent. may not be so much greater as the press dispatches would indicate. Be this as it may, two things should be considered. First, these crimes are by no means confined to the blacks. Scarcely a day passes but chronicles the criminal disgrace of whites as well as blacks, of natives as well as foreigners. Second, these are only the extremes of a carnival of sensuality which shades off by imperceptible degrees from these damnable crimes to the "refined" libertinism winked at by fashionable society. Domestic life is being sapped and mined by licentiousness. Illegitimacy ceases to excite its old-time horror. Criminal knowledge invades our schools and our families. The altar-fires to Ashtaroth are being constantly replenished. Young and old are being set on fire of hell.

Imprisoning or hanging the brutes who commit these crimes, is like removing a pimple when the blood is thick with corruption. The way to avoid the consequences is to remove the cause. Never was a system of education more thorough and effective than that to which the rising generation is practically compelled. A sensational press, reeking with details of domestic scandal, excites prurient imagination and inflames unholy passion. Police Gazettes, with graphic delineation of sensual orgies and lustful crime, add pitch to the flames. Vile literature, with vilest illustrations, are clandestinely sold on trains and in bookstalls, or given as premiums with tobacco and cigarettes.

Dead walls sometimes fronting the school-house, are placarded with indecent pictures grossly suggestive of the reeking abominations enacted in dance-halls, variety shows, and spectacular theaters. The nude in art becomes the nude in flesh and blood, and the sacred secrets of sex are sold to children at half-price in the market-place. Wine and beer and whisky lend their ready aid. The wind is sown; the whirlwind is reaped. What can we expect but rape, and seduction, and adultery, and murder? We need no new laws to suppress these breeders of moral pestilence. Philadelphia has freed herself of "living pictures and their degrading concomitants. So can every city and hamlet in the nation. All that is wanted is an aroused American womanhood and true American manhood, girded to the battle for an inviolate and happy hearthstone.

O decent manhood, virtuous womanhood, bestir yourselves in this fight to the finish in the battle for your lives! —Exchange.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Insanity increases. Insane asylums are crowded. New discoveries, inventions, scientific and mechanical development proceed with astounding rapidity. It requires great adaptability to accommodate ourselves to the constantly changing circumstances. This adaptability is a rarity. Fierce and desperate is the chase after luxury. Disappointment causes chagrin. Nerve disorder follows.

In Florence, Italy, a "Congress on Childhood" will be held in May. Object and design: The physical, mental, and moral elevation of children. The promoters wish to remodel existing educational methods. The whole man, not only the intellect, must receive appropriate cultivation. At present, as some hold, the acumen is blunted by goading the memory. We hope that good will come of the deliberations.

Boris Sidis publishes a treatise in the Atlantic Monthly called "A Study of the Mob." The prevalency of the same sentiment and passion, leading the multitude to the same goal, rolling like a ball, propelled by a mysterious something which the author calls a species of hypnotism. Call this influence what we will, it is humiliating that men, under certain circumstances, will, like sheep, follow some boisterous goat to certain destruction. 'Tis the same trait, operating from heroism down to outlawry.

In the "Parliament of Religions" it was sought to make the impression that, after all, there is but little difference between Christianity and heathenism. The temperance of Mohammedanism, and the exalted intellectuality of ascetic Buddhism, were held up for emulation. But of the frightful degradation and immorality which prevail in heathen and Islam countries very little was said. With all the drawbacks among us, it is only the Christian religion which teaches that "Blessed are the pure in heart."

In Canada a book, "Extracts from the Bible," is being used as a reader in the public schools. The book is the outcome of a compromise between Protestants and Roman Catholics. Now 60,000 citizens in Chicago petition the School Board of that city to introduce the same book in their schools. It may find adoption throughout our country. We question the wisdom of the Canadian Protestants in consenting to said compromise.

When DeGiers, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who recently died, tendered his resignation to Czar Nicholas II. at the time of the latter's ascension to the throne, the monarch dissuaded the invalid from doing so. "But see my swollen feet," said DeGiers, "I'm not able to move." "Never mind," said Nicholas, "I need the service of your head, not of your feet."

ICH DIEN.

Mississippi Methodist Medical Missionary.

Several physicians have given me contributions for the purpose of sending their fellow-craftsman, Dr. Fearn, as a missionary to China. By the same mail this week I received letters from two prominent members of the Mississippi Conference, suggesting that I make an appeal to the Methodist doctors in Mississippi to adopt Dr. Fearn as their missionary and to make an annual subscription to defray his expenses in China.

The above facts have determined me to make the appeal, believing that the suggestions have been influenced by the Holy Spirit.

In addition to the above facts, Dr. Lambuth, who is a doctor of medicine as well as a doctor of divinity, said to me at Conference that Christian physicians would be very glad to assist in the equipment of Dr. Fearn, when they learned that he was going out as a medical missionary. Therefore, I hereby make a most respectful and earnest appeal to every Mississippi Methodist physician to send me a contribution for the immediate equipment of Dr. Fearn, and also to let me know what amount he would promise as an annual offering to this good cause. I would also ask for suggestion and counsel from them as to the best method of carrying out the above plan.

In order that I may be brought into additional communication with the Methodist physicians in Mississippi, I would be greatly obliged to the pastors in the North Mississippi Conference and in the Mississippi Conference if they would send me at once the names of the Methodist physicians who would likely take an interest in this proposition. I will take pleasure in writing to them on the subject. In the meantime, others than physicians, who are interested in winning the world for Christ, also are appealed to for subscriptions, as we are anxious to put another worker in the missionary field just as soon as possible.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 1, 1895

The Wild Tribes.

Sister Purcell, the organizer for the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society for the Texas Conference, said to me; "Bro. Brewer, why don't you inform the church, through the press, what our society has done for your work among the Comanche Indians?"

My plea has been, "Numerous duties and lack of time."

Ft. Gill is the issue point for the Comanche Indians, and the gathering-place for about two thousand Comanche, Kiowa and Apache Indians. If this society had not aided me, I never could have established nor sustained this mission. Through its instrumentality buildings were erected. On a small salary and heavy expenses I've never had a dollar to buy clothing for wife, little ones, or self. This society has clothed us. Last Fall the society of Cook Avenue Church, St. Louis, sent us two boxes of warm Winter clothing. My heart grows tender and my eyes moist as I remember that these Christ-like women stood between my loved ones and suffering. Situated as I am among heathen, I can do but little but pray for the success and enlargement of the W. P. and H. M. S. Will not my brethren in the ministry who have the opportunity push the interest of this society?

W. A. BREWER.

Fort Gill, O. T.

The wise pastor will seek to hold the young convert to an active, useful career by putting into his hands a live church paper. Show the Advocate to the lambs, tell them they can have it for a dollar, and the result will be that they will evince an interest in the church, and all its enterprises will double their usefulness in time to come.—Baltimore Advocate.

LIFE'S ANSWER.

BY THE DEAN OF CANTERBURY.

I know not if the dark or bright
Shall be my lot;
If that wherein my hopes delight
Be best, or not

It may be mine to drag for years
Toil's heavy chain;
Or day and night my meat be tears,
On bed of pain.

Dear faces may surround my hearth
With smiles and glee;
Or I may dwell alone, and mirth
Be strange to me.

My bark is waited to the strand
By breath divine;
And on the helm there rests a hand
Other than mine.

One who was known in storms to sail
I have on board;
Above the raving of the gale
I hear my Lord.

He holds me when the billows smite—
I shall not fall.
If sharp, 'tis short; if long, 'tis light;
He tempers all.

Safe to the land, safe to the land—
The end is this;
And then with him go hand in hand
Far into bliss.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Board of Education, Mississippi Conference.

The following is an extract from the report of the Board of Education at the recent session of the Mississippi Conference:

The Board of Education makes the following exhibit of the several institutions of learning under our control from reports submitted to them, viz.:

MILLSAPS COLLEGE

is enjoying a very high degree of prosperity. More than two hundred students have been enrolled to date of the present session, 'and the pupils are entitled to the highest commendation for their diligence in study and admirable conduct in deportment.' The students have also shown "remarkable religious activity." "The Y. M. C. A. maintains a thorough organization and is powerfully influential in moulding the dominant sentiment of the student-body." There is in hand an endowment fund of $107,000, invested in good interest-bearing securities. The treasurer, Major R. W. Millsaps, is exceedingly careful and painstaking in the management of all the finances of the college. The financial agent, Dr. I. W. Cooper, has been diligent and faithful in presenting the claim of the college, and has raised in cash and subscription $4,000, of which $800 have been expended in building a memorial cottage for use of the students in honor of the late Rev. John A. Ellis, of the Mississippi Conference. Major Millsaps has also built a cottage costing $625. Both these cottages greatly increase the boarding facilities of the college. Mr. J. R. Bingham has made a gift of $500 for equipping the scientific department. Major Peter James pays the entire expenses of boarding and tuition for one student during the present session. A layman of the Vicksburg district also pays the expenses of one student. The proposition of Major Millsaps to duplicate all gifts to the college up to $25,000 still stands open, and furnishes an eloquent appeal to all lovers of Christian education. The increased patronage calls for enlarged accommodations. There are now in attendance sixty young men preparing for the ministry and sons of ministers. Neither of these classes have to pay any tuition; hence the Conference is urgently asked to increase its collections for education.

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE

Of this institution we quote from the report of the president of the Board of Trustees, which was read to the Conference, viz.: "When President Fitzhugh surrendered his lease and retired, the trustees found themselves in a very embarrassing position. No rent of any kind had been paid by the outgoing president, the buildings were not in a proper condition of repair, and there was no school furniture to which we could lay claim. The college had lost somewhat of its ancient prestige, and much was required to be done to bring it to favorable notice. In the exigency our worthy brother, John W. Chambers, kindly consented to throw himself in the breach and accept the presidency of the college. We hazard nothing in saying that the mantle of the lamented Johnson has fallen on worthy shoulders. With unexampled energy, untiring zeal, intelligent labor, painstaking care, and the expenditure of all his available means, he has wrought marvelous changes."

All the instructors employed in the institution are faithful, capable, and enthusiastic.

"Bro. Chambers is entitled to the thanks and substantial gratitude and patronage of the entire church. If he be seconded and sustained as he deserves, Whitworth College will, in a short time, become the female university of the State."

This Board heartily commends the scheme for raising the Johnson Endowment Fund. It will be a deserved and proper tribute to the beneficence and consecrated labor of Dr. H. F. Johnson, and it will be at the same time a means of bringing the education of young women within the reach of even the poorest classes. The Board bids President Chambers God-speed in this enterprise, and does hereby give him hearty endorsement as he presents his plan to all who desire to bestow their gifts upon a most worthy object.

We recommend that J. W. Chambers be appointed president of the college.

EAST MISSISSIPPI FEMALE COLLEGE.

This institution is in the midst of a very prosperous session. Up to date there has been a matriculation of 104 pupils. All of the departments are kept up. The faculty consists of eight members, all of whom are thoroughly competent and experienced teachers. The property is valued at $25,000, and is insured. Much improvement has been made in the buildings and grounds at a cost of $500. The debt which hangs over the property greatly militates over the success of the institution. This Board unites most heartily with the Board of Trustees in trusting that some plan of relief may be discovered in the near future. We recommend that Rev. T. B. Holloman be re-appointed president.

EDWARD M'GEHEE COLLEGE FOR GIRLS.

The last term closed well, with 71 pupils and 6 graduates. Dr. H. W. Featherston resigned the presidency, and Prof. J. A. Monroe, A. M., of Trinity College, North Carolina, was elected. The attendance of students is constantly increasing, and the teachers employed are competent and sufficient for the work. We commend this college to the favorable consideration and patronage of our people.

PORT GIBSON FEMALE COLLEGE.

From a report of the president of the Board of Trustees we learn that under the presidency of W. H. Huntley this college still has a fair degree of prosperity, and that it still offers a good school-home and thorough instruction to the daughters of our people.

Our New Preacher.

I have traveled some recently, and heard the following conversation:

"How do you like your new preacher?"

"Splendidly! splendidly!"

"What is his style of preaching?"

"Well, really, I do not know; but his sermons are not better than our former pastor's were."

"Then what point of excellence is there about him that makes you so enthusiastic in your admiration?"

"Oh, the way he handles the Bible and hymn book."

"What do you mean? I never heard of such a thing before."

"I will tell you how our former pastor did. He used to come in just in time, or a little late, and take his seat in the amen corner opposite the choir. A young lady would jump up in the choir and run through the pulpit to get the hymns. The preacher would feel in every pocket hunting for a pencil. Not finding one, he would begin the round of the pews to borrow one. Everybody having on his Sunday clothes, had left his pencil in his other suit. Finally, some brother would be found with a pencil, and then the search for hymns would begin. Back and forth the leaves would go. After numerous turns one hymn would be found, and our preacher, having jotted down the number for the choir, would turn down the top of the leaf. The search for the second hymn would then begin. When caught, our preacher would this time turn up the bottom of the leaf; and when the third hymn had been run down and finally cornered, our preacher would turn back half the leaf from bottom to top. Thus five minutes were consumed. Then, while the choir was looking up the tunes and singing the voluntary, our preacher was seen chasing the lessons. As each lesson was caught, our nice new pulpit Bible was subjected to the same treatment the hymn book had received. So you can imagine by the end of the year our beautiful hymn book and handsome Bible were in a sorry plight. Now, our new preacher does not do that way, and that is why, in answer to your question, I say I like him splendidly."

Here the train blew for my station. As I was getting my things together, the brother was saying something about his preacher coming to prayer meeting with a short, well-prepared, live talk; not dishing out a rambling talk on a whole chapter, verse by verse, which said comments had ceased to interest the preacher himself ten years and more ago. Hæc fabula docet.

METHODIST.

Louisiana Conference Post-Graduate Class.

At the session of the Conference held in Homer in 1893, the class of the fourth year was organized into a permanent association now known by the above title, for mutual help and encouragement in study. The plan was to adopt each year a course of study, consisting of three or four volumes of biblical, practical, or historical theology, and at each Conference session to hold a seminary by way of examination. In spite of some disadvantages, due to partial organization during the first year of the experiment, it was found that the plan had already showed signs of perpetuating the spirit and habit of study in those who had finished the required course. It furnished a regular plan to work on. At the late session of the Conference, at New Orleans, the organization was extended so as to admit to its privileges, within certain limits, other post-graduates besides the class of '94. The idea will certainly commend itself to the thinking men throughout the church.

The course of study for '95 comprises Stevens' "Johannine Theology," in connection with an exegetical study of John's writings; Bishop Wilson's "Cole Lectures" on "The Witnesses to Christ;" church history from A. D. 100 to A. D. 1450, with Neander as a text-book, and The Methodist Review. It is purposed to make the Review a part of each year's course. It was suggested by some of the class that it would be well to have this idea extended by asking the authorities to incorporate the Review in the regular four years' course of study, and make it matter for study and examination in each year. This plan would make Review readers of all our young preachers, and at the same time furnish them with instructive studies on live current questions.

We hope much from the auspicious beginning of this organization. The secretary will soon be prepared to give notice through the ADVOCATE of a suggested arrangement of study, and information as to where to obtain the necessary books.

W. WINANS DRAKE, Sec.

Which?

The ill-natured reference that Mr. "Rex B." or Mrs. 'R x B.," as the case may be, makes concerning me in his communication in the ADVOCATE, of Jan. 3, really amused me when I read it; but I was struck with this thought as I was in reading his previous articles in which bad humor cropped out: that if this gentleman or lady, whoever it is, was converted, that there is one of three things that trouble him—he is either backslidden, or he's got a disordered liver, or he needs a second work of grace done in him to heal him of a case of sour godliness.

A. C. BURT.

Correspondence.

Excursions from Jerusalem.

BY H. G. HAWKINS.

My first excursion was over the Plain of Ephraim, by Rachael's Tomb, to Bethlehem. Soldiers there also stand guard in the extensive old church connected with and built over the grotto; and very recently a man was killed in the chapel just by the spot where Christ was probably born. Mother-of-pearl articles are made and sold at Bethlehem. This excursion was extended to the three beautiful and extensive marble Pools of Solomon, which are farther on the road to Hebron. These pools, fed by several springs, were for supplying Jerusalem with water; and one aqueduct still takes the water as far as Bethlehem. Below the pools are the village and valley of Artas, where are the Gardens of Solomon. This valley is very green and beautiful, even in Summer. Each Summer, after the orange blossoms of Jaffa have dropped, and after the honey, made of these, is extracted, a German bee-culturist settles his hives at Artas, among the thyme blossoms. One Summer the result was 30,000 pounds of pure liquid honey.

As I returned over the hills a shepherd boy milked a couple of his goats, and offered the leathern bucket, that held the milk, to me to drink. "A land of milk and honey."

The plan of the second excursion was: to Mizpeh in the early morning, luncheon there, and return in the afternoon by Gideon, Gibeah, and Nob. The way is through the Damascus Gate, over the ashes (a great ancient heap of ashes, probably brought there from the temple sacrifices), by the Tombs of the Prophets, on through the "Valley of the Dead Bodies." What mean these long rows of buildings so far from the city wall? Why, haven't you read in Jeremiah: "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that the city shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel unto the gate of the corner. And the measuring line shall yet go over against it upon the hill Gareb, and shall compass about to Goath. And the whole valley of the dead bodies and of the ashes, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron unto the corner of the horse-gate toward the east, shall be holy unto the Lord; it shall not be plucked up nor thrown down any more forever?" A few years back, and there were only about 10,000 Jews in Jerusalem; now they are estimated at 40,000. A new Jerusalem has been built outside the walls. Starting from the Jaffa Gate, where was the tower of Hananeel, it went along the Jaffa road awhile, then compassed about, and now is extending down into the "Valley of the Dead Bodies and of the Ashes." Already one large building looks down upon the "King's Winepresses," mentioned by Zechariah.

The third excursion, made also on foot, along with a lot of school-boys of the London Mission to the Jews, was to Ain Fara, a spring, which, though six miles distant, affords in Summer the nearest "swimming-hole" for the Jerusalem school-boy. We passed on Scopus, where Titus' army encamped, under the probable hill from which Shimei cursed David, and right through Anathoth, the birthplace of Jeremiah. Ain Fara has the remains of an aqueduct that, perhaps, took water to Jericho. It is a wonderfully rugged place, with many hermits, or robbers, chambers cut high up in the perpendicular sides of the rocks. Some of these are nicely wrought with mosaics. It also has a cover with thirteen rooms. A carriage takes you to Hebron, twenty-two miles distant, and back in one day. The Cave of Machpelah is locked up and covered by a mosque; but the bazaars are interesting, and there are the pools, watch-towers, in the vineyards, the old oak of Mamre, and the same hills and valleys that Abraham trod in the days of yore. The vine still thrives in the "Valley of Eshcol." Though the grape season had not fairly begun, we bought for a dime as many as would do for a family for several meals, and the bunches were a foot long. There grow sometimes enormous bunches, approaching, it is said, to the size of a man's body.

The last excursion was to the marvelous, eroded Cave of Adullam, with its handsome white chambers, and dark, but curious and beautiful, passages. Its exploration is somewhat difficult and dangerous. We returned by the Frank Mountain, on top of which Herod the Great had a castle, and at the base of which he lies in a neglected grave. We saw during this trip many Bedouin camped under their black camel-hair tents.

Now, Mr. Editor, it may be that already I have taken up too much of your space, and I shall send you nothing of what I hope to see in Europe, but will let a letter, which I wrote while waiting for the ship at Alexandria, be my last.

Selections.

Pride of the South

IS THE CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE AT CLEVELAND, TENN.

Just entering upon the second decade of a most useful career, and fast becoming an educational institution of no little prominence throughout the South, Centenary Female College, at Cleveland, Tenn., stands the pride of not only the town that is so fortunate as to possess it, but also the South, so many of whose daughters have been educated there.

The year 1884 found organized Methodism of America just entering upon its one hundredth anniversary, and, as a thank offering to Almighty God, it was proposed by the Holston Conference that a school be established of high grade for the education of the daughters in this part of the State. This idea was conceived and put on foot by Rev. Geo. Stewart, then pastor at Cleveland. The movement was pressed forward with great zeal, and the entire Conference brought to see the need of such a school, and being the centennial of the Methodist Church in America, in 1885 the corner-stone was laid and the school called Centenary. The above facts may be referred to as historical, serving as an introduction.

It took but a few sessions to convince its Board of Trustees that the central building was far too small to accommodate the influx of pupils, so two large wings were added, and after several more years of signal success the college was leased to the present management: Dr. D. Sullins, Prof. J. A. Stubblefield, and Prof. R. E. Humphreys. It is needless to comment upon these well-known instructors. It is but just to say that no three men in the Conference could be selected who would furnish a brighter light in the educational world than these three, and that they are eminently fitted for the positions they occupy is best proven by the fact that never has the school been in a better condition than at present, while the best argument for their popularity is the strict obedience of the rules of the institution and its high moral tone that forces the appreciative visitor to feel that he is surrounded by an atmosphere such as is found in all Christian homes.

The first thing which attracts the attention of the visitor on entering the spacious building is the electric gong system, this being almost the only one in the South. A large clock, by means of a number of hands, rings a bell in every portion of the house at the different periods, simplifying and systematizing the work.

The ornamental branches have reached the highest grade of perfection. The art room is in charge of Miss Browning, whose work ranks among the first. Music is taught by that already famous old instructor, Prof. Fr. Aghte, whose compositions are already familiar to music lovers, both vocal and instrumental. Passing through the main hall-way during the hours of practice, one fancies himself in some fine conservatory of music.

But these branches are not pushed forward to the exclusion of the others, for in every study a pupil must attain the highest marks of proficiency before she can pass on into a higher class.

The elocution department is one of the features of the institution, being conducted in a highly satisfactory manner both to pupils and patrons. The cultivation of the mind to the exclusion of the body is a practice unthought of here.

A daily and systematic course of exercise is required of each student. The regularity with which this rule is adhered to accounts for the numerous letters the writer has seen where the daughter writes, "Dear mama, I have gained ten pounds."

Speaking of bodily exercise and development reminds me of the invitation to supper which was accepted, and the elegant repast we sat down to. This department is also in the hands of an artist. For truly—

"We may live without poetry, music and art;
We may live without conscience and live without heart;
We may live without friends, we may live without books;
But the civilized man can not live without cooks."

The uniforms worn by the girls consist of long, loose toga-like gowns, and the well-known mortar-board hats.

Another branch worthy of special mention is the course in the languages. When a young lady finishes this it can truly be said of her, she speaks French or German.

A more beautiful location for a school could not have been selected, for it stands in the suburbs of an old and beautiful town, whose society is the highest, and whose moral atmosphere is of the most pure.

If an investigation as to the cause of Centenary's steady growth and popularity were to be made, one of the chief causes would be found to be the unanimity and vim with which the citizens of Cleveland work together for its advancement. Aside from donating the beautiful grounds on which the college stands, financial aid is given when improvements are to be made. Good churches of all denominations are here, so that in the city of Cleveland and at Centenary College, if a young lady can not receive a good education at a comparatively small cost, and leave there well fitted for society and the world, and eminently fitted for business, her case is surely a hopeless one.

B.

Time for Bible Reading.

A class of persons who profess to love the Bible excuse their neglect of it by saying that they have no time for Bible reading. But is there any person in this land who can not command the time to read a chapter from the Scriptures every day? It may be doubted whether there is such a person. There are many who can not do this, and at the same time do all that they desire to do in other directions. But that is not a reason for neglecting the Bible. Our Bible reading should be one of the first duties of every day. A good rule is to read nothing else until we have read a portion of Scripture. If we adopt this rule and rigidly adhere to it, we shall never lack the time to read at least a few verses from the Bible. This can be done at home, and it can be done abroad; it can be done on a journey. The man of the world can read his newspaper on the cars; if we are as much interested in the Bible as he is in the daily news, we shall be able to read a chapter on a railroad train. And if it is always in mind, we shall find no day too short to read a lesson from the Scriptures.—The National Presbyterian.

The Editor and the Typewriter.

It requires a great deal of ingenuity for a writer to gain an advantage over an editor, but that it can be done is shown by the following incident: Having been commissioned to write a certain article, a bright young woman did so, and sent in her manuscript, only to have it returned with a note from the editor, asking her to re-write it, as she had not treated the subject just in the line he had indicated. Feeling that she had done her work as well as it could be done, she indignantly threw the manuscript into a drawer. Then an idea came to her, and she determined to try a little plan. Without a single alteration she had the article typewritten, and then submitted it to the editor with a letter, expressing the hope that the matter would be more to his liking. Her little plan worked to perfection. The editor not only accepted the article, but thanked her for so kindly and so promptly revising it. The clear, distinct letters of the typewriter revealed to the editor many features of the article that he failed to see in the obscure hand-written manuscript.

The telegraph tells us that "three preachers" were sentenced to prison last week for frauds upon the pension fund for soldiers of the Union. Some politicians whose hearts teetered on the line between the South and the North during the rebellion, or who did not teeter at all, are eloquent about the "political" pensions granted to those who ought not to receive a dollar from the republic. We believe in pensions, and are glad that worthy soldiers are not forgotten in these days when men are rich because they have a preserved country in which to do business. At the same time, this very respect for just pensions to worthy pensioners implies contempt and indignation concerning those who have sworn to a lie and are eating the republic's stolen bread. If "three preachers" have lied, let them lie in prison. The news says they were convicted in Mississippi, a State in which just and honest pensions are not in high favor. However, if these men were fairly convicted, we say, Amen.—N. W. Advocate.

Short Cut to Good Times.

The short way to cure hard times is to use common sense. It will beat all reforms out of sight. The first result is confidence; the second is enterprise; the third is prosperity. Dismiss the fear that the sky will fall and bring down no larks—that some dreadful imaginary evil is to fall upon us—and see the situation as it actually is; this is common sense. A plain world of industry and thrift has no need of the frills of imagination.—Western Advocate.

There is a great deal of religion in Christian visitation, and a great deal in the Christian hand-shake. It means sympathy, heart-help. The old world craves such. Said George Graff, the reformed drunkard, "They have not been where I have been, and I don't believe God will save me." He was listening to Christian testimony. "One night, as I started to go out, a lady took me by the hand and said, 'God bless you; there's the making of a man in you.' On, friends, those words took hold of me."—Standard.

Maclaren has a sermon on the "Obscure Apostles," founded on the fact that six out of the twelve apostles are not so much as mentioned after their names are once given in the directory of the apostolic college; though, no doubt, they toiled as honestly, and did their Lord's commands as faithfully as the others. They are recompensed by having their names as deep cut on the foundations of the New Jerusalem as the six oft-mentioned apostles.

A most excellent way to secure subscriptions is to have sample copies mailed for two or three weeks to members who ought to take the church paper, and then to follow it up with a personal request for the subscription. Send us the names and we will mail the sample copies, provided that our agents will promise to follow the papers with a personal canvass for subscribers.

Sobriety of the Bible sort is not stupidity, but rather vivacity. It does not mean dullness half so much as it means doing something. It is opposed to levity which forgets the serious, earnest side of life. It is not opposed to that lightness or cheerfulness of heart which makes the wheels of work run round all the more swiftly. There is nothing incompatible between being sober-minded and rejoicing evermore.

Dr. Benjamin Ward Richardson, in a paper recently read at a church congress in England, says: "If people were all educated up to a proper technical standard as to the action of alcohol . . . this thing, alcohol, would, by universal consent, be universally discarded."

Since 1887 the gifts of the women of the Southern Baptist Churches have steadily increased from $17,000 to $45,129 last year, and the year before, under an impulse from the Carey centennial, shot upward to $62,237.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, who so finely exemplified the possibility of growing old gracefully and making the earthly days the best days, asks: "What brighter or truer thing than that a man had better be seventy years young than forty years old."

Each day, each week, each month, each year, is a new chance given to us by God. A new chance, a new life, a new life—this is the golden, the unspeakable gift which each new day offers to you.—Canon Farrar.

Hurry too often means flurry. If we would work swiftly, you must work surely. An eminent surgeon warns the habit of remarking to his assistants: "Don't be in a hurry, gentlemen, for we have no time to loose."

Let our Lord's sweet hand square and hammer us, and strike off all the rust of pride, self-love, world-worship, infidelity, so that he makes us stones and pillars in his Father's house.

No man ever knows just what the strength of his Christian principle is until he has actually been subjected to an adequate trial.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We tote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our Cure on the market now.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf.. Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf.... Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison....

Louisiana Conference Woman's Missionary Society.

NOTES FROM THE ANNUAL MEETING

The Louisiana Conference Society, W. M. S., held its tenth annual meeting in Lecompte, Oct. 5 to 8. The number of delegates representing auxiliaries was small, but the spirit and power of faith was present. Reports, financial and general, were given, showing the status of the work over the State. Excellent success has followed the labors of the State organizer, Mrs. M. C. Alexander, who organized nine societies, and extended missionary knowledge and zeal wherever she went.

The banner society was that of Louisiana Avenue Church, New Orleans, which paid in $144.95, its membership being larger than that of any other in the State.

Fine papers were read on topics of vital interest by Mrs. T. K. Faunt Le-Roy, Mrs. T. S. Randle, and others. The president's address was, as usual, full of fervor and instruction.

The juvenile work is not as much alive as it should be. Our hope is in the children. We would urge every adult society to organize a Juvenile or Young People's, and then to cherish and nurture it until the church is full of "little workers."

The various committees brought in wise and judicious reports, mapping out lines of work, and presenting plans for extension and strengthening of the forces already enlisted. This annual convocation should be the means of great impetus along the lines of growth, in members and intelligence, and will be when every auxiliary sends its delegate yearly to represent what has been done, and to learn what next to do.

In response to a most cordial solicitation, Crowley will be the place for the next annual meeting, to be held Oct. 3-7, inclusive.

Because of its valuable suggestion and information, the circular letter of the Secretary of Home Affairs is given below. Every member of the Woman's Missionary Society will do well to read and act upon the facts as stated with regard to the outlook for the work, bringing new resolve and vigor to its performance for the opening year.

Dear Sisters: God bless you, and make this year, upon which you have just entered, the most prosperous, the best you have ever known, because of the abiding, comforting presence of the Holy Spirit. As you work faithfully for others, your own happiness is secured. You give that you may receive, and receiving is conditioned upon giving. You give yourself to your heavenly Father, and his Spirit is given to make you wise, to make you happy amid the trials of life. You give your time and service to save others and receive in return a full blessedness worth more than all the world. We start upon the new year with a depleted treasury; but with strong faith that our beloved workers will see that no paralyzing debt ever threatens the Woman's Board. Drawing out $25,000 for Petropolis, and meeting other foreign drafts, leaves $40,000 less in the treasury at this time. The school at Petropolis must now be equipped. Some have commenced to contribute to this purpose. Two or three promising missionary candidates are sending applications to the Board, for which we thank God and take courage. There never have been so many open doors as now, and unusual activity is called for from each of us. I need not remind you that the end of our fiscal year approaches and will soon bear upon its closing hours some of our unfulfilled pledges, unless we increase our diligence. Please increase the circulation of the Woman's Missionary Advocate, The Little Worker, and Evangel. These may be had for one dollar a year. Cheap, you know, for the valuable material obtained. These papers are edited by women, and well edited. Why should they not be sustained? The January number of the Woman's Missionary Advocate is unusually fine. Do not fail to read it. Sincerely,

S. C. TRUEHEART,
Sec'y Home Affairs.

The Minutes of the last annual meeting of the Louisiana Conference Woman's Missionary Society will not be published in pamphlet form. For the information of those interested, the list of district secretaries now in office is given below. All auxiliaries in each district are requested to communicate with their district secretary at least once a quarter, giving full reports of their work in detail. The district secretaries are also requested to report regularly to the Conference corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. J. Foster, Shreveport.

List of district secretaries for Louisiana Conference Woman's Missionary Society: New Orleans district—Mrs. Linus Parker, New Orleans; Shreveport district—Mrs. M. H. Morrison, Shreveport; Alexandria district—Mrs. Beynard, Alexandria; Opelousas district—Mrs. L. J. Thompson, Opelousas; Arcadia district—Miss Ione Smith, Arcadia; Delhi district—Miss Minnie Thompson, Delhi; State organizer, Mrs. H. C. Blanks, Columbia.

Corresponding secretaries, or members of auxiliaries, are requested to send to the editor of this column any items concerning the work in their societies, our object being to furnish a medium of communication for the missionary workers in the State, to enlist interest, and form a means eliciting information on missionary topics and methods of work.

Anyone sent on God's errands is a missionary. Whether the service be great or small, in the home, in the church, or in the uttermost parts of the earth, if it is work for God, it is a mission, and whoever performs it is a missionary. We solemnly set apart those going out to a foreign field. We may be just as truly set apart to our work here. A successful missionary society must have missionaries at both ends of the line.—M. P. E., in Missionary Link.

The last annual report of the English Church Missionary Society takes Heb. x, 12, 13, as a text: "This man . . . sat down on the right hand of God, from henceforth expecting." And the last phrase gave the key-note to the great meeting at Exeter Hall, where the report was read. Christ expecting! Expecting what? Expecting his disciples to do what he gave them to do, and waiting until it is done. And the searching question was asked, When the expecting Lord looks at me, is he disappointed?—Missionary Review of the World.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. A. W. Turner, Big Cane and Evergreen charge, Jan. 23: "We are getting on very well on this charge. Have made two rounds, and have received two poundings (each coming from different neighborhoods); so, notwithstanding the hard times, we have plenty to eat at present. We are also doing some forty or fifty dollars' worth of improvement on parsonage property. May the Lord bless these good people, and give us a prosperous year! Brethren, pray for us."

W. D. Bass, Chouteau, Ind. Ter.: "Please say to the pastors who read your paper that I am in the evangelistic work, and am prepared to bring with me a Cherokee preacher to assist me in revival work with any of them who may desire my help. Have just closed a powerful meeting at Pryor Creek, I. T. Rev. Thos. H. Prim is my pastor (Chouteau, I. T.), and information can be had from him at any time as to my work. My Cherokee preacher is a Holy Ghost, fine young preacher."

Rev. D. P. Bradford, Shubuta, Miss., Jan. 23: "We have entered upon our third year on this work. In many respects I regard it as one of the most delightful appointments I have ever served. The stewards relieve me almost entirely of any care concerning the collections. Our financial system is almost perfect. They pay their pastor by the month, and expect him to keep out of debt. The congregation at this place sent Sister Little $40 last week. For domestic and foreign missions our work paid, through its various societies, about $280. Indeed, they respond to almost every call that is made upon them. We have a few who believe that one-tenth of their income belongs to the Lord. I believe they are dealing squarely. When all our people realize this to be a duty, and that it will vouchsafe God's blessings, our missionary treasury will be able to meet the cries from foreign fields. Last year, after paying all assessments, they handed us forty dollars, with which to get ready for Conference. We love our people, and their kindness to us is all we could ask."

Rev. J. H. Foreman, Coffadeliah, Miss., Jan. 25: "On account of sickness in my family I was unable to attend our last Annual Conference, which met at Meridian. I realize that I missed a great deal, but I thank the Lord of all mercies that we are all well again, and hope to be able to do more good in the cause of Christ this year than any previous year of our life. I have preached 16 times since the first of January. I have met every appointment up to date. We have finished ceiling our parsonage this Winter. We now have a good comfortable home for the preacher on the Neshoba charge—out of debt, and belongs to the M. E. Church, South, thank the Lord! We begin our third year on this circuit. These good people give us every expression of true welcome. On Christmas Day a storm set in at this parsonage, and continued the remainder of the week, and it brought pork, molasses, canned fruit, baked turkey, cakes, oranges, apples, candy, toys, and some valuable presents for the children. We anticipate a good and prosperous year. God bless you and the ADVOCATE!"

Rev. J. A. Braswell, P. C., Morganville mission, Sardis district, Jan. 20: "This is my third year with this people. The two years past were years of labor and toil, but full of pleasure and profit. This mission was planned by Revs. H. C. Morehead and B. P. Jaco, and established at the session of the Conference at Corinth. I was sent as preacher in charge to supply the field. I came immediately after Conference; found one society with six members. Since then have organized three other societies with ninety-two members. Have built one church; am planned to build another, and to repair one. The Lord has been with us the past two years, though I took sick just after my first meeting last Summer, and was not able to hold my other meetings, or wind up the year satisfactorily. We have just arrived home this evening from our first Quarterly Conference, held at Burgess. Burgess is ten miles west of Oxford, in LaFayette county, where there is a good school established, known as Burgess Normal School. It is under the control of the Whitten brothers. Bro. Morehead arrived Monday evening; preached to a large and attentive congregation at night. He preached again Tuesday morning; held our Quarterly Conferences in the evening, and preached again at night. At the close of the sermon he invited penitents. Some five or six came forward, and two professed faith in Christ. Bro. Morehead is making his first round of Quarterly Conferences on his fourth year. This is my fourth year under him. He has never failed to be with me at my Quarterly Conference yet. He is, in my judgment, a model presiding elder, a fine preacher and consecrated Christian man. When I arrived home to-day I found my wife in the best of humor. The thoughtful brethren of the Presbyterian Church at this place (Orwood) had brought us some corn and meat, and the kind ladies of my church (Forest Hill) had presented her with a nice new quilt. 'What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits? I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon his holy name.' I claim an interest in the prayers of all that read this report. My heart is fixed."

Missed the Point.

It is said of a literary man who died last year, that he never went to church, and a friend explains the fact by saying that he was not intellectually fed by what was set forth. But, supposing this to be true, did not the man owe to his Maker the duty of joining in public worship? How poor an idea of the sanctuary must he have who supposes that it exists only for the purpose of public instruction! It includes this, but its primary intention is to render honor and homage to the greatest and best of all beings. Then, as to intellectual food, is not this furnished by the living oracles which are more or less read or repeated in all Christian worship, or did the literary man think that he had exhausted the contents of the Bible? The main purpose of the pulpit is not to bring forth new truth, but to exhibit old truth in its adaptation to the needs of the present. Hence, the most able and learned may be benefited by the sermon of a man of very moderate gifts and acquirements whose aim is to present Scripture truth in its simplicity.—Exchange.

Mrs. Sutherland.

I Had Coitre

Or swellings in the neck since I was 10 years old; am now 52. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and the swelling has entirely disappeared. It has been very troublesome. When I began I was feeling so discouraged with the goitre and rheumatism, I would as soon be dead as alive. Whenever I caught cold I could not walk two blocks without fainting. Now I am free from it all and I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. I received a letter from Mrs. Jennie Bigelow, now of Fremont, Mich., asking if my testimonial in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla was true; I replied it was, and sent particulars. I have a letter thanking me for recommending and stating that she also has been cured." MRS. ANNA SUTHERLAND, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the liver and bowels. 25c.

A FEARFUL COUGH

Speedily Cured by

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"My wife was suffering from a fearful cough, which the best medical skill procurable was unable to relieve. We did not expect that she could long survive; but Mr. R. V. Royal, deputy surveyor, happened to be stopping with us over night, and having a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with him, induced my wife to try this remedy. The result was so beneficial, that she kept on taking it, till she was cured. She is now enjoying excellent health, and weighs 160 pounds."—R. S. HUMPHRIES, Sassy, Ga.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Received Highest Awards

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 28 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leave.	Arrive
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES,

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

DR. CHILES'

Painless Pile Remedy.

The only positive cure known for piles of whatever kind, external, internal, blind or bleeding, itching, chronic, recent or hereditary. Price, $1.00 a box; six boxes for $5.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Thousands have been cured by their use. No medicine to take internally. Just applied to the affected parts. Sold by druggists, or direct from me.

DR. J. W. CHILES, DIXON, ILL.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST.

Old No. 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth.....$8
Partial Sets.....from $3 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns.....from $3 to $10
Gold Filling.....from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Filling.from 75 cents to $1.10
Extracting, Painless.....50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

WOOD AND COAL

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

Dr. George W. Rembert,

DENTIST.

Godchaux Building, New Orleans.

Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

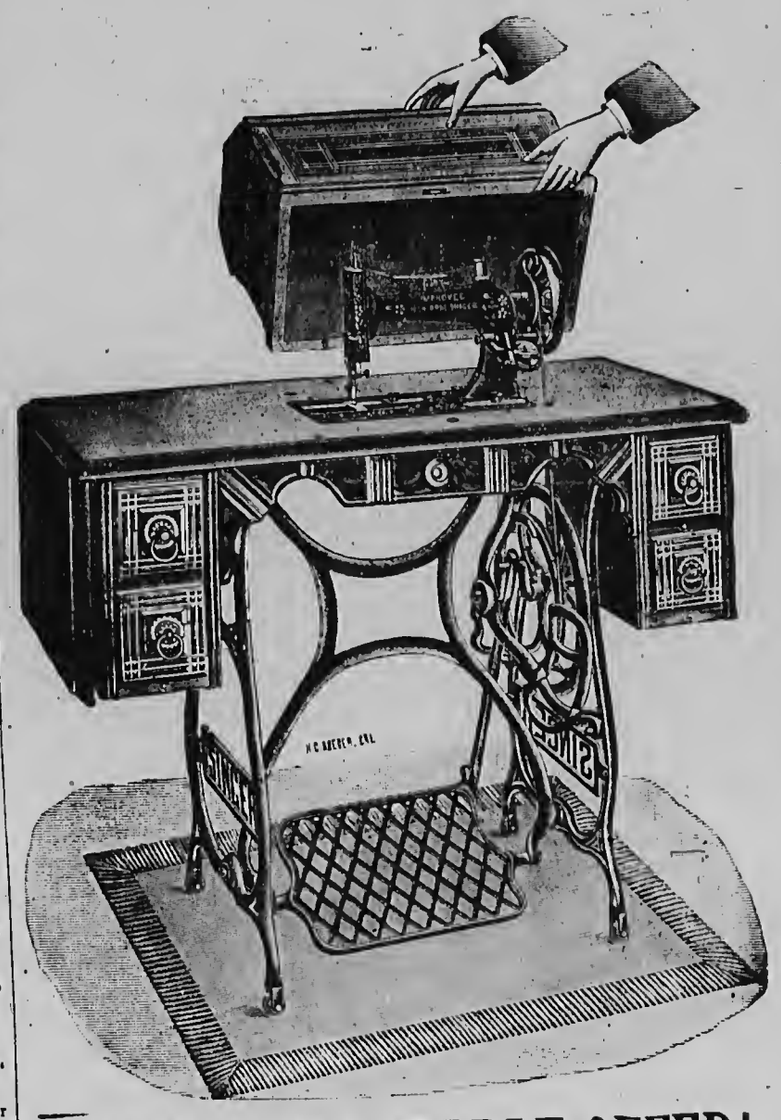
Take elevator on Canal street.

USE DR. CHILES' CELEBRATED

TOBACCO CURE

Harmless, speedy and effective in all its forms. Cure guaranteed in every case, no matter how long you have used tobacco. Stop spitting your life away as others have done, and build up your nervous system and regain your health. The nicotine from the use of tobacco affects both heart, kidneys, lungs and brain, and will overcome you sooner or later. Testimonials furnished on application or with the medicine. None genuine without my portrait as trade mark on every label. Price, $1.00. Ask your druggist for it or send orders to

DR. J. W. CHILES, Manufacturer, Dixon, Ill.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
612 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. B. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position.	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	$ 80	$ 1 00
"	2 weeks,	1 60	2 00
1 "	3 "	2 00	2 50
"	1 month,	2 40	3 00
"	3 months	6 00	7 50
"	6 "	10 00	12 50
1	1 year,	18 00	22 50
1 inches,	1 "	35 00	42 00
3 "	1 "	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	60 00	72 00
5 "	1 "	75 00	90 00
6 "	1 "	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches special position, $16 50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, February 7, 1895.

The Frances Willard Y. W. C. T. U.

The temperance work in this city is being carried forward by faithful workers who, with very little ostentation and much earnest service, are helping to uplift mankind and bring glory to God. The Frances Willard Y. W. C. T. U. has proved itself worthy of a place in the front ranks of this mighty army. The active members are consecrated young women; and who can limit the possibilities of young women's work and influence? Its honorary membership is composed of women and men, both old and young. The secretary's report at the annual meeting, which was held on Thursday night, Jan. 24, gave a membership of eighty-six. While the meetings are held in the parlor of the First Baptist Church, the organization is by no means sectarian, having members from the Methodist, the Catholic, the Baptist, the Christian and the Episcopal Churches. In electing its vice-presidents, one was chosen to represent each of these churches. The meeting was largely attended, and much interest was manifested in the reports and the election which followed. The former told of the constant good work being done in different lines, especially at the almshouse. Besides the weekly visits there, the "Y" gladdened the heart of every inmate of that institution by a useful remembrance on Christmas morning. These were given in person, and they have done it for four consecutive years. They aim not to minister to the body alone, but by word of mouth, and by circulating printed matter, they endeavor to strengthen the soul. A handsome piano is being purchased by the society, the use of which enables them to make both their social and business meetings very enjoyable. Those meetings are held alternately every Thursday evening at 7:30, and all are welcome. Four pastors are among the honorary members, and they, with other prominent speakers, will give five-minute talks at the coming social meetings. Miss Myrtie Shively, the able, consecrated president, has new plans for the coming year, and it is asked that all who read this will give us their prayers for great success. Your presence at any meeting will be greatly appreciated, even if you can not enroll as a member. Z.

Vagrancy.

Widespread vagrancy is a manifestation of a diseased condition of the body politic. It is more. It is menace to national life. Students of history know what a colossal part vagrancy played in the national life of ancient Rome. The countless hordes of idlers who were taught to depend upon the government, first, for subsistence, and afterwards for everything, even to amusement—these constitute one of the chief items to be sketched by him who would portray the causes which led to the downfall of Roman liberty. Well, since the laws of sociology, like those of physics and chemistry, change not with the flow of time, vagrancy is rapidly becoming a very serious problem for American statesmanship. Our army of the unemployed, though not so numerous as that of Rome, is, nevertheless, a mighty one, and is rapidly increasing. We are not speaking of the thousands who, through no fault of their own, are thrown out of employment during a time of great financial stringency like that out of which we are just emerging. These constitute the very bone and sinew of the nation. We speak of the voluntary idlers—tramps they are usually called. These do not want employment—will not have it. They have learned an easier way of making a living than by working for it. They have only to ask for bread, and it is given. These professional mendicants, as we have said, are constantly increasing in number. The inhabitants of rural regions remote from any railroad line have a very inadequate conception of the magnitude of this army of tramps. If the present ratio of increase is continued for a few years longer, the question, "What shall we do with them?" will be a very serious one. It is, therefore, the part of wisdom to deal with the evil now. "'Tis madness to defer." A tiger may be easily destroyed in infancy, but not in mature life. Fifty thousand tramps may not overtax the resources of statesmanship. Increase the number to five hundred thousand, and you add to the gravity of the situation almost immeasurably.

But what can be done? We answer: It should be the policy of States, counties and municipalities to refuse to support these vagabonds except on the divinely-ordained principle, "By the sweat of thy brow thou shalt eat bread." If local governments everywhere would find work for these parasites to do, and require them to do it as a condition antecedent to receiving help in any form, the effect would be most salutary, as experience has shown. And the same principle should be acted upon by private individuals. Those err egregiously who suppose that they are carrying out the spirit of the parable of the good Samaritan when they spend their earnings upon these miserable vagabonds. There is no charity in it. To pursue this course is to nurse a viper which will fasten its fangs upon the vitals of its benefactor at the first opportunity. It is not a mere haphazard coincidence that this vast increase in vagrancy is synchronous with a corresponding increase in crime. The old adage, "Idleness breeds vice," finds abundant verification before our eyes. The appalling array of crime which greets our eyes as we scan the daily paper each morning at the breakfast table grows out of the fact that we have in our midst a numerous class who have adopted it as a cardinal principle that the world owes them a living without their working for it.

By adopting it as a rule to require work of some sort as a condition antecedent to almsgiving, the chaff can be separated from the wheat. The honest man will be glad of the chance to earn an honest penny. The man who refuses to work in order that he may eat may be set down at once as a criminal. The validity of this principle is now being recognized by wise philanthropists throughout the nation. More stringent laws against vagrancy ought to be adopted everywhere. The man who will not work voluntarily ought to be made to do so.

Of course, no one will understand us as depreciating true philantropy. No duty is more frequently inculcated in the Bible than that of helping the helpless. And oportunities for the exercise of real God-approved philanthrophy are abundant everywhere. The widow, the orphan, the blind, the maimed, the sick, and various other classes of helpless ones are in the world in great numbers. To help these according to ability is a Christian duty. Prayer itself is not more positively enjoined. But this is a very different thing from giving to those who choose beggary as a profession.

A New Book.

OUR JOURNEY AROUND THE WORLD. An illustrated record of a year's travel of forty thousand miles through India, China, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Turkey, Italy, France, Spain, etc. By Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, with Glimpses of Life in Far-off Lands as Seen through a Woman's Eyes. By Mrs. Harriet E. Clarke. Superbly illustrated with steel-plate portraits, and upwards of two hundred choice engravings, mainly from instantaneous photographs taken from life, reproduced in fac-simile by eminent artists, and a map showing the author's journey around the world. Sold only by subscription. Hartford, Conn.: A. D. Worthington & Co., Publishers. 1894.

The above is an exact transcript of the title page of a large octavo of six hundred and forty pages which lies on our table. Paper, typography and binding are all excellent. From the preface we quote as follows: "The ordinary trip around the world—a common enough thing in these days—largely follows certain well-defined routes of travel from America to Japan, China, India, Egypt, Palestine, and thence to America again via Europe. The traveler necessarily is obliged to keep in these lanes of travel, especially in the far East, and the objects he sees are largely those which the guide-book and a paid conductor point out to him. In the journey described in these pages we were 'personally conducted' by kind friends, familiar residents of every country which we visited. We were able to see phases of life and national characteristics usually denied the hasty traveler, and we have tried to share them with our readers, and in our tour to conduct them over the same route made so pleasant for us. We have generous hosts who served as guides, piloting us to the very spots we wanted to visit, and showing us the oddities and unique customs and ways of living which otherwise we should have missed. They often took us into the homes of the natives, and introduced us to their manner of domestic life. It is devoutly hoped that these pictures of life and scenes in many lands may create a warm interest in the heart of every reader in the people to whom the English-speaking missionaries have gone."

The above quotation gives a correct idea of the character of the work. The author's route was not long the beaten track of every-day sight-seers. He had facilities for studying the manners and customs of the natives in the different countries he visited, which do not fall to the lot of everyone who goes abroad, and what he saw he has told in good English, and in a very entertaining way. The work is a valuable contribution to the literature of travel. The information given concerning missionary operations in the various realms of Paganism will be of special interest to those who are interested in the conquest of the world for Christ. The supplementary chapters from the pen of the author's better-half comprise about fifty pages. Of those chapters, it is sufficient praise to say that they are eminently worthy of a place in this elegant book of travels. Many will be especially interested in these glimpses of far-off lands through a woman's eyes. The engravings are not flashy daubs, but pictures taken from life in order to illustrate the text. The work is sold only by subscription.

The Anti-Lottery Bill.

The following letter just received speaks for itself. We hope our readers will realize the importance of acting promptly in this matter. The Anti-Lottery bill ought to pass at this session of Congress, and it will if the people who are opposed to the whole iniquitous business will make their wishes known to their representatives:

My Dear Sir: I have just returned from Washington, where I have seen several Congressmen with reference to the passage of the Anti-Lottery bill now pending in the House. I find the sentiment in favor of this bill to be pretty nearly unanimous, and its passage seems to be assured if it can be brought in the order of business before the House. It has been called up four times by Mr. Broderick under the Rule of Unanimous Consent, but each time objection has been made by a single member, and three times by one man, Mr. Davy, of New Orleans. But for this single objector, the bill would, in all probability, have passed some weeks ago.

What is now wanted is such pressure of public opinion expressed through the press and by individual letters as shall continue the pressure which has thus far been effective in advancing the bill through the Senate and its several stages in the House.

Congressmen advise the production of strong and persuasive, though not fault-finding, editorials, and it is for this purpose that I write, asking that within the next fortnight or so you may give such attention to this matter as the circumstances seem to require and your own disposition may prompt. Great pressure will be brought to bear upon committees and members for the presentation of specific measures in which committees and individuals are interested, as well as for the passage of acts of partisan nature; and if this sole bill of a distinctly moral character now before Congress is to be passed, it must be in a large part through the determination of the Christian and patriotic public that it shall receive due attention. If future efforts to be made in this direction shall be as affective as those made in the past, the result seems to be assured. Yours very truly,

S. H. WOODBRIDGE.

Boston, Jan. 23, 1895.

The New Holy Land Series.

We desire to again make mention of the new Art Portfolios of the Holy Land which we are distributing among our readers. The title, "Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," is most apt since the publication, in narrative and picture, follows in strict chronological order the events in the life of the Savior from Bethlehem to Calvary and the Mount of Olives. Every scene of his brief, but beautiful life has been revisited and described by two distinguished divines, Bishop Vincent Chancellor, of Chatauqua, and James W. Lee, D. D., author of "The Making of a Man." The photographs, which are 8x10 in size, were all secured in 1894 by Artist Bain, under special commission for the work. The publication, therefore, possesses an accuracy, completeness and vividness which is sure to make a strong appeal to old and young in every Christian home. It is specially commended to all, and the easy terms upon which it may be obtained can be found in another column.

NOTES.

Cut out the little poem, "Some Time," on our first page, and paste it in your scrap-book.

***

An undenominational deaconness home and hospital, costing over $115,000, has been dedicated at Dayton, O.

***

There are six American Colleges in the Turkish Empire, with twelve hundred students. Seventy students are in training for the ministry.

***

Lafferty will have to look to his laurels. As a paragraphist, the new editor of the Baltimore Advocate bids fair to rival him in pith, point, and pungency.

***

Our types were in error last week in announcing the marriage ceremony of Mr. F. Heroy and Miss Ella Schroeder as having been performed by Rev. J. M. Henry. It was performed by Rev. J. M. Beard.

***

One of the Moravians recently stated that when a person joins that church he is made to realize that he is joining a great missionary society. The consequence is, the church is essentially missionary in spirit.

***

The consumption of beer in the United States during the last year was sixteen gallons for every man, woman and child! What a story of poverty, misery and crime is in the statement! —United Presbyterian.

***

When proof is furnished of the charge that the Southern Methodist Church is dominated by rings of the Tammany type, we will retract all we have written on the subject, and make the amende honorable. Until then we claim to be in command of the situation.

***

We respectfully suggest to the Conference Boards of the Mississippi Conference that they make known through the columns of the ADVOCATE the officers elected at the last session of the Conference. Brethren who wish to have business with the Boards need the information.

***

Rev. W. R Weakley, of the Missouri Conference, and Rev. M. B. Lee, of the North Carolina Conference, have been accepted by the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for foreign mission work. Bro. Weakley will go to Japan and Bro. Lee to Brazil.

***

Caller: "Mr. Editor, are you going to reply to the editor of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE?" Editor: "Reply? How in the name of sense would you go about replying in a case like this? Of course, I am not going to attempt a reply. I am simply going to call him a name. That will do just as well."

***

Secretary McCabe writes: "In our missionary work we depend upon our pastors. The General Missionary Committee is their creation. The Missionary Society is their creation, and to them we look for a million and a half for missions." What is needed is a collection in every charge, and a contribution secured from every member of the church.

***

Lord Shaftesbury says in regard to the importance and usefulness of temperance societies: "As I go up and down through the length and breadth of England I am more and more convinced of the indispensable necessity for these associations. I am satisfied that, unless they existed, we should be immersed in such an ocean of immorality, violence and sin as would make this country uninhabitable."

***

Bishop Tucker, of Uganda, is now in England, and gave a stirring speech at the farewell meeting of the out-going party for the Niger. He spoke of the time, two and a half years ago, when Uganda was saved to the British crown, and expressed his confidence that the British flag would never cease to wave over the land, and then said, "I wish I had the same confidence in the church of Christ doing her duty." —Missionary Review.

***

No instrument invented in late years is more interesting than Prof. Elisha Gray's telautograph, by means of which handwriting may be exactly reproduced at any distance, an electrically controlled mechanical pen at the receiving station automatically following the motions of the pen in the writer's hand at the sending station. It seems probable that this instrument will soon be in commercial use, and become as familiar as the telephone.

***

The new hospital at Jerusalem, founded by the German Evangelical Church, and carried on by deaconesses from Kaiserswerth, was recently opened. The old hospital, inaugurated by Dr. Theo. Fliedner in 1851, is no longer adequate; the new establishment, constructed according to the fullest requirements of modern hygiene, provides accommodation for sixty inmates. The Pasha of Jerusalem was among the distinguished persons who attended the opening.—Missionary Review.

Talk about preachers if you will, the man who goes to Conference with twenty dollars in his pocket as the net proceeds of his year's work, gives three-fourths of that to help another preacher buy a horse, laughs half the week over his own troubles, and cries the other half over other people's, and then stands up and without a murmur receives his orders to move two hundred miles to a broken-down, fifty-cents-on-the-dollar circuit—if that man is not a hero, it is because the age of heroes has never come.—Richmond Advocate.

***

Rev. Horace Noel, writing of Europe, says: "Europe seems opening to the gospel more freely than ever before. In Spain there is much hindrance from the bigotry and ignorance of the people, but none worth speaking of on the part of the law. Such great changes have come about in Italy that the Bible may be sold up to the very gates of the Vatican. Nothing is wanted so much as more laborers to get in the spiritual harvest, which is all before us in these lands. The highways of France are now perfectly free for tract distribution."

***

The Armenian atrocities continue to be the subject of indignation and rebuke throughout the civilized world. The great powers are too jealous of one another to take decided action, and force Turkey to do justice in the case. A general investigation into the outrage is being instituted, but even when the blame for it is properly located, it is doubtful if anything will be done to guard against the future persecution of Christians by this foe of Christianity. Armenia should be protected by England, and the European powers should compel the Sultan to act in a civilized way, or else give place to a successor who will carry out treaty stipulations in their letter and spirit.

***

The Missionary Herald, commenting upon the effect of total abstinence upon English soldiers in India, says: "It was formerly supposed that Europeans could not endure the climate and surroundings of India without using alcoholic stimulants. So convinced were they of this, that thirty years ago there was an army order prohibiting the formation of total abstinence societies among the soldiers. But the theory is now altogether changed. Of English soldiers in India 20,000 are now total abstainers, and the army reports show that of these thousands only fifteen were brought before court-martial the past year, while of the non-abstainers there were 2,504 who were placed on trial."

***

By invitation of Mrs. Mary E Meek, the accomplished president of Port Gibson Female College, we had the honor of lecturing in the chapel of that institution Feb. 1. Rain prevented the attendance from being what it otherwise would have been, but the smaller audience was bored as long as a larger one would have been. The college choir, assisted by other local talent, rendered some delightful music. During our stay in the beautiful little city we were domiciled in the elegant and hospitable home of Bro. Allen. We had the pleasure of meeting the Port Gibson pastor, Rev. H. M. Ellis, of whom we heard most excellent reports. He was given a royal reception, to begin with, and he is growing upon his flock continually.

***

Dr. A. J. Gordon, pastor of the Clarendon Street Baptist Church, Boston, tells how his church gave, in 1893, $20,000 to foreign missions, while its own expenses were less than $10,000. "My way has been to make collections for foreign and home missions every Sunday morning in the year, and to keep the subject constantly before the people. Then in April we make a special collection, which is always preceded by a week of daily prayer, in which we meet together at eight o'clock in the morning to pray for the one thing, that the people may have their hearts drawn out to give for the work of evangelizing the world. I preached on the subject on the Sunday before the collection is to be taken, and then put the responsibility of giving upon the people, refraining from all special solicitation or urging."

***

A missionary in India writes that it is proposed to send to America a number of Hindu propagandists, and says that "Modern Hinduism, as practiced by three-fourths of the people, is a compound of Brahmanism, demonolatry, and fetichism, the last two elements greatly preponderating. The non-Aryan natives daily and everywhere propitiate their numberless demons. True Hindu deities are rarely worshiped except at festivals. The practical daily religion of the masses has, therefore, little or nothing in common with the Christianized Brahmanism so eloquently lauded on American platforms and in Boston parlors. It is a low, base, and very corrupting form of this jumble of religions, backed up by numberless demoralizing superstitions, which confronts and haunts nearly every missionary of the cross in India."

BIG BARGAINS IN ROSES, PLANTS, AND SEEDS

Our GRAND SET of 13 Elegant Ever-blooming ROSES for only 50cts. by mail, post-paid, safe arrival and satisfaction guaranteed.

These roses are fine healthy plants and will bloom all this Summer in pots or planted out. We guarantee them to be by far the best 50 cts. you ever invested in roses, as follows:

Ruby Gold, beautiful shades of Copper and Gold. Duchess de Brabant, flesh color, the old favorite. Madame de Watteville, the famous Tulip Rose. Snowflake, pure White, always in bloom. Meteor, rich velvety Crimson, none better. La France, Silvery Peach and Rose, a beauty. Sunset, Tawny shade Yellow, very rich. Isabella Sprunt, deep rich Yellow. Princess Sagan, richest, Scarlet, very fine. Marie Van Houtte, Creamy White and Yellow. Grace Darling, Satiny Pink, elegant. Madame Defresne, Yellow, flushed Pink, charming. Marie Guillot, pure White, tinted Lemon.

What You Can Buy for 50 Cents.

No 33—5 Ever-blooming Roses all different	50 c.	No 42—20 Large Flowered Pansy Plants,	50 c.
" 34—12 Fragrant Carnation Pinks, 12 kinds,	50 c.	" 43—15 Coleus, will make a bright bed,	50 c.
" 35—12 Lovely Flowering Begonias, all sorts,	50 c.	" 44—12 Double and Single Fuchsias, all colors	50 c.
" 36—12 Geraniums, all colors and kinds,	50 c.	" 45—6 Choice Hardy Shrubs, 6 sorts,	50 c.
" 37—12 Choice Prize Chrysanthemums,	50 c.	" 46—30 Pkts Flower Seeds, no two alike,	50 c.
" 38—5 Choice Decorative Palms, try them,	50 c.	" 47—20 Pkt's elegant Sweet Peas, all different	50 c.
" 39—4 Choice Decorative Cannas, 5 kinds,	50 c.	" 48—18 Pkt's Choice Vegetable Seeds 18 sorts	50 c.
" 40—5 Dwarf French Double Tube Roses,	50 c.
" 41—12 Sweet Scented Double Tube Roses,	50 c.

You may select half of any two sets for 50 cents, or 3 complete sets for $1.25, any 5 sets for $2.00, the 7 sets for $3.00, or half of each set for $2.50. Get your neighbor to club with you. Our catalogue FREE. ORDER TO-DAY. We will hold the plants and ship them any time you may desire. Address,

THE GREAT WESTERN PLANT CO., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

By Rev. Henry H. Ahrens.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE HOLY GARMENTS.

Ex. xxviii, 2; Gal. iii, 27; Eph. vi, 14, 15.)

The habiliments of the high-priest are fully described. They symbolize spiritual gifts. St. Paul doubtlessly had this attire in view when in Ephesians he describes the spiritual wardrobe of the Christian. Thus robed and equipped is tantamount to having put on Christ. The Christian has—

1. His loins girt with truth.

(1) The apostle has reference to the Olympic contests. The combatants had their loins girt. Ready for action. No impediment.

(2) The Christian is girt with the truth. The truth as it is in Jesus. Made free by the truth. Walking in the truth!

(3) Girt. Not for ornament, not for dress-parade, but for action. Doing. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

2. The breast-plate of righteousness. A regular coat of arms.

(1) Righteousness which is the outcome of faith. By faith are you saved. Purged with hyssop. Made whiter than snow. The regenerate acquired the righteousness which characterized Christ.

(2) This righteousness renders invulnerable. When the law attacks with fiery spears, the Christian can say: "Yes, I've broken God's commandments; but Jesus died for me." When Satan taunts, he can confess: "All my iniquities on Christ were laid."

3. The feet shod with the preparation of peace. In other words, supplied with spiritual foot-gear suitable for rapid motion.

(1) When tempted, it requires alacrity in meeting the foe with, "Get thee behind me, Satan." Delay is dangerous.

(2) The King's business requires haste. Sinners hasten headlong to hell. Rescue the perishing. Snatch them in pity from the brink of the bottomless pit.

(3) Our efforts at benevolence require energetic propulsion. Not weary in well-doing. Systematize your labor of love. Make haste to relieve suffering mankind.

4. Subsequently we will handle well the shield of faith, wear the helmet of salvation, wielding courageously the sword of the Word of God, victory will perch on our banner here and hereafter.

An Appeal for Help.

Mr. Editor: Allow me to ask for help through your paper. We are here in the midst of Catholicism. They have five churches within the bounds of my charge. We only have one in a distance of thirty miles.

Brethren, this ought not be. God says if we will build him a house, he will come and dwell with us. Now, brethren, we can build three churches and we will only deny ourselves a little. I preached at three flourishing towns, but there is no M. E. Church at either of the three places. Christ says, "Deny yourself; take up your cross daily and follow me."

The plan I suggest is this: Let everyone who uses tobacco send us two dollars and fifty cents, especially the ministers. Brethren, pray over this. I say you can deny yourself of this filthy habit. It does not fatten. God's Word says, "Therefore, do you send your money for that which is not bread?" The general rules forbid needless or self-indulgence. You can send the money to my address at Covington, La. Yours in Christ,

W. T. Currie, P. C.

A Sunday-School Ten.

The Sunday-school of our church at Baker Rouge, La., has contributed ten dollars toward helping my young preacher through college this session. The young brother appreciates this help and is very grateful to all contributors. Now, if a few more Sunday-schools would help, the matter will soon be closed. The co-operative plan is a good one, and the money is invested in the best sort of security. (See Prov. xix, 17.)

C. W. Carter.

Centenary College, Jackson, La., Jan. 30, 1895.

An Appeal to the W. P. and H. M. Society, Louisiana Conference.

The preacher in charge of the Gansville circuit, with wife and four children, are without shelter, only as the good people open their doors and received us. This is an exceedingly embarrassing arrangement, both to us and the people where we stop. We have an old parsonage, but as to condition and location, it is unfit for occupancy, and it is a very serious question whether or not (under the financial pressure of the times) we can sell the property, so as to realize anything of any consequence. It seems to us that if there is any place within the bounds of the Louisiana Conference where help is needed, it is here. I have the statement from my presiding elder that this is, and has been, considered missionary ground. There are ample resources for support of preacher and family, but no home. Can the good ladies assist us? When the presiding elders fall, I know of no other source than the good women to whom to apply.

J. H. Brown.

Gansville, La.

It Will Pay you to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. With pure blood you need not fear the grip, pneumonia, diphtheria, or fevers. Hood's Sarsaparilla will make you strong and healthy.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25c.

The Fearn Mission.

I report the following receipts on the amount necessary to equip and send out the Rev. J. B. Fearn, M. D., as missionary to China, viz.: Acknowledged previously, $388.50. Miss M. Calloway, $5; Rev. D. C. Langford, $2; Rev. G. H. Galloway, $5; Rev. D. P. Bradford, $10; Children's Prayer Meeting, Paulding, Miss., $2.75; Wesson Sunday-school, $5; Dr. E. B. Partin, $2.50; Rev. C. McDonald, $5; Two ladies in Woodville, $3; Mr. A. D. Nash, $1; Lady Friend, $2; Rev. P. A. Johnston, $10; West End Sunday-school Missionary Society, Meridian, $15; Rev. W. C. Black, $5; A Friend in Biloxi, $5; Mrs. T. C. Ragan, $3; total, $469.75. We hope soon to get the entire amount.

C. G. Andrews.

Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 2, 1895.

For Weak Nerves

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

It is particularly useful in making weak nerves strong, as it contains necessary elements of nutrition for the nervous system, obtained from natural sources.

The Southern Dental Journal, published in Macon, Ga., in speaking of the removal of Dr. G. W. Rembert from Natchez to New Orleans, says:

We predict for Dr. Rembert a successful and useful career in this new field. The position he had attained to in Natchez, Miss., during a residence of sixteen years, both as a citizen and practitioner of dentistry, was one to be envied. He was at one time the honored president of the Mississippi State Dental Association, and later a member of its Executive Board of Dental Examiners for the State, and has always been among the foremost in lending his influence to the upbuilding of the profession in his State, as well as that of the "Southern Dental Association," of which he is also a member.

The profession of New Orleans and its citizens are to be congratulated on the addition to their ranks of one so worthy. We have known Dr. Rembert since our boyhood days, and have at all times found him to be a gentleman of intelligence, refinement, and the highest sense of honor.

No one in ordinary health need become bald or gray, if he will follow sensible treatment. We advise cleanliness of the scalp and the use of Hall's Hair Renewer.

An Explanation.

The Minutes of the Mississippi Conference, without an explanation, would do the Adams circuit an injustice. According to the Minutes, the circuit is short about 11 per cent., when, in fact, everything was paid in full. The explanation is as follows: After the assessments were made, one of my churches was taken off and placed on the Magnolia circuit, with the understanding that Magnolia would assume the assessment of this church; hence the deficit in the report.

J. W. Tinnin, Pastor.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Good Light Brown Sugar,
40 lbs. for $1 00.

NOTICES.

Some persons have misunderstood our Oxford Bible offer. What we propose to do is to sell the Bible to new subscribers, and also to old ones on certain conditions, for two dollars instead of $4.50, which is the price to non-subscribers. We do not give away the Bible free.

My address is Gloster, Miss. I will be in Gloster about ten days in each month. Two or three days in each week I will be glad to hear from the preachers in my district.

L. S. Jones.

I have appointed K. S. Enochs in the Committee of Examination for Admission on Trial in place of W. J. Roberts.

C. McDonald.

Forest, Miss., Jan. 28, 1895.

My present address is Newport, Miss.

J. D. Newson.

A Typical Case.

How poorly Mrs. —— looked at the opera! Nervous, pale, fagged-looking—a mere suggestion of her recent self. Fact is, one looked showed that she was suffering with "Woman's Trouble," and no one had thought of suggesting that great specific for Uterine Ailments—CREOLE FEMALE TONIC. It always cures.

An Appeal for Help.

Rev. J. L. Bowling, Bolivar, Miss., lost by fire his church and parsonage, all his books, furniture and clothing. He was away from home, but his wife and children were there, and they barely escaped with their lives. This is an urgent call. It is a total loss. Bro. Bowling is without anything. Read this appeal to your people, and send help to him.

T. W. Lewis.

Sent with the Order.

The C. F. Risley Co., Wholesale Druggists, 62 Cortlandt St., New York, ordered a large supply of Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism, and sent this with the order: "It is strange that your remedy is not more generally known, as its effects on rheumatism are simply marvelous—superior to any rheumatic medicine we have ever sold." This is high praise, but the remedy fully deserves it. If you have the rheumatism, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will ship to your express address two large bottles—enough for a month's treatment. Agents wanted.

James R. Briddell.

James R. Briddell, one of our members in Jeanerette, died this morning in his sixty-fifth year. Bro. Briddell had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, since last August. I visited him during his late illness, and saw him pass away peacefully. May God comfort his loved ones!

R. M. Blocker, Pastor.

Jeanerette, La., Feb. 1, 1895.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
California Table Apricots,
3 lb. can 10 cents.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, } ss.
Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Frank J. Cheney.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{Seal} A. W. Gleason, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

New Chrysanthemum Seed

These charming new types of Chrysanthemum from Japan bloom the first year from seed. They embrace all styles, varieties and colors, including the exquisite new Ostrich Plume types, Rosettes, Globes, Fimbriated, Miniature and Mammoth. Sow the seed this spring and the plants will bloom profusely this fall, either in pots or in the garden. From a packet of this seed one may have a most magnificent show of rare beauties. Price 25c. per pkt., or FOR ONLY 50c. WE WILL MAIL ALL OF THE FOLLOWING:

1 pkt. NEW JAPANESE CHRYSANTHEMUM Seed.
1 pkt. BEGONIA VERNON, mixed, finest of all.
1 pkt. GIANT WHITE SPIDER FLOWER, new.
1 pkt. JAPANESE WINEBERRY, king of berries.
1 pkt. NEW SPOON HOURD, curious and useful.
5 bulbs NAMEN OLADIOLUS, I each of White, Pink, Scarlet, Yellow and Variegated.
3 bulbs MAMMOTH OXALIS, different colors.
1 bulb VARIEGATED TUBEROSE, Orange flowers.
1 bulb ZEPHYR FLOWER, a perfect fairy-like gem.

and our GREAT CATALOGUE with 9 magnificent colored plates and covers, and sample copy of the MAYFLOWER with two great chrome plates. These 5 packets of seed Novelties and 10 choice Bulbs (worth $1.25) will all flower this season, and we send them for 30 CENTS only to introduce our superior stock. 3 collections for $1.00. Catalogue will not be sent unless asked for, as you may already have it.

Order at once, as this Offer may not appear again.

Send us the names of 5 or 10 of your neighbors who love flowers and we will add a fine Novelty, FREE.

OUR CATALOGUE of Flower and Vegetable Seeds, Bulbs, Plants and Rare new Fruits is the finest ever issued; profusely illustrated with elegant cuts and colored plates. We offer the choicest standard sorts and finest Novelties. We are headquarters for all that is New, Rare and Beautiful. This elegant Catalogue will be sent for 20c., or FREE if you order the articles here offered.

JOHN LEWIS CHILDS, Floral Park, N.Y.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Fancy White Clarified Sugar,
28 lbs. for $1 00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Mr. P. D. D. Delacroix, Cypremort P. O., La., Nov. 30, 1888, says: "Three years ago an agent representing Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar came into my store. Being busy, was unable to give him any time. Before leaving he gave me a sample bottle of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, asking me to give it to anyone suffering with a cough or cold. Several days afterward I caught a heavy cold. Remembering the sample, thought I would try it. Six teaspoonfuls cured me. Ordered a supply at once, and have sold it with satisfaction to all. It acts like magic on all my family, and I would not be without it. I take pleasure in recommending it at all times." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Kentucky Hog Jowls (Smoked),
Something Choice, 6 cents a pound.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. No Postals Answered. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Secure a Position

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

Linden, Ala.

I. L. Lyons, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. Walston.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOW'S YOUR FIGURE?

Trim? Straight? Well-Developed? Then don't spoil it with ready-made clothes, cut to fit anybody; wear clothes that fit—that were made for you.

HOW'RE OUR FIGURES?

Suits - - -	$13.25
Pants - - -	$3.00
Topcoats - - (Fine Melton)	$10.25

Made to measure—to fit you perfectly; superior material, latest styles.

ADD OUR FIGURES TO YOUR FIGURE

And the result will delight you.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS Company
OVERCOATS AND SUITS
313 ST. CHARLES ST.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,						$84,520,680
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	"	40,684,163
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	"	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WEBER
EMERSON
HARDMAN

The Crowning Glory of American Manufactured

Pianos

ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,

1001-1003 Canal Street.

HAWTHORNE'S BEST WORKS.

Four Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large type on good paper substantially bound by a new process.

Mosses from an Old Manse,

By Nathaniel Hawthorne

Another delightful companion for idle hours is this collection of magazine papers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his works, it is distinguished for its simplicity and truth.

Twice-Told Tales,

By Nathaniel Hawthorne

Hawthorne, the most distinctly American and by far the most popular of our writers, has given the world an undying book in "Twice-Told Tales." They have all the felicity of expression, as well as the subtlety of thought and insight, which are the special charm of the author of "The Scarlet Letter."

The House of the Seven Gables,

By Nathaniel Hawthorne

This masterpiece of Hawthorne's is full of the imaginative charm of romance. In felicity of touch, its author is unapproached by any writer since his own day. The work is, perhaps, the purest piece of poetic prose in all the range of American literature.

The Scarlet Letter,

By Nathaniel Hawthorne

A romance of intense interest, exhibiting extraordinary power of mental analysis and graphic description. For an artistic exposition of Puritanism, as modified by New England colonial life, we have nothing like it in our literature.

Publisher's price, twenty five cents each. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offers. We will also furnish any one of these works in very handsome cloth binding postpaid to any address for the small sum of forty cents. Subscribers who are entitled to a premium as indicated above can have this beautiful book instead of the paper-bound edition by sending twenty cents additional—i. e. $2 20 will pay for the book and the Advocate one year.

Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

LORD TENNYSON'S THREE FAMOUS POEMS,

IN MEMORIAM, IDYLLS OF THE KING, THE PRINCESS

Three Handsome Volumes in Enamel Paper Covers, printed from large clear type on good paper, and substantially bound by a new process.

The "In Memoriam" of Tennyson is one of the grandest and loftiest elegiac poems in all literature. Like the "Lycidas" of Milton, it was written to commemorate the untimely death of a bosom friend. In the case of Tennyson's masterpiece, the youth mourned was Arthur Hallam, son of Henry Hallam, the distinguished historian, who was engaged to the Laureate's sister, but who died in Austria in 1833. The elegy was published in 1850. It is a long and passionate outburst of song, written to assuage the poet's grief at the loss of his friend and with the added motive of giving utterance in the saddest but most musical lines, to reflections on life, death and immortality.

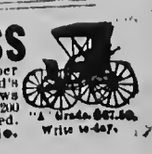
"The Idyls of the King" have won for themselves an abiding place in the political literature of the age. The work is a series of connected poems reviving the legend of King Arthur, Merlin, and the Knights of the Round Table, in which the poet not only restores the age of chivalry, purified and elevated, but gives noble expression to the aspirations of man, the hopes of religion, and the harmonies of nature. It is distinguished by much imaginative passion, elevated thought, and wonderful poetic art. The work has taken high rank among the classics of our English tongue.

Hardly has a lovelier story been told than this of Tennyson's "The Princess" ever been written. Though cast in semi-heroic verse, it enshrines one of the loveliest lyrics and snatches of exquisite songs in the language. The extreme advocates in our day for the emancipation of women no doubt quarrel with the poet for the conclusions reached in the poem; but the Laureate was conservative in all things, and could hardly be otherwise in treating of that vexed problem of the age—"the woman question." This, in brief, is the purpose and motive of the poem—to illustrate woman's struggles, aspirations, and proper sphere in relation to man, and to crown intellectual life

Publisher's price, twenty-five cents each. Given as a premium to every new subscriber. Also to every old subscriber who pays to January, '96. This offer not available to those who have had the benefit of other premium offer. Address

Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS



"A" Grade, $44. Write to-day.

and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $47.50. Write to-day.

A lamp with wrong chimney is like a man with another man's hat on—what is he good for?

Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, will send you the "Index to Chimneys."

Pearl glass, pearl top; tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO. 26-28 N. William St. New York.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP. PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Baarness, Impure Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

GREAT CHANCE FOR BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast-selling new book

Our Journey Around THE World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. 57 The King on all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. 76th thousand in press. One agent has sold 676 copies; another, a lady, 881; another, 850—all new working women. 3000 more trusty agents wanted—men and women. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight. Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

BURPEE'S BRIGHT RED BOOK

"Bright alike outside and inside." Mailed FREE on application. With each copy we will send (free) a beautiful painting of New Sweet Peas until the 500,000 have all been called for. Send a postal to-day.

W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Philada.

Known Everywhere Sold Everywhere Grown Everywhere.

FERRY'S SEEDS

Ask your dealer for them. Send for Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895. Invaluable to all planters and lovers of Fine Vegetables and Beautiful Flowers. Mailed Free.

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

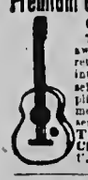
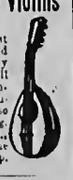
Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P.O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, F. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.



These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D., with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.



THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and terms FREE.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS of MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at prices which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

518 and 520 CAMP ST.

Telephone 132.

HOME CIRCLE.

ABSTINENCE ALPHABET.

[A modern alphabetical psalm on the virtue of total abstinence is furnished by Dr. Cyrus Edson to a recent North American Review. It is one of the best essays of its kind in print.]

A stands for Alcohol; deathlike its grip.
B for Beginner, who takes just one sip.
C for Companion, who urges him on.
D for the Demon of drink that is born.
E for Endeavor he makes to resist.
F stands for Friends who so loudly insist.
G for the Guilt he afterwards feels.
H for the Horrors that hang at his heels.
I his Intention to drink not at all.
J stands for Jeering that follows his fall.
K for for his Knowledge that he is a slave.
L stands for Liquors his appetite craves.
M for convivial Meetings so gay.
N stands for No that he tries hard to say.
O for the Orgies that then come to pass.
P stands for Pride that he drowns in his glass.
Q for the Quarrels that nightly abound.
R stands for Ruin, that hovers around.
S stands for Sights that his vision bedim.
T stands for Trembling that seizes his limbs.
U for his usefulness sunk in the slums.
V for the Vagrant he quickly becomes.
W for Waning of life that soon done.
X for his eXit regretted by none.
Youths of this nation, such weakness is crime.
Zealously turn from the tempter in time!

Too Fast.

The world is in a hurry. We are living too fast. We do not take the necessary time to reach our best. Character can not be cultivated well amid a constant rush of engagements. It needs opportunity to think and pray. "The steady cold," says some one, "yields the solid ice. Flowers will not bloom in a whirlwind. Plant life appears to need its breezy days, but it waits also on quiet days, breathless nights and still dews."

A man of leisure may be "the devil's darling," but the man who is always on the run is about as much so. "In quietness shall be your strength," wrote the prophet. Many are not religious because they are oppressed by a needless multiplicity of interests. They belong to so many organizations, so many clubs and societies, that they never stop to think. The truth can not get a fair chance at them; or, as a New York preacher puts it, "The Holy Ghost can scarcely overtake us." Impressions fail to get their grappling hooks on us as we rush along. A serious thought is at once dissipated by a different one which immediately succeeds it.

This bustle and haste of our nervous, superficial life is a great disadvantage to us. Our young people are not meditating enough to get Christian principles deeply and firmly implanted in their minds and consciences. Consequently they are hard to hold—in the league to-day, and somewhere else to morrow. We would urge the husbandry of time. Belong to less; go less; read, think, pray more. Find companionship in yourself. Remember that your nature is not like the string of an instrument which is musical only when kept on a constant strain. You need relaxation, quiet, a still hour brought into your day. In this you will gather strength, stability, maturity, depth, enrichment. Cease being ever on the go. Plan for the still hour, and let your soul delight itself in quietness for a season.—Epworth Herald.

Jack.

Jack was cross; nothing pleased him. His mother gave him the choicest morsels for his breakfast, and the nicest toys; but he did nothing but fret and complain. At last his mother said: "Jack, I want you now to go right up to your room and put on all your clothes wrong side out."

Jack stared. He thought that his mother must be out of her wits.

"I mean it, Jack," she repeated.

Jack had to mind; he had to turn his stockings wrong side out, and put on his coat and his pants and his collar wrong side out.

When his mother came up to him, there he stood—a forlorn and funny-looking boy, all linings and seams and ravelings—before the glass, wondering what his mother meant; but he was not quite clear in his conscience.

Then his mother, turning him around, said:

"This is what you have been doing all day, making the worst of everything. You have been turning everything wrong side out. Do you really like your things this way so much, Jack?"

"No, mama," answered Jack, shamefaced. "Can't I turn them right?"

"Yes, you may, if you will try to speak what is pleasant and do what is pleasant. You must do with your temper and manners as you prefer to do with clothes, wear them right side out. Do not be so foolish any more, little man, as to persist in turning things wrong side out."—Selected.

Advice of a Successful Man.

BY GEORGE WILLIAM CHILDS.

I think the habit of generosity may be cultivated, like other habits. And I have felt that it is a great mistake to put off being generous until you are dead. In the first place, you lose the pleasure of witnessing the good that you may do; and again, no one can administer your gifts for you as well as you can do it for yourself. It is a great pleasure to be brought into personal relations of that kind, and to make people feel that you are not a philanthropist in the abstract, but that you are interested in them personally, and care for their welfare. In that way you benefit them not merely in a natural way, but you make them feel that men are really brothers, and that they were made to help one another. Not only is that feeling agreeable in itself, but it will be apt to prompt them to carry out the principles themselves. Put yourself into all you do, and let others feel that you are there. Do not only contribute to a charitable object, but go yourself and help. It may seem an inconvenience at first, but soon you will come to consider it worth an inconvenience.

Perhaps I ought to say a word about the companions a young man should choose for himself in life. You should try to make companions of the best people you become acquainted with. In order to do this you must have something in yourself that may be a return to them for what they give you. It is not necessary for this purpose to be a genius or to have a remarkable intellect, or extraordinary erudition. But be yourself and be a man, and learn to think of others before yourself, and you will have friends enough, and of the best. To be intimate with the magnanimous and the noble, aids to form those qualities in one's self. A man is known by the company he keeps, and those who know what friends you have will be able to form a very correct idea of what you yourself are. You should see to it that this estimate be as high as your opportunity may secure.

I can not better sum up my advice to young people than to say that I have derived, and still find, the greatest pleasure in my life from doing good to others. Do good constantly, patiently and wisely, and you will never have cause to say that your life was not worth living.

Home Happiness.

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over, and he feels that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace with his family, is something real. It does not make much difference whether you own your house or have one little room in that house, you can make that little room a home to you. You can people it with such moods, you can turn to it with such sweet fancies, that it will be fairly luminous with their presence, and will be to you the very perfection of a home. Against this home none of you should ever transgress. You should always treat each other with courtesy. It is often not so difficult to love a person as it is to be courteous to him. Courtesy is of greater value and a more royal grace than some people seem to think. If you will but be courteous to each other, you will soon learn to love each other more wisely, profoundly, not to say lastingly, than you ever did before.—Christian Standard.

Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Unhandy Bibles.

In my visits to families, it is not often that I find no Bible in a household, but, practically, many people are deprived of the benefits of regularly reading God's Word. If the question be asked, "Have you a Bible?" the answer is frequently made by pointing to a ponderous family Bible which had been a table ornament in grandfather's house.

But inquiry generally develops the information that such a large volume is seldom read. What is the use of having such a useless book? A farmer never cultivates his crop with a hoe too heavy to wield, nor does a soldier go to battle with a hundredweight sword.

There should be in every family Bibles convenient in size, and plain in print, so they will be read. And each child, as soon as it can read well, should be given a Bible of its own. Individual property is always greatest prized by a child, and an individual Bible will be more frequently read.—Christian Observer.

He claimed to be a child of God, and a partaker of divine nature through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. He sat in the "amen corner," sang lustily, and prayed loudly and frequently. He was a regular attendant of the weekly prayer meeting and the quarterly love feast, and often "testified" and "exhorted" with satisfaction and pleasure to himself, if not to his brethren. He made loud professions, and talked ever so glibly about his "experience" and other holy and sacred things. And yet, for all that, he did that unchristian, that wicked thing: He talked about his brethren; he slandered them behind their backs; he tore their reputations with his venomous claws; he stabbed to death in the dark! Do you ask his name? That need not concern you. Only make sure of one thing: that in looking upon this dark and ugly picture you do not see your own image depicted there. Such characters have lived—God forbid that this should be your photograph!—Southern Advocate.

Books.

Never, under any circumstances, read a bad book; and never spend a serious hour in reading a second-rate book. No words can overstate the mischief of bad reading.

A bad book will often haunt a man his whole life long. It is often remembered when much that is better is forgotten; it intrudes itself at the most solemn moments, and contaminates the best feelings and emotions. Reading trashy, second-rate books is a grievous waste of time, also.

In the first place, there are a great many more first-rate books than ever you can master; and, in the second place, you can not read an inferior book without giving up an opportunity of reading a good one.

Books, remember, are friends; books affect character; and you can as little neglect your duty in respect of this as you can safely neglect any other moral duty that is cast upon you.—Coleridge.

We sometimes hear very unreasonable talk on the part of parents in reference to the direction and oversight of their children. They seem to think it is unwise, if not unfair, to try to form their religious opinions—must not bias them, they say, but let their youthful minds develop freely and in their own way. Coleridge, in his "Table Talk," tells of a certain philosopher thus arguing with him and claiming it was quite wrong to influence a child's mind by inculcating any opinions before it should come to years of discretion, and be able to choose for itself. For answer Coleridge invited him out to look at his botanical garden. "How so?" said the other, "it is covered with weeds." "Oh," was the reply, "that is only because it has not yet come to its age of discretion and choice. The weeds, you see, have taken the liberty to grow, and I thought it unfair in me to prejudice the soil towards roses and strawberries."—Mid-Continent.

I would say to all, use your gentlest voice at home; watch it day by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is joy, like a lark's song, to a heart at home. It is a light that shines. Train it to sweet tones now and it will keep in tune through life.—Lutheran.

HYGIENE.

Late Suppers.

The old tradition that to eat anything just before going to bed was sure to produce indigestion and render sleep impossible is now happily exploded. It is not good, as a matter of fact, to go to bed with the stomach so loaded that the undigested food should render one restless, but something of a light, palatable nature in the stomach is one of the best aids to quietude and rest in bed. The process of digestion goes on in sleep with as much regularity as when one is taking violent exercise to aid it, and so something in the stomach is a very desirable condition for the night's rest. Some physicians have declared, indeed, that a good deal of the prevalent insomnia is the result of an unconscious craving of the stomach for food in persons who have been unduly frightened by the opinion that they must not eat before going to bed, or who have, like many nervous women, been keeping themselves in a state of semi-starvation.

Nothing is more agreeable on retiring for the night than to take a bowl of hot broth, like oat-meal gruel or clam soup. It is a positive aid to nervous people, and induces peaceful slumbers. This is especially the case on cold Winter nights, when the stomach craves warmth as much as any other part of the body. Even a glass of hot milk is grateful to the palate on such occasions, but a light, well-cooked gruel is better, and, in our climate during the cold months of Winter, should be the retiring food of every woman who feels, as so many do, the need of food at night.—Tribune.

Ben Franklin's Dietetic Habits in Youth

When Franklin was about sixteen years old he read Tryon on diet, in which was recommended abstinence from animal food. He writes in his autobiography: "I determined to observe it. My brother being a bachelor did not keep house, but boarded with his apprentices in a neighboring family. My refusing to eat meat was found inconvenient, and I was scolded for my singularity. I attended to the mode in which Tryon prepared some of his dishes, particularly how to boil potatoes and rice, and make hasty puddings. I then said to my brother, that if he would allow me per week half what he paid for my board, I would undertake to maintain myself. The offer was instantly embraced, and I soon found that I was able to save half. This was a new fund for the purchase of books; and other advantages resulted to me from the plan. When my brother and his workmen left the printing-house to go to dinner, I remained behind; and dispatching my frugal meal, which frequently consisted of a biscuit only, or a slice of bread and a bunch of raisins, or a bun from the pastry-cook's, with a glass of water, I had the rest of the time until their return for study, and my progress therein was proportioned to that clearness of ideas, and quickness of conception, which are the fruit of temperance in eating and drinking."

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

APPLE JELLY FOR CAKES.—Grate one large apple and add the juice and grated rind of one lemon, mix with them one cup of white sugar, and let boil for three minutes. Use immediately. This makes a delicious filling for layer cakes.—Housekeeper.

A lady friend, who is always seeking for improvements in palatable dishes, says that to make a really delicate dish out of that coarse vegetable, cabbage, it should be sliced and simmered slowly in milk enough to cover it, over a slow fire for two hours. Add a lump of butter and a little nutmeg or mace, as preferred, and serve hot.—Selected.

APPLE DESSERT.—Fill a quart bowl with alternate layers of thinly sliced apples and sugar, add half a cup of water, cover with a saucer held in place by a weight, and bake slowly for three hours. Let it stand until cold, and it will turn out a round mass of clear red slices imbedded in delicious jelly. For an accompaniment to a dessert of blanc mange, junket, custard, cold rice pudding, etc., there is nothing prettier or more satisfactory, and it is the most easily prepared of all desserts.—Housekeeper.

FULL BLOWN and sweet as a rose—the young woman who tones up her system with Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a certain cure for all the ailments peculiar to the delicate organization of women. It is perfectly safe in any condition of the system and always reliable, regulating the delicate organs to perform their work painlessly. Women have sallow faces, dull eyes, hollow cheeks, and low spirits, when they are made miserable with disorders, derangements and weaknesses peculiar to their sex. Health is regained, after periods of dizziness, nervous prostration, pain and excitability, or other manifestations of derangement or displacement of the womanly organs, when the "Prescription" is used.

PIERCE Guarantees a CURE OR MONEY RETURNED.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES,

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas, DENVER, Colorado, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California, and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA VIA NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

REV. WAYLAND JOHNSON SAYS OF

CEREBRINE,

THE EXTRACT OF THE BRAIN OF THE OX,
PREPARED UNDER THE FORMULA OF
Dr. WM. A. HAMMOND:

"I have been using Cerebrine two weeks, and am glad to report the most excellent results. I was in a state of nervous prostration that utterly unfitted me for any continued mental work. From the first dose I experienced a renewed intellectual grasp and power and clearness and joy in mental work that I had not known for years. Besides this, I am conscious of an increase in muscular strength and endurance that surprises me. At first I was inclined to suspect that these results were due to strong stimulating properties in the Animal Extracts, but as I studied their effects I found that they were not only permanent, but were of an entirely different character from those produced by a stimulant. Under the influence of an ordinary stimulant I felt a highly exalted state of body and mind, but the activity was feverish and eccentric, while the effect of the Cerebrine is to give a sense of cool, satisfied, self-controlled mental and physical energy.

Sincerely yours, WAYLAND JOHNSON,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

Dose, five drops. Price, two drachms, $1.

Where local druggists are not supplied with the Hammond Animal Extracts they will be mailed, together with all existing literature on the subject, on receipt of price, by

THE COLUMBIA CHEMICAL CO.,
Washington, D. C. 104

Wholesale Agents, Finlay & Brunswig.
Retail by P. L. CUSACHS.

P. AND H. M. S.

Louisiana Conference P. and H. M. S.

LIST OF CONFERENCE OFFICERS.

President, Mrs. F. A. Lyons, 4810 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans; vice presidents: Mrs. John T. Sawyer, Mrs. Wm. H. LaPrade, Mrs. W. C. Black, Mrs. Linus Parker, Mrs. P. G. Randle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Florence E. Russ, 3502 Camp street, New Orleans; recording secretary, Mrs. C. W. Carter, Jackson, La.; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Campman, 1211 Eighth street, New Orleans; State organizer, Miss Mary Werlein, St. Charles and Nashville avenues. District secretaries: New Orleans district—Miss Lizzie G. Wasson, New Orleans; Alexandria district—Mrs. S. J. Davies, Alexandria; Opelousas district—Mrs. J. M. Beard, New Iberia; Acadia district—Mrs. A. S. Clingoam, Homer. No one yet secured to serve on the Shreveport, Delhi, and Baton Rouge districts. City missionary, Miss Susie Burbank, 4826 Prytania street. Solicitor "Our Homes," Miss Mary Werlein.

The following article is copied from February number of "Our Homes:"

EIGHT OVERCOATS NEEDED.

"Two preachers each need a No. 40 overcoat. One of them is sixty years old, and has labored long in the West. Two others each need a No. 38 overcoat. Another young preacher in Oregon two Winters ago lost his overcoat, which he has not been able to replace because of his small salary. Another preacher needs a No. 36; another a No. 42, and still another a No. 37."

Let everyone that reads this stop to consider that with a little personal effort they will help preserve the health and give material comfort to one in the service of our church.

Information can be obtained from Mrs. Nathan Scarritt, Kansas City, Mo., or Miss Lucioda B. Helm, 1500 Third avenue, Louisville, Ky. I will promptly forward money or coat entrusted to my care.

THE WERLEIN ANNUITY LOAN FUND.

Miss Mary Werlein, of New Orleans, in memory of her parents, has put in the hands of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society, as annuity loan funds, two hundred and fifty dollars ($250), to which she hopes in the future to add largely. This annuity loan fund plan is a wonderful thought, and is the best and most appropriate movement that can be erected in memory of our loved ones. Five dollars will make four pastors' wives a patron of the "Preacher's Wives' Loan Fund."

We hope that many of the auxilliaries will respond to Mrs. Scarritt's appeal for "fifty barrels of supplies." Our ministers out in the West are in great need. And are they not the Lord's needy ones? Their wives and children are suffering for the want of warm clothing. The expense of living is very great, and small salaries are the experience of all the preachers, many of whom, during this Winter weather, are riding long circuits, thinly clad.

Rayne Memorial Auxiliary has sent a barrel to a needy preacher's family out in Oregon. We hear of two more auxiliaries in New Orleans that will each endeavor to send another barrel in the near future.

Shreveport Auxiliary reports having sent $5 to a preacher in Oregon during the holidays. Who will be next?

The time chosen for the Week of Prayer has been changed to the corresponding days in March, viz.: 6-10. The annual meeting of the Louisiana Conference Society will be held during that week. One notice will be given the auxiliaries.

The solicitor of "Our Homes" reports having secured thirty-six subscriptions during the Annual Conference last December. Those who do not take the paper do not know what they miss. Send your address and fifty cents to our agent.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
Conference Cor. Sec.

MARRIAGES.

LANIER—AUST.—In the Methodist Church, Binnsville, Miss. (with decorations), Jan. 27, 1895, by Rev. Henry G. Hawkins, Mr. W. H. Lanier and Miss Nettie M Aust, both of Binnsville.

TESSERO—PRICE.—At the residence of Mr. Provost Thiel, Franklin, La., Jan. 18, 1895, by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. John Tessero and Miss Elisa Price, both of Morgan City, La.

WASHBURN—PARISH.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Grant parish, Dec. 20, 1894, by Rev. Lyman F. Jackson, Mr. Chas. A. Washburn and Miss Mollie O. Parish.

BRISTER—BROWN.—At the residence of the bride's peronts, near Alexandria, La., Jan. 17, 1895, by Rev. Lyman F. Jackson, Mr. John Homer Brister and Miss Martha Brown.

DAWSON—AVERA.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Greene county, Miss., Jan. 17, 1895, by Rev. L. Carley, Rev. W. J. Dawson, of the Mississippi Conference, and Miss Celia Avera.

BURRESS—ROBERTSON.—At the residence of Mrs. Houston, near Webb, Miss., Nov. 11, 1894, by Rev. R. I. Allen, Mr. P. J. Burress to Miss Tennie Robertson.

JOHNSTON—FURGESON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Jan. 16, 1895, by Rev. R. I. Allen, Dr. G. S. Johnston to Miss Beulah Furgeson, both of Dunlio, Miss.

DICKEY—MABRY.—At the residence of Mr. M. Mabry, near Dunlin, Miss., Jan. 16, 1895, by Rev. R. I. Allen, Mr. H. E. Dickey to Miss Corrie Mabry.

POGUE—BRASHEAR.—At Galilee Baptist Church, on the night of Dec. 27, 1894, by Rev. Wiley Brown, Mr. James Pogue and Miss Anna Brashear, all of East Baton Rouge parish, La.

HADSKEY—CUNNINGHAM.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near McNair, Miss., Nov. 28, 1894, by Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Mr. John W. Hadskey and Miss Minnie Cunningham, all of Jefferson county, Miss.

CRYMES—PATTON.—At the parsonage in Bolton, Miss., Dec. 11, 1894, by Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Rev. J. D Crymes, of the Mississippi Conference, and Miss Angie Patton, ward of the officiating minister.

O'NEAL—WILLIAMS.—At the residence of Mrs. Dameron, Jan. 3, 1895, by Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Mr. J. Henry O'Neal and Miss Joe Bell Williams, all of Bolton, Miss.

BIRDSONG—TROTTER.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Jan. 16, 1895, by Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Mr. Jesse Birdsong and Miss Loula Trotter, all of Bolton, Miss.

OLIVER—BURKETT.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. T. B. Burkett, Dec. 21, 1894, by Rev. M. E. Weaver, Mr. Willie H. Oliver to Miss Ida B Burkett, all of Natchitoches parish, La.

WALLACE—YEATES.—In the Methodist Church, Starkville, Miss., Dec. 27, 1894, by Rev. T. C. Wier, Mr. J. S. Wallace, of the A. and M. College, to Miss Beulah H. Yeates, of Starkville, Miss.

ANSELM—O'QUINN.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Hassville, La., Jan. 15, 1895, by Rev. Jno. B. Kent, Mr. Joseph B. Anselm to Miss Euphrosine O'Quinn, all of St. Landry parish, La.

BORGER—HARRIS.—In the Presbyterian Church, Durant, Miss., Dec. 12, 1894 by Rev. J. H. Mitchell, Mr. E. B Borger and Miss Lillie T. Harris, both of Durant, Miss.

MORRIS—EUBANKS.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Durant, Miss., Dec. 17, by Rev. J. H. Mitchell, Mr. J. A Morris, of Lexington, Miss., and Miss Holley Eubanks, of Durant, Miss.

WILLIAMS—FOWINKLE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Jan. 8, by Rev. J. H. Mitchell, Mr. W. C. Williams and Miss M. A. Fowinkle, both of Durant, Miss.

BOSWELL—NANCE.—At the residence of Prof. Humphry, Durant, Miss., Jan. 15, by Rev. J. H. Mitchell, Mr. J. W. Boswell, of Ebenezer, Miss., and Miss Nannie B. Nance, of Huntsville, Ala.

ROGERS—HORN.—Near Sylvarena, Smith county, Miss., Dec. 5, 1894, by Rev. R. A. Sibley, Mr. E. L. Rogers and Miss Lillie Horn.

NOBLIN—PRYOR.—At Homewood, Scott county, Miss., Jan. 20, 1895, by Rev. R. A. Sibley, Mr. J. T. Noblin and Miss Maggie E Pryor.

MCRANEY—CALHOUN.—At the home of the bride's mother, Powell, Miss., Jan. 24, 1895, by Rev. M. L. White, Mr. W. D. McRaney to Miss Laura Calhoun.

QUIMLY—PURTLE.—In the hotel in Maryland, Miss., Jan. 15, by Rev. W. S. Shipman, Mr. A. E. Quimly and Miss Lucy Purtle.

MCLEAN—SHIELDS.—In the Methodist Church, Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 16, by Rev. W. S. Shipman, Mr. T. S. McLean and Miss Alice W. Shields.

STEPP—GROVES.—At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. McBride, Dec. 18, 1894, by Rev. W. S. Shipman, Mr. Chas. Stepp and Miss Sue Groves.

WIGGS—WALTON.—At the residence of Mr. E. H. Lombard, Jan. 9, 1895, by Rev. C. H. Pittman, Mr. P. V. Wiggs to Miss Hattie Walton, all of Hillhouse, Miss.

BOWLIN—BOGGS.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near McComb, Miss., Jan. 15, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Abney, Mr. Jesse Bowlin, of Jefferson county, to Miss P. L. Boggs, of Pike county, Miss.

NETTERVILLE—STEPHENSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, near Magnolia, Miss., Jan. 23, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Abney, Mr. A. R Netterville to Miss Rosa Stephenson, both of Pike county, Miss.

CUMMINS—WAY.—At Prudhomme City, La., Jan. 23, by Rev. S. H. Whatley, Mr. George Cummins to Miss Carrie V. Way, all of Acadia parish, La.

TITUS—WALKER.—At the residence of the groom's parents, Jeannerette, La., Jan. 24, 1895, by Rev. R. M Blocker, pastor of M. E. Church, South, in Jeannerette, Mr. Beecher A. Titus to Miss Viola R. Walker.

It is as hard for God to bless a stingy man as 'tis for rain to fall on a desert

DIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Consumption

was formerly pronounced incurable. Now it is not. In all of the early stages of the disease

Scott's Emulsion

TRADE MARK.

will effect a cure quicker than any other known specific. Scott's Emulsion promotes the making of healthy lung-tissue, relieves inflammation, overcomes the excessive waste of the disease and gives vital strength.

For Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Consumption, Scrofula, Anæmia, Loss of Flesh and Wasting Diseases of Children.

Buy only the genuine with our trademark on salmon-colored wrapper.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . . and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail.— 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

ont feb8

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,724

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAV R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.
17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscribes between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96.

W. C. BLACK.

THE OXFORD BIBLE

A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in a small compass, adapted for all classes.

First American TYPE-SET Edition

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessities of a number of [illegible] the mind of the student or business [illegible] MINION, 12mo, [illegible] 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 inches

From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word [illegible]

Fac-simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.

This is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, [illegible] from new type set plates, and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper [illegible] Imperial Divinity Circuit, style 1000 Bible Text Antique Leather, with [illegible] round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.

The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising [illegible] all thorough Bible students well know. The result of [illegible] eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day. [illegible] where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and [illegible] Cyclopedia of Biblical Information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.

AND the famine was sore in the land.

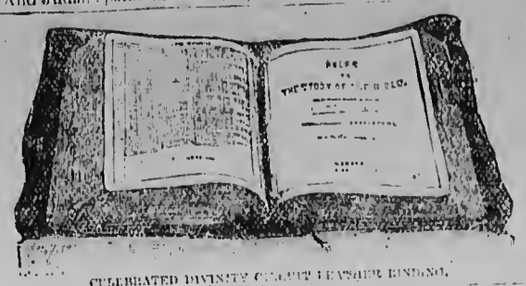
2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

3 And Judah spake unto him, saying,

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house:



CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEVANT BINDING.

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS
Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordances, without object, over [illegible] references, [illegible] to the Bible, Illustrated Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and [illegible] Summary and [illegible] of the Old and New Testament.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.

A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Baptisms, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Offices, etc.

[illegible] References to the Old and New Testaments.

BIBLE LANDS.

(Their Inhabitants, Customs, Principal Cities, etc.)

[illegible] Ethnology of the Jews and their Language.
[illegible] Sects and Parties.
[illegible] Jewish Year.
[illegible] Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
[illegible] Manufactures of the Bible.
[illegible] Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
[illegible] Animals of the Bible.
[illegible] Birds named in the Bible.
[illegible] Reptiles of the Bible.
[illegible] Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
[illegible] Insects of the Bible.
[illegible] Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
[illegible] Precious Stones of the Bible.
[illegible] Music and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
[illegible] Weights and Measures.
[illegible] Alphabets of Ancient Languages.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, obsolete and technical, explained.
Copious Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Table of Scripture Proper Names, with their Signification.
Table of Offices in the Bible.
Synagogue Service.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $4.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still, any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each. We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address Rev. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

A Magnificent Premium Offer.

The Smith-Peloubet Dictionary of the Bible.

One of the Very Best Works of Its Class in Existence.

Read the Following Press Notices.

From The Christian at Work.

There is nothing of its kind equal to it. In many respects the abridgment is preferable to the original work, for its information is more readily available. The abridgment has been entirely in the direction of matter not specially helpful to teachers, while some subjects have been rearranged to make them clearer, and in some instances fuller and more definite information has been added. The dates at which persons lived, or when events took place, have been inserted, not because absolute reliance can be placed upon their accuracy, but in order to show the relative positions of each, and hence to give a clearer idea of the history and progress of events. The revision and editing by Revs. F. N. and M. A. Peloubet has been most admirably performed. Possibly there are teachers who can do without this dictionary, but even they will find themselves all the better equipped for their work with this invaluable aid in hand.

From the Evangelical Churchman, Toronto, Canada.

We give a hearty welcome to this volume, which we cordially recommend to Sunday-school teachers and Bible students. It contains in a compact form the most essential and helpful portions of the great Bible Dictionary of Dr. William Smith. Very substantial additions have been made, especially in the embodiment of the results of the recent explorations in Palestine and the East. The freshest and most reliable information is here given. Those who desire a cheap, compact and portable dictionary will find here just what they require.

From The Standard, Chicago.

We have the fruits of the latest researches here incorporated. The revision is a good sized work of 818 pages, with illustrations and maps of the best description. The notes are not voluminous or exhaustive, but they are still clearly so. All points that need a word of explanation or elucidation in the Bible are dwelt upon. The chronological tables are very full and are very carefully arranged, a harmony of the Gospels and an outline of the "Apostles and their History" being added. It is a beautiful book, the page clear and the type everything that could be asked for.

The book has over eight hundred pages, with eight colored maps and 440 illustrations. Price: Cloth, $2; Sheep, $3; Half Morocco, $3.50. We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of price. Subscribers to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, however, belong to a privileged class, who can get it on much better terms.

OUR OFFER.

Any person who is a subscriber to the ADVOCATE, and who will pay his subscription to June, '96, can have the work, cloth-bound, sent to him, postpaid, for $1.35, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, and send us two new subscribers at the regular rate—$2 per annum—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. This offer may last but a little while; therefore, don't delay. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The mercury in Chicago fell on Feb 4 to 18 degrees below zero, the coldest on record since 1873. Several cases of freezing are reported.

The boiler at Earl Carpenter & Sons' icehouse, at Masapang pond, E wood, near Providence, R. I., exploded on Feb. 4, killing two men outright, injuring a third so that he died within an hour, and wounding ten others, some of them seriously.

Abont 4 o'clock A. M., on Feb. 4, a terrific explosion awakened the people of the village of Milan, east of Toledo, Ohio. A hurried examination showed that the Lockwood Bank Building had been blown up, the safe cracked, and its contents, about $30,000, taken by five masked men, who, in blowing open the safe, had demolished the building and started an alarm all over the village.

A trolley car of the Russel avenue and Holton street line plunged through the open draw of the Kinnickinnic avenue bridge at 8:30 this morning (Feb. 4), carrying three people down to death in the icy waters of the river. Six others were rescued from the partially submerged car. It was the worst street car accident that ever happened in Milwaukee, and the news of the shocking disaster sent a thrill of horror throughout the city.

FOREIGN.

Senator and Gen. Annibalio Ferrero has been appointed Italian ambassador to London, to succeed Count di Vergagno.

Manuel Gutierrez Najara, the eminent Mexican poet and author, was buried with high honors in the City of Mexico, Feb. 4.

The Times announces the death in London on Saturday of Ralph O. Ruhy, American vice and deputy consul at Belfast, Ireland.

An explosion of fire damp is reported from Montcean Les Mines, department of Saone et Loire, France. Thirty persons are believed to have been killed in the mine where the explosion took place.

The number of persons drowned through the foundering of the Elbe, according to the official statement of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, is 335. The crew numbered 155 persons, including four postmen and two pilots; of this number fifteen were saved. In the saloon cabins there were forty-nine passengers, of whom four were saved. The steerage contained 151 passengers, of which number only fifteen were saved.

Nothing Cheap about It.

Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism is put up in large bottles, and once seen it is never mistaken for any other preparation. All the cheap remedies put together are not worth one bottle of Drummond's Lightning Remedy, and any sufferer who has taken it will bear witness to its marvelous power, and say they have never seen its equal. Particulars sent by mail, and the full month's treatment of two large bottles by express upon receipt of $5. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, cor. Thalia,
Corn, Tomatoes, or Snap Beans,
2 lb. can 5 cents.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Countess of Dudley, wife of the third Earl of Dudley, is dead. She was a daughter of James Haughton Langston, Esq., of Sarsden. She died at Nice, Italy.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

East Holly Springs, at Mount Hope	Feb. 2, 3
Red Banks at Wesley Chapel	9, 10
Cornersville, at Bethlehem	16, 17
Mount Pleasant, at Mount Pleasant	23, 24
Ashland, at Salem	Mar. 2, 3
Pontotoc	9, 10
Abbeville	16, 17

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Houston and Wesley	Feb. 2, 3
Buena Vista	9, 10
Shannon	16, 17
Saltillo	23, 24
Nettleton	26
Fulton	28
Tremont	29
Amory and Smithville	Mar. 2, 3
Quincy	6
Aberdeen circuit	8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brooksville	Feb. 2, 3
West Point	9, 10
Tibbee	16, 17
Sturges	23, 24
Cedar Bluff	Mar. 2, 3
Hebron	9, 10
Shuqualak	16, 17
Mashulaville	23, 24

District stewards will meet at Artesia, Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

T. C. WIER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vaiden	Jan. 12, 13
Carrollton station	19, 20
Greenwood station	26, 27
West	Feb. 2, 3
Winona circuit	9, 10
Carrollton circuit	16, 17
Indianola and Faisonia	23, 24
McNutt	Mar. 2, 3
Gidon	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	16, 17
Black Hawk	23, 24

J. B. STONE, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Nesbit, at Horn Lake	Feb. 2, 3
Arkabutla, at Brook's Chapel	9, 10
Tyro, at Liberty Hill	(Wed.). 15
Wall Hill	16, 17
Cockrum, at Independence	(Wed.). 20
Pleasant Hill	23, 24
Pleasant Grove	Mar. 2, 3

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Duncan	Feb. 3
Clarksdale	10
Gunnison	17
Rosedale	24
Bolivar	Mar. 3
Hollondale	18
Arcola	17
Friar's Point	24

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville and Baldwyn, at Baldwyn	Feb. 2, 3
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon	9, 10
Brown's Creek cir., at Pine Grove	Thurs.) 14
Pleasant Ridge circuit, at Mt. Zion	16, 17
Blue Springs circuit, at Blue Springs	23, 24
Guntown circuit, at Guntown	Mar. 2, 3

HEZEKIAH R. TUCKER, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Coffeeville, at Coffeeville	Feb. 2, 3
Paris, at Prospect	9, 10
Water Valley cir., at Pleasant Ridge	16, 17
Water Valley station	17, 18
Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.	23, 24

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Belsona circuit, at New Hope	Feb. 2, 3
Lexington and Tchula, at L	9, 10
Ethel circuit, at Ethel	16, 17
New Port circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Stewart circuit, at South Union	Mar. 1
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	2, 3
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester	16, 17
Ackerman circuit, at Liberty Hill	23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall	29
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	30, 31

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jackson—First Church	Jan. 6
Jackson—Capitol Street	6
Canton	12, 13
Benton circuit, at Benton	19, 20
Yazoo City	26, 27
Terry circuit, at Terry	Feb. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit, at Mount Carmel	9, 10
Flora circuit, at Flora	16, 17
Madison circuit, at Madison	23, 24
Silver Creek and B. L., at B. L.	(Sat.) Mar. 2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	3, 4
Camden, at Sbrock Chapel	9, 10
Tranquil circuit at Locust Grove	16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant	23, 24
Jackson cir., at Flag Chapel	(Wed.). 27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin	30, 31

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	Jan. 12, 13
Meridian—South Side	16
Binnsville, at Scooba	19, 20
Meridian—East End	23
Portersville, at Brogan's Ch	26, 27
Meridian—West End	30
Marion, at Cuttis' Ch	Feb. 2, 3
Meridian—Central	4
Chunkey, at Chunkey	6
Daleville and Soule Ch., at Soule Ch.	9, 10
DeKalb, at ——	16, 17
N. Kemper, at Sp Hill	23, 24
Indian Mission, at Tell Chuluk	Mar. 1
Livewood at Bethel	2, 3
Nesboba at Mars' Hill	9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary	16, 17

District stewards' meeting at Central Church, Meridian, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

R. J. JONES, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis, at Purvis	Jan. 6, 3
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia	13, 20
Nicholson, at Nicholson	23, 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at P.	Feb. 2, 3
Biloxi, at Biloxi	9, 10
Moss Point	(Sun. night). 16, 17
Escatawpa, at Mt. Zion	(Sun. 11 A. M.). 13, 17
Americus, at Rosedale	(Wed. and Th.) Feb. 20, 21
Vancleave, at Union	23, 24
Ocean Springs and Scranton, at O. S.	Mar. 2, 3
Whittington, at Ocleville	(Wed., Th.). 6, 7
Bay St Louis, at B. St. L.	9, 10
Augusta, at Isabella	13, 17
Black Creek, at Mt Zion	23, 24

Dist. stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Summit, at S	(11 A. M. Frl.). Jan. 4
Adams, at A	5, 6
Crystal Springs	(7 P. M.). 8
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	12, 13
Brookhaven	(7 P. M.). 16
Martinsville, at Union Chapel	19, 20
Hazlehurst	(7 P. M.). 20
North Wesson	26, 27
Wesson	(7 P. M.). 27
Gallman, at Bethesda	Feb. 2, 3
McComb City	(7 P. M. Frl.). 8
Whitestown	9, 10
China Grove, at Holmesville	16, 17
Magnolia and Osyka, at M	23, 24
Providence, at Babala	Mar. 2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams	9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sbubuta	Jan. 6, 3
Waynesboro and State Line	12, 13
Pachuta	19, 20
Vossburg	26, 27
Heidelburg	Feb. 2, 3
Ellisville and Laurel	9, 10
Eastabuchie	16, 17
Mathersville, and Mission	23, 24
Waynesboro circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Leakville	9, 10
Williamsburg	13, 17
Mount Carmel	23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Morton and Forest, at Morton	Jan. 5, 6
Newton and Hickory, at Hickory	12, 13
Lake, at Lake	19, 20
Decatur, at Decatur	26, 27
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	Feb. 2, 3
Carthage, at Carthage	9, 10
Clarksburg, at New Providence	16, 17
Shiloh, at John's	23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh	28
Westville, at Westville	Mar. 2, 3
Brandon station	9, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis., at Marvin	16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood	28
Trenton, at Gasque	29
Montrose, at Montrose	30, 31

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg—Crawford Street	Jan. 6, 6
South Vicksburg	6, 7
Edwards	12, 13
Bolton, at Bolton	19, 20
Port Gibson	26, 27
Harriston, at Cane Ridge	Feb. 2, 3
Hermanville, at Hermanville	9, 10
Utica, at Utica	16, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	23, 24
Mayersville, at Beniah	Mar. 2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Willes' Chapel	30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Natchez—Jefferson Street	Jan. 6, 6
Natchez, at W. O.	6, 7
Barlow, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Fayette, at Fayette	19, 20
Roxie circuit	23, 27
Gloster, at Centerville	Feb. 2, 3
Percy Creek	9, 10
Woodville	16, 17
Woodville Mission	16, 17
Wilkinson circuit	23, 24
N. Wilkinson	Mar. 2, 3
Homo Chitto	9, 10
Amite	16, 17
Meadville	23, 24
Washington	Apr. 6, 7

Preachers will please inform me at Gloster when their first Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards' meeting at Gloster, Jan. 15, 10 o'clock A. M.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

New Iberia	Feb. 2, 3
Teche circuit, at St. Martinsville	6
Grand Cheniere, at Leesburg	9, 13
Lake Arthur, at Lake Arthur	14
Prudhomme, at Roberts Cave	16, 17
French Mission—Cane Island	20

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Gross Tete, at Colton	Feb. 2, 9
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford	9, 10
Zachrie, at Zachrie	10, 11
Live Oak, at Friendship	16, 17
Port Vincent, at Hull's	21
Ponchatoula, at Wesley	23, 24
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar. 2, 3
Amite City, at Roseland	9, 10
St. Helena, at Greensburg	16, 17
Pine Grove, at Pipkin's	17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wesley, at Davis Springs	Feb. 2, 3
Conshatta, at Conshatta	6
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	9, 10
Grand Cane, at Stone Wall	16, 17
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville	19
DeSoto Mission	21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 2, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant	16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G	23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Pineville, at P	Feb. 2, 3
Boyce, at Boyce	8, 10
Spring Creek, at Fellowship	16, 17
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	23, 24
Glenmora	Mar. 2, 3
Atlanta, at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carondelet Street	Feb. 3
Covington	10
Morgan Street	17
Louisiana Avenue	24
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 3
Rayne Memorial	10
Tallisheck	17
Felicity Street	24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

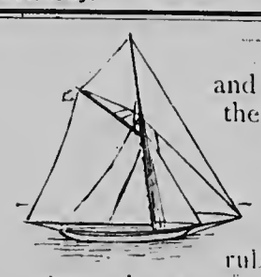
JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd	Jan. 6, 6
Delhi, at Delhi	8
Rayville, at Rayville	9
Monroe, at Monroe	10
Calhoun, at Indian	11
West Monroe, at West Monroe	12, 13
Bastrop, at Bastrop	14, 16
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Lind Grove, at Lind Grove	19, 20
Winnsboro, at Winnsboro	21, 22
Oakley and Vidalia, at Holly Grove	23, 24
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	29, 30
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	Feb. 2, 3

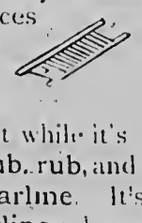
Dear pastors of the district, I make this hurried round that I may get my work early in hand, and during my second and third rounds hold protracted meetings in every charge in the district. Give your prayers and hearty co-operation, and with God's blessing we will have a grand move forward along all the lines.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.



Sailing Away,

and both of them for pleasure,—with the chances for safety in favor of the washboard. In fact, there isn't much chance for safety until it's gone. If you want to keep your clothes, if you don't want them rubbed to pieces—throw it away. Then use Pearline. That washes clothes without harming them. The washboard wears them out while it's getting them clean. It's rub, rub, rub, and wear, wear, wear, without Pearline. It's work, work, work, too. Pearline takes away the rubbing and takes away the work. There's no use for either, because, easily, quickly, safely, and cheaply, Pearline takes away the dirt.



Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 390 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2.40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2.40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer. This great work will surely be purchased if seen.

We repeat, the book complete, or entire series of twenty-four parts, will sell regularly for $6. We will present the complete work to anyone sending us five new cash subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at our regular price of $2 a year.

"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are the simplest, quickest and most effectual remedy for Bronchitis, Asthma and Throat Diseases.

Whitworth College.

One hundred and twenty pupils given free tuition. Write for particulars. Second half term opens Jan. 29. Carl Faelten, Director of the N. E. Conservatory, will be with us in February. Advantages unexcelled.

REV. JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Pres.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Choice Yellow Clarified Sugar,
30 lbs. for $1.00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

The World in the Church.

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

MORPHINE OPIUM & Whisky HABITS Cured at Home. Remedy $5. A Cure Guaranteed. Write for Book of Particulars, Testimonials & References. TOBACCOLINE, the Tobacco Cure, $1. Agts wanted. G. Wilson Chemical Co., [Incorp'ed under Tex. laws] Dublin, Tex.

A. A. BOHNE HEIRS,
DEALERS IN
New and Second-Hand School Books, Stationery, Music,
1328 DRYADES STREET, Near THALIA.
School Books Bought, Sold and Exchanged.
D. J. WILT, Manager.

BUCKEYE CHURCH
Bells, Peals and Chimes.
Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin only, and so warranted. Best Hangings and Workmanship in the Country. Highest Award at World's Fair and Gold Medal at Mid-Winter Fair.
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
E. W. Vanduzen Co., - Cincinnati, Ohio.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, the most effective of Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, preserve, purify, and beautify the skin, scalp, and hair when all else fails. CUTICURA REMEDIES are of the utmost purity and delicacy, and especially appeal to the refined in every community.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. NEWBERY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

DEAFNESS and head noises relieved by use of WILSON'S COMMON SENSE EAR DRUM. Entirely new, scientific invention, different from all other devices, only safe, simple, comfortable, invisible ear drum in the world. Hundreds are being heard from where medical skill has failed. No string or wire attachment to the ear. Write for pamphlet. WILSON EAR DRUM CO., 141 Trust Bldg. LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE DRUM IN POSITION

AGENTS MAKE $5 a Day Greatest Kitchen Utensil Invented. Retails 25 cts. 2 to 6 sold in a house. Sample and outfit, postage paid FREE. FORSHEE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

Established 1857.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT
Prink's Patent Reflecting System for Gas, Oil, or Electric Lights, the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.
I. P. PRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

YOURS FOR A GOOD HARVEST
If you plant Gregory's Seeds. These Seeds, famous through many years, have turned the tide of success toward a great many sowers. Perhaps they are all that you lack. The whole story about is told in Gregory's Catalogue for 1895—a book that helps solve all the problems of planting; sets you right when in doubt; gives in detail the best farming knowledge right up to date. It's free. Ask for it.
GREGORY'S SEEDS
J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers, Marblehead, Mass.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 331

Pennsylvania Coal Company,
Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY,.....Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

A NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK.

Touching Incidents
—AND—
Remarkable Answers to Prayer,

AS RELATED BY

John Wesley,	Bishop Bowman,	S. A. Keen,	Chas. G. Finney,
Bishop Simpson,	John Knox,	A. B. Earle,	T. DeWitt Talmage,
John B. Gough,	Martin Luther,	B. Fay Mills,	Frances E. Willard
Edward Payson,	C. H. Spurgeon,	D. L. Moody,	George Muller,
James Caughey,	Wm. Carvosso,	Guy Fox,	James H. Potts,

And Many Others.

Read a few of the good things said of it.

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal: "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Cumberland Presbyterian: "Is is indeed full of touching incidents calculated to quicken the faith of all who read it."

Pres. Franklin College, New Athens, O.: "This is one of the best and most interesting books we have ever seen."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the despondING Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearers to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

The book contains 320 pages, and when open measures 8½ by 12½ inches, and is beautifully bound in full cloth.

It is written in clear, simple, forcible language, yet it presents rich variety. It is equally adapted to the learned and unlettered. All classes of readers can understand it and all be helped by it.

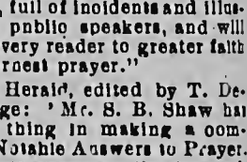
Young and old, saved and unsaved, all read it with delight. Leaders of the various Christian denominations commend it highly.

OUR OFFER.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route



THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington. 67 miles shortest to Birmingham. 90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

A. J. GARRETT, A. G. P. A., 84 St. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. I. HARDY, A. G. P. A., VICKSBURG, MISS.
W. C. RINEARSON, GEN'L PASS'R. AGT., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE
SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 7. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2008

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

CALLING THE ANGELS IN.

BY MARGARET J. PRESTON.

We mean to do it; some day, some day,
We mean to slacken this fevered rush
That is wearing our very souls away,
And grant to our goaded hearts a hush
That is holy enough to let them hear
The footsteps of angels drawing near.

We mean to do it; O never doubt,
When the burden of day-time toil is o'er,
We'll sit and muse while the stars come out
As patriarch sat at the open door
Of his tent, with a heavenward gazing eye,
To watch for the angels passing by.

We've seen them star at high noontide,
When fiercely the world's hot flashings beat;
Yet never have bidden them turn aside
And tarry awhile in converse sweet,
Nor prayed them to hallow the cheer we spread,
To drink of our wine and break our bread.

We promised our hearts that when the stress
Of life work reaches the longed-for close,
When the weight we groan with hinders less,
We'll loosen our thoughts to such repose
As banishes care's distracting din,
And then—we will call the angels in.

The day we dreamed of comes at length,
When, tired of every mocking guest,
And broken in spirit, and shorn of strength,
We drop, indeed, at the door of rest,
And wait, and watch, as the days wane on—
But the angels we meant to call are gone.

—Exchange.

Selections.

Tanjore and Madras.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B GALLOWAY, D. D.

One of the most interesting and historic cities in Southern India is Tanjore, for a long time the capital of a powerful Hindoo kingdom, and famed for its splendid palace and magnificent temple. The immense figures carved in stone on either side of the great gateway have each four hands—two to dispense blessing and two to guard the sacred shrine. And around them are gods and goblins of every shape and size. Just within the gate is a handsome gilt pagoda-shaped procession car, kept for use on festival occasions, when the god Siva and his wife take a ride through the streets of the city, followed by the shouts and shrieks of fanatical thousands. In front of the temple is a large pavilion, beneath which rests the sacred bull—a recumbent figure in black granite, twelve feet high and eighteen or twenty feet long. Every day this sacred animal—the riding-horse of Siva—is bathed with sacred water, anointed with oil, and presented with offerings of flowers. To his majesty the "faithful" humbly bow in adoration before entering the temple and paying their vows to Siva, "the third person in the Hindoo triad." One of the smaller temples within the inclosure, dedicated to Siva's son, is said to contain the finest stone carving in Southern India. And all that divine art was consecrated to foolish and much foul superstition.

The palace of the Rajah of Tanjore, now occupied by eight of his eighteen widows and their poor kin, is a spacious and capacious structure, but of no architectural pretensions. These widows, pensioned by the British government, live in luxury. They have elephants and camels to precede them when they drive out on occasions, and a vast retinue of servants to do their bidding and anticipate their wishes. The large audience-hall of the former Rajah, with a marble statue of himself on a raised platform of black granite, contains some relics and articles of furniture that preserve the traditions of other years.

But the place of tenderest interest in Tanjore to a Christian is the modest memorial church, built in 1779, in which "Father Swartz," one of the earliest Protestant missionaries, used to preach. He was fitly called "The Apostle of India," and his name will ever be held in grateful remembrance. He laid foundations on which others have builded; he pioneered a path through the wilderness, at peril of life, which others have safely traveled. Arriving in 1750, he preached his first sermon in Tamil in about four months." When, after a self-denying and apostolic ministry of forty-eight years, he went to his reward, his heart was cheered with the fact that thousands of heathen had already found the Lord Christ. In one end of the church is a large marble tablet, erected by the Rajah of Tanjore.

Two miles east of Tanjore, on a spot of ground granted by the Rajah, he built a residence and made it an orphan asylum. There the last twenty years of his life were spent in the education and religious instruction of children. Intrusted on one occasion with an important mission to Hyder Ali, and presented on leaving with a bag of rupees, which he handed over to the governor of Madras, who requested him to keep it, he devoted it to the support of schools of Tanjore. The above incident, recorded by a recent writer on India, seems to have been characteristic of this very remarkable man, whose powerful personality and singular saintliness, no less than his rare eloquence and evangelistic zeal, commended the religion of his Lord, and commanded the profoundest respect of the most fanatical heathen. Though his work was afterward transferred to other societies, it yet endures, and will never die.

In Tanjore, as at Trichinopoly, the Roman Catholics have extensive missions and large constituencies. At Trichinopoly they have splendid property, about twenty thousand members, over one hundred Jesuit priests, and a college with a thousand students. At Tanjore we heard their cathedral bells calling the faithful to vespers, and saw the massive temples in which they invite the heathen to exchange idols.

Leaving Tanjore at 8.30 P. M., an all-night's ride on the South India railway brought us to Madras by eight in the morning. This was our first night-experience on an Indian railroad, which is a duplicate of the English, and innocent of the luxurious Pullman and Wagner cars that contribute so much to the comfort of American travel. But if a bed and pillow have been provided, one gets along very pleasantly, for only four persons are allowed in a compartment after night.

Arriving at the station in Madras, we witnessed as amusing and desperate contentions among cabmen and coolies as was seen among the naked sampan rowers in the harbor of Yokohama. They fought over our baggage and came to war on account of the hotel we had selected. Indeed, a runner for another house overawed the driver and had us taken to the wrong place, while the Elphinstone Hotel man trotted for five miles by our carriage pleading and protesting. Fortunately his house was very near, and we went there according to promise. It proved to be quite comfortable. Kept by a high-caste native of distinguished appearance, it is very popular. The building, with its large airy rooms and massive columns, in the center of a vast garden brilliant with flowers and foliage plants of every name and tint, was once the palatial home of the wealthy nabob. His widow receives a liberal pension from the British government, and her adopted sons squander it with reckless hands. One of the little copper-colored dudes drove out to the hotel nearly every afternoon in a magnificent carriage behind two splendid horses, with driver and two outriders in gorgeous livery. It occurred to me that the government could more effectually and wisely allay discontent and placate the natives in other ways than by pensioning the degenerate descendants of every petty dynasty. Liberal concessions have been made to reigning families and temple authorities in order to attach the people to the English throne. And while the country has been vastly benefited by the conquest, and the condition of the people improved an hundredfold, still the love of independence makes them chafe under the dominion of a foreign power. I inquired of several very intelligent natives whom we chanced to meet on the trains as to the spirit of content among the people, and received very cautious, discriminating replies. By means of an army of 190,000, of whom 60,000 are English, and a police force of 190,000 natives, officered by English, in addition to village watchmen, British rule is firmly established in India. But a liberal and conciliatory administration, with a beneficent system of education, will in time soften asperities and strengthen attachment to the British crown. Certain it is that the people have more to expect from England and her Christian civilization than from native dynasties, with their ceaseless wars and exhausting exactions of revenue.

We purposed spending only two days in Madras, but failure to get a steamer to Calcutta necessitated a delay of six. Though Madras is a straggling city of 400,000 inhabitants, and has few points of interest to ordinary tourists, it gave ample and coveted opportunity to gather valuable information about the history and present status of Christian missions in Southern India.

But Madras is by no means destitute of attractions. Her artificial harbor, constructed with an outlay of millions, deep enough for the largest vessels and spacious enough for the vast shipping interests centering here, is a marvel of engineering skill. The drive along her beach can not be excelled in the world, and her well-paved roads stretching for miles into the country, lined with handsome bungalows and beautiful gardens, nearly everyone of which has a heroic or romantic history, are unequaled in all our travels. The museum has probably the finest collection in India, containing, as it does, many treasures that link the present to the earliest historic past. We looked into several court-rooms while cases were being tried. Before the chief justice, a venerable man in black robes, an interesting case of robbery was pending. All the lawyers, native and foreign, wore black gowns, as did the clerks and marshal. An official interpreter translated the lawyer's question to the witness into Tamil, and gave the answer in English. A capital idea, I thought, for our American courts to have an impartial official repeat the lawyer's question to the witness, thereby getting the exact truth and saving him the badgering and humiliation sometimes given by an impertinent little attorney. In another room two judges in official robes—one English, the other Tamil—sat side by side hearing an important cause. Some of these natives, I understand, are very learned and sagacious lawyers, and in this land of much litigation are reaping a good harvest of honors and rupees.

We visited, of course, old Fort St. George, the first purchase of Indian soil by the East India Company, and its historic church, the first Christian sanctuary built in the empire. The memories of over a hundred years throng its aisles, and the dust of heroes sleep beneath its chancel. Gen. Burgoyne, Gen. Thomas Munro, and Sir Alexander Campbell are among the military celebrities who there find sepulcher, while a conspicuous statue of Lord Cornwallis, twice governor general of India, adorns the grounds outside. Here also are tablets to "Father Swartz" and to Rev. Christian William Gericke, the associate of Swartz, who died in 1803.

We were disappointed in not being able to visit St. Thomas Mount, a village some eight or ten miles out of the city, where the Wesleyan Methodists have a prosperous mission, and where, tradition says, St. Thomas preached and died. Though not having much confidence in "the traditions of the elders," I had an antiquarian curiosity to see the hallowed place. We had dinner and a delightful evening with Rev. J. Cooling, superintendent of the Wesleyan missions, and who lives, by the way, in the house long occupied by Dr. Jenkins and other brave missionaries. Mr. Cooling showed us the passage along which a mob surged on one occasion, and the wall over which Dr. Jenkins leaped and saved his life. The offense for which his life was thus cruelly sought was the baptism of a promising young man of high caste. Wesleyan mission work in India was first began in Madras, and by one of the companions of Dr. Coke, three years after their landing in Ceylon. It has spread over the whole empire, and numbers its communicants by the thousands. In South India alone, embracing four districts—Madras, Nagapatam and Trichinopoly, Hyderabad, and Mysore—they have a membership of 8,443 besides 360 "junior members," and 2 165 persons on probation. There were 515 adult baptisms last year. The amount contributed for pastoral support by the natives was 16,044 rupees. Their reports cheerfully declare that there is not "wanting anywhere tokens of the presence and blessing of God in the gathering and growing signs of a rich harvest." They have a college in Madras with 425 students, and in day-schools throughout the district there are 16,000 scholars under instruction. I was especially interested in their zenana work, of which we have heard and read so much. Secluded from the world outside, utterly ignorant and slavishly obedient to their husbands, the women of India, of so-called high-caste, are compelled to suffer and die in their prison harems. But into those secluded apartments Christian women have found an entrance. They begin their work by teaching these wives and mothers to read in order that they may read the Bible themselves. Thus quietly and systematically, as one reports, they are "leavening the home life of Hindooism with the truths and gracious kindly influences of Christianity." They are lighting up the darkness of many a sad woman's heart, and making her prison a home and her husband a companion. In the Hyderabad district alone more than one hundred women had recently been baptized.

We visited the Deaconess Home of the Methodist Episcopal Church, attended a Tamil class meeting one evening, looked in at their mission press, and enjoyed brotherly associations with Bros. King and West. At the Deaconess Home, in charge of Miss Stephens, where she has an orphanage with sixty girls, we had the pleasure to see the various classes and hear the little ones sing. Each child has an American patron and an American name. I saw Frances Willard, Abbie Mills, Florence Wright, and other distinguished persons, in dark skins, short dresses, and bare feet. The little creatures seem very bright and happy, and who knows but under the shelter of that Christian home they may grow up to add new luster to their honored names, and do for India what their patrons have done for America.

Miss Stephens has charge also of the zenana work, and gave us many encouraging incidents as evidence of the silent, but steady, changes being wrought in Hindoo homes. She has 200 pupils in these zenanas, and 6 629 "listeners"—persons who come in from other homes. The women are visited and taught daily, except Saturday and Sunday. Fourteen were baptized last year, and "one died with His name on her lips."

The Methodist Episcopal Church sent Dr. William Butler to India in 1853 to found a mission. He started work at Bareilly, in the Northwest, but during the Sepoy rebellion in 1857, had to escape to another station. In thirty-eight short years God has wrought wonderful things for India by the hands of these Methodists. Instead of one lonely, but heroic, missionary, without a convert, they have now five Annual Conferences and one Mission Conference. 84 missionaries, 45 lady missionaries, 452 native preachers, traveling and local, 668 exhorters, and 53,148 members. At the session of the Central India Conference in February—a Conference composed of representatives of all their Annual Conferences in India and Malaysia—Bishop Thoburn made these thrilling statements: "The total number of baptisms reported of all ages during the past two years has exceeded thirty-seven thousand. . . . Our Christian community has increased by not less than 30 000 souls since the last meeting of our Central Conference, and it is probable that 70 000 persons, of all ages and races, are in more or less direct connection with our church. . . . Since 1888 I have been permitted to set apart by a solemn act of ordination over two hundred men as ministers of the gospel of Jesus Christ. . . . We are adding more than a hundred new preachers to our numbers every year, and it is not probable that our increase will ever fall below this figure." Such utterances quiver with power. They read like a chapter in the Acts of the Apostles. Let all Methodism all Christianity rejoice with a great joy, and then redouble effort to save the heathen millions of the world.

I should like to tell of a visit to the Madras Christian College. Founded in 1837 by Rev. John Anderson, of Scotland, who sustains the same relation to mission education in Southern India that Dr. Duff does to the North, it has had an eventful history. Under its present president, Dr. Miller, the college has made great advance, and now has 1 880 students. It is interdenominational, having representatives of the Free Church of Scotland, the Church of England, and the Wesleyan Methodist Church in its faculty. Rev. F. W. Kellett is the Wesleyan member, an accomplished graduate of Cambridge, and son of an honored member of the Wesleyan Conference. To him we are especially indebted for many courtesies. We visited the several departments, had tiffin with the faculty, and an opportunity to study the character of work being done. In every class the Bible is a text-book, and is taught as I have thought it should be in every Christian college. I saw little fellows "turn down" others in their quick and correct answers to Bible questions, and "go up head." To see heathen boys, with the marks of their heathenism on their foreheads, eagerly studying the English Bible, made my heart rejoice. Those truths, lodged in the mind, will sooner or later liberate their souls, and wash those silly stripes from their faces. And over 1 800 are being thus taught in that college.

We attended a family service in the Wesleyan Church near our hotel early Sunday morning. The congregation was large and well dressed. The women were prettily attired, and some elaborately, but everyone was barefooted. The preacher—a handsome native—wore a white gown, read the service of the Church of England, and preached with great earnestness.

Early Monday morning we took passage on the P. & O. steamer "Peshawer" for Calcutta.

Bay of Bengal, Nov. 28, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Communications.

In Memoriam.

The Rev. James D. Parker passed away last night, Jan. 18, at his home in this city, in the seventy-ninth year of his age. He was a native of North Carolina (born Feb 19, 1816), but lived for some years in Virginia, and nearly fifty years ago came to New Orleans. He has been all this time a local preacher in the M. E. Church, South. His labor as a business man supported his family, but did not divert him from the calling of a true minister of his Lord. He was abundant in good works. His pace kept up with the advance of life and with the growth of the church. He was instrumental largely in building the Cadiz Street Methodist Church, and the chapel named after him, Parker Chapel, was almost wholly the fruit of his enterprise and labor. He employed all the time that could be spared from his employment to solicit aid in its erection.

In the greater part of his life he has been a steward in some one of the churches of the city, but was identified of late with the Bayne Memorial appointment.

Forty years ago he was one of several local preachers who abounded in the work of the Lord, and to whom our church is greatly indebted. His name will be held in the grateful memory of New Orleans Methodism with that of Robt. L. Bayne, Robt. L. Walker, Judge Joshua Clark, and Dr. Holmes, who gave their time and substance to build up the cause of Christ. These have now all gone, but their works follow them, and we rejoice in the labor of their hands.

Bro. Parker has all his life been associated with Sabbath-schools, and no one has advanced them more successfully. But he was pre-eminent for his spirituality during all the years of his Christian experience. He was full of the Holy Ghost, one whose aims and prayers were constantly to the mind of the Spirit, as were those of Cornelius. His name and that of Wm. Sherry and Richard Keen can well be associated in the history of our Zion with all that is good and true. Whoever, for a moment, doubted as to their high communion and fellowship with the Father and the Son all the time of the many years we knew them? They shone as stars of God in the firmament of the professed followers of the Savior. In the class-room and in the love-feast, as well as in daily walk, they illustrated the new manhood in Christ Jesus.

Bro. Parker was the friend of everyone, but a brother beloved by all who came in the immediate circle of his acquaintance. All the preachers were his friends, because they were of the Savior's ministry. He liked all sermons, because they reached him through a medium that repaired all errors and straightened all inequalities. The atmosphere of truth corrected all that he heard, because the spirit of truth dwelt in him, body and soul.

Of his sons, two have died in the faith, one is now a minister stationed at Concord, N. C., and one remains with us here, identified with the church of his father; the support and comfort of his mother.

Mr. Parker was well known for a consistent Christian character in the circle of business men who were in immediate contact with him. For the last few years he was pensioned by his employer, in recognition of a long and faithful service.

One had rather have the reward and record of such a life than to be the richest man in the city. It was to be expected that when such a person came to die he would reap the harvest of faith and hope. So indeed it was. For weeks, rather than days, he has been in the glory of a triumphant death. He has breathed the odors of the islands on this side the eternal haven, as they have been wafted to his soul by the breath of the Spirit. Filled with love and the conscious presence of his Savior at the very entrance of the aisles of death, we can easily believe that he now finds himself in the full rapture of the redeemed, who are forever with the Lord. The last words he was heard to utter were, "Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, blessed Comforter!"

J. C. KEENER.

New Orleans, Jan. 19, 1895.

In the Living Present.

Hufeland and Flourens both believed that the average duration of human life would be about two hundred years, if from earliest infancy the laws of diet and hygiene were properly observed. Improper food and residence deprive the blood of vitality, clog the minor veins with earth-salt, and weaken the heart prematurely. After sixty years of age beef and mutton should be eaten very sparingly. Fish and poultry are recommended. Plenty apples and bananas are of positive benefit.

The North American Review dilates upon the "Financial Muddle" in our country. Much useful information given. But we perceive no muddle. America owes many million dollars to Europeans. Much of our railroad stock, as well as large amounts in State and United States bonds, are held there. Now these creditors fear that the persistent attempts of our Silverites may prove successful and reduce the present standard of our money exactly one-half. The silver dollar beyond the bounds of our country is worth only fifty cents. Payment in silver would rob said creditors of half their capital. On this account they make haste to unload their holding. The large export of gold is attributable to this cause.

The younger Alexander Dumas is in financial straits. His large palace and art gallery have been sold. He now lives in a cheap "flat." Both, father and son, amassed large fortunes by catering to the baser passion of mankind. Their novels led the van of the destructive procession of realism. Obscenity was enthroned, vice rendered attractive, atheism was portrayed as the criterion of true manhood. But the wealth thus acquired was not long enjoyed. Unsuccessful speculation has swept it away.

Pope Leo's recent encyclical about American newspapers affords much food for thought. He appreciates their value. Religious (Roman Catholic) papers, he recommends, should be liberally supported. They would dispel existing error, etc. Before this encyclical our Jesuit friends have recognized the powerful agency of the press. In their colleges young men are specially trained for the editorial and reportorial work. In nearly all our influential metropolitan newspaper offices at least one of their number secures foothold.

Since we have State universities, it seems right and proper that we should also have a national university, located at Washington City, ranking with those of Vienna, Berlin, and Paris. The Roman Catholics have already such an institution in the United States capital. The Methodists are successfully progressing in a similar enterprise at the same place. Now, our nation should have a university at the seat of government, overshadowing all. Such national pride is legitimate.

ICH DIEN.

The Fasin Mission.

I report the following receipts on the amount necessary to send Rev. J. B. Fearn, M. D., as missionary to China, via: Acknowledged previously, $469 75. Purvis Church, $25; Columbia Church, $5; Dr. C. R. Rencher, $5; Rev. C. McDonald (additional), $5; Mrs. S. H. Hughes, $2; S. P. Grant and wife, $5; total, $516.75

The total amount subscribed, including cash receipts, is $914.25. The balance of $73 25 will soon be forthcoming. I would be much obliged if the subscribers would send in their amounts at once.

C. G. ANDREWS.

THE NEW YEAR.

May the year that is before us,
And its paths as yet untrod,
Bring us daily nearer, closer,
To the bosom of our God!

May we nestle low beside him,
And look up into his face!
May his loving arm be round us
In the warmth of his embrace!

May his life of love and beauty
Be our comeliness and grace!
May they shine in word and action,
And be stamped upon our face!

May the odor of our spirit
Fragrant be, where'er we move!
May it be like His who bought us;
His, whose every breath was love!

—Exchange.

Communications.

A Walk in Alexandria.

BY H. C. HAWKINS.

Hanging in the room in which I write is a large picture, representing the bombardment of Alexandria by the British. Fifteen battle-ships just outside the harbor are ranged against the light forts that protect the city. Fiery balls fly and bombs burst, even against the walls of the palace and harem which lie just behind the foremost fort. My windows look from a third story right across the harbor to that fort, with its tall lighthouse. And in the nearer view is that extensive palace with its harem. The Khedive lives there in grandeur still; but British soldiery are not far away, and have been here ever since they entered the city at the close of that bombardment in 1882, and since then missionaries and other foreigners here have been safe.

On this side trains are running along the water's edge, bringing in cotton to be transported to Europe and bearing away lumber that came from Europe.

Just where the railroad leaves the harbor the Mahmoudia Canal, one of the many mouths of the Nile, pours out its muddy water—muddy because the river is rising now. Already the rise has been 10 feet compared with 9 feet at the same date last year.

This morning I walked far up this canal. It is full of native crafts. The sail-yards of these are very long, double and triple the height of the masts. Their turned-up prows remind of the picture in histories of Cleopatra's royal galley. At one place some Mahommedan laboring-youths, just from their tasks, had spread their mats near the water, and were praying towards Mecca. Cabmen drove hither and thither over the stone-paved streets; donkey boys ran [illegible] to try their nimble little [illegible], but I walked on, crossing the canal several times on the drawbridges. I like to keep on the shady side. Of the people most of those seen were [illegible] looking, light-colored Egyptians, with their red turbans on; [illegible] Europeans, and not a few were [illegible] black Arabs. Instead of white [illegible] would reflect the Summer heat most of the women wear solid black, which absorbs the heat. Their whole heads are covered by this black robe, except the bare feet and the eyes. A kind of cane-hook between the eyes connects the part of the veil which comes down over the forehead with that part which comes up over the mouth and nose. In India I saw no such general veiling of the face. Strange are those delusions that have caused feet to be bound or cramped, waists to be laced, and pure air to be shut out by thick veils!

Walking on, I came to where the canal turns to go between the city and Lake Mareotis. Here, just on the left, is the sand hill under which are catacombs, and yonder, visible in the farther distance, on a neglected hill, is that tall, well-polished, brown granite monolith, Pompey's Pillar.

But it is time to return, for a thread drops from the algiers' station, showing that it is noon at the Great Pyramid.

"Time is the nest pressing by;
Death is the nearest, drawing nigh."

Before going to Palestine I made a trip to Cairo, and saw the mummies in the museum, and found the pyramids still standing, and the sphinx still looking complacently over the desert.

"Bought of Robert J. Harp Agent, New Orleans, La., June 29 1876 D. A. Little, P. C."

Among the first objects to draw attention in the new pastorate is the church register. Here, neatly summarized, minus all embroidery of phrase or fancy, the incoming pastor finds history. It is the work of history to chain the attention. Its makers, many of them, are living friends of the reader. Some of them, in the providence of God, sleep. It is solemn work to the new minister turning the pages of the history. They grow more serious as one reads and thinks. The ink lines deepen. A suggestion of permanency breathes upon the spirit. Erasures positively hurt the eye as the nature of the page penetrates the mind deeper and deeper.

There is likeness here in the church register to the civil register, though strong points of variance also appear. Upon the pages of both titles of properties are written. Titles laboriously descriptive of the possession are spread upon the civil register, and the book is kept carefully, vaulted day and night, against abstraction by thief or destruction by fire. Titles far simpler, yet infinitely complex of suggestiveness, are traced along one line of the church register. One sees a name, and follows it across a double page. There is the date of accession to the spiritual property—salvation. The name of the messenger whose burning interest in the message he bore wrought the condition out of which came that name, with its "on profession," its "titles clear." This also shows along the line. Reading on, disposal of the member appears. "Removal" by earthly circumstances, removed by Divine appointment—"death." The record is simple, as the congregations keep it. The safety of title is assured in the deep vaults above, differing thus from the brick and steel of civil protection.

One follows with eye intent the names of the ministers "by whom received." What history makers and historians are these! Bronze and stone are wrought into shafts and effigies all along the centuries; honors due and paid by peoples to men who make their history and who write it. A copy of Herodotus lies on my table. It once belonged to Colin Tarpley, Sr., pillar of the church during its struggle from chrysalis into larger activity at Jackson. Mine now, through the friendship of Colin the younger, son of the departed saint, I turn its pages now and then. Of this father of history I read that audiences—to whom successive books, Thalia, Clio, pretty titles, were read as they were produced by the historian—are said to have wept and shouted in their emotions of admiration for the heroes of the history and their writer. The record of Herodotus has lasted well. He was contemporary with some of the prophets, I believe, about the time of Malachi. But with eyes upon the pages of the church register, thought travels to its limits following the results of these pastors' work. Not shaft and statue here, but manuscripts and monuments are preserved and awarded in heaven. Makers of earth-history are not forgotten by the earth. Makers of heavenly history pass on through the gates at length to find robe and ring and heavenly chorus waiting for them. Upon the blank page of an old church record here at the parsonage I find the words which begin these lines: "Bought of Robert J. Harp, Agent, New Orleans, La., June 29 1876 D. A. Little, P. C." The handwriting is Bro. Little's, clear and clerkly. He was pastor then at this point, some twenty years ago. Turning the leaves, congregations of several places which together gave the circuit appear, their names following neatly in proper order. "By whom received?" The name, "D. A. Little," written by him, runs happily down column after column, answering the question. Other names than his come on later, but it is with his only that the present has to do.

I have not numbered this preacher whom Bro. Little led into Canaan. It is a goodly number. They are dead, many of them, now. They are scattered over the connection; but, dead or living, they, doubtless, remember their first pastor tenderly, and rejoiced or sighed at the knowledge of his death, according to their residence. Recently, on part of those who had "crossed the flood," there was a reception to their friend and pastor entering the glory land. In the favor of God it will be given to many of us to experience such welcome in due time. One thing is sure, brothers: the terrors of death shall have eternally dispersed ere the pastor has put foot or folded wing upon the battlements where such welcome waits.

God rest Bro. Little. He was very lovable here; he is well loved yonder. The congregations of this charge would have been spiritually advanced by his pastorate among them, and he would have had loyal welcome and loving appreciation from this people. It is a singularly sunny charge in this particular, taken at a personal judgment. But God's ways are not our ways, and man's appointments are often displaced by royal appointment to posts nearer to his person.

In the consciousness, this morning, that D. A. Little pulses, pure and perfected, in the audience of the King, my eyes regard with deepening interest the pages of the register. What he has written is written. His pages are graven with matter which has given life rating above. The yet unwritten page! Upon these I must write. Do you wonder or do you sympathize with the prayer I can not help making at this moment in these circumstances?—that God make me abler, worthier, purer, more faithful; that on my people the Holy One of Israel stay, and one day give us place and peace at home!

W. H. HUNTLEY

Waynesboro, Miss.

A Little Girl Full of Christian Zeal.

The little girl referred to is little Irene Torrey, who lives in the vicinity of the beautiful little town of Hermanville, Miss. Like the child Samuel of old, this little girl seems to be hearing and heeding the voice of God in her early childhood. She is not only devoted to the Sunday-school and an earnest worker therein, but she is full of missionary zeal. Her loving little heart has run out, as every Christian heart should do, and taken in the whole heathen world. Without any suggestion of the kind from anyone, she expressed a desire some months ago to make money to contribute to missions; and when she expressed this desire her father and mother, who love her devotedly and who are well-to-do people, proposed to give her money for this purpose. But she refused the kind offer of her fond parents, and insisted on making the money herself, whereupon her father, in order to give her an opportunity to accomplish the desire of her little heart, gave her a pig to raise; but the pig, after doing well for a time, sickened and died. Then her mother gave her some eggs to raise chickens and turkeys from; but the eggs failed to hatch, and came to naught. Thus the little missionary was doomed to disappointment in her first two efforts to make money for missions; but she did not, as many older persons would have done, yield to discouragement and give up the enterprise. On the other hand, she began to look around for something else to do, and she soon found something, viz.: an opportunity to sell cheap Bibles to poor children in the surrounding community, and in this enterprise she has been successful. Quite a number of Bibles have been sold by her, and all the profit derived from the sale thereof has been given to missions. When asked by her mother if one-tenth would not be enough for her to contribute, she replied: "No; the heathen children need all I have made. While I am provided with every comfort, they need the Bible, and I can do well enough without any of the money."

Surely here is an example worthy of admiration and imitation. If all who profess to believe in Christ would begin to do as this little girl is doing, the treasury of the Lord would soon be filled to overflowing, and ere long the whole heathen world would be lifted out of heathen darkness and bondage into the glorious light and liberty of the sons of God. May God spare the life of this devoted child many, many years, and may millions who are now growing up in the earth be filled with the same spirit that seems to actuate her!

J. W. M.

Kicking Jim.

MR. EDITOR: While our earliest impressions are the most lasting, it sometimes requires certain conditions to call them to mind. Such is the case with the history I am about to relate. Among the many animals on my father's farm was a mule, which had gotten to himself the sobriquet of "Kicking Jim." Jim not only had a mania for kicking, but became quite expert in the art. Like all of his kind, Jim had a will of his own, and whatever attempt was made to oppose that spirit was met with a thrust of his nimble feet. When the heavy load in the wagon demanded extra effort, and Jim was reminded of his duty by the crack of the whip, he was certain to respond with a kick. If the plow, by chance, ran a little deep, just as soon as Jim felt the extra pressure he began his sirish movements. I have sat by the hour, when a boy, and watched "old Jim" on "pressing days," when the cotton in the bale would get heavy, kick until I would get sorry for him, and wonder whether his heels or the lever were the harder. Jim had reduced kicking to a science. Sometimes he would stand and kick with one foot; and then again he would make the single-tree fairly rattle with both feet, and I have seen him turn and twist and jump as though he would kick with all four feet. Of course, such an accomplishment (?) as this made Jim very interesting to the boys, and we would deliberately plan to have an entertainment at his expense, for Jim never seemed happier than when giving one of his exhibitions. He would have made a successful instructor in some college gymnasium.

One thing, however, impressed me even as a boy, and that was that Jim never made anything by his kicking propensities. No one thought the more of him, and he was worked, if anything, the harder. Jim not only kicked at people, resisting their authority, but I have known him to punch the passing innocent hog. Sometimes the barn door was his victim, and I have seen him deliberately turn and kick the fence.

All this interesting, beautiful life has been brought before me by the occurrences among us of late. The spirit of Jim seems to have found its way everywhere. To kick is the order of the day. The political, social and ecclesiastical bodies all furnish their kicking Jims. Even the dignified Senate of the United States occasionly furnishes us with such an exhibition. Neither of the old parties are worthy of the confidence or respect of some; so they set to kicking. The President has the temerity to use his own judgment, and a great kicking begins.

Even the church furnishes us some remarkable cases of thorough training in this art. Our Bishops are no longer worthy of the respect due an ordinary man of honest purposes and pretensions. They are no longer to be accorded the respect due to those in authority. The church is creating a great blunder in retaining them, and made a glorious mistake in electing them. Our presiding elders are men, incapable, untrustworthy, and of sinister motives. The Bishop and his cabinet have not the love of the church or God at heart, and any man who would comply with the injunction of giving honor to them as their due is censured by those men of kicking propensities. This virus seems to have permeated all ages and classes. The old and young, the learned and unlearned, alike join in the pedal exercise.

Just a day or so ago a brother, claiming the exalted position of being "wholly sanctified," justified himself for yielding to his propensity by saying, "This is an age of kickers." Indeed, some of the hardest kicking I have ever witnessed was done by those claiming this highest station; so really it seems that the contagion has fastened itself upon us without respect of persons.

One thing, however, I find parallel to the experience of Jim. These kickers make very little by the exercise, and suffer the greater injury to themselves. Another analogy is that they acquire the disagreeable habit of kicking at everything, and find no such happiness in anything else.

In many instances, however, Jim has the advantage. His age and long continuance in the labor of the farm palliated for his kicking. Jim was greatly the senior of many who would demand obedience of him, and, I have thought, had more good judgment in many instances than the boy who drove him. But poor Jim, while we all remember this of him; when, where, and how he died we do not know. The conclusion is that he went out kicking.

T. B. H.

"Voltaire—A Character Study."

This is a caption of a well-written article in our Review, for November and December, 1894, by the Rev. J. M. Wright, D. D., of the Tennessee Conference. While the writer does not approve the character of Voltaire, nor wholly justify it, there is, what we think to be, a rather too strong apologetic reason given for it. In the philosophy and life, so called, his views may be considered correct; but in the gospel of life they are incorrect, if not pernicious. And it is in his relation to the gospel that we must judge of the character of Voltaire. All there is of him that lives is found in his persistent, but futile, effort against the gospel, so strongly expressed in these words: "Ecrasez l'infame—Crush the monster." The writer does not relieve his subject by his effort to direct this purpose against the Roman Church, and not at Christ or the Christian religion. The declaration, "I end all my letters by ecrasez l'infame, just as Cato always said, 'Such is my opinion, and Carthage must be destroyed,'" show both the corrupt state of his heart and ill-fated egotism. Had there been in his heart any respect for Christ or the Christian, this persistent effort to crush an imperfect, or even unworthy expression of both, would have manifested itself in a praiseworthy effort at a reformation. Had this been the effort of this destroyer of the good that blesses man, then, indeed, might the writer, with some show of justice, offer apologies for whatever of shortcomings may appear in either his judgment of facts or his execution of methods. But as there is no proof of this, and we have constantly before us this "ecrasez l'infame," the impartial student of his character will not hesitate to place Voltaire among those who wickedly and foolishly attempt to resist the force that is of God and is irresistible.

All this, however, is prefatory on the part of the writer to a consequence that comes upon the special pleader in any cause. That "environment" is a great force in whatever direction it may be turned is undeniably true; but that it is an absolute force, we can not accept. And yet Dr. Wright says: "This we announce as certain: in the nineteenth century, in the face of Protestant Christianity, such a character and such a career are impossible." I hardly know what to think or say of such an expression. We have the right to expect that every word that appears in the Review of a great church is thought through and out before the printer's ink is allowed to touch it. Yet we do not believe Dr. Wright did this before writing the above. If he had, we can not think it would have appeared. We could wish—if it was consistent with the free agency of man—that the assumption was true. Surely the doctor has not acquainted himself with either the possibilities nor danger that may befall, and that have come, and will come again, to those who reject Christ, notwithstanding the hopeful environment. And can he be ignorant of the fact that there is at this very moment a great struggle going on in his own church for that purity of state and devotion to right principle that gives the helpful environment? I can not think he is. The Master said the same ground that grew the wheat would also grow the tares, and we have found it so. And, alas! what grievous tares are growing in our church to-day! The progressive euchre, the theater, the dance, etc. Will they destroy the environment, or will the true and the loyal to God force them to seek other refuge? Is the question that occupies the mind and the hearts of the best and the truest among us.

J. M. WEEMS.

P. AND H. M. S.

Special Notice.

The third annual meeting of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference will be held in New Iberia, March 8–10, 1895. Auxiliaries are requested to elect their delegates at once and notify Mrs. J. M. Beard, district secretary, Opelousas district, at New Iberia, La. A full attendance is earnestly desired, as this is a meeting of great importance to our work. Entertainment will be provided.

MRS. F. A. LYONS,
President.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
Conf. Cor. Sec.

The training-class of Christian Workers meet every Friday afternoon, at three o'clock, in the lecture room of the Carondelet Street Church. The class is addressed by one of our Methodist ministers, and also by a prominent Christian physician. An article on this subject will be in this column next week.

Memorandum of Work.

My heart burns within me with indescribable zeal when I get upon the topic of the salvation of immortal souls. Perhaps you would like to hear a little about the work from one of the Bible readers of our Auxiliary. I would call the work evangelistic, as it partakes of different kinds, all having in end the salvation of souls. How much good we all could do if we would only get at it while the days are going by, "if we would but remember that we only pass this way once." My God, open our eyes to behold the glorious opportunities that are passing by our doors almost daily. I will give you a chapter or two from my memorandum of work. I went to see a sick woman in the Woman's Hospital, took her some flowers and buttermilk, and tried to comfort her. As I was passing by another cot I heard some one groan, as in want of help, stepped up to her, and found she wanted to open her heart to me. I read the blessed words of Jesus to her and prayed, and she felt that she had a friend. Ah! how little we sometimes realize what that means to one neglected by kindred as was she. Went to one industrial school, and played the organ. Then, with our sweet city missionary, went to visit the homes of the miserable and unfortunate; talked to men on the street, railroad men who were waiting for their supper, and was encouraged. God alone knows how these pleadings and urgings will tell in eternity. Initiated one of the members of our church into the work of the almshouse. Found one of the sick, whom I have heretofore prayed with, in a dying condition, but could not bear for her life to go out without a prayer. I prayed for her, talked with another one, and urged upon her personal salvation; prayed with and read to two others, besides singing; went to the next room and had words of comfort and cheer with others, speaking to different ones as we passed. The same evening we called at a private house for the purpose of trying to have an interview with a gentleman about his soul's salvation. I went to St. Anna's Asylum. How the poor do prize a few words of sympathy! We visited the Home for Incurables, read to and prayed with little Laura, a patient little deformed sufferer, a woman in years, but a child otherwise. She always remembers me, and I deem it a privilege to be with her, for she has the love of Christ in her heart. Talked with other women about their souls. From there went to a private house where there was sickness and took some buttermilk, which at one time was the only thing she could retain on her stomach; also took a bouquet of flowers—it is always safe to take flowers on these errands. In visiting the almshouse, we found plenty to do. Thank God for the almshouse! My knowledge of the place came to me at a time when my heart was very sad with grief. O what a schooling! With what gratitude I look upon these days of training for the work! A volume might be written. O how my tears were dried and the throbs of my heart were stilled as I would get up and rush away from myself, and, in seeking to bring balm to the aching, lonely hearts over there, the same would fall upon my own heart! O try it, sister; try it, brother; forget your own griefs by administering to others who are worse off. This was when my first heavy grief came—the loss of the best father and mother that a person ever had.

God showed me my work there the first time I entered the place, and although just creeping out of invalidism, and living only two squares from the almshouse, he gave me strength day by day, or as the occasion needed, to minister to the sick and suffering ones.

MISS MARY WERLEIN,
Organizer for Louisiana.

New Orleans, La.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf..Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison....

Treasurer's Report of W. F. M. S. of North Mississippi Conference.

FOR QUARTER ENDING DEC. 30, 1894.

WINONA DISTRICT.

Winona	$ 50 51
McNutt	3 90
Juveniles of McNutt	2 40
Greenwood	4 50
Indianola	4 70
Sunnyside	7 15
Juveniles of Greenwood	7 00
Black Hawk	20 80
Juveniles of Black Hawk	1 75
Carrollton	12 25
Acona	4 20
Juveniles of Acona	1 80
Shell Mound	1 00
Total	$121 99

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

Tranquil	$ 10 00
Houston	8 15
Juveniles of Houston	2 70
Verona	6 80
Juveniles of Verona	1 90
Total	$ 29 55

SARDIS DISTRICT.

Sardis	$ 4 [illegible]
Juveniles of Sardis	19 [illegible]
Batesville	10 [illegible]
Courtland Juveniles	3 [illegible]
Pope's	3 75
Courtland	2 [illegible]
Senatobia Juveniles	5 15
Davis Chapel	[illegible]
Pleasant Grove	6 [illegible]
Juveniles of Pleasant Grove	4 00
Coldwater	15 [illegible]
Longtown	3 00
Hernando Juveniles	1 [illegible]
Hernando	11 [illegible]
Harmony	5 00
Thzah	4 [illegible]
Juveniles of Thzah	1 [illegible]
Total	$108 [illegible]

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

Columbus	$ 20 [illegible]
Mayhew	6 [illegible]
Starkville	[illegible]
Juveniles of Starkville	22 [illegible]
Macon	3 [illegible]
Crawford	5 [illegible]
Juveniles of Crawford	[illegible]
Earnest Workers, of Columbus	1 [illegible]
West Point	1 [illegible]
Total	$ [illegible]

CORINTH DISTRICT.

Corinth	$ [illegible]
Juveniles of Corinth	[illegible]
Ruth Noblett Memorial	[illegible]
Ripley	1 [illegible]
Juveniles of Ripley	[illegible]
Booneville	[illegible]
Juveniles of Booneville	[illegible]
Inks	[illegible]
Baldwyn	[illegible]
Juveniles of Guntown	[illegible]
Guntown	[illegible]
Rienzi	[illegible]
New Albany	[illegible]
Juveniles of New Albany	[illegible]
Total	$10[illegible]

GRENADA DISTRICT.

Grenada	$ [illegible]
Oxford	5 [illegible]
Juveniles of Oxford	2 [illegible]
Charleston	10 [illegible]
Minter City	12 [illegible]
Coffeeville	[illegible]
Water Valley	[illegible]
Girls' Auxiliary at Grenada	[illegible]
Total	$ [illegible]

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

Greenville	$ 10 [illegible]
Gunnison	[illegible]
Shaw	[illegible]
Juveniles of Shaw	[illegible]
Juveniles of Gunnison	[illegible]
Jonestown Juveniles	[illegible]
Arcola	[illegible]
Belen	[illegible]
Juveniles of Belen	[illegible]
Murry	[illegible]
Juveniles of Murry	[illegible]
Total	$ 44 [illegible]

HOLLY SPRINGS DISTRICT.

Holly Springs	$11[illegible]
Lucile Rankin Band	[illegible]
Nannie Fant Workers	[illegible]
Byhalia	[illegible]
Juveniles of Byhalia	[illegible]
Richard Freeman Memorial	[illegible]
Pleasant Grove	[illegible]
Early Grove	[illegible]
Pleasant Grove	[illegible]
Mount Pleasant	[illegible]
Barton	[illegible]
Total	$11[illegible]

KOSCIUSKO DISTRICT.

Kosciusko	$ [illegible]
Juveniles of Kosciusko	[illegible]
Pickens	1[illegible]
Juveniles of Pickens	[illegible]
Juveniles of Lexington	[illegible]
Total	$ [illegible]

SUMMARY.

Winona district	$121 [illegible]
Aberdeen district	[illegible]
Sardis district	108 [illegible]
Columbus district	[illegible]
Corinth district	10[illegible]
Grenada district	[illegible]
Greenville district	14[illegible]
Holly Springs district	30[illegible]
Kosciusko district	[illegible]
Total am't rec'd this quarter	$71[illegible]

MOLLIE A. CLARK, Conf. Treas.
Pickens, Miss., Jan. 15, 1895.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We tote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured. Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our Cure on the market now.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. R. A Breland, P. C., Camden, Miss., Feb. 5: 'During the month of January I have met every appointment. Traveled 300 miles, made 50 pastoral visits, preached 7 sermons, conducted one prayer meeting, secured 10 new subscribers and 8 renewals to NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and 1 renewal to Nashville Advocate. Doctor, pray for me, that I may be used of the Lord in doing a great work on this circuit."

Rev. L. J. Jones, P. C.: "We have filled all of our appointments since Conference, when we visited Wellman on the twenty-sixth of January, where we preached every fourth Saturday evening and Sunday. We were met with a warm reception. The Board of Stewards and our treasurer paid us one-fourth of their assessment all in money before we preached our first sermon. On our next round we are going to do all we can for our paper. May God bless you!"

Rev. C. M. Crossley, Portersville circuit, Meridian district, Mississippi Conference, Jan. 3: "We reached our work Dec. 22, 1894, and were kindly received. We have seven churches on the work, and have preached at five of them up to date, and a more kind people we have never met. Our first Quarterly Conference was held on Jan. 26 and 27; Bro. R. J. Jones, P. E., in the chair, and by his gentle, yet positive, mode of conducting the business of the Conference he endeared himself to both preacher and people. His sermon on Sunday was a feast of good things, both spiritually and intellectually. We have had no storm, but a steady breeze, which reminds us that we are living in the hearts of our people. We are planning, working, praying and expecting the best year of our life. God bless the ADVOCATE! It is a power for good."

Rev. W. D. Pickens, Vinton, La., Feb. 4: "I reached my new work Jan. 5; found everything in readiness and awaiting my arrival. Sulphur Mine circuit has no parsonage, but we have been placed in a comfortable house at Vinton. This is a beautiful little town, twenty-three miles west of Lake Charles, on the Southern Pacific railroad. My wife and the two little ones, Evora and Frank, did not get here until Jan. 6. Our reception has been cordial. The larder has been kept full. Almost every day we receive packages, bundles, and basketfuls, which assures us that our people know how to take care of a preacher. We are praying for a great revival this year. Through the earnest efforts and prayers of the people of Vinton, and especially the good sisters, the saloons were closed a few days before our arrival. We do praise the Lord for this, and pray that Sulphur City, which is also on our work, may soon follow. The W. C. T. U. is doing a great work for this town and surrounding country. The prayer meetings each Wednesday night are well attended, and a deep interest is manifested. Sisters Rodgers, a holiness lady of the M. E. Church, has been doing some good preaching and excellent work here the past week. May the Lord send us more such preachers! We expect to try to build a church at Vinton this year. Pray for us."

Rev. Thos. W. Boynton, P. C., Fort Jessup, La., Jan. 29: "Having received a transfer by Bishop R. K. Hargrove from the East Texas Conference to the Louisiana Conference, and stationed at Fort Jessup, La., I came at once and took charge of the circuit, and am now holding the 'Fort.' On coming to take charge of the brigade, I found the line and tried soldiers somewhat disorganized. This was for the want of a leader and a 'Fort' from which to fight the enemy. We went to work at once, in the name and under the leadership of our Lord and Captain, to erect a church. When completed, it will cost one thousand dollars, and we hope to complete it and have it dedicated soon. Some one is ready to say, 'You will never build a church in Fort Jessup that will cost a thousand dollars.' Well, that may be true; but I sorter feel in my bones that the good people of Fort Jessup and thereabouts have a little get up, grit and greenbacks yet. 'We are not to live by bread alone,' but by every command of Christ, our Captain. Bread, or no bread; meat, or no meat, we will build a church for the Lord, if the Lord permits. Sometimes we are admonished to watch as well as pray. Well, this is good; but what is better is a trinity—watch, work, and pray. Many will watch, some will work, all should pray. Come, brethren and sisters, and present your bodies as living sacrifices, holy, acceptable unto the Lord, which is your reasonable service, and be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the outing of your pocket-books and hearts unto the Lord, and we will soon have a church in Fort Jessup."

Hawkins-Shackelford Marriage.

On the afternoon of Jan. 30, in Courtland, Ala., I solemnized the rites of matrimony between Rev. Ira F. Hawkins and Miss Kate Shackelford. After serving a charge in the Mississippi Conference on the Sunflower river, Ira attended Vanderbilt University, and then joined the North Alabama Conference. While pastor in charge of Courtland station he formed the acquaintance of Miss Shackelford; who, besides being of fine family, possesses personal charms and native qualities which ever made her the most popular young lady of her community. After the two had been pronounced husband and wife they dined, and then took train for Cullman station, where Ira is located at present. "May they ever remain in perfect love and peace together," and may their lives be as successful as they promise to be!

Among the relatives present upon the occasion was Dr. Chas. Taylor, one of our first two missionaries to China. Commodore Perry dined with him at Shanghai the day before he sailed for Japan. H. G. HAWKINS.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

OBITUARIES.

SMITH—J. FRANK SMITH, son of G. W. and S. E. Smith, was born near Phœnix, Yazoo county, Miss., Nov. 7, 1871; joined the church and was converted September, 1890; was married by the writer to Miss Minnie Williams, Jan. 7, 1894, and died Dec. 21, 1894.

Bro. Frank was an obedient son, a loving husband, a kind brother, and a good member of the church. He had served two or three years as steward and secretary of Church Conference. He was moral, religious, intelligent, and industrious, all of which combined made him a good citizen and neighbor.

He was no doubt genuinely converted, being away from home at the time. He wrote his mother, "I have found Jesus precious to my soul, and it gives me joy unspeakable;" "I joined the church and was converted on Tuesday night, and, thanks be to God! I am satisfied;" "Oh! I wish all could see their sins, and make an effort, at least, to seek the cross."

I was perfectly shocked when I heard of his accident and sudden death. He was running a steam gin, and accidentially got his hand caught, and sawed his hand and arm to pieces, and died in a short time. We trust he had been faithful, and is now in heaven.

Dear father, mother, wife, and babe, brother, sister and loved ones, weep not for him, but try to so live that you may meet him in a better world than this. May God graciously bless them all, and help them to be faithful, and finally meet him where parting will be no more. His pastor,

A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

GOULD—E. E. (nee Harvey) was born in Greenshorough (then Choctaw) county, Miss., June, 1847; was married to H. A. Gould, of same county, Jan. 3, 1883, and died at her home, in Walthall, Miss., Jan. 4, 1895. She was converted in 1874, and united with the Presbyterian Church in 1889. She united with the M. E. Church, South, at Walthall, and continued a faithful member until her death.

For several years prior to her death her infirmities were such as to prevent her attending the services of the sanctuary; yet she was always cheerful and uncomplaining. The itinerant preacher was always welcome in her home, and the pastors on this charge for years appreciated the strong friendships found there. For four years she had suffered from partial paralysis, and most of this time was entirely helpless. She seemed to fully accept the promise, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

On Dec. 23 she had a second stroke of paralysis, from which time she never spoke; yet she was conscious of her condition and knew her friends and loved ones. When I went to see her, six days before her death, she seemed to appreciate my visit, and wanted us to pray with her. She was unconscious for some hours before her death, but she was ready and waiting the will of her Master. We buried her last Saturday in the old family graveyard to await the resurrection of the just. May we all so live as to meet her in the sweet by-and-by!

J. A. L.

DARTON—Mrs. CAROLINE A. DARTON went home to heaven Nov. 28, 1894. At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Ridley, in Houston, Texas, she died of pneumonia, which developed from a severe cold she contracted in Dallas. A native of Boston, Mass., she had lived nearly sixty-one years, a large portion of her life being spent in New Orleans, La. For many years previous to her death she was an active member of the Felicity Street Church. As her pastor for four years of that time, I remember her as one of the most consistent and deeply pious in that membership. She was always attentive to her church duties, and ready to respond at all times to calls made upon her in the interest of the distressed and needy. She abounded in good works, and her services and gentle ministries were invaluable in the sick-room, and where trouble had invaded the home.

An attentive and appreciative hearer of the Word, she profited thereby, and was ever a growing Christian, and death found her ripe for the heavenly garner. She attained to the heights of perfect love, and, fixing her mind on God, she was kept of him in perfect peace. She walked with the Lord on earth, and is now at home with him forevermore.

She was the wife of Capt. M. W. Darton, who, with four married children, remain to mourn her loss. May they love and serve her Lord, and so follow on to the glory world! J. T. S.

MCREE—S. P. MCREE, the subject of this sketch, was born in Copiah county, Miss., April 13, 1843, and died at his home in Caseyville, Dec. 28, 1894.

He joined the Methodist Church when quite a boy, but was not converted until Sept. 10, 1862, at Pleasant Valley Church. His conversion was clear and unmistakable. Bro. McRee was a true and noble man—one of our best citizens, a devoted husband and father, a dutiful and affectionate son, a kind neighbor, a zealous member of the church, a friend to the preacher, generous to the poor, ambitious and energetic in the secular pursuits of life. He loved the church, and was faithful to attend upon its ordinances, and support its institutions. A marked trait in his character was kindness of heart. The last few years of his life Bro. McRee was called upon to pass through great trials, but his unclouded trust and confidence in God sustained him through it all.

He was married Jan. 12, 1870, to Miss Laura T. Easterling, who, with four children, survive him. His home life was beautiful. There love reigned supreme and cheerfulness predominated. We have never known a father more devoted to his children; we have never known children more devoted to their father. But he is gone. He was buried at Bethel Church Cemetery, where, with loved ones gone on before, he awaits the general resurrection. May we all meet him in the sweet by-and-by! W. G. BACKUS.

AUST—Resolutions upon the death of GEO. W. AUST, adopted by Binnsville Sunday-school, Binneville, Miss., Jan. 6, 1895:

Whereas, It has pleased our heavenly Father to remove from our association in this Sunday-school, and from our companionship in this world, our much-loved brother, Geo. W. Aust, who for many years has been a faithful and efficient teacher in this school; therefore; be it

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Aust this Sunday-school has lost a very efficient teacher; one who was always at his post of duty in the Sunday-school when his health and that of his family would permit.

Resolved, That while we remember with sadness that we shall no more meet him in the social circle upon earth, nor hear his familiar voice as he would read and explain the Scriptures to the members of his class, ever pointing them to the "Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world," we how in humble submission to the will of him who "doeth all things well," knowing that by emulating the example of our deceased brother we may with him answer, "Present," when our names are read from the Lamb's book of life.

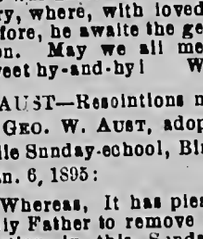
Resolved, That our sympathies are tenderly with his bereaved widow and children, whom we commend to him who bids us cast all our cares upon him. May the children emulate the example of the devoted father, who has just begun to live!

Resolved, That these resolutions be furnished the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

LEONARD L. VANN, Sup't.

(Continued on Seventh Page.)

Thousands of Dollars



Mr. S. G. Derry.

I spent trying to find cure for Salt Rheum which I had 13 years. Physicians said they never saw so severe a case. My legs, back and arms were covered by the humor. I was unable to go down, could not walk without crutches, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged twice a day. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon could see a change. The flesh became healthy, the sores soon healed, the scales fell off, I was able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I took

Hood's Sarsaparilla

7 months; and since that time, 2 years, I have worn no bandages whatever and my legs and arms are sound and well." S. G. DERRY, 45 Bradford St., Providence, R. I.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache. 25c.

A GREAT SUFFERER
—FROM—Liver Complaint
Cured by the Use of
AYER'S PILLS

"For several years, I was a great sufferer from liver complaint, which caused severe pains under the right side, from under the right shoulder-blade, sallowness of the skin, low-spiritedness, and cramp in the stomach. I am pleased to be able to state that I have been relieved of all these complaints by the use of Ayer's Pills. I find them, also, to be an elegant after-dinner pill."—Mrs. M. A. STEAD, Muncy, Pa.

AYER'S PILLS
Received Highest Awards
AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHICHESTER & SON, 28 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

A. A. BOHNE HEIRS,
DEALERS IN
New and Second-Hand School Books, Stationery, Music,
1328 DEYADES STREET, Near THALIA.
School Books Bought, Sold and Exchanged.
D. J. WILT, Manager.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.
JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.
$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.
A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.
J. BLASS & SON,
Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

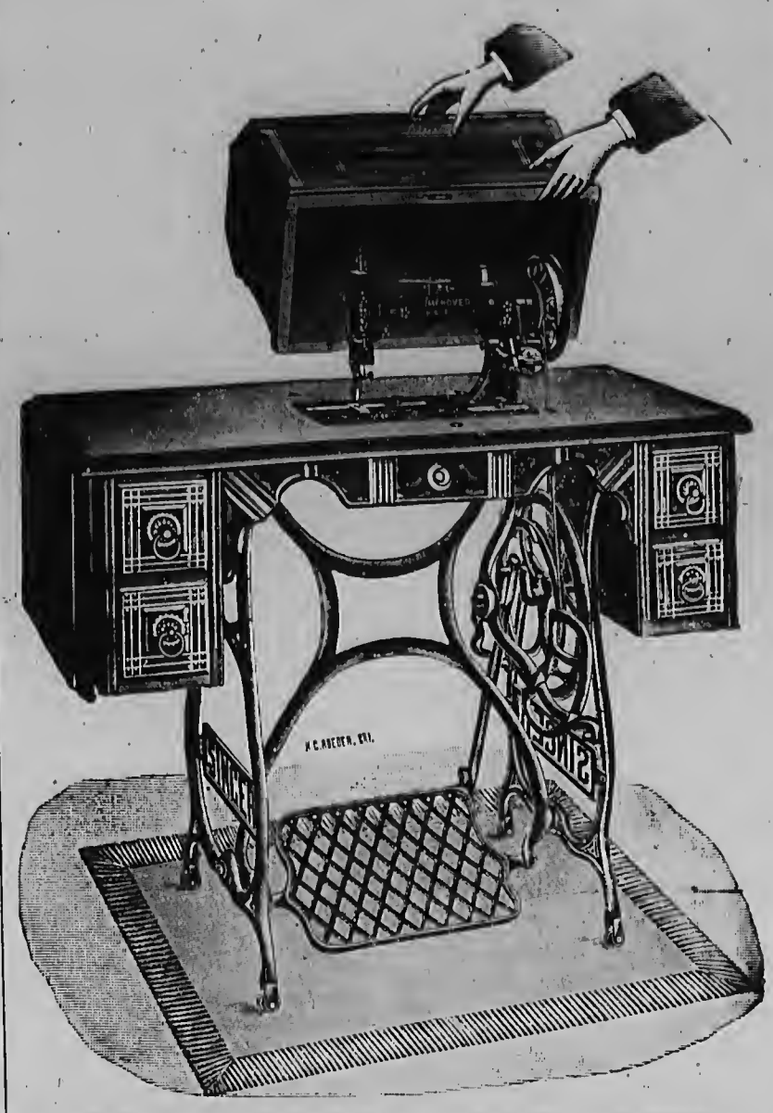
The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.
I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.
Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 822 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES,
Broome, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories. One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington. 67 miles shortest to Birmingham. 90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled Trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

R. M. GARRETT, A. G. P. A., 84 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La. L. HARDY, A. G. P. A., Vicksburg, Miss.
W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

IT IS THE
SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches.	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16 50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, February 14, 1895.

A Pioneer.

[Believing that it will be helpful to our people to know something of the heroism displayed by the pioneers of Methodism in the Southwest, we occupy a considerable portion of our editorial space with the following extract from a booklet entitled, "A Centennial Retrospect", which we had the honor to publish in 1884, while pastor of the church at Natchez.]

1812. The next pastor was one of the most remarkable men of his age—John Johnson. He was born in Louisa county, Va., January 7, 1783. His father died when John was an infant. When he was about grown, his mother moved to the neighborhood of Gallatin, Tenn., and became a tenant of a Mr. Douglass. Douglass owned some slaves, and one of these slaves owned a fragment of a spelling book and knew the alphabet, though he could neither read nor spell. John Johnson became a pupil of this old darkey. After working hard on the farm all day he would go at night to the old negro's cabin to receive instruction. By the firelight he and his sable instructor pored over the dingy, tattered pages until he had mastered the alphabet. He now knew as much as his teacher. This was the only schooling he ever had. He taught himself to read in this way: He procured an old hymn book. In this book there were several hymns that he knew by heart from having heard them sung. He would get some one to show him in the book one of the hymns he knew, and he would tug away at this until he could read it. One hymn after another he read in this way until, at the end of six months, he could read the Bible moderately well. During this time he often sat up until midnight after working hard all day. He also learned to write without a teacher. This difficult task he accomplished in this way: He procured from a friend manuscript copies of two songs—the words of which he had already in his memory. He first learned to read these, and then copied them. By copying them over and over again, perhaps a thousand times, he learned to write a very legible hand. From this time on for several years he read every book he could get his hands on; so that when he was twenty-four years old he was far above the average frontiersman in general information. About this time he was converted and joined the Methodist Church. One year later—1808—he was admitted into the Western Conference as a traveling preacher. The first two years his work was in Ohio. During his second year he rode one day twenty-five miles to meet an appointment at a little rude hut in the woods. The appointment had not been well circulated, and church-going was a new business in that section any way, and so he found an audience of one woman, with a child about two years old. Her faded, threadbare apparel showed that she was poor, while her countenance indicated that her heart was sad. He soliloquised thus: "If my Savior preached to a solitary woman, why should not I?" So he took his text and began. He was a very pathetic preacher, and his sermon on this occasion was of such a character that before he got through (to use his own words) "there was one universal shout all over the congregation." When the services were over he spoke a few words to the woman, and she departed. As she went away he could hear her, every few steps, exclaiming in a subdued tone of voice, "Glory! glory!" A month later he was at the rude little "meeting-house" again and was greatly surprised to find an audience larger than the house could hold. His audience on the previous occasion had spread his fame through all that region. Moreover, he learned that this solitary auditor, at the first appointment, had walked and carried her child ten miles to hear that sermon. Her husband opposed her going and refused to let her have a horse. At the second appointment both she and her husband were present. Moreover, this time she came on horseback, the husband walking. One result of this second service was the conversion of this wicked husband, whose name was Baker. Before the close of the year a flourishing church was organized at that place, and Baker was made a class leader. He remained faithful until death. To this day the church in that locality maintains a vigorous and healthful existence. So much for a sermon to a solitary auditor. The next year—1811—Johnson was preaching on a circuit, lying along the Big Sandy, in what is now West Virginia. During this year he procured a substitute for a short time, and went to a camp meeting in the central part of Virginia. His object in going was to improve himself by hearing the cultivated preachers of that section. Up to this time his work had been altogether in those frontier regions where fashion was at a discount. Accordingly, he had, literally, taken "no thought for raiment." That his apparel would attract any special attention at the camp meeting was a thought that had never entered his head. When he reached the encampment, however, he found himself "the observed of all observers." John the Baptist, with "his raiment of camel's hair and a leathern girdle about his loins," would scarcely have been a greater curiosity. He was almost as dark as an Arab. His coal-black hair was parted in the middle and hung far down upon his shoulders; his shoes were coarse russets, such as negroes wore in ante-bellum days; his coat and pants were made of the very coarsest quality of tow, and, for some reason—why, no one could divine—he wore his pants pinned tight around his ankles. Moreover, his suit was old and very badly weather-stained. He wore a very broad-brimmed white wool hat that had seen four years' service. It was a camp meeting custom in those days to invite every minister present to preach; so the ministers in charge were in a quandary. They did not wish to slight a brother, and yet it would never do, they thought, to put that man to preach to that wealthy, refined, intelligent, aristocratic audience. (These people were, doub less, all F. F. V.'s.) After a consultation they sent a committee to wait upon the backwoods brother, and tell him candidly why they could not invite him to preach. This was perfectly satisfactory to him. He had not come to preach, but to hear. The meeting dragged on to the last day without producing any perceptible effects. When the last day came, and the tent holders were all busy packing up to go home, it was decided to put up Bro. Johnson. It would do no harm now, as there would be scarcely anybody to hear him. When the hour for service arrived there were under the vast shed three men, one woman and four boys. The preachers themselves had retired to a remote tent to wind up some business. He began the service by singing, "Come ye, sinners, poor and needy." He was a fine singer, and had a voice like a trumpet. Moreover, he had just spent an hour in the grove near by in communion with God, and so he commenced the service with his heart throbbing with emotions that added to the natural pathos of his voice. As the rich tones of his voice rang out full and clear upon the morning air, there was a something in them that arrested the attention of the whole encampment, and one after another of those who were least occupied proceeded to the shed. The earnest pleading tones of his opening prayer attracted still others. Before his sermon was half ended all the packing up and wagon loading had ceased, and everybody on the ground—preachers and all—had joined the assembly. The preachers were greatly surprised to find that this frontiersman spoke as good English as themselves. His sermon was one of those appeals that stir up the soul to its profoundest depths. At its close forty penitents came to the altar. When that service had ended the tent holders unpacked their goods, and the meeting lasted two weeks longer and resulted in more than two hundred conversions. This occurred only a few months before his appointment to Natchez. To reach Natchez he had to travel twelve hundred miles on horseback, and during much of the distance he was in danger from savage Indians. Whether he made the acquaintance of the tailor and the barber on the route we are not informed. He reached Natchez about the middle of November, 1811, and at once entered vigorously upon his work. In a letter written to his mother, written a few days after his arrival, he speaks of his circuit as "in bad order." Although there was a membership of about a hundred, with three local preachers and five class leaders, yet he says there was "seldom a prayer meeting or class meeting on the circuit." He speaks of "the people in general" as "very rich, very proud and very polite—exceeding all for compliments," but as having "little humility, little religion and little piety." He also uses the following language: "Here are a few whose trust is in the Lord, and whose treasure is in heaven; who stand like solid rocks against the swelling waves and pelting storms of persecution, temptation and opposition." From another letter—written March 15, 1812—we learn that he had traveled in four months 800 miles, preached forty-seven times and taken between twenty and thirty persons into the church. During this period, besides doing a good deal of general reading, he had "read the Old Testament through once and the New Testament three times, and the book of Revelation four times." He also makes note of the fact that he has "been studying music." We learn also from other sources that he was at this time quite a good Greek and Hebrew scholar. Yet he speaks of himself as "doing very little." Natchez circuit, which consisted of, at least, twelve preaching-places, paid him for his year's labor $74.50. Perhaps he would have been willing to take fewer "compliments" and more cash. This was the year of earthquakes. Alluding to these, one of his letters contains the following language: "Our poor old crazy earth has taken her shaking fits and seems to ring the death-bell of her approaching dissolution. While she bellows and mourns and belches out her fiery floods, shall we not seek a more permanent foundation and build our hopes on the Rock of Ages?" The next year he traveled the Nashville circuit, which then embraced twenty six appointments. Only six years afterwards he was sent to Nashville again, which was then a station for the first time. He remained two years, and the church prospered greatly under his administration. Of course, by this time he had put on the habiliments of civilized life. He became a man of extensive learning, and was regarded as one of the strongest preachers of his day. Even at the time of his pastorate in Natchez he had become a fair Greek and Hebrew scholar. He died at Mount Vernon, Ill., in 1857. His biography—a most readable book—was published a few years since by our Publishing House, at Nashville. I know of no career which better illustrates the truth of the adage, "Where there is a will there is a way." Even Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson had far better facilities for self-culture than did he.

Present-Tense Religion.

Although every Methodist ought to know better, yet it is our honest conviction that a large per cent. of our members content themselves with the grace received at conversion, or at some subsequent time; little, if any, desire being manifested for a fresh baptism of the Holy Spirit. How oft in testimony meetings do we hear Christians dilate upon the fact that at some time in the past God graciously blessed them, every detail connected with their passage from darkness to light, from sin to righteousness, being dwelt upon as if it were of prime importance. No Christian doubts either the propriety or the helpfulness of telling each other about God's dealings with our souls; but when a brother or a sister, time after time, relates without variation the same old experience, we feel like exclaiming, "O for something new!"

For the most part, however, those whose reliance is upon the grace received at regeneration do not have enough religion to cause them to "speak in meeting," or even attend love-feasts and other such meetings. Lukewarm Christians frequently evade the questions put to them by their pastor regarding their spiritual condition by remarking that they have been converted. True enough; but what of it? Many a man who was gloriously converted a few months or a few years ago is far from being a regenerate man now. What does it avail that two or five or ten months ago we were born into the kingdom of God, receiving the assurance of sonship, if now we are living in doubt and sin? What does it avail that once the Spirit was poured out upon us in power, if at present we are not in the enjoyment of religion? It is not enough that a believer should know that at some past time he enjoyed the peace of God. The question of vital importance is: "Do we know that God this moment dwells in us?" "Are we to-day conscious that our hearts are purified by faith?"

What folly it is for any Christian to trust wholly or in part to a past experience. We can no more run the race set before us without continual accessions of heavenly grace than a locomotive can run without having its supply of fuel and water constantly replenished. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall;" for even after a wonderful manifestation of the power of God in us, it is possible to "make shipwreck of the faith." Lofty as was the spiritual attitude Paul had attained when he wrote his Epistle to the Philippians, he thus speaks of himself: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those which are before, I press towards the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." As the poet sings:

"Day by day the manna fell:
O, to learn this lesson well!
Still by constant mercy fed,
Give me, Lord, my daily bread."

Nowhere in God's Word are we told that we shall receive grace enough to-day for the needs of to-morrow. Step by step we must climb the heavenly road, always looking to Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith.

Whitworth College.

With thankful hearts we begin our second half term. God has been with us in the power of the Holy Ghost. Good health on the part of pupils and teachers has enabled us to do good work. We are fairly started out of the valley, and are where we can catch glimpses of the brighter dawning.

Whitworth has a hold on the hearts of the people. Her history is a bright page in Mississippi Methodism. Her daughters adorn the highest walks in life. The very seed-thought of higher education for Southern women on Southern soil was nursed to germination within her walls. To-day she boasts of the present as well as the past. Her faculty stands equal to the best, whether in the North or East. Her accommodations are unsurpassed, and the wise planting of Dr. Johnson is soon to bear a glorious fruitage. Nowhere is there a school more fully consecrated to Christ. Every department is subject to Him, whose we are.

Daily we have inquiries in regard to our scholarships. We mean what we say. Send us a girl from every work in the Mississippi Conference. Her tuition will be free. Her board, books, and incidental expenses need not cost more than $60 from now until commencement.

Our bond scheme is meeting with approval. Our financial horizon is clear.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS,
President.

NOTES.

Something new—ice in New Orleans thick enough to bear the weight of a two-hundred-pound biped.

***

All the buildings of Belhaven College, at Jackson, Miss., were burned on the seventh. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $19,000.

***

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Japan, Mr. T. Myoshi, is a Christian and a deacon in a Congregational Church.

***

The New Orleans pastors have resolved to be their own evangelists during the current year. They will assist each other in revival work as occasion may require.

***

Dr. Laws says: "On the shores of Lake Nyassa, a few years ago the habitation of cruelty, there are now Christian schools with 150 teachers and 7,000 scholars."

***

The American Temperance Union has adopted resolutions censuring Mayor Strong for his recent interview, in which they say he shows subserviency to the wishes of the liquor dealers, and protests against his calling into his counsels such notorious lawbreakers. A committee of fifty-five is to be appointed to wait upon the mayor and present the resolutions.—Ex.

W. J. Ferguson, Jr., is supposed to be one of the coming Bishops. He weighs nine pounds, and lives in the parsonage at Sharon, Miss. He is very much like his father, and is, therefore, good looking.

***

One of the favorite aphorisms of a certain noted evangelist is, "The bit dog howls." As he has been doing some right lively howling lately, the inference is plain; somebody bit him. —Baltimore Advocate.

***

Although New Orleans has the reputation of being a semi-tropical city, she has recently demonstrated her ability to get up a genuine arctic display—icicles, dead tropical foliage, chilblains, frozen noses, etc.

***

The railroad from Joppa to Jerusalem has not proved a success. The Jews have not flocked to Palestine as it was thought by the projectors they would. The Rothschilds have been compelled to take the road to secure their heavy loans.

***

Rev. W. P. Harrison, D. D., died at Columbus, Ga., last week. He was about seventy years old. He was for many years stationed at Nashville as the book editor of the Quarterly Review, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

***

We are indebted to the secretaries of the patronizing Conferences for copies of the Minutes of the last session. The Minutes are gotten up, as usual, in first-class style, and contain information that should be in the hands of all our Methodist people.

***

The pastors' college in connection with Spurgeon's church has sent out 921 persons into the ministry; 93 in the past year. Of this number 100 have died, leaving 737 still actively working, 650 of whom are Baptist ministers, missionaries or evangelists.

***

When we hear some men talking about splitting the church, we are reminded of the old woman in Upper Georgia, who, in her nervousness because her little dog was barking at the passing soldiers, said, "You, Trippe, don't bite the army." Selahi

***

President Cannon, of the First National Bank in New York, in an address at the meeting of the Clearing House Association, said: "No one who drinks or gambles, or whose private life outside the bank is open to suspicion, should be eligible to a position in a bank."

***

There are now nearly 300 young men and women in training in the Moody Institute, Chicago. Every night they work in the missions of the city. The young ladies of the institute spend their afternoons in house-to-house visitation. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman has become vice-president of the institute. —Guardian.

***

The Chicago & Alton railroad has adopted a rule forbidding any conductor, trainman, engineer, fireman, or other employee, while on or off duty, to use intoxicating drink. Anyone violating this rule will be discharged. There are other railroads, we believe, which refuse to employ men addicted to drink.—Exchange.

***

If statistics could be gathered which would show the number of young men who have been ruined by the drink habit formed at college, we are sure they would be appalling. Parents, and college authorities as well, can not throw around the boys too many safeguards to protect them from this insidious enemy.—United Presbyterian.

***

The late Dr. J. O. Peck, when he sent in a list of nearly three hundred subscribers, more than a hundred of whom were new converts, said: "I never feel quite sure of the permanency of additions to the church till I have put The Christian Advocate in the family. And usually I find one of the earliest unmistakable signs of backsliding to be giving up the religious paper."

***

Hon. Charles Gayarre, the distinguished statesman, orator, jurist, historian and novelist, died at his home in this city on the ninth, in the ninety-first year of his age. He was born in this city before the State of Louisiana was in existence. He served the people in both Houses of the State Legislature. He also filled the following public offices: attorney-general, secretary of State, judge and United States senator. He was elected to this last position when only thirty years of age. He executed every trust with such fidelity as to win the plaudits of his constituency. His most enduring fame, however, will be in the role of historian. His "Philip II. of Spain" and his "History of Louisiana," in three portly volumes, stamp him as one of the great historians of the age. He also wrote magazine articles and works of fiction too numerous to mention. In religion he was a devout Catholic.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS at 5c.

EVERY ONE PRIZE WINNERS

THIS Choice Collection of 20 Prize Winning Chrysanthemums we mail for $1 will bloom this Fall. Everybody can grow them. Of the easiest culture. None better. They are world beaters. We guarantee them the best dollar's worth of Chrysanthemums you have ever purchased.—Try them. THE LIST:

Mrs. W. K. Harris, rich golden yellow, incurved, a beauty. Roslyn, clear marmet pink, immense size. Col. Wm. H. Smith, immense solid mass of richest golden bronze. Ruth Cleveland, a most delicate silvery pink, very climate. Christopher Columbus, the finest red Chrysanthemum extant. Emma Hilzenroth, completely hides the plant with bright lemon yellow flowers. Francis M. Ward, immense flower of the purest snow white, ill inches in diameter. Mrs. Dr. Phil. Macon, rich wine red, reverse silvery pink, extra fine. Dr. Cuvert, bright golden yellow, perfectly double, superb. Mrs. Fanny Murchumo, salmon or Indian red, large and showy. Eward Hatch, lemon yellow suffused with pink, grand. Fair Maid of Perth, largest white, sometimes tipped rose, a beauty. W. H. Hallock, rosy pearl of waxy texture, a prize winner anywhere. Tsanka Takaka, beautiful blush striped white, immense spreading flower. Mrs. S. J. Coleman, deep golden yellow, none better. Lillian E. Bird, exquisite shade of shrimp pink, a beauty in every respect. Miss M. McEwen, pure white with deep flush of pink. Sunnyside, flesh tint changing to pure white, distinct. Mrs. C. E. Coleman, deep red, reverse gold tipped with flame color. Peculiarity, rosy crimson, awarded medal of excellence.

We are headquarters for all kinds of Roses, Plants, Seeds and Bulbs. Our large illustrated catalogue mailed for 10 cts. in stamps. We are the largest Rose growers in the world. Address

Good & Reese Co., Box 93 Champion Greenhouses, Springfield, Ohio.

From Rev. L. T. Fitzhugh.

My attention has just been called to the following sentence in the report of the Board of Education of the Mississippi Conference, viz.: "No rent of any kind had been paid by the outgoing president;" and I desire to say that this is a misstatement of facts and is, therefore, misleading. I paid heavy rents in the way of insurance and repairs while I was president of Whitworth College.

L. T. FITZHUGH.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Choice Yellow Clarified Sugar,
30 lbs. for $1.00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Notice.

To the Readers of the ADVOCATE—

Dear Brethren, Sisters and Friends: On the night of Jan. 26, 1895, our church and parsonage at Bolivar, Miss., was destroyed by fire, leaving us destitute of both. Our people are doing all in their power, but find themselves financially unable to rebuild. Money is much needed. Will you not kindly lend us a helping hand in our dire extremity? We want to rebuild the temple of the Lord, and the much-needed home of the dependent Methodist preacher, at once. Send us your donations rapidly, friends, and specify for what purpose donated. Send contributions by registered letter, drafts, etc., direct, to Jas. L. Bowling, Bolivar, Miss. If sent by postoffice money order, make payable on postoffice at Benoit, Miss. Contributions will be acknowledged immediately upon receipt of same. Brethren, this work is important. Let us hear from you. Yours in Christ,

JAS L. BOWLING P. C.,
Bolivar charge, Greenville dist., North Miss. Conf.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Good Light Brown Sugar,
40 lbs. for $1 00.

"Anglo-Saxon Syntax."

My attention has recently been called to a fact that gives me especial pleasure: first, as a Methodist, and, second, as a pastor. A ponderous volume has just appeared in Germany upon the subject of "Anglo-Saxon Syntax." Like most German works, it leaves, I am told, but little for later students to bring to light, and in its composition the author makes heavy drafts upon the labors of others.

To me the interesting point in this connection is that much favorable notice is given to the researches of Dr. J. W. Pearce, of Tulane University, three of his articles being extensively quoted in the pages of the German work. Dr. Pearce has already a national reputation in this sort of work.

I am glad that he is a Methodist, and that he is a trustee of my church. Tulane is most fortunate in securing the services of such a man, and the State should feel honored that Dr. Pearce is a Louisianian.

T. K FAUNT LEROY.

New Orleans, Feb. 9 1895

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
California Table Apricots,
3 lb. can 10 cents.

Notice.

I am no longer on the Sunday-school Board. As the Board made no report of its organization and officers to the Conference—a failure that seems to have been shared alike by all the newly appointed Boards—I am unable to give the applicants for aid the name and address of the new secretary to whom their applications will have to be sent this year.

Will the new Board please announce its officers? And will the other Boards favor us in a like manner?

Yours very truly, H. M. ELLIS.

Port Gibson, Miss., Feb 8, 1895.

Your Lame Back

And the painful torture in joints and muscles is nothing but Rheumatism. Nothing but Rheumatism kills people. Nothing like Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy for speedy relief and quick cure. Accept nothing in its place, for nothing else will do the work. The last month's treatment of two large bottles sent to any address by express on receipt of $5. Dr. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE SHEW BREAD.

(Ex. xxv, 23-30; Heb. ix, 2.)

Shew-bread—the means of seeing God. Partaking thereof opens our spiritual vision. It is hence symbolical of Christ, the Bread of Life.

1. We consider Christ under the emblem of shew-bread.

(1) Bread has been called the staff of life. No meal without bread. No other name given among men whereby we may be saved but that of Christ.

(2) Bread is eaten by rich and poor, high and low. All men are sinners. All have need of the Savior.

(3) Never tire of bread. All other edibles nauseate at times; but not bread. He is the desire of all nations, since he only fills the aching void of the human heart.

(4) Bread is a simple food. No French cook necessary to bake it. The plan of salvation intelligible to all.

2. To derive practical benefit from bread it must be partaken of, must be eaten.

(1) Unless hungry we will turn away from all food, even bread. To the self-righteous and impenitent Christ is superfluous.

(2) Repenting of our sins creates and stimulates appetite. Realize that we are lost without Christ. Yearn for his salvation.

(3) Exercising faith in Christ is tantamount to partaking of him. Feed upon him.

(4) As the bread of life, we need Christ every day. He is our way, our truth, our life.

3. The table on which the shew-bread was placed may symbolize the holy ministry.

(1) The table was made of shittim—very valuable—wood. Ministers of the gospel have gifts as well as graces.

(2) The wood was overlaid with pure gold. True ministers of the gospel have received the unction from the Holy One.

(3) Furnished with four staves for convenient handling. The minister must be a thorough theologian. Able to handle the doctrines of our Christian religion fluently and satisfactorily.

(4) A golden crown decorated the border of the table. Success will crown the endeavors of his servants. They will win souls for Christ.

Bread of Life in abundance. Is the table the holy ministry, in accordance with the divine design? Are you hungry? Have you eaten? Eat.

Rheumatism in the back, shoulders, hips, knees, elbows, or wrists, is caused by accumulation of acid in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid and cures rheumatism.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless and reliable.

Notice.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE CLASS OF 1891.

Rev. Jas. L. Bowling, a member of this class, has lost all his books, clothes, etc., by fire, which consumed church and parsonage at Bolivar, Miss., on night of Jan. 26, last. Let each member of this class send him postoffice order for some amount as soon as possible, and thus help him and his family in this their time of need. (St. Matt. xxv, 35 40)

THOMAS B. CLIFFORD,
A Member of the Class of '91.

Courtland, Miss.

For General Debility

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. R. D. FAIRES New Orleans, La., says: "I have almost universally seen good effects produced by it in diseases of the male organs of generation, general debility and pulmonary diseases."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25. Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates

The World in the Church

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

Religious books and papers in the home reveal not only the religious character, but the general intelligence of the family. The lack of these is not the result of poverty, but of the lack of appreciation of intellectual and spiritual food. "No time to read" is a false plea. Most men waste enough time in the evenings to make themselves scholars if it be well employed. —Arkansas Methodist.

"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are unrivalled for relieving Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat Troubles. Sold only in boxes.

Zion's Herald says: Distant Siam, impressed by the example of Japan, is to try the experiment of parliamentary government. The King, in making this concession, however, is mindful of the fact that his people are prepared neither by homogeneity nor education for unrestricted self-government. There are four or five races under his rule, and a caste system so inflexible as to make any infusion of democratic ideas extremely difficult. He will, therefore, retain the right to nominate the members of Parliament, revise its acts, or abolish the institution at pleasure. The change will be tentive, and yet hopeful.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Kentucky Hog Jowls (Smoked),
Something Choice, 6 cents a pound.

Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House.

We take pleasure in directing the attention of those of our readers who contemplate buying a Piano, Organ, or any other kind of a musical instrument, to the advertisement of Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House, which appears on the last page of this issue of the "ADVOCATE." The success of this house in the New Orleans trade has been very marked indeed since its location in this city about three years ago, and it now enjoys a patronage second to no music house in the city, as its sale of forty-five instruments during last month clearly demonstrate. Of course, such success must have a basis, and that basis is found in the reliability of this house and its reputation for fair dealing, the excellence of the instruments it handles, the low prices and easy terms it offers to the trade, and in the further fact that it neither practices nor permits any misrepresentation in the selling of its instruments.

That Last Glass.

Yes, it was that last glass at the supper which gave me that "heady" feeling, and which PRESTON'S BED-AKE only will remove. It did it quickly, too. Cures late-hour nervousness.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Fancy White Clarified Sugar,
28 lbs. for $1 00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTALS ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, cor. Thalia,
Corn, Tomatoes, or Snap Beans,
2 lb. can 5 cents.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST,

Old No. 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST.,
NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Ashlar, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth.....$8
Partial Sets.....from $3 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns.....from $4 to $10
Gold Filling.....from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Filling, from 75 cents to $1.10
Extracting, Painless.....50 Cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

Dr. George W. Rembert,

DENTIST,

Godchaux Building, New Orleans.

Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

Take elevator on Canal street.

MORPHINE OPIUM & Whisky HABITS Cured at Home. Remedy $5. A cure Guaranteed. Write for Book of Particulars, Testimonials & Reference. TOBACCOLINE the Tobacco Cure, $1. Agents wanted. G. Wilson Chemical Co., [Incorp'ed under Tex. laws.] Dublin, Tex.

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, no salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100 00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL,

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOW'S YOUR FIGURE?

Trim? Straight? Well-Developed? Then don't spoil it with ready-made clothes, cut to fit anybody; wear clothes that fit—that were made for you.

HOW'RE OUR FIGURES?

Suits - - - $13.25
Pants - - - $3.00
Topcoats - - $10.25
(Fine Melton)

Made to measure—to fit you perfectly; superior material, latest styles.

ADD OUR FIGURES TO YOUR FIGURE

And the result will delight you

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS
OVERCOATS AND SUITS Company

313 ST. CHARLES ST.

TEXAS EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

SHORT LINE
—TO—
HOT SPRINGS, NORTH TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA.

TICKET OFFICE - - 629 CANAL.

TIME CARD.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Fort Worth and Cal. Ex.	8:15 A. M.	7:00 P. M.
Denver Express	6 05 P. M.	9.15 A. M.

8:15 A. M. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Fort Worth and connects at Fort Worth with Pullman Sleepers for El Paso, Denver and San Francisco.

6.05 p. m. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Shreveport and Marshall, and connects with Cannon Ball train for Hot Springs. Also through Sleeper to Little Rock, via Alexandria.

Take Jackson street cars for Gretna.

Trains leave Gretna 8:49 a. m. and 6:10 p. m.

For tickets and other information call on or address

A. S. GRAHAM, Passenger and Ticket Agt.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice-President and General Manager.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years, - $84,520,680
N. Y. Life, " " " " " - 40,684,168
Equitable, " " " " " - 40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.

Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.

P. O. Box 818. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE OXFORD BIBLE A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in a small compass, adapted for all classes.

First American TYPE-SET Edition

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessity of a number of books, while it will concentrate the mind of the student on his work. MINION, 12mo Size, 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 inches.

From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word and page for page, a fac simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.

THIS is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, made from new type set plates and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper. The binding is the desirable Divinity Circuit, style from the best American Leather, with leather lining inside, round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.

The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising nearly 200 pages, are, at all thorough Bible students well know, the result of years of careful labor and research by the most eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day, who have brought them to that point of perfection where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and convenient explanatory Cyclopedia of Biblical Information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Jacob unwillingly sendeth Benjamin. 16 Joseph entertaineth his brethren. 29 His great mercy toward them.

Before CHRIST 1707.

AND the famine was sore in the land.

2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

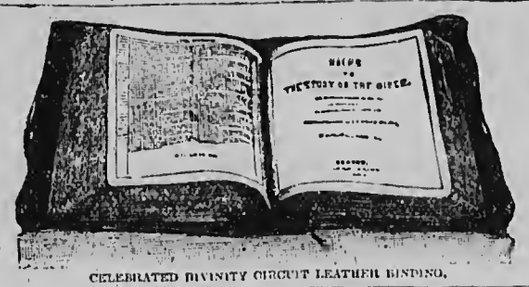
3 And Judah spake unto him, saying,

Before CHRIST 1707.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house:



CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEATHER BINDING.

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS, Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with context, over 40,000 references. Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 10,000 references. Scripture Atlas, with Index. Glossary of Bible Words. Bible Calendar. Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and pronunciation. Summary and Analysis of the Old and New Testament.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.

A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

1 The Title of the Bible.
2 The Canon of Scripture.
3 Versions of the Scriptures.
4 Genuineness and Integrity of the Old Testament.
5 Summary of the Books of the Old Testament.
6 Summary of the Book of the Apocrypha.
7 Chronology of the Old Testament.
8 Genealogy from Adam to Jacob.
9 Itinerary of the Journeyings of the Israelites to their settlement in Canaan.
10 Miracles of the Old Testament.
11 Parables of the Old Testament.
12 Special prayers in the Old Testament.
13 Brief Historical Summary of the Interval between the Old and New Testaments.
14 Genuineness and Integrity of the New Testament.
15 Summary of the Books of the New Testament.
16 Harmony of the Gospels.
17 Our Lord's Miracles.
18 Our Lord's Parables.
19 Names, Titles and Offices of Christ.
20 Prophecies relating to Christ.
21 Recorded Appearances of Christ after His Resurrection.
22 Family of the Herods.
23 Chronology of the Acts and Epistles.
24 Paul's Missionary Journeys.
25 Paul's Voyage to Rome.
26 Special Prayers in the New Testament.
27 Passages from the Old Testament quoted in the New Testament.
28 References in the Old Testament not being exact quotations.
29 References in the New Testament to Incidents recorded in the Old Testament.

BIBLE LANDS.

(Their Inhabitants, Conformation, Principal Characteristics, etc.)

30 Ethnology of the Jews and their Neighbors.
31 Jewish Sects and Parties.
32 The Jewish Year.
33 Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
34 Mountains of the Bible.
35 Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
36 Minerals of the Bible.
37 Birds found in Palestine.
38 Reptiles of the Bible.
39 Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
40 Insects of the Bible.
41 Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
42 Geology of the Bible.
43 Precious Stones of the Bible.
44 Musical and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
45 Weights and Measures.
46 A Glossary of Antiquities, Customs, etc.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, Obsolete and Ambiguous.
Subject Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Dictionary of Scripture Proper Names, with their pronunciations and meanings.
Index to Scripture Atlas.
Scripture Atlas.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $1.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still, any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each.

Better still: For the benefit of those who desire a genuine Oxford Bible at a still lower rate we have made arrangements with one of the leading Bible publishers in America whereby we can offer a beautiful Oxford Bible, four by five and a half inches, pearl type, French Seal, divinity circuit, round corners, as a premium for only two new subscribers. In order to get the benefit of this offer one must be himself a subscriber and must have paid his subscription to June, '96. We will send this Book, postpaid, to any address on receipt of $1 62.

We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address Rev. W. C. BLACK.
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS

"A" Grade, $45. Write to-day.

and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $65. Write to-day.

Wrong chimney, bad lamp—no matter what lamp you have. You want the "Index to Chimneys"—free.

Write Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa. maker of "pearl glass" and pearl top."

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO. 26-28 N. William St. New York.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP. PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

GREAT CHANCE FOR BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

Our Journey Around THE World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. 76th thousand in press. One agent has sold 676 copies; another, a lady 881; another, 850—all are making money. 8000 more trusty agents wanted—men and women. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight. Give Credit. Premium Copies. Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home with out pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

Leave

Doubtful Seeds alone. The best are easy to get, and cost no more. Ask your dealer for

FERRY'S SEEDS

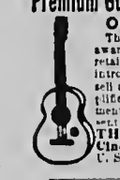
Always the best. Known everywhere. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells you what, how, and when to plant. Sent Free. Get it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

CONSUMPTION

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for this disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. So certain am I of its power that I feel it my religious duty to send two bottles free to any having lung troubles or consumption if they will send me their express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M.C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.



These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D., with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. (largest) Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS In the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN). Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

AGENTS MAKE $5 a Day Greatest Kitchen Utensil invented. Retails 25 cts. 2 to 6 sold in a house. Sample postage paid FREE. FORSHEE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS OF MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

518 and 520 CAMP ST.

Telephone 189.

HOME CIRCLE.

"LET ME KISS HIM, FOR HIS MOTHER."

BY MRS. L. B. BALDWIN.

"Let me kiss him, for his mother!"
Broke the silence of the crowd,
Who were standing round the coffin
Of a stranger in his shroud.

"Let me kiss him, for his mother!"
Not another word she said;
But her eyes were moist with pity
As she looked upon the dead.

And her heart was throbbing wildly
With a sympathising woe,
For the poor bereaved mother
Who had kissed him long ago.

Then with gentle, trembling fingers,
Folded back the dark brown hair
From the pale and pulseless forehead
Of the stranger sleeping there;

Softly kissed his brow of marble,
Kissed his cold, cold lips of clay,
And, while all around were weeping,
Slowly, sadly turned away.

'Twas a mother's heart that bade her
Shed the sympathetic tear;
'Twas a mother's heart that drew her
To the lonely stranger's bier.

Blessings on thee, gentle lady!
Love's embodiment thou art;
Many love who never saw thee—
Love thee for thy woman's heart.

Hold to the Light.

It was in 1755 that Voltaire looked on one hundred years, and wrote that when that time was reached the Bible would be an obsolete book. Just as you might go to any of our great publishing houses to-day, and, inquiring for Daboll's Arithmetic, or Lindley Murray's Grammar, or the old English reader, would be told they are out of print; so Voltaire prophesied that in the nineteenth century the types of the Bible would be scattered, and no printing presses would be throwing off the stories of creation and redemption.

But how is it? We this hour are living in the very time prophesied, and what do we see? Shall I tell you? We see the Bible loved as never before, and read as never before, and printed as never before. You can not go into a book-store the land through without finding it for sale, and you can scarcely go into a home the land through without seeing it on table or mantle. Instead of being driven out, it has been driven in; into all lands, into all languages, into all nations the world round. Not less than one hundred and fifteen million copies have been scattered by just two societies during this very century that was to see its extirpation; and with years of the century still left for the presses to revolve, more than two hundred million copies will be thrown out over the earth. Does that look like obsoleteness? Bring on your Shakespeares and Tennysons and Macaulays and Irvings, piling them up, and then with this one volume of God's Word I will make a pyramid like that of Egypt, overtopping them all.

Why, do you not know that in that very room near Geneva, where Voltaire wrote this prophecy, a cargo of Bibles not long ago was packed from floor to ceiling? I wish I might have looked into the door and seen the sight. The Book so hated stalking into the very room where he sat, and then going out into the villages of valley and crag to bless all Switzerland.

Oh, young man, are you not ashamed to let the low slurs of infidelity lessen your respect for God's Word in the least? Some of you are thinking of buying the "Age of Reason," to see what Paine really did say about the Bible. My advice is that you do no such thing. I have no desire to curb investigation: but what is the need of swallowing belladonna to know that it will kill you, or handling coals to know they will burn you, or thrusting your hand into a pitch-barrel to know it will blacken you? Better not do it. If you really want to know about the Bible, there is a better way. In all our libraries there are authors who treat the subject truthfully and calmly, and learnedly, and above all who have lives back of their writings that you can look upon without holding both hands before your face to hide the blushes. Read them if you want to know about the Bible, but do not take into your hand a book that calls your mother a fool, and your father an imbecile, and hisses contempt upon every holy influence that makes your Christian home the blessed place it is. Understand that everybody is not throwing away this Book because an infidel, born a hundred years ago, threw it away, or an infidel of to-day is doing the same. It is always the case that one man doing an unnatural thing will make a greater stir than a thousand men doing things natural.

A few years ago, in Mammoth Cave, a man going through would not take a lantern, wandered from the guide, and when found three days after was stark mad in the awful gloom. Every tourist going through since has had recounted to him the story of this man. The guide told it to me, and, coming to the place, pointed out the spot behind the rocks where they found him crouching in his wildness. But that did not do away with lanterns in Mammoth Cave. Going there to-day, you will be given one, and, hearing this story, closer will you follow the guide and tighter will you clutch the light because of it. And so to-day, because a man in our midst has created a slight stir by doing the unnatural thing of openly refusing the Bible, do not think that everybody is refusing it. No, no; our world is too dark a place for that, and, hearing the story so strange, I believe that thinking men everywhere will hold tighter that light which is a lamp to the feet and a light to the path ever.

But I find one more source of encouragement in the love that men everywhere are showing for the church. I can not understand that if the church to-day is as bad as we are told, why every pure man and woman and child in the world does not turn against it. Mr. Ingersoll declares that these different Christian congregations assembled for worship on the Sabbath throughout our land are the very worst gatherings under the wheeling sun. He brands them as ignorant and superstitious and damnable, with creeds so pestilential that they have "filled all countries with want, housed the people in hovels, fed them with famine, and, but for the efforts of a few brave infidels, would have taken the whole world back to the midnight of barbarism."

Well, that is pretty hard company to be associated with, and yet such are our surroundings if we have anything to do with these churches. It seems to make no difference what denomination one chooses. Whether sitting in Baptist pew, or bowing at Methodist altar, or reciting Episcopal liturgy, or listening to Presbyterian sermon, it is all the same. Everyone is thoroughly bad, and there is no way to have your garments white but to keep away from them.

Now, I make bold to say that all such talk is unmitigated nonsense. It is simply the froth and babbling of a fool for one to make the sweeping charge that the Christian Church of to-day is a blight on this fair land, or any land where it gains a foothold. Why, who are the persons found within the walls of these different churches and giving them their loyalty? For the most part, they are persons of intelligence and culture and piety. They are men and women loving truth, hating deceit, capable of balancing evidence; and for one to hurl billingsgate at them by the hour, is nothing more than the owl in the swamp hooting at the rising sun. But, thank God! no hooting owl ever yet kept the sun from coming up, and no blatant infidel of this century, or any century, has kept the church from flooding the world with a more than meridian glory. No, no. Her course is right onward and upward, "fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners."

And love the church men do. Around her cluster the very tenderest associations; under her arches the bride plights her troth; on her biers the dead one carried out for burial; at her altars the penitent bows in prayer, and through her doors the Lord of glory comes, saying, "Peace be within these walls."

I care not what the building. It may be clap-boarded and weather-beaten at the country cross-roads, and granite lifted and pillar-carved along city avenue; it is all the same. The dearest spot on earth, men love her, and to wrench away that love never can be done so long as God lives and heaven is promised and the soul reaches out in longings immortal.

Oh, friend, do not fear. This attack of to-day is no new experience. All down the centuries it has been a battle, "four kings with fire." Nebuchadnezzar pushed her into the furnance, and Darius dropped her among lions, and Lord Claverhouse rushed upon her with swords, and Thomas Paine jeered at her with curses; but what of it all? She lives, and more grandly and triumphantly than ever before. I do not know that a single bell in her steeples has lost its ringing, or a single cup on her communion table has been robbed of its wine; or a single font filled for baptism has been broken beside her altars. She has come through all these assaults unbroken, and against the ridicule of this hour shall she stand, for "God is in the midst of her, and she shall not be moved."—Selected.

Plain and Healthful Living.

The number of human lives sacrified annually to costly and fashionable living is beyond computation, and hence the thoughtful observer will be gratified to note in the Golden Rule some timely words on the subject of simple living. It says: "It almost seems that it should be made a crime to propose a new society, and yet a recent English writer suggests a novel organization that is to be heartily approved. She urges a Guild of Simple Living. Bravo! Let us all join it. Half of the things we buy our fathers got along just as well without. We are frittering away our lives on things, while thoughts get the go-by. We are bond-slaves to conveniences and serfs to luxuries. We spend so much time and energy getting the material aids to enjoyment falsely thought necessary that we leave neither time nor strength for the enjoyment itself. If we had fewer things to play with, we could play more—provided we have not forgotten how to play. If we had less in our homes, we could have more in our heads. If we shortened the list of our 'necessaries,' we should lengthen our lives. It occurs to us, however, that there is no need of establishing a new society. Remembering the life of our Lord and of his disciples, and recalling the precepts of his Sermon on the Mount, we are almost sure that—strange as it may sound—every church of Christ should be a 'Guild of Simple Living.'"

Quarantine Your House.

You must quarantine against immoral literature. This is a deadly poison. It comes in various and attractive disguises. Exclude it as you would the germs of pestilence. To effectually protect your homes from its baleful influence, supply them with healthy literature. It is as easy to cultivate a good as a depraved literary taste in children. They will read something, and what they read will exert an important influence in their character. Let your most earnest effort be exerted to keep out of the house the sensational novel, the blood-curdling tales of vice, the obscene pictures, the whole flood of wicked, degraded, crime-producing literature that threatens us. Put in reach of your families good papers, magazines and books. Bait them with a chaste story and keep them supplied with wholesome knowledge. A bad book may prepare your son for the cell of a felon. A novel may vitiate the whole life of your daughter.—Selected.

Though you press the matter ever so much, not a drop shall pass my lips. I made a resolve when I started in life I would avoid strong drink. That vow I have never broken. I am one of a class of seventeen young men who graduated together. The other sixteen members of my class now fill drunkard's graves, and all from the pernicious habit of wine drinking. I owe all my health, my happiness and my prosperity to that resolution. Would you urge me to break it now?—Benjamin Harrison.

Your preacher has served you faithfully for a year, visiting the sick, comforting the sorrowful, burying the dead, preaching the glad tidings of salvation. Your children have been led to Christ by his ministry. And you have by no token given him an evidence that his work is appreciated. You have been derelict. You ought to be ashamed.—Ex.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

Sleeping before Eating.

"Many persons," says Dr. W. T. Cathell, "though not actually sick, keep below par in strength and tone, and I am of the opinion that fasting in the long interval between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness, and general weakness we so often meet. Physiology teaches that in the body there is a perpetual disintegration of tissue, sleeping or waking. It is, therefore, logical to believe that the supply of nourishment should be somewhat continuous, especially for these who are below par, if we would counteract their emaciation and lower degree of vitality; and as bodily exercise is suspended during sleep, with wear and tear correspondingly diminished, while digestion, assimilation, and nutritive activity continue as usual, the food furnished during this period adds more than is destroyed, and increased weight and improved general vigor is the result."—Maryland Medical Journal.

A Lesson from the Last Century.

Robert Owen was a social reformer of the last century, although he lived into this one and left a name and a fame which will never die. He was a great manufacturer and acquired an enormous fortune which was spent in trying to elevate labor. His treatment of those in his employ was different from that received from every employer. He said, "I early noticed that there was great attention made to dead machinery and the neglect of living machinery." To remedy this he treated those he employed as well as he did his machinery in his factories, and he was always as proud to show his work people as his work shops. He instituted well-filled rooms for cooking, halls for classes of instruction, teachers, lecture halls with the best scientific means of instruction the continent afforded. The poorest and most hopeless person under such conditions often became moral, intelligent and even happy. Never before had England seen such splendid arrangements for the social education and recreation of workmen, women and children. He doubled their means, and no law was needed to secure temperance and good social order. Owen's methods might be tried on a still greater scale in this century if we had as great and good men as he to put them in force.

There is a prevalent belief among the masses of the people that alcohol is good to keep the cold out. That idea has held the ground despite important testimonies to the contrary. But it must be greatly discredited by the determination of that celebrated explorer, Dr. Nansen, not to take with him any alcohol whatever in his hazardous undertaking except some spirits for fuel purposes. What used to be considered indispensable by Arctic explorers, Dr. Nansen considers to have been quite a mistake. Instead of sustaining the body against cold, alcohol subjects it to greater.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

CUSTARD SOUFFLE:—Rub two scant tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream, add two scant tablespoonfuls of flour. Pour over this gradually one cup hot milk and cook eight minutes in a double boiler, stirring often. Beat the yolks of four eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, stir into the milk and set away to cool. Half an hour or so before serving beat the whites of four eggs stiff and add to mixture lightly. Bake in a buttered pudding dish in a moderate oven thirty-six minutes. Serve at once.—New York Ledger.

For molasses fruit cake, dissolve one teaspoonful of soda in a little warm water and add to it one-half cup of black molasses. Beat one egg light without separating, and add one-half of a cup of brown sugar and beat until light. Add two spoonfuls of melted butter, the molasses and one-half cup of sour milk, or milk in which has been dissolved two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, to the sugar. Mix well; add two and one half cups of flour, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one cup of seeded raisins chopped and floured with a portion of the flour measured. Beat well until smooth, pour into greased pans and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.—Picayune.

Sudden Fainting Spells, Epileptic Convulsions, or Fits, and all nervous diseases, as Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Epilepsy, or Fits, St. Vitus's Dance, Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Neuralgia, Melancholia, Threatened Insanity, and Kindred Ailments, are treated as a specialty, with great success, by the Staff of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Many are cured at a distance without personal consultation—the necessary medicines being sent by mail or express. Question blanks sent on application.

For Pamphlet, References, and Particulars, enclose 10 cents in stamps for postage.

Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers labelled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES,

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches.

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas, DENVER, Colorado, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California, and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avoudale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY, THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avoudale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

OBITUARIES.

(Continued from Third Page.)

TAYLOR—Capt. SWEPSON T. TAYLOR was born in Harris county, Ga., April 10, 1836, and died at his home in Enterprise, Miss., on Nov. 8, 1894. When quite a child he moved with his father, Col. Swepson Taylor, to North Mississippi, where he resided until 1858, when he moved to Washington county, Ala. It was during his residence there when our fair land was darkened by clouds of war and the nation was summoned to arms. In answer to his country's call he enlisted in the Thirty-second Alabama Regiment, which was later consolidated with the Fifty-eighth. When peace was declared he returned to his home made desolate and penniless by the devastations of war. Soon after his return he moved to Waynesboro, Miss., where he lived for a number of years and conducted a successful mercantile business.

In 1887, feeling need of rest, he retired from business and moved to Greensboro, Ala., for the purpose of educating his boys. Here his health began to decline more rapidly, and, in search of a more healthful residence, he removed to Birmingham, Ala. But there, failing to find that for which he sought, hope led him back to the State of his adoption, in whose kind bosom he now sleeps.

On Dec. 2, 1858, he was married to Miss Susan S. Turner—a happy union—a faithful and devoted wife. In early manhood God won his heart, and guided his life for more than forty years.

Thus I have briefly and imperfectly traced the outline of a noble character. Had I the space and genius for the filling in of this rough sketch, its completion would present an eventful life, enriched and radiant with love and kindness, and crowned with the blessings of both God and man. Upon the sure foundation laid by Christ he built life's structure, strong and high. Unshaken by shock or storm, it stands a glorious triumph of faith and inspiration to his friends. He was a man of great energy and massive will. He has moved coward in temperance reform, when his life was threatened and his business in jeopardy. Only convince him of the right, and he was as courageous as a Luther or as undaunted as a Knox. He was not quick to decide when duty was involved; only after long and prayerful thought were conclusions reached—then he was inflexible. Such strong forces of will, obedient to divine volition, could not have built other than a strong, heroic character. Vacillation he despised; consistency he prized. Intoxication he abhorred; plainness was his rule. In business he was successful; yet never did he become so engrossed in financial plans as to forget his high and holy duty to God. Of his substance he gave cheerfully and systematically, always setting aside one tenth for the Lord. In conforming to this rule he was scrupulously exact. He organized a merchants' association, which demanded as a condition of membership the consecration of one-tenth.

To the poor he was an unfailing friend; to the needy, a ready helper; to the troubled, a sympathetic counselor. Especially was he a true and helping friend to the old battle-scarred veterans of the cross who, unable to continue the fight longer, had to pass to the superannuated list. He loved to do good with his money. To his church he was always true, both in private and official relations. He was a steward for more than thirty years.

It was in the bosom of his devoted family where the tenderness, love and sympathy of his noble nature found its fullest and sweetest expression.

The holy fires kindled upon the family altar were never extinguished. In the family worship all took part. The consequence is, all his sons will lead the public prayers. In his home he was firm, yet gentle; he demanded obedience, and won it through love. I never saw a more devoted and affectionate family.

As a soldier, citizen, and member of the church the virtues of an exalted, noble manhood were conspicuous. Amid all the temptations, troubles and cares of his life his light, undimmed, flashed out like a beacon blaze. In private and public his life was pure; not one dishonest blot mars the pages of his life's record. In defense of the truth he was a mighty champion, and no one dared to rashly meet him upon those high fields of battle. He loved the truth; no matter where it led he boldly followed. Whatever he undertook received the full contribution of his mind and heart. He did not know what it was to fail when he stood, as he thought, upon the side of right.

For thirty years he fought a heroic battle against disease. Patiently, submissively, yet hopefully, he battled, till, weak, tired and emaciated, his will could no longer resist, and he peacefully fell on sleep. During all these years his devoted wife, self-sacrificing, stood by his side to nurse, sooth and inspire. There she remained until his spirit was gone. Such untiring and persistent devotion you scarcely witness. A babe never fell more gently asleep upon a mother's breast than he when he died. He sweetly breathed his life away. As he lived he died—among the immortal victories of a triumphant faith. Perfectly resigned, he pillowed his head on Jesus and slept, while his victorious, blood-bought spirit swept up to the gates to greet in everlasting reunion loved ones gone before. To the very last he was conscious. His last exhortation was to his family to join him on the fields of eternal glory.

This ended one of the purest, best characters I have ever known. To his country he has left a noble example, to his church the influence of a beautiful Christian life, and to his family he has left a heritage of an exalted and unstained name. Nobly he lived, heroically he fought, victoriously he died. Peace to his sleeping dust and blessings multiplied upon the fragrant memory left behind.

His wife and nine children survive him, who deeply mourn his irreparable loss. To these we extend our tenderest sympathies, and scatter upon them our prayers. P.

CATCHING—Mrs. MARY LUCRATIA CATCHING, wife of Franklin B. Catching, and daughter of Capt. Archie and Mrs. M. J. Steele, was born in Copiah county, Miss., Jan. 27, 1850, and died at Georgetown, Miss., Nov. 5, 1894.

Sister Catching was reared by a deeply pious father and mother, who spared neither time nor labor to impress on the mind of their daughter the vital importance of earnest piety and early consecration to God and his church, and, as a consequence, at the age of twelve years she gave her heart to God, and was received into the church at Crystal Springs.

She was united in holy wedlock to Mr. Franklin B. Catching, Nov. 25, 1875, whose home was gladdened by the advent of some beautiful, interesting children, and who feels this sad dispensation as none others can.

Her conversion was bright and satisfactory, and from that time until her death she remained steadfast and unmovable in the service of God, with a steady piety permeating every fiber of her Christian life. That charity which suffereth long, and is kind, was the crowning element in her Christian character, regulating her conduct toward God and all mankind, and especially to the poor, who, as beneficiaries, never failed to realize the weight of her benevolent hand. In her domestic relations she was scrupulously tidy in all things pertaining to her household duties. As a neighbor, she was kind, affable, and generous, holding in the most sacred regard the character and reputation of others. If her feelings were wounded by anyone, no bitterness of soul or expression of thought ever betrayed her into a sentiment derogating to any human soul, but an even tenor of spirit and a gentleness of utterance marked and stressed her conduct toward all classes. The writer of this tribute was her pastor for one year, and never heard her utter a sentiment that could have been construed into an unkindness, or that would have been offensive to the most delicately educated conscience. She was, indeed, an Israelite in whom was no guile. As an exemplary Christian, she had few equals and no superiors, and her sun at the noon of life went down in a halo of glory, shedding its heavenly beams upon the heart of her sorrowing companion, whose heart is all bleeding and torn.

But, alas! Sister Catching has been assigned to the house appointed for all living. Her amiable deportment, kind words and gentle ministries will live and echo in the memory of the friends and early companions who were once associated with this truly pious and devout woman of God. The ear of our dear friend is deaf to our calls, but her beautiful Christian character sheds its fragrance upon the pathway of loved ones, while she is garnering the good seed sown in the city of our God, where the leaves do not fade upon the tree of life; where the waters of that stream that maketh glad the city of God are never frozen; where no frosts or chilling winds can touch or wither the undying fruits in the garden of the Man of sorrows.

It is well for our sister. Her day dawns in heaven; her short pilgrimage is over. Rest for the weary feet that will tread no longer life's dusty highway; peace to the folded hands that have dropped all life's burdens; joy to the weary eyes that will never open again on a world of sorrow and of sin, but behold instead the glory of the New Jerusalem, and the ineffable love and tenderness which shines in the face of him who said: "Blessed is the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." Among her last words were: "All is bright; all is joyous."

Weep not, my dear brother; your life's loved companion has only gone before. An elapse of a few years will assume a reunion in heaven. "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life," said the Master.

W. W. HURST.

Raleigh, Miss.

BEASLY—Died at the residence of Mrs. Kyle, in Sunflower county, Miss., Dec. 31, 1894, Mrs. LULA DOUGHTY BEASLY. She was born in East Feliciana parish, La., Aug. 17, 1865; was married to Dr. E. M. Beasly, March, 1891.

As the old year took its departure loving hearts were feeling and hands were working with and for our departed sister. She was naturally of a cheerful disposition, cultivating the bright side of life, ever endeavoring to make all around her happy. She possessed a high degree of independence, impressing her individuality on all alike. She possessed also those noble traits of character that naturally attract and draw people. As a daughter, she was obedient, affectionate, and attentive; as a sister, she was unselfish, forbearing, and devoted; as a wife, she was thoughtful, loving, trusting, and gentle; as a friend, she was true and just. She was ever ready to contribute to the relief of suffering humanity.

Her death was of intense severity. While alone, her clothing caught fire, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. Her husband and others ran to her relief, but it was too late. The fire had done its work. In her intense suffering she exclaimed, "It is far better to be with God than to suffer on this earthly clod." The only objection she had to dying was that she hated to leave her young husband and aged parents. She leaves four brothers, a sister, and a host of friends to mourn her death. May the God of all mercy comfort them in their sore bereavement!

J. J. BROOKS.

Clinton, La., papers please copy.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY. }

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

SEAL A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

There is no use in talking any higher than we live.

For over fifty years Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has cured coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, throat and lung affections. It is the regular prescription of a physician of extensive practice, who, after prescribing it for twenty years, was induced by the gratifying results to make it a proprietary medicine. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar soon became known as the best remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Why? Because it has merit and will cure. A. C. Hallbinger, Philadelphia, says: "I know a man suffering with his lungs who was in the hospital a year without benefit. I induced him to take Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and to-day he is well. I know it saved his life." Try it.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Award.

It doesn't make much odds any whither to call it a mistake.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

There is no spiritual life where there is no love.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample. JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

Coughs and Colds,

Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, General Debility and all forms of Emaciation are speedily cured by

Scott's Emulsion

Consumptives always find great relief by taking it, and consumption is often cured. No other nourishment restores strength so quickly and effectively.

Weak Babies and Thin Children are made strong and robust by Scott's Emulsion when other forms of food seem to do them no good whatever.

The only genuine Scott's Emulsion is put up in salmon-colored wrapper. Refuse cheap substitutes!

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . . and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail.— 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

oul feb8

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAV S. WESTFELDT, Chairman, L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, U. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscriber between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96.

W. C. BLACK.

A NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK.

Touching Incidents

—AND—

Remarkable Answers to Prayer,

AS RELATED BY

John Wesley,	Bishop Bowman,	S. A. Keen,	Chas. G. Finney,
Bishop Simpson,	John Knox,	A. B. Earle,	T. DeWitt Talmage,
John B. Gough,	Martin Luther,	B. Fay Mills,	Frances E. Willard,
Edward Payson,	C. H. Spurgeon,	D. L. Moody,	George Muller,
James Caughey,	Wm. Carvosso,	Geo. Fox,	James H. Potts,

And Many Others.

Read a few of the good things said of it.

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal: "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Cumberland Presbyterian: "Is indeed full of touching incidents calculated to quicken the faith of all who read it."

Pres. Franklin College, New Athens, O.: "This is one of the best and most interesting books we have ever seen."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the desponding Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearers to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

The book contains 320 pages, and when open measures 8¼ by 12½ inches, and is beautifully bound in full cloth.

It is written in clear, simple, forcible language, yet it presents rich variety. It is equally adapted to the learned and unlettered. All classes of readers can understand it and all be helped by it.

Young and old, saved and unsaved, all read it with delight. Leaders of the various Christian denominations commend it highly.

OUR OFFER.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

YOURS FOR A GOOD HARVEST

If you plant Gregory's Seeds. These Seeds, famed through many years, have turned the tide of success toward a great many sowers. Perhaps they are all that you lack. The whole story about

GREGORY'S SEEDS

Is told in Gregory's Catalogue for 1895—a book that in its . . . the problems of planting, sets you right where a . . . the best farming knowledge right up to . . . Ask for it.

J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers, Marblehead, Mass.

A Magnificent Premium Offer.

The Smith-Peloubet Dictionary of the Bible.

One of the Very Best Works of Its Class in Existence.

Read the Following Press Notices.

From The Christian at Work.

There is nothing of its kind equal to it. In many respects the abridgment is preferable to the original work, for its information is more readily available. The abridgment has been entirely in the direction of matter not specially helpful to teachers, while some subjects have been rearranged to make them clearer, and in some instances fuller and more definite information has been added. For dates at which persons lived, or when events took place, have been inserted, not because absolute reliance can be placed upon their accuracy, but in order to show the relative positions of each, and hence to give a clearer idea of the history and progress of events. The revision and editing by Rev. F. N. and M. A. Peloubet has been most painstakingly performed. Possibly there are teachers who can do without this dictionary, but even they would find themselves all the better equipped for their work with this invaluable aid in hand.

From the Evangelical Churchman, Toronto, Canada.

We give a hearty welcome to this volume, which we cordially recommend to Sunday school teachers and Bible students. It contains in a compact form the most essential and helpful portions of the great Bible Dictionary of Dr. William Smith. Very substantial additions have been made, especially in the embodiment of the results of the recent Explorations in Palestine and the East. The freshest and most reliable information is here given. Those who require a cheap, compact and portable dictionary will find here just what they require.

From The Standard, Chicago.

We have the traits of the . . . research . . . and . . . vision . . . pages, . . . maps of the best . . . are . . . ground . . . a word . . . in the Bible . . . The . . . are very . . . and . . . of this . . . and . . . "Apocrypha" . . . added. . . . could be asked for.

The book has over eight hundred pages, with eight colored maps and 110 illustrations. Price: Cloth, $2; Sheep, $3; Half Morocco, $3 50. We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of price. Subscribers to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, however, belong to a privileged class, who can . . . better terms.

OUR OFFER.

Any person who is a subscriber to the ADVOCATE, and who will pay his subscription to June, '96, can have the work, cloth-bound, sent to him, postpaid, for $1 35, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, and send us two new subscriber at the regular rate—$2 per annum—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. This offer may last but a little while; therefore, don't delay. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

When the hair has fallen out, leaving the head bald, if the scalp is not shiny, there is a chance of regaining the hair by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

There is a prospect that three battleships and twelve torpedo boats will be added to the United States Navy.

The cold snap last week caused great suffering in many places. In the South the weather has moderated, but in the East and West it is still very cold.

Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi, is the only member of the Committee on Claims who is opposed to payment of the partly due sugar bounty in any shape whatever.

A Pythian sanitarium is to be erected in Hot Springs, Ark., by the Knights of Pythias, costing $500,000. Every Knight in the United States will be assessed one dollar, which will go towards its construction.

The cold wave spent itself in this city, on Friday, when it reached the sixteen notch. As the mercury fell the wind died out, and the absence of the northwest gale which raged Thursday make walking in the streets a little more comfortable.

To recoup the losses of the orange crop in Florida many orange planters planted many vegetables. These had started in a vigorous growth and were developed to exactly the point where they could be most damaged by severe cold. Then came the second freeze. It appears now that the vegetable crop of Florida is an entire loss.

The next move of the Western members who desire the government to take possession of the bond-aided Pacific railroads for oetanis in payment of their obligations, will be to try to prevent them from disposing of their granted lands until their financial relations with the government will have been settled.

Congress has declined to pass the President's financial bill by voting against placing it upon a third reading. The bill is thus defeated and forces the administration into raising revenues by means other than a popular loan. This measure was the one framed with the idea of adding to the public debt as a means of carrying on the government and meeting its current debts.

FOREIGN.

Throughout Germany during the past week the cold has been intense, and in several places the thermometers have registered 20 degrees below zero.

Ex Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii has been accused of treason, and will stand trial before a court-martial instituted by the provisional government. Six leaders of the rebellion have been sentenced to death.

Preparations for the celebration of the eightieth birthday of Prince Bismarck, in April, is proceeding on a large and general scale everywhere in Germany. The students of all the universities and high schools have been offered a prize for the finest ode to Bismarck.

Considerable comment has been caused in court circles by the news that either during February, or at the beginning of the next month, the Emperor and Empress of Germany intend to be the guest of the French embassador, M. Herbert, at a grand diplomatic soiree, which is to be held at the French embassy.

The Japanese have carried all the positions at Wei Hai Wei and have captured or sunk the whole of the Chinese northern fleet. The Japanese during the night of Monday last, Feb. 4, cleared Wei Hai Wei harbor of all the torpedo boats and the steam launches from the warships. When these dangerous obstructions were removed the Japanese torpedo boats entered.

WALTER BAKER & CO.

The Largest Manufacturers of

PURE, HIGH GRADE COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES

On this Continent, have received

HIGHEST AWARDS

from the great

Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS In Europe and America.

Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Flora circuit at Flora.....Feb	16, 17
Madison circuit at Madison.....	23, 24
Silver Creek and B L. at B L (Sat) Mar.	2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City....	3, 4
Camden, at Shiloh Chapel.....	9, 10
Tranquil circ't at Locust Grove....	16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant....	23, 24
Jackson cir., at Pine Chapel, Wed.)..	27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin.....	30, 31

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb. 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

DeKalb at ——.....Feb.	16, 17
N Kemper, at So Hill.....	23, 24
Indian Mission at Tell Choiok.....Mar.	1
Liverwood at Bethel.....	2, 3
Neshoba at Mars' Hill.....	9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary.....	16, 17

District stewards' meeting at Central Church, Meridian, Feb. 12, at 11 o'clock A. M.

R. J. JONES, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Moss Point.....(Sun. night)..Feb.	16, 17
Kenatawpa, at Mt. Zion (Sun 11 A. M.).	16, 17
Americus, at Rosedale Wed and Fri	20, 21
Vancleave, at Union.....	23, 24
Ocean Springs and Scranton, at the S. Mar.	2, 3
Whittington, at Coleville Wed., Thu.	3, 7
Bay St. Louis at B St L.....	9, 10
Angusta at Isabella.....	16, 17
Black Creek, at Mt Zion.....	23, 24

District stewards will meet at Biloxi in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday, Feb 13, 1895. A full attendance is urgently requested and earnestly desired.

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

China Grove, at Holmesville.....Feb.	16, 17
Magnolia and Osyka, at M.....	23, 24
Providence, at Babala.....Mar.	2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams.....	9, 10

R. G. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fastabuchie.....Feb	16, 17
Mathersville and Mission.....	23, 24
Waynesboro circuit.....Mar.	2, 3
Leakville.....	9, 10
Williamsburg.....	16, 17
Mount Carmel.....	23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksburg, at New Providence.....Feb.	16, 17
Shiloh, at Jobu's.....	23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh	28
Westville at Westville.....Mar.	2, 3
Brandon station	9, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis., at Marvin....	16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove.....	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood.....	28
Trenton, at Bosque	28
Montrose, at Montrose.....	30, 31

C. McDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Utica at Utica .....Feb.	16, 17
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs....	23, 24
Mayersville, at Benton.....Mar.	2 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork.....	9, 10
Warren at Wesley Chapel.....	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Willis' Chapel....	30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Woodville .....Feb.	16, 17
Woodville Mission.....	16, 17
W Atkinson circuit.....	23, 24
N Wilkinson.....Mar.	2, 3
Homo Cutito.....	9, 10
Amite.....	16, 17
Woodville.....	23, 24
Washington.....Apr.	6, 7

Preachers will please inform me at Gloster when their first Quarterly Conferences are to be held. District stewards' meeting at Gloster, Jan. 15, 10 o'clock A. M.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

NOTICES.

The New Orleans District Conference will convene at 9:30 A. M., Thursday, April 4, 1895, in Dryades Street Church.

The following are the Committees of Examination for the New Orleans district for 1895:

For License to Preach—L. A. Reed, J. L. Pearce, C. M. Lyons.

For Admission on Trial—F. S. Parker, T. K Fannt LeRoy, Robert H. Wynn.

For Deacon's Orders—J. B. Walker, J. M. Henry, H. H. Ahrens.

For Elder's Orders—J. B. A. Ahrens, F. N. Parker, Henry S. Johns.

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

New Orleans, La., Feb 1, 1895.

Committees of Examination for Natchez District, 1895:

For Licence to Preach—J. W. Simmons, M. M Black, N. B. Young.

For Admission on Trial—W. B. Lewis, M. J. Miller, R. S. Gele.

For Deacon's Orders—B. S. Reyner, J. W. Brown, P. H. Howse.

For Elder's Orders—B. F. Lewis, J. N. Tucker, V. V. Boone.

Pastors will please notify all parties coming before the above committees to be present at the District Conference.

L. S. JONES.

The following are the Committees of Examination for Jackson district, for the year 1895:

For License to Preach—J. A. B. Jones, H. W. Featherstun, H. Mellard.

For Admission on Trial—A. F. Watkins, J. G. Galloway, W. J. Ferguson.

For Deacon's Orders—M. H. Moore, H. L Norton, D. C. Langford.

For Elder's Orders—T. S. West, C. W. Crisler, R. A. Breland.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 1, 1895.

It Never Fails.

Harris & Buquo, Erin, Tenn., manufacturers of the celebrated Erin Lime, have in their employ, in various departments of their business, several hundred men. The firm writes to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, in great praise of Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism, and say they have cured four cases with it, and that it has not failed in a single instance. The remedy always gives satisfaction. Send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., and they will ship to your address two large bottles—a month's treatment—by return express. Agents wanted.

Notice.

The following is the District Conference examination of applicants for license to preach, Shreveport district, Keachie, La.

THE ORDINARY BRANCHES OF AN ENGLISH EDUCATION.

A. D. McVoy, D. D., Examiner.

1. English: Parts of speech, punctuation, construction of sentences, and spelling.

2. Arithmetic: Addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division; fractions, decimals, and percentage.

3. History of the United States and England.

4 Geography of the United States and Canada.

5 Every applicant is urged by the committee "to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" ¶95 of "New" Discipline.

6 Each applicant will be required to read a "Standard Hymn," and a chapter of Scriptures.

ON DISCIPLINE.

H. J. Bolz, Examiner.

ON DOCTRINES.

H. W. Rickey, Examiner.

(Signed) H. W. RICKEY, For Committees.

On April 4, 5, 6 and 7, next, the eighth annual exhibition of plants, flowers and floral work will be given by the New Orleans Horticultural Society.

In heathen Japan traffic in opium is punishable with imprisonment; in heathen Korea, with death. In Christian America, traffic in intoxicating liquors is rewarded by election to office and the control of the political machine generally.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

The Mexican government has commissioned Judge Joaquin Calderon and a large corps of assistants to take personal cognizance of the actual damage sustained by Mexico from the invasion of Guatemalans on the southern frontier.

Cuticura

THE GREAT

SKIN CURE

Works wonders in curing torturing, disfiguring diseases of the skin and scalp, and especially baby humors.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are of the utmost purity and delicacy, and especially appeal to the refined in every community. CUTICURA DRUG & CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 321.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,

PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.

Colton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.

L. S. WIDNEY.....Manager.

CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

WEBER
EMERSON
HARDMAN

The Crowning Glory of American Manufactured

Pianos

ON EASIEST TERMS.

JUNIUS HART,

1001-1003 Canal Street.

Pianos and Organs.

STERLING PIANOS

We have sold this old reliable make for more than 20 years, and without a single failure, under manufacturer's guarantee.

A most remarkable record, is it not?

OVER

20,000. IN USE.

Scattered all the way from Virginia to Texas, in the homes of the people, in Schools, Colleges, Theatres, Hotels and at Seaside Resorts, singing their own praises, a legion of pleased purchasers indorsing them.

WRITE US FOR PARTICULARS

SEND FOR OUR LITTLE BOOKLET, "SO EASY TO BUY A PIANO .....or ORGAN."

A POSTAL WILL BRING IT.

WHEN AN ORGAN

Has a handsome case, a rich musical tone and sells at a moderate price, there isn't much more to be expected.

IS THERE?

We have sold a great many of the

Sterling Organs,

And never a complaint has reached us, although every one is sold under an iron-clad guarantee.

The style we sell at $60, payable $5 monthly, seems the most popular.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE.

Ludden & Bates' Southern Music House,

518 ROYAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 8. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2009

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

GOD IN NATURE.

When darkness gathers round my path,
And all my song-birds cease to sing,
I know it is not sent in wrath,
'Tis but the shadow of Thy wing.

When dancing sunbeams round me shine,
And Joy and Peacefulness embrace,
I know the radiance is not mine,
'Tis just the brightness of Thy face.
—Exchange.

(Editorial.)

Interfering with Foreign Commerce.

As has already been stated in our columns, a strike has been in progress among the screwmen and longshoremen in this city for some time. As these men refused to do the work, certain steamship companies put their crews to work to load and unload their vessels. Thereupon the chief of police of the city of New Orleans, acting under a State law, forbade the crews to do this work under penalty of arrest. One of the ship companies appealed to the United States government in the person of Judge Parlange, who summarily pronounced the aforesaid State law contrary to the Constitution of the United States. The chief of police, of course, subsided, and the steamship company went on its way rejoicing. The decision of Judge Parlange is one which, we think, will commend itself to the judgment of thinking people everywhere. For a State to say that a ship shall not be loaded or unloaded by its own crew at a time no other labor can be had is certainly an interference with foreign commerce—a prerogative which the national government reserves to itself. We think it is exceedingly fortunate for the city of New Orleans that such a decision was rendered just at this juncture. Ship companies have been doing a losing business at this port for some time past, owing to their inability to procure the labor necessary to carry on their operations. They can not be expected to continue indefinitely to do business at a port which compels them to lie idle at the wharf for days and weeks at a time. The decision of Judge Parlange relieves the situation to a certain extent. Ship companies can put their own crews to work at least, and, although this force will not enable them to load and unload as expeditiously as they desire, this is much better than lying idle at an expense of thousands of dollars per day.

Selections.

Calcutta, India's Brilliant Capital.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

Early Monday morning, Nov. 26, we went aboard the P. & O. steamer, "Peshawar," at Madras, hooked for Calcutta, India's brilliant capital. We walked out on the pier and took a "jolly-boat" for the ship anchored a hundred yards away. And a "jolly" time we had, for the wind was high, and the little boat leaped and plunged as if to show how defiantly it could outride a stormy sea. But the roughest experience was in reaching the ship's ladder. We had to calculate nicely the upward swell of the little boat, and then, by a quick movement, spring on the ladder and into the arms of two or three sturdy sailors. But we were soon safely "berthed," assigned seats at the table, and made ready to try our sailor's legs on the beautiful Bay of Bengal.

So heavy was her cargo to be unloaded at Madras, that it was nearly 2 P. M. before our ship lifted her anchors and steamed out of the harbor into the open sea. The white-capped waves, like foaming chargers, were dashing furiously against the massive breakwater, and we expected a stormy afternoon. But in a few hours the surging ceased, and all the way up to Calcutta we had smooth waters and "journeying mercies." Strong head-winds and adverse tides, however, lowered our speed to only twelve or thirteen knots an hour.

As we moved northward and approached the "City of Palaces," there was a delightful change in the atmosphere, cooler breezes giving assurance that we were passing from the torrid into the temperate zone. I love to look at the beautiful tropics, but prefer to live where frost thickens the blood, quickens the step, and puts springs in every nerve. I prefer the Mississippi pine to the Singalese cocoanut palm.

Wednesday night we anchored near the "lightship" at the mouth of Hoogly river—one of the many mouths of the Ganges—the light of day and a favoring tide being necessary to navigate that treacherous stream. As we passed the wreck of the "Anglia" early the next morning—a vessel which went over in the silting and shifting sand two years ago, resulting in the loss of human life—her bare masts still standing out of the water to sentinel the place of her fall, I had occasion, as others did on Paul's memorable ocean journey, to applaud the caution which "cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished for the day."

Up the Hoogly we passed many places of historic interest, and an hour before the jetty was reached the spires and splendid buildings of Calcutta were in full view. At "Garden Reach," adjoining the palace and grounds long occupied by the dethroned and exiled King of Oude, the customs officers came aboard to see if any of our ship's company were the possessors of firearms or other contraband goods. The palace and magnificent estates where the ex-King of Oude lived with his hundred wives until his death, a few years ago, has been purchased by a syndicate, and sold in lots to wealthy Europeans for building handsome suburban bungalows. The surviving widows of the ill-fated native monarch, whose sympathy with the Sepoy rebels caused his loss of crown and throne, are scattered over the country living on small pensions yet allowed by the British government.

Shortly after arrival in the stirring and brilliant capital of a million souls, and securing comfortable lodgings, we walked down to Eden's Gardens to hear the music by a military band which plays there to eager thousands every afternoon, and to see the hundreds of splendid equipages which dash around the Esplanade. That is the Hyde Park of the Orient, and it is doubted if more brilliant scenes are witnessed anywhere else in the world. Elegant silver-mounted carriages, drawn by the fleetest and best-blooded horses, with European lords and nabob princes riding therein, and from two to four servants in scarlet or yellow livery, presented a picture quite calculated to dazzle the eyes of an innocent Westerner. The rank, wealth, and grandeur of India are represented on the Maiden every afternoon, especially in the "height of the season," which is now. Government House, the official residence of the governor-general, is a palatial structure of vast dimensions. It is quite equal to Buckingham Palace, the city residence of England's Queen. I thought it significant that just in front of the main entrance there is a frowning cannon. The Viceroy of India sits behind heavy guns, and by their virtue holds his place of power. The present incumbent of Government House is Lord Elgin, and, as a young man put it, "a Liberal, a teetotaler and a vegetarian." He is now on a tour of the various provinces, placating the native princes, and speaking kind words to his vast constituency.

Fort William, an old and historic fortification of the East India Company, near its original site, is beautifully kept and strongly garrisoned. It has witnessed many a deadly struggle, and over its parapets heroes have fallen and brave men desperately battled to protect the women and children who had fled therein for refuge. It was after the capture of Fort William by the heartless Suraja Dowlah, the nabob of Bengal, that the horrible torture was enacted which has made the "Black Hole of Calcutta" one of the sadly memorable spots in all the ornel history of carnage and death. We visited the place just adjoining the post-office. Beneath the black stones that mark the once dark dungeon—a hole twenty feet square—one hundred and forty-six persons were imprisoned during a hot Summer night. Their appeals for help were only met by the response that the nabob was asleep and could not be disturbed. The next morning one hundred and twenty-three were dead. It was to avenge the horrors of that "Black Hole" that Lord Clive marshaled his heroic legions, and at the battle of Plassey achieved one of the greatest victories in history, overthrew the Mogul dynasty, and established Britain's power in India.

Early the next morning we called a "gharry," and drove for two hours before breakfast. We went first to the "Burning Ghat" on the river bank, and saw how the Brahmans dispose of their dead. Not in all my life have I witnessed anything half so horrible. One body, on an altar of wood, was already burning, and another was being prepared for the flames. The legs were bent back from the knees, and the body covered with a white cloth. Wood was piled around and over the dead. Rice and bananas were presented to the pallid lips by one of the family; then another, with a lighted torch of grass in hand, walked three times around the funeral pyre, repeating some words after the priest. He then thrust the flame under the wood, and threw in the fire a little incense to improve the odors while the body was being consumed. By no expression of countenance or change of tone could I detect the slightest sorrow among relatives or bystanders. The poor, dead thing was turned to ashes with his bed of wood, and not a sigh of regret from any heart or a tear of grief from any eye. The men employed at the "Ghat" pushed up the fire and shifted away as indifferently as if roasting a pig. The utter heartlessness of heathenism was never so impressed upon me before. And then how thankful I was for Christianity, which invests the body with sanctity, and makes us handle it tenderly and reverently—for that body will rise again. Death does not end all with us. The manager of the "Burning Ghat" said they cremated about twenty-six a day, and for poor persons there was a fee of three rupees. The wealthy, who have their dead burned on sandal wood, pay from two to three hundred rupees. So there is an aristocracy in the flames of death. After the burning a handful of the ashes is thrown into the sacred river as an offering to the gods—the rest is hauled off in carts. This scene was a poor preparation for breakfast, and gave little interest in the small temples and morques we passed, or the elaborate market we visited. So by the postoffice we drove to get news from home, and after several hours' search in the city found the letters that gladdened our hearts as much as the cremations had saddened and depressed us.

I visited a large hall opposite Government House, and saw a handsome monument erected to the celebrated Warren Hastings, who, with all his faults and sins, was incomparably the greatest administrator of English affairs in India. I recalled my first boyish reading of his great trial, and of Edmund Burke's peerless philippic against him; but, nevertheless, to his marvelous organizing genius England is indebted for the success of this, her largest and richest possession.

A profitable half hour was spent in the college established by Dr. Duff, and in connection with which he spent so many toilsome and glorious years. The size of the building and the massiveness of its columns looked like memorial expressions of the broad, granite character of the man who put his very heart in their deep foundations. Whether his successors are carrying forward his well-laid plans and fulfilling the prophecies of those early days, we did not learn. There are about seven hundred students in attendance.

Calcutta is a city of colleges and a great literary center. Thousands of cultured young natives, trained in these institutions, and not made Christians, I understand, have become skeptics of every school. No longer idolaters—educated away from the superstitions of their fathers—they are yet far from the truth that dethrones error and emancipates the soul. What a problem this presents to the missionary conscience!

South of the city is Kalighat, where a celebrated temple, dedicated to Kali, the wife of Siva, is located. Here animal sacrifices are offered to the bloody goddess, and the horrid image displayed for the wild, fanatical worship of thousands. We arrived a little too late to witness the sacrificial offering—it being past five in the afternoon—but the odors were there still, and women were busily engaged scrubbing and washing, getting ready for the next day's service.

En route to that temple we met a handsome carriage, with caparisoned horses and liveried footmen, in which a Rajah rode with some distinguished Hindoo companion at his side. Just behind him, in a palanquin closely covered with rich scarlet silk, borne by four men, a lady rode—supposed to be his wife. That is a picture of oriental domestic life. Unworthy of a seat by his side, the wife must follow behind and be covered from the eyes of the world.

We very much desired making a visit to Serampore, a village fifteen miles from Calcutta, where William Carey began his missionary career, preached for many years, built a college, and where he sweetly sleeps in company with his heroic co-laborers, Marshman and Ward. But as time was limited, and that pilgrimage was impossible, we did the next best thing—we visited the Lall Bazaar Baptist Chapel, built by William Carey, and in which are treasured memorials of his apostolic ministry. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Hooke, was exceedingly courteous, and seemed to take great pleasure in gratifying our eager desire to see everything that connected the present with "the pious cobbler of Paulerspury." He showed us the solid silver communion set, chaste and very heavy, presented to William Carey by the East India Company when he was professor of Sanskrit in Fort William College. We saw the small, round pulpit of teakwood—carefully preserved in the chapel—behind which he earnestly pleaded with the multitude to come unto the Lord and be saved. The communion table and chair he used are there just as he left them. We saw the baptistry, where he inducted many redeemed souls into the kingdom, and where the distinguished Dr. Adoniram Judson was baptized. He remained with William Carey for some time, was baptized in that church, and after awhile proceeded to Burmah, where he wrought so wondrously in the name of the Lord of hosts.

May the spirit which animated Carey and Marshman and Ward and Judson, quicken the whole church of Christ to attempt larger things for our God, and look for the speedy conquest of the world!

We are greatly indebted to Rev. Dr. Warne, of the Methodist Episcopal Mission, for many thoughtful courtesies and very delightful hospitality. He is pastor of the largest congregation in India; has a membership of 500, and preaches in a church that will seat 1,500. We visited the Girls' School, with 225 pupils, in charge of Miss Knowles, and the Boys' School, with 450, and occupying a handsome building, to which one gentleman in Calcutta gave 125,000 rupees. All their property in the city has been secured without foreign aid. I visited, also, the book store and the press, where several periodicals printed in different languages go out weekly with glad tidings for the thousands. It was a special pleasure to call at the Deaconess Home, and have a few words with Mrs. Thoburn. The Bishop is expected home in a few days, after an absence of nearly nine months in America pleading the cause of India, and soliciting means to meet the rapidly-increasing demands of this vast harvest field. I hope to meet him in Bombay.

Benares, Dec. 1, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Revivals marked by deep conviction of sin, saving faith in the present tense, and genuine spiritual power, have blessed our people in many places on the Pacific coast during this rainy, stormy Winter, as our "Field Notes" ample demonstrate. The revival church is the church that lives and grows. Methodism was born in a revival, and has a special function and glorious history on this line. Kindle the fires and keep them burning everywhere.—Pacific Advocate.

Some of the heart's sweetest songs have been learned in the dark.

Do not neglect the present moment; remember it is all you have.

Submission to the will of God is admission to the favor of God.

Communications.

Give Them the Gospel.

We most earnestly ask that all the members and friends of our church read carefully and prayerfully the following statements:

Cubans, to the number of many thousands, have immigrated to the State of Florida and settled there for life. These persons were born in the island of Cuba, speak the language of Spain, profess nominally the religion of Spain, and exemplify in themselves and their children the Spanish ideas of education and civilization. They are within our borders, and the duty lies upon the Christians of the South to educate and Americanize and Christianize and save them.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, ought long since to have taken Cuba for Christ. It lies at our doors. It has close commercial connections with our section, and our business and social relations are becoming more intimate each year. If we would serve both Cuba and our own country, we can not do so more effectually than by well-directed and sturdily maintained efforts to evangelize this advance guard of the Cuban hosts. Under His good providence we may confidently expect that from its ranks God will raise up those who shall bear the gospel of peace back across the narrow sea to their island brethren.

This Cuban population in Florida is massed at a few points. The Board of Church Extension, at its recent session, authorized the undersigned to make a special appeal to the church in their behalf. Three thousand dollars are now urgently needed at Key West, Ybor City, and Cuba City. In these three places are collected nearly twenty thousand of these people. Nearly all of them have long since cut loose from all forms of religion, and are adrift on the seas of atheism and agnosticism. There is not a more deplorably needy foreign population in America than these Cuban colonists in Florida, and their blood will be upon us and upon our children if we fail in our duty to them.

Will not three hundred Southern Methodists each give ten dollars to make up this much-needed sum? Some, perhaps, can not give the specified amount, but two or more might unite to do so, and others, doubtless, can and will take more than one of these shares of ten dollars each. Let remittances begin to come at once, and cease not until the whole sum is in hand. Make all remittances to David Morton, secretary, 705 West Chestnut street, Louisville, Ky.

W. W. DUNCAN,
DAVID MORTON.

Feb. 6, 1895.

Annual Meeting of the General Board of Church Extension.

The Board of Church Extension of the M. E. Church, South, will hold its regular annual meeting at its office, 705 West Chestnut street, in the city of Louisville, Ky., beginning at 9 A. M., Thursday, April 25, 1895. Those who intend to apply for aid are hereby advised that under a rule of the Board all applications must be on file in this office on or before March 26, 1895. This is required because the Committee on Applications meets and considers them and prepares its report before the meeting of the Board. The secretary is also required to print a list of all applications filed, and the list is sent to the printer as soon as it can be made up after March 26.

Brethren are specially and earnestly warned not to incur debts or involve themselves in embarrassing contracts, relying upon help from the Board to relieve them. Remember also that where aid is promised it will probably not be forthcoming until next Winter, and all of it not certainly then unless collections on loans and assessments are at least as good as they have been for the current year.

Blank applications can be obtained upon request at this office. Please send two-cent stamp to pay postage, etc. DAVID MORTON, Cor. Sec.

705 W. Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky.

Columbus, Miss.

The year of 1895 is upon us, with its sunshine and shadow, its toil and triumph. An itinerant's life is a queer conundrum, anyway. His life is many-sided, and many-shaded as well. His race is running a gauntlet, and his labors, if he complies with all demands, are multiform, sleepless, and eternal. The astonishment is that the mortality among ministers is not five times as great. The pressure from all sides acts by the reverse of law in material quantities. The result is increase, and not decrease, as in other things.

But I started to write of our recent Quarterly Conference. Bro. Powell impressed us all here as being fully competent in all respects for the arduous and delicate duties of presiding elder. My people were delighted with him in the pulpit, social circle, and president's chair of the Conference. We all look forward with pleasure to his quarterly return.

There has been no better or wiser thing done in this Conference since I have known it than was done by Bishop Keener at our last session in reducing the size of the districts and putting young and strong blood in the presiding eldership. A long-standing wish of mine has been met. I look for large returns as the fruitage thereof.

Bro. Powell manifested while here my ideal of a man of his place—gentle, careful, patient and firm. He will command the respect and confidence of the district on his first round.

I was returned to this good people, and, I feel, by divine intent. If sickness does not prevent, as it did last year, I shall at least give them an average year's work, and those who know me easily understand this.

JAMES G. SIBLEY.

[This was accidentally delayed a week.—EDITOR.]

Special Notice.

As the work suggested by the secretaries of the Missionary Board as "Do-without Week" was so very inclement that it was not observed by the preachers and people of Sardis district, I hereby recommend the week beginning March 25, and ending April 1, to take its place. Programmes have been sent to every pastor. In the towns where the week was observed in part let the brethren finish up last of March. In the country will not the brethren urge the church to self-denial and prayer, and thereby secure a twofold blessing? Let no one fail. The church at home and abroad alike need the service. H. C. MORRITKAD, P. E.

Sardis, Miss.

In the Living Present.

An Italian scientist claims to have discovered the old-age bacteria. Now he is laboring to determine the means for its destruction. Thus he expects not only to insure longevity, but even to abolish mortality. This savors of humbug. 'Tis appointed unto man once to die.

In the Arena, for February, Mrs. Josephine K. Henry, after the manner of true knight errantry, is courageously breaking a lance for woman's suffrage, elaborating the subject, "The New Women of the South." A windy, wordy production. She quotes Mrs. Caroline E. Merrick, of New Orleans, as having said, "I should like to escape the degradation of disenfranchisement."

The Outlook holds that the English church papers are more decidedly religious than those in our country. The latter, though, excelled in the artistic and literary quality of a family paper. Our ideal church paper embraces both of these elements.

Moody is in Texas holding revival meetings at the prominent cities of that State. Some are exuberant in praising all he says and does. Others fear that he is given overmuch to latitudinarianism. Between that and Universalism is but a narrow frith.

Club life is undermining family and church life. Clubs among high and low, young and old. Clubs for purposes of pleasure, mutual aid, conviviality, politics, etc. Some of our men and women belong to a half-dozen clubs, requiring daily and nightly attendance. Some of them convene on Saturday night. Too sleepy to attend Sunday-school and church on the following morning.

If President Cleveland possessed not more patriotism than the ex-President of France, Casimer-Perier, he, too, would resign. Cleveland is being cruelly criticised by the majority of his own party. His recommendations are rudely trodden under foot.

The study of the kingdom of Israel teaches the importance of inseparable union of politics and religion. To pray for the victory of the true and right, and then vote for a smooth-tongued, but unprincipled, demagogue is a spectacle for the merriment of Satan. We believe in the old saying, Vote as you pray.

Father Flaherty, of Rochester, knows his people. They will come to church for absolution, etc., no matter how rudely treated. When any of them are in arrears with payment for pew rent, he closes said pews with large iron chains.

ICH DIEN.

MY ALL IN ALL.

My God, accept my heart this day,
And make it always thine,
That I from thee no more may stray,
No more from thee decline.

Before the cross of him who died,
Behold, I prostrate fall;
Let every sin be crucified,
And Christ be all and all.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Dr. Featherstun and the Doctrine of Entire Sanctification.

I have waited, hoping an abler pen would do the work I now undertake, but in vain. And I undertake it now, at this late day, only because of the deep and abiding interest I feel in the cause of truth. I have great respect for Dr. Featherstun's learning and piety, and in the main agree with him in what he has written in his recent articles in the ADVOCATE But from some of his conclusions I feel compelled to dissent.

In his first article, on "What Is the Question?" he clears the field of some confusion. He admits that "One may become holy, or perfect in love, or entirely sanctified in this life;" that "This grace, so variously named, is subsequent to regeneration," and that "Those who profess this second blessing have had an experience of grace," etc. I am sure these points will be satisfactory to the advocates of the doctrine of entire sanctification as a work of grace subsequent to justification, attainable by faith in Jesus Christ, "who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption."

In his second article, on "Regeneration," he gives us some clear, strong statements of the nature of this work of grace. All will agree with him that "Regeneration is a radical change." Whether all will agree with him that "Regeneration is full salvation," depends upon what he means by "full salvation." If he means thereby 'entire sanctification," many of us will dissent; but we presume that he does not mean this, as he admitted in his former article that entire sanctification is a work of grace subsequent to regeneration. With this explanation he is, on this subject, in accord with Dr. Carradine, who says, in his work on sanctification: 'Entire sanctification is not the deepening or perfecting or extension of regeneration. Regeneration is a perfect work in itself; needs no improvement, and is given none." "To say otherwise is to confound two distinct works of the Holy Ghost, regeneration and sanctification; or it makes regeneration a partial or imperfect work." "It is a perfect work of God." And so say we all.

In his third article, on "After Regeneration," Dr. Featherstun, after admitting that there is, "subsequent to regeneration, a blessing, a grace, or an experience distinct from regeneration in its general nature," proceeds to raise the question, "What is its nature?" "All agree," he says, "first, that it is subsequent to regeneration; and, second, distinct in its nature from regeneration." But he goes on to say further: "It is distinct from what is called the baptism of the Holy Ghost. This also is a blessing spoken of in the Acts of the Apostles as subsequent to regeneration: 'Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?' A comparison of our Lord's promises of this blessing to his disciples, with the words of Joel quoted by Peter, and the events of Pentecost, leave no doubt but that the baptism of the Holy Ghost was simply a fitting for work, the endowment with power from on high; involving a call to work. This, and this only, is its meaning, and it is, therefore, distinct from this blessing which we are studying." Here Dr. Featherstun is clear off the track. I have never heard or read a full statement of the doctrine of entire sanctification, as a work of grace subsequent to regeneration, that did not identify it with the baptism of the Holy Ghost promised the disciples by our Lord, and received by them on the day of Pentecost. Moreover, Dr. Featherstun, in the above quotation, seems to minify the blessing of the baptism of the Holy Ghost. It "was simply a fitting for work," etc. We admit that it was "a fitting for work," but not simply this. Dr. Joseph Parker, in his excellent book, "The Paraclete," says, "It is the great New Testament blessing." And a greater than Dr. Parker speaks of it in this wise: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever. . . . He shall teach you all things, and bring all things unto your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you. . . . He shall testify of me: and ye also shall bear witness. . . . It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. . . . He will guide you into all truth. . . . He shall glorify me; for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you." Let any man read the second chapter of Joel; the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth chapters of John, and the twentieth chapter of Acts, thoughtfully and prayerfully, and see if he does not agree with Dr. Parker that this is "the great New Testament blessing." And this is entire sanctification. Dr. Featherstun says this is the second blessing, and that growing in grace is the third blessing. But we prefer the statement of Dr. T. H. B. Anderson, of California, who says: "I find it hard to believe that the 'second-blessing theory' is the correct one. I think it destroys the continuity of Christian experience: that the unities are in a measure eliminated by it. I am not disposed, however, to argue the matter. I am only concerned about the fact—the experience. At some future time I shall discuss the place sanctification holds in Christian experience—holds, not as a 'second blessing,' but as a work wrought in us by the Holy Ghost. I think it can be shown that both justification and regeneration are prophetic of this work—point to it as the crowning glory of Christian experience on earth." Dr. Wood, in his excellent book on "Perfect Love," says of this blessing: "Though a blessed and glorious state, yet, when compared to the breadth, and length, and depth, and height to which the soul may attain through the rich and abundant grace of God, it is not a very high state of grace." Some one speaks of it as "the end of the beginning of Christian life and experience." May the Lord fill us all with his Holy Spirit, and then we shall strive to see "who can best work, and who best agree!"

W. B. LEWIS.

Program for the Week of Prayer and Thanksgiving.

FOR THE WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

This Week of Prayer and Thanksgiving will include the national Thanksgiving Day. The special services will begin on the Monday preceding that day, and close the following Sunday evening with an open session, or public meeting. If possible, secure the services of the pastor for a sermon on the woman's foreign mission work at eleven A. M., and prepare a special and attractive program for the evening, in which the young people and juveniles should take part. We beg all members of auxiliaries, as well as every woman who loves the Lord Jesus Christ, to join in this concert of prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. As far as possible, let the societies meet on the days set apart.

MONDAY, NOV. 26.

Read Psalms xlvii, 6-9; xciii, 4, 5; xcv, 1-6, cxxxix, 1-12. Let these portions of God's Word be commented upon by four or five persons, as each is read.

Sing Hymns 31, 20 and 23.

Prayer—Let this prayer be full of adoration. Adoration becomes us. God is Lord of hosts—the hosts of the heathen world; the King of glory—a glory meant for them who know not God, as well as for us.

TUESDAY, NOV. 27.

Sing Hymn 356, after which read Psalms xxxii, 5 and ii; Proverbs xxviii, 13, and I. John i, 9. Sing Hymn 366, after a talk on these passages of Scripture.

Prayer, confessing our shortcomings, lukewarmness, and even backslidings, in this work. Did we not promise God to give this call of his our unfailing attention?

Read leaflet, "Our Contingent Fund."

Sing, "Where he leads I will follow."

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 28.

Sing Hymn 292.

Read Luke xxiv, 45-48; I. Corinthians ii, 9-13; Ephesians iii, 14-21.

Sing Hymn 496.

Comments upon the Scripture lessons.

Prayer—Beseech the Holy Ghost, that he may take these last words of Jesus and show their full meaning to every heart. Pray that each may understand the will of God concerning the nations that sit in darkness, and follow on to do this work which he surely committed to the church. Pray for such power from on high that neither household cares, family obligations, nor any secular affairs shall be hindrances, but rather that these shall stir to greater diligence; that there may be opportunities to do this, and yet not leave the other undone.

Sing Hymn 100.

THURSDAY, NOV. 29.

Let the full service be one of thanksgiving.

Sing Hymn 8.

Read II. Corinthians ii, 14; Psalms cxvii, cxlvii, and ci.

Sing Hymn 132.

Prayer—Let the prayer be of thanksgiving, because God has blessed our work, and for opening doors for an enlargement of the copartnership. Pray that the hearts of all may be open to see these opportunities, and, seeing, may rejoice in them.

Short talks on the spiritual gains resulting from cultivating the grace of thankfulness.

Sing Hymn 135.

Short talks of our missionaries and their fields of labor.

Sing Hymn 374.

FRIDAY, NOV. 30.

Read Revelation xxi.

Sing Hymn 916.

Prayer—Pray for those officers who are tempted to discouragement by pain, weakness, or disappointment. Pray also for those who are strong and successful, lest they be exalted above measure. Pray for all auxiliaries, that they jealously guard this work, which is the right-hand planting of the Lord. Pray for those who need greater wisdom. Pray that all may be kept in constant communion with God, and so lack no good thing. Pray for the returned missionaries, that they be strengthened and refreshed by the home-coming. Pray that the Lord of the harvest may send forth more laborers, that the outlying nations may speedily be brought to a knowledge of Christ.

Sing Hymn 884.

Prayer—Pray for a successful Sunday service, with increase of members, large free-will offerings, and a great revival in missionary work.

Sing Doxology 919.

MRS. S. C. TRUEHART,
Sec. of Home Affairs.

Would it not be well that we fast as well as pray on Monday, that everyone of us may receive the blessing of sanctification, or continue "groaning after it" earnestly, until we do obtain it, and that, if it be our heavenly Father's will, some of the women within the bounds of the Mississippi Conference will offer their services for missionary work?

In our Woman's Missionary Advocate Mrs. Butler gives us an abridgment of an article, "Hindrances to Missions Found in the Working Force," that was written by the editor-in-chief of the Missionary Review of the World, from which we clip the following: "All real power in missions must find its fountain of energy in a body of disciples at home indwelt by the Spirit of all power. We must have a Christianity and a Christian life worth diffusing and propagating, else how can there be any real blessing to far-off lands, however diligent our efforts?—and whence are to come the heroism, the self-sacrifice that make the true missionary? With this aspect of the problem we ought to deal intrepidly and conscientiously as in the sight of God. There is danger of a spiritual agnosticism, knowing nothing about our true state. Saul wist not that the Lord had departed from him; the Jews knew not the time of their visitation, and the Laodiceans knew not their own nakedness and poverty, blindness and lukewarmness, but thought themselves rich and in no need at the very time when God was about to spew them out of his mouth as in disgust!"

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Editor W. F. M. So., Miss. Conf.

Methodism in North Mississippi.

Wherever Methodism has been established it has a history worthy of preservation; nor should the toils, trials and triumphs of those who planted and those who watered be allowed to fall into oblivion. These records are not only interesting, but they are profitable to succeeding generations in stimulating Christian faith and zeal.

Perhaps there is no territory of its size and period in Southern Methodism of which so little has been written of our church as that of the North Mississippi Conference. Nevertheless, it is not devoid of that which makes entertaining and useful church history, such as we of the present generation would delight to read, and the future historian could use to advantage.

There are many historical facts, biographical sketches and interesting reminiscences connected with the pioneer work of the church and its subsequent development within our bounds that should be gathered up and put to record, "that nothing be lost." We owe this to the memory of those who, in Christ's name, accomplished the work of introducing and disseminating the gospel in these regions; and we owe it to ourselves and to our children, that we and they may know and appreciate the conflicts that were passed, the privations endured, and the labors performed for the religious heritage that we enjoy. For this purpose we ought, at an early day, to organize a Conference Historical Society; but, until this is done—as no one else, so far as I know, has undertaken the work—I propose to do so, and I hope that no one will think of this as presumptuous in me, as I do it simply because of the interest that I feel in the matter.

I desire, therefore, to procure all available information, from any and all sources, concerning the rise and progress of the Methodist Church in every town and county within the bounds of our Conference, such as: Who was the first preacher, and when, in your town or community? When, and by whom, was the church first organized? Any interesting incidents of church work, or recollections of life and labors of ministers—in short, any fact or reminiscence of the church or ministry that may be helpful in making up history.

I would most earnestly and respectfully ask all of our preachers and people to give this matter their serious consideration, and to assist all they can in its consummation. Pastors can aid us by calling attention to it privately and in their congregations, and by securing some elderly member of the church, or other suitable person, to write a brief history of their church, together with personal recollections and traditional accounts of preachers or distinguished laymen. Presiding elders can help also by calling attention to it in their Quarterly Conferences.

I shall be glad to hear from any preachers or laymen who will co-operate in this work. Let us all go about it at once. G. W. BACHMAN.

Kosciusko, Miss.

Memoir of Rev. B. A. Little.

BY R. S. WOODWARD.

REV. ALEXANDER DUNCAN LITTLE Was born in Newton county, Miss., near the present town of Hickory, on Oct. 10, 1845, and died in Meridian, Miss., Dec. 27, 1894. Nothing is known by the writer of his parents, except that their names were McNiel and Flora Little, and that they died early, leaving him an orphan at the age of six years. He lived with relatives, in Copiah and Jasper counties, until he was about sixteen years old. At this tender age he entered the Confederate Army, where he stood by his colors with that invincible courage and unswerving fidelity to duty which characterized his entire life. After three years' service, at the battle around Atlanta, Ga., on July 22, 1864, he lost an arm, which, of course, put an end to his active service in the army.

He was married to Miss Frances P. Sheely, Oct. 10, 1866, which was his twenty-first birthday. Nine children were the fruit of this marriage, eight of whom, with the mother, survive him. Having been elected clerk of the court of Jasper county, he assumed the duties of that office immediately after his marriage, which place he filled with prompt and painstaking integrity for three years. During that time he studied law and was admitted to the bar in Waynesboro, in 1869. In the fall of 1870, while attending a camp meeting at Salem Camp Ground, he was powerfully awakened under a sermon preached by Rev. Joshua T. Heard, from I. Kings ii, 2—"Be thou strong, therefore, and show thyself a man." With all the honesty and earnestness of a sincere soul, heart-broken on account of sin, he gave himself wholly to God and was soundly and happily converted, and from that day became a devout and consistent Christian and church member.

Even before his conversion he felt a strange conviction that for him to become a true Christian meant more than the performance of the ordinary duties of a lay member of the church. When his experience became a well-defined reality, there very soon followed a clearly defined call to the work of the ministry. The sharp struggle common to all of us, at this critical crisis, was as a sword piercing through his soul. But so profound was his conviction that he was called of God "as was Aaron," and like Paul, feeling that "Woe is me if I preach not the gospel," he determined that he would not longer "confer with flesh and blood." So he made a war of conquest over all his former ambitions and worldly aspirations and, laying all upon the altar of God, gave himself wholly to the work of the ministry, which holy calling he made literally his life-work until God called him from labor to reward.

He was licensed to exhort Oct. 16, 1871, and to preach Oct. 11, 1872, at Frost Bridge Church, Waynesboro circuit, Rev. W. B. Hines, P. E. He was admitted into the Mississippi Conference on trial, December, 1873, when it met in Jackson, Miss. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Marvin, Dec. 18, 1875, and elder by Bishop McTyeire, Dec. 9, 1877. During the twenty-one years of his ministry he served pastoral charges eight years and districts thirteen years. His first work was Waynesboro circuit, where he was converted, licensed to preach and recommended to the Annual Conference. This charge he served four years, with marked success, followed by three years of great usefulness and popular favor on Spring Hill circuit. In 1881 he served Williamsburg district. This was the hardest and most self-sacrificing work of his ministry; but it developed the nobler traits of his character. Here he learned to "endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." His great efficiency for the term of four years following on the Woodville district proved his increase of power in the pulpit, administrative ability in the class and wisdom in the counsels of the church. He was pastor of Enterprise and Hazlehurst station, 1886; was on Brandon district, '87; Jackson district, '88-91; Vicksburg district, '92-93; Meridian district, '94; and at our late Conference, in Meridian, was again assigned to Waynesboro, where he began his ministry.

As a presiding elder "he was to the manner born!" Firm, but prudent, unassuming, yet not wanting in dignity, holding firmly the reins of government, at the same time respecting the rights and opinions of the governed. He understood and honored the Discipline of the church, and while he magnified his own office, as a son of the gospel, he reverenced his seniors and was subject to the appointments of the higher authorities of the church, always being found at his post of duty, ready to work and suffer in the Master's kingdom, whenever and wherever assigned. He attended every session of his Annual Conference for twenty-one successive years. Though quiet and unobtrusive, his opinions in the deliberations of the Conference and the cabinet were always respected, as they gave evidence of mature thought and judgment. He was ever loyal to the church, fair-minded and conscientious in the respective claims of the work, and tenderly considerate of the workmen and their dependents.

As a preacher, he was strong, practical and instructive. His diction was largely imbued with the manner and phraseology of the Holy Scriptures, giving to it a tender, pathetic and touching coalescence of the instructive and spiritual. Dr. T. S. West, in writing me, says: "Bro. Little was a wise, patient and judicious counselor; made a capital circuit preacher and a good presiding elder. His sermons were always strong and thoughtful. He made no attempt at oratorical display, nor dealt in florid rhetoric. His style of preaching was conversational, free from cant; he never marred the sacred message with railing or jest. He had a deep, but unostentatious piety."

He was a tenderly affectionate husband and father, thoughtful of the comfort and happiness of his family. "But his chief desire and prayer to God," as expressed to me by one of his family, "was that they might all be saved."

As a friend and guest, he was most loved where best known. The maturer the acquaintance the more engaging were his social qualities.

His health had been failing for more than a year. He was suffering from la grippe at the Conference of December, '93. He was not well at any time after. He often went to his appointments, much to his physical detriment and discomfort. In October he began to have slow fevers, which finally developed into a typhoid form. He was confined to his room about sixty days. This embraced the period of our Annual Conference. Though within a few blocks of Central Church, where it was held, he was too feeble to attend its sessions or that of the Bishop's counsels. Though Bishop Keener kindly visited him, as did Bro. T. B. Holloman, who represented his district, and others, he was too feeble to discuss matters at any length; so he committed all to God and his brethren. Yet we were very hopeful of his recovery, and many prayers were offered in his behalf. But, in the wisdom and providence of God, his mission was ended. When told that his end was approaching he rejoiced: "I have been preparing for this a long time. I feel that I am ready, and can say the will of the Lord be done." His mind was clear up to his last moments. As I quoted precious promises from the Word of God, he responded, with a bright glow on his face, "Bless the Lord," and other like ejaculations. In his last interview with his family he said to his wife: "You have done all you could to keep me here. Now don't grieve. My way is bright." To his children he said: "Be true to your religion, true to your church, and true to your mother." Turning his eyes to the youngest, he said, with melting tenderness, "Don't let John forget me." He spoke affectionately of his brethren in the ministry, and expressed regret that he was too weak to see more of them during the Conference, and concluded by saying, "Give my love to all of them." The tender and loving wife asked those present to pray that he might die easily. The prayer was answered. He fell gently and sweetly on sleep without a struggle. As we looked on his face, calm and peaceful in death, how precious the thought, "Asleep in Jesus." Thy warfare is accomplished. All tears are wiped away. Thou art gone to receive thy crown! Peace, peace! Brother, friend, servant of God, well done! Enter thy Master's joy. Farewell. "We shall meet one another again."

He was buried in Port Gibson. The funeral services were conducted by Bro. B. F. Jones, W. H. Huntley and H. M Ellis.

The grumbler should have a corner to himself, and not burden others with his complaints. He spoils the companionship of life, and deserves no public recognition. There is too much to enjoy, and too much to do, to waste time upon the querulous and the fault-finding. Sunshine is what society needs, and the more we put it into speech, manner and deed, the sweeter and more inspiring become our association and influence.—Exchange.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf., Mrs. E. D. Jones, Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf., Mrs. Mattie H. Morrison,

Woman's Work.

We are thankful for the information derived from Bishop Galloway's letters. We also need his encouraging words concerning woman's work in China, some of which are: "The noble women here, under appointment of the Woman's Board, are unwearied in toil for their Lord. Their annual meeting has been a joyous occasion, and all return with braver hearts for the work another year. I shall take pleasure in submitting to the church a full report of observations made, from the smallest day-school up to the institute and the hospital. This last, under the management of Dr. Anne Walter, has made advance upon previous year, and is commanding influential support." (Nashville Advocate.)

"Most heartily do I endorse her (Dr. Anne Walter) request for a children's ward in the hospital. It is needed and should be provided as early as possible. Maybe some devoted mother in Southern Methodism, who has special sympathy for suffering children, will be glad of an opportunity to give the amount needed. Building is cheap, and a comparatively modest sum will be all-sufficient. . . .

. . . "I take this occasion to again say that my observation of the work in China being done by the brave women of our church deserves the highest commendation. In Shanghai, Nanking, Kading and Suchow—in boarding-schools, day-schools, hospital and Bible work—they are honoring their Lord in most efficient service. There was wisdom in the planning, and there is consecration in the daily administration of this beneficent work. Indeed, I fear these zealous souls are overtaxing strength. Excessive demands upon time and sympathy will break down the strongest constitutions." (Woman's Missionary Advocate.)

In answer to pleadings, fastings and prayer, we are able to report good tidings from the work of the Mississippi Conference. The Holy Spirit is moving the hearts of some of our sisters, and we who are not called to go must hasten ourselves, for money will be needed.

Mrs. Robt. Reed, district secretary, Vicksburg district, reports: "(No changes will be made in our work prior to the annual meeting in June.) You and all lovers of the cause of mission will be glad to hear good news from Vicksburg district. It has aroused from its lethargy of last year, as is indicated by the organization of three new societies and the reorganization of one dead society since our last annual meeting. One of the new societies is a 'Juvenile.' God bless the dear young people engaged in this glorious work! . . .

. . . "The appeal from the editor of the Woman's Missionary Advocate, in December number, was the occasion of my sending sample copies to every auxiliary on the district, accompanied by postal cards urging agents to secure new subscribers. We fail to understand how any member of our society can be satisfied to deprive herself of the information to be obtained through no other source than this magazine. Think you the attendance at our monthly meetings would be so small if every member were a reader of the Woman's Missionary Advocate? Would we hear so many of our non-members say, 'I have no interest in foreign missions,' had we such an intelligent conception of the work as would enable us to present its claims in an enthusiastic manner? Our societies here (Natchez), the adult and the juvenile of Jefferson Street, and the adult of Wesley Chapel, are in good condition. Thanksgiving week was observed in accordance with program prepared by committee appointed by Woman's Board. 'Thank-offering' comparatively good. We closed the week with a service on Sunday night by the 'Truehart Torch Bearers' (our juvenile), whose collections amounted to about twenty-four dollars. Over fifteen dollars of this amount had been earned by the members and contributed that night in sealed envelopes. Ten dollars of the collection was forwarded to the 'Little Worker Special,' while another ten was used in making their lady manager, Mrs. F. J. Dicks, a life member. Will not other juveniles 'go and do likewise'? The success of this society is due to the fact that the lady manager is not only present at every meeting, but she is there to 'manage.' We would advise the readers of the Little Worker to watch for a letter from the "Truehart Torch Bearers' at an early date."

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Editor W. F. M. So., Miss. Conf.

Some one wittily says, that a large number of people do their charity work by advising others to give.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We tote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured. Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our Cure on the market now.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Thos. W. Flowers, Victor, Montana: "Pleasant weather in Montana. Snow 12 to 14 inches deep; sleigh bells jingling. Our church reviving; souls are being saved."

Rev. H. S. Johns, P. C., Plaquemine and Donaldsonville charge, Louisiana Conference: "The new year has opened as well as we could wish under the depressed state of affairs. This is a sugar country, and vast expense is entailed in its manufacture, and, with the bounty taken off and the country flooded with free sugar from tropical and bounty-paying countries, consequently putting the Louisiana product at a lower price than ever before. Our planters have suffered greatly. Some have actually lost thousands of dollars last year, and I suppose from interviews with them that not one in this section has met expenses, to say nothing of use of land, interest on capital invested, etc. But nevertheless congregations are good, and, with a little assistance, I have just expended $40 in painting up the parsonage, which gives it a neat appearance indeed. In fact, it is quite pretty. I am now employed at odd times in gardening and attending to the flowers. Have a most excellent front yard both to church and parsonage, which are side by side. I should think it a sin to let them grow up in weeds. Last year I had flowers for nearly every service, which I think made things look more refreshing. Mr. Editor, I invite you up to my circuit either here or at Donaldsonville. Come up and look at this part of the State. Our Sunday-schools are forging ahead, and are the largest on the Texas and Pacific R. R. between New Orleans and Alexandria, to my certain knowledge, of any denomination. I thank God and take courage. If we can survive this year—i. e., our planters—we shall be on firm footing, till Congress again tinkers with the tariff, which I hope will not be soon."

LINWOOD CHARGE.

At the recent session of the Mississippi Conference I was assigned by Bishop Keener to the Linwood charge. I have just completed my first round, and am gratified to state that my people have given me a warm reception and a cordial welcome. The Lord has blessed us spiritually during the month now closing, and I feel doubly prepared for the work of the future. The congregations have been very good for the weather. We have some as good people on this charge as there are on any charge in the bounds of the Mississippi Conference. There are some true, devoted Christians, self-denying people, liberal people, here, and while this is true, there are also some very stingy people, who are members of the church, but seem to think that a preacher never needs any money. "Will a man rob God?" The Lord answers, "Yet ye have robbed me;" and the people ask, "Wherein have we robbed thee?" The answer resounds back, "In tithes and offerings." "Let him that is innocent cast the first stone."

In conclusion, I will say I am well pleased with my appointment, and I hope to do good on the Linwood charge.

Brethren of this charge, let us cooperate with one another. The Lord bless our new acquaintance, and help us to be a blessing to each other.

F. B. ORMOND, P. C.

It Never Fails.

Harris & Buquo, Erin, Tenn., manufacturers of the celebrated Erin Lime, have in their employ, in various departments of their business, several hundred men. The firm writes to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, in great praise of Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism, and say they have cured four cases with it, and that it has not failed in a single instance. The remedy always gives satisfaction. Send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., and they will ship to your address two large bottles—a month's treatment—by return express. Agents wanted.

The World in the Church

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

OBITUARIES.

ROBINSON—In the old churchyard at Bethel, DeSoto parish, La., the Winter sun shines on a newly-made grave. Beneath the sod lies the form of Sister MATTIE A. ROBINSON, wife of Johnnie Robinson, and daughter of William and Sarah Robertson. She was born Sept. 19, 1851, and was married in December, 1872; died at her home in DeSoto parish, La., Dec. 27, 1894.

She gave her heart to God when a small child, and joined the M. E. Church, South, where she lived happily until death. She made her home a happy one; but, alas! that sweet voice is hushed in death. Those busy, helpful hands are now folded forever over that quiet breast. That active brain plans no more for the comfort of her husband and much-loved children. She left a weeping husband, a mother brothers, sisters, and six children, and a great number of relatives and friends. The children are following their mother's examples.

It was a sad scene, on the morning of the twenty-eighth, when Bro. Robinson uncovered the face of his precious wife, and called for all the children to come and kiss mama good-by for the last time, telling them, when they printed the kiss, to promise to meet her in heaven. This was done, the husband placing the first kiss. May the hand of Providence lead them safely along through this life, so that husband, wife and children will all meet in the kingdom above!

S. S. HOLLADAY.

MCDOWEL—MISS CARRIE ELEANOR MCDOWEL, daughter of Dr. J. T. McDowel and Emma Wilson, was born in Bienville parish, La., in 1864, and died in Ruston, La., Jan. 14, 1895.

At the age of sixteen, while at school in Texas, she professed religion and joined the Methodist Church, in which communion she lived a consistent Christian life. Her mother died when she was only eleven years of age. After her mother's death, the care and responsibility of the household fell largely on her heart and hands, and with great faithfulness did she fill the place. After the death of her father, which occurred only a few years later, the management and control of the younger children, and their education, devolved on her, and with the fidelity of a true sister did she discharge this responsible duty. She taught school to help support the family and educate the children. A younger sister is now assistant teacher in the Ruston College. Her death was a sad bereavement to the family as well as a great loss to the community.

Sister Carrie died a very triumphant death, giving to her family a special charge to meet her in heaven. This is one less in the family circle on earth, but one added to the family across the great river. JNO. A. MILLER.

Ruston, La., Jan. 29, 1895.

JACO—BRO. THOMAS JACO, son of J. J. and Thursy Ann Jaco, was born May 3, 1870, and died Nov. 22, 1894. Bro. Jaco was brought up in Panola county, Miss., near Long Town, where he spent his life in the neighborhood of his youth. He was happily married to Miss Alice Nelson. This union was blessed with two children.

Bro. Jaco joined the M. E. Church, South, when quite young. He both loved and honored his church. He was a good man; his life was filled with usefulness. His religious life for about eighteen months was marked for deep spirituality. Though young, he had just a short time before his death been elected by the Quarterly Conference superintendent of the Sunday-school of his church. The church has suffered much by his death. We extend our hearty sympathy to his wife and all his kindred, and trust that Bro. Jaco's holy life will be as "ointment poured forth" upon the entire church and may prove a source of strength and power to the faith of the bereaved; so that we all may be able, when the summons comes, to meet our brother in heaven, where there is no sorrow or death. W. M. YOUNG, Pastor.

EAGLE—JESSE EAGLE was born in East Feliciana, La., over eighty years ago. In early life he became a Christian and joined the Methodist Church in early manhood. He came to Mississippi—Copiah county—where he spent his life. He became a standard bearer, a strong pillar in the church, great in prayer and song, true and faithful in every place the church put him.

He was converted in the old way all over, and let his light shine wherever he went, but brightest at home, for he brought up a large religious family. They are useful members of the Methodist Church. He was sometime afflicted and knew his end was nigh. He was not only resigned, but happy amid his sufferings; made all arrangements for time and eternity. A man of faith and of good works. He died early in the year of 1894.

A. B. NICHOLSON.

ROOT—JAMES ROOT, aged 62 years, died on Jan. 27, 1895, at 6 A. M., at his beautiful home on Caloasieu Lake, in Caloasieu parish, La.

He professed faith in Christ when a boy; was a member of the M. E. Church, South. He left a bright testimony of the power of Jesus Christ to save a sinner. He was much loved by all his neighbors, and was known to be honest and upright in all his dealings. He had lived a sailor's life, plying his beautiful schooner in the lakes, rivers, and bays of Louisiana, Texas, and Mexico.

He was twice married. He had ten children; three or four had preceded him to the glory-world. He had forty-six grandchildren.

We laid his body to rest, on the twenty-eighth, in the beautiful cemetery near his church (given and beautified by himself), after a very impressive funeral service. We will meet him on the other shore.

F. G. HOCUTT.

(Continued on Seventh Page.)

Your Lame Back

And the painful torture in joints and muscles is nothing but Rheumatism. Nothing but Rheumatism kills people. Nothing like Drummond's Lightning Remedy for speedy relief and quick cure. Accept nothing in its place, for nothing else will do the work. The full month's treatment of two large bottles sent to any address by express on receipt of $5. Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York. Agents wanted.

This is for somebody who will read it. Practical restitution for wrong done a fellow creature is not always possible, but when it is possible it is an indispensable part of a genuine repentance for sin. This is not new, but it is true.—Pacific Advocate.

Blood Poisoning

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent nurse of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 78 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says, "I was cured by and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 lbs., eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST.

Old No. 170 (NEW No. 918) CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth.....$5
Partial Sets.....from $3 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns.....from $4 to $10
Gold Filling.....from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Filling, from 75 cents to $1.50
Extracting, Painless.....50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

TEXAS EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

SHORT LINE
—TO—
HOT SPRINGS, NORTH TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA.

TICKET OFFICE . . 629 CANAL.

TIME CARD.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Fort Worth and Cal. Ex.	8:15 A. M.	7:00 P. M.
Denver Express	6:05 P. M.	9:15 A. M.

8:15 A. M. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Fort Worth and connects at Fort Worth with Pullman Sleepers for El Paso, Denver and San Francisco.

6:05 p. m. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Shreveport and Marshall, and connects with Cannon Ball train for Hot Springs. Also through Sleeper to Little Rock, via Alexandria.

Take Jackson street cars for Gretna.

Trains leave Gretna 8:49 a. m. and 6:40 p. m.

For tickets and other information call on or address:

A. S. GRAHAM, Passenger and Ticket Agt.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice-President and General Manager.

PAIN AND MISERY

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

Cures Rheumatism.

"About 8 years ago, I suffered from what the doctors called rheumatism. Nobody knows the pain and misery which I had to endure and which clung to me in spite of the medicines prescribed. At last, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After a short time, the pains ceased. I continued the use of the Sarsaparilla for a whole year, until the rheumatism entirely disappeared."—JAMES WAY, proprietor of livery stable, Roseville, Cal.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla The Only

Admitted for Exhibition AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 28 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases to any address by the REV. E. KONIG, FORT WAYNE, IND.

A. A. BOHNE HEIRS,

DEALERS IN

New and Second-Hand School Books, Stationery, Music,

1328 DRYADES STREET, Near THALIA.

School Books Bought, Sold and Exchanged.

D. J. WILT, Manager.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 822 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES,

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Looks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

29 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plain Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington. 67 miles shortest to Birmingham. 90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

R. M. GARRETT, A. G. P. A., 34 St. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. T. HARDY, A. G. P. A., VICKSBURG, MISS.

W. C. RINEARSON, GEN'L PASS'R. AGT., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE

SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WEBB, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks,	1 60	2 00
1 ..	6 ..	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month,	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6 ..	10 00	12 50
1	1 year,	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 ..	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1 ..	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1 ..	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1 ..	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1 ..	90 00	105 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16 50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, February 21, 1895.

The Advocate for One Dollar.

Ho! all ye that cry for a cheap paper; here it is.

To all new subscribers whose names are sent in with the cash during the next sixty days we will send the ADVOCATE from now until Dec. 31 for one dollar. When we say "for cash," we do not mean that every preacher must in every case send cash with each name. Let the names be sent in as rapidly as possible, and let the cash follow soon afterward. We can not take subscriptions at this rate and then wait until Conference for the money. Let all our preachers make this offer known as rapidly as possible.

Brother preacher, it would neither compromise your dignity nor desecrate the Sabbath if you should make this offer known to your people from the pulpit. Let laymen also lend a helping hand by spreading the news of our liberal offer. Let it be known that subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at whatever price, become beneficiaries of our various premium offers—"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," as well as the rest.

Spontaneous Combustion.

As is known to our readers, the commerce of this port has suffered largely in the last few months from fires of mysterious origin. Large quantities of cotton and other freight have been consumed by fires originating nobody knew how. It has been the almost universal opinion from the beginning that these fires were of incendiary origin; but of this there was only circumstantial evidence, though this was quite strong. One day last week, however, the problem was solved. A man, calling himself Peter Oates, was seen in the act of placing something in bales of cotton. He was arrested; the packages were taken out and placed in the hands of officers of the law. After some hours these packages spontaneously ignited, and very soon nothing was left of them but ashes. Here, then, is the origin of the mysterious midnight fires by which millions of dollars' worth of property has been consumed. It was spontaneous combustion ingeniously contrived with diabolical intent. The would-be incendiary is in the clutches of the law, and will probably realize in the near future that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

Progressive Consecration.

That there is such a thing as progressive consecration seems not to have occurred to some Christians, for they never advance to any higher state of grace than that experienced at regeneration. One act of consecration, they suppose, is enough. Many who keep the rules of the church, and who are outwardly above reproach, fail to perceive that the Christian life means unceasing progress. Hence their religion soon becomes a mere profession, a form without the vitalizing influence of the Holy Spirit.

It is a grievous mistake to suppose that the consecration we make of ourselves at conversion will do for a whole lifetime. He who fancies that after receiving the witness of the Spirit he will never have to make a fresh surrender of himself to God, is in a fair way to lose that witness. New light and added grace involve clearer conceptions of duty and, therefore, a more faithful discharge of the same. Again, as our knowledge of spiritual things increases, new duties come into view, and habits and practices once regarded as innocent now appear sinful as well as unprofitable. Consequently there must be a readjustment of the life to correspond with this enlarged spiritual horizon, else there will presently come the consciousness that we have displeased God. The consecration of last year may have been entire, but it will not suffice for this year, because if we have improved our opportunities, we see the need of doing things that a few months ago did not seem essential to the religious life. So also with regard to the inner life. The longer we live, provided we are faithful, the more conscious we are of imperfection, the more we perceive the need of constant watchfulness and reliance upon divine grace.

Just at this point multitudes of Christians when weighed in the balances are found wanting Whereas once they enjoyed the favor of God, and rejoiced in hope of eternal life, now they have doubts and fears, and feel themselves under condemnation. They still endeavor to serve God, but acknowledge that they find no pleasure in his service, and wonder within themselves how this has come about. What can be the explanation?

Unless we grossly misinterpret the Scriptures, no man who wilfully commits sin or who knowingly neglects any Christian duty can have "the peace that passeth understanding," the consciousness of acceptance with God. The regenerate man who knowingly does wrong must at once repent, if he would have the Spirit of God to remain in his heart.

Furthermore, we assert not without scriptural authority that no penitent receives the assurance of sins forgiven unless there be absolute surrender to God, the readiness to do all he would have us do. Where is it recorded in Holy Writ that a man can receive pardon without resolving to forsake all sin and without entire submission to God? In Ezekiel xviii, 21, it is said: "But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die." Hear what the prophet Jeremiah saith: "And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart."

What is true at conversion is true at every stage of the Christian life. The conditions of sonship do not change. Each day there must be perfect submission to the will of the Father, and implicit trust in Christ as our righteousness. "Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing." (Phil. iii, 16) Great need have we all to heed this exhortation of the apostle. Could anything be more explicit with regard to the conditions of discipleship than the words of Christ?—"Whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he can not be my disciple." (Luke xiv, 33.) Following Christ seldom involves the literal abandonment of all earthly possessions, but there must at least be the willingness to do this. All must be laid on the altar and, what is equally important, must be kept there. He who keeps back part of the price can never exercise faith enough to bring God near, for the consciousness of insincerity makes prayer a mockery. Pure religion and undefiled consists not in half measures, not in partial, but in entire consecration to God. The believer surrenders himself to Christ, not for one day, nor for one year, but for all time. Can we believe that God requires any less consecration of the regenerate man than of the sinner seeking salvation? Fullness of gratitude and of joy should indeed render possible to the experienced Christian a consecration more perfect than when he first believed.

A Chicago Incident.

Rev. C. G. Schutt, a zealous and efficient agent of the Advocate, sends us a long list of names from his charge as "trial subscribers." As soon as the people have sampled the paper he will make a vigorous canvass. He says: "This is the best plan which I can devise to circulate the Conference organ."

By an energetic utilization of this method the paper can be placed within three months in 10,000 additional Methodist homes. It will unquestionably pay the preacher in many ways. It will prove an incalculable benefit to the subscriber. Why not adopt the plan? We believe that there are thousands in Texas willing and able to take the Advocate and only needing to have it advertised and pressed. That a church journal is a necessity and a boon is an axiomatic statement. To this proposition we are emphatically and irrevocably committed. Our Conference Minutes are literally loaded with high-wrought, rose-colored indorsements of such an enterprise. Why, then, does the Advocate do a boasting trade? Why does it not pass the bar and put its keel in the ocean's bosom? Why does it not magnify its mission and enlarge its sphere? Just simply for lack of thoughtful enterprise, harmonious co-operation and systematic labor.

The editor of the Northwestern Advocate says in his last issue:

> Rev. A. M. White signalizes his second year's pastorate of Wesley Church, this city, by sending to us more than ninety subscribers to the Northwestern. This shows that "some things can be done as well as others." City people can be led to reading our church papers, notwithstanding the competition of the dailies. The paper is in the list of active church agencies, by the side of the sermon. The two may well labor together.

The editor of the New York Christian Advocate remarks in a similar strain in the paper of Jan. 31:

> The late D. J. O. Peck, when he sent in a list of nearly three hundred subscribers, more than a hundred of whom were new converts, said: "I never feel quite sure of the permanency of additions to the church till I have put the Christian Advocate in the family. And usually I find one of the earliest unmistakable signs of backsliding to be giving up the religious paper.

And now comes the Western, of Cincinnati, with irresistible joy and gratitude in its heart and with a paean of triumph upon its tongue:

> Four thousand five hundred ahead of this time last year! Why should not the Western be glad and rejoice? In the name of the church we thank the faithful pastors. Let us keep right at it, and doubly guarantee a great advance.

The Central Methodist, of Kentucky, says likewise:

> Last week four laymen sent us forty-two subscribers, and each one promises to send further orders.

These paragraphs suggest several reflections. In the first place, laymen sent the subscribers to the Central Methodist. They mentioned the matter unofficially to their neighbors and friends, spoke of the immeasurable benefits of an intellectual and spiritual character which they had received, and kindly and earnestly asked them to subscribe. Such indorsement and zeal, free from all perfunctoriness, coming from a lay source, counted and won. It was a Samaritan-like procedure, rich in manifold blessings all around.

The Rev. A. M. White procured in the city of Chicago over ninety new names for the Northwestern Advocate. What is the explanation? Nothing except that a live preacher started out to do a thing, and did it. What is the matter with Dallas, Waco, Houston, Tyler, Austin, Galveston, Fort Worth and San Antonio? Our pastors may believe that a church paper can not possibly compete with its formidable rivals. They may think that our people are so engrossed with business and politics that it is impossible to turn their thoughts in other channels. But the Chicago incident proves the contrary.

The quotation from the New York Advocate is instructive and encouraging to a high degree. Think of a man sending three hundred subscribers from one charge! He did it just as he succeeded in revival work. He resolved, focalized his energies, emphasized the matter, stuck to the business and triumphed. When a fiery hearted, strong-willed Methodist preacher turns himself loose something is going to happen. How true the remark that a good religious paper is an antidote to backsliding, and that the loss of love for devotional reading is the incipient stage of moral decay! An Advocate has held many a wayworn pilgrim to the road, and has taken him to the road's end. It is an invaluable training-school for the young. It is a kind of anchorage that holds in the roughest storm.

We believe that a church paper is like the carcass of Samson's lion—possibly unprepossessing upon the outside and at the first glance, but full of honey within. He who entertains it entertains an angel unawares. It is too often completely undervalued. We may not be able to measure and tabulate its subtle and potent work, but the last balance-sheet will prove that next to the Word of God it made us what we are. Its presence in a household is an everlasting witness for God, a trumpet-call to duty and work, a perennial fountain of knowledge and consolation, a silent molder of character and destiny, and an incalculably powerful auxiliary in the warfare of life.

If the circulation of the Texas Christian Advocate were quadrupled, its influence would increase correspondingly. The whisky traffic would tremble at the mention of its name. Faithless officials, bribe-taking aldermen, time-serving politicians and the devil's following would fear it like a death-warrant. Its advocacy of a good cause would be equivalent to success, and its indorsement and assistance the best ally available. An enthusiastic, vigorous movement coextensive with the State in the interest of our own paper would usher in an era of church extension and evangelistic enterprise that would treble our numbers and resources. More subscribers mean more money. More money means a better paper, mechanically, editorially and otherwise. And a better paper means the multiplication and intensification of the forces which make for righteousness and the glory of God. We are of an optimistic turn of mind, but we never expect to see the millennium until this question of church journalism is settled, and settled right.

Let Texas lead in this matter! Let Texas be the first to break with the traditions and conservatism of the past and to do a great thing in this field! If we had been as prolific of hard work for the Advocate as we have been of preambles and resolutions and complimentary epithets, the paper long before this would have had a far-reaching circulation, and a commanding influence which no man or institution could wantonly defy, and which both would gladly invoke. We await the issue of this appeal with a profoundly painful suspense. If the brethren respond, it means that they intend to form, with the publisher and editor, a co-partnership to improve the Advocate and to broaden the era of its circulation. If they do not, it means that they are content with a modicum of success, and that they are unwilling or unable to bear the strain the interests of the paper demand. From now on, brethren beloved, work is the word. Nothing is impossible to him who wills. Labor conquers all things. In that monosyllable is the talisman of success. Shall we say, "The campaign is on?" Who shall prove the record-breaking man? The motive to which we appeal is that disinterested love which is content to make the world a better and happier thing.—Texas Advocate.

[We have written frequently upon the importance of extending the circulation of the ADVOCATE. Our words have not been without effect. A number of brethren have been working diligently. Considering the very severe weather of the past few weeks, the number of subscriptions and renewals sent in is really remarkable. But there is still much to be done. We were just thinking of writing extensively on this matter, when lo! the Texas Advocate came out with the very sort of appeal that we wanted to make. As we do not feel competent to put the matter in a stronger or more attractive light than Dr. Pierce has done, we copy above a part of his editorial, regretting that we have not space for the whole. Just substitute Louisiana and Mississippi for Texas, and NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE for Texas Advocate, and you have what we want to say. We hope that every preacher will read every word of this article carefully, and then resolve that he will do something more than resolve. We make an appeal to laymen also. This article shows what laymen can do in this way when they try. We especially bespeak the hearty co-operation of our sisters of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Parsonage and Home Mission Society. These good sisters can aid us much if they will. As they now have a department in the paper, may we not look to them for aid? Let everybody read our offer to new subscribers in another column, and then go to work.]

A New Book.

ERRORS OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH, AND ITS INSIDIOUS INFLUENCES IN THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER COUNTRIES. By the Most Profound Thinkers of the present day, and the History and Progress of the American Protective Association, including The Sufferings and Deaths of the Protestant Martyrs, under Popish Persecutions. Illustrated with 48 full-page engravings. J. H. Chambers & Co., St. Louis, Mo. 1894.

The above-named work is an octavo of a little over six hundred pages. The paper, typography and binding are all excellent. As showing the purpose and character of the work we make the following extract from the publisher's preface: "Never before in the history of America has the subject of Romanism commanded so much attention as at present; and any real alarm for the safety of our republican institutions against the insidious encroachments of the papal system has not until recently been felt to any great extent. The present manifest disposition on the part of the American people to know what Romanism is, and a determined effort on the part of the Romish priesthood to cover up and apologize for its errors, suggested the publication of this volume. In the arrangement of the work, the different branches of the Christian Church are represented by its contributors, and each deals with the great question from his own standpoint."

The authors quoted are the following:- S. H. Ford, D. D.; Rev. Scott F. Hershey, Ph.D.; Hon. Thomas J. Morgan; Madison C. Peters, D. D.; Bishop E. M. Marvin; John A. Wilson, D. D.; George A. Lofton, D. D.; J. G. Wilson, D. D.; Thomas O. Summers, LL.D.; Rev. Thomas P. Haley; Samuel J. Nicholls, LL.D.; Bishop Thomas Bowen; R. S. Storrs, D. D.; P. G. Robert, D. D.; G. W. Hughey, D. D.

This list of contributors is a guarantee of literary ability, and an index to the character of the work. This work portraying Romanism will no doubt command an extensive sale. If we are correctly informed, the work is sold only by subscription.

NOTES.

Dr. L. C. Garland, ex-chancellor of Vanderbilt University, died in Nashville on the twelfth.

***

Our correspondents will have to exercise patience. We have a full hopper and a slow mill, but every man's turn will come by and by.

***

We had the pleasure last week of a call from Mr. Francisco De P. Castells, agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society for Central America.

***

In our last issue we inadvertently appropriated a paragraph from the Wesleyan without giving credit. Forgive us, Bro. Glenn, and we will try and do better next time.

***

Mirabile dictu. The church is run by rings just like the rings of the political world, but the men who are in the rings are just as good and true and conscientious as those who are not. Umph!

***

Programs for the Sunday night service of the Week of Prayer of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society (March 10) can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Nathan Scarritt, Kansas City, Mo.

***

A snow storm of twelve hours' duration, covering the ground to a depth of eight inches, stopping street car travel, and milk wagons, bread wagons, etc.—that is a record-breaker for the Crescent City.

***

Paris will interest the world at the exhibition of 1900 with the greatest of all telescopes, which will cost $500 000, and it is expected to bring the moon near enough to see objects no larger than the towers of Brooklyn Bridge.

***

Dr. Hoss has arranged to give the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society a Home Mission number, which will appear some time in the near future. Some of the ablest writers in the church will contribute to it. This is a fitting honor to a grand cause.

***

By a private letter from Rev. R. D. Norsworthy, presiding elder of the Brookhaven district, Mississippi Conference, we hear most cheering accounts of the prospects of Whitworth College. The institution has an able faculty and is doing work which commends it to the church and the public generally. He also reports the preachers of the district as at their posts and doing as well as possible under the serious disadvantages of the severe Winter weather.

***

When the time came for setting up copy for the Woman's Foreign Missionary Column, no copy had been received from the Louisiana Conference editor; hence we inserted some copy for the Mississippi Conference which, according to previous arrangement, should not have appeared until next month. Having no copy whatever from the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, we fill the column with other matter. The editors of these departments should take note of the fact that one-half of the paper, including the second page, goes to press on Saturday afternoon. Copy should be in by Thursday afternoon.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION,

(NEURASTHENIA)

Insomnia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Melancholia,

And the thousand ills that follow a deranged condition of the

NERVOUS SYSTEM

Are cured by

Cerebrine The Extract of the Brain of the Ox.

Prepared under the formula of

DR. WILLIAM A. HAMMOND.

Dose, 5 Drops.

Price, Per Phial of Two Drachms, $1.00.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

COLUMBIA CHEMICAL CO., Washington, D. C.

Send for book. 12t

Grenada Collegiate Institute.

It has been my privilege as pastor of this institution to visit it frequently since coming to Grenada. I find it well organized. In fact, the organization of the Grenada Collegiate Institute is a perfect part of the great machinery of the Methodist Church. From the kitchen to the study hall—from Monday morning until the next Monday morning—everything moves on like clock work. There is no jar, no unnecessary hurry, and yet no idle time spent.

Dr. J. W. Malone, the able and accomplished president, with marked ability, and yet with a humility that is the perfection of graces, is doing a splendid work in the college. He has associated with him some very fine teachers. Miss Damon, Miss Conly, Miss Neblett, Miss Sadler, Miss Bootne, Miss Williams, Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Malone are thoroughly equipped for their work. When you go into the art room, which, by the way, is soon to be the prettiest in the land, you are filled with delight as you behold the genius of woman thrown on canvas; or, if you visit the music department, and listen to the sweet melodies there; or, if you visit any other department, you are impressed with the superior work done by these teachers. Besides all this, and better than all, these ladies are all consecrated Christian women ready to lead a prayer meeting, organize an Epworth League, or teach in the Sunday-school. Recently I had the pleasure of examining some of the papers prepared by the members of the Junior and Senior classes at the close of the Fall term, and I have never seen better papers. In fact, two or three of them were the best I ever saw. The student-body is healthy, studious and religious. There are forty-five in the boarding department now.

Rev. W. M. McIntosh, the financial agent, is doing a good and noble work in educating some of these girls. The brethren should everywhere rally to his support. The spiritual condition of the college is very fine.

T. W. LEWIS.

For Headache and Indigestion

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

A prominent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., says of it: "I have severe headaches, and it relieves them. I am fond of the pleasures of the table, and as a consequence of my indulgence there, I have to pay the penalty. It divides penalty with me. Indeed it is an indispensable article to me."

Notice.

From the Joint Board of Finance, to the Ministers of the Mississippi Conference—

BRETHREN: I am mailing to your address in the Minutes a programme to be used in the observance of "Veteran's Day." We are desirous that the day may not be passed over, and with that end in view have prepared this programme. Of course, its use is optional with you. Take as much of it or as little as you need. But observe the day by calling the attention of our people to the wants of our claimants, and allow them the privilege of contributing to the "Conference collection." Should any of you fail to receive a programme, please write me at once. I will also furnish "claimant blanks." W. A. GUMMING, Sec.

Jackson, Miss., Feb 16 1895.

Belhaven College.

The burning of the buildings of Belhaven College furnished an occasion for the display of devotion to an enterprise, on the part of the citizens of Jackson, that I have never seen equalled. The fire occurred during the coldest weather of this severe spell; yet the people, utterly disregarding their own comfort, flocked to the scene, and in every way possible ministered to the relief of those who were, for the time being, homeless. The doors of hotels, public institutions and private homes were thrown open, and President Fitzhugh, in a few hours after the fire commenced, could have provided comfortably for five hundred girls. The people here insist that the college shall be rebuilt at once, and projected on a much larger scale than the president at first intended. The citizens of Jackson feel that the college is a necessity to the town. President Fitzhugh has made admirable arrangements for continuing until the close of the session.

W. B. MURRAH.

Notice.

To the Pastors in Brookhaven District—

DEAR BRETHREN: During the vigorous weather of the past few weeks I have thought no little of our worthy claimants on our Conference fund. At best this fund is far too small and the assessment rarely paid in full. I make this suggestion: Call upon every member of your charge at once, and inside of sixty days send forward your entire assessment, or more, to Bro. Thorston. Brethren, let me urge you to do this. Let any brother who will heed my call say so by mailing me a postal, saying, "I will adopt the suggestion." When we have done this the way will be clear to raise the other amounts. Let the watch-word go round the district, proclaimed by all, "Every dollar of every assessment and a great revival in every church on every charge."

Fraternally yours,

R. D. NORSWORTHY.

Brookhaven, Miss., Feb 15, 1895.

Now Is the Time.

The benefit to be derived from a good medicine in early Spring is undoubted. Something must be done to purify the blood, overcome that tired feeling and give necessary strength. Vacation is earnestly longed for, but many weeks, perhaps months, must elapse before rest can be indulged in. To impart strength, and to give a feeling of health and vigor throughout the system, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Notice.

The Epworth League Board appointed at the last session of the Mississippi Annual Conference was organized with the following officers: President, John W. Crisler, Lee, Miss.; secretary, R. W. Bailey, Hazlehurst, Miss. I would be pleased to have pastors to put themselves and leaders into communication with Bro. Bailey, or myself, at once.

JOHN W. CRISLER,
Pres. Epworth League Board.

Dandruff is due to an enfeebled state of the skin. Hall's Hair Renewer quickens the nutritive functions of the skin, healing and preventing the formation of dandruff.

An Error.

MR. EDITOR: You issue, last week, in announcing postoffice, etc., of my brother, of Chonteau, I. T., should have been "Rev. Sam Q. Bass," instead of "W. D. Bass." Please make the correction, as it will cause my correspondents to address me at Chonteau, when my postoffice address is Corinth, Miss. W. D. BASS.

Corinth, Miss. Feb. 12 1895.

SUFFERERS FROM COUGHS, SORE THROAT, etc., should use promptly and be supplied with "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

Starkville, Miss.

Our circuit parsonage in Starkville was burned to the ground last Saturday. Who will help us by sending one dollar, more or less.

REV. E. P. CRADOCK, P. C.

Starkville, Miss.

Should Women Be Rich?

That question is about as sensible as to ask, Should women breathe? Of course, they should be rich, and especially in health. CREOLE FEMALE TONIC will make them rich, too, in curing them of Uterine Troubles and complications, such as weakness, irregularity, suppression, nervousness, anaemia, chlorosis, prolapsus, etc. It is a health-builder!

Board of Missions, Mississippi Conference.

Replying to Bro. H. M. Ellis's timely request for names of officers of Conference Boards, I would state that the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions, newly appointed at Meridian, December, 1894, met immediately and elected the following officers, viz:

President, W. B. Lewis, Natchez; secretary, J. P. Drake, Edwards; statistical secretary, J. V. Penn, Vossburg; "Conference" secretary, J. W. Chambers, Brookhaven; treasurer, T. S. West, Jackson; agent for Indian Mission, A. D. Miller, Oak Ridge, Miss.

J. P. DRAKE, Sec.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE ARK OF THE COVENANT.

(Ex. xxv, 10-16; Heb. ix, 4, 5; John iv, 23.)

God was marvelously kind to Israel. He cared for them even as a father does for his offspring. His arrangements for their spiritual and physical well-being were most wise and painstaking. God has not changed. He is our God.

1. The Ark of the Covenant symbolized the Christian Church.

(1) Built according to divine direction. God superintended the organization and development of the church.

(2) Though the Ark was made of wood, the wood was to be overlaid with gold. When sanctuaries are dedicated to the service of God they should serve holy purposes exclusively.

(3) The Ark of the Covenant was highly decorated. Our churches should be attractive and beautifully finished and furnished.

2. The Ark of the Covenant acquired its great value from its contents.

(1) It contained the golden pot of manna. A precious memento. In the church we have the Bread of Life. The feast prepared. All are invited.

(2) Aaron's rod. Its instrumentality in performing various miracles is well known. The facts thrillingly interesting. The perpetual miracle of the conversion of human souls has been and will continue to be the means for its perpetuation—notwithstanding the fiercest opposition.

(3) The tables of the covenant. The engraving of the law expressing the chirography of God himself. The law has not been abrogated. It is just and good.

3. The Ark of the Covenant with contents disappeared. When and how remains a mystery. It is well that they disappeared. It would have led to idolatry. The same as the worship of relics in Roman Catholic Churches. God desires now that all worshipers worship him in spirit and in truth.

(1) We worship him in private—individually. Said the Master: "Enter into thy closet." Individual communion with God is the basis of true religion. Talking to him as friend to friend. Sheddding our tears of grief and of gladness in his presence. The soul's longings and aspirations enter into the holy of holies. Walk with God, even as Enoch.

(2) We worship him in the family. All members of the family, including servants, meet for daily prayer. Reading of Scripture, singing and prayer brief and timely. Danger of dull routine.

(3) We worship him in the sanctuary. The church is our spiritual birthplace, our home. Here we hear the divine oracles, commune at the Lord's table. Here we appropriate God's precious promises.

Worship God in spirit and in truth. May the Holy Spirit help us to do so!

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. (No entry fees also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100.00. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

Woman's Work.

Report of treasurer of the W. F. and H. M. S. of Mississippi Conference for third quarter of 1894.

Balance from second quarter	$12 61
Dues received	33 27
Check from Church Extension Board of Mississippi Conference	35 57
	$81 35
Remittance to Gen. Treas.	$16 63
Balance in treasury	64 72
	$81 35

M. J. HOLLOMAN, Conf. Treas.

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, on salary, in most every county in the South and West, a young lady or gentleman. Those from the country also accepted. Experience not necessary; in fact, prefer beginners at a small salary at first, say to begin, from $30 to $60 a month.

Chances for rapid promotion GOOD. Must deposit in bank cash, about $100. No loan asked; no investment required. It is a salaried and permanent position. (Strictly office work.) The enterprise is strongly endorsed by bankers. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Corn, Tomatoes, or Snap Beans,
2 lb. can 5 cents.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Kentucky Hog Jowls (Smoked),
Something Choice, 6 cents a pound.

HOW'S YOUR FIGURE?

Trim? Straight? Well-Developed? Then don't spoil it with ready-made clothes, cut to fit anybody; wear clothes that fit—that were made for you.

HOW'RE OUR FIGURES?

Suits - - - $13.25

Pants - - - $3.00

Topcoats - - $10.25
(Fine Melton)

Made to measure—to fit you perfectly; superior material, latest styles.

ADD OUR FIGURES TO YOUR FIGURE

And the result will delight you.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS Company
OVERCOATS AND SUITS
313 ST. CHARLES ST.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Good Light Brown Sugar,
40 lbs. for $1 00.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,						$84,520,680
N. Y. Life,	"	"	"	"	"	40,684,163
Equitable,	"	"	"	"	"	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy

On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above.

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,

General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,

Slate Roofer.

Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.

CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.

Send for Prices and Estimates.

Office, 109 St. Charles Street.

P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 831.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,

Office, 67 Carondelet Street,

PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.

Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.

L. S. WIDNEY.....Manager.

CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

THE OXFORD BIBLE

A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in small compass, adapted for all classes.

First American TYPE-SET Edition

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessity of a number of books, while it will concentrate the mind of the student on his work. MINION, 12mo Size, 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 inches.

From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word and page for page, a fac-simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.

THIS is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, made from new type set plates and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper. The binding is the desirable Divinity Circuit style from the best American Leather, with leather lining inside, round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.

The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising nearly 100 pages, are, as all thorough Bible students well know, the result of years of careful labor and research by the most eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day, who have brought them to that point of perfection where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and convenient explanatory Cyclopedia of Biblical Information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Jacob unwillingly sendeth Benjamin. 16 Joseph entertaineth his brethren. 29 His prayer for seeing Benjamin.

Before CHRIST 1707.

AND the famine was sore in the land.

a ch. 41. 54, 57.

2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

3 And Judah spake unto him, saying,

Before CHRIST 1707.

a ch. 24. 3. & 39. 4. & 44. 1.

b Heb. kill a killing. 1 Sam. 25. 11.

c Heb. eat.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house:

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEATHER BINDING.

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS, Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with context, over 40,000 references. Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 references. Scripture Atlas, with Index. Glossary of Bible Words. Bible Calendar. Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and pronunciation. Summary and Analysis of the Old and New Testament.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.

A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

1 The Title of the Bible.
2 The Canon of Scripture.
3 Versions of the Scriptures.
4 Genuineness and Integrity of the Old Testament.
5 Summary of the Books of the Old Testament.
6 Summary of the Book of the Apocrypha.
7 Chronology of the Old Testament.
8 Genealogy from Adam to Jacob.
9 Itinerary of the Journeyings of the Israelites to their settlement in Canaan.
10 Miracles of the Old Testament.
11 Parables of the Old Testament.
12 Special prayers in the Old Testament.
13 Brief Historical Summary of the Interval between the Old and New Testaments.
14 Genuineness and Integrity of the New Testament.
15 Summary of the Books of the New Testament.
16 Harmony of the Gospels.
17 Our Lord's Miracles.
18 Our Lord's Parables.
19 Names, Titles and Offices of Christ.
20 Prophecies relating to Christ.
21 Recorded Appearances of Christ after His Resurrection.
22 Family of the Herods.
23 Chronology of the Acts and Epistles.
24 Paul's Missionary Journeys.
25 Paul's Voyage to Rome.
26 Special Prayers in the New Testament.
27 Passages from the Old Testament quoted in the New Testament.
28 References to the Old Testament not being exact Quotations.
29 References in the New Testament to Incidents recorded in the Old Testament.

BIBLE LANDS.

(Their Inhabitants, Conformation, Principal Characteristics, etc.)

30 Ethnology of the Jews and their Neighbors.
31 Jewish Sects and Parties.
32 The Jewish Year.
33 Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
34 Mountains of the Bible.
35 Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
36 Animals of the Bible.
37 Birds found in Palestine.
38 Reptiles of the Bible.
39 Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
40 Insects of the Bible.
41 Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
42 Geology of the Bible.
43 Precious Stones of the Bible.
44 Music and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
45 Weights and Measures.
46 A Glossary of Antiquities, Customs, etc.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, Obsolete and Ambiguous.
Subject-Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Index to Glossary of Scripture Proper Names, with their pronunciations and meanings.
Index to Scripture Atlas.
Scripture Atlas.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $4.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still, any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each.

Better still: For the benefit of those who desire a genuine Oxford Bible at a still lower rate we have made arrangements with one of the leading Bible publishers in America whereby we can offer a beautiful Oxford Bible, four by five and a half inches, pearl type, French Seal, divinity circuit, round corners, as a premium for only two new subscribers. In order to get the benefit of this offer one must be himself a subscriber and must have paid his subscription to June, '96. We will send this Book, postpaid, to any address on receipt of $1 62.

We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address REV. W. O. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Taking

it for granted that you want to get the best results in painting, you will have to use Pure White Lead to obtain them. There are many mixtures branded "White Lead," "Pure White Lead," etc., which contain little, if any, White Lead, but are principally barytes, which is of little value, if not worthless. To be sure, accept only a genuine brand (see list).

If you want any shade of color, tint the White Lead with National Lead Co.'s tinting colors, prepared expressly for this purpose. A feature of these colors is the ease with which they are used and the exactness with which the desired shade is obtained. For particulars send for pamphlet, free.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY, Pittsburgh
ANCHOR, Cincinnati.
ATLANTIC, New York.
BEYMER-BAUMAN, Pittsburgh.
BRADLEY, New York.
BROOKLYN, New York.
COLLIER, St. Louis.
CORNELL, Buffalo.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS, Pittsburgh.
EckSTEIN, Cincinnati.
FAHNESTOCK, Pittsburgh.
JEWETT, New York.
KENTUCKY, Louisville.
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS. CO. Philadelphia.
MORLEY, Cleveland.
MISSOURI, St. Louis.
RED SEAL, St. Louis.
SALEM, Salem, Mass.
SHIPMAN, Chicago.
SOUTHERN, St. Louis and Chicago.
ULSTER, New York.
UNION. "

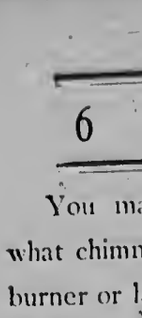
You may as well know what chimney to get for your burner or lamp.

Write Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa. for the "Index to Chimneys."

Pearl glass, pearl top, tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche



FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs.

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO.
26-28 N. William St.
New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON.

ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD."
E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

GREAT CHANCE FOR BOOK AGENTS

Hundreds of men and women are now earning $100. every month canvassing for the world famous fast selling new book

Our Journey Around THE World

By REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. 220 beautiful engravings. "The King of all subscription books and the best chance ever offered to agents. 76th thousand in press. One agent has sold 676 copies; another, a lady, 834; another, 850—all in one month. 5000 more lively agents wanted—men and women. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit, Extra Terms, and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars to

A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

DEAFNESS

and head noises relieved by using WILSON'S COMMON SENSE EAR DRUMS. Entirely new; scientific invention; different from all other devices; the only safe, simple, comfortable, and invisible ear drum in the world. Hundreds are being benefitted where medical skill has failed. No string or wire attachment to irritate the ear. Write for pamphlet.

THE DRUM IN POSITION

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.
141 Trust Bldg. LOUISVILLE, KY.

You Can Get

Ferry's Seeds at your dealers as fresh and fertile as though you got them direct from Ferry's Seed Farms.

FERRY'S SEEDS

are known and planted everywhere, and are always the best. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells all about them.—Free.

D. M. Ferry & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P.O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, P. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

BUCKEYE CHURCH
Bells, Peals and Chimes.

Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin only, and so warranted. Best Hangings and Workmanship in the Country. Highest Award at World's Fair and Gold Medal at Mid-Winter Fair.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
E. W. Vanduzen Co., Cincinnati, Ohio

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.)
Send for Price and Catalogue.
McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. (LIMITED)
CINCINNATI, OHIO.
SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS
FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &C.
Catalogue with 2500 illustrations, Prices and terms FREE.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS OF MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

518 and 520 CAMP ST.

Telephone 139.

HOME CIRCLE.

MOTHER AT THE GATE.

It was long ago that the children played
In the quiet fields where the daisies grew;
They twined the flowers, and the wreaths they made
Were left all night in the Summer dew.
"O, wait till the dew has died away,
And a star shines over the old oak tree!"
But a soft voice answered, "I must not stay,
For mother will watch at the gate for me."

And now, when the long day's work is done,
I go my way through the street or mart
In the loneliness that is known to one
Who sees the depth of a mourning heart;
But angels come at the close of day,
And sweet is the message they bear to me:
"Thou art near the end of the thorny way,
And thy mother waits at the gate for thee."

—Sunday Magazine.

Sympathy.

A little word from a warm heart to a fellow-being burdened with care, or sorrow, how sweet it is! It is not from joyous, untried youth whence we may expect sympathy, but it comes as a reward to one who has learned to "suffer and be strong."

It is a reward, a rich gift, for it brings its possessor the sweet satisfaction of an unselfish desire to help others: and when to desire is added an accomplished deed, then reward is a fact and a blessed one. Like mercy, its quality is not strained, "but blesses him that gives and him that seeks."

There never was a man or woman so self-reliant, but what at some time the touch of this divine well-spring of humanity would not have been sweet and helpful. The cynic and hermit are made of the material which has not been permeated or made malleable by sympathy. Christ himself longed for it, as he showed by his "could ye not watch one hour?" in sad but gentle rebuke to the disciples whom he took into Gethsemane. He also possessed it in a measure which no human being ever can attain; and he gave it unstintedly, always, everywhere. Even when suffering the cruel pangs of the cross, he recognized the agony in his mother's face, and with that last touch of loving thoughtfulness said: "Woman, behold thy son!" Then saith he to the disciple, "Behold thy mother!"

Sometimes people lock themselves behind an impenetrable barrier, and then find fault that their friends do not see their trouble, or care to share it. This is wrong, not only an injury to those who do so, but injustice to their friends.

There are men and women who do not get what they desire. Possibly, it may be those who occupy some high, important position; upon whom people are more likely to look with envy than with any feeling of sympathy, forgetting or not knowing that their responsibility is great, and their work is done before the eyes of many whose criticism is not always kind.

Missionaries say that the lack of human sympathy is really one of their greatest trials. How it lightens the cares of the toiler, who, on his return home, finds a kindly welcome! The housekeeper in her daily drudgery knows its worth, and who needs it more than a mother?

Alice Cary used often to weep out her heart-ache and disappointment when her guests went away without the words of encouragement the conscientious poet craved.—Mary Spaulding Hatch, in Exchange.

I know nothing can make up for such a loss as yours. But you will still have love on earth all around you, and his love is not dead. I live still in the next world for you, and perhaps with you. For why should not those who are gone, if they are gone to their Lord, be actually nearer us, not further from us, in the heavenly world.—Charles Kingsley.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Mother's Dream.

Sleep, balmy sleep, "nature's sweet restorer," had closed the eyes of a poor heart-broken mother, for the angel of death had just borne away a spotless soul, and left her nothing but a little form, still now in death. A sweet little face that would never again be upturned to hers—as she knelt beside her and lisped her little prayer.

The mother had clasped the tiny form and called upon God to spare her baby—then as the soul took its flight, from a supplicant, she becomes a rebellious woman. "Why had God been so unjust to her? Why could he not have taken some poor little neglected orphan, or one from a home where other ones could console with their sweet presence for the loss of one? Why was her one little blossom chosen, after having been given her just long enough to make her life bright with the sunshine of its presence, but to be taken away. Ah! it was bitter! The blow was heavy." With a sob and a moan, her eyelids closed—and all for a time is dark—then the mist clears away—she sees a beautiful angel standing beside her bed—he motions to her to come with him.

She arises, and, though her steps are heavy—she seems to be traveling through immeasurable space.

After awhile she hears faint music; then it seems to swell, louder, and louder, in a Gloria in Excelsis. She turns to her guide to ask the meaning of it all, but he smiles and says—"Wait only a little while"—In a few moments they arrive at the gates of a beautiful city. The gates swing back—the angel beckons—the music bursts into a loud hosanna; and the mother finds herself in front of a great white throne, in the midst of a host of angels.

In amaze she gazes at the throne, made gloriously bright by an Invisible Presence, and sees at the foot her baby, guarded by two angels—the angels of innocence and purity. With a sad look on its baby face, it attempts to spread its snow white wings, but they droop, as if too heavy to be borne.

With a cry of "Oh! my baby, come back to me," the mother tries to clasp the tiny form—but the angels wave her back. Then the little one speaks: "Mother, do not weep so, your tears weight down my wings. I want to fly with the other angels, but I can not while you weep. Be comforted—am I not safe in my Father's kingdom?" The mother ceased her weeping. She saw her little one lift its wings, and then, with a joyful smile, it soared away to join the singing angels. With a sigh the sleeper awoke comforted, for had she not seen her darling safe in the fold? and had not our Savior said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."—N. G. M., in Kate Power's Review.

The Secret of Happiness.

Some one relates the following naive speech which condenses much of the philosophy of happiness into a single sentence:

A man who was sad heard two boys laughing. He asked them, "What makes you happy?"

"Happy?" said the elder of the two; "why, I makes Jim glad, and gets glad myself."

This is a true secret of a happy life; to live so that by our example, our kind words and deeds, we may help some one else. It makes life happier here, and the home of the redeemed will be happier for the company of those we have, by God's help, brought there.

As you train your child, so will he be, is true in a very large sense. You can make him reverent, devout, God-fearing, if you begin the training in time, and are careful, wise, persistent, kind. On the other hand, you can permit him to grow up ignorant of God, reckless, heaven-daring, vicious; or, worse still, you can teach him to deny the existence of God, and regard not the face of man. We are aware that this implies that a wonderful power is given to and a wonderful responsibility is thrust upon the mother, but it is as true as the truth is startling.—Religious Telescope.

Said Mrs. Booth, the mother of the Salvation Army, near the close of her life: "I am convinced that the Spirit of God works mightily on little children; in fact, before most people think they are able to understand."

Silent Influence.

"I have no influence," said Elsie Lee to her old friend, Miss Tomasin. "Why, I am so timid when in company with others, that I hardly dare raise my eyes, or open my lips."

"That may be," replied the old lady, "and yet you are always exerting your influence wherever you go. You can not help yourself. An hour ago, I bought a little bunch of violets from a German flower girl, and I set them on yonder shelf, beside my dear mother's picture. It is a very tiny bunch, and a person entering the room would very likely not see them, for they do not challenge attention. But every nook and corner of the apartment feels their presence, for their fragrance is pervading the atmosphere.

"So it is with you, my dear. You love your Savior, and you try to serve him. You think you can not speak for him, but if you live for him, and with him, in gentleness, patience, and self-denial, that is better than talking. It does more good.

"The other evening, young Halcomb, who is thoughtless and giddy, made a jest of a verse of Scripture, in your hearing. You wished, I saw, to protest against his act, and tried to do so, but the words would not come. Yet your pained look, your quick blush, your instinctive, indignant gesture, spoke for you, and the young man turned and said, 'I beg your pardon, Miss Elsie.' Was not this a proof that he saw and felt your condemnation?"

Silent influence is stronger than we sometimes think, for good and for evil. Let us not underestimate it. The light of day, the warmth of spring, the nightly dew, and the snow enshielding tree and flower, are all voiceless; yet they have influence—the influence of loving deeds.

The Pouting Habit.

Pouting is a very bad and disagreeable habit. It brings a good deal of trouble into the family and a good deal of shame on the one who pouts. We feel very guilty and don't want to own to it. When a boy pouts he looks very solemn and sour, and won't speak at all. When a girl pouts she hides her face in her apron and snuffs a good deal. When a boy is pouting he never whistles very loud, and when a girl is pouting she never sings very sweetly. When children are pouting real hard they generally run away to some place and hide, so that no one can see the shame on their faces. Sometimes they will not speak to father and mother for a long time, and will not come to dinner when they are called.

Sometimes older persons pout. Large brothers and sisters pout and do not speak to each other for two are three days, and sometimes they go away from home in a pout and stay a long time.

Sometimes husbands and wives pout, and although they sit together at the same table, will not speak for a day or two. All this pouting makes a good deal of trouble and sadness in the family. It drives away all cheerfulness and smiles and song.

It is very sad, too, to see children ponting in school; pouting at their schoolmates and refusing to play; pouting at their teacher and refusing to recite; holding their faces down on the desk and refusing to look up. It takes a very bad and sullen child to pout before its schoolmates and teacher. Children who pout at home and at school generally grow up to be sour men and women, who nobody likes.

Remembered Courtesies.

There is a French saying that courtesies and favors are like flowers, which are only sweet while they are fresh, but afterward they quickly fade and wither. "Not so," replies a noted man; "the favors you did us nearly twenty years ago are as fresh to me as if they were done yesterday. I distil them in the alembic of my memory, and they turn to essences." A beautiful reply, indeed; and how much truth there is in it! Surely all of us cherish certain kindnesses and courtesies and favors we have received from friends, and even strangers, many years ago, and they form quite a part of the pleasures of memory. How often have we heard the expression, "I shall never forget her kindness;" or, "I shall never hear that gentleman's name spoken but I recall with pleasure his courtesy to me." The fragrance of these flowers of courtesy always remains.—Exchange.

HYGIENE.

Worry and Indigestion.

Worry is a baneful curse and source of untold evils. It seams the face with lines and furrows and has a most depressing effect upon that hypersensitive organ, the stomach. The physiological explanation of this is the close alliance of the great sympathetic nerves, which are worse than the telegraph for carrying bad news; the worry and anxiety which depress the brain produce simultaneously a semi-paralysis of the nerves of the stomach, gastric juices will not flow, and—presto! there is indigestion. One sign of mental health is serenity of temper and a self-control that enables us to bear with equanimity and unruffled temper the petty trials and jars of life, especially those arising from contact with scolding, irascible, irritating folk. It is well to remember at such times that these unfortunates are their own worst enemies, and cultivation of the art of not hearing will help us very much. It is a very useful art all through life, and well worth some trouble to acquire.

It was the habit of Wm. Cullen Bryant to rise in the Winter season at about 5:30; in the Summer at 5. Thinly clad, he would then exercise one hour with dumb-bells, on a cross bar and by swinging a chair about his head. He would then take a bath and dress for the day, after which he would go out and work about his yard and lot for half an hour, and go into his library and study till called to breakfast. His diet was always simple and taken temperately. After breakfast he would read and think one hour, and walk down to his office, a distance of three miles. After three hours' study and work he would walk back home, three miles, no matter what the character of the weather or the condition of the roads. He did most of his literary work and studying in the forenoon, and whenever a sense of weariness and fatigue would come over him, he would stop at once and rest. He was strictly temperate, never indulging in beer or strong drink—seldom taking a glass of wine, and never using stimulating condiments in eating—such as pepper, mustard, etc. Thus he enjoyed good health, preserved a vigorous manhood and a mind as clear as a bead all his days. Young man, it may be well for you to imitate the example of this great and good man. You see he esteemed regular and active exercise and temperance as essential to good health and long life.—Alabama Advocate.

The Oyster Typhoid Cases.

Prof. W. H. Conn, M. D., has made a report of the investigation into the outbreak of typhoid fever among students of Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., from eating raw oysters which had been kept in a bed in the Connecticut river where it received contamination from a sewer. The report may be obtained in the U. S. Marine Hospital Bulletin of Dec. 14. "As shell fish are not usually communicative about their antecedents, it will be the part of wisdom since this extraordinary disclosure of them, to insist invariably on having oysters or clams well cooked before eating them. —Sanitary Era.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

QUINCE SAUCE.—One cupful of quince preserve, one of milk, one tablespoonful of corn-starch, half a cup of sugar. Mix the corn-starch with a little of the cold milk and put the remainder in the double boiler. When it boils stir in the corn-starch and cook ten minutes, then add the sugar and preserve, mashed fine. Cook ten minutes longer and rub through a strainer. The sauce is usually served cold, but when used with hot pudding, it, too, should be hot.

SALTED ALMONDS.—Shell, blanch and dry half a pound of almonds. Lay them in a clean tin pan with a couple of teaspoonfuls of butter and put them in a rather hot oven. Shake the pan frequently that the almonds may color equally. When of a uniform light brown, take them out, drain them in a colander on brown paper and sprinkle them lightly with salt.

Try ordinary grated horse-radish for the removal of the cough which follows the grip. Eat it at meals and between meals.

BEGINNING EARLY is half the battle. Don't wait for your cough to run into Consumption. There's always danger of it. The germs or seeds of this disease are all around you. All that they want is an inactive liver and the scrofulous condition that follows it, to develop them.

You need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now, to thoroughly purify your blood, build up sound, firm, honest flesh, and make every weak spot strong. It's a certain remedy for the earlier stages of Consumption.

Campbell, Ohio,

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—Two of our best doctors pronounced my case consumption. I spent nearly $300, and was no better. I concluded to try the "Golden Medical Discovery." I bought eight bottles, and I can now say with truth that I feel just as well today as I did at twenty-five, and can do just as good a day's work on the farm, although I had not done any work for several years. I give you all the thanks.

Truly, your friend,

William Dulaney

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES.

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches.

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas,

DENVER, Colorado,

LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California,

and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., it now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket ____ 143

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing

F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

OBITUARIES.

(Continued from Third Page.)

VANDERBURG—Bro. W. J. VANDARBUAO, son of Martin and Caliine Vanderburg, was born Jan. 21, 1865, and died on the first day of November, 1894.

Bro. Vanderburg was born in North Carolina, but his father moved to Mississippi and settled in Panola county, where Bro. Vanderburg was happily married to Miss Catherine Dixon. He joined the church when quite young, and his life was marked by kindness and good deeds. About two years ago he thoroughly consecrated himself to God. After this his devotion to the church was of the very deepest kind, and his growth in grace continual. He was a good Sunday-school worker. He had a large class, and was very prompt to meet it. He bid fair to soon become one of the foremost leaders in the church. The church suffers much by his death.

He leaves a wife and two children to mourn their loss. We extend to them and all his kindred the tenderest sympathy, hoping that the last year of his life, so devoted to the service of his God in serving the church, will be an inspiration to me all, that we may live nearni lives and meet Bro. Vanderburg in heaven, when we shall be called one by one to meet our God. W. M. YOUNG, Pastor.

DOGLASS—Mrs. SALLIE DOGLASS died at her home near Hinto, Ala., Dec. 29, 1894, aged eighty-three years.

She joined the M. E. Church in the twenty-first year of her life, and was a living witness to the world that she had been with Jesus. She loved the church, and lived in the enjoyment of the Holy Spirit. She loved to talk of God and heaven. She could truthfully say: "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the righteous Judge will give."

It was the writer's lot to visit her and to preach for her when she was so feeble she could not go to church. The last time that I preached for her, oh, how she enjoyed the service as we sang that grand old tune, "Jerusalem of my soul"! Her soul was made to rejoice in hope of the glory of God. She said that she was just waiting the summons of God to call her home. What is our loss is her eternal gain. She leaves friends and relatives to mourn till they shall meet on the other side of Jordan. J. N. BROADWAY.

PENIGER—Mrs. LOUISA C. PENIGER was born near Marshall, Texas, Nov. 14, 1840, and died October, 1894, near Glenmora, Rapides parish. She came to Louisiana in 1850, where she has ever since lived. In 1858 she was converted and united with the M. E. Church, South. She was married to Mr. Peter Peniger in 1864, who, with the seven children born to them, survive her. From the time she joined the church she was a consistent member, faithful in her attendance on the means of grace and in the discharge of her Christian duties and a devoted wife and mother. Her house was the home of the Methodist itinerants who labored in their community, many of whom will remember her kindnesses.

After many years of usefulness "she rests well," in the assurance of a blessed immortality. To the loved ones left behind may the hope he expressed that "her God will be their God," "even unto death." R. C. GRACE.

RAGLAND—MARY, second daughter of Lem and Jane Ragland, was born Feb. 14, 1886, and died Sept. 24, 1894.

Just why God took little Mary and made home so sad we can not tell; but we know "he doeth all things well." Her sickness lasted only three days, and her pape was deprived of being with her until only a few hours before she fell asleep in Jesus. How sad it must have been that Sabbath evening when pape returned and found life's race almost run! But what is our loss is Mary's eternal gain. She has entered in at the gates of pearl that swing on silver hinges, and is waiting in heaven's portals for her loved ones.

Papa, mama, little brothers and sisters, weep not, but strive to meet her in the "happy beyond." ELLA THOMPSON.

SMITH—J. HUGH SMITH, son of B. F. and Frances E Smith, was born Oct. 9, 1888; died Nov. 30, 1894, aged six years one month and twenty-one days. Hugh was a great sufferer for nearly two months with slow fever and congestion; but he bore it like a hero. He had the very best attention, but to no avail. His spirit took its flight to the "home of the soul," for Christ said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, . . . for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

We know not why the good Lord took little Hugh, but God doeth all things well. He has gone to join the ranks above. We shall see him again. M. L. WHITE.

BOWIE—MARTIN DON BOWIE, son of Hugh J and Mrs. Ellen M. Bowie, died in Jeanerette, La., Jan. 25, 1895.

This dear little babe was two months and twenty-one days old, precious and sweet—just that age at which an infant becomes interesting. May its removal to the better world be an invitation to the family to live for God and heaven! R. M. BLOCKER.

MARRIAGES.

EVANS—OQUIN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. A. Oquin, near Barbreck, La., Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. Fred White, Mr. Lee Z. Evans and Miss Annie Oquin, all of St. Landry parish.

PRINCE—SAVOIE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Louisa, La., Feb. 6, 1895, by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. Ulysse Prince and Miss Roselle Savoie.

BLAKEWOOD—GEORGE.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Feb. 6, 1895, by Rev. W. T. Woodward, Mr. Bettison W. Blakewood to Miss Annie E George.

OPDENWYN—ROBERTSON.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Nov. 27, 1894, by Rev. W. T. Woodward, Mr. Frank Opdenwyn to Miss Fannie Robertson, all of Livingston parish, La.

PAINE—STEWART.—At the Methodist parsonage, Zachary, La., Feb. 6, by Rev. J. O. Bennett, Mr. James H. Paine to Miss Winnie Stewart, both of East Baton Rouge parish.

COUSINS—SMITH.—At the Methodist parsonage, Ocean Springs, Miss., Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. Robt. B. Dowoer, Mr. Geo. H. Cousins, of Biloxi, Miss., to Mrs. Amelia J. Smith.

HARPER—LAIRD.—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. Erastus Laird, near Blountsville, Miss., Jan. 30, 1895, by Rev. M. L. White, Mr. I. O. Harper to Miss Estella I. Laird.

FOSTER—ISENHOOD.—At the residence of Mr. I. J. Foster, near Mechanicsburg, Miss., Dec 24, 1894, by Rev. D. C. Langford, Mr. Isaac J. Foster to Miss M. E. Isenhood.

PEPPER—BROWN.—At the residence of Mr. Wm. A. Brown, near Deasonville, Miss., Dec. 26, 1894, by Rev. D. C. Langford, Mr. Hugh M. Pepper, of Deasonville, Miss., to Miss Rosalie Brown.

PICKETT—CLEMENT.—At the residence of Mr. H. Oats, Yazoo county, Miss., Jan. 15, 1895, by Rev. D. C. Langford, Mr John K. Pickett to Miss Znia Clement, formerly of Hattiesburg, Miss.

CROWLEY—WOOD.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Wood, Sept. 16, 1894, by Rev. W. M. Young, Mr. William Crowley to Miss Callie Wood, both of Loog Town, Miss.

MORRIS—JACO.—At the residence of the bride's step-father, Mr. O. Presler, Sept. 31, 1894, by Rev. W. M. Young, Mr. R. T. Morris to Miss Lucy Jaco, of Mastodon, Miss.

SMITH—JENNINGS.—At Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, Dec. 5, 1894, by Rev W. M. Young, Mr. J. H. Smith to Miss Lelie Jennings, both of Panola county, Miss.

TINKLE—ALLEN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Joe Allen, Dec 27, 1894, by Rev. W. M. Young, Mr. Geo. Tinkle to Miss Fannie Allen, both of Cypress Corner, Miss.

YOUNGBLOOD—GROGAN.—At the residence of Mr. Oline, Jan. 16, 1895, by Rev. W. M. Young, Mr. J. F. Younghlood to Miss Dallah Grogan, of Panola county, Miss.

SORRELS—DAVIS.—At Pleasant Grove, Nov. 9, 1894, by Rev. W. M. Young, Mr. Clarence Sorrels to Miss Telie Davis, of Pleasant Grove, Miss.

GREVEMBERG—FARMER.—In the Methodist Church, Jeanerette, La., Jan. 30, 1895, by Rev. R. M. Blocker, Mr. Henry W. Grevemberg to Miss Alice Farmer.

COLLOM—ROGERS.—At the residence of Judge E. North Collom, Opelousas, La., Jan. 23, 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., by Rev. E. T. Denson, pastor M. E. Church, South, Mr. W. M. Collom, of Opelousas, to Miss Florence Rogers, of Alexandria, La. No cards.

WENK—FRANZ.—In Seymourville, La., Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. H. S. Johns, Mr. Ottomer Wenk to Mrs. Mary Franz, both of Louisiana. No cards.

BERRY-JESSON.—At the residence of the bride, Seymourville, La., Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. H. S. Johns, Mr. George W. Berry to Mrs. Minnie C. Jesson. No cards.

HATCHER—KNIGHTON.—At Gilead Church, East Feliciana parish, La., Aug. 9, 1894, by Rev. J. P. Haney, Mr. Howard P. Hatcher to Miss Lizzie Knighton, both of said parish.

STILLY—NESOM.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. A. Nesom, St. Helena parish, La., Oct. 11, 1894, by Rev. J. P. Haney, Mr. S. D. Stilly and Miss Jaoie Nesom.

BONDS—GEORGE.—At Killian Chapel, St. Helena parish, La., Oct. 21, 1894, by Rev. J. P. Haney, Mr. W. P. Bonds to Miss Sallie George.

CARROLL—FELPS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Aquilla Felps, East Feliciana parish, La., Dec. 30, 1894, by Rev. J. P. Haney, Mr. Alonzo Carroll, son of Rev. W. H. Carroll, to Miss Daisy Felps, both of said parish.

SWIFT—BOTLER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Jan. 16, by Rev. J. R. Roy, Mr. J. S Swift and Miss Angie Butler, both of Caldwell parish.

FERRARD—LACY.—In the Methodist Church, Columbia, La., Feb. 6, at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. R. Roy, Mr. W. G. Ferrard, of Monroe, La., and Miss Annie Lacy, of Columbia, La.

MILLER KELLER.—At the residence of his brother, Almerion, in Wilson, La., Feb. 3, 1895, by Rev. R. W. Tucker, Rev. C. C. Miller, professor in Centenary College, to Miss Mattie Keller.

FAVRE—COOK.—At the M. E. Church, South, Pearlington, Miss., Feb. 6, 1895, by Rev. W. G Forsyth, Mr. Hunter E. Favre to Miss Lalu Cook, all of Pearlington.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

People who have no charity for the faults of others are generally stone blind to their own.

Timothy Davis, postmaster at Pattersonville, La., says: "Some years ago, while living in Algiers, I contracted a cough that everyone thought would cause my death. I was unable to sleep, had night-sweats, and soon became too weak to work. I had several doctors and tried many remedies, but with no improvement. An old friend hearing of my condition recommended Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. It had cured him of a serious lung trouble, and he had great confidence in Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar. Before three bottles had been taken I was up and about, a well man. It saved my life. I always recommend it for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, any lung or throat trouble." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

It is a bad thing to keep two dogs and not do anything to help support a preacher.

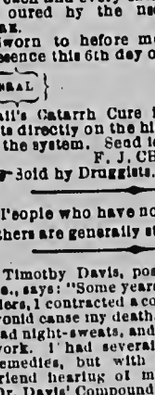
An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Oraddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Award.

No man is more to be pitied than the one who is satisfied with himself.

PIMPLES



Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample. JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16-inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

Babies and Children thrive on Scott's Emulsion when all the rest of their food seems to go to waste. Thin Babies and Weak Children grow strong, plump and healthy by taking it.

Scott's Emulsion

overcomes inherited weakness and all the tendencies toward Emaciation or Consumption. Thin, weak babies and growing children and all persons suffering from Loss of Flesh, Weak Lungs, Chronic Coughs, and Wasting Diseases will receive untold benefits from this great nourishment. The formula for making Scott's Emulsion has been endorsed by the medical world for twenty years. No secret about it.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . . and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail.— 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

ont feb8

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal.

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HANDY VOLUME SERIES.

A Collection of the Masterpieces of English Literature in Uniform Bindings, Handy Volume Size.

These Books are Printed on Good Paper, and are Tastefully Bound in Cloth or Paper, Ornamented with attractive design in Silver.

Cranford—Mrs. Gaskell.
Rab and His Friends, etc.—Brown.
Vicar of Wakefield—Goldsmith.
Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.
Tales from Shakespeare—Charles and Mary Lamb.
Sesame and Lilies—Ruskin.
Ethics of the Dust—Ruskin.
Pleasures of Life—Lubbock.
Scarlet Letter—Hawthorne.
House of Seven Gables—Hawthorne.
Mosses from an Old Manse—Hawthorne.
Lucille—Meredith.
Twice Told Tales—Hawthorne.
Emerson's Essays, first series.
Emerson's Essays, second series.
Representative Men.
Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius.
Discourses of Epictetus.
Drummond's Addresses.
Chesterfield's Letters.
Reveries of a Bachelor—"Ik Marvel."
Dream Life—"Ik Marvel."
Sartor Resartus—Carlyle.
Heroes and Hero Worship—Carlyle.

This series would make a handsome addition to your library.

PRICE: CLOTH, 40 cents; PAPER, 25 cents.

Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price.

We will give any one of these books as a premium to every new subscriber who subscriber between now and the first of January. Also to any old subscriber (who has not had the benefit of any previous offer), provided he will pay his subscription to January, '96. W. C. BLACK.

A NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK.

Touching Incidents

—AND—

Remarkable Answers to Prayer,

AS RELATED BY

John Wesley,	Bishop Bowman,	S. A. Keen,	Chas. G. Finney,
Bishop Simpson,	John Knox,	A. B. Earle,	T. DeWitt Talmage,
John B. Gough,	Martin Luther,	B. Fay Mills,	Frances E. Willard,
Edward Payson,	C. H Spurgeon,	D. L. Moody,	George Muller,
James Caughey,	Wm. Carvosso,	Guy Fox,	James H. Potts,

And Many Others.

Read a few of the good things said of it.

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal: "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Cumberland Presbyterian: "Is is indeed full of touching incidents calculated to quicken the faith of all who read it."

Pres. Franklin College, New Athens, O.: "This is one of the best and most interesting books we have ever seen."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the desponding Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearers to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

The book contains 320 pages, and when open measures 8½ by 12½ inches, and is beautifully bound in full cloth.

It is written in clear, simple, forcible language, yet it presents rich variety. It is equally adapted to the learned and unlettered. All classes of readers can understand it and all be helped by it.

Young and old, saved and unsaved, all read it with delight. Leaders of the various Christian denominations commend it highly.

OUR OFFER.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS

and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $45. Write to-day. "A" Grade, $67.50. Write to-day.

OUR LATEST OFFERING

Has been most enthusiastically received by readers and their friends, and thousands have availed themselves of the opportunity to secure the beautiful

HOLY LAND
ART PORTFOLIOS.

These superb art publications, outside of their religious and educational value, are an

INCOMPARABLE
PERSONAL POSSESSION,

Since they mirror the Land of the Savior as it exists today, all the photographs having been secured

BY SPECIAL COMMISSION

During the present year. The entire work, which has just reached fruition, has involved

THREE DISTINCT TOURS,

In which the Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee have been literally retraced with

NOTE BOOK AND CAMERA

From Bethlehem to Calvary and the Mount of Olives, the descriptive portion of the publication being the joint work of

TWO DISTINGUISHED DIVINES,

The Rev. John H. Vincent, Chancellor of Chautauqua, and the Rev. James W. Lee, D. D., the photographic results having been secured by the celebrated landscape and scenic artist, Robert E. M. Bain.

OUR READERS ONLY

Are privileged to obtain these Holy Land Art Portfolios in this city and vicinity, and on

These Easy Terms:

Subscribe for the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

See terms on the eighth page.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK

DOMESTIC.

Hon. Isaac P. Gray, late United States Minister to Mexico, died in the City of Mexico last week.

Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, retires from office in March, after twenty-two years of service in the Senate, at the age of seventy, poor.

Foreign nations are alarmed at the success of our modern cruisers. Both England and France will construct cruisers after the pattern of the Columbia and Minneapolis.

But for the sickness of Senator Cullom, of Illinois, the sugar bounty amendment would have been reported to the Senate, on Feb. 18, as an amendment incorporated in the sundry civil bill.

The second triennial meeting of the National Council of Women of the United States was formally opened in Washington, on Feb. 18 at Metzerott's Music Hall. The meeting will continue until March 2.

The Board of Public Safety, in Louisville, on Feb. 16 issued an order instructing Chief of Police Taylor to enforce the Sunday law at once. This will be the first time the law has been enforced in fourteen years. The chief has been instructed to arrest all offenders.

The Brooklyn trolley strike was partially voted off on Feb. 16. The strikers who were employed on the Brooklyn Heights and the Queen's county and suburban railroads met at their local assemblies and declared the strike off as far as they were concerned.

The Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church, in Washington, was beautifully decorated on Feb. 15 in honor of the convention of the W. C. T. U. A good attendance greeted the opening session, which began with the singing of hymns, followed by an address of welcome.

The Missouri Senate has gone on record as opposed to the old vagrancy law under which counties have been disposing of vagrants at public auction. It has passed a bill repealing that section of the law and leaving cities and towns the right to punish vagrants only by imprisonment.

A race war has attracted much attention in Southwest Texas, at Uvalde, the county seat of Uvalde county, between the white and Mexican patrons of the public schools. The white citizens are very indignant because the school trustees permit the Mexican children to attend the same schools with white children, and many of the latter have been taken out of school on that account.

The celebration of the centenary birthday of George Peabody, the philanthropist, occurred in Peabody, Mass., his native town, on Feb. 18. Many of his millions were devoted to the education of youth in many States, and on the completion of a century of his life-work, his memory was celebrated and his name pronounced with reverence by the school children of this city and State, and by school children in many States of the Union.

Important action upon the seal fisheries of the Behring Sea was taken on Feb. 16 by the House Committee on Ways and Means. It was agreed to authorize the President to invite the governments of Great Britain, Russia and Japan to unite with the United States in sending a joint commission to investigate the seal fisheries of the North Pacific and Behring Sea. The President will be authorized to arrange modus vivendi with these powers for the protection of the seals until the report of this commission has been received and acted upon.

FOREIGN.

A motion to separate Church and State was lost in the French Chamber of Deputies.

The German Reichstag favors another International Conference to take action for the rehabilitation of silver.

It is said that horrible tortures were inflicted by the government of Hawaii to get witnesses to make a confession in the treason cases.

It is reported that Li Hung Chang, one of the new Chinese peace envoys, is on his way to Port Arthur, where he is to meet envoys appointed by Japan and arrange terms for the cessation of the war. It is said that Russia and England will offer to mediate a peace between China and Japan.

The Japanese forces are now in complete occupation of the island of Lin Hung Tao, the forts of which were the last to hold out against the victorious Japanese forces.

To the Pyramids by trolley may soon be a possible trip. The Egyptian government has just granted a concession for an electric railroad in Cairo, and the Pyramids are only eight miles away.

The Way to reach catarrh is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by purifying the blood, removes the cause of the disease and permanently cures catarrh. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

Admiral Ting, the Chinese naval commander at Wei-Hei-Wei, has committed suicide on account of the reverses to the Chinese forces. Commodore Liu and Geo.-Chang have also taken their own lives for the same reason.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded, 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. No Postals Answered. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. J. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Invitations will be issued by the German government to all the maritime powers of Europe and America to send warships to take part in the naval display and the fetes which will take place on the opening of the Baltic and North Sea Canal on June 18

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

In a recent article on Coffee and Cocoa, the eminent German Chemist, Professor Stulzer, speaking of the Dutch process of preparing Cocoa by the addition of potash, and of the process common in Germany in which ammonia is added, says: "The only result of these processes is to make the liquid appear turbid to the eye of the consumer, without effecting a real solution of the Cocoa substance. This artificial manipulation for the purpose of so-called solubility is, therefore, more or less inspired by deception, and always takes place at the cost of purity, pleasant taste, useful action, and aromatic flavor. The treatment of Cocoa by such chemical means is entirely objectionable. . . . Cocoa treated with potash of ammonia would be entirely unsalable but for supplementary addition of artificial flavors by which a poor substitute for the aroma driven out into the air is offered to the consumer." The delicious Breakfast Cocoa made by WALTER BAKER & CO., of Dorchester, Mass., is absolutely pure and soluble. No chemicals, or dyes, or artificial flavors are used in it.

Dr. Harmon's Select Sermons.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.
Governor's Office
Richmond, Va., Sept. 4, 1894.

Rev. J. W. Harmon, Paulding, Miss.—

Dear Sir: Permit me to thank you sincerely for the handsomely bound volume of your sermons which you recently sent me, and also for the kindly spirit of your letter which accompanied the book. I shall read the volume with pleasure, and doubt not that I shall derive much good from it. Again thanking you for your courtesy, and with much respect, I am,
Yours very truly, CHAS. T. O'FERRALL.

The work will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, $1. Address
REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp street, New Orleans, La.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

People who can be spoiled by honest praise are no account to begin with.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Senatobia	Mar. 9, 10
Hernando	16, 17
Sardis	23, 24
Batesville at Wesley Chapel	30, 31
Como, at McGee's	Apr. 6, 7
Panola, at Tirzah	13, 14
Morgansville, at Cole Springs	14, 15
Courtland at Eureka	20, 21
Nesbit, at Eudora	27, 28
Tyro, at Mt Vernon	May 4, 5
Wall Hill, at ———	(Wed.).. 8
Cockrum at ———	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at ———	(Thurs.).. 13
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel	10, 19
Pleasant Grove, at ———	25, 26

H. O. MORNEHEAD, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mount Pleasant, at Mount Pleasant	Feb 23, 24
Ashland, at Salem	Mar. 2, 3
Pontotoc	9, 10
Abbeville	16, 17

J. D CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Saltillo	Feb. 23, 24
Nettleton	26
Fulton	28
Tremont	2[illegible]
Amory and Smithville	Mar. 2, 3
Quincy	3
Aberdeen circuit	6

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starges	Feb. 23, 24
Cedar Bluff	Mar. 2, 3
Hebron	9, 10
Shuqualek	16, 17
Mashulaville	23, 24

T. O. WIER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Indianola and Falcoala	Feb. 23, 24
McNutt	Mar. 2, 3
Sidon	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	16, 17
Black Hawk	15, 14

J. B. STONE, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rosedale	Feb. 24
Scuvar	Mar. 2
Hollandale	10
Arcola	17
Friar's Point	24

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Blue Springs circuit, at Blue Springs	Feb 16, 24
Guntown circuit, at Guntown	Mar. 2, 3

HEELEP R TUCKER, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

New Port circuit, at Bethel	Feb. 23, 24
Stewart circuit, at South Union	Mar. 1
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	2, 3
Ebenezer circuit, at Koenesr	9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester	16, 17
Ackerman circuit, at Liberty Hill	23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall	29
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	30, 31

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Madison circuit, at Madison	Feb 23, 24
Silver Creek and S. L., at S. L. (at)	Mar. 2
Lake City and Ludi, at Lake City	3, 4
Camden, at Sunrock Chapel	9, 10
Tranquil circuit, at Locust Grove	16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant	23, 24
Jackson cir., at Fast Chapel, Wed.	27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin	30, 31

District stewards' meeting will be held Feb 27, at 2 P. M., at Capitol Street, Jackson.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

N. Kemper, at Sp Hill	Feb 23, 24
Indian Mission at Tch Chuluk	Mar. 1
Livewood at Bethel	2, 3
Neshoba at Mars' Hill	9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary	16, 17

R. J. JONES, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vanleave, at Union	Feb. 23, 24
Ocean Springs and Scranton at [illegible] S.	Mar. 2, 3
Whittington, at Pascagoula, Wed., Thurs.	9, 7
Bay St Louis at St L	9, 10
Augusta at Isabella	16, 17
Black Creek, at Mt Zion	23, 24

C. A POWELL, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Magnolia and Osyka, at M	Feb. 23, 24
Providence, at Bahala	Mar. 2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams	9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fastabuchie	Feb. 16, 17
Mathersville and Mission	23, 24
Waynesboro circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Leakville	9, 10
Williamsburg	16, 17
Mount Carmel	23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Shiloh, at John's	Feb. 23, 24
Raleigh, at Raleigh	26
Westville, at Westville	Mar. 2, 3
Brandon station	9, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis, at Marvin	16, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood	26
Tranton, at Gasque	29
Montrose, at Montrose	30, 31

C. McDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Feb 23, 24
Mayersville, at Beaton	Mar. 2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Willis' Chapel	30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wilkinson circuit	Feb 23, 24
N. Wilkinson	Mar. 2, 3
Homo Chitto	9, 10
Amite	16, 17
Meadville	23, 24
Washington	Apr. 6, 7

L. S. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

DELHI DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Oakley and Vidalia, at Vidalia	Mar. 9, 10
Winsboro, at Magnolia	16, 17
Rayville at Giraid	23, 24
Jamison, at Cadesville	30, 31
West Monroe, at Faulk's	Apr. 6, 7
Monroe, at Monroe	13, 14
Bastrop, at Bastrop	20, 21
Lind Grove, at Bartholomaw	27, 28
Delhi, at Tallulah	May 4, 5
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	11, 12
Water Proof, at ———	18, 19
Harrisonburg, at ———	25, 26
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	June 1, 2

District Conference at Oak Ridge, beginning May 31, and including June 2.

R. F. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Opelousas	Mar. 9, 9
Lafayette	9, 10
Plaquemine Brulee and Hayne, at P. B.	16, 17
Growley	23, 24
Prudhomme, at Prudhomme City	30, 31
Lake Charles	Apr. 6, 7
West Lake	13, 14
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	20, 21
Warwick, preaching at 11 on Sun.	23, 27
Morgan City preach at night, Sun.	28, 29
Patterson	May 4, 5
Franklin	9, 7
Jeanerette	11, 12
Indian Bayou	14, 15
Abbeville at Prairie Gregg	16, 19
New Iberia	23, 26
Grand Chenlara, at Grand Chenlara	June 1, 2
Washington	9, 9
Lake Arthur, at Lacassine	16, 19

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Vincent, at Hoff's	Feb. 21
Ponchatoula, at Wesley	23, 24
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar. 2, 3
Amite City, at Rosetand	9, 10
St Helena, at Greensburg	16, 17
Pine Grove, at Pine Grove	17, 10
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

DeSoto Mission	Feb 21
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 2, 3
Many at Prospect	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant	16, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G	23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	Feb. 23, 24
Glenmora	Mar 2, 3
Atlanta at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	16, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Louisiana Avenue	Feb. 24
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 3
Napoleon Memorial	10
Tallahatchie	17
Felicity Street	23
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Summerfield at Harmony	Feb. 23, 24
Vienna at Vienna	Mar. 2, 3
Ruston at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gansville at Gansville	23, 24
Homer at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr. 6, 7

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the church at Arcadia, Thursday, Jan. 31, at 10:30 A. M.

J. D HARPER, P. E.

Notice.

Brethren, please send me a short account of your "Dollar Week," with the amount raised.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS,
Miss. Sec. of Miss. Conf.

Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11⅛x13¼ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2 40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2 40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer.

W. C. BLACK.

512 Camp St., New Orleans.

The World in the Church

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

The Alliance Carriage Co.

The World's Fair awarded two Medals and one Diploma to the Alliance Carriage Company for Strength of Work, Beauty of Finish and Cheapness of Price. No other Carriage or Vehicle Company of any kind was shown this high honor and distinction. You can have their latest catalogue for the asking. Send to the Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, O.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 7-16	● —
Ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Good ordinary	6 7-16	— —
Low middling	6⅝	— —
Middling	6⅞	— —
Good middling	6⅝	— —
Middling fair	7 7-16	— —
Fair	7 7-16	— —
Galveston middling	6⅞	— —
Mobile middling	6	— —
Memphis middling	6⅞	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	1⅜	— —
Fully fair	2 5-16	— —
Good fair	2 3-16	2⅛
Common	2	2⅛
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	1⅜	2⅜
Prime yellow	2⅜	2 13-16
Gray white	— —	2 1-16
Choice white	2 5-16	2⅜
Standard granulated	2 6-16	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	10	11
Good common	8	9
SYRUP	6	14
RICE.
No. 2	1⅜	2¼
Good	4⅛	4⅜
Fair	5⅜	4⅝
Prime	4⅛	4⅜
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 80	2 60
Polish, ₩ ton	13 00	15 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	2 75	2 80
Fancy	— —	2 16
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	3 75	4 00
Winter wheat patents	3 60	3 20
Minnesota bakers	3 16	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 60	— —
Cream meal	2 16	— —
Grits	2 70	2 75
Hominy	2 50	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	51	— —
Yellow	54	— —
Mixed No 2	56	— —
OATS:
Western	37	37½
Texas rust-proof	43	45
BRAN:
₩ cwt	66	67½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	16 00
Choice	16 00	16 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	11 00	— —
Prime Mess	11 00	— —
Rumps	16 75	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	8½	9½
Shoulders	— —	5
Sides, short rib	5½	5⅝
Sides, long clear	5½	5½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	6	9½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4⅝
Sides, short rib	5⅛	5
Sides, long clear	5⅛	5
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	16	— —
Common	11½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
Ho-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	25	26
Western Dairy	16	— —
Common	12	15
LARD:
Refined	— —	7
OILS:
Coal, bbls	5½	— —
Coal, cases	18	— —
Cotton seed, crude	25	24
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ [illegible]	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	5 00	7 00
Louisiana, ₩ [illegible]	8 00	9 10
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 80	3 65
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00
BAGGING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	5¼	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	4⅜	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	6¼	6½
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 25	— —
Young Chickens	2 25	3 00
Chickens, Southern	3 10	3 50
Young	2 00	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	11 00
EGGS:
Western	23	24
Southern	24	25
WOOL:
Lake ₩ lb	12½	15
Louisiana	11	11½
Burry	6	8
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	5	5½
Dry salted	4½	5
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	16 00	— —
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

Dr. P. S. Henson, of Chicago, has this to say: The devil does not walk abroad as he used to, with horns and hoofs, and a forked tail, and a breath that smells of brimstone, but he comes in the guise of a gentleman, with eyeglasses on his nose, encyclopedias under his arms, and the learned lingo of philosophy on his lips. He does not squarely and impudently affirm that there is no God, but shakes his sapient head and shrugs his shoulders, and says he doesn't know, and he rather suspects that nobody knows. He does not deny that the Bible is of divine origin, but he suggests that, while there is, doubtless, much truth in it, yet allowance must be made for the "errancy" of the human element in it, and for the fact that it was written under very different sociological and scientific conditions, when the faculties of men were clouded by ignorance and fettered by superstition. Unacquainted with the laws of nature, the Bible writers were ready to see the flashing forth of a supernatural power, where we, with our superior knowledge, recognize only the orderly operation of natural causes. These learned philosophers, from the height of their loftiness, look down with pity or contempt upon the simple-hearted Christian folk who still believe in the supernatural.

FOR BABY'S SKIN
Scalp and Hair

USE
Cuticura SOAP

The most effective skin purifying and beautifying soap in the world, as well as purest and sweetest for toilet, bath, and nursery. For distressing facial eruptions, pimples, blackheads, irritations of the scalp, dry, thin, and falling hair, red, rough hands, chafings, and simple rashes and blemishes of childhood, it is absolutely incomparable.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: NEWBERY, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG & CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

CHURCH ORGANS—The Lyon & Healy Church Organs present remarkable value. Prices from $300 for a good instrument of fine tone, suitable for a small church, upward. For $975 an instrument of great power, containing 6.9 speaking notes, two manuals and pedals. Only church organ of the size having pneumatic pistons, pneumatic stop action, and made of standard measurements adopted by the College of Organists, London, Eng. Indorsed by leading organists everywhere. Fully guaranteed for five years. Sketches, specifications and prices promptly furnished on application. Time payments may be arranged. LYON & HEALY, 22 E. Adams St., CHICAGO.

WANTED 1000 MORE BOOK AGENTS for the fastest selling book of the times
DARKNESS and DAYLIGHT in NEW YORK
By Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Thos. Byrnes, Chief of N. Y. Police. With an account of his thirty years experience as a great detective written by himself. 716 pages. 250 superb illustrations from photographs of real life. With introduction
By Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D.
Pure and high-toned—full of tears and smiles—Ministers say "God speed it." and Agents are selling it by hundreds. Big Profits. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies Free Outfit and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars and Specimen Engravings to
A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF CHURCH FURNISHINGS
OPERA AND ASSEMBLY CHAIRS
SCHOOL FURNITURE COMPANY
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

CANCER
—CURED WITH—
SOOTHING BALMY OILS.
The Cruel Knife and Burning Plaster Must Go.

Cancer of the FACE, LIPS, MOUTH, NOSE, EAR, EYE, BREAST, UTERUS, RECTUM, etc.

All Cancers internal or external, yield rapidly to the effects of our MILD and PAINLESS OILS. Also Tumors, Ulcers, Old Indolent Sores, and all Chronic Skin Diseases quickly and permanently cured with our balmy Soothing Oils. Hundreds of testimonials furnished. The following names are a few of the many cases we have cured who will be pleased to write you concerning these wonderful oils:

John Hersh, 1236 Jefferson St., Kansas City, Mo.
Mrs. J. M. Sweet, 618 Kenwood Ave.,
Mrs. M. M. Houston, Belle Grove, Mo.
Col. S. K. Ray, Sweet Springs, Mo.
Mrs. Phillips Lead, Sweet Springs, Mo.
D. T. Singleman, Grand Pass, Mo.
W. S. Lewis, Kantwa, Kr.
Mis. Maud S. Joy, Eddyville, Ky.

Mention this paper.

Write us for Question Book. Address
DR. CASTLE & CO.,
Sole Props. of Balmy Compunian Oil Remedies
S. E. Cor 9th and Wyandotte Sts.,
Kansas City, Mo.

☞ P. S.—Cut this out and send to some afflicted friend.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
California Table Apricots,
3 lb. can 10 cents.

R. H. Hankey, President. Jno. E. Huffman, Sec'y-Treas.
UNION HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION,
New No. 336 Carondelet Street.

NO ADMISSION FEE!
NO WITHDRAWAL FEE!

You Can Always Get Back All You Put In!
Installments of $1 per Month received.
Dividends credited in January and July.
Full paid stock in $100 shares bears guaranteed dividends of 6 per cent. per annum, payable in cash semi-annually.
Married women may hold and withdraw this stock without legal restraint.
Net Assets Jan. 1, 1894, $90,839.98; net assets Jan. 1, 1895, $119,699.11, of which amount $115,441.86 was secured by first mortgage and vendor's lien on improved real estate in New Orleans.
Secretary's office hours 9 to 4. Full information cheerfully given. Call, write or send for a copy of charter and by-laws. Membership restricted to citizens of Louisiana.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Choice Yellow Clarified Sugar,
30 lbs. for $1.00
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Look Out for Your Fruit Trees.

Diseased fruit trees can not bear healthy fruit.

I have a remedy that cures diseased fruit trees. Makes fruitless trees fruitful. It is a great fertilizer. Makes trees vigorous in growth and free from vermin. Latter part of February the time to apply.

I invite correspondence.

WM. B. HINES.
Gloster, Miss.

Milk Cans, pans, churns, bottles, everything which is used for milk, even down to the baby's bottle—these are things for which you need Pearline. With Pearline, they're cleansed more easily, more quickly, more economically, and more thoroughly, than with anything else known. The people who know most about milk say just that. We can't afford to print all the testimonials we hold. They're free expressions of opinion—in conventions, in papers, everywhere where milk folks have a voice. Their enthusiasm about Pearline is genuine. And it's natural. For all kinds of washing and cleaning, nothing equals Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 381 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

FLOWERS FOR A GOOD HARVEST
If you plant Gregory's Seeds. These Seeds, famous through many years, have turned the tide of success toward a great many sowers. Perhaps they are all that you lack. The whole story about is told in Gregory's Catalogue for 1895—a book that helps solve all the problems of planting; sets you right when in doubt; gives in detail the best farming knowledge right up to date. It's free. Ask for it.
GREGORY'S SEEDS
J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers, Marblehead, Mass.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 9. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2010

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

IN THE SUNSHINE.

BY JOHN IMRI.

Ah! we never miss the sunshine
Till the storm clouds roll apace,
And we never miss the dear love
Till we see the cold dead face;
And our hearts are seldom melted
Till the voice is hushed and still,
Of the loved one we have walked with
Up the pathway of life's hill!

Let us linger in life's sunshine
Till the last glad ray departs,
Let the twilights and the dawnings
Link the closer trusting hearts;
Then each morrow will be brighter
For the sunshine that hath been,
And life's burden be the lighter
For the sympathies between.

Oh! to speak some words of kindness
In the ear of human woe
Is like eyes to stony blindness
Of the groping ones below;
So the touch of tender fingers
On the throbbing brow of pain
Is the sweet of life that lingers
Ere we turn to earth again!

—Exchange.

Selections.

The Holy City and Sacred River of the Hindoos.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

"Benares on the Ganges" unite, in Hindoo thought, the holiest place and most sacred stream in the world. To the one he makes pilgrimages as do the Mohammedans to Mecca, and on the left bank of the other he hopes, at least, to die. Should he unfortunately pass away on the right bank, he may, in the transmigration of souls, reappear as a donkey or a cow; but if on the left, he will enter the Hindoo heaven. Not to make a pilgrimage to Benares, and look upon the healing waters of "Mother Ganges," would, therefore, be unpardonable in any student of ancient religions who ever puts foot on India's coral strand."

It was our original purpose, after leaving Calcutta, to turn northward in Darjeeling, "up in the clouds," in order to get a view of Mt. Everest, the highest peak in the world. But unavoidable detention at Madras necessitated a change of plans, so we reluctantly gave up the "Halls of Snow" for world-famed cities and palaces—the wonderful works of nature for the civilizations and religions of a peculiar people. We have snow-crowned mountains at home, but not these gigantic and historic remains of social and religious forces that have dominated the thought and determined the destiny of so many weary centuries and so many mighty millions of immortal souls. So, regretting the loss of the one, we made ready choice of the other.

The time from the "City of Palaces" to the "Holy City of the Hindoos" by the fast mail is about fifteen hours. We, leaving Calcutta at ten o'clock at night, we were due in Benares the early afternoon of next day. This being the cool season and the time of tourists, the trains were long and crowded. Railway travel in India is cheap and fairly comfortable. They have first, second, intermediate, and third-class compartments, with graduated rates for tickets. The third-class, patronized almost entirely by natives, is only two pice per mile—about nine-and-six miles for a rupee, or forty-eight cents. And this in silver, which is now about one-half the value of gold. The adoption of these classes, which obtains everywhere in Europe and the East, with graduated comforts and tariffs, it seems to me would be wise in our American railway companies. It would certainly increase travel and avoid friction at some points.

I was surprised, however, to find that these roads had a "separate car" rule, which is rigidly enforced. There are compartments "for ladies only," and others "for Europeans only." At the stations there are not only first- and second-class waiting-rooms, but "Waiting-Rooms for Natives." I thought of similar arrangements on the railroads of some of the Southern States for "white" and "colored" passengers, adopted in response to legislative enactment, and these recalled the indignant deliverance of an English gentleman traveling in America. He was surely, and perhaps properly, vexed over such racial distinctions between co-equal citizens on the public highways. But that very gentleman may be a stockholder in this English company which has adopted a system even more offensive. I have never believed in the principle or policy of such legislation; but the inconsistency of the aforesaid John Bull, who berates his American brothers for the sin of which he is so flagrantly guilty—innocent of any acquaintance with that old doctrine of the "moles" and "beams"—can not be appreciated or commended.

In the morning we found ourselves in the great valley of the Ganges, which has the largest population to the square mile of any part of India. By the inundations of that sacred river, bringing down fresh soil from the southern slopes of the Himalayas and fertilizing vast plains, the lands are enabled to produce from two to three crops a year, without other enrichment. Quite picturesque was the scene as the farmers went forth to the fields from their villages, some with a white cloth wrapped around the body and over the head, and others clad in little else than early morning sunshine. Still others had old-fashioned plows, with one handle, drawn by one and two yoke of bullocks or cows. The fields, freshly plowed, or green with growing grain, checked off in beds like a garden, and bordered with palms and aloes, must be made to produce every possible pound in order to feed the hungry mouths of overcrowded millions. And even then, if the calculation be correct, that the 250 000 000 of India consume much less than the 65 000 000 in America, there is want and suffering in many a home—so out of the pangs of hunger, I suppose, was born their saying, "Hit me on the path (back), and not on the pet (stomach)."

I can never forget the sensation experienced on first seeing the waters of the Ganges shimmering in the distance under a cloudless sun. Of that river, associated so thrillingly, and often tragically, with the history of revolution and religion, I had heard from early childhood. In imagination I had often stood on its sacred banks, watched the devotions of its devotees, and listened to the voice of its waters sweeping from the mountains to the sea as they told of the rise and fall of cities and empires. Now the wide, muddy river itself I saw, and those historic scenes came vividly to mind. For fifteen hundred miles from its source in the mountains to its loss in the Bay of Bengal its entire shore line is held most sacred, and every drop of its water is supposed to have spiritual and purifying virtue. To bathe in it cleanses from sin, to worship it brings merit to the soul, and to die in sight of it is a guarantee of heaven; and, in the early days, for a mother to cast her child into it, was the surest way to appease the wrath of an angry god.

There is an old saying among the Hindoos, 'Over the sacred river Ganges there can never be a bridge." And yet I crossed it on an iron bridge, drawn by an iron horse, and at the rate of twenty miles an hour. Modern enterprise and steam have little respect for sentiment or superstition, however revered or ancient. Traditions, hoary with years, have to "clear the track" for the fierce spirit of modern progress. As we sped over the splendid arches that span that ancient river, the domes and spires of hundreds of temples in Benares rose up to greet us.

Benares is a city of 250 000 people, but has never had much commercial importance. Its chief trade, I doubt not, is dependent upon its religious pre-eminence and sanctity. The pilgrims who come hither by thousands enliven business in the market-places, and especially the sale of sacred images. Benares literally traffics in religion, and makes merchandise of piety. Indeed, I have seen little else about the temples and shrines of all India. The old priests and their wardens are mostly concerned for the temple revenues, and entreat most piteously for more, however liberally you may tip them. The city is said to contain five thousand temples, but most of them are very small. In that number is included all the shrines built in connection with the homes of the wealthy.

Of the scenes on the river in the early morning, when the Hindoos by hundreds and thousands go down for a religious bath, every tourist has written, but everyone must see for himself to fully appreciate. As the time of our visit was not the occasion of any great festival, we had the opportunity of noting how religious Benares could be every day—when, so to speak, she "didn't have on her Sunday clothes." We were there early, but not in advance of the poor, superstitious believers in "Mother Ganges." Taking a boat and rowing up the river to the Mosque of Aurungzebe, in some respects the most notable building in that city of shrines, we slowly floated down stream and made observations upon the rarest sight in all the East. Stone steps, called ghats, are built down to the water's edge from every house and the foot of every street. Everything is planned for easy, and yet reverent, access to the holy water. Magnificent residences of red sandstone, erected on the banks of the river by Rajahs and wealthy Hindoos from all over India, have granite stairways down to the stream. At scores of places we noted shrines, large and small, and on the stone platforms here and there were sacred white cows, sleek and well kept. A devout Hindoo would give his last grain of rice to a sacred animal, whether cow or monkey, and himself go hungry. The tempted cow must be kept fat if his own stomach has to suffer hunger. Does not such a fact shame the pampered ease of Christians who know that theirs is the only true religion?

Down these steps the people came—men, women, and children; old and young, grave and gay. They come in every strange Eastern dress and with all sorts of marks upon their foreheads. Some sat under broad palm umbrellas while repeating their prayers, while others stood uncovered, and, with uplifted hands, looked into the face of the sun as they paid to him their devout adoration. I noticed others who stood at the river's brink, and while holding some of the holy water in their hands, repeated long prayers with closed eyes. Then they bowed repeatedly and reverently to "Mother Ganges," and made to her an offering of beautiful flowers. And yet others sat on a slightly raised platform close to the river, with the head entirely covered, in order to shut out the world while engaged in their morning devotions. After these prayers to the sun and the sacred river they wade into the water, dip themselves several times, and pour it upon their heads, thus receiving assurance of perfect spiritual purification. Then they skillfully slip on dry clothing, fill a jar or pitcher with the precious water, and go home for their morning meal.

We saw a group of women sitting near the water's edge, with covered heads, and wildly weeping. They were mourning for some one recently dead. After crying for a season, they bathe in the river and go home comforted. Near where they sat were the burning ghats where the Hindoos have burned their dead for centuries. The smoke was ascending from two funeral fires, while another altar of wood was being prepared for a waiting body. Our observations at Calcutta entirely satisfied desire to witness again this horrible holocaust, so we floated past sickened with the smell of charred human flesh.

Near that spot, and at other points also, we noticed stone slabs, which mark the places where suttee was practiced, where widows were burned in the same fire with their dead husbands. Akbar the Great forbade this dreadful practice, but failed to prevent it. The English government, however, effectually stamped it out over a half century ago. Since then only a few cases have occurred, the most notable being the sacrifice of themselves of the several wives of a prince, the chief one holding his head while the flames were kindled beneath them.

We anchored our boat and entered one of the temples noted for its elaborate carving. Well, the carving on the frieze around the entire building is elaborate, but too vile for the bottomless pit, much less a place of religious worship. And yet that is the legitimate product of Hindooism. Its chief symbol and object of worship everywhere, the lingam, is a teacher of immorality, and every temple is a foster-mother of the grossest sensualism.

One sight was most pathetic—the number of diseased and evidently dying persons lying on the ground or stone steps near the river. Feeling that their time of departure has come, they had been brought to the sacred Ganges in order to die in sight of her holy waters. The poor things stretched there in the burning sun were awaiting the inevitable, but with their gaze fixed on the glistening river. For that same purpose some of those magnificent palaces were built at a cost of multiplied thousands of rupees. They are unoccupied all during the year, except on certain feast days, or when some one of the family is thought to be near death. Then they come from their distant homes to die in the palace by the sacred river.

Attention was called to a naked, blowsy-headed fellow, spoken of as a devotee, sitting upon a large rock overlooking the Ganges. For three years he has sat there, with no protection from sun or storm, never speaking a word, and eating only once or twice a day the food which is brought to him. Even that he accepts without a word, giving himself to quiet meditation. In the early morning he comes down to the river for a spiritual bath, and then climbs back to his perch. Already he is being reverenced, and if the sun doesn't bake him, he will soon be worshiped, and flower out into another genuine Buddha. His hair looks like the long wool on a sheep's back that needed shearing. But from the very respectful tone of our guide, who has ceased to believe in these false religions, I could see that the miserable impostor was making an impression.

Our guide, who was rather an intelligent man, and educated in the school of the London Mission, freely admitted that all these grotesque rites of the Hindoos were utterly vain and foolish. "Well," said I, "why don't you renounce them and publicly profess the Christian faith, which you say is the only true religion?' "I can't afford it," he replied; "I would have to give up my family and all my friends, and that I can't do." No doubt he represents a large class in India. They are disciples, but secretly. Caste is imperious. To overstep or defy it is worth almost a man's life. But it may after awhile contribute to the speedier conquest of India for Christ, for when a respectable number of one caste is secured, it will be comparatively easy to win them all.

There is a handsome cathedral of the Church of England in Benares, and in the yard adjoining are some historic graves. The minister is also a military and civil chaplain. All over India these civil chaplains are stationed, themselves and churches, even to the sexton and punka pullers, paid by the government out of revenues derived from the people. Part of the income tax received from missionaries goes to the support of these chaplains, who get from one to four hundred rupees a month, and perform the severe labor of reading the service two or three times a week, and occasionally preaching a twelve- or fifteen-minutes' sermon. Military chaplains of course there should be, but chaplains to rich civilians, sustained by State taxation, seems not altogether right. But the missionaries on poor pay pursue their divinely appointed work, and God is greatly blessing their labors. In Benares, however, the center of Hindoo fanaticism and the earliest home of Buddhism, progress is necessarily slow.

Agra, Dec. 5, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

Communications.

From "Gilderoy."

MR. EDITOR: I want to thank you for sending me "Touching Incidents and Remarkable Answers to Prayer," by S. B. Shaw. This is a splendid book, one calculated to do much good. The chapters are short, the incidents touching, and the answers to prayer remarkable. Perhaps a few of the incidents and answers to prayer are overdrawn. I find this book a great stimulus to faith and to more fervent, effectual prayer. I read it with misty eyes and a throbbing heart. My wife and my children are deeply interested in it. A good book that catches the eye and mind of children is worthy of the highest commendation. This book ought to be in every home in the land.

I lived in a home once where every matter, great and small, religious and secular, was taken to God in prayer. In many instances the answers to prayer were so immediate, so manifest, so divinely wrought, that I could no more doubt that God hears and answers the prayers of his children than I could doubt my own existence. That mother went to God with all her troubles and wants with the simplicity and faith of a little child towards a good parent. God honored the confidence reposed in him. He sent help in answer to prayer in the nick of time, and at the most critical junctures, and often from the most unreasonable and unexpected sources. That mother told God her trouble, and left him to answer in his own time and way. Oftentimes he put it into the hearts of wicked and ungodly men to help the widow out of the trouble she was in. Once a rich, but godless, sinner sent his hands and teams over and plowed out her crop. Her children were all sick, and could not work. The men who sent help did not know this till the work was about done. He laughed at the idea of God having sent him in answer to prayer; but he did. The day and night before that widow spent in prayer, telling God her trouble, the sickness of her children, the pressing need for work, and imploring help. Just then, never before and never afterwards, it came into the mind and heart of that sinner to send over and plow out that crop. He did not know that this good impulse was from God; but it was. He thought it originated in the natural generosity of his own heart. He took credit to himself for it, but the widow, while grateful to him, gave all the glory to God. She was right—that was where it was due.

Another year, at fodder-pulling time, the widow's sons were all down with chills and fever. She was in deep trouble. She had no money to hire the fodder pulled and saved. A day and night were spent in prayer. God heard and put it into the heart of one of the worst men in the neighborhood—one with whom the widow was not acquainted, and to whom she had never spoken—to send his hands over and to pull down, tie up, and stack that fodder. That old man did not believe in God at all, and yet he was the subject and servant of a divine impulse, put into his heart by the Holy Ghost in answer to that widow's prayer. That old man's life was a reproach to decency, and the suggestion that he had answered a prayer to God amused him not a little. He knew nothing of the widow's pressing need at that time, and regarded the sickness of her boys and his kindly act as a coincidence, and not a providence. But just as certain as the sun shines, God moved that man to do that very thing in answer to prayer, and at that time. God is in heaven, ready, willing, waiting and anxious to do more for and better by his children than they can ask or even think. When he hears and answers a prayer, all he charges for it is to come again, come oftener, and to ask more largely, "Whatsoever things ye ask, believing, ye shall have them."

Yours, GILDEROY

In the Living Present.

At the Bois de Bologna, Paris, can be seen daily promenading at eventide an emaciated little man, with snowy-white hair. It is ex-Bishop Bauer. A Hungarian Jew, he was converted to Christianity, became a Catholic priest, and even a Bishop. Eugenie, wife of Louis Napoleon, made him her court chaplain and confessor. He was very popular among the aristocracy. When the Suez Canal was opened he was chosen to conduct the religious ceremony. Then came the war of 1871. The empire collapsed; so did Bauer's religion. The republic was established; Bauer embraced atheism.

A noted university in Tennessee has been basely slandered. The papers published as a rumor that said institution had conferred the degree of LL.D. on James J. Corbett, the prize fighter. Nay, verily not. He lectured at the university on "Physical Development." That is all.

The New York Herald offers a prize of $10 000 for the best serial story of between 50,000 and 75 000 words. Competitors must be Americans, and have the manuscript in the hands of the Herald no later than the first of May. Worth trying, indeed.

The Congregationalist, of Boston, believes that the revival of dogma is impending. General and indiscriminate speculation and criticism have produced painful unrest among the masses. Men yearn for stability, immovability, firmness in matters of belief. 'Tis only "Thus saith the Lord" that will satisfy the human heart.

The teaching of practical and profitable methods of farming at State colleges is increasing. It is well. The low price of staple products necessitates the cultivation of esculents for home use. This will make us independent. Make our boys scientific farmers. Our learned professions, like our cities, are already more than crowded.

There have been 5 000 suicides in the United States during the year 1894.

The Temple of the Mexican M. E. Church, South.

This church has been established for over twenty years. It is a circuit of four congregations, namely: Laredo, Texas; Laredo, Mexico; Faith Hall, and the Mines. The congregation of Laredo, Texas, consists of over one hundred members. It owns a desirable lot, upon which it desires to erect a building not costing more than $2 500 (American). We only have the promise of 500 Mexican dollars, but we have faith in God, our brethren, and the liberality of our friends. We plead for assistance, and entreat our brethren to trust with us. Our Lord has promised to help those who help themselves. This we have been trying to do by putting our church upon a self-supporting basis. However small your tribute may be, it will be gratefully received. Please send your donations to the Mimo Bank, Laredo, Texas, where all money will be deposited until the required amount is in hand.

Yours in the faith,

A. R. CARDENAS, Pastor.

Laredo, Texas.

Dear Sister: Bonniegene and I are well, and working right faithfully. I feel quite happy over the come-out of B., socially. She is doing nicely in her studies. Now, my business. I have been made trustee, as well as steward, of our church; and as the Mission Board has refused these eager people help for three years, I begged Bro. Cardenas to make an appeal through the papers. He has written this letter and I the explanation, which I want to get you to present to the editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication. Then, Sissie, won't you get the praying people of your church to hold a special prayer meeting, as we shall do, that the hearts of the people may be opened at this call? To worship in a little rented shanty for twenty years is too long. God does not will it, and he will give us a respectable church if we trust aright.

We have had the mumps in the school all of the year, and for the past month have had quite a time with sick teachers. Mrs. Driver, our music teacher, came near dying this week with heart failure. I have stayed with her for three nights. She is better, but not out of danger. One of my sweet girls has had to give up teaching on account of consumption. Pray for our work. Your devoted sister,

HARDYNIA NORVILLE.

Laredo, Texas, Feb. 9, 1895.

The above appeal comes from our native pastor, a true, earnest, sweet-spirited man of God; and we trust that it will awaken a ready response in the hearts of our home workers. Bro. Cardenas has labored for three years in this place. At the close of his first year's work he voluntarily released the Mission Board from paying him a salary, that he might train his congregation to give. You could scarcely form an idea of the poverty of his church members, should we undertake to disclose it to you. The self-denial which they have practiced to fulfill their obligation has indeed been touching. They are struggling nobly to raise funds for a building, but with their meager savings it will be impossible to build a church. Surely twenty years are enough to wait for a house of worship. Will you not help them? A commodious building that will command the respect of the Mexican people is needed in this gateway city between the republics. Eager souls are crying for it. God's cause demands it. Lend a helping hand.

Your co-worker in God's vineyard, a member of Faith Hall congregation,

LAREDO SEMINARY.

THE MOMENTARY.

Pause, crested wave, before thy whiteness breaks
In toping curves that glide
Down the green slope, where all thy snowy flakes
Melt in the gulfing tide.

Flash, sunset glory, o'er my raptured eyes
The splendor of thy rays,
For the transcendent magic of thy skies
Is passing as I gaze.

Fade, peerless rose, in thy perfections fair,
Unconscious of a thorn;
Thy fragrant beauty will not seem so rare
Upon to-morrow's morn.

Cease, happy birds, your matins to repeat
While yet the dewy day
Freshens the hours; they may not float so sweet
When dawn has passed away.

Speak, ruby lips, the low, entrancing word,
Half smothered in a kiss;
'Mid myriads spoken never can be heard
One freighted with such bliss.

An instant only can we hold in thrall
The best that earth has given;
The perfect, the consummate all in all,
Is found alone in heaven!

—Selected.

Communications.

The "Residue Theory," So Called.

FIRST PROPOSITION.

The Savior has said, "Your heavenly Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask him." Yet he requires us to "ask" before we "shall receive." So the unalterable fiat of the Almighty has gone forth to the world, "Ask, and ye shall receive." And we must "ask" for what we need, or we can not "receive" it. Consequently and necessarily, we then "receive" only what we "ask" for. To ask for one thing, and expect to receive something else, or to ask for a part, and expect to receive the whole, would be presuming that the Lord either did not know his own mind, or did not mean what he said, or that he might change his mind or alter his terms to suit the caprices of his creatures. But God is unchangeable—the same yesterday, to-day, and forever.

(Reader, please get this first proposition fixed down in your mind clearly, for we will refer back to it occasionally as we proceed along further.)

SECOND PROPOSITION.

What does the penitent sinner "ask" for, and what does he hope to "receive"? He asks forgiveness for the sins of which he has been convicted, and he hopes to receive pardon and peace. He is not generally, at least, aware of anything else to ask for, or to expect to receive. When fully convicted of sin, his heart is sick with sorrow, and the burden of his prayer is to be healed of that. It is true "earth has no sorrow heaven can not heal," but "the great Physician of souls" sees best to heal only what he is asked to cure. When the leper earnestly besought the Savior to cleanse him, he touched him, "and immediately his leprosy was cleansed." He may, or he may not, have had other maladies; but if he did have others, it by no means follows that he was healed of them also. The presumption is, he was not. (See first proposition.) We doctors are not unfrequently called upon to treat some diseases, and leave others unremedied. For instance: A man may drink intoxicating liquors until mania a potu seizes him, and then call in a doctor to relieve him from that alarming condition; but he may positively refuse to submit to the treatment necessary to cure him of the craving acquired for alcoholic stimulants. And the same may be, and too often is, the case with the addicts to opium, tobacco, and sins generally. Amazing folly!

THIRD PROPOSITION.

It is admitted that the Lord don't pardon any sin until all known sins are repented of fully, and then he forgives them all at once. And that is not all. Those who are regenerated know it by the Holy Spirit bearing witness with their spirits, when their sins are forgiven. And if they don't know they are forgiven, they may know by that they are not. And then they feel like and think they are freed forever from all trouble from sin. But, alas! it is the universal experience of all, perhaps, that soon they find what they had not suspected (unless they had been instructed before), that there is something remaining which prompts them to sin; and, too soon and too often, they do sin again. And right along there nearly or quite all new converts meet with trouble, and stumble in the dark. Some are so surprised and discouraged they fall and give up the struggle, thinking they had not been really converted, while others blunder on, struggling up and down, at a loss to know what is the matter, and what to do to remedy it.

FOURTH PROPOSITION.

And right here comes up two all-important questions: What is the matter? and, What is the remedy? The trouble arises from, or originates in, the remaining depravity inherited from the fall of man. That is what the new converts so soon feel prompting them to sin; and the remedy is to have it completely eradicated and removed by the grace of God. If it be possible for them to eradicate it themselves, it would require a long and doubtful struggle. But the Lord can, and will, eradicate and remove it instantaneously in answer to the earnest and faithful prayer of the fully and entirely consecrated heart. This is a second work of grace much needed, if not essential, to deliver us fully and completely from sin and its effects, that we may serve God acceptably. If it be asked why that depravity was not removed when our sins were pardoned and removed from us at first, as far as the east is from the west, let it be answered that the inherited depravity was no sin of ours, and, therefore, we were not convicted for it, and we were not then aware of its existence even, and consequently we did not pray to have it eradicated and removed, and that is the reason why it was not done. And it is dangerously doubtful that we shall even "receive" that "second blessing" (how many others we may receive) unless, and until, we comply fully with the Lord's terms, and "ask" for it especially and in faith. (Go back and read again the first proposition herein established.) But when we find out that inherited depravity is remaining and prompting us to sin, it becomes our sin then if we indulge or harbor it, like any acquired propensity which we indulge or harbor even, instead of having it eradicated; just as an inebriate, who refuses or neglects to have his acquired thirst for alcoholic liquors eradicated, sins by retaining an eradicable propensity that prompts him to drink to madness, and commit murder, or other crimes.

FIFTH PROPOSITION.

The Savior says, "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." Then real and genuine, devout and constant Christians, having this full and unlimited permission—yea, affectionate invitation—to "ask" for anything they may need, and full assurance given that "they shall receive it" from the boundless love and infinite goodness of their kind heavenly Father, they have only to fully consecrate themselves to him, and humbly and confidently present their authorized petition to the throne of grace, to have all of their inherited depravity eradicated and removed, and their hearts made as pure and free from propensity to sin as was Adam's when he first came from the plastic hands of God, who made him in his own image and likeness. But Adam, in the exercise of his free agency, sinned and contaminated his nature, and entailed the corruption of his fall upon his posterity. And so may we fall again if we don't watch and pray without ceasing, and in everything give thanks. But we gained more in Christ than we lost in Adam, and we now occupy a better vantage-ground than our progenitor ever did. (Read fifth chapter of Romans.) The Savior is willing to more than make up for what we lost by Adam. Then let us not fail, by any means, to put on our carte blanche the devout, earnest and consecrated prayer of faith, to have all of our inherited, as well as our acquired, depravity and propensity to sin eradicated and removed, and our hearts filled with love for God and man, to the exclusion of all unholy propensities. Two objects can not occupy the same space at the same time; neither can two opposite principles dwell in the same heart at the same time. Is it asked if we have any authority to "ask" for such a second work of grace, and hope to "receive" it? Let the request be made that the first part of this fifth proposition be read again; and when this whole article on the "Residue Theory," so called, has been read, will the reader please enter into the closet and shut to the door, and humbly and devoutly kneel down and read the whole of the fifteenth chapter of John, and pray for the guidance of the Holy Spirit into all truth and holiness, and never cease seeking until this "second blessing" be found, with unnumberless thousands of others? But it can be had only by a full and unconditional surrender and entire consecration first, and then by earnest and faithful prayer for it specially, as for any other blessing. (Refer back to first proposition herein established.)

SIXTH PROPOSITION.

There are thousands of well-authenticated instances of unfortunate addicts to alcohol, opium, tobacco, and other sinful things, who have been instantaneously delivered and freed from those goading propensities in answer to earnest and faithful prayer, and full, entire consecration; all craving and relish for those poisons completely removed, and disgust and distaste for them implanted in their stead. Then, if the good Lord has and does deliver and free from one sinful propensity and another that have been acquired by our own willfulness, why doubt his willingness to deliver and free us from all, and especially to rescue and relieve us from the troublesome depravity inherited from the fall of Adam without any will or fault on our part? It seems that the proposition needs but to be stated to be readily accepted as correct and true, since the Savior has said, "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." Is there anything contrary to the tenor of the Scriptures, or the logic of reason, in the doctrine of a second work of grace to place us on a footing equal to what Adam had before he fell? It seems to be in perfect harmony with both. (Please turn back and read the fourth and fifth propositions herein established.) Multiplying thousands believe they have experienced, in answer to prayer and consecration, that crowning work of grace which is not received in regeneration for the reasons already stated in the fourth proposition herein. If the testimony of thousands of honest people can be credited when they declare positively that irresistible acquired cravings and propensities have been eradicated and removed in answer to prayer and consecration, why not believe that the good Lord will rescue and free us from inherited depravity—the very thing that causes us so much trouble and sin? Why doubt that he will do that one thing to relieve us here and help us on to heaven, since he has done so much for us—even died to save us?

D. W. FOSTER.

Plaisance, La.

Correspondence.

"The Lord Is My Light."

SPECIAL BIBLE WORK IN JAPAN.

MR. EDITOR: The readers of the ADVOCATE, especially those who contributed to this work, may be pleased to have an account of that part of it not yet given in your paper. If you think they will be, please publish the following:

The Island of Kinshiu is the most southerly of the four main islands. Here the latter part of the Winter of '93 and '94 was spent in the distribution of Scriptures at Saga, where the Lutheran Church only has a mission station; at Moji, where the Southern Baptists were at work; at Kokura, where I was kindly entertained by a native pastor of the M. E. Church; at Fukuoka, where the M. E. Church has a female school, and the Southern Baptists have a station; Kumomoto, now left entirely to native Christians; at Misumi, a little sea-coast town without a Christian so far as I learned; at Nagasaki, the southern port; Kagoshima and Hososhima; and on the volcanic mountain island of Sakurajima, where family worship (idolatrous) was held by the hotel folks; from Kinshin to Kumion Shikok, where the Presbyterians have a good station.

Again leaving Kobe with quite a number of books, I went by train (railroad) to Himeji, on the main land, and thence across by jinrikisha and on foot to Tatori, on the opposite coast. Thence into Tajima province and, returning, went through many towns or villages to Yonago, Matsue, and Lakai. I wish that space would allow a full history of the days spent on this side. Having given books in Tajima, Inaba, and Hohi provinces and a few in Izumo, Iwami, and Nagato, returned to Kobe. Thence again taking ship, at 12 o'clock at night, found it much crowded, but reached Tokushima, on Shikoku, in the early morning and found a welcome in a mission home. Gave books during the day, slept a short while, and took ship for Kobe. The next day took ship for Wakayama, where the Cumberland Presbyterians have a good church. After spending a day or two went to Yokkaichi, and thence by jinrikisha to Yeno, in an interior province. Next to Yokohama and Tokyo. Took ship for Hakodate, the port of Hokkaido ("the island of the North Sea"), and had a most disagreeable passage. From here to Muroran by ship, and thence by rail to Sapore, the capital of the island. This is a new country, and much of it unsettled. It is the home of the Aino, a tribe something like the Indians of America. Mr. Bachelor, of the Church of England, is missionary to them, and has his residence and "Aino rest" in Sapporo. There are "many Christians" in this city, and the people of this island generally are favorable to Christianity and Western ideas. From Sapporo by rail to Otaru, and thence by ship to Soya, the most northern village, where two or three days were spent and quite a number of copies given. Returning by the same route to Hakodate, went from there to Nenuro, the southwestern town of this island, where is a self-supporting mission under the direction of the Northern Baptist Board. The missionaries were kind and helpful to me in distributing books in town and in the country around. The officers of the prison were courteous, showing me through the prison.

On board ship from here to Niigata I met a soldier from the little colony in Chishima, on his way to the war. He gladly received a Testament. Niigata, the port on the west coast of the main land, has almost no evidences of communication with foreign countries. From here visited Sado Island. Then Navesta, Fushiki, Nanao, Tsuruga and Meyaisu. These are all coast towns. From this last, went across the main-land by hack, on foot and by jinrikisha, to Mokomachi station, on the railway.

More than twenty-five thousand copies of God's precious gift has been distributed among the needy. No higher privilege will be granted to me until the "beautiful gate" opens to admit me into "the eternal city." It is of the Lord—blessed be his name! Did space allow, many incidents might be given to show how the Lord prospered the work. My soul doth magnify the Lord at the remembrance of his great and constant love shown me through all the days and weeks of that happy year. May many thousand souls in Japan be led to Christ by reading the Holy Word! May rich blessing attend the missionaries and others who so kindly helped!

BENJAMIN S. RAYNER.

Work in Brazil.

Mr. E. P. Mackie—

DEAR BROTHER: Yours of Nov. 16, containing draft, received, and also the beautiful lithographs. Many thanks to you for all. The draft for $40 I sent immediately to Bro. Wolling, who has charge of our printing press and work connected with it. He wrote back many thanks, saying money for such a purpose was never received more gratefully, as it was a pressing time with him.

On account of scarcity of means one of our most flourishing schools had to be closed. This was a great joy to the enemy, and now greater effort must be exerted to maintain the other schools. The Jesuits are working very hard to destroy our work, especially the schools, all through Brazil. The school above, to which I referred, was one which belonged to the Parent Board. The enemy is certainly resisting all efforts to establish and enlarge the Lord's kingdom in this country. Pray for Brazil; ask your church to pray for Brazil and His workers here.

Mr. Hamilton is moving on nicely with his heavy charge at this place. We only find our hands too feeble for what we have to do; but God is with us. Our little home is a pleasure to us, and sometimes we pause and talk of the home beyond. To-day I will remember you and Mrs. Mackie especially in prayer. This is the last day in the old year, and somehow my thoughts are homeward. May God's brightest blessings crown your beautiful work for him! A Happy New Year to you.

Yours in Christian love,

SALLIE P. HAMILTON.

Piracicaba, Estado de S. Paulo, Brazil, S. A., Dec. 31, 1894.

Selections.

Find Time for It.

You read your Bible every day? You have no time? Certainly that is a foolish excuse. How many things you do every day that are of trifling worth? How much time do you spend in light and trifling conversation? Take some of these minutes unprofitably employed and give them to that great book which Ewald says "contains all the wisdom of the world." We need more Christians with whom the Word of God has become the marrow of the bones and the iron of the blood. It is the Magna Charta of our Christian life. It should be the thing with which we begin the day. A good rule would be to read nothing until we have first read a portion of the sacred Word. The man of the world can find time to read the newspaper, no matter how many his engagements. He keeps it in his pocket and reads it on the cars as he goes to his work, or as he waits for his dinner. Keep the Bible about you, and use the occasional spare moment to scan its pages. The strong Christian must be nourished on the Word.—Bible Reader.

A great many people are in the habit of consoling themselves for their lack of interest in missions by saying that the heathen will be saved anyway, if they will follow the light they have. A mother may console herself in the same way about the boy who has been allowed from early childhood to spend his nights on the streets. He may be saved, but all the chances are the other way. The absence of Christ is darkness. Midnight is on mind and spirit. There is something about the night that unhinges the soul. The judgment seems to sleep. Sin fairly dazzles. The downward path is a broad boulevard, fringed with electric lights: the path upward is not in sight. To do wrong is as easy as rolling down a hill; to do right is almost like trying to pull one's self up by the hair of the head. Just so it is where the people sit in spiritual darkness. Walking in the very shadow of death men do not see things as they are. When Christ comes to a nation, it is like the rising of the sun on the earth. The chill in the atmosphere, the miasma, the poisonous vapors are driven away with the shadows. Things begin to appear as they are. The creatures of darkness retreat to their dens. Men awake and bestir themselves. Everywhere there is a general cleaning up and setting of things to rights and a starting of wheels. Christ is the light of the world.—Bible Reader.

The sins by which God's Spirit is ordinarily grieved are the sins of small things—laxities in keeping the temper, slight neglect of duty, lightness, sharpness of dealing. If it is your habit to walk with God in the humblest occupations of your day, it is very nearly certain that you will be filled with the Spirit always.—Horace Bushnell.

An obscure life is not necessarily an unnoticed life. Many a man is well known in heaven who has no reputation outside of his own neighborhood to speak of.—Michigan Advocate.

The longest philosophy we have tried to master recently is that of the well-meaning preacher who hopes to build up the church by pulling it down.

To have made a clear discovery of the faults and defects of your character is to have taken the first step toward their correction.

No man ever knows just what is the strength of his Christian principles till he has actually been subjected to some adequate trial.

The man who is doing his best to live up to the Bible rarely finds time to worry over the questions of its inspiration.

We never break down under the burdens of life until we try to bear more than one day's burdens at a time.

It takes a long time for some clever people to learn that what rust is to iron idleness is to character.

Not the troubles we have, but the troubles we are going to have, make us most miserable.

If you have failed in everything you have undertaken, you may yet make a good critic.

A bee stings in self-defense: only man stings for fun.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf.... Mrs. E. D. Jones.... Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf..... Mrs. M. H. Morrison... Shreveport.

From the "Minutes of the Louisiana Annual Conference for 1894" we cull the following items of information of interest to our Louisiana Auxiliaries:

The total amount raised by all the societies, as reported to the Conference treasurer, Mrs. S. B. McCutchen, was $711.75, a gain of $31.20 over the amount reported the year previous. The numbers of Auxiliaries reporting to the treasurer was 23, a gain of 2 over the previous year.

The banner district of the Conference is the New Orleans, as to amount of money raised; the Shreveport, as to number of Auxiliaries; the Opelousas, as to ratio of improvement in both money and members. If our sisters of that district continue to improve so rapidly during the present year, both New Orleans and Shreveport will lose their laurels.

The banner society of the Conference is the plucky, faithful, untiring Auxiliary at Louisiana Avenue Church, New Orleans, which has held the first place for three years past.

There are eleven Juvenile Societies auxiliary to our Board—a gain of one during the year. The importance of organization among the children of the church can not be overestimated; their training in this work means much for the future of both the General Board and the Woman's Board of Missions. We hope our district secretaries will emphasize this part of the work.

Our new district, the Baton Rouge, reported 3 Auxiliaries to the Conference. We give hearty welcome to them, and hope to meet their representatives at our annual meeting at Crowley, next October.

We confidently look for an increase of interest on the part of our pastors as a result of the action of the last General Conference, requiring the District Conferences to inquire "as to the condition and work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and the Parsonage and Home Mission Society, within the several charges." (See New Discipline, page 42.) Our Auxiliaries should see that the preachers are furnished with all the facts in time for District Conference. We also call attention to the provision that Auxiliaries "may send reports to the Quarterly Conferences of the charges with which they are associated." (Discipline, page 147.)

These provisions are helpful in many ways. They emphasize the importance of our work by giving it place in these important councils of the church, and they furnish opportunity for spreading information and securing valuable help. The reports sent to the Quarterly Conferences should be statistical and brief.

The fact that five young women have recently offered themselves to our Board for work in China, Brazil and Mexico should not only fill us with gratitude that the "Lord of the harvest" is calling more laborers into the field, but should stir us to active effort to raise funds to equip and send them forth.

Our sister society, the Parsonage and Home Mission, will observe their week of prayer March 6-13. The two societies are one in purpose to help the weak; let them heartily co-operate, and pray for each other.

P. AND H. M. S.

The training class for Christian Workers, under the auspices of the P. and H. M. Society, was organized three months ago. It meets at the Carondelet Street Church every Friday at 1 P. M. Sunday-school teachers, members of the Epworth League, and all who are interested in mission work are invited to avail themselves of this opportunity for acquiring instruction.

The first half hour is devoted to instruction on special methods of Christian work, conducted by one of the city pastors. The following are among the subjects that have been used: "Necessity for the aid of the Holy Spirit in our efforts to help others." "Practical suggestions for rescuing the fallen." "Personal consecration indispensable." "How to lead the sick and dying to Christ." "The need of Bible readers in our own land," etc.

The ministers who have contributed to the organization and instruction of the class up to date are Revs. W. H. LaPrade, F. S. Parker, T. K. Fannin, Leroy, J. T. Sawyer, F. N. Parker and J. M. Henry.

Dr. Morton, secretary of church extension, kindly consented to address the training class on Friday during the session of the Louisiana Conference. His subject was, "The power of sacred song in a sick room." Many eyes were moistened, and all hearts touched as he related instances from personal knowledge where the singing of some grand old hymns, "How firm a foundation," "Jesus, lover of my soul," "I would not live always," etc., had cheered and comforted many a dying saint.

We are specially grateful to the physicians who have filled the second half hour. They are Dr. H. Beach, Dr. Luther Sexton, Dr. E. L. McGehee, Dr. F. G. Parham, and Dr. Magruder. The medical lectures have been on very practical subjects, such as "Immediate remedies," "Antidotes to poisons," "Diet for the sick," "Consumption," "Physical culture, a necessity in training children and youth," "The water we drink: its impurities and the remedies;" "Contagious diseases," "The adulteration of food," etc.

The New Orleans District P. and H. M. Society held a very important meeting last week at the Louisiana Avenue Church. All the societies of the district were represented. A letter from Mr. E. P. Mackie, former treasurer of Tchonpitoulas Mission, was read, in which he stated that the Board who elected him had ceased to exist; that the lease on building would expire Feb. 15; then his responsibility would end. He recommended that the Woman's P. and H. M. Society assume the financial responsibility, which would amount to $300 per annum. Mr. Mackie enclosed a list of monthly subscribers, amounting to $14 per month, and assured the ladies that he would do all he could to sustain the mission if they assumed control.

A letter was also read from Mr. Hadley Harrison, superintendent of the Tchoupitoulas Mission. He expressed deepest interest in the work; had been actively connected with it three years; he says four night services are held there weekly. Sinners have been converted, and united with different churches. Many children have been influenced to attend Sunday-school; an average of ninety are in attendance every Sabbath. Much of this prosperity, he thinks, is due to the faithful work of Miss Burbank, who has labored in the neighborhood of this mission for eight months. Mr. Harrison says the work must not be abandoned. The president, Mrs. Lyons, then called on Dr. Sawyer, presiding elder of the district, to address the ladies and advise them what to do in reference to this new work. With his accustomed zeal and faith he urged them to enter this open door; he thought they would have no difficulty in raising the amount necessary to defray monthly expenses; he believed the women of the P. and H. M. Society could carry on this work successfully since they were already engaged in the Sunday-school and industrial school at this point. The vote was then taken. It was unanimously resolved to adopt the Tchoupitoulas Mission. Miss Mary Werlein, Miss Lizzie Wasson and Mrs. S. A. Montgomery are the committee appointed to secure building and make all necessary arrangements for entering the year. Mr. Hadley Harrison was then elected superintendent, and Miss Mary Werlein, district treasurer. It is confidently hoped that all friends of the mission will rally to its support.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We take fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured. Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and many imitations of our Cure on the market now.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. H. M. Banks: "I wish to say a few words through the ADVOCATE. We arrived on Centerville work on Dec. 24, and, meeting with considerable difficulty in finding a house to live in, we concluded to try our hand in building a parsonage. It seems that it will be a difficult task; but we have undertaken in the name of Jesus, and we expect success. The people are poor and hard run, and need help in this enterprise, and we take this method of asking all who read this to make a free-will offering, and send us what he may propose in his heart. Send to me direct at Edon, La., and every offering will be acknowledged, with name of sender, through the ADVOCATE. Come, brethren, we need help; and I am sure if you could see the house that the preacher is living in, I am sure you would help us all you possibly could. Money is very scarce in these parts, but the people show their willing minds by giving the preacher such as they have."

Rev. J. W. Raper, Nettleton circuit, North Mississippi Conference, Feb. 12, 1895: "This is our second year on this charge. We are glad to say that we have been kindly received for the second year. We were glad to come back to this good people. We are glad to say that this charge has undergone a most encouraging change. We now have some good Sunday-schools, where, as last year at this time, we had no Sunday-schools at all. Our congregations have been much better this Winter than they were last. In fact, there is a general tendency upward through-out the charge. This charge paid, as the Minutes show, last year its preacher in charge and presiding elder in full. Something that it has not done before in many years. We hope that this people will continue to grow in church enterprise. We hereby ask the board of official members to be punctual at all the Church and Quarterly Conferences. We are working and praying for much good to be done this year in this charge, and that Aberdeen district may make the best report this year that it has ever made. We ask the prayers of our brethren that Aberdeen may be delivered from the curse of the whisky business. Brethren, pray for us."

Rev. A. D. Miller, Oak Ridge, Miss.: "I am starting out on my third year on the Warren circuit, Vicksburg district, Mississippi Conference, and have been kindly received and we have received substantial tokens of love and esteem. We have a kind and liberal people and some very fine workers, as good as you will find anywhere. May God graciously bless them all, and give them a very happy, prosperous year, spiritually and temporally! I want to do the very best year's work of my life. Pray for me and mine. Of course, we have some wayward, sinful members, as all other works and churches have, but we are hoping and praying for them that they may see the error of their way and turn back to a precious, loving Savior and to the church, and may yet be saved. Though they have wandered away, and do not love the fold nor the Shepherd, yet we love them still and are waiting and watching for their return, and stand with loving hands and arms to receive them back to the fold. We would also gladly, in imitation of our Savior, go out into wild mountains to find the sheep that is lost. God knows we love them still, and are praying earnestly for their salvation. I ask the co-operation and prayers of all the good people in my work for the salvation of every sinner, and I want to join in an earnest prayer with every Christian man and woman for the conversion and salvation of every sinner in the broad universe. Let us pray, 'Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven.' Brethren and sisters, let us not only pray, but let us fast and pray, for surely there are some evil spirits that goeth not out but by fasting and prayer. I doubtless express the feeling of many when I thank Bishop Keener for sending back to us our faithful and efficient presiding elder, Dr. J. M. Weems, and with him in the lead, and many faithful men and women, what may we not expect to accomplish this year in the Vicksburg district! Let's bring it to the front, brethren. . . . I am waiting and watching for money orders or registered letters bringing the means to carry on to success the Indian Mission. May God open the hearts and pocket-books of our people to this worthy cause! The Indians—oh, so many of them—without the gospel for the lack of means or money to carry on the work. May I expect it. If so, the good Lord will doubtless bless the donors. Let it come. I have received since the last report the following amounts: Dr. I. W. Cooper, Meridian, Miss., $5; Dr. J. S. Austin, Oak Ridge, Miss., $1; and last, but not least, $5 of the savings and sacrifice of a dear little girl who is now in heaven. May God graciously bless the dear bereaved parents of their now glorified little daughter! Thanks for the above amounts, and may God bless the givers! Prosperity to the ADVOCATE and its editor."

NEWTON AND HICKORY.

We reached this, our new charge, on time. Bro. Morse moved out the morning we moved in. He was held in high esteem by this people, and justly so; for we see many tangible evidences of his faithfulness and efficiency during his pastorate of four years. It is pleasant to follow a wide-awake, enterprising, good pastor and preacher; things are found in such good shape generally.

The generous people of Newton and Hickory have made us so comfortable that we have felt entirely at home among them from the first. So far we have filled all of the appointments, and have had good congregations; and the preaching of the Word has been attended by the Holy Spirit. Have had eight accessions.

Bro. McDonald was with us at our first quarterly meeting, Jan. 11 and 12, and gave us an earnest, practical, helpful sermon. He made himself felt for good among the people in a general way, visiting among them, and putting himself in touch with them as one of their pastors.

The church at Newton has just finished the programme for "Do-without Week." First service was held on Jan. 30. The weather was inclement most of the time, but the presence and blessing of the Holy Spirit made the meeting a success. The offerings of the people amounted to twenty dollars. The amount is not large, but back of it is the prayer, consecration, faith and love of some of the best people in the church. The church is strong and better prepared for the work of the year on account of the observance of the Week of Prayer and Self-denial.

The outlook for our cause here is hopeful. Everything indicates a forward movement in church work.

The ADVOCATE is in favor with our people who take it. It feeds and helps both us and our people. The verdict here is, it is a first-class religious paper and grows better.

J. T. NICHOLSON.

The World in the Church

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

OBITUARIES.

MOSBY—MRS. SALLIE A. MOSBY (nee Jones) was born in DeSoto county, Miss., July, 1857; professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in her early childhood; was married to Mr. M. W. Mosby, March 6, 1890; died Nov. 8, 1894.

It is seldom we are called to mourn the loss of such a pure, gentle Christian woman as Mrs. Mosby. Hers was an unselfish life. To live for others and to do good was her greatest pleasure. In early life she gave her heart to God, and assumed the holy vows of the church, and no one ever knew her devotion to fail, or a vow to be broken. Her death was the calm triumph of faith; not a cloud to shadow her hope, not a fear to weaken her faith. She was ready to answer the call, "Sister spirit, come away." Her husband and three little ones, with several step-children who loved her as a mother, and many relatives and friends, are called to mourn her loss. The future will explain why this loss to earth was permitted. We ought to be comforted that she has gained. We can meet again, and this is joy. God bless her home and loved ones! T. W. DYE.

Nashville Advocate please copy.

HARRISON—Miss SIDNEY ANN NORTON was born in Natchez, Miss., Dec. 5, 1812, and died in New Orleans, Jan. 24, 1895. Her mother was a woman of strong character, a Methodist, and a devoted Christian.

On Jan. 14, 1834, Sister Norton was united in marriage to Mr. Jilson P. Harrison. They made their home in Vicksburg until 1842, when they removed to this city. She was received into the M. E. Church, South. God blessed her married life with thirteen children, five of whom survive to cherish her memory and to deplore their great loss.

Sister Harrison was a woman of strong and clear mind, well balanced, and never erratic. She was endowed with common sense above the average, never saying or doing things that needed to be explained or defended. She passed through the extremes of temporal fortune, but "none of these things moved her." She ever "walked by the same rule, and minded the same thing." She was always the same modest, courteous and dignified Christian lady. She was all that daughter, wife, mother and friend ought to be. She was a devout and earnest Christian, loving God's Word, house, and ordinances. She was for thirty-four years a member of the Board of Managers of St. Anna's Asylum. Almost her last words were about the management of this institution. In a memorandom she left she writes, "In my Father's house are many mansions, and I know there is one for me." We shall miss her gracious presence and generous gifts. Her death was painless and beautiful. Her memory is as an ointment poured forth, and she is, doubtless, with the glorified.

APPLEWHITE—Died at her home, near Vaiden, Miss., April 9, 1894, Sister S. F. APPLEWHITE, relict of the late Dr. J. A. Applewhite. She was born in the State of Alabama in 1827. When she was but a child her father, Rev. Joab Watson, removed to Tennessee, and settled near the town of Denmark, where he taught school for years. Here her childhood and early girlhood were spent. Soon after reaching woman's estate her father moved to Arkansas, and settled in or near Helena, where on Jan. 15, 1847 she was married to Dr. J. A. Applewhite. Soon after their marriage the Doctor returned to his boyhood's home, and settled among his kindred in Mississippi.

She made a public profession of religion in life's early morn, and gave her hand to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of which till the day of her death she was a faithful member.

But it is of her in the family circle that we would mainly speak. Thrown for years under the same roof with her aged father and mother-in-law, such was her kindness and care for them that she won their highest regard and unbounded love. She was of a retiring disposition, and showed by a blameless life the purity and power of our holy religion.

Eight sons and two daughters were born to her, four of whom—three boys and one girl—died in infancy. The others are still with us, to whom the memory of a mother's undying love should be a stimulant to all that is good, and cause them to turn a deaf ear to the siren song of the destroyer.

Sister Applewhite's death was peaceful and quiet as a child falling asleep into a mother's arms. "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his." W. H. HOLMES.

Winona, Miss.

CLARKE—The busy reaper, Death, has visited and taken to his eternal reward our aged brother, J. P. CLARKE, who for nearly fifty years has been a member of the Quarterly Conference in the M. E. Church, South.

Resolved, That we hereby express our loss, which is his gain, and hope that his godly life may be an example to stimulate the members of this fourth Quarterly Conference, Matherville charge, Meridian district, Mississippi Conference, to emulate his virtues and self-sacrifice.

Resolved, That our sympathies are hereby extended to his bereaved companion.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the Minutes of the Conference, and a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

J. B. MOODY, for Com.

(Continued on Seventh Page.)

Eyesight Saved

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and similar diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this:

Clifford Blackman.

"My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him weak and blood poisoned with canker. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and 7 weeks he could not open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do any good. I began giving him which soon cured him. It saved his sight, if not his very life." ARDIE F. BLACKMAN, 2888 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. 25 cents.

Saved His Life

BY USING

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"When my adopted son was seven years of age, he had as severe a cough as I ever knew anyone to suffer from. He coughed incessantly, and spit up blood. I tried everything I could think of, but he constantly grew worse, and I feared the poor little fellow would surely die. At last, I gave him Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, being recommended to do so by the physician. This medicine gave the child speedy relief and effected a permanent cure."—Mrs. M. E. DEBAT, Liberty, Texas.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Received Highest Awards AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 18 Bond St., New York

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

A. A. BOHNE HEIRS,

DEALERS IN

New and Second-Hand School Books, Stationery, Music,

1328 DRYADES STREET, Near THALIA.

School Books Bought, Sold and Exchanged.

D. J. WILT, Manager.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

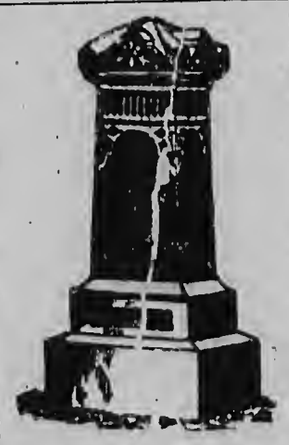
J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.



Kurshedt's Marble Works 120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES.

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware, Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited,

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re-adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel-plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories. One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Is 33 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington, 67 miles shortest to Birmingham, 90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs through car from Shreveport to Atlanta (via Birmingham) without change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Chance of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

E. HARDY, A. G. P. A., Vicksburg, Miss.

E. T. E. BRENT, A. G. P. A., 84 St. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

IT IS THE

SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

			Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	.....	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks,	.....	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3 ..	.....	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month,	.....	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	.....	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6 ..	.....	10 80	12 50
1 ..	1 year,	.....	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 ..	.....	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1 ..	.....	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1 ..	.....	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1 ..	.....	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1 ..	.....	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16 50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, February 28, 1895.

In the Gulf City.

We spent last Sabbath in Mobile, the occasion of our going being an invitation to address the Y. M. C. A., which we did in the afternoon at the St. Francis Street Baptist Church. We had a large and very attentive audience. Under the vigorous and wise leadership of the secretary, Bro. A C. Hart, the Mobile Y.M.C.A. is moving forward with rapid strides. It is thought that in the near future the association will substitute for its present hired apartments a handsome building of its own at a cost of thirty or forty thousand dollars.

By courtesy of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Shoaff, D. D., we filled the pulpit of St. Francis Street Church at eleven A. M. Declining other invitations to preach, we heard a sermon at night from Dr. Shoaff—one of a series which he is now delivering on the life and times of David. It was a thoughtful, able sermon, well prepared and admirably delivered. Dr. Shoaff is in the midst of an exceedingly prosperous pastorate. The church is growing rapidly in numerical strength, and is experiencing a corresponding development along other lines. It has one of the most prosperous Epworth Leagues we know of. We have conferred a favor upon our readers by asking Dr. Shoaff to write on the subject of League work for our columns. St. Francis Street Church is to be renovated and modernized at a cost of about twenty-five thousand dollars. The work will commence about the first of April.

We had the pleasure of meeting during our stay Rev. O. C. McGehee, of Government Street Church, and Rev. George Bancroft, of the Mississippi Conference, who is now making his headquarters in Mobile. We were delightfully entertained in the elegant home of Mr. Brown, and also enjoyed the hospitalities of Dr. Shoaff and his accomplished wife.

The Forum has published several articles on this and cognate topics. Two facts emerge from them: First, that crime is on the increase throughout the civilized world. In this country and in every nominally Christian country, with one exception, the growth of crime is proved from statistics. The second fact is that fewer crimes are punished. Many more criminals are not convicted; increasing numbers of those convicted are not punished. These two are cause and effect; crime increases because crime is not punished. The records show that fewer punishments are followed by more numerous crimes, but that in the instance of Great Britain severe penalties abate crime.—New York Observer.

Not Thomas Enough in the Bible.

A few days ago, in glancing over one of our metropolitan dailies, our attention was attracted by an account of a sermon on "King Lear," recently delivered by a certain Episcopal clergyman in New York City. This, the article stated, was one of a series of sermons upon the plays of Shakespeare that the aforesaid minister has been preaching to large and interested congregations. Now comes Dr. Buckley, of the New York Advocate, with the statement that a few weeks ago the pastor of a Baptist Church, in the same city, advertised to preach from the subject: "The Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of St. Paul." It is to be hoped that our sister denominations have few such would-be improvers upon the Bible. God forbid that Southern Methodism should ever be afflicted with pulpiteers of this type!

Ominous signs are these. What are we coming to when, in order to enlist the attention of the public, the pulpit has to select its themes from unbiblical sources? What a commentary upon the state of society when church members flock to hear some fawning, silly-headed, craven-hearted sham of a preacher discuss from the sacred desk the characters of Shakespeare, or of some modern novel, in place of the sublime truths of Revelation? Has it come to this, that the minister of the gospel must handle sin delicately, must beware how he declares the whole counsel of God, if he would not bring a storm upon his head? It is stated on good authority that the pastors of some ultra-fashionable city churches dare not preach from the text: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Should they do so without compromising the truth, like Othello, they would shortly find their "occupation gone." That sensationalism should occasionally manifest itself in the pulpit is in accordance with the spirit of the times. Some ministers in their eagerness for notoriety resort, as we have seen, to the advertisement of startling subjects. Little do they seem to care whether the language of the subject announced be irreverent or not. Truly Paul's words to Timothy are being fulfilled in this day and generation: "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears, and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." (II. Tim. iv, 3, 4.) Those "having itching ears" are not all among the ranks of the Spiritualists and the Christian Scientists, so-called. When a preacher denounces from his pulpit the particular sins of which his people are guilty, how ready many are to whine and say that his preaching is "too personal." They would have him denounce the wickedness of the Chinese or of the Africans, or of the Jews; but their own faults must be left untouched.

Let a depraved public taste dictate to the pulpit what it shall preach about, and away goes the Bible. Human depravity, repentance, the brotherhood of man, the universality of the gospel, the necessity of self-denial, hell and the judgment—these are themes unpleasant to human ears—themes that the world would ignore, if it could. And so the cry is "for more heavens and less hell, more love and less law, more of the flowers of hope and less of the ashes of despair," for something to kindle the imagination, to tickle the fancy, to excite the feelings, whether that something be biblical or not. Alas! that any minister should be so weak as to yield to this clamor, and in his message to dying, sin-cursed humanity substitute human for heavenly wisdom.

What an acknowledgement of intellectual and spiritual incapacity, what a parade of stupidity is there on the part of the clergyman who imagines the Bible too narrow and commonplace to afford instruction for every pulpit occasion! He must, forsooth, be delving in other mines to find matters "for doctrine, for reproof, for instruction in righteousness." And yet this is the book that for more than twenty centuries has endured the most searching tests. A thousand times has it been exploded by infidels, as they supposed; but still it lives. This is the book that has excited the interest and admiration of the profoundest intellects, the book which Von Moltke, the great German general, said had more influence over his mind than any other. Of this Bible, which some preachers find insufficient for their needs, a Harvard professor recently wrote: "It is not too much to say that the books of the Old and New Testament have exerted more influence on the course of human affairs among civilized nations than all other books put together." Hear what the lamented Spurgeon, perhaps the greatest preacher of the century, has to say of the Christian's text-book: "A long life will only suffice us to skirt the shores of this great continent of light. In the forty years of my own ministry I have only touched the hem of the garment of divine truth; but what virtue has flowed out of it! The Word is, like its Author, infinite, immeasurable, without end. If you were ordained to be a preacher, throughout eternity you would have before you a theme equal to everlasting demands."

May God pity the minister who, in order to find pleasant themes for his flock, turns aside from the Book of Sacred Truth and deals out the teachings of man's wisdom. May God pity the congregation that has become so ensnared with the world, the flesh and the devil as to demand and admire the Sabbath discussion of topics drawn from books of man's devising rather than from the Word of God.

About Duplicating.

We very frequently receive requests to continue notices in the ADVOCATE for several weeks. The brethren who make these requests have not stopped to think of all that is implied therein. There are in the three patronizing Conferences about twenty-four districts. Now, suppose each District Conference and each Preachers' Institute and each Sunday-school Conference publishes its programme in advance three or four times, besides making a report afterwards. It is easy to see that in this case there would be for several weeks in the year very little room for anything else. Let brethren reflect a little and not make requests of this sort. We are also frequently requested to keep standing for several weeks notices of revivals to be held, etc. Suppose every railroad town that holds revival services should make such a request, what then? And has not one town the same right to do this as another? "A word to the wise," etc.

Sell It Dear.

We mean that report from your work. Just after Conference a little diffuseness was allowable, as very few reports from the work were then coming in. From this time on, however, it will be quite different. These reports will be numerous. Moreover, the process of boiling down very often improves the flavor of a report. The average reader cares very little about fine rhetoric in a report of this sort. What he wants to read is the facts stated clearly and in small compass. A long report is very often skipped, while a brief one is read with interest. If you will go over your article carefully after you have written it with this query on the end of your pen, "What is there here that can be struck out without omitting any important fact or damaging the article in any way?" you will often be surprised to see how much of your fine rhetoric can be spared.

Bishop Hendrix Cracks the Kernel.

In these dozen or so sentences the Bishop utters an essay of large value:

"A church paper makes a working church. Work implies a knowledge of something to be done, and the right motives prompting one to do it. Ignorance of the demand for service is an excuse for inactivity. It is the light from heaven which makes one cry out, 'Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?' The largest givers to the benevolences of the church are those who keep posted as to their demands. The most systematic workers are those who realize the needs of the field. A pastor could revolutionize a church by getting them to see the work being done and needing their help. What new methods of work in the Sunday-school, in the Epworth League, in the different Women's Societies are possible to those who read a live church paper! What better financial methods are possible to the stewards who keep posted as to what other churches are doing. It was because the church at Antioch kept posted that it became the great missionary church.—Baltimore Advocate.

In a communication in the Saint Louis Advocate, "in response to several letters from presiding elders asking about the appointment of Committees of Examination for applicants for license to preach, and also for recommendation for admission on trial at the Annual Conference, as well as for orders," Bishop Hendrix says: "The Discipline provides for a committee of three, to be appointed by the presiding elder, to examine persons applying for license [paragraph 166], and also a similar committee of three, to be appointed by the presiding elder, for the examination of persons who may wish to apply to the Annual Conference for admission or for orders [paragraph 76]. All votes in the case are to be taken by ballot. While it is possible for the same committee to serve both for the examination of candidates for a license and for recommendation for admission or orders, it would seem that the intent of the law could best be carried out by the appointment of two committees, so that full time be had for the purpose of examination."

While in St. Louis, this week, Bishop Hendrix attended a meeting of the trustees of the Barnes Hospital, and was much impressed with the ability and wisdom with which the trustees are arranging to carry out the provisions of the will of the late Robert A. Barnes, who left $1,100 000 to found and endow a hospital in the city of St. Louis, to be under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The executor of the will has turned over to the trustees the above-named sum, and the greatest care is being taken to create one of the best hospitals in the world. This is the largest gift in the history of our church, exceeding the gift of Commodore Vanderbilt by $100,000.—St. Louis Advocate.

A New View.

Episcopal lady—"You Methodists ought to come into the grand old Episcopal Church. There is very little difference between us now." Methodist man—"Madam, I think there is a good deal of difference. You Episcopalians do quit your devilment forty days in the year, while we Methodists keep it up all the year round."

NOTES.

The address of Rev. J. B. Stone from now on will be Winona, Miss.

***

The Methodists of South Carolina are about to establish an Epworth Orphanage.

***

The postoffice address of Rev. S. H. Whatley this year will be Eunice, Acadia parish, La.

***

It is easy to say we are willing to do whatever the Lord requires of us. Doing this is the difficult thing.

***

Don't fail to read the advertisement of Rev. W. B. Hines in another column. It may be worth a great deal to you.

***

The Methodist Episcopal Church has 415 deaconesses, of whom 307 are Americans, and 106 Germans and Swiss.

***

"Strive to enter in at the straight gate," is the exhortation of the Savior. A more correct rendering of the Greek would be, "Agonize to enter in." How many do this?

***

Rev. J. W. Bozeman, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, Meridian, Miss., died on the twenty-second. He was a man of ability and fine Christian character.

***

Christians often claim to have consecrated their all to the Lord; but when the pastor calls for missionary money, or for money to build a new church, how poor some of them suddenly become.

***

To claim great loyalty to Christ, and at the same time roam over the country abusing Christ's church—his body—is a misnomer. Such men are either deceived or they are deceivers.—Central Methodist.

***

Be sure you know your own heart before you proclaim your readiness to do or to suffer anything the Lord may put upon you. To-morrow's temptations may reveal weaknesses we never suspected.

***

A dispute among men who have the love of God in their hearts as to how it got there is a curious manifestation of human weakness. That sort of love usually exhibits itself in a different way.—Pacific Advocate.

***

There are nearly 300 young men and women in training in the Moody Institute, Chicago. Every night they work in the missions of the city. The young ladies of the Institute spend their afternoons in house-to-house visitation.

***

The men and women whose lives are above reproach are by no means numerous. Rarer still are those who suffer afflictions without murmuring. Serving the Lord is far easier than the patient endurance of afflictions.

***

When an editor of a religious paper makes a quotation from another paper, and gives it such a setting as to make the writer convey a meaning entirely different from what was obviously intended—well, we will not say; but we think.

***

Just as we were going to press we received a telegram announcing that Mrs. Mary E. Henington, widow of the late Rev. E. T. Henington, of the Mississippi Conference, is dying at her home in Crystal Springs. She is a sister of the editor.

***

The attempts to overthrow prohibition in North Dakota, or, in other words, to resubmit the question to the people with the view of making a desperate effort to recover for the liquor interest the ground it has lost in that State, has happily proven a failure.

***

Assistant General Thomas, of the Postoffice Department at Washington, has decided that prize drawing on sale of merchandise is gambling. We knew that long ago. Now let church raffles and grab bags be catalogued with "craps," and justice will be moving.—Holston Methodist.

***

Not all who profess to be in love and charity with their neighbors are really so. What shall we say of those who are forever harping upon past grievances and unearthing buried differences? How few are content to "let the dead past bury its dead?" If any Christian forgives, but does not try to forget an injury received, sin lieth at the door.

***

Mr. Moody's Bible Institute at Chicago offers special facilities to ministers who can spend the month of April there in the study of the Scriptures, Old Testament Prophecy, the Acts, the Epistles, and the first Epistle of John, being the topics assigned. The evenings are to be occupied in an exploration of mission and evangelistic work in the city. The total expense for room, board and tuition is put at $5 a week.

Hon. John M. Thurston, United States Senator from Nebraska, refused, recently, to attend a banquet in his honor, if wine was served. The wine was not served, and the banquet is said to have proven a "temperance love-feast." Let weak-kneed church members take courage, and stiffen up their vertebral columns.—Holston Methodist.

***

Nothing so tries a pastor's patience as to hear some well-to-do, but stingy, church member constantly prating about what he did for the church some time ago. Because of one liberal donation he fancies he ought to be excused from contributing for the rest of his life. How much afraid some people are that that they will do too much for the Lord.

***

The Parsonage and Home Mission Society of Bay St. Louis has secured control of the Gulf Coast Echo for one issue. It is one of the stipulations of the contract that nothing written by a man shall go into it. The entire proceeds from sales and advertising go into the treasury of the society. A handsome sum will no doubt be realized. The paper is owned, controlled and edited by Catholics.

***

It will be time enough for some of our confreres to take us to task for the kind of communications admitted into our columns when they have proven their oft-repeated charge that the Southern Methodist Church is run by rings exactly like the rings of the political world. The cuttle fish trick is a very nice one when your antagonist is a greeny. Pee dee dee!

***

At the Seventy-seventh Annual Convention of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi, F. and A. M., held in the city of West Point, on Feb. 14 and 15, 1895, the following action was taken:

The report of the Committee on Complaints and Appeals, confirming the action of Greenville Lodge, was adopted by a nearly unanimous vote; and Rule 33 was re-enacted so as to read as follows:

Rule 33. No Mason, either as principal, agent, employee, or in any other capacity, shall sell intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage, and the penalty therefor shall be expulsion.

***

Cardinal Gibbons says the only true view of church unity is that taken by the Pope, that "the supremacy of the Roman pontiff, the supreme jurisdiction of St. Peter and his successors, can alone unite us in fellowship with our Redeemer." Is this the infallible word of unity which Dr. Briggs lately predicted that some Pope was going to speak? If so, nearly every other denomination has a similar word of unity, only it presents itself as the rallying center; but if they should all come together, each uttering its infallible word, what a time there would be!—Congregationalist.

***

Will the present war in the east result in advantage to the cause of foreign missions? We think there can be no doubt that this will be the case. China will no longer be able to remain in her isolated position; and when she comes to realize her necessities there will be a call for teachers to lead her people into better paths. At first there will no doubt be a desire for secular advancement only; but it will be the fault of Christians if they do not see the opportunity for the promulgation of the truth. May missionaries of our church be ready to enter the land when the barriers fall.—Reformed Church Messenger.

***

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing of Texas and Arkansas, says that the rapid extension and satisfactory operation of local option "is to-day working out in those States temperance reform in the most practical way, with the force of enlightened public opinion behind it. It is the drink evil that inflames the passions of the worst negroes and incites them to those fiendish crimes which are the ground of justification for the barbarous lynching outrages committed in many sections of the South. Local option is diminishing intemperance and increasing the probability that the race question in the South will ultimately be solved."

***

Next week we will present to each one of our subscribers a copy of a magnificent map of Palestine—one of the best we have ever seen. When you get this beautiful and useful map remember that it accompanies "Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee." Moreover, we wish to call the attention of our readers to the fact that as soon as the entire series of this magnificent work is complete, we will send a portfolio holder to each subscriber who will pay the charges of transportation thereon. If you wish the portfolio, all you have to do is to send twenty cents to prepay postage or to drop us a card saying that you wish it sent by express at your expense. We make no charge whatever for the binder—only for the cost of transportation. We expect thousands of orders on these terms.

The Advocate for One Dollar.

To all new subscribers whose names are sent in with the cash during the next sixty days we will send the ADVOCATE from now until Dec. 31 for one dollar. When we say "for cash," we do not mean that every preacher must in every case send cash with each name. Let the names be sent in as rapidly as possible, and let the cash follow soon afterward. We can not take subscriptions at this rate and then wait until Conference for the money. Let all our preachers make this offer known as rapidly as possible.

Brother preacher, it would neither compromise your dignity nor desecrate the Sabbath if you should make this offer known to your people from the pulpit. Let laymen also lend a helping hand by spreading the news of our liberal offer. Let it be known that subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at whatever price, become beneficiaries of our various premium offers—"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," as well as the rest.

They All Know It.

If a doubt just ask your neighbor
What, for nerve tire, you should take;
Quick as wink they'll surely tell you,
You must use PRESTON'S HEADACHE.

Parsonage and Home Mission.

The Sea Coast Echo, of Bay St. Louis, will have a special edition on Saturday, March 2, "a woman's edition," published by the ladies of Bay St. Louis for the benefit of the parsonage and home mission fund. The ladies will write and assume the responsibility of every line that will be printed, local, national and editorial, manage the business department and solicit advertisements and orders from those who will want extra copies. In this way they will do all the work themselves save the type-setting and press work, which will be furnished by the paper's proprietors. It is expected to get out an extra large edition of the paper and send hundreds of copies of it throughout the country.—Times-Democrat.

The object of the fund is to finish paying for our Mission Chapel, two and a half miles below the main church building in Bay St. Louis. A chapel among Roman Catholics. Can not all of the local Parsonage and Home Mission Societies of Mississippi and Louisiana order and sell twenty-five copies of the paper at ten cents a copy?

Send orders to Mrs. Dr. R. J. Turner, or Mrs. N. B. Harmon, Bay St. Louis, Miss. N. B HARMON.

A Traveling Man.

Mr. B. C. Wolfe, of Washington, Mo., writes that after taking Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism for one week, the pain had almost left him entirely. He slept better, had no more night sweats, and appetite was good. He also wrote that he would not take $100 for what the remedy had done for him. There is no waiting weeks and months to get satisfaction. The remedy attacks the disease at once. Send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and the full month's treatment of two large bottles will be sent to you by return express. Agents wanted.

An Appeal for Help.

MR. EDITOR: I am a homesteader in the Cherokee Strip, which opened for settlement Sept. 16, 1893. I have been living on my claim since that time. I came here from Kansas. Crops were very poor in Kansas the last two years that I lived there, and crops were a total failure here this last year, on account of the drouth. Times are very hard here, and it is impossible to get a day's work to do at any price.

I have a wife and three little children; and if I had raised a crop, we would have had a hard time to get through until we could raise another crop, but as it is, we have not been able to buy any clothing and but little to eat.

If you, or any of your friends have any old clothes that you could send to us, or if you could help us in any way, we would be very grateful.

Yours respectfully,
ELLSWORTH HILTON.
Caldwell, Kansas.

Preachers' Meeting.

The Preachers' Meeting for the Shreveport district, Louisiana Conference, will be held at Grand Cane, beginning Wednesday, March 27, 1895, at 9 A. M. Let all the preachers of the district (itinerant and local) come praying for a baptism of power.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

For Nervous Prostration.
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.
Dr. J. C. Stovall, Raleigh C. H., W. Va., says: "Have used it in nervous prostration, with great success."

The Fearn Mission.

Since last report I have received the following on the above mission, viz.: Dr. J. S Austin, $5; T. B. Holt, Esq., $10; Rev. F. B. Ormond, $2 50. This makes the whole amount received, and now on hand, $534 25.

A letter from Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Missionary Treasurer, dated Feb. 8, asked me if I could be responsible for the balance due on the subscription and the balance yet unsubscribed. He writes: "The only thing is, we are required to see that the provision is absolutely sure. The reason I ask these questions is that Dr. Hart, the present incumbent, may be obliged to leave Suchow three months earlier than we expected. It is important that Dr. Fearn should go forward as soon as possible."

I answered his letter, telling him what I thought I could safely promise. He writes to me again on Feb. 12, stating more explicitly what must be done, and adds: "By doing this we can send Dr. Fearn out immediately. I will write him at Chicago to come through Nashville at the earliest possible date and prepare to sail, after he has seen his friends, by the first or second week in March. Trusting that this course is one in which we can be led by the Holy Spirit, and that friends in Mississippi will rally to your aid, I remain, etc."

I have written to Dr. Fearn to start at once for Mississippi via Nashville, and doubtless he will be on his way to the Celestial Empire by the second week in March.

In assuming the responsibility for the forthcoming of the balance of the thousand dollars, I believed that I could rely with certainty upon the amounts subscribed being paid, and upon our ability to get up the balance unsubscribed.

The amount subscribed to date, including what has been paid, is $919 25, leaving unprovided for, $80 75

Some of our subscribers, I have no doubt, have neglected sending in the amounts they promised, because they thought that there was no immediate necessity; but after reading this communication they will see the importance of sending at once. I believe that they will not disappoint the confidence I have reposed in them. I believe also that the Great Head of the missionary cause will move upon the hearts of his servants to provide the balance unsubscribed.

C. G. ANDREWS.
Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 16, 1895.

The Fearn Mission.

Receipts previously reported, $531.25. Received since: J. R. Bingham $5; Mrs. M. A. Rigby, $20; Rev. E. H. Mounger, $5; Brother in Tennessee, $2 50; Rev. M. L. Barton, $25; Lady in Brookhaven, $2; Crawford Street (Vicksburg) Sunday-school, $7 50; total, $601 25.

Dr. Fearn came back last week from Chicago, where he had been attending Moody's Training-school. He will spend about two weeks with his family and friends, and will sail for China. The first instalment for his expenses has been sent on to the Board of Missions. C. G. ANDREWS.
Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 26, 1895.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
World's Fair Highest Educational System.

Women of the North Mississippi Conference.

Sisters of the P. and H. M. S., at the request of your treasurer, I call your attention to the fact that a most important quarter of our fiscal year is nearing its close and our treasury is almost empty. Remember that the severe Winter that we have felt so much in our comfortable homes has been much harder upon those who are living in unfinished parsonages in our own Conferences, or in rented hovels in the far West. Let all treasurers of auxiliaries collect dues for the quarter and remit promptly to Mrs. Thayer, that we may be enabled to fulfill our promises. MRS. H. W FOOTE.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. ARABNS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE BURNT OFFERING.
(Lev. i, 1-9; Rom. xii, 1.)

It has pleased God, that without the shedding of blood there is no remission. Cavil, if you will; but the Creator will not change his programme in order to suit the tastes of his creatures.

1. The Israelites were saved the same as Christians. Faith in the Messiah. The Israelites looked forward, we backward to the Lamb of God. The burnt offering was to the Israelites a sign and seal of God's promise. The burnt offering pointed to him who "was wounded for our transgressions."

(1) The burnt offering was to be without blemish. Christ could challenge his enemies with: "Who of you convicteth me of sin?"

(2) The burnt offering of no avail if not a free-will offering. It was to be given, "of his own voluntary will." No salvation nolens, volens. Nay, sacramentarianism will not save. "Whosoever will." The weakling wishes; the strong man wills.

(3) The burnt offering was an individual affair. "If any man of you bring an offering to the Lord." Individually we live, breathe, eat, die. Individually we must repent and believe.

(4) The burnt offering thus presented secured the promise of atonement. Paul's remark to the jailer holds good at all time: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

2. Having thus become children of God by exercising faith in Christ—Christ, who gave himself a propitiation for our sins, dying for us on Calvary, the just for the unjust—we, too, the apostle beseeches us, should present to God an offering surely acceptable unto him.

(1) Give our bodies. The entire physical organism. Hands, feet, intellect, etc.

(2) As a living sacrifice. Consecrated to God, though in the turmoil of daily life. All we say and do indicates to others that we have been with Jesus. Hermitage, cloister, avaunt!

(3) Our bodies, the living sacrifice, must be holy. Set apart and devoted to God's service. Even our toil for daily bread becomes indirectly toil for God. Holy. Removed from sin as the east is from the west.

(4) Such sacrifice is acceptable unto God. He may spurn the gold of Ophir; but holy bodies, employed in his service, are welcome and gladly received.

(5) Such service, the consecration of our bodies, is reasonable. Yes, indeed. Christ has given himself for us; we give ourselves to him. He died for us; we live for him.

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, on salary, in most every county in the South and West, a young lady or gentleman. Those from the country also accepted. Experience not necessary: in fact, prefer beginners at a small salary at first, say to begin, from $30 to $60 a month.

Chances for rapid promotion GOOD. Must deposit in bank cash, about $100 No loan asked; no investment required. It is a salaried and permanent position. (Strictly office work.) The enterprise is strongly endorsed by bankers. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

Notice.

By request I call a meeting of the joint commission raised by the two Mississippi Conferences "to formulate plans for an Orphan's Home in our State," to be held in Winona, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., March 26. The members of said commission are: J. D. Cameron, J. A. Bowen, J. R. Bingham, R. J. Jones, A. F. Watkins, W. A. Gunning.

J. D. CAMERON.
Holly Springs, Miss.

Sunday-School Board.

The new Sunday-school Board of Mississippi Conference organized and elected Rev. J. W. Brown, president; Mr. Jno. A. Guice, treasurer, and Rev. H. G. Hawkins, secretary. All applications for aid must be addressed to Rev. J. W. Brown, Woodville, Miss.

Applications for aid for needy Sunday-schools are to be made, stating the name of Sunday-school superintendent, name of Sunday-school, number of scholars and officers, and endorsed or made by preacher in charge. Will all our preachers in charge please send name of all Sunday-schools and Sunday-school superintendents on their works, with preachers in charge, to me immediately. J. W. BROWN,
Pres. S. S. Board, Miss. Conf.
Woodville, Miss.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Kentucky Hog Jowls (Smoked),
Something Choice, 6 cents a pound.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.
FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
SEAL A. W GLEASON,
Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists 75c.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Good Light Brown Sugar,
40 lbs. for $1 00.

Dr. George W. Rembert,
DENTIST,
Godchaux Building. New Orleans.
Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.

Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to

Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.

Take elevator on Canal street.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, cor. Thalia,
Corn, Tomatoes, or Snap Beans,
2 lb. can 5 cents.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE
Locock's
Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.
LINDEN, ALA.
I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—
Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.
E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

TEXAS
EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC
SHORT LINE
—TO—
HOT SPRINGS, NORTH TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA.
TICKET OFFICE - - 629 CANAL.
TIME CARD.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Fort Worth and Cal. Ex.	8:15 A. M.	7:00 P. M.
Denver Express	6 05 P. M	9.15 A M

8:15 A. M. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Fort Worth and connects at Fort Worth with Pullman Sleepers for El Paso, Denver and San Francisco.
6:05 p. m. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Shreveport and Marshall, and connects with Cannon Ball train for Hot Springs. Also through Sleeper to Little Rock, via Alexandria.
Take Jackson street cars for Gretna.
Trains leave Gretna 8:40 a. m. and 6:40 p. m.
For tickets and other information call on or address:
A. G. GRAHAM, Passenger and Ticket Agt.
GASTON MEYLERT, Gen. Pass. and Tkt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice-President and General Manager.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual,	Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years, -	$34,520,690
N. Y. Life,	" " " " " -	40,684,163
Equitable,	" " " " " " -	40,117,616

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy
On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

POST & BOWLES,
General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,
Slate Roofer.
Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.
CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.
Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 231.
Pennsylvania Coal Company,
Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY,.....Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

"A" Grade, $45. Write to-day.
CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS
and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements, and reduced prices. It has 210 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A" Grade, $65. Write to-day.

THE OXFORD BIBLE
A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in a small compass, adapted for all classes.
First American TYPE-SET Edition
SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessity of a number of books, while it will concentrate the mind of the student on his work. MINION, 12mo Size, 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 Inches.
From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word and page for page, a fac-simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.
THIS is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, made from new type set plates and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper. The binding is the desirable Divinity Circuit style from the best American Leather, with leather lining inside, round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.
The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising nearly 400 pages, are, as all thorough Bible students well know, the result of years of careful labor and research by the most eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day, who have brought them to that point of perfection where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and convenient explanatory Cyclopedia of Biblical information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.
Jacob unwillingly sendeth Benjamin. 15 Joseph entertaineth his brethren. 29 He joyeth at seeing Benjamin.

Before CHRIST 1707

AND the famine was sore in the land.
2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.
3 And Judah spake unto him, saying,

Before CHRIST 1707

a Ch. 24. 9. a 39. 4. a 44. 1. b Heb. kill a killing. 1 Sam. 25. 11. c Heb. eat.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the [a] ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and [b] slay, and make ready; for these men shall [c] dine with me at noon.
17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.
18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house;

CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEATHER BINDING.

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS,
Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with context, over 40,000 references. Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 references. Scripture Atlas, with Index. Glossary of Bible Words. Bible Calendar. Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and pronunciation. Summary and Analysis of the Old and New Testament.
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.
A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

1 The Title of the Bible.
2 The Canon of Scripture.
3 Versions of the Scriptures.
4 Genuineness and Integrity of the Old Testament.
5 Summary of the Books of the Old Testament.
6 Summary of the Books of the Apocrypha.
7 Chronology of the Old Testament.
8 Genealogy from Adam to Jacob.
9 Itinerary of the Journeyings of the Israelites to their settlement in Canaan.
10 Miracles of the Old Testament.
11 Parables of the Old Testament.
12 Special prayers in the Old Testament.
13 Brief Historical Summary of the Interval between the Old and New Testaments.
14 Genuineness and Integrity of the New Testament.
15 Summary of the Books of the New Testament.
16 Harmony of the Gospels.
17 Our Lord's Miracles.
18 Our Lord's Parables.
19 Names, Titles and Offices of Christ.
20 Prophecies relating to Christ.
21 Recorded Appearances of Christ after His Resurrection.
22 Family of the Herods.
23 Chronology of the Acts and Epistles.
24 Paul's Missionary Journeys.
25 Paul's Voyage to Rome.
26 Special Prayers in the New Testament.
27 Passages from the Old Testament quoted in the New Testament.
28 References to the Old Testament not being exact Quotations.
29 References in the New Testament to Incidents recorded in the Old Testament.

BIBLE LANDS.
(Their Inhabitants, Conformation, Principal Characteristics, etc.)

30 Ethnology of the Jews and their Neighbors.
31 Jewish Sects and Parties.
32 The Jewish Year.
33 Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
34 Mountains of the Bible.
35 Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
36 Animals of the Bible.
37 Birds found in Palestine.
38 Reptiles of the Bible.
39 Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
40 Insects of the Bible.
41 Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
42 Geology of the Bible.
43 Precious Stones of the Bible.
44 Music and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
45 Weights and Measures.
46 A Glossary of Antiquities, Customs, etc.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, Obsolete and Ambiguous.
Subject-Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Dictionary of Scripture Proper Names, with their pronunciations and meanings.
Index to Scripture Atlas.
Scripture Atlas.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $4.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still, any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each.

Better still: For the benefit of those who desire a genuine Oxford Bible at a still lower rate we have made arrangements with one of the leading Bible publishers in America whereby we can offer a beautiful Oxford Bible, four by five and a half inches, pearl type, French Seal, divinity circuit, round corners, as a premium for only two new subscribers. In order to get the benefit of this offer one must be himself a subscriber and must have paid his subscription to June, '96. We will send this Book, postpaid, to any address on receipt of $1 62.

We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address Rev. W. C. BLACK,
511 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY, Pittsburgh
ANCHOR, Cincinnati.
ATLANTIC, New York.
BEYMER-BAUMAN, Pittsburgh.
BRADLEY, New York.
BROOKLYN, New York.
COLLIER, St. Louis.
CORNELL, Buffalo.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS, Pittsburgh.
EAGLE, Cincinnati.
FAHNESTOCK, Pittsburgh.
JEWETT, New York.
KENTUCKY, Louisville.
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS. CO Philadelphia.
MORLEY, Cleveland.
MISSOURI, St. Louis.
RED SEAL, St. Louis.
SALEM, Salem, Mass.
SHIPMAN, Chicago.
SOUTHERN, St. Louis and Chicago.
ULSTER, New York.
UNION, "

Don't Buy

barytes if you want White Lead. Pure White Lead is the best paint—barytes is the poorest, is worthless. Barytes is often sold under the brand of White Lead, Pure White Lead, &c. Be careful about the brand (see list of genuine brands). Don't take what is said to be "just as good."

Any shade of color is readily obtained by using the National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead tinting colors. One pound of color tints a 25-pound keg of Pure White Lead. Send for color-card and pamphlet—free.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Few know what chimneys to use on their lamps. Consult the "Index to Chimneys," sent free.

Write Geo A Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa, maker of "pearl glass" and "pearl top."

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it—if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO. 26-28 N. William St. New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 1000 MORE BOOK AGENTS for the fastest selling book of the times

DARKNESS and DAYLIGHT in NEW YORK

By Helen Campbell and Supt. Byrnes, Chief of N. Y. Police With an account of his thirty years experience as a great detective in his own words. 730 pages. 250 superb illustrations from photographs of real life. With introduction

By Rev. Lyman Abbott.

Pure and high-toned full of tears and smiles—Ministers say "God speed it" and Agents are selling it by thousands. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies Free (Outfit) and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars and Specimen Engravings to A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D., with privilege of examination. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufrs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

Known Everywhere. Sold Everywhere. Grown Everywhere.

FERRY'S SEEDS

Ask your dealer for them. Send for Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895, invaluable to all planters and lovers of Fine Vegetables and Beautiful Flowers. Write for it—Free. D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

CHURCH ORGANS The Lyon & Healy Church Organs present remarkable value. Prices from $300 for a good instrument of fine tone, suitable for a small church, upward. For $975 an instrument of great power, containing 800 speaking notes, two manuals and pedals. Only church organ of the size having pneumatic pistons, pneumatic stop-action, and made of standard measurements adopted by the College of Organists, London Eng. Indorsed by leading organists everywhere. Fully guaranteed for five years. Sketches, specifications and prices promptly furnished on application. Time payments may be arranged. LYON & HEALY, 22 E. Adams St., CHICAGO.

CONSUMPTION

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for this disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. So certain am I of its power that I feel it my religious duty to send two bottles free to any having lung troubles or consumption if they will send me their express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN). Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS of MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

518 and 520 CAMP ST.

Telephone 139.

HOME CIRCLE.

"NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP."

BY EUGENE FIELD.

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere;
Like troubled spirits, here and there,
The firelight shadows flitter go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a farther room
Comes: "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And somehow with that little prayer,
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thought goes back to distant years,
And lingers with a dear one there;
And, as I hear the child's Amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me,
Couched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place!
Oh, for the peace of that dear time!
Oh, for that childish trust sublime!
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows around me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone—
And "now I lay me down to sleep."

—Chicago News.

Sympathy with Children.

The very first principle necessary as the foundation of any true science of motherhood is the principle of sympathy. I mean by this that the mother must be able to enter into a real sympathy with her children. She must be able to put herself in their place, and must look at things through their eyes. Without this it will be impossible for her to be either just or wise in her training. We seem sometimes to forget that children are human beings; that they do not grow up into human beings, but are born such, and as such have all the human characteristics. We can, therefore, judge by our own sensations just how a child would be affected by any given manner of treatment. The common nature is too little recognized. Many people seem to think that in their behavior to children accepted standards may be set aside. Children, as a class, are in a sense helpless and defenseless. The power which controls them is absolute. Not infrequently parents and others take advantage of this absolute power, and treat children with a discourtesy and rudeness, with an unkindness, injustice, and unfairness, that they would be ashamed to exhibit toward grown people, and which, if shown, would be judged worthy of general condemnation.

"Do as you would like to be done by," is a pretty safe rule. Adults do not like to be found fault with before others; do not like their peculiarities of face or figure or disposition to be made the subject of remark; do not like to be everlastingly nagged; do not like harshness, rudeness, impoliteness, ridicule, injustice, unfairness. It is surely a grievous violation of the Golden Rule when adults take advantage of their position of authority to inflict this same unkind and uncourteous treatment upon children. . . . The great mistake is to judge the child's conduct from the adult's standpoint. As well might one judge the caterpillar from the standpoint of the butterfly! But since they can not help being children, and we can not help being adults, things must necessarily go wrong between us unless one or the other is able to step into the other's shoes. Children manifestly can not step into our shoes, and there is nothing for it, therefore, but for us to step into theirs. We must manage somehow to put ourselves in the child's place and to look at things from the child's standpoint. The science of motherhood will teach us how to do this. We shall learn to consider, not how any given matter or event in the lives of our children will affect ourselves, but how it will affect them.—The Science of Motherhood, by Mrs. Hannah Whitall Smith.

The will of God is the sum of law.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Religion and the Home.

We are not angels; we are only men and women, and we share the imperfections of manhood and womanhood. We are not perfect apples; we are speckled apples, all of us. I do not care how deep and sweet and tender and accordant love may render the home life, it can not but happen that in the close contact, in the every-day openness and disclosure of the home, our bad points will come out. No family is made up of perfectly straight sticks, but crooked ones; and when they are piled together in the closeness of home life the crookedness will appear. The man and woman married the most utterly, married along the whole line of their natures, must yet find some point where there is not complete contact. There is dissimilarity of temper; there has been dissimilarity of education. Before musicians can pour forth a perfect harmony they must bring their instruments in tune. Before two hearts can perfectly strike together they must be keyed to the same note, and that can not be altogether done before marriage. The exact, real self does not appear in courtship. It is the best self, the self-dressed in the best wardrobe of manners and sentiment and sacrifice, that appears then. After marriage the self puts on its common habits and appears for what it is. Then each real self must adjust itself to each real self; then must each bear and forbear. Then must any incompatibility be met and mastered by a mutual charity which suffereth long and is kind, which never faileth. Now it is just here in this closeness and disclosure of the home that religion is most needed. One must enter into the Christian method of finding life by losing it; the soul must possess itself with the sweetness of a Christian patience. A Christian love must put its foot upon the neck of any miserable pride of self-assertion and keep it there. A Christian confession of wrong must be as quick and spontaneous as the breath. Christ in calmness, in tenderness, in self-sacrifice, must dwell in the heart of each. Then shall that home be Christian.—Wayland Hoyt, D.D.

The Beggar Boy.

In the following story the power of kindness is beautifully illustrated: "Go away from here, you old beggar boy! You've no right to be looking at our flowers," shouted a little fellow from the garden.

The poor boy, who was pale, dirty and ragged, was leaning against the fence, admiring the splendid show of roses and tulips within. His face rendered with anger at the rude language, and he was about to answer defiantly, when a little girl sprang out from an arbor near, and looking at both, said to her brother:

"How could you speak so, Herbert! I'm sure his looking at the flowers don't hurt us." And then, to soothe the wounded feelings of the stranger, she added: "Little boy, I'll pick you some flowers if you'll wait a moment," and she immediately gathered a pretty bouquet, and handed it through the fence.

His face brightened with surprise and pleasure, and he earnestly thanked her.

Twelve years after this occurrence, the girl had grown to a woman. One bright afternoon she was walking with her husband in the garden, when she observed a young man in workman's dress leaning over the fence, and looking attentively at her, and at the flowers. Turning to her husband, she said:

"It does me good to see people admiring the garden; I'll give that young man some of the flowers;" and, approaching him, she said, "Are you fond of flowers, sir? It will give me great pleasure to gather you some."

The young workman looked a moment into her fair face, and then said, in a voice, tremulous with feeling, "Twelve years ago I stood here a ragged little beggar boy, and you showed me the same kindness. The bright flowers and your pleasant words made a new boy of me; aye, and they made a man of me, too. Your face, madame, has been a light to me in my dark hours of life, and now, thank God, though that boy is still a humble, hard-working man, he is an honest and grateful one."

Tears stood in the eyes of the lady as, turning to her husband, she said: "God put it into my young heart to do that little act of kindness, and see how great a reward it has brought."

Think before You Strike.

I remember reading in my boyhood about a merchant traveling on horseback, accompanied by his dog. He dismounted for some purpose, and accidentally dropped his package of money. The dog saw it, the merchant did not. The dog barked to stop him, and, as he rode further, bounded in front of the horse and barked louder and louder. The merchant thought he had gone mad, drew a pistol from his holster and shot him. The wounded dog crawled back to the package, and when the merchant discovered his loss and rode back, he found his dog dying there guarding the treasure.

The following little story, told by a friend of mine, is not as painful, but adds force to the thought, "Think before you strike any creature that can not speak."

"When I was a boy and lived up in the mountains of New Hampshire, I worked for a farmer, and was given a span of horses to plough with, one of which was a four-year-old colt. The colt, after walking a few steps, would lie down in the furrow. The farmer was provoked, and told me to sit on the colt's head to keep him from rising, while he whipped him 'to break him of that motion,' as he said.

"But just then a neighbor came by. He said: 'There's something wrong here; let him get up, and let us examine.' He patted the colt, looked at his harness, and then said: 'Look at this collar; it is so long and narrow, and carries the harness so high that when he begins to pull, it slips back and chokes him so he can't breathe.' And so it was; and but for that neighbor we would have whipped as kind a creature as we had on the farm, because he laid down when he could not breathe."

It was only the other day I heard of a valuable St. Bernard dog being shot, because, having a wound on his head concealed by the hair, he bit a person who handled him roughly.

Boys, young and old, please remember that these creatures are dumb. They may be hungry or thirsty or cold or faint or sick or bruised or wounded, and can not tell you.

Think before you strike any creature that can not speak.—G. T. Angell.

Trying His Appetite.

A young man carelessly formed the habit of taking a glass of liquor every morning before breakfast. An older friend advised him to quit before the habit should grow too strong.

"O, there's no danger; it's a mere notion; I can quit any time," replied the drinker.

"Suppose you try to-morrow morning," suggested the friend.

"Very well; to please you I'll do so, but I assure you there's no cause for alarm."

A week later the young man met his friend again.

"You are not looking well," observed the latter. "Have you been ill?"

"Hardly," replied the other one. "But I am trying to escape a dreadful danger, and I fear that I shall be, before I shall have conquered. My eyes were opened to an imminent peril when I gave you that promise a week ago. I thank you for your timely suggestion."

"How did it affect you?" inquired the friend.

"The first trial utterly deprived me of appetite for food. I could eat no breakfast, and was nervous and trembling all day. I was alarmed when I realized how insidiously the habit had fastened on me, and resolved to turn square about and never touch another drop. The squaring off has pulled me down severely, but I am gaining, and I mean to keep the upper hand after this. Strong drink will never catch me in his net again."—Exchange.

It is said that cows will yield one-fifth more milk "if soothed during the milking by pleasing melody." Let the preacher who has had a hard time getting his Conference collections paste this in his hymn book for future reference.

There is a Spanish proverb which says that "an ounce of mother is worth a pound of clergy." The home, let it always be remembered, is the first church.

It helps the devil to make Sunday a dismal day for the children.—Ram's Horn.

God can forgive sin, but he won't bless laziness.

HYGIENE.

Narcotics.

The anti-narcotic work in the United States has grown so rapidly the past few years that the workers are greatly encouraged. Thirty-nine States and the District of Columbia have laws relating to the sale of cigarettes or tobacco to minors. Anti-opium and anti-cigarette societies are being formed in many places; indeed, our people seem to be awake as never before on this question.

The use of the cigarette by young people of both sexes is increasing to such an alarming extent that reformers are appalled. Reports gathered by the Western Tobacco Journal show that the tobacco interest, in common with every other industry, suffered greatly from the depression the past year. The preliminary figures from the commission of internal revenue indicate that during the twelve months ending June 30, 1894, there was a decrease in cigars of about fifteen per cent.; snuff decreased over two per cent.; manufactured tobacco a little less than seven per cent. Now mark you: Cigarettes alone show no decrease, but an increase of 6,881,061, or over one-half of one per cent. Surely it is time our parents, teachers and pastors look more carefully into the question of cigarette smoking.

Let us examine the cigarette. The most injurious ingredient is the nicotine, which is a colorless liquid alkaloid, with an acid burning taste, one of the most poisonous narcotics, acting on the human organization as one of the most deadly poisons. Besides the poisonous nicotine in the cigarette, the wrapper is made from paper whitened with arsenic; alum is also used in the preparation of the paper; then the tobacco is impregnated with opium, stamonium, belladonna and other drugs. The damage in cigarette smoking, besides the injurious effect of the drug, is the fact that the smoke is inhaled.—Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, in Home Guard.

A Business View of Moderate Drinking.

A writer who is discussing the question of drinking and total abstinence from a practical business point of view, and ignoring the moral and sentimental side, says: Life insurance companies find the moderate drinker a more dangerous risk and his mortality greater, hence refuse to insure him at ordinary rates, or at all. Mercantile agencies find that business conducted by moderate drinkers is more precarious and followed by a greater number of failures, hence rate such firms low as to responsibility. Railroad companies find that accidents and losses increase under the care of moderate drinkers; that the income and stability of the road are diminished, compared with the same service by total abstainers. Capital everywhere discovers by figures and statistics, which have no other meaning, that under the care and control of moderate or excessive drinkers the losses, perils and risks of business are increased.—Popular Health Magazine, Baltimore.

Work drives away depression, whets the appetite for food, invites sleep, promotes digestion, strengthens the muscles and sinews, gives free circulation to the blood, stimulates the intellectual faculties, provides the comforts of life, develops all the powers which it brings into exercise, transforms stupid ignorance into brilliant genius, fills the world with works of art and literature, and develops the resources of nature. Nothing can stand before work.—New York Advocate.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

A GOOD SAUCE.—One cupful of sifted sugar, half a cupful of butter, stirred to a cream; then add one large cupful of boiling milk, and a dessert-spoonful of ground cinnamon; stir briskly until smooth; pour into sauce-boat. May be eaten hot or cold.

NONPAREIL CORNBREAD.—Two heaping cups of Indian meal, one cup of flour, three eggs, two and one-half cups of sweet milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt. Beat the eggs very thoroughly, whites and yolks separately, melt the lard, sift the powder into the meal and flour, and stir this in last; then beat as fast as possible, bake quickly and steadily in a buttered pan.

CURES OTHERS

MRS. TAPPAN.

MRS. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Neb. writes: "For about two years I was a constant sufferer from diseases peculiar to my sex. I had to be carried from my bed, had horrible dreams, sinking sensations, was very nervous and had little or no appetite. In short, my whole body was racked with pain. I had frequent attacks of hysteria, and was completely discouraged for I found no medicine did me any good. At last I determined to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had taken but two bottles before I felt so much better I took eleven bottles. Today, I am well. I have never felt the least trace of my old complaint in the last six years. We use the 'Golden Medical Discovery' whenever we need a blood-purifier. With its use, eruptions of all kinds vanish and the skin is rendered clear and soft, almost as an infants." Sold everywhere.

WHY NOT YOU?

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES.

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas, DENVER, Colorado, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California, and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket— 1st

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWEN, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

THE PIANO

Is a member of the family. See, then, that it is a creditable one, for it puts its stamp on the household.

If it is merely for ornament, get a piece of cabinet work to suit your taste. Be sure that so much is good, and never mind the rest. But if you want a musical joke-fellow to work with and play with, be careful. Get the best all through, but without paying more than the best must necessarily cost.

Our warerooms are crowded with new and elegant styles fresh from factory. Come and see them or write us for catalogues, etc.

LUDDEN & BATES
Southern Music House,
115 ROYAL ST., - - NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MARRIAGES.

CRENSHAW—MORELAND.—At the bride's home, Good Hope, Miss., Feb. 14, 1895, by Rev. C. C Evans, Mr. W. L. Crenshaw and Miss Mary M. Moreland, all of Leake county, Miss.

KNOX-FORNEY.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Tulip, La., Feb. 6, 1895, by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. W. S. Knox, of Shreveport, La., to Miss Effie Fornby, of Claiborne parish, La.

WHATLEY—YOUNG.—At the home of the bride's father, Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. H. M. Bake, Mr. Joseph P. Whatley, of Edon, La., to Miss Susie Young, of Little River, La.

KENDALL—WILLIAMS.—At the residance of the bride's father, Mr. John Williams, Rankin county, Miss., Jan. 31, 1895, by Rev. L. Kendall, Rev. Amos Kendall to Miss Lela P. Williams.

RICHARDSON—DEARMAN.—In the Methodist Church, Hattiesburg, Miss., Jan. 30, by Rev. H. D. Howell, Mr. W. N. Richardson, of Laurel, to Miss Bernelia Dearman, of Hattiesburg.

JONES-RICHMOND.—In Claiborne county, Miss., Feb. 7, 1895, by Rev. E. H. Monnger, Dr. S. P. Jones and Miss Annie Richmond.

MCKINNON—EASTERLING.—At Albertson, Jones county, Miss., Feb. 14, 1895, by Rev. H. B. Trevilion, Mr. J. F. McKinnon to Miss Martha Easterling.

JAMES—WILSON.—At the parsonage, Weston, Miss., Feb. 13, 1895, by Rev. T. L. Mellen, Mr. Lonny R. James and Miss Delah Wilson, all of Copiah county, Miss.

SOLLBERGER—PROVOST.—At the residance of the bride's father, Feb. 13, by Rev. W. T. Currie, Mr. J. P. Sollberger to Miss Camelia Provost, both of St. Tammany parish.

ROSE—DUKE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Tilman Duke, Carroll county, Miss., Jan. 2, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Howell, Mr. Andrew Rose to Miss Florence Duke.

LAYNE—DELAP.—At the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. John Delap, Carroll county, Miss., Jan. 20, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Howell, Mr. W. E. Layne to Miss Lola Delap.

BRYAN—COHRON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Cohron, Carroll county, Miss., Jan. 29, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Howell, Mr. J. T. Bryan to Miss Sallie Cohron.

PULLEN—HOWELL.—At the Methodist Church, Carrollton, Miss., Feb. 6, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Howell, assisted by Rev. J. F. Evans, Mr. Geo. Pullen, of Greenville, Miss., to Miss Freda Howell, sister of officiating clergyman.

MARTIN-GUICE.—At the Methodist Church in Hamburg, Miss., Jan. 30, 1895, by Rev. J. N. Tucker, Mr. M. M. Martin to Miss Lola Guice, both of the vicinity of Hamburg, Miss.

NORMAN—RAYNER.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. M. L. Rayner, Hickory, Miss., Feb. 18, 1895, by Rev. J. T. Nicholson, of Newton, Miss., Mr. W. L. Norman and Miss Viola Rayner.

WALDEN—FLEMING.—At the residence of Mr. J. J. Ramsay, Stonewall, Miss., Feb. 18, 1895, by Rev. J. M. Pugh, Mr. T. J. Walden and Miss Kate Fleming, all of Harrison county.

CALHOUN—HARPER.—At the residence of Capt. R. M. J. Arnette, China Grove, Jefferson county, Miss., Feb. 14, 1895, by Rev. John W. Crisler, Mr. J. Chamhliss Calhoun and Miss Letitia A. Harper, daughter of the late John Harper, of Tensas parish, La.

OBITUARIES.

(Continued from Third Page.)

CAMMACK—WILLIAM CAMMACK was born in Jones county, Miss., in 1820; moved to Copiah county at the age of seven years. In early manhood he became a Christian and joined the Methodist Church, and was for many years an official member. A truer man in Church or State never lived in this country. Everybody who knew him trusted and respected him.

He died Jan. 26, in his seventy-fifth year, worn out with age and hard toil. He was industrious, economical and well-to-do. I never knew a truer man. He brought up a good religious family. Two of his sons are members of the Mississippi Conference—noble, promising young preachers. Bro. Cammack made the best of life that he could. The world is better because he lived. The Methodist Church and Providence circuit and camp ground is poorer because he is dead. He was ready; not taken by surprise. He requested I should preach his funeral. I went a long way to do so, and was gratified to see such a large congregation gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one they honored in life.

A. B. NICHOLSON.

WAILES—Our darling papa left us to take up his abode in the "Celestial City." He died very suddenly of apoplexy on Dec. 4, 1894. He was not sick quite twenty-four hours, and never spoke after he was taken. But, oh! I know he was ready and prepared to go. Looking back now, and remembering things he said—though he never spoke of death—I know he was preparing to go. For some time before he died he was constantly reading his Bible and singing the beautiful songs of Zion. I went into his room about a week before he died, and he was lying down. He told me to kneel down by him and pray. He told me that he had been praying, and that he felt so happy. The day before he was taken sick, which was Sunday, he was talking with the Sunday-school superintendent, and said: "Bro. Tullos, we must work so hard and use every possible means to draw and keep the children in the Sunday-school; must spare no pains. If only one soul is saved through our efforts, it will be a bright star added to our crown." Oh! it was so hard to give up our papa. He was so dear to us. Our mama died in 1879, and left six children in our papa's care, who has been mother and father to me. He thought so much of his children. The religious and educational training of his children were ever uppermost with him. Family prayer was never neglected. He was very frail and delicate, and could not stand much. He could not stand riding, and most of his life was spent in teaching. Sometimes he would have a regular appointment, and always assisted in the Sunday-school, in which he always took a special interest. He was loved by all who knew him.

Our grief seems greater than we can bear. Pray for us in our great trouble. I want to be a true Christian, "a follower of the Lamb."

MOLLIE WAILES

Gansville, La.

POWELL—ROBERT BAILEY POWELL, son of D. W. and Eliza Powell, was born in Caddo parish, La., Oct. 16, 1879; died Jan. 17, 1895, at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Croom, in Mooringsport, La., after an illness of three days. Until the third day no fears were entertained for his recovery. He was taken violently ill on Thursday, Jan 17, of congestion of the brain, and, after suffering greatly for several hours, passed peacefully away as if going to sleep.

The inscrutable providence that deprives our homes and community of one so young, beloved and helpful, burdens our hearts with sorrow, and yet we must not question the wisdom and goodness of God's providential dealings. Robert was a bright, ambitious boy, and possessed an affectionate, generous heart. Selfishness was not one of his faults. He did fair to make an honorable, useful man. Oh! how hard the blow falls on his widowed mother and aged grandparents, who raised him from infancy. How sadly he is missed in the family circle! May God comfort and sustain the bereaved ones by his grace until they meet in the great beyond. F. A. N.

Mooringsport, La.

HOLLOMAN—The committee (Epworth League) appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Bro. T. R. HOLLOMAN, beg leave to report:

"The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

Whereas, On Nov. 19, 1894, Death, who is no respecter of persons, and who regardeth not the conditions of human affairs, did enter the home of our well-beloved brother, T. R. Holloman, and made his presence felt with overwhelming effect by removing from that fireside the pillar of the family circle, teaching us in one lesson the uncertainty of human life, the instability of human plans, and the certain decay of human hopes; snatching from a happy household the staff upon which they leaned for earthly comfort, leaving for loved ones naught but desolation; And, whereas, It is meet that we, a society of the Epworth League, do give some expression to feelings befitting our sense of loss in the death of our brother; therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we bow our heads in sorrow and grief, we say, as taught by him who was "a man of sorrows and full of grief," "Thy will, oh! Lord, not mine, be done."

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. T. R. Holloman we deplore the loss to the church, the League and the Sabbath-school, and regret the loss to the State, the county and the community, recognizing that in all things that contribute to the honor of Christianity, the elevation of human character and the inculcation of pure morality one has gone from among us whose place is hard to fill.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family, and knowing full well the futility of all efforts to comfort his loved ones, we offer them consolation by pointing to his long and useful life, upon the record of which appears not one single spot or stain.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed the bereaved family of Bro. Holloman, and that a copy be furnished the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

Respectfully and fraternally submitted.

R. GILDART, for Committee.

Many people neglect a cold, thinking it will go as it came. Frequently with serious results, the cold of to-day may be the pneumonia of to-morrow. Nothing will cure a cough or cold so rapidly as Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Its reputation has been established for over fifty years as the best remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, all throat and lung troubles. For croup and whooping-cough it is invaluable. Mothers will be saved much anxiety and loss of children by having Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar always on hand. Consumption has been cured many times by its use. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

A mean man can not be a happy man.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1039 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

There is no religion in a whine.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair highest Award.

Exactness in little duties is a wonderful source of cheerfulness.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample. JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

WOOD AND COAL.

T. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16-inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $3.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.75, pine blocks $1.50. Placed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates and all women who are nursing babies, derive almost inconceivable benefits from the nourishing properties of.

Weak Mothers

Scott's Emulsion

This is the most nourishing food known to science. It enriches the mother's milk and gives her strength. It also makes babies fat and gives more nourishment to growing children than all the rest of the food they eat.

Scott's Emulsion has been prescribed by physicians for twenty years for Rickets, Marasmus, Wasting Diseases of Children, Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs, Emaciation and Consumption.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.

Pittsburgh and . . . Cannel COAL Anthracite . . . and Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.

ont feb8

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SOHIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

A NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK.

Touching Incidents

—AND—

Remarkable Answers to Prayer,

AS RELATED BY

John Wesley, Bishop Simpson, John B. Gough, Edward Payson, James Caughey, Bishop Bowman, John Knox, Martin Luther, C. H Spurgeon, Wm. Carvosso, S. A. Keen, A. B. Earle, B. Fay Mills, D. L. Moody, Guy Fox, Chas. G. Finney, T. DeWitt Talmage, Frances E. Willard, George Muller, James H. Potts, And Many Others.

Read a few of the good things said of it.

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal: "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Cumberland Presbyterian: "It is indeed full of touching incidents calculated to quicken the faith of all who read it."

Pres. Franklin College, New Athens, O.: "This is one of the best and most interesting books we have ever seen."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the despondling Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearers to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

The book contains 320 pages, and when open measures 8¼ by 12¼ inches, and is beautifully bound in full cloth.

It is written in clear, simple, forcible language, yet it presents rich variety. It is equally adapted to the learned and unlettered. All classes of readers can understand it and all be helped by it.

Young and old, saved and unsaved, all read it with delight. Leaders of the various Christian denominations commend it highly.

OUR OFFER.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Moreover, we will send to each new subscriber thus secured, free of charge, a paper-bound copy of any book in "The Handy Volume Series," advertised in another column. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.

17 BOURBON ST., near Canal.

Watchmakers and Jewelers,

AND DEALERS IN

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.

☞ Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

"Those holy fields,
over whose acres walked those blessed feet which many hundred years ago were nailed for our advantage to the bitter cross."

THOSE HOLY FIELDS,

THOSE ANCIENT CITIES,

THOSE SACRED SHRINES

Toward which the eyes of all Christendom have been reverently and piously turned for centuries, are all superbly pictured and eloquently described in those splendid . . .

Holy Land Art Portfolios

These Matchless Fine-Art Publications, which are issued under the title of "Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," are the result of

Three Distinct Tours

Of the Holy Land, in which the footsteps of the Savior and the journeyings of His Apostles have been literally retraced with note book and camera, the last pilgrimage having been made

In the Present Year,

When over 800 photographs were secured, which the National Photographers' Association pronounced the finest which ever came from the East.

THESE ARE YOURS

.....IF YOU ARE.....

A Reader of This Paper

.....AND THESE ARE THE.....

EASY TERMS:

Subscribe for the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

See terms on the eighth page.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The pupils in the public schools of this city celebrated Washington's birthday last week.

Gov. Morton of New York, on Feb. 22, approved the act to prevent the display of foreign flags upon public buildings in the State.

The Interstate Farmers' Institute, which was held in Vicksburg, Miss., adjourned on Feb. 24, after singing "My country, 'tis of thee."

A large fire occurred in Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 22. Nearly a hundred buildings were reduced to ashes. Five lives are supposed to have been lost.

Military companies from Cleveland, O.; Norfolk, Va., and Galveston, Texas, were in this city during the Mardi Gras festivities, this week, the guests of the local military.

Within five months electric cars will be belting the city of Meridian, Miss., while in a much shorter period of time it will have a hundred electric street lights instead of twenty-five, the number at present.

The faculty of Harvard University has decided that intercollegiate foot-ball should be abolished by a vote of 24 to 16. The resolution is not decisive as the faculty has only advisory power in the premises.

A lady, who desires to remain unknown, has donated $3 500 to Rev. Alfred E. Clay, president of the Louisiana Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the money to be used in the work of the society.

The Southern Pacific west-bound passenger train ran into a belt-open switch at Franklin, La., on Feb. 22. The fireman was bruised and scalded to death, and the engineer may die from the injuries received. None of the passengers were hurt.

The arrangements for the reunion of the survivors of the Army of the Tennessee, the Ohio and the Mississippi, on the old Shiloh battlefield, April 5, 6 and 7 next, are almost completed, and the attendance from all parts of the country will be very large.

Work has been started at Somerville, N. J., on what when completed will be the longest trolley road in the world. The contractors are under bonds to complete by April 10 the first five miles of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company's proposed electric railway between two cities.

The North Carolina Legislature voted down a proposition to adjourn on Jan. 19 in honor of the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee, and another on Feb. 22 to adjourn in honor of Washington's birthday; but did adjourn on the twenty-first instant, as a mark of mourning for the death of Frederick Douglass, the noted negro politician.

It is reported from Washington that the Naval Appropriation bill which recently passed the House of Representatives, providing for the construction of a dry dock at Algiers and the building of three first class battle-ships, as well as twelve torpedo boats, has been considered and accepted in toto by the Naval Affairs Committee of the Senate.

A wreck, from which some 300 excursionists bound for New Orleans and Mardi Gras escaped a horrible death, almost by a miracle, occurred at Hawkins' Creek, just below Greenville, Ala., on the Louisville and Nashville road, on Feb. 23. As it was, one man was killed and seven or eight ladies injured, more or less. Almost the entire train fell over an embankment.

Senator Blackburn, Kentucky, has presented to the Senate the bounty amendment proposed as an amendment to the sundry civil bill. The full bounty on sugars made before the repeal of the McKinley act is provided for; also it is proposed to give the eighth-tenths bounty on the crop of 1894 to all producers who had complied with the law in regard to filing applications for licenses and bonds, etc., and who would have been entitled to receive a license.

FOREIGN.

The town of Kopohai, near Astrabad, Persia, has been destroyed by an earthquake. Many thousand lives were lost.

The German Reichstag has repealed the anti-Jesuit law, but it is said that the Bundesrath is not expected to sanction the bill.

Men employed on the Panama Canal are abandoning work. Even those in the greatest need refuse to accept the low wages offered to replace the strikers.

Russia has decided to use only gray horses for artillery purposes, as they have been found to have more strength and endurance than horses of any other color.

The French War Department is experimenting with forage made up in the form of bricks. Hay, oats and bran are mixed and compressed till as hard as a board.

Although two attempts have been made during the two weeks of the present session of the British Parliament to overwhelm the Rosebery Ministry, both have ended in failure.

The French expedition which left Marseilles some months ago, under the command of Commandment Mantell, for service in the interior of Africa, was surprised and a sanguinary conflict ensued. Three hundred men, comprising half of the force of the expedition, are said to have been killed, while the remainder have been driven from the line of march and their retreat has been cut off.

We never knew a workman to throw away his plumb line because it did not agree with the wall he was building, but we have known a good many people to throw away the Bible for a similar reason.

A Great Occasion.

There will be a great Methodist gathering in Rome next September. The occasion is the opening of a block of buildings for church and school purposes in connection with the mission work in that city. It is proposed to hold services of an ecumenical character for one week. The time has been selected to synchronize with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the capture of Rome by the patriotic troops when the soldiers of Victor Emanuel and Garibaldi entered the city. English and Canadian Methodism, the Methodist Episcopal Church; the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and other branches of our church, are expected to send representatives. It is expected that Hugh Price Hughes will be one of the representatives. We hear, too, that Bishop Haygood has been requested to represent our church. We hope the Bishop can go, as we feel assured that it would be an enjoyable trip and occasion to him, and we know he would make it profitable and enjoyable to others in the far-away city.—Wesleyan Advocate.

After the Grip, diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, etc., Hood's Sarsaparilla is of wonderful benefit in imparting the strength and vigor so much desired.

Hood's Pills for the liver and bowels act easily, yet promptly and effectively.

Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, in the New York Evangelist, says: "What we want now is a new crusade against the bottle and the drink customs, and also against licensing the drink traffic, whether in rosewood saloons or in the lowest whisky dens. May God speedily send us a fresh revival of old-fashioned total abstinence effort in our homes. Unless it comes soon we shall drift back into immeasurable tippling and drunkenness. The saloons are not the only curse. A majority of inebriates do not begin there; they begin with drinking at home, or in social gatherings, or in the restaurants. No reform that does not strike at the drink customs will be permanently successful."

$500 Will be Given

For any case of Rheumatism which can not be cured by Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy. The proprietors do not hide this offer, but print it in bold type on all their circulars, wrappers, printed matter, and through the columns of newspapers everywhere. It will work wonders—one treatment cures any ordinary case. The full supply of two large bottles will be sent to any address by express on receipt of $5, together with special directions for use. Agents wanted.

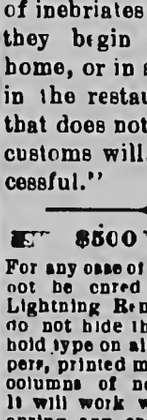
BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

One strange eccentricity of human nature is the fact that people will flock to hear a reformed drunkard or gambler, and prefer him as a religious teacher to one who from his youth has been an humble, faithful Christian.—Baltimore Advocate.

WALTER BAKER & CO.



The Largest Manufacturers of
PURE, HIGH GRADE
COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES
On this Continent, have received
HIGHEST AWARDS
from the great
Industrial and Food
EXPOSITIONS
In Europe and America.

Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Senatobia	Mar. 9, 10
Hernando	16, 17
Sardis	23, 24
Batesville, at Wesley Chapel	30, 31
Como, at McGee's	Apr. 6, 7
Panola, at Tirzah	13, 14
Morgansville, at Cole Springs	14, 15
Courtland, at Eureka	20, 21
Nesbit, at Eudora	27, 28
Tyro, at Mt. Vernon	May 4, 5
Wall Hill, at ——— (Wed.)	8
Cockrum, at ———	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at ——— (Thurs.)	16
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel	18, 19
Pleasant Grove, at ———	25, 26

H. O. MORRHEAD, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ashland, at Salem	Mar. 2, 3
Pocahontas	9, 10
Abbeville	16, 17

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fulton	Feb. 23
Tremont	24
Amory and Smithville	Mar. 2, 3
Quincy	5
Aberdeen circuit	5

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Cedar Bluff	Mar. 2, 3
Tremont	9, 10
Shuqualak	16, 17
Mashulaville	23, 24

T. C. WIER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

McNutt	Mar. 2, 3
Sidon	9, 10
Brooklyn and Duhlle	16, 17
Black Hawk	23, 24

J. B. STONE, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bolivar	Mar. 3
Hollandale	10
Arcola	17
Friar's Point	24

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Stewart circuit, at South Union	Mar. 1
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	2, 3
Kosciusko circuit at Kosciusko	9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester	16, 17
Ackerman circuit, at Liberty Hill	23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall	25
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	30, 31

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Silver Creek and Bethel, at Bethel (Fast)	Mar. 2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	3, 4
Camden, at Church Chapel	9, 10
Tuscumbia circuit, at Locust Grove	16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant	23, 24
Jackson circuit, at Fair Chapel, (Wed.)	27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin	30, 31

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Indian Mission at Tell Chelok	Mar. 1
Livaworth at Bethel	2, 3
Neshoba at Mars' Hill	9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary	15, 17

R. J. JONES, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ocean Springs and Scranton, at O. S.	Mar. 2, 3
Whittington, at Coleville (Wed., Th.)	3, 7
Bay St. Louis, at B. St. L.	9, 10
Augusta, at Isabella	16, 17
Black Creek, at Mt. Zion	23, 24

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Providence, at Bahala	Mar. 2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Williams	9, 10

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wayesboro circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Leakville	9, 10
Williamsburg	16, 17
Mount Carmel	23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Raleigh, at Raleigh	Feb. 23
Westville, at Westville	Mar. 2, 3
Brandon station	9, 10
Steele's Creek and Mis., at Marvin	15, 17
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood	25
Trenton, at Gasque	26
Montrose, at Montrose	30, 31

C. McDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mayersville, at Beelah	Mar. 2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Wilkes' Chapel	30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

N. Wilkinson	Mar. 2, 3
Homo Chitto	9, 10
Amite	16, 17
Meadville	23, 24
Washington	Apr. 6, 7

L. S. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

DELHI DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Oakley and Vidalia, at Vidalia	Mar. 9, 10
Winsboro, at Magnolia	16, 17
Rayville, at Girard	23, 24
Clinton, at Cadesville	30, 31
West Monroe, at Faelk's	Apr. 6, 7
Monroe, at Monroe	13, 14
Bastrop, at Bastrop	20, 21
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	27, 28
Delhi, at Talulah	May 4, 5
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	11, 12
Water Proof, at ———	18, 19
Harrisonburg, at ———	25, 26
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	June 1, 2

District Conference at Oak Ridge, beginning May 29, and including June 5.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Opelousas	Mar. 2, 3
Lafayette	9, 10
Plaquemine Brulee and Bayou, at P. B.	16, 17
Crowley	23, 24
Prudhomme, at Prudhomme City	30, 31
Lake Charles	Apr. 6, 7
West Lake	13, 14
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	20, 21
Berwick (preaching at 11 on Sun.)	26, 27
Morgan City (preach at night, Sun.)	28, 29
Patterson	May 4, 5
Franklin	6, 7
Jeanerette	11, 12
Indian Bayou	14, 15
Abbeville at Prairie Gregg	18, 19
New Iberia	25, 26
Grand Cheniers, at Grand Cheniers	June 1, 2
Washington	8, 9
Lake Arthur, at Lacassine	15, 16

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar. 2, 3
Amite City, at Rosetand	9, 10
St. Helena, at Greensburg	16, 17
Pine Grove, at Pinkin's	17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 2, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant	15, 17
Arcadia and S. Vernon, at Holly G.	23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Glenmora	Mar. 2, 3
Atlanta at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	15, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 3
Rayne Memorial	10
Tallisheek	17
Felicity Street	24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vienna, at Vienna	Mar. 2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gonzville at Gonzville	23, 24
Homer, at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr. 6, 7

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

For relieving THROAT DISEASES AND COUGHS, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches"

Christ has a yoke for our necks as well as a crown for our heads; and this yoke he expects we should take upon us and draw in. To call those that are "weary and heavy laden" to take a yoke upon them looks like adding affliction to the afflicted; but the pertinency lies in the word "my." You are under a yoke which makes you weary; shake that off, and try mine, which will make you easy. There is nothing in it to gall the yielding neck, nothing to hurt us, but, on the contrary, much to refresh us. It is a yoke that is lined with love!—Matthew Henry.

If afflicted with scalp diseases, hair falling out, and premature baldness, do not use grease or alcoholic preparations, but apply Hall's Hair Renewer.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTAL'S ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. L. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Harmon's Select Sermons.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.
Governor's Office
Richmond, Va., Sept. 4, 1894.

Rev. J. W. Harmon, Paulding, Miss.—

Dear Sir: Permit me to thank you sincerely for the handsomely bound volume of your sermons which you recently sent me, and also for the kindly spirit of your letter which accompanied the book. I shall read the volume with pleasure, and do not doubt that I shall derive much good from it. Again thanking you for your courtesy, and with much respect, I am,

Yours very truly, CHAS. T. O'FERRALL.

The work will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, $1. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
112 Camp street, New Orleans, La.

"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2 40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2 40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer.

W. C. BLACK.
512 Camp St., New Orleans.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

In Uric Acid Diathesis, Gout, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, &c.
Its Nerve Tonic Properties.

Dr. Harvey L. Byrd, of Baltimore, President and Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children in the Baltimore Medical College, formerly Professor of Practical Medicine, etc.

"I have witnessed the best results from the action of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER Spring No. 2, in Chronic Gout, Rheumatic Gout, Rheumatism, Gravel and Stone in the Bladder, and I do not hesitate to express the opinion that in all diseases depending upon or having their origin in Uric Acid Diathesis, it is unsurpassed, if indeed it is equaled, by any water thus far known to the profession.

"It is an admirable general tonic and restorative, increasing the appetite, promoting digestion and invigorating the general health. It is powerfully anti-acid and especially efficacious in what is commonly known as acid dyspepsia. It is strongly commended to a very large class of sufferers by a peculiar power as a nervous tonic and exhilarant, which makes it exceedingly valuable, where there is nothing to contra-indicate its use, in all cases where nervous depression is a symptom.

"It has an ascertained value in Bright's Disease. A knowledge of its action in that disease thus far would seem to warrant the belief that it would in many instances, at least in its early stages, arrest it entirely, and in its more advanced stage prove a decided comfort and palliative."

Dr. J. S. Wellford, Prof. of Diseases of Women and Children, Medical College of Va:

"I have paid a great deal of attention to Urinary Troubles, and have frequently and freely prescribed the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in their treatment, with the very best results. In all the various forms of the Uric Acid Diathesis, whether as well-formed Gravel, Gout or the milder forms of Gouty Dyspepsia or Nettle-rash, in their varieties, I know of no mineral water which I consider at all equal to that of Spring No. 2.

"In many Skin Diseases of old age, dependent on the Uric Acid Diathesis, such as Eczema, etc., this Water acts most beneficially."

This Water is for sale by druggists generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles $5.00 f.o.b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent to any address.

THOMAS F. GOODE, Proprietor, BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VA.

HIGH-GRADE

GRAND AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS.

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN;
} AND OTHERS.

Parlor and Church Organs.

Reasonable Prices. Easy Terms.

Special Inducements given to Churches, Schools, Colleges, etc.

Junius Hart,

1001 CANAL STREET.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

In curing torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors of the Skin, Scalp and Blood when all else fails.

BABY CARRIAGES for $1.35

If you don't want this kind we can give you one at any price you want up to $31.55. Every Carriage Guaranteed to be as represented or money refunded. Illustrated Catalogue H Q 55 different styles—sent free.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Chicago.
111 to 118 Michigan Ave.,

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.
Please mention this paper.

AGENTS MAKE $5 a Day Greatest Kitchen Utensil invented. Retails 25 cts. 2 to 5 sold in a house. Sample postage paid FREE. FORSHEE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

CANCER

—CURED WITH—

SOOTHING BALMY OILS.

The Cruel Knife and Burning Plaster Must Go.

Cancer of the FACE, LIPS, MOUTH, NOSE, EAR, EYE, BREAST, UTERUS, RECTUM, etc. All Cancers, internal or external, yield rapidly to the effects of these MILD AND PAINLESS OILS. Also Tumors, Ulcers and Old Indolent Sores, and all Chronic Skin Diseases quickly and permanently cured with our Balmy Soothing Oils. Hundreds of testimonials furnished. The following names are a few of the many cases we have cured who will be pleased to write you concerning these wonderful oils:

John Hesh, 1856 Jefferson St., Kansas City, Mo
Mrs. J. M. Sweet, 616 E Lawson Ave., "
Mrs. M. M. Housin, Bixie Grove, Mo.
Col. S. K. Ray, Sweet Springs, Mo.
Mrs. Phillips Land, Sweet Springs, Mo.
C. T. Stigleman, Green Pass, Mo.
W. B. Lewis, Kinkawa, Ky.
Mrs. Maud B. Joy, Eddyville, Ky.

Mention this paper.

Write us for Question Blank. Address

DR. CASTLE & CO.,
Sole Props. of Balmy Cotumulan Oil Remedies,
S. E. Cor 9th and Wyandotte Sts.,
Kansas City, Mo.

☞ P. S.—Cut this out and send to some afflicted friend.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
California Table Apricots,
3 lb. can 10 cents.

R. H. Hankney, President. Jno. E. Huffman, Sec'y-Treas.

UNION HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION,

New No. 836 Carondelet Street.

NO ADMISSION FEE!

NO WITHDRAWAL FEE!

You Can Always Get Back All You Put In!

Installments of $1 per Month received.

Dividends credited in January and July.

Full paid stock in $ 00 shares bears guaranteed dividends of 6 per cent. per annum, payable in cash semi-annually.

Married women may hold and withdraw this stock without legal restraint.

Net Assets Jan. 1, 1891, $90,859 98; net assets Jan. 1, 1895 $119,699.11, of which amount $116,441.86 was secured by first mortgage and vendor's lien on improved real estate in New Orleans.

Secretary's office hours 9 to 4. Full information cheerfully given. Call, write or send for a copy of charter and by-laws. Membership restricted to citizens of Louisiana.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Choice Yellow Clarified Sugar,
30 lbs. for $1.00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Look Out for Your Fruit Trees.

Diseased fruit trees can not bear healthy fruit. SMS

I have a remedy that cures diseased fruit trees. Makes fruitless trees fruitful. It is a great fertilizer. Makes trees vigorous in growth and free from vermin. Latter part of February the time to apply.

I invite correspondence.

WM. B. HINES.
Gloster, Miss.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST,

Old No. 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST.,
NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Ashen, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth	$5
Partial Sets	from $3 to $5
Gold and Porcelain Crowns	from $4 to $10
Gold Fillings	from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Fillings	from 75 Cents to $1.00
Extraction, Painless	50 Cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen. [illegible]

A lady has charge of office.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 10. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2011

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WINNOWINGS.

BY FELIX R. BRUNOT.

Whatsoe'er my earthly losses,
Whatsoe'er life's blessings be,
May my triumphs and my crosses
Bring me nearer, Lord, to thee!

Oo canst make the awful summons
Angel's whisper to mine ear,
Stilling blood and breaking heartstrings
Thrills of joy if then art near!

Waiting, working, praying, hoping,
While the shadows creep apace;
Singing to thee, resting on thee,
Death is but thy crowning grace.

—Christian Statesman.

Selections.

Scenes of the Sepoy Rebellion.

BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

From Benares to Lucknow, the ancient and beautiful capital of Oude, is a short night's ride, but by a slow train we did not reach there until after ten o'clock. The early morning hours, however, were profitably spent in noting observations upon the agricultural methods and various growths of the Ganges Valley. We passed through the center of the opium industry, from which the government derives an annual revenue of over 120,000,000 rupees, from which proceeds the degradation and death of multiplied thousands.

The poppy plant was quite in bloom, but the acreage devoted to its culture indicated no decline in the demand for the drug, which is England's shame and China's degradation. The report of the Opium Commission, appointed by the English government, which has spent some time in India and in gathering facts and opinions from those supposed to be best acquainted with the traffic and its effects, has not yet been made public. But the fact that much of the testimony favorable to the traffic has found its way into the papers, while all that is adverse has been kept back, is a profound secret that foreshadows what will be the report of the majority. Indeed, something like that the Commission was organized to acquit. But its very appointment was a concession to the righteous demands of moral sentiment, and those who love it will never be satisfied until the baneful blight is removed—until China is on a Christian government and the opium washed away. No one who has visited the opium palaces in China, as we have, and seen the dying victims in the hospital wards, can have but one opinion as to this ghastly and gigantic iniquity. Whatever the report, the production will continue, and cease only with China's redemption and India's salvation.

Along the way attention was attracted by a number of round mud walls built on the roadside and over the fields. Upon closer examination I ascertained that they were thrown up to shield small guava and other trees for fruit from protection and to retain the moisture. These crude tree-boxes, in city and country, are impressive evidences of the great lack of fuel in India. Whether these vast plains ever grew grand forests, I do not know. If so, the demands of more than twenty centuries have long since consumed them. All houses are built of sun and brick, or sun-baked mud, while those of the poorer classes have little wood for floors and doors.

Over weary leagues of cultivated field the eye sweeps, with only the fruit-bearing trees to relieve the monotonous landscape. I suppose the ground is too much needed for the production of food to devote a square inch to the growth of timber.

Another most degrading thing I noticed in Benares, at the stations along the road, and everywhere—the work in which poor women are engaged. They make cakes of cow-dung with their hands, and stick them against the houses to dry. After that they are carried in immense baskets on their heads and sold for fuel. I have seen women, donkeys and camels loaded down with this burden, wearily walking the same street, and the poor mother and wife the least considered of the three. Not until Christianity puts its shoulder under the heavy burdens borne by sorrowing woman, does she anywhere find rest for her bruised and tired limbs, or experience any sense of the queenly dignity and influence with which she has been crowned by our Lord. How any woman in a Christian land, with the slightest knowledge of her heathen sister's condition, can be indifferent to the appeals made for missionary labor in their behalf, I can not understand.

The first place visited in Lucknow was Kaiser Bagh, the large palace and gardens where the late ex King of Oude lived in royal splendor before he was deposed and removed to mild exile in Calcutta, on a pension of £120,000 a year, and where he died four or five years ago. This is a rectangular inclosure of several acres, in which flowers bloom and fountains play, around the sides of which are massive and elegant buildings erected for the accommodation of the king's several hundred wives. The whole is said to have cost not less than a million pounds sterling, and was only one of the several residences of this petty, but pretentious, monarch. The grounds are yet beautifully kept, a native nobleman being employed to look after the former glory of his ancient house. This is done to placate the people; but with what success I can only conjecture. Most of the spacious buildings are used for government purposes. In front of the king's Marble Audience Hall, and within this garden inclosure, a large institution has been built, which bears the name of "Canning College," in honor of the distinguished gentleman who held the responsible post of Viceroy during the Sepoy mutiny.

But as the greatest interest in Lucknow centers not in her ancient palaces and in the streets and parks of the beautiful city, but in those places associated so heroically and tragically with the horrible Sepoy rebellion, we drove thence to the old fort and the ill-fated Residency. Into that weak fortification Sir Henry Lawrence, at that time Chief Commissioner of Oude, hurried all the European inhabitants, gathered what supplies he could, and, with one British regiment decimated by disease, set himself to the desperate task of defending their lives until relief could come. And it is safe to say that within that historic, but now dismantled, fort was displayed an undaunted heroism unexcelled in all the annals of bloody war.

Around the lines of the old fortification and into the several shattered and dismantled buildings of the Residency we walked with soft step and spoke in gentlest tones. Through the Bailiee Gate we entered, preserved just as it was when Gen. Havelock and Sir Colin Campbell passed in during the siege under a rain of Sepoy shot and shell, and visited one tragic spot after another, climbing at last to the top of the old scarred tower, from which a British flag appropriately flies always at half-mast. The marks of shot from Sepoy cannon tell even yet, over a lapse of forty years, how dreadful was that struggle. Immense holes torn through the several walls of an entire building show how deadly was their aim, and how constant the danger of those within. Great brick and stone columns are shot half in two, and almost every square inch of exposed surface has some fatal mark of that memorable siege. We were shown the room where the women stayed for safety, but in which several were killed. Every day some brave defenders fell, until their ranks, small at first, were reduced to a mere handful. The places where they met their heroic deaths, as far as known, are marked with marble tablets. Every room, and almost every spot, had felt the stain of blood. There was no alternative but battle or death. To surrender was certain murder; to continue the struggle they could only die, with some faint hope of rescue.

After going over the moldering remains of the building in which the brave garrison of a few hundred held from fifty to an hundred thousand Sepoys at bay for five long months, and wondered how a single person could possibly escape that constant hail of death, we walked out the road to the cemetery, the very road along which Sir Henry Havelock came to the timely relief of that little band. Every footfall awoke a thousand tragic memories, until my nerves quivered with strange emotion. I tried to imagine the scene when that knightly commander, having cut his way through the enemy's lines, marched his tattered legions into the Bailiee Gate and looked upon the decimated garrison. He had seen the place of blood at Cawnpore—arriving, as he did, shortly after the massacre—and had heard the story of dreadful torture visited upon defenseless women and children. With all possible speed he had fought his way to their relief at Lucknow, only to find that death had reduced their numbers from seventeen hundred to about five hundred. There were tears in brave eyes that day. His friend, Sir Henry Lawrence, fell early in the siege, and as he inquired for one and another whom he had known on the field and loved in the camp, the sad answer came, "He is dead." But the great Christian soldier could give only a few moments to grief, and at once turned attention to strengthening their position and awaiting other relief. His force was too weak to raise the siege, the Sepoy army having increased to fully an hundred thousand, and it was not until Sir Colin Campbell and his heroic Highlanders appeared Nov. 18, 1857, that the joy of rescue was realized and the song of victory was sung.

In the churchyard near by are the graves of the fallen, and over them appropriate monuments have been lovingly erected. I was especially attracted by the slab which covers the sleeping dust of Sir Henry Lawrence, and the simple inscription placed thereon at his own dictation, after receiving his mortal wound: "Here lies Henry Lawrence, who tried to do his duty. May the Lord have mercy on his soul! Born 28th of June, 1806. Died 4th of July, 1857."

Other palaces, mosques and tombs built by the lavish and skilled hands of the Mogul kings, were visited, including "the Palace of Light" and the Great Imambara, erected during the famine as a relief work, and completed in 1784 at a cost of £10,000,000. It contains the largest hall in the country. No woodwork was used in its construction, and the walls are sixteen feet in thickness. With much regret we had to forego the privilege of a visit to the king's Summer place, five or six miles in the country, where the gallant Gen. Havelock died Nov. 24, 1857, and there lies buried. He escaped the dangers of war only to die of disease shortly thereafter, but in the triumphs of a Christian's faith.

It was also no little disappointment that we could not visit the prosperous mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Lucknow, and see the veteran missionary, Dr. E. W. Parker, to whom I had a very kind letter from our Dr. Y. J. Allen, of Shanghai. It is doubted if in all India more thorough and successful mission work is being done than by this consecrated and noble band of toilers in Lucknow. I wanted to see Miss Thoburn and her school—the first lady missionary to Methodism to go to a foreign field under the auspices of a Woman's Board.

Cawnpore, on the Ganges, is only forty-six miles from Lucknow, whither we went in the afternoon to spend a few intensely interesting, but sadly-sweet, hours. Here the most distressing and horrible event of the mutiny was enacted—the butchery of about five hundred persons after they had surrendered on promise of protection and safe transportation to Allahabad. We drove past the ruins of an old forsaken stone mansion, where Nana Sahib had his headquarters, and from which, doubtless, he issued the infamous order of massacre that will doom him to eternal execration.

Within one corner of the hastily improvised line of fortifications is a beautiful monument with this inscription: "This stone marks a spot within Wheeler's intrenchment. It covers the remains, and is sacred to the memory, of those who were the first to meet their death when beleaguered by mutineers and rebels in June, 1857." These were the first to fall, but when deaths became numerous it was necessary to go farther for interment, and a large number were buried in a well west of the new Memorial Church, and inclosed in a little garden. The old well near the monument referred to above, with its old-fashioned windlass, is interesting from the fact that the besieged depended upon it for water, and many lost their lives while trying to save life from burning thirst under a torrid sun. The Memorial Church, just outside the line of intrenchments, is a handsome Gothic structure, and was built at a cost of £20,000, partly defrayed by the government. The marble floor inside the chancel was given by the Maharajah of Jodhpur—a fact which indicates that not all the natives sympathized with the horrors of that mutiny. The names of all who lost their lives in Cawnpore during that siege are inscribed on tablets in the church. Just outside the church is a grave, in which are buried the bodies of Maj. Vibart and others, who escaped the massacre of the boats, but were captured and killed further down the river.

We drove to the "Memorial Ghat" on the river bank, where the first shameful butchery occurred. To that place the little garrison repaired under terms of honorable agreement with Nana Sahib, in order to take boats for Allahabad, 130 miles down the river. But no sooner were they crowded into their little crafts than a murderous fire was turned upon them from various hiding-places. In a few minutes the sacred Ganges ran red with the blood of nearly 200 innocent persons. The survivors—mostly women and children—to the number of 200, were carried into the town and imprisoned in a small building. After three weeks of agonized suspense and torture the incarcerated women and children were cruelly put to death, lest they should be rescued by an army supposed to be approaching Cawnpore for the purpose. They were cut with knives, and beaten with bludgeons until blood and brains stood in great pools on the floor. Then the mangled bodies of dead and dying were cast into a well near by the house of slaughter. In all history there is not a more heart-rending story.

That well is now in the center of a beautiful garden, and is itself inclosed by a stone balustrade adorned with carved leaves and ivy wreaths. Just over the well is a tall angel in white marble, with drooping wings, leaning against the cross, and holding two palm leaves in her hands. Into this garden natives are not allowed. In perpetual memory of that horrid brutality they can not approach the sacred places where the innocent and defenseless were cruelly put to death. While standing in front of the inclosed well, and studying the pose and expression of the angel in marble, I saw a well-dressed native alight from a gharry and start up the graveled walk. As soon as discovered, a soldier in a red coat caught him rudely by the shoulder and ordered him out. He went, but with a sorrowful expression, which seemed to say, Are the sins of the fathers to be visited upon their children for all generations?

As another result of that mutiny the English do not allow the natives to learn the use of heavy guns. They are employed in the cavalry and infantry service to the number of over an hundred thousand, but not one is enlisted in the artillery, or ever permitted to fire a fifty-pounder. The cannon they were trained to use, when the mutiny occurred, was seized and turned upon their teachers with deadly aim. Indeed, they came near converting a rebellion into a successful revolution. How often has this fact been repeated in the history of men and nations! Arms given for defense have been traitorously used in attack. Men have received the culture and equipment of Christian institutions, and used the same to assail their integrity and virtue.

Thus a day was spent among the desolations of a generation—the sad memories of a bitter struggle. I am glad to have visited these historic places, and especially to see how graciously the grasses and flowers of peaceful nature cover the scars of war, and thus try to make us forget that brothers ever shed each other's blood.

Delhi, Dec. 6, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

The kind of paper which people support is an index to their intelligence. If they are content with a mere monthly sheet which covers only the work of a charge or a district, it would argue the utter lack of a connectional spirit. A small paper measures a small church or makes one.—Bishop Hendrix, in St. Louis Advocate.

Correspondence.

Pastoral Address to the Stewards of Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference.

DEAR BRETHREN: One of our excellent stewards, having read my pastoral address to the preachers of the district, suggests that I write one also to the stewards. This brother has the good of the church at heart, is liberal in his gifts, and rejoices in the prosperity of Zion. His church generally pays up its preacher. Acting on the suggestion, I address to you a few brotherly words.

Your position, brethren, is one of great importance and delicate responsibility. It is not an office of honor merely, nor is it one always to be desired. And yet we need, and must have, good men to fill it. Elected by the Quarterly Conference to this high position, your brethren look upon you as the custodians of interests vital to the church, and as promoters of her welfare.

You stand closely related to the pastor. His success is largely what you make it. He needs your moral support, your endorsement and commendation before the people, your encouragement and your prayers. He needs your material support. The comfort and convenience of the pastor and his family are in your hands. Good stewards, who provide liberal things for their pastor and their church, and who are prompt and faithful in their stewardship, will surely witness good results. The pastor will feel like doing his best, the members will be responsive, and the "outsiders" will appreciate your preacher because you stand by him. Given a good Board of Stewards—liberal, industrious, faithful—and a zealous pastor—a man of God, wise and discreet—and I would underwrite for the success of their church. It will move forward and upward.

The stewards stand closely related to the congregation. You, brethren, are the standard-bearers and leaders of the people. The members look to you as examples in piety, in giving, and in loyalty to the church. They expect you to go before them. Move forward, and they will follow you.

Stewards who have their work at heart, and who labor earnestly for the good of the church and the welfare of their pastor, are worthy of commendation. They have my very high regard. Bear with me, brethren, in offering a few practical suggestions:

1. Provide a parsonage, a home, for your pastor; and as soon as possible after he comes to you, make a liberal assessment for his support—a salary, not based on low prices and hard times, but one that will render himself and family comfortable. Remember, also, that while he is not above the lowly, he must mingle with highest and most cultured of his people. He should not appear habited in a shabby-genteel manner. Let him wear good clothes.

2. Let the amount assessed be apportioned among all the church members, according to their ability and willingness to pay. Assess everyone. Do not slight the poor. They have a share in the church, and should share in the greater blessedness of giving. Arrange, at farthest, for quarterly payments. Get ready for your quarterly meeting. Don't wait till Saturday morning, and then call on one or two brethren on your way to church to get a "little something" for the preacher. Go to your members some days beforehand, remind them of the meeting, and ask them for part of their apportionment. If not ready then, they may be by quarterly meeting.

3. Be hopeful, be cheerful, and keep in a good humor. Don't tell the preacher and the brethren, "There is so little money in the country, and times are so hard, you fear the church will come out behind." Say we can, and we will pay up in full. If a brother repulses you with a rude answer, and refuses to pay anything, possess your own soul in patience. Don't give him up. Go to him again and again, and about the third time he will give you pleasant words and some quarterage.

4. Speak well of your pastor. Say to your neighbors and to strangers: "We have a good preacher; come out and hear him." Speak kindly to him. If his sermon does you good, edifies you, tell him so. It may help him to preach even a better sermon next time. Bishop Keener, in his farewell address to the late General Conference, said of the Bishops: "We are children enough to desire to be praised; children enough to be unhappy if we are blamed." This is true not only of our Bishops, but of most preachers. Your pastor needs your encouragement, your words of cheer. Give him a cordial handshake, your sympathy and your prayers. Moses needed to have his hands upheld; Paul said, "Brethren, pray for us." May the cause of our blessed Lord prosper under the hands of his faithful stewards!

Your brother and co-laborer in the work, T. C. WEBB, P. E.

"Kicking Jim."

In the Tennessee Methodist, of Feb. 21, I believe, there appears a long editorial based upon a garbled extract taken from my article on "Kicking Jim," which for amazing stupidity or willful, unmanly and malicious misrepresentation I have never seen equaled, even in any fourth-rate "pot-house" political paper, to say nothing of a paper claiming a place among the decent Methodist journals of our land. I wonder that John Wesley has not turned over in his grave at the knowledge of such stupidity or unmanliness (let the editor of the Tennessee Methodist say which) being at the head of a paper carrying at its mast the name of "Methodist."

I shall not insult the good sense of your intelligent readers by attempting an explanation. The whole drift of the communication—"Kicking Jim"—is understood by even the humblest negro who takes your valuable paper.

The truth is, Mr. Editor, the "hit dog howls," and "the guilty conscience needs no accuser." I leave the matter with the readers of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE as an impartial jury. I had no idea that the light currying that I was administering would set Jim into such a frantic fit of kicking. At last, how defective do we realize was our memory of Jim's pedal performances; or rather how wanting were we in descriptive powers.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Meridian, Miss., March 2

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Judge W. H. Foster used to say that widows of men whose lives were not insured succeeded usually far better than those whose husbands were insured. The receipt of a large amount of money facilitated speedy marriages, the husband having been attracted by the money. Save of your income, wife assisting. Then, at husband's demise, wife knows how to appreciate and manipulate her possession.

The Paulist Fathers have instituted a mission in New York designed especially for Protestants. They report that they have met with success. Maybe so; but not among true Protestants. It is customary to call all who are not Roman Catholics, Jews or Gentiles, and who have been baptized and confirmed by a Protestant minister, Protestants. Only those are true Protestants who are true Christians, and who have chosen the Bible as their guide. Among these said emissaries will not secure foothold.

We presume that it will not be controverted that legislation which legalizes vice is infamous. What now of the law which permits licensing the saloon, the social evil, gambling, etc.? No wonder that Confucianists who attended the so-called religions congress during the exposition in Chicago reported at home that the United States constituted excellent missionary ground. Their system of religion would prove a blessing to us. A humiliating taunt, indeed.

We have hitherto not championed the American Protective Association, but its need, it seems, was demonstrated by the Roman Catholic mob in Savannah, Ga., who sought to prevent ex-Priest Slattery and wife from lecturing at that place. Led by prominent members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the rioters, ten thousand strong, yelled for the blood of the lecturers. Six companies of the militia, with all the police, were necessary to quell the riot. We are sleeping on a volcano. Pluck flowers and gather pebbles. The awakening will be terrible. Romanism a solid phalanx, Protestantism torn in antagonistic factions.

Rev. Dr. Thwing, of Minneapolis, addressed letters to a hundred decidedly religious young men inquiring as to the constituents of their ideal sermon. All replied. Their phraseology differs, but all agree in this, "The sermon should be short, plain, practical, sprightly, spiritual."

Not all people prevaricate when they fix a value on their property for the tax assessor. The inventory of the possessions of Oliver Wendell Holmes revealed that for several years he has paid taxes on property considerably less valuable than he himself had put it for official cognizance.

ICH DIEN.

THOUGHTS OF COMFORT.

Hast thou a care whose pressure dread
Expels sweet slumber from thy bed?
To thy Redeemer take that care,
And change anxiety to prayer.

Hast thou a hope with which thy heart
Would almost feel it death to part?
Entreat thy God that hope to crown,
Or give thee strength to lay it down.

Whate'er the care that breaks thy rest,
Whate'er the wish that swells thy breast,
Spread before God that wish, that care,
And change anxiety to prayer.

—Between the Lights.

Communications.

"The Kingdom of Heaven is at Hand."

"Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven."

MR EDITOR: Much of late has been written about regeneration, sanctification and the residue theory, which, to my mind, does not clear away the difficulties.

Is Christ's kingdom to be established under natural law, or by grace? This is no silly question. In explaining the work of regeneration, it is necessary to show that the constitutional nature is changed and the whole being put under natural law, and that righteousness follows, as a natural consequence, just as the peach is the natural fruit of the tree; a finished work, as a piece of machinery wound up, and moves by its inherent ability and strength; or it must be shown to be a work performed within a man by the Spirit, actually contrary to nature, over and above nature, and left to our observation as a profound mystery. Everyone that thinks rightly must admit the latter position, though many speak and write as if the former position were correct. They do not speak clearly, and from this point many fail to get clear conceptions, and are left to walk off in merely the twilight of truth, and make a great deal of noise, unnecessary noise, blundering around in the dark. Let us be clear at this point, whether nature is changed and moves off under natural law, or whether Christ is to be enthroned upon our heart, "formed within us," and to reign over nature contrary to nature. If the latter position be correct, then there must be established in the experience of every Christian a strong antithesis between sin and righteousness; between an unchanged nature, formally ruled by the devil, now dethroned, and a renewed heart, a new inner man—a man within a man—formed from, and based upon, the nature of Christ; new in knowledge, new in holiness or righteousness; the one standing over and against the other; the one declining, the other increasing.

In the residue theory the thought is put wrong. The question is not whether sin remains in the heart, but whether it remains in nature. Heart-sin is but the fruit of a sinful nature. All Christians must admit that they did not reserve any sin in the heart, nor reserve the right to sin. The baptism which Jesus gives as "the washing of regeneration" certainly leaves no uncleanness, no sin there. But sin, as the enmity of our nature, remains in our nature in a crucified condition, kept under by this birth power of the Holy Spirit, so that Christ reigns and rules the life, a mysterious work of grace. Certainly this mysterious work was carried on before Christ was manifest in the flesh. This struck men's intelligence as the work of God the Father. But Christ must be the King, and before that could take place the Godhead, with all his attributes of righteousness, which, but abstractly, had been laid before the mind, must be put in concrete form, or manifest in the flesh, in order that a model might appear from which, first, the conception might be made. Nothing can enter the heart except through the mind's eye. A kingdom could not be conceived until it was demonstrated to man's intelligence. Now we have seen, we have known and felt this kingdom, in that we walk not after the flesh (our natures), but after the Spirit. But what is our condition as a whole? This involves an experience about which comes this dispute on regeneration and sanctification.

Dr. Walker, with others, makes Paul's experience in the seventh chapter of Romans only that of a convicted sinner, in order to dodge the residue theory, as taught formally and as set forth now; while the second-blessing theory admits the former doctrine, that sin was left in the body, and resort to the second-blessing theory to get rid of all sin, not noticing the distinction between man's nature and his heart. A man's heart can be changed while his nature is not. Sin remains in the nature, but not in the heart. Our children inherit our natures, but not our religion.

Paul's experience in the seventh chapter of Romans was as certainly a Christian experience as it was in the twelfth chapter of Second Corinthians. Mere conviction does not form the new, the inner, man within us. This strong antithesis does not belong to the unconverted. It can belong only to the regenerate, when Christ is enthroned and operating his kingdom contrary to nature. Here comes the experience of the flesh lusting against the Spirit, the Holy Spirit against the flesh, and these are contrary the one to the other, so that ye can not do the things that ye would. This is put upon the condition if you did not receive help from Christ, whose "Spirit helpeth our infirmities." No man within himself can turn the law of his nature and be righteous. He must have help, and that help must be constantly given; is needed as much every hour after regeneration as in the moment of regeneration. No sinner, convicted or otherwise, can say, without regenerating grace, "For I delight in the law of God after the inward man." His total depravity makes his entire being a unit. Paul but describes the condition and experience of every Christian. Even while Christ rules we often detect the tendency in us to coldness, or back to living after the flesh; and sometimes, if not often, sadly realize that sin gained the victory over us; but through Christ we have regained our lost ground, and got the mastery over nature again. Paul emphasizes the importance of Christ, whom the Jews rejected as their ruler, by showing what would be our sad condition without him, both in this life and in the world to come.

To show that the residue theory of sin remaining in nature until death is true, let us take a plain case. In Col. iii appears instruction to the regenerated person, one "baptized into Jesus Christ and into his death," and having experienced a resurrection to a newness of life, the old man having undergone the crucifixion which destroys the power of sin. "If ye be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."

Now comes the residue of sin in nature, from which may constantly spring the following passions which bespeak the members of our developed fallen natures. "Mortify, therefore, your members which are upon the earth: fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry. . . . But now ye put off all these: anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication, out of your mouth." Paul knew that the unchanged condition of nature had a tendency to, and would give birth to, these passions, if not mortified or refused; hence the exhortation.

Let the advocate of the second-blessing theory, or the one who denies the residue theory of sin remaining in nature, show that these things are never detected in them, to require this work of mortification, if they can. I believe that all these things can be kept down and under, and out of the heart; but who can get them out of nature? If I am wronged a dozen times in a day, just so many times will anger rise up; but I beat it back, and instead of revenge, return good for evil. This is Christ's supremacy in me. The second work of grace comes in the resurrection morning, when the second glory comes; when these bodies will be regenerated, and become spiritual bodies.

God help us to be content with the first blessing and glory; Christ reigning in us, and ruling over us, directing our lives. J. W. ELLISON.

New Zero Feats.

For three days past the mercury has been plunging under and above the zero mark. Divers and sundry are the statements of its status. That zero has been left behind in many places in our State is unquestionable. Here three and a half above is the lowest authenticated by Signal Service thermometer. Part of the time Boreas roared like a lion. Thirty or forty miles per hour means a great deal when the breeze sets fair and direct from over snow banks and ice-caps innumerable. Wednesday night, Feb. 6, and the morning of the seventh, made an impression on our feelings not soon to be effaced. "The oldest inhabitant" "never saw anything like it." Streets and roads were left to the dominion of King Cold, while home and fireside never seemed more essential. Conversation like this became general:

"Did you ever see the like?"

"This beats my times."

"Do you think it will turn cold?"

"No, it's already passed the mark."

"Is there any more room in your thermometer for the mercury to run down?"

"Throw on some more wood!"

"Shovel in the coal!"

"Pray keep that door shut! You forget how cold it is!"

"Oh, how the cattle and the poor darkies must suffer! I hope nobody is caught out in the road this fearful night!"

"The sunshine to-day looks sick with cold."

"If these things be so in a green tree, what must it be in the dry?"

If we in the Sunny South are suffering thus, what must the agony be in the blizzard-swept North and West?

Such times and reflections make us feel akin to the whole world of suffering. May it produce in us all a permanent and practical sympathy! Many in our own favored land need our aid now and very often. There are always many worthier objects of our charity than the ordinary tramp. Right discrimination often demands that we help certain ones of these. A prominent wood-pile ready for the ax is a great safe-guard against hearty professionals. It need not be used on the sick, the maimed, or the blind.

While we will have some poor "always with us," and ought to help them wisely and liberally, yet there is a greater destitution which many seem to disregard. In heathen lands physical suffering is far more general and severe than in our own; mental destitution is incomparably greater, while spiritual agony is all but universal. Who that has the heart of a Christian can continue to enjoy the wonderful opportunities of our Christian enlightenment, and still sit supinely down while the great crisis of missions is before and upon us? As a thank-offering for what we have escaped in the way of suffering—only tasting enough to give us a distaste—why can not our great church, from its thousands of altars and ten thousands of comfortable homes, send up to Nashville during this month enough to wipe out the blot of an indebted missionary treasury, and start many more men and women to the whitening harvest fields?

The regularly appointed "Do-without Week" is well-nigh past. The state of the weather has doubtless caused many to defer holding public service. It ought not to be omitted in a single church. At the suggestion of Dr. Lambuth, our Mississippi Conference Board left latitude for this service. So if it be held before the close of March, and the money raised promptly forwarded to T. B. Holt, the letter of our resolution will be fully complied with. Its spirit was to act as promptly as Providence would permit, not letting it conflict with the week appointed by the W. P. and H. M. Society. The possibilities for impressing on our people the advantage of self-denial for Christ's sake during this week are simply inestimable.

In no sense is this like doing penance. It is a glad offering of what, in truest sense, "costs us something." Such sacrifices are acceptable to God. Surely they are a "reasonable service," in view of all he has done and suffered for us. Why not expect a general revival in connection with and following this week of service? Plan, pray and prepare for it, and the rich blessings of him whose are the gold and silver shall be ours. J. P. DRAKE.

Edwards, Miss.

Correspondence.

Notes from Newton and Hickory.

MR. EDITOR: We did some of the most satisfactory pastoral work of our life during the late blizzard. The roads, which had been very heavy on account of deep mud, were as solid as paved streets; and we found the brethren at home with their families, in the right humor to discuss spiritual and church work. Talk about hard times! If there are more comfortable houses, nicer and warmer beds, more wholesome and plentiful fare, and a more whole-souled, genuine Southern hospitality anywhere than we met with on our recent trip of five or six days in and around Hickory, Miss., we have yet to find them.

On Saturday, the ninth instant, to the sorrow and disgust of the better class of citizens of Hickory, a blind tiger was in operation in that place. As a natural result, several persons were drunk and disorderly, and at night some one fired a pistol or Winchester; shot into the private residence of a prominent merchant and citizen, and the ball came near striking members of the family and visitors, who were with them at the time.

On Sunday morning, at the eleven o'clock service, when the preacher "cried aloud and spared not," endeavoring to "declare the whole counsel of God" in regard to the rum traffic in general, and the blind tiger iniquity in particular, the signs of approval and partially suppressed applause were general enough and emphatic enough to insure the overthrow of this shameless nuisance.

Hickory is a wide-awake, progressive town, and has a Young Men's Business League, whose intelligence insures its future success. The Methodist Church, led by such sterling men as George B. Harper, Jeff Wall, G. M. and M. L. Rayner, Chas. McDonald & Bro., Oliver Hopkins, and others, is keeping step with the front rank.

Newton is a hustling, successful commercial town also, some of her leading business men taking rank with the first in the State. Methodism is at the front here also. Led by such progressive, intelligent and pious men as J. T. Watts, C. H. Kern, T. H. Selby, F. B. Loper, Sim Perry, A. G. Brown, C. H. Chamberlis and E. E. Kelly, and others, the future success of our church is secured.

Our people were made sad on last Friday evening on account of the sudden death of Sister Abner Perry. Her death, though unexpected, was triumphant. Her last sentence announced her victory over the last enemy. She has gone to a bright reward in heaven.

Since I commenced to write this note I have been called to the death-bed of Bro. F. B. Loper, a prominent citizen and an official member of our church. He was perfectly conscious to the last, and talked calmly and triumphantly of the approaching change. His life as a public officer and citizen was without a flaw. As a Christian and official member of the church, he was humble, devout, faithful, and above reproach. His end was peace. "Our people die well." He will be sadly missed, for he was widely known and deeply loved.

There are at least one hundred families on this work who should take the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, their church organ, and they must do so if they "grow in grace and the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ," as they are commanded to. This pastor is going to make an earnest effort at this point, and is sure that he will have the co-operation of the editor and publisher. If it were not so serious and grave a matter, the "innocence" of many of our people concerning the work, discipline, missionary enterprises and doctrine of our church, would be amusing. Something must be done. What can we do? Many say the paper is too high. Let us secure the required number of subscribers, and bring the subscription down to one dollar, and thus leave everyone without an excuse for living themselves or rearing a family without this indispensable means of growth in grace and knowledge. What will the brethren do? J. T. NICHOLSON.

Feb. 19, 1895.

Selections.

A Reason Why.

Again I conclude that this Book has in it the very breath of God, from the effect that it produces upon man. There are men who study philosophy, astronomy, geology, geography, and mathematics; but did you ever hear a man say, "I was an outcast, a wretched inebriate, a disgrace to my race, and a nuisance in the world, until I began to study mathematics, and learned the multiplication table, and then turned my attention to geology, got me a little hammer, and knocked off the corners of the rocks and studied the formation of the earth, and since that time I have been happy as the day is long; I feel like singing all the time; my soul is full of triumph and peace; and health and blessing have come to my desolate home once more?" Did you ever hear a man ascribe his redemption and salvation from intemperance and sin and vice to the multiplication table, or the science of mathematics or geology? But I can bring you, not one man, or two or ten, but men by the thousand who will tell you: "I was wretched; I was lost; I broke my poor old mother's heart; I beggared my family; my wife was heart-stricken and dejected; my children fled from the sound of their father's footsteps; I was ruined, reckless, helpless, homeless, hopeless, until I heard the words of that Book!" And he will tell you the very word which fastened on his soul. It may be it was, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest;" perhaps it was, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world:" it may have been, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." He can tell you the very word that saved his soul. And since that word entered his heart, he will tell you that hope has dawned upon his vision; that joy has inspired his heart; and that his mouth is filled with grateful song. He will tell you that the blush of health has come back to his poor wife's faded cheek; that the old hats have vanished from the windows of his desolate home; that his rags have been exchanged for good clothes; that his children run to meet him when he comes; that there is bread on his table, fire on his hearth, and comfort in his dwelling. He will tell you all that, and he will tell you that this Book has wrought the change.—Hastings.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf., Mrs. E. D. Jones, Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf., Mrs. M. H. Morrison, Shreveport.

In the Methodist Review of Missions, Rev. Paul Whitehead, D. D. wrote of "Uncle Larry," of the Virginia Rosebuds; from which we quit most interesting history of that society: On May 17, 1894, a useful man "ceased at once to work and live"—"Rev. John Baptist Laurens, a superannuated member of the Virginia Conference, long known as 'Uncle Larry,' the secretary and treasurer, organizer and leader, and animating spirit, humanly speaking, of the 'Rosebud Missionary Society,' an association of children numbering many thousands and extending all over the Conference territory. . .

"The history of this movement is one of the most remarkable unfoldings of Divine Providence in our day. . .

"His first efforts for the children, as he himself expressed it, was simply to get the children more thoroughly instructed in the study of the Bible. . . Following an inward leading, he opened a column for the children (Richmond Christian Advocate), and began to write to them every week, to propound enigmas and questions stimulating Bible study, and to publish the short communications occasionally received. . . He was all the time saying what would some day be realized when the children should be enabled to do for Christ what their little hearts prompted, and setting forth the importance to the future church of their being trained to active benevolence and liberality. Neither he or anybody else, however, had a conception of how this should be actually commenced in Virginia. It was ordered that a little child should lead the movement. When the signal came, through one of the little ones who believed in Jesus, 'Uncle Larry' joyfully discerned the hand of God and raised the standard at once." . . .

In January of the next year, 1879, a letter came to him, written by a child of Rev. Thomas Campbell, who said they "wished to form a Child's Missionary Society," beginning in their own family. "The writer was 'Virgie,' who was secretary; they had elected 'Rosebud,' as they said, 'our little sister, a bright loving girl of seven summers,' to be president. Their 'three brothers are going to join,' and all are to be 'contributing members.' 'Now,' said they, 'won't you tell the little folks of the Advocate about it and ask them to join our society?' 'The secretary thought it would be so nice for all the Methodist preachers' little children to join in sending the gospel to others while our fathers are preaching it here.' . .

'In her next letter the little secretary communicated the important news that the 'admission fee is five cents, and monthly payment is to be two cents per member.' This foundation of pennies was never altered; still the Rosebuds walk by the same rule. . . .

"The children began to respond. . . In the first month $7 52 was paid. . . 'Uncle Larry' suggested the formation of auxiliary societies. Ere long a Constitution and By-Laws were prepared and published, and the formation and announcement of branch societies came in very rapidly. . . 'Uncle Larry' lived to see about 450 societies organized, with no less than 30,000 members.

"The usual hindrances and prophets of evil showed themselves at an early date. . . But he had rightly judged that the sentiments of the children, as expressed through their letters, would be from the first a continual source of inspiration. He had been, from the inception of his Advocate work, bent upon the improvement of their minds and the development of their spiritual natures; and he joyfully records that they early began to express views in advance of ordinary children with reference to the church and the work in which they were engaged. By the end of 1880, in response to suggestions and inquiry, 36 children reported that they had since being asked to do so read the Bible through.

"By the date of the Conference, 1879, they had $100 on hand, and chose Mexico for their first field. . . A school in Guernavaca needed aid. In January, 1880, they sent all on hand, $185 23, to this work. In a short time they paid the remainder of the $300, the sum necessary to support the teacher there, and afterwards donated $50 for books. By Conference, 1880, the societies had raised $535, and made a special donation of $500 to another school in Mexico at Amoca. In 1881 their receipts grew to $1 150, and they had established another school in Mexico, and another in China. In 1882 receipts were $2 069; they organized other schools, and took a Chinese girl under their care for education, bestowing upon her the immortal name of 'Rosebud Campbell.' In 1883 receipts swelled to $3,170.69, and they gave $1 000 to the Anglo-Chinese College at Shanghai, and $500 to the Boys' Training-school in the City of Mexico, besides running six schools of their own. In the 'Centennial year of Methodism, 1884, they raised, including their Centennial Offering,' $4 359 94. Of this, besides supporting eleven schools, they sent $410 71 to the Boys' Training-school in Mexico, and a like amount to the Girls' School in Rio, Brazil. . .

"In that year (1885) the largest amount collected during any year (except some of these subsequently when a 'Building Fund' was especially undertaken and including that fund) was reported—viz., $4,731 85. This large sum was reached in five years, and was greater than the amount raised for foreign missions in all the churches in the Virginia Conference about ten or eleven years previously!"

In the year 1888 'Uncle Larry" visited Mexico. . . . Has at once consolidated operations, concentrating on a school for girls at San Luis Potosi, and a boys' school at Monterey. Property was acquired in San Luis, but for a time they attempted to get along by renting in Monterey. Feeling at length the multiplied evils of a lack of ownership, in 1890 he called on his army of little Christians to raise a "fund" to build in Monterey. In three years they gave him $5 000 without marring their regular contributions. The Instituto Laurens (his monument—as much so as St. Paul's, in London, is Sir Christopher Wren's) stands as the result. The cost, by some change of plans deemed necessary, exceeded the sum raised; and the society is now since "Uncle Larry's" death attacking the debt contracted. They have $800 on hand, contributed in five months, and at this rate the debt will be swept off in the coming year. "The Girls' School at San Luis Potosi has been merged in work of the Women's Board of Missions, and the noble school at Monterey at present absorbs all the receipts of the Rosebuds. . . . The managers thought it best to seek a closer alliance with the Parent Board. At the annual meeting of 1892 this was effected by the Board of Missions placing the Rosebud school work on the list of annual appropriations, the funds being, as heretofore, furnished by the children. . . .

"The annual receipts, exclusive of interest on deposit left for various periods in bank, and of the Monterey 'Building Fund,' has been as follows for the years from 1886 to 1894 inclusive: 1886 $3 851.12; 1887, $3 870.88; 1888 $3 688.02; 1889 $4,261.17; 1890 $3 741.98; 1891, $3 367 77; 1892 $3 819.06; 1893 $3.895.35; 1894 $2 690.10. Total, $31.189 31. Total from beginning (regular dues), $47 296 89 Building Fund, 6 753 79 "

The ("five barley loaves and two small fishes") five cents admission and two cents monthly payment, counted ally multiplying, and from the society of five members what a host has arisen!

Are we of the Mississippi Conference doing our duty?

MRS E. D JONES,
Editor W. F. M. S., Miss. Conf.

P. AND H. M. S.

Mississippi Conference W. P. and H. M. S.

LIST OF CONFERENCE OFFICERS.

President, Mrs I. N. Chetfield, Meridian, Miss. Vice presidents—Mrs Janie Klein, Vicksburg, Miss.; Mrs R J. Turner, Bay St. Louis, Miss. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. Cope, Paulding, Miss.; recording secretary, Mrs. B. F. Lewis, Woodville, Miss.; treasurer, Mrs T. B. Hollomon, Meridian, Miss. District secretaries—Vicksburg district, Mrs. J. M. Wells, 301 Cherry St., Vicksburg, Miss.; Shore district, Mrs. R L. Turner and Mrs. W. A. White, Ellisville, Miss. Brandon district, Miss Lou Womack, Forest, Miss.; Brookhaven district, Mrs E. P. McMen, Wesson, Miss.; Meridian district, Mrs. R. Kennedy, Lauderdale, Miss.; Jackson district, not represented; Natchez district, Mrs. W. A. Gunning, Natchez, Miss.

EIGHTY ONE YEARS.

It sounds strange, and looks strange that at the eighty-first session of the Mississippi Conference, held at Meridian, in December, '94, a sad want of parsonages exist to accommodate the preachers and their families; and what one supplements this thought by the fact that the few parsonages we now have are the result of the labors of the ministry for eighty-one years, and numbers of instances so scantily furnished, the blush of shame finds place on the cheeks.

Parsonages, yes! But how many of them have room for a library or study for the preacher in which he can prepare his sermons; where he can calmly and undisturbed gather into the mind the material for the destruction of sin and Satan's work? Parsonages, yes! But how the family is discommoded to entertain a prophet of God! Parsonages, yes! Of the limited number within the Conference could how many have a sufficiency of furniture, bed clothing and actual household necessities? And are not the majority of the families of the pastor put to much expense and worry when they extend the hospitality of the home (?) to visiting friends.

Eighty-one years of Conference life and the neglect of the membership of the churches in failing to supply and attend to the homes for their preachers is not a shame, but a sin. What is the remedy after eighty-one years of neglect? Turn your Wesleyan and Ladies' Aid Societies, which have a dwarfish existence, into connectional societies, and by giving some help to others, greatly enlarge your own borders. Another remedy: Let the preachers act with zeal and organize Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Societies on their works, and then with a good countenance they can and receive assistance from the Parsonage and Conference Boards.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER, MARCH 4-

Surely the above notice has not escaped the attention of an auxiliary society or a pastor in the Mississippi Conference. The time set apart for prayer and self-denial is upon us.

We sincerely hope that not only the Auxiliaries, but every pastor will have the services and pray for and receive a fresh baptism of the Holy Spirit. "And this is the confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us." Let the pastors prepare a sermon on "Home Missions," and instruct the people of the needs and importance of this grand work.

Let dead and dying Auxiliaries on this occasion to become alive, put on new courage, and determine to make this the most successful year that the W. P. and H. M. S. has ever known.

All preachers and active workers desiring organization blanks, Constitution and By-Laws, monthly programs and leaflets of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society will be promptly supplied by applying to Conference corresponding secretary, Mississippi Conference.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We vote fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and worthless imitations of our Cure on the market now.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. W. T. Woodward, Simmsport Charge, Alexandria district, Louisiana Conference, Feb. 14: "We are here, Mr. Editor, 'O. K.'—save had, singgish feelings occasioned by bad colds. However, we have made up our minds to do the best we can until we own them. This places us in about the same predicament as the fox was when he couldn't reach the grapes. I see part of the brethren are writing about some particular feature of their respective charges. I have two or three things of my people I would like to write about; but for fear I may personate some one, I forbear this time. I see some of them are writing about the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE as being very well circulated on their works. I believe I have some of those kind of people on my work that don't and will not take the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. I see some of them writing that they have members that are not very spiritual. Well, sir, strange as it may seem, I have some of that kind, too. And still another class are writing about having been visited by a storm. One of those itinerant storms visited Simmsport on or about the seventeenth of January—enjoyable, replenishing and supplying kinds they are. An itinerant never objects to the debris of such storms all falling into his store-room. We are gradually clearing it out, making preparation for another. I guess I will have to loot the bill of the next one. All right; I am willing to do it. If I understand the meaning of words, Bro. —— shot blue whistlers at his predecessor. It strikes me that people who live, or have lived, in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. At this juncture it might be well to include the brethren. Our first Quarterly Conference has come and gone. The preacher in charge was well provided for, as far as making the assessment is concerned. The district stewards were kind enough to raise assessment on us, we failed to pay up last year. That is all right. Methodism means progress and advance if it means anything. When we, as a church or individual, lose sight of that fact, we had better give and start afresh. After standing examination at school and securing pass card on Davies' Arithmetic, I thought I was done with Mr. Davies; but, sir, here he is my presiding elder this year. I don't know whether they are related or not. We are having a pretty good snow here this morning. Already about two inches on ground, and it is falling thick and fast. May God's blessings rest upon the ADVOCATE and its editor! Pray for us."

Rev. J. D. Ellis, Angnilla, Miss., Feb. 21: "The two preachers for the Sterling Fork and Cary circuit reached their work early in January, and are 'gloriously fixed' for the year. The weather has been very cold and disagreeable, and the biggest impression I have made has been on the mud. There is as much of this up here as anywhere in the entire country, and notwithstanding its greatness it seems to get stuck on everybody. It is no respecter of persons! Wagons sometimes go down more than axle deep, and the roads have been and are impassable in places. You would sympathize with the poor mules, Mr. Editor. Much use of them in this mud, would take all the hair off their legs. The general phenomenon of the swamp during the Winter is quite dreary looking, but to the Spring and Summer, when everything takes on new life, and the roads get dry, a more beautiful and delightful country, I am told, is not to be found. Notwithstanding the adverseness of things on the outside, we find the inside is all right, and we are happy. We have done some work, and are planning for the year. We see the works of the devil' manifested in the hearts and lives of many, but we have the 'faithful few' and the most of the people are kind and hospitable. The Lord has already begun to bless our efforts, and conviction is being written on the countenances of the people. There has been one conversion and two accessions up to date. We expect to reach and live a full salvation, and others will be converted and believers sanctified. Praise the Lord for the prospects! Our chapel on the Sunflower river was consumed by fire a few nights ago, and the people are poor and we are not able to rebuild without assistance. If we could raise enough money to put up the frame, and weather-board it, we could ceil it and give it the finishing touches later on in the year. Will not everybody who reads these lines send me a contribution, even though it be a mite? You could not give in a better direction. May the Lord inspire some generous brother or sister who is comfortably situated to send me ten dollars. Send to me at Anguilla, and I will thankfully acknowledge the receipt of any amount."

Rev. Robert Randle, Shiloh, La., Feb. 13: "I reached my work (the Summerfield circuit) on Dec. 29, 1894. I have made one round on the work. The people have received me very kindly. They are making efforts to supply my wants. Finances are very straitened, and it is almost impossible to get money for any purpose; but the brethren and friends are furnishing us enough to eat for the present. Our Baptist brethren here at Shiloh gave a donation consisting of many very necessary articles for the table. I find the work in a good condition, and most of the people are expecting a prosperous year, spiritually. We have three Sunday-schools doing good work. One of them (Harmony Chapel,) had a competitive recitation of verses from the Bible just before I reached the charge. The superintendent requests me to ask you to say the following, through the ADVOCATE: The superintendent of the Harmony Chapel Sunday-school and the teacher of the Bible class offered prizes to the one who would recite the greatest number of verses from the Bible; the superintendent to the whole school, and the teacher of the Bible class to his class. Miss Clandia Torpley recited eight chapters—1 to the viii, inclusive—of the Psalms. Miss Cary Cox recited three chapters—xov and o Psalms and the fifth chapter of Matthew. Miss Ella Rhodes recited five chapters—i, xvi, xvii and xxiii Psalms and the first chapter of John. They shared the prizes given by the superintendent. Miss Clandia Torpley received that given by the teacher of the Bible class. . . . My family has kept remarkably well for the weather through which we have passed since we commenced our move up to the present. We have had a remarkably continued and cold Winter. There have been very few pleasant days since Dec. 25. During last Thursday the thermometer dropped down to within 2½ degrees above zero, and has been below freezing point nearly all the time since. Everything exposed is covered with ice and has been since last Saturday night. It has thawed a little, but only where the sun's rays can strike. The thermometer now (at half-past one P. M.) registers 29, 3 degrees below freezing. . . . Pray for us that God may give great success on this work and general prosperity. God bless you and yours, and give you great wisdom in the management of things committed to your trust."

Rev. Jas. Ivy. Huffpauir, Boyce, La., Feb. 13: "It has been a long time since I have sent to the ADVOCATE a report of any of my work. Hoping to encourage others, I will tell something of what we are doing here in Boyce. Here is where our circuit parsonage is situated, and when I came to it I found it too small. I asked the good people to enlarge. They promptly responded by building two additional rooms, at a cost of about $175. The cry everywhere is hard times, and 'tis true, no mistake. It was a real pleasure, therefore, to this preacher to see our people, although hard-pressed financially, responding so liberally, and showing their willingness to help in such an unmistakable way. The money for this enterprise has all been raised in a quiet, straightforward, business-like way; not much of it by the preacher himself. So you see we have some workers here. We have now (will have when painted) as neat and comfortable a parsonage as can be found in a country town, and I have the best appointment in the Alexandria district. I am in favor, Mr. Editor, of extending the time limit. One thing more is needful to perfect the working of my circuit—a larger circulation of our ADVOCATE How can I get them to subscribe? Congregations are large and attentive. The work was left in good condition by my predecessor; some signs of spiritual life."

Rev. F. N. Sweeney, P. C., Dry Creek, La.: "I arrived on my work the Friday before Christmas; had service on the following Sunday, and also Christmas Day, and have since made a round on my work. The people have received me kindly, and I feel that my lot has fallen in pleasant places. I found the work in rather a bad shape, spiritually. In fact, Mr. Editor, it looked like it might have had the 'Sweeney,' or some other complaint, that has caused it to go down considerably. Yet we found a few faithful ones, and I feel much encouraged, and we are praying for and expecting a good year. The congregations are good, considering the bad weather and sickness. The measles are spreading all over the circuit, and will interfere with us for a while. I am glad to see that our presiding elder is having such an easy time. We hope to see him running around in these parts before long—not that we have any particular work for him to do, but the folks would be glad to see him."

$500 Will be Given

For any case of Rheumatism which can not be cured by Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy. The proprietors do not hide this offer, but print it in bold type on all their circulars, wrappers, printed matter, and through the columns of newspapers everywhere. It will work wonders—one treatment curing any ordinary case. The full supply of two large bottles will be sent to any address by express on receipt of $5, together with special directions for use. Agents wanted.

The World in the Church.

The above work by J. T. Sawyer, D. D., has received hearty commendation from many of the leading men of Southern Methodism, including several of our Bishops. It is an excellent work for preachers to circulate among their members. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Price, 25 cents.

A Veteran's Story

Jos. Hemmerich.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich, an old soldier, 529 E. 146th St., N. Y. City, writes voluntarily. In 1862, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a struggle of several years in hospitals, was discharged as incurable with Consumption. Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends

Hood's Sarsaparilla

as a blood purifier and tonic medicine, especially to comrades in the G. A. R.

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Try a box. 25c.

AYER'S

THE ONLY

Sarsaparilla

ADMITTED

READ RULE XV.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA WORLD'S FAIR Chicago 1893

"Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was admitted because it is a standard pharmaceutical preparation, and all that a family medicine should be.

At the WORLD'S FAIR.

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. CHIDESTER & SON, 18 Bond St., New York.

Louisiana Poultry Yards.

I am now ready to Ship Eggs for Hatching from 15 varieties of Pure Bred Poultry at Reasonable Prices. Catalogue free. Stock for Sale. Write to J. M. GOSLIN, Ruston, La.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home with out pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

A. A. BOHNE HEIRS,

DEALERS IN

New and Second-Hand School Books, Stationery, Music,

1328 DRYADES STREET, Near THALIA.

School Books Bought, Sold and Exchanged.

D. J. WILT, Manager.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrive.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg.

Sleeping Car New Orleans to Vicksburg.

Free Reclining Chair Car between New Orleans and Memphis.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
F. B. BOWES, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Hand-Sewed Shoes.

$2.50. $3.00. $3.50.

A Large Assortment of Kangaroo and Patent Leather Shoes.

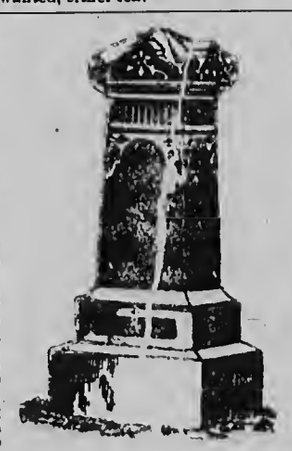
J. BLASS & SON,

Old No 95, (New 409) ST. CHARLES STREET.

The Only Living Root Man in North Ga.

I GATHER MY OWN REMEDIES.

Cure any disease curable, either acute or chronic, male or female. Satisfaction guaranteed. Testimonials free. Address JNO. T. PATTERSON, 322 Fifth Ave., Rome, Ga. Salesmen wanted, either sex.



Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AXES, HATCHETS, KNIVES.

Brooms, Brushes, Lye, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Seines, Fishing Tackle, Ammunition, Shot Cases, Rope Reels, Rules, Croquet, Baseballs, Hammocks, Freezers, Refrigerators, Cheese Safes, Lamps, Clocks, Mirrors, Pipes, Soap, Well Buckets, Alarm Tills, Fruit Jars, Cages, Tacks, Tops, Marbles, Scales, Tinware, Stoneware Cedarware, Handles, Baskets, Galvanized-ware, Enamelline, Bluing, Whips, Locks, Coffee Mills, Furnaces, Ladders, Axle Grease, Rope, Twine, Paper, Kegs, Stationery, Oil Stoves, Tanks, etc.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

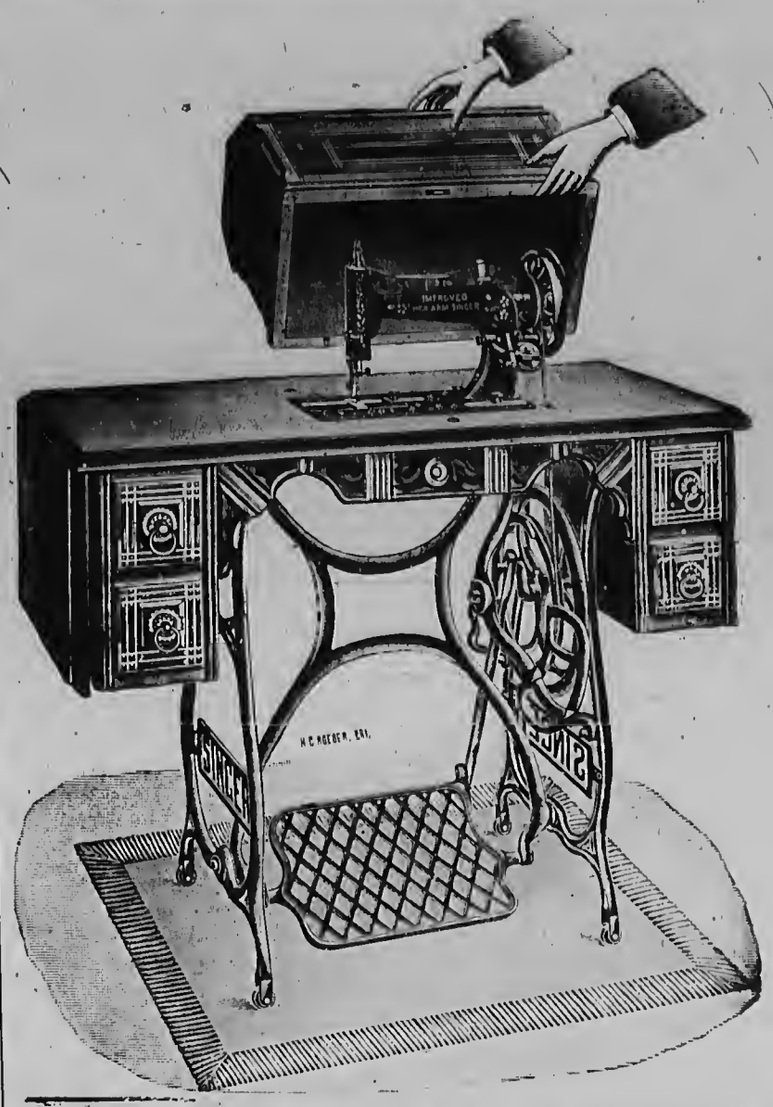
324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.



A VERY REMARKABLE OFFER!

A $40 Sewing Machine for $20, and the N. O. Advocate Thrown In!

This may seem surprising, but we mean what we say. The machine which we handle is "The Favorite High Arm Singer," the manufacturer's catalogue price of which is $40. Read the following description taken from the manufacturer's catalogue, and then read our offer.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, as you will perceive, is very attractive in appearance, the cut being an exact representation. It is strongly constructed from the best grades of material produced, and its adjustment perfect; also combines simplicity, durability and workmanship of the highest order; and in point of finish, light-running and sewing qualities, is unsurpassed. In addition to the above-mentioned qualities, our Favorite Improved High Arm Singer has the latest, most useful and practical improvements, such as a perfect Self-Threading Cylinder Shuttle, positive Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator and Loose Pulley, and is without any exception the best machine ever produced for the money.

"The Favorite Improved High Arm Singer is the only Singer style machine using a Cylinder Shuttle. The bed of machine being sunk flush with table and nicely hinged so it can be turned backed to admit of oiling and cleaning under works without the least inconvenience.

"Automatic Bobbin Winder, used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer, is positive in its operation, and works to perfection, winding the thread on bobbin as evenly as thread is wound on a spool.

"Flat Tension Spring. Every lady who has used machines with coil tension spring, knows the value of having a machine with flat tension, 'same as used on the Favorite Improved High Arm Singer,' for the reason that when tension is once set it always remains the same and does not alter while machine is in operation, requiring operator to stop every little while and re adjust same.

"The Cabinet Work is of the very latest design, made of the best quality of Oak or Walnut, as preferred. Unique and attractive in style, and elaborate in finish. The rich nickel plated trimmings harmonize with the general handsome appearance of the machine.

"Furnished free with every machine are the following-named accessories: One Foot Hemmer, one Screw Driver, one Wrench, one Oil Can and Oil, one Gauge Screw, one extra Check Spring, one Package of Needles, five Bobbins and one Instruction Book.

"Extra Set of Attachments also free with each machine, consisting of the following: One Tucker, one Foot Ruffler, one Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths, up to seven-eighths of an inch; one Binder and one Thread Cutter.

"The Stand is among the handsomest in design. Finely japanned. Has large drive wheel."

This machine is manufactured by an old and reliable company, who guarantee the machine for ten years.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to June, '96, and send us $18 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded. Can anything be fairer than that? Remember that offers like this are not made every day, and that delays are dangerous.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty-five new subscribers with the cash—$50. Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

The Queen and Crescent Route

THE ONLY LINE THAT

11333 miles shortest New Orleans to New York and Washington.
67 miles shortest to Birmingham.
90 miles shortest to Cincinnati.

That runs Solid Vestibuled trains, New Orleans to Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

That carries through Sleepers to Knoxville, Bristol, Washington, Philadelphia and New York over the shortest route and on Quick Schedules.

Special Attention paid to the Service between Local Points.

THE ONLY LINE THAT

Controls a Route, Shreveport to Cincinnati, all under one name and management.

That carries you Shreveport to Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol, Washington and New York with only one change of cars.

That runs the same train from Shreveport to Atlanta via Birmingham, Meridian and Chattanooga with no change. This car is attached at Meridian to Solid Vestibuled Train for Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

Choice of Routes to and from Texas and California, via Shreveport or via New Orleans.

T. HARRIS, A. G. P. A. 34 St. Charles St., NEW ORLEANS, LA. J. HARDY, A. G. P. A. SHREVEPORT, LA.

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass. Agt., CINCINNATI, O.

IT IS THE

SUPERIOR SOUTHERN ROUTE

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

			Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	.....	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 "	2 weeks,	.....	1 60	2 00
1 "	3 "	.....	2 00	2 50
1 "	1 month,	.....	2 40	3 00
1 "	3 months	.....	6 00	7 50
1 "	6 "	.....	10 00	12 50
1 "	1 year,	.....	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 "	.....	35 00	42 00
3 "	1 "	.....	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	.....	60 00	72 00
5 "	1 "	.....	75 00	90 00
6 "	1 "	.....	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, March 7, 1895.

The desecration of the Sabbath at the "World's Fair" brought its reward, and so has the Parliament of Religions. "Whatsoever a man soweth," etc.

How meaningless are prayers for the conversion of friends and relatives, when never a word is said to them about their spiritual needs, or about our anxiety for them.

No event in the history of the church was more honored of God than the coming of the Holy Ghost. Moral: Let the Holy Ghost be honored now and forever.

The greatest questions of the day, involving the prosperity of the masses, are answered according to the interests, the prejudices and the passions of classes and parties. Shame! Has all true statesmanship fled the country?

Let us not be continually proclaiming what we would like to do for the church if we were able; but let us go ahead, and do what we can. Don't say you will do a certain good thing, if others will help. Do your part, and your example will stimulate others.

The Christian never reaches an experience where these words of the apostle Paul to Titus are not applicable to him: "This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works."

Many a man generally regarded honest and respectable only needs a good chance to bring out the villainy that is in him. Unless there be the restraining influence of religion in the heart, men will stoop to almost anything when they think they can escape detection. What monster iniquities would be committed were it not for the fear of law and of public opinion.

Some mothers purchase ease and quiet by sending their children over to a neighbor's, or somewhere else, to get rid of their noise and the trouble of discipline. Present peace thus purchased usually means bitter sorrow and disappointment in after years. Boys allowed to roam the streets at their own sweet will are as certain to become wayward and besmirched with sin as that soot will blacken. Girls whose every whim is gratified seldom develop into obedient, loving, helpful daughters.

Personal Purity.

Every careful student of history knows that, in spite of assertions to the contrary, the world is gradually growing better. Medical science shows that the average length of human life is slowly increasing. Laws are more humane, and wars are becoming less frequent. Within our own borders the recent abolition of slavery and the marvelous progress of temperance reform are sure indications of a better state of morality. That Christianity has a stronger hold upon humanity than ever before is evidenced by the pentecostal revivals constantly taking place, by the unprecedented interest in education, by the founding in large number of hospitals, orphan asylums, and other eleemosynary institutions, and by the growth of missionary effort.

Notwithstanding all this, civilized man is still many stages from perfection. Some of the very vices that flourished among the profligate heathen nations in remote antiquity have come on down through each succeeding century, and remain to-day in scarcely diminished power to curse the world and drag men from the pinnacle of purity to the lowest depths of vileness. It is a sad commentary upon our civilization that it treats certain evils as necessary; and consequently little or no effort is made, except by a few zealous Christians, to bring about a better state of things. Not the least of the evils to which we refer is the prevalence of masculine lewdness. Sexual impurity and the whisky curse are, we verily believe, the monster iniquities of the age, the foulest stains upon our boasted modern civilization.

No student of the times can escape the conviction that the gross sensuality which exhibits itself among rich and poor alike threatens to undermine the home life of the republic, and initiate the reign of unbridled lust. The secular papers teem ad nauseam with accounts of rapes, adulteries, divorce suits, and lapses from virtue. Our great cities fairly reek with harlotry and social rottenness. Among men out of the church, and, alas! among many in the church, the loosest notions prevail with regard to masculine purity. So corrupt are the majority of men in this respect, so certain that others can not be more virtuous than themselves, that he who ventures to declare his purity does so at the risk of being sneered at.

Fashionable society, instead of frowning upon this heinous sin, passes it over in silence—yea, even gives it encouragement. In spite of boasted refinement, the leaders of the higher circles too often mingle on terms of equality with men of questionable character. Let a man dress well and exhibit a well-filled purse, and society asks no further questions. It is the disgrace of the age that money can hide every defect and admit its possessor into almost any social circle. Lewd and intemperate habits are no bar to admission into the ranks of the so-called aristocracy. Be it said to our shame that men of the Chesterfield type rarely meet with a rebuff in the social world. We do not speak unadvisedly when we say that young ladies of stainless purity often receive attentions and courtesies from men whom they know to be rakish in character. Why, we ask, should there be one standard of virtue for woman and a lower one for man? Where is it recorded in the Word of God that the seventh commandment applies to woman, but not to man? How ready the world is to condone excesses and lechery in a man. How quick it is to spurn with its heel an erring woman. The very scoundrels who are boon companions with the demi-monde, and who would not scruple to ruin an innocent girl, as soon as a woman falls, are loudest in their denunciation of her.

A great deal is being said just now about the indifference of young men toward religion, it being a melancholy fact that comparatively few, except in our church colleges, are members of the church and professedly pious. We believe that a partial explanation of this indifference is to be found in the prevailing lewdness of life. Conscious that in order to be true Christians they must abandon impure practices, multitudes choose "the pleasures of sin for a season," postponing the restraint of passion until disease and spiritual death overtake them. Few are the fathers who take proper pains to impress upon their sons the iniquitous nature of unchasity until after they have become corrupted. When a young man falls a victim to his passions, his own parents often excuse his uncleanness by saying: "He is only sowing his wild oats." As if there were a necessity for his doing so! When Christian parents everywhere awake to a sense of their duty, and exercise as careful supervision over the habits of their boys as over their girls, and not until then, will there be any abatement of this evil.

The pulpit also has its responsibilities in this matter. True, this is a matter which needs to be handled delicately. Nevertheless, on this as on other themes the pulpit can make its power felt for the uplifting of humanity. Is it not possible for the Christian pulpit by persistent effort to destroy in some measure the foolish and wicked sentiment which creates two standards of social purity—one for man and another for woman?

Collapsed.

The Brooklyn strike, which had as well be termed the Brooklyn mob, is at last at an end. From 5000 to 6000 men quit work because they thought the labor too hard for the pay. All right. They had a right to quit. There were any number of men eager to take their places, and if they had been allowed to do so the trolley cars would have run the next day and the business of the city would have gone on as before. But the strikers organized themselves into a mob to cut the wires and beat "scabs," as they called them, off the cars, and frightened away men who wanted the work. 10,000 soldiers were called out to restore order, protect property, and give men who wanted to work protection. For three weeks the struggle went on at a cost of $30,000 a day, not to mention the loss to the thousands of people in the interruption of business. At last the strikers surrender to military force, give it up and ask to come back to serve their old employers at the old rates. But new men had been already employed and the strikers are for the most part out of employment. Such has been the history of strikes for the last eight years, or since the great Pacific railroad strike. How long will it take the laboring man to learn that everybody accords him the right to quit work when he likes, but that he can not be allowed to destroy his employer's property or prevent him from employing other men? How long shall the farce of maintaining the dignity of labor be enacted while the populations of great cities are compelled to stand still and look on? Debs, it is found, received a salary of $9,000 a year. The laborer makes for himself two masters, either one of whom can tell him to quit work when he pleases. Better that he free himself from trammels, stand upon his individual right and judgment as a man, use well his time, and save his money. Two-thirds of all the men who are rich to-day came up from the ranks of the poor by that means. —Arkansas Methodist.

A New Book.

THE ROYAL ROAD; Or, Taking Him at His Word. By Marion Harland. New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co., Publishers. Pp. 277. Price, $1.50.

It has been some time since so helpful a book fell under our eye. It is as fascinating as a novel; not a dull page from cover to cover. The subject reveals the character of the work. Just taking Jesus at his word, that is the royal road. Delicately interwoven with the thread of the story are many choice bits of wisdom and gems of spiritual truth, enforced and illuminated by happily selected Scripture quotations.

Christians nowadays are quite prone to worry and fret over the future. Though the present may be filled with good things, and to spare, the morrow is clothed with imaginary evils. To all such we specially commend the book. "Be not anxious," "Casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you," are frequently found on the lips of good old Nurse Williams and the preacher's wife, Mrs. Barnes.

If the author tried to show the futility and utter senselessness—not to say, sinfulness—of constant fretting over what can not be helped, she succeeded most admirably. Mrs. Paull, the heroine of the story, was surely placed in the most trying of situations, that of a deserted wife. But, casting herself upon the Savior's promises, she lived through some fiery ordeals. There are no time-worn arguments with infidels; but carping, doubting Christians are handled without gloves. Get the book and read it; for it contains entertainment for the young, wholesome suggestions and practical wisdom for parents, and spiritual refreshment for the aged.

Strangers enjoy the politeness of ushers in seating them at church.

"I said, days should speak, and multitude of years should teach wisdom." So said Job. But he did not live in the nineteenth century, else he wouldn't have been so old-fogyish.

When you preach on eternal punishment, is there any pity in the tones of your voice? "I now tell you, even weeping, they are the enemies of the cross of Christ," saith Paul.

Bishop John C. Granbery wrote, under date of Feb. 6, to Rev. J. F. Scurlock, and appointed him colporteur for the Louisiana Conference. No better man could have been selected for such an important work.

Mrs. Shakespeare sounds a bit odd to our ears, and that is why thousands of people will read with curiosity the article under that title in the March Ladies' Home Journal. It is by Dr. W. J. Rolfe, the Shakespearean authority, who gathers together everything that is known about Shakespeare's wife, and presents his material in a most fascinatingly-interesting article. Dr. Parkhurst is very strong in what he says of "The Cult of Society"; while Mrs. Burton Harrison is instructive in fixing many of the little courtesies of social life. Just what women will wear this Spring in hats, wraps and gowns, and the correct shades, are made a specialty by the Journal's fashion editors, and their work, and that of the artists, is well done. And there is much more in this issue of the Journal. It is a good number in every respect. The number costs only ten cents, and is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia.

Denver papers contain accounts of the installation, in that city, of a Congregational minister, who said in his examination that "Jesus Christ was the supreme anarchist," that he "never saw any reason for praying to Christ," that the Spirit of God "is not a personality," and that Christians in this age "have no standing ground, but moving ground." When Congregationalists, after such an examination, put a man in charge of a church, the evangelical character of the denomination is compromised. We shall be surprised if there is not some vigorous protest from evangelical Congregationalists against this installation.—Herald and Presbyter.

NOTES.

Moody and Sankey will commence a meeting in Meridian on the twelfth.

W. L. Baker, one of the leading spirits of Mobile Methodism, died on Saturday last.

The Woman's Board of Missions will hold its annual meeting at Meridian, beginning May 10.

Rev. Samuel G. Jones, father of Rev. Sam P. Jones, the evangelist, died at his home in Cartersville, Ga., a few days since.

Many of our readers will regret to learn that Capt. I. V. Enochs died at his home near Terry, Miss., one day last week.

When we say "premium offers" we mean those that are now running in the ADVOCATE—not those which were running a few weeks ago.

The new campaign begins most auspiciously. New subscriptions are rolling in at a rapid rate. We tender our heartiest thanks to the brethren.

Mrs. Mary E. Henington, widow of Rev. R. T. Henington, formerly of the Mississippi Conference, was buried at Bethesda Church, near Crystal Springs, on the twenty-seventh. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. L. Burton, assisted by Rev. Ira B. Robertson.

A subscriber in a distant State—a man of fine intelligence—in renewing his subscription, writes: "I take the Century and several other of the best magazines, but I derive more benefit from the ADVOCATE than any of them. It is the most interesting church paper I have read."

A witness in court has his testimony discounted when it appears that he is personally interested in the case. He may be honest, but he can not help being biased by his relation to the matter. A man may imagine he is perfectly candid when he criticises the Bishops and avows that he has no personal grievance. But those who know the facts take the statement with several grains of allowance.—Baltimore Advocate.

Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, celebrated his fifty-eight birthday recently in San Antonio, Tex. On the same day we read, his mother, Mrs. Betsey Holton Moody, celebrated her ninetieth birthday in the house in which she brought up her children, and in which she has lived sixty-six years, in East Northfield, Mass. She is in good health, and superintends the work of her house every day.

To become "all things to all men," no more means that a Christian minister must descend to the sinns for language to attract and catch sinners of the baser sorts than it means he must drink whisky and play cards in order to win the drunkard and the gambler. A preacher with learning and good common sense can adapt himself to his hearers without being coarse and vulgar. There is neither sense nor religion in using a method that will attract one class and repulse another, when it is possible to use speech that will hold both.—Nashville Advocate.

Fire will consume a church. A wounded saint will bleed to death, and diptheria will slay the child of an apostle, unless water, bandages and medication are utilized in the respective emergencies. These agencies are as providential as the prayer that should reinforce them respectively. The seriously sick man who resorts to prayer in the exclusion of medicine is an astonishment to us, as is he who accepts medicine and rejects God. The divine gift of quinine or its substitute for malaria is as providential as he who invites to prayer in the moment when it is time to pray.—N. W. Christian Advocate.

For the last thirty years and more, perhaps, we have had in many of the leading pulpits of our land the gospel of gush. We have had ten thousand sermons, beautiful delineations of the glorious truth that "God is love," only here and there a feeble, unpopular and unheard voice reminding us that "God is just," terribly hates and terribly will punish sin. We have been treated to endless elegant and well-turned essays on the fatherhood of God, and the brotherhood of man; to very few stern, strenuous and thrilling announcements, persuading men "by the terror of the Lord" of "righteousness, temperance and judgment to come." The moral health of the nation seems to be running down. It needs a strong tonic to bring it up, a good deal of that old Puritan iron in the blood, which made the fathers of the Republic the strong, sterling, stalwart and God-fearing men they were.—Episcopal Recorder.

Let the brethren who could not observe "the Do-without Week" on account of bad weather make another effort. Our missionary treasury needs replenishing, and we know of no better way of supplying the lack than by carrying out the suggestion of the Mission Board as to a "Do-without Week." If our pastors will take the trouble to post themselves as to the exigencies of the situation, they will need no exhortation from us.

Representatives of about twenty foreign missionary societies of the United States and Canada met in conference in New York City a week or two ago and discussed various phases of missionary work in foreign lands. A similar conference was held last year in New York at the rooms of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The purpose of these annual gatherings is the mutual interchange of opinion on topics of interest to those who are endeavoring to evangelize the heathen, and the formulation of plans by which all may be able to work in harmony and for the best good of the cause.

The steward who recommends liberality on the part of others, and yet spends twenty dollars a year for tobacco while giving ten to the church has to learn the alphabet of consistency.

The church member who subscribes for three political papers, but can not afford to subscribe for a religious paper for his wife and daughters, is afflicted with the worst form of spiritual poverty.

The man who smokes three cigars a day, and then gives fifty cents to the annual missionary collection, dishonors the church to which he belongs.—Richmond Advocate.

Miss Belle Kearney is now making a temperance campaign through South Louisiana. She addressed a large audience last Sabbath night at Louisiana Avenue Church. Miss Kearney was as attractive speaker at the time of her first appearance on the platform, and she has steadily grown until she now ranks among the very best women speakers of the day. As stated in our columns some time since, she commands immense audiences in the great cities of the East, including our national capital. She was the principal speaker during the recent convention of the Y. W. C. T. U. at St. Louis, speaking three times in three of the large churches of the city on Sunday. Dr. Palmore, editor of the St. Louis Advocate, speaks of her as "the Frances Willard of the South." The appellation is worthily bestowed. Our next issue will contain from her pen an account of the recent gathering of the temperance clans in Washington.

Bishop Galloway, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, arrived in this city, from his tour of missionary service around the globe, on the Etruria, on Saturday, Feb. 23, at 5 o'clock P. M. His account of missionary work in Japan, China, and India was most encouraging. On landing he became the guest of the Methodist Social Union at the Savoy Hotel. On Sunday morning he preached in Madison Avenue Church. On Monday morning he was received by the Preachers' Meeting in an unusually full session, and addressed it chiefly on the missionary outlook. On Monday evening he met the Social Union at dinner given at the Savoy, and gave an address covering several topics, notably that of fraternity and federation among Methodist Churches at home and abroad. We can only say now that the geniality, Christian devotion, and great ability of Bishop Galloway won all hearts, and help on the love which Methodists should bear toward one another. He will be cordially welcomed when he shall come again.—New York Advocate.

No right-minded American, be he Protestant or Roman Catholic, will dare sanction the methods which have been put in practice in St. Louis to suppress the society known as the American Protective Association. It became an old story, during the year, to have secretaries of the order waylaid, bagged by hired thugs, who then stole the record books. These criminals, in their foul work in peaceful secrecy. And now the office of the organ of the society, the True American, has been looted by an armed band of desperadoes. They were there to steal the subscription list—if they had to commit murder to get it. At the point of pistols the manager was compelled to give up the list. This has roused a mighty feeling of resentment in many breasts. Certain Romanists of St. Louis are doing a great deal to strengthen the "A. P. A." The authorities may view Romanist assassins and thieves with equanimity, but Public Opinion—that mighty Sword of Damocles—does not. There are many Romanists who seem to rely on nothing else than driving the Protestants of America into organized opposition.—Mid-Continent.

The Advocate for One Dollar.

To all new subscribers whose names are sent in with the cash during the next sixty days we will send the ADVOCATE from now until Dec. 31 for one dollar. When we say "for cash," we do not mean that every preacher must in every case send cash with each name. Let the names be sent in as rapidly as possible, and let the cash follow soon afterward. We can not take subscriptions at this rate and then wait until Conference for the money. Let all our preachers make this offer known as rapidly as possible.

Brother preacher, it would neither compromise your dignity nor desecrate the Sabbath if you should make this offer known to your people from the pulpit. Let laymen also lend a helping hand by spreading the news of our liberal offer. Let it be known that subscribers to the ADVOCATE, at whatever price, become beneficiaries of our various premium offers—"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee," as well as the rest.

P. S.—When we say "premium offers" we mean those now running in the ADVOCATE—not those which were running a few weeks ago.

A Traveling Man.

Mr. B. C. Wolfe, of Washington, Mo., writes that after taking Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism for one week, the pain had almost left him entirely. He slept better, had no more night sweats, and appetite was good. He also wrote that he would not take $100 for what the remedy had done for him. There is no waiting weeks and months to get satisfaction. The remedy attacks the disease at once. Send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and the fifth month's treatment of two large bottles will be sent to you by return express. Agents wanted.

"Touching Incidents."

Our offer of "Touching Incidents and Remarkable Answers to Prayer" is still open.

We will send the work, postpaid, to any address on receipt of publisher's price—$1; to preachers, 75 cents. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. Any subscriber who will pay his subscription up to June, '96, can have the work sent to him, postpaid, for 50 cents, provided he has not had the benefit of any previous premium offer. Those who have had the benefit of a previous offer can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96. Better still: Any subscriber who will pay his own subscription up to June, '96, and send us one new subscriber at the regular rate—$2—will receive a copy of the work free. Remember that delays are dangerous and write at once.

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

☞ Sold by Druggists; price, 75c. per bottle.

To Subscribers.

Subscribers have sometimes written us under the supposition that we give the ADVOCATE and the "Earthly Footsteps" both for $2.40. We have never made such an offer. We sell "Earthly Footsteps" for $2.40. The advantage in being a subscriber is that you get the work at so low a price. No person who is not a subscriber can get the work from us for twice that sum. So also of our Oxford Bible. We sell the Oxford Bibles to subscribers at less than half what others have to pay.

To Agents.

Preachers and other agents should take note of the fact that we can not give commissions on subscriptions received under the one-dollar proposition. We would be glad to do so, but we can not.

Our Map Supplement.

With this week's issue we offer to our readers a beautiful new map of Palestine and the East. It not only shows the historic Bible lands, including Egypt, Asia Minor, Greece, Italy, and the Archipelagic Islands, but also boldly traces in red the journeyings of Christ and his apostles during that wonderful ministry which brought to humanity the dawn of a new day.

This map is offered as a most useful adjunct to the new Holy Land Art-Portfolio Series, "Earthly Footsteps of The Man of Galilee," which is now enjoying a widely extended distribution. This splendid work is entirely unique and exceptional in its character, and is the final expression of a beautiful enterprise. It crystallizes the results of months of travel, observation and study, involving three distinct tours of the land of sacred story; two by the Reverend John H. Vincent, D. D., LL.D., and one by the Reverend James W. Lee, author of "The Making of The Man." Dr. Lee's visit was made during last year, and he was accompanied by Robert E. M. Bain, the celebrated photographer, who secured over 800 negatives from which 384 plates were carefully selected for the work, which is issued in 24 parts, each number containing sixteen superb views with interesting and elegant descriptions by the two divines above mentioned. The publication bears the impress of religious fervor, historic research, pictorial variety and beauty, mechanical perfection, and general completeness in every essential which commend it highly to Bible scholars, students of history and lovers of art.

For the above reasons, all of which become easily apparent upon inspection, the entire work is offered by us to our readers as exceptionally valuable for personal possession and study.

Two Danger Periods.

At the beginning and close of the great function of womanhood especial care should be observed. Health or disease is in the issue. CREOLE FEMALE TONIC will wonderfully aid nature by its reparative, alterative and energizing powers.

Special Notice.

The third annual meeting of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference will be held in New Iberia, March 8-10, 1895. Auxiliaries are requested to elect their delegates at once and notify Mrs. J. M. Beard, district secretary, Opelousas district, at New Iberia, La. A full attendence is earnestly desired, as this is a meeting of great importance to our work. Entertainment will be provided.

MRS. F. A. LYONS,
President.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
Conf. Cor. Sec.

Special Request.

Dear Brethren of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conference:

You will greatly oblige me if each of you will send me the name of an active, energetic, consecrated man, residing in your respective counties, who is a careful observer of the Christian Sabbath, and would be willing to act as county secretary in forming a county association auxiliary to the Mississippi State Sabbath Association. He need not be a preacher nor a Methodist, although these qualities would not disqualify him. He must be a Christian worker. Yours faithfully,

T. L. MELLEN.
Pres't. Miss. State Sabbath Association.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
Worlds Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

Mrs. Fred Clark.

Mrs. Fred Clark, daughter-in-law of Gen. Chas. Clark, died at her home in Rosedale, Miss., Feb. 23. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, but was a great friend to ours. One of the largest audiences ever seen in our church here was present yesterday to witness the funeral services. A shadow rests upon the entire community. Our church here will sorely miss her.

E. S. LEWIS.

Rosedale, Miss., Feb. 25, 1895.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. HENRY H. AHRENS.

Theme for Prayer Meeting.

THE PEACE OFFERING.
(Lev. iii, 1-6; I. Peter ii, 24)

Peace offering—better, propitiatory sacrifice. It was designed to conciliate God. Man's transgressions had offended him. This offering was to appease. An apt prototype of the salvation in Christ. Our second text leads us to consider

1. What Christ did for us. Christ, here crowned with thorns; but now highly exalted, at the right hand of God.

(1) He bore our sins. Our sins, great and small, one and all. Numerous, heinous, damnable. Would inevitably lead to hell. Suffered in our place. Our punishment was laid on him.

(2) He bare our sins in his own body on the tree.

a In his own body. His suffering was not chimerical. No optical illusion. It was his body of flesh and bone. Susceptible of pain. Rusty nails lacerating his hands and feet. His agony unspeakable.

b On the tree. Was compelled to bear it himself until, exhausted, he broke down. Extended on same. Malefactors right and left. Multitude jeering. We consider next

2. Our solemn obligation. Having been bought with such great price, healed by his stripes, saved by his blood, made alive by his death

(1) We should be dead to sin. Strong language. Dead to sin. Sin of commission and omission, sin of affection, thought, utterance, action. Dead. Old things have passed away. Sin suits sinners; we are saints. We are saved from sin.

(2) We should live unto righteousness. Christians not only passively, but also actively. Live unto righteousness.

a. By diligently employing the various means of grace, such as private and public prayer, attendance on divine service in the sanctuary, reading the Bible, etc.

b. By supporting all enterprises for mankind's evangelization. Give liberally to the church at home and abroad. Win the young for Christ in Sunday-school. Seek for the lost sheep.

c. By amelioration among the poor, homeless, distressed, hungry, afflicted. Dry tears. Relieve, aid, comfort.

d. Live unto righteousness not only objectively, but also subjectively. The constant watchward should be: Nearer to God. Christ has left us an example, that we should follow in his footsteps. Humble, diligent, obedient, faithful as Christ.

FOR BRONCHIAL AND ASTHMATIC COMPLAINTS, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have remarkable curative properties.

Scarritt Bible and Training-School.

The commencement exercises of the Scarritt Bible and Training-school, Kansas City, Mo., will be held May 21. Bishop John H. Vincent will deliver the annual address on the occasion. This distinguished divine has a great hold on the affections of the American people in the devotion of loyal Chautauquans, and has an international reputation for eloquence and scholarship.

Annual Report S. P. C. C.

ENDING FEB. 1, 1895.

	1894-95
Cared for in the Waifs' Home	224
Abduction and criminal assault	42
Sent to Boys' House of Refuge	9
Sent to Memorial Home	5
Sent to Home for Homeless	6
Sent to House of Good Shepherd	24
Sent to Charity Hospital, sick or crippled	13
Young females taken from immoral surroundings	24
Number bad adopted or become guardians for	7
Number placed in private homes or asylums	200
Number of children deserted by one or both parents	263
Number of lost or illegally detained children found and restored to their parents	64
Number of children whose cases warranted interference by the Society for brutality or neglect	263
Clothing given	851
Number of cases investigated where abuse or neglect have been corrected, the children rescued, or their condition made better, and the children still under surveillance of the Society	1,721

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY, Pittsburgh
ANCHOR, Cincinnati.
ATLANTIC, New York.
BEYMER-BAUMAN, Pittsburgh.
BRADLEY, New York.
BROOKLYN, New York.
COLLIER, St. Louis.
CORNELL, Buffalo.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS, Pittsburgh.
EckSTEIN, Cincinnati.
FAHNESTOCK, Pittsburgh.
JEWETT, New York.
KENTUCKY, Louisville.
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS. CO. Philadelphia.
MORLEY, Cleveland.
MISSOURI, St. Louis.
RED SEAL, St. Louis.
SALEM, Salem, Mass.
SHIPMAN, Chicago.
SOUTHERN, St. Louis and Chicago.
ULSTER, New York.
UNION, "

Common Sense

dictates that you use materials when painting that you know something about. Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil are and have been the standard for years. You know all about them; if you don't your painter does. To make sure, however, examine the brand (see list).

For colors, use National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead tinting colors; they are the best and most permanent; prepared expressly for tinting Pure White Lead. Pamphlet and color-card free.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

Locomotor Ataxia, Epilepsy
And all diseases of the
SPINAL CORD
Find ready amelioration from the use of
Medulline The Extract of the Spinal Cord of the Ox.
Prepared under the formula of
DR. WM. A. HAMMOND,
In his laboratory at Washington, D. C.
Dose, 5 drops. Price, two drachms, $1.00.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
COLUMBIA CHEMICAL CO.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Send for Book. 125
Wholesale Agent, L. N. BRUNSWIG.
Retail by P. L. CUSACHS.

Secure a Position.
Wanted for office work, on salary, in every county, "young" lady or "young" gentleman. Experience not necessary. Country boys also accepted. Must deposit in bank cash $100.00. Address P. O. Box 488, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Fancy White Clarified Sugar,
28 lbs. for $1 00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Dr. George W. Rembert,
DENTIST,
Godchaux Building, New Orleans.
Corner Canal and Chartres Streets.
Friends from the country will receive special attention, and all business correspondence promptly responded to.
Honest and skilled labor, coupled with uniform and conscientious charges, has been the key to past success.
☞ Take elevator on Canal street.

THOS. C. KING,
Groner,
388 Dryades street, cor. Thalia,
Corn, Tomatoes, or Snap Beans,
2 lb. can 5 cents.

DO YOU OWN
HORSES OR MULES?

Is Guaranteed to Cure in Every Case.
No Drenching—Dose: One Tablespoonful.

LEARNED, MISS., FEB. 24, 1890.
DEAR SIRS:—I do not want to be without a supply of your Emmett's Colic and Bots Cure as long as I own an animal subject to the above named diseases. Am a farmer, owner and breeder of horses, cows and hogs. I have used the Specific in a good number of cases, and in every instance found it fully as good as recommended. There is an increasing demand for it here among the farmers. Yours,
J. J. McDOUGALD.
PRICE, $1.00 a bottle.
I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

TEXAS
EL PASO T AND P ROUTE
PACIFIC
SHORT LINE
—TO—
HOT SPRINGS, NORTH TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA.
TICKET OFFICE - - 629 CANAL.
TIME CARD.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Fort Worth and Cal. Ex.	8:15 A. M.	7:00 P. M.
Denver Express	6.05 P. M.	9.15 A. M.

8:15 A. M. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Fort Worth and connects at Fort Worth with Pullman Sleepers for El Paso, Denver and San Francisco.
6:05 p. m. train has through Pullman Buffet Sleepers to Shreveport and Marshall, and connects with Cannon Ball train for Hot Springs. Also through Sleeper to Little Rock, via Alexandria.
Take Jackson street cars for Gretna.
Trains leave Gretna 8:49 a. m. and 6:40 p. m.
For tickets and other information call on or address:
A. S. GRAHAM, Passenger and Ticket Agt.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice-President and General Manager.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Kentucky Hog Jowls (Smoked),
Something Choice, 6 cents a pound.

Look Out for Your Fruit Trees.
Diseased fruit trees can not bear healthy fruit.
I have a remedy that cures diseased fruit trees. Makes fruitless trees fruitful. It is a great fertilizer. Makes trees vigorous in growth and free from vermin. Latter part of February the time to apply.
I invite correspondence.
WM. B. HINES.
Gloster, Miss.

DIVIDENDS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

The following figures are taken from the sworn statements on file in the office of the New York Insurance Commissioner:

The Mutual, Total Dividends 1868 to 1892, 25 Years,	-	$84,520,680
N. Y. Life, " " " " " "	-	40,684,168
Equitable, " " " " " "	-	40,117,610

The Mutual Recently Paid $9,215 on a $3,000 Policy
On the life of a well-known citizen of Louisiana. Examples of this kind can be indefinitely multiplied. The competitors of this Grand Old Company, the largest and oldest in America, can show no results even approaching the above

It Does Make a Difference Where You Insure.

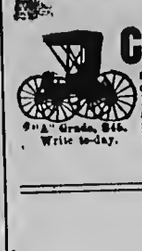
POST & BOWLES,
General Agents The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York,
120 Common Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

R. J. DOWNEY,
Slate Roofer.
Importer and Wholesale Dealer in All Kinds of Roofing Slate.
CENTRAL BANGOR SLATE A SPECIALTY. Contracts Taken in All Southern States.
Send for Prices and Estimates.
Office, 109 St. Charles Street.
P. O. Box 618. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

YOURS FOR A GOOD HARVEST
If you plant Gregory's Seeds. These Seeds, famous through many years, have turned the tide of success toward a great many sowers. Perhaps they are all that you lack. The whole story about
GREGORY'S SEEDS
Is told in Gregory's Catalogue for 1895—a book that helps solve all the problems of planting; sets you right when in doubt; gives in detail the best farming knowledge right up to date. It's free. Ask for it.
J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Seed Growers, Marblehead, Mass.



CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, HARNESS
and Bicycles, at Factory Prices. Work guaranteed and 20 to 40 per cent saved. Our goods received the highest awards at the World's Fair. Our 1895 Mammoth Illustrated Catalogue is free to all. It shows all the latest styles and improvements and reduced prices. It has 200 pages and is the largest and most complete catalogue ever issued. Send for it. It's free. Alliance Carriage Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.
"A" Grade, $45. Write to-day.
"A" Grade, $35. Write to-day.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS TO AGENTS
SELLING THAT NEW AND WONDERFUL BOOK,
"Touching Incidents and Remarkable Answers to Prayer."

Very few people can read this book without weeping. Christians of all denominations recommend it in the highest terms, and the unsaved read it with delight. Bishops, Editors, Pastors and Ministers of all denominations can not say enough in its favor. Many pastors are securing this book and circulating it among their people, and the people are anxious to buy. Clergymen find the sale of it a great help to their support.

The incidents are not only touching, but touch hearts for good. They are impressive, apt and condensed. The Answers to Prayers are among the most remarkable and authentic that can be found.

Many of them were written expressly for this work. Others were gleaned from widely extended sources. Among them may be found choicest selections from

John Wesley,	Martin Luther,	Mark Guy Pearse,	J. W. Reddaid,
Chas. G. Finney,	C. H. Spurgeon,	George Fox,	James Caughey,
John B. Gough,	T. DeWitt Talmage,	Bishop Simpson,	Wm. Clowes,
D. L. Moody,	S. A. Keen,	Edward Payson,	James H. Potts,
George Muller,	Bishop Bowmen,	S. I. Prime,	Frances E. Willard,
John Knox,	B. Fay Mills,	A. B. Simpson,	Mrs. M. G. Cramer,
Mrs. Maggie VanCott,		And Others.

It makes comparatively little difference whether you have had experience as an agent or not. Fairly presented

The Book Sells Itself—Everybody Likes It!
AVERAGE SALE OVER 2,000 PER MONTH.
OVER 2,500 SOLD IN LESS THAN TEN DAYS.

Read a few of the good things said of it:

Western Christian Advocate: "It is simply wonderful. No one can read the book without having his faith in prayer greatly strengthened."

Union Signal (Organ W. C. T. U): "Its high religious tone, its fascinating spirit, and the high rank of its contributors, make it a strong faith tonic and an inspiration to prevailing prayer."

B. Fay Mills: "A wonderful book, an excellent book."

Central Congregationalist: "Many of the incidents are exceedingly pathetic, and can scarcely fail to stir any tender heart to tears. It is a rich mine of illustrations for a preacher, and deserves to be in every minister's library, while no Christian heart can fail to be deeply interested and profoundly stimulated by it toward faith in God."

Methodist Recorder: "It is a well bound book, full of incidents and illustrations for public speakers, and will encourage every reader to greater faith and more earnest prayer."

Christian Herald, edited by T. DeWitt Talmage: "Mr. S. B. Shaw has done a wise thing in making a compilation of Notable Answers to Prayer. Such incidents encourage the desponding Christian and are useful to Christian workers in leading their hearers to pray for themselves."

Christian Arbitrator: "Some of the incidents are very touching; we could only read them with tear-dimmed eyes."

PLEASE NOTICE A FEW WORDS FROM THOSE WHO HAVE SOLD THE BOOK:

"All I do is to show the book, and the response is, 'I'll take one.'"
"Your book is the best seller I ever handled."
"I have shown your book to fourteen different parties and sold to twelve."
"I sold nearly 100 with but very little effort. It gives the best of satisfaction."
"Sold one dozen the same afternoon I received the books."
"Left twenty books at different homes. Called again and eleven bought."
"Sold eight at a small prayer meeting."
"Never succeeded in selling anything before, but sold seven the first afternoon."
"Sold twenty-seven in four days."
"Sold sixteen in two days."
"Canvassed one day, sold nine books."
"My little boy went out, and in three hours sold eight books."

The book contains 320 pages and, open, measures 8 inches by 12 inches.

PRICE BY MAIL OR THROUGH AGENTS, $1.00.

A little girl 13 years old sold the first three hours 13 books, and the second three hours sold 15 books. Sold 25 in one day.

To any person sending us the names and addresses of two or more responsible persons who would be likely to take the agency of the book, we will mail a copy of the book for half price, 50 cents.

AGENTS WANTED. Write at once for Circulars and Terms to

S. B. SHAW,
1188 S. Division St., Grand Rapids, Mich.
(Mention this Paper.)

Half the lamps are used with wrong chimneys. That's one of the reasons why lamps are "not very good."

Get the "Index to Chimneys." Geo. A. Macbeth Co, Pittsburgh, Pa. send it.

Pearl glass, pearl tops, tough glass.

No excuse! You must try it.

Quina-Laroche

FRENCH NATIONAL PRIZE of 16,600 Francs

THE GREAT French Tonic

Your druggist must have it; if not, send name and address to

E. FOUGERA & CO.
26-28 N. William St.
New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, Kings Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

WANTED 1000 MORE BOOK AGENTS for the fastest selling book of the times.

DARKNESS and DAYLIGHT in NEW YORK

By Helen Campbell, and Supt. Byrnes, Chief of N. Y. Police. With at an outlay of his forty years experience as a great detective in N. Y. crime. 710 pages. 250 superb illustrations from photographs of murder. With introduction

By Rev. Lyman Abbott.

Pure and high toned—full of tears and smiles—Minister and child speak. All classes are buying it by thousands. Distance no hindrance, for We Pay Freight, Give Credit, Premium Copies, Free Outfit and Exclusive Territory. Write for Circulars and Specimen Engravings to

A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

Leave Doubtful Seeds alone. The best are easy to get, and cost no more. Ask your dealer for

FERRY'S SEEDS

Always the best. Known everywhere. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1895 tells you what, how, and when to plant. Sent Free. Get it. Address

D. M. FERRY & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

CHURCH ORGANS The Lyon & Healy Church Organs present remarkable value. Prices from $300 for a good instrument of fine tone, suitable for a small church, upward. For $975 an instrument of great power, containing 60 speaking notes, two manuals and pedals. A fine church organ of the highest class, having pneumatic pictures, pneumatic stop-actions, and made of standard measurements adopted by the College of Organists, London, Eng. Indorsed by leading organists everywhere. Fully guaranteed for five years. Sketches, specifications and prices promptly furnished on application. Time payments if desired.

LYON & HEALY, 22 E. Adams St., CHICAGO.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, F. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS, SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O. Please mention this paper.

BUCKEYE CHURCH Bells, Peals and Chimes.

Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin only, and so warranted. Best Hangings and Workmanship in the Country. Highest Award at World's Fair and Gold Medal at Mid-Winter Fair.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
E. W. Vanduzen Co., - Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS IN THE WORLD.

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

1895.

MATTING, MATTING, MATTING.

Having just received SEVERAL CARLOADS of MATTING, we are offering grades from the LOWEST to the HIGHEST at PRICES which will induce all who look them over to purchase.

WALL PAPER,

SHADES,

Rugs and Upholstery

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED,

618 and 620 CAMP ST.

Telephone 139.

HOME CIRCLE.

WORKING OUT THE GOLDEN RULE.

A cup of water timely brought,
An offered easy chair,
A turning of the window blind
That all may feel the air,
An early flower bestowed unasked,
A light and cautious tread,
A voice to softest whispers hushed,
To spare an aching head—
O things like these, though little things,
The purest love disclose,
As fragrant atoms in the air
Reveal the hidden rose.

Concerning Atmospheres.

Good health depends largely upon atmosphere, upon the air you breathe. There is the question of a moral atmosphere, also. And life depends upon it as much for the inner man as for the outer man. The minister's power, the teacher's power, the parent's power, is measured by the atmosphere they create. I know men who preach magnificently; I know teachers whose lessons are a marvel of perfection; but the influence of their lives is not always wholesome—the atmosphere they create by their personality, their habits—isn't wholesome. Once upon a time a young man, in visiting a large city went into a Sunday-school, one of the best in the United States. He went into the young men's class. The teacher, a young man of ability, in one of his illustrations, referred to a visit of his to the theater—the night previous. Somehow, the atmosphere wasn't wholesome to the visitor. Whatever may be said for or against the theater—it isn't a wholesome thing to project theatrical atmosphere into a Sunday-school class. At least so it seemed to the young man visitor.

She was a mother, with several sons. One of them was ready for college. "Oh," she said, "I am so exercised over this matter; I want to be sure of the atmosphere my boy gets into, when he leaves home." Well might she be anxious. For upon atmosphere depends the real life of her boy. It is sometimes said that a teacher's character is not the main consideration, indeed, not a necessary part of a teacher's equipment. It seems to me wholly wrong; the character of the teacher is everything—granted the necessary equipment in other lines. That which is most precious in not a few lives, as they look back to early school days, is not so much what was taught, as the life that was lived by faithful teachers. The first question, it seems to me, that should be asked concerning any man or woman who desires to preach or teach, is not, what sort of a teacher (that is of utmost importance truly), but what sort of a life does he, she, live.

In the engravings accompanying Prof. Drummond's article on Moody in the current McClure's there is one picture worth studying; that of Mrs. Betsey Moody—the great evangelist's mother. You can read the lines of sturdy character, a vigorous, old-fashioned, righteous life in that strong face. Well does Prof. Drummond say: "How this widow shouldered her burden of poverty, debt and care; how she brought up her helpless flock, keeping all together in the old home; educating them, and sending them out into life stamped with her own indomitable courage and lofty principle, is one of those unrecorded histories whose page, when time unfolds it, will be found to contain the secret of nearly all that is greatest in the world's past." Ah, it was the atmosphere which she and many other mothers like her created, which developed such wonderful sons!

Perhaps if this thought were sufficiently appreciated, many a teacher and parent to-day would completely change that method of life and indulgence. I am reminded of this matter as once more the coming of the Christ child is blessedly emphasized upon the heart of the world, "In him was life, and the life was the light of men." Put you a double underscoring under that word "life," and then you understand my meaning. Was it so much what he said and did? No—not so much; but what he was; his life is the light of men! We are in a maze of discussion as to the ethics of Jesus—and a wholesome thing it is. But is it not reversing the true order? To do the Christ-work you must begin with the Christ-life. To live is the first essential. In the "Life and Letters of Lucy Larcom," just from the press, there is a sentence in one of her letters that has burned its way to my heart: "I can think, I can teach, I can write—but can I live?" That is the sum of it all.

As this is the last message I may send you in this year, I may be allowed this preachment; we have taught, we have written, we have preached, in one way and another during 1894; have we lived?

What sort of an atmosphere are you making in your home, your school, your class, your pulpit, your store, your office? What sort of a life are you living?

It is well to be silent and thoughtful as the year dies down into eternity.—Standard.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Warning the Young Men.

Late developments of fraudulent entries, embezzlements, and other dishonest dealings on the part of bank employees in various parts of the land have prompted the presidents of several leading banks in New York City and elsewhere to warn their young men against the dangers of the saloon, the pool-room and the race track. This warning is equally good for young men who are not bank clerks. The fact that these warnings are being administered is but another proof that the standard of conduct in financial circles is higher now than it was some years ago. In railroad circles and in the ranks of commercial travelers, ten or fifteen years ago, the liquor habit was common, and a standard of morals far below that which is now held up to be embodied was tolerated. A higher grade of intelligence, gentlemanliness of deportment, and in all regards a different type of manhood, are among the requirements to-day in the better vocations of life. Apart from all religious considerations, the young man who never goes to a saloon, who never touches liquor or tobacco, who makes no bet, and never ventures into any sort of a gambling game or speculation, will, other things being equal, leave behind him in the race of life his competitors who allow for themselves a looser standard of morals, and a lower type of character. These bank presidents are not concerned, primarily, for the religious growth or life of the young men under them; in warning their employees not to visit saloons or gamble they are considering simply the interests of the bank. Even from this lower standpoint, then, good morals, a temperate and honest life, and decorous conduct, are considered to be good investments. These bank officials did not intend to preach, when they "talked in a fatherly way" to their young men, but they have actually preached a sermon which young folks everywhere would do well to heed. Listen to one of them, Mr. E. H. Pullen, president of the National Bank of the Republic, New York City, as he tells a representative of The Evening Post about the case:

"I have been talking in a kind and fatherly way to the younger clerks in the bank. I have told them that in these days the eyes of the community are keenly fastened upon every one connected with a bank, from the president to the humblest messenger, and that, therefore, it behooves them to form correct habits, and in all their walk and conversation to be such young men that they will inspire confidence and not suspicion and distrust. I have told them that no bank employee can have the habit of frequenting saloons without compromising his trustworthiness in the eyes of his employers and of the public, and without tending to impair the public's absolute confidence in the bank. I have asked them, therefore, to promise me to avoid saloons altogether for their own sakes, for the sake of the bank, and for the general good."—Central Advocate.

"The Girls Did It."

That is, transformed a home from rudeness to refinement.

The parents had lived during their earliest years bent upon the sole aim of making money. They ordered their premises with entire reference to that attainment. If they bought it was upon the plan of adding something to their wealth; if they sold, it was with the one thought that they could have so much to invest for further productiveness. Under such a plan it was impossible for the house to have any other air than that of a place of business, or work, its character as a place of culture, where the mind and higher nature should have higher enjoyment and expansion, being left entirely out of sight; and the man and woman and even the children all seemed to grow up in sympathy with the rougher aspects of life, caring nothing for that which is beautiful and improving. But "the girls" grew up toward young womanhood and found themselves longing for something better then their home afforded them. They had hearts that were craving for intelligence, feeling, and congeniality with the better life around them. They grew tired of the simple hard moil and toil of money-making. Gradually, but surely, they began their work of reformation, and by the skillful management that they knew so well how to employ, they changed the whole life of the household. Its rigors began to relax. Books, newspapers, music, and other attractions had a gradual introduction, and flowers bloomed, and spread their fragrance about the door-yard. The father and mother entered into a new life that thrust itself upon them, and though never, perhaps, blaming themselves for their earlier behavior and experience, they were glad to acknowledge themselves happy amid the pleasures that had been brought them by their children. It was a noble mission nobly fulfilled.—United Presbyterian.

What We Are Reading.

It seems that the tendency of the times is toward a light literature. The dust lies undisturbed upon the substantial volumes in sheep that represent the love of the past, while the right of way in the public mind is given, for the time being, to a pert and catchy literature called periodical. The newspaper with its melange of current calamity and partisan advocacy; the magazine, with its showy illustrations and its unwinnowed burden of subject matter, are filling the public eye to the full. So true is this, that the young man who affects literary acquirement feels that he must swill down indiscriminately the garbage that comes through these channels. He must be able to talk glibly of the "latest article" on the latest and craziest ism; must be on terms of familiar acquaintance with every cheap and shoddy author who moves in the glare of magazine glory. This class of literature has its place; but it has been exalted too much as an educational agency. The constant presentation, through these sheets, of the novel and the sensational, has superinduced an acute morbidness of the public taste that augurs evil for the future. The people are drifting away from the seasoned standards to a sappy and immature literature. Whether or not the mental digestion of the day can stand this strain to which it is being subjected, is a question. Some of our magazines are simply incubators of the brood of anarchists and socialists that are multiplying upon us. Others there are that have no higher mission than that of beguiling the tedium of a railway journey. If our young people become infatuated with such publications, as we fear they are doing; if they accept such as wholesome and standard literature, then we fear that the press of to-day is sowing a harvest of dragon's teeth against a day of woe. It is time we were looking to this danger. Let the old books that have stood the test of time—that have moulded the generations—be brought to the front. Let them take precedence over the frothy and ephemeral stuff that is piling upon our center tables.—Alabama Advocate.

HYGIENE.

Take Care of Your Health.

Why will a man wait until his health fails him before he will begin to take care of it? One never misses his health until he feels sick, nor does he value his strength until weakness overtakes him. Take the "home bell drill" every morning and night, and practice deep breathing the first thing on getting out of bed in the morning and just before going to bed at night.

As one breathes so he lives. The simplest and best breathing exercise is a dozen deep breaths taken a dozen times a day. Wear clothing loose. Don't worry. Don't hurry. Sleep all you can, but go to bed early. Eat plain food and not overmuch of it, and chew that well. Keep your head up, chin in, and the back of your neck close to the back of your collar at all possible times. Don't let a day pass over your head without taking enough exercise to produce free perspiration. Keep the bowels open by eating laxative foods and doing body-bending exercises. Drink a glass of cool water as soon as you get out of bed, and keep your bed-room windows open a little at the top and bottom the year round, more in Summer and less in Winter. The smooth, evenly developed body is the most enduring, and is produced by a moderate amount of varied, hygienic, body building work taken daily.

Follow out these few health hints and they will not shorten your life by a single day; but if you do not, you will surely cut off your physical life by months and years according to the amount of your sinfulness.—Robt. J. Roberts, in Young Men's Era.

Catching Cold.

Very severe colds are caught indoors, the result of indigestion or foul air. A cold is frequently brought on by eating a hearty dinner, becoming mentally absorbed for two or three hours immediately afterwards, and retiring to a warm, close room. The food is not digested, the temperature of the body is raised by the exertions of the stomach, the sleep is broken and the individual rises chilled and ill. Had relaxation followed the dinner, and the room been supplied with refreshing air, everything would have been different.—Presbyterian Messenger.

On an average, according to the statistics of life insurance companies, the man who drinks, even moderately, cuts thirteen years off his life, that being the difference between the average age attained by drinkers and total abstainers. This does not take into account the loss of efficiency, time, character, influence, health and happiness during the lifetime shortened by the thirteen years. And yet with the knowledge of this deterioration, and this shortening, men deliberately take up a habit by means of which they go on to death. Surely life has its enigmas.—Lutheran World.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

BAKED TOMATOES STUFFED WITH RICE.—Simply cut off the small ends of the tomatoes and remove the seeds. Boil the rice for ten minutes; a quarter of a cup will be quite sufficient for eight tomatoes. Fill in the vacancies with this boiled rice, and place a slice of onion over the top of it. Put a tablespoonful of butter into a baking pan with a tablespoonful of water. Put the tomatoes in and bake slowly for thirty minutes, basting frequently. When ready to serve remove the onion, dish the tomatoes and pour the sauce around them.—Household News.

SCOTCH EGGS.—Boil five eggs very hard, take off the shells and cover the whites with a veal forcemeat, highly seasoned. Brush them over with the yolk of a beaten egg, breadcrumb them, and fry them a nice brown, and serve them whole with a little good gravy in the dish.—American Cultivator.

GRAHAM BREAD.—To three small cupfuls of white flour sponge add a tablespoonful of molasses or sugar, half a teacup of corn meal; salt to taste, and half a pint of warm milk or water, with enough graham flour to make a stiff dough. When light, fill the baking pans half full, and when risen, bake.

IT'S A MILLSTONE

About a young man's neck to be a sufferer from nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, low spirits, irritable temper, and the thousand and one derangements of mind and body that result from unnatural, pernicious habits, contracted through ignorance. Such habits result in loss of manly power, wreck the constitution and sometimes produce softening of the brain, epilepsy, paralysis, and even dread insanity.

To reach, re-claim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and reference thereto, by home treatment, of sexual weakness. This book will be sent sealed by the New York Social Purity Society on receipt of ten cents in stamps for postage. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

H. P. BUCKLEY.

8 Camp Street,

DEALER IN

FINE WATCHES.

Jewelry, Silverware and Spectacles.

Large Stock of American Watches.

Watches and Jewelry Repaired.

Southern Pacific Company.

Sunset Route.

THE DIRECT and FAST LINE

TO ALL PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Standard Gauge Short Line to the

City of Mexico

Elegant Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Service to

GALVESTON, SAN ANTONIO, EL PASO and FORT WORTH, Texas,

DENVER, Colorado,

LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO, California,

and to the CITY OF MEXICO.

For full information regarding rates, time and sleeping-car reservations, apply to company's ticket office, Cor. Canal and St. Charles streets.

J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traf. Mgr. S. F. B. MORSE, G. P. and T. A.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

In connection with the Southern Pacific Co., is now running a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Buffet Sleeper

To connect direct at Avondale (suburb of New Orleans) with the Southern Pacific's new, fast, solid vestibule train, the "Sunset Limited," for Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This car for

CALIFORNIA —VIA— NEW ORLEANS

Is run on Illinois Central Train No. 1, and leaves stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY WEDNESDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY THURSDAY. THROUGH RESERVATIONS to the Pacific Coast. In addition there is run a

WEEKLY PULLMAN Tourist Sleeper

THROUGH WITHOUT CHANGE, to Los Angeles, via Avondale, by the same route and train, leaving stations, Cairo to Durant, EVERY THURSDAY, and stations from Goodman south EVERY FRIDAY. Ticket

RATES AS LOW AS BY ANY OTHER ROUTE

Tickets and full information as to rates and train time can be had of agents of the Central Route and connecting lines, or by addressing F. B. BOWES, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

THE PIANO

is a member of the family. See, then, that it is a creditable one, for it puts its stamp on the household.

If it is merely for ornament, get a piece of cabinet work to suit your taste. Be sure that so much is good, and never mind the rest. But if you want a musical yoke-fellow to work with and play with, be careful. Get the best all through, but without paying more than the best must necessarily cost.

Our warerooms are crowded with new and elegant styles fresh from factory. Come and see them or write us for catalogues, etc.

LUDDEN & BATES
Southern Music House,
SOLE AGENTS FOR THE STEINWAY PIANO.
MS ROYAL ST., - - NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MARRIAGES.

BANSON—BRANTLEY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Lake Charles, La., Feb. 14, 1895, by Rev. Robt. J. Harp, Mr. Sidney P. Hanson, of the parish of Plaquemines, La., to Miss Minnie Brantley, of Lake Charles, La.

CLARK—NIXON.—At the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Rebecca McKenzie, of Lake Charles, La., Feb 25, by Rev. Robt. J. Harp, Mr. Wm T. Clark to Miss Fannie Nixon, all of Lake Charles, La.

BROWN—LOWERY.—In the Methodist Church, Pelahatchie, Miss., Feb. 10, 1895, by Rev. Henry E. Partridge, Mr. T. Whit Brown and Miss Emma Lowery.

KELLY—AMIS.—At the residence of W. B. Thornton, Esq., Conehatta, Miss., Feb 12, 1895, by Rev. Irvin Miller, Mr. Eugene Kelly, of Newton, Miss., to Miss Elva Amis.

FOSTER—McKEE.—At the residence of Dr. L. H. Jones, Phœnix, Yazoo county, Miss., Feb. 19, 1895, by Rev. Geo. W. Alexander, Mr. Geo. T. Foster to Miss Ruth McKee, all of Yazoo county, Miss.

SEVIER—CAMBELL.—At the Methodist parsonage, Macon, Miss., Jan. 24, 1895, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Dr. R. J. Sevier, of Savannah, Tenn., and Miss Jennie Cambell, of Corinth, Miss.

SHEARER—LONGSTREET.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Feb. 19, 1895 by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr. T. N. Shearer, of Starkville, Miss., and Miss Bessie B. Longstreet, of Macon, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

MOUNT—On Friday, Feb. 1, at 12 M., Mrs. WILLIAM S. MOUNT (nee Grayson) passed away in the seventy-second year of her age. She has lived for some years at McComb City, Miss., where she died.

For many years she resided in this city Her husband was formerly cashier of the New Orleans Bank, and subsequently city treasurer. Both of them were all the while identified with the Methodist Church; members of Poydras Street, and then of Felicity Street, until they removed to McComb. They were active in all the work of sustaining and advancing by every possible means these two churches. Mrs. Mount was ready and handy in every enterprise looking that way, and they were both generous to a fault. He was for a long time president of the School Board, and was prominent at all the public exhibitions of the city schools. Many were the deeds of kindly and substantial charity to which young persons, and old, could testify, as coming from this source in their hour of need.

Mrs Mount was of a lively, cheerful nature, fond of entertaining, and was always attractive to young people, and surrounded by them. She lived for her friends. They both lived to know great changes of fortune and the loss of health, but continued true to the Savior.

Their children—two sons and three daughters—were reared in the atmosphere of religion, and have now the supreme pleasure of the memory of their parents dying in the faith. She gave a clear response to the minister's last question.

Southern Methodism of the present, in this city, will never know how much was accomplished, socially and spiritually, for it by these and the kindred spirits who made up its membership before the war. The major part of them have gone, but they have a good record on high, and their memory is very pleasant to us. J. C. KEENEN.

BARNES—Mr. JAMES F. BARNES was born in Tennessee, July 24, 1826, and died at his home near Fearn Springs, Winston county, Miss., Dec. 3, 1894.

When quite a young man he married Miss Elisabeth Luke, with whom he lived the remainder of his life. They had only one child, a son—John T. Barnes—who has been truly a great blessing to them in their declining years, and his grief-stricken mother now shares the comforts of his pleasant home. Mr. Barnes joined the Methodist Church while in the prime of life, and was an esteemed member of Hickory Grove Church when he died.

He was a good man, a highly respected citizen, a good provider and a generous neighbor. Truthfulness and honesty characterized him through life. He delighted in paying his debts and dealing fairly with his fellow-man; and, above all, he was a Christian.

What a priceless heritage to bequeath to his offspring! His aged wife sadly misses his dear presence; his son, his wise counsel; his grandchildren, his fond caress and tender care, and his daughter-in-law, his helping hand in the care of the dear little ones. He was a kind, doting grandfather.

May the good Lord comfort the bereaved family! is the prayer of a sympathizing

FRIEND.

WRIGHT—Mrs. MARY BEATTY WRIGHT, daughter of Mr. Washington Green, was born in Warren county, Miss., Sept. 15, 1842, and died at her residence, four miles south of Vicksburg, on Jan. 15, 1895, at 7:30 o'clock P. M.

She was married in December, 1859, in New Orleans, by the Rev. Dr. Palmer, but was left a widow years ago. Four children survive her—one son and three daughters.

She was converted and became a member of the M. E. Church, South, soon after her marriage, and has ever since led a devoted Christian life, enjoying religion and showing a strong attachment to the church of her choice.

She had a long and painful illness, but was patient in all her sufferings, never permitting a murmur to escape her lips. Her neighbors and friends were very attentive during her illness, and to all, as they came and went, she spoke words of kindness and Christian encouragement. She was very fond of the songs of Zion, and would often clap her hands and praise God aloud as they would be sung at her bedside. A special favorite with her was, "Is not this the land of Beulah?" The triumph and rapture expressed in the song found a counterpart in her new experience. It was a privilege to visit her and witness her rejoicing, and to hear her talk of heaven. The last words she was able to articulate were, "Holy Spirit." This was probably an invocation of the Holy Spirit's guidance. No doubt she had his rod and his staff to comfort her as she passed through the valley and shadow of death. C. G. ANDREWS.

MYSE—On Sunday morning, Jan. 6, 1895, Mrs. SARAH R. MYSE died at the residence of her son-in-law, Dr. E. F. Shuler, Sallis, Miss., and by the beautiful setting of the Sabbath sun was quietly laid to rest. She was born near Columbia, S. C., in 1813, thus being well past her fourscore years. God honored her with a long and useful life, such as few enjoy.

Though for some time having been confined to the house, she was always cheerful, greeting everyone with a smile. She was patient under severe suffering, never complaining for fear of giving another trouble. Ever ready to help those in need, preferring to serve rather than to be served, her mission was, indeed, to lighten the burdens of others. In this life she chose the humbler seat, waiting for the promised reward "over there."

Her grandchildren were her constant care, and nothing seemed too difficult to do for them. Five children—three sons and two daughters—and a large number of grandchildren are left to mourn her death; but let us be comforted, for we are assured that, crowned with everlasting joys, our mother is resting from her labors in our Father's house of many mansions.

Sleep on, dear mother,
Take thy rest;
God called thee home,
He thought B[illegible]t.

M. A. S.

WATSON—WM. A. WATSON was [illegible]n May 1, 1820, and died near Tulip, La., Dec. 8, 1894. He embraced religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, at about fifteen years of age, and from that time to death was an active member thereof.

Bro. Watson was twice happily married, and leaves a widow and several sons and daughters and a host of relatives to mourn their loss. They mourn not, however, as those without hope, for they expect to see him again.

He is greatly missed in the family, the social circle, and the church; but to their credit and God's glory, his sons are taking his place in God's house, in which he was so long a pillar.

May the blessings of God rest upon the bereaved family, community, and church!

THOS. J. UPTON.

DENHAM—EDDY, son of G. M. and L. E. Denham, age not quite sixteen years old, died near Thomasville, Rankin county, Miss., Oct. 18, 1894.

Eddy's last year on earth was spent in God's service, and he had the courage of his convictions. His father and other old church members might refuse to pray in the prayer meeting, but Eddy would pray anywhere. So pure and noble was his life that to know him was to love him; and when death came he was ready to bid his loved ones farewell and ask the Lord to take him home. So he passed away, and no doubt met his mother at the beautiful gate, for she had gone on ten years before and was waiting and watching for him. T. J MILLER.

I, A. C. Haffadinger, do say consumption can be cured by Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. My mother, years ago, contracting a terrible cough soon became unable to attend to her household duties. Prominent physicians pronounced it incurable consumption. We knew of Dr. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and commenced giving it to her. Before two bottles had been taken an improvement was noticed, and by the time one dozen bottles had been consumed she was well, and has never been troubled since. We have recommended it to many and always have it in the house. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, bronchitis, it is without a rival. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

He that doubts the existence of mind by doubting, proves it.—Colton.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair highest Award.

The way to fame is like the way to heaven—through much tribulation.—Sterne.

PIMPLES

Freckles, Blotches, Ringworm, Eczema, Scald Head, Tetter, and all other skin disorders positively cured with

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

If you would have soft, smooth and healthy skin, free from all imperfections, use constantly

HEISKELL'S SOAP.

Price 25 cts. Send Stamp for Free Sample
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., PHILA.

WOOD AND COAL.

F. J. MURRAY, Rampart and St. Andrew sts.—Ash, Oak and Pine Wood, cut 12 and 16 inch lengths, with electric machine. Ash and Oak split load $2.25, Oak and Pine $2, split Pine $1.25, pine blocks $1.50. Pissed inside premises. Unsawed Wood, and Coal at lowest rates.

Are You Fortified?

When you are in a low state of health, and on the verge of illness, there is no nourishment in the world like to restore strength. Scott's Emulsion nourishes, strengthens, promotes the making of solid flesh, enriches the blood and tones up the whole system.

Scott's Emulsion

TRADE MARK.

For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Consumption, Scrofula, Anæmia, Loss of Flesh, Thin Babies, Weak Children, and all conditions of Wasting.

Buy only the genuine! It has our trade-mark on salmon-colored wrapper.

Send for pamphlet on Scott's Emulsion. FREE.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50 cents and $1.

Pianos | On $5, $7 and $10 Monthly Payments.

Organs | On $3, $4 and $5 Monthly Payments.

Send for Catalogues and Prices.

All Organs and Pianos Fully Guaranteed.

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street, - - - - New Orleans, La.

Office Telephone 82. Yard Telephone 831.

Pennsylvania Coal Company,
Office, 67 Carondelet Street,
PITTSBURG COAL, Wholesale and Retail.
Cotton Presses, Factories and the Family Trade, supplied at lowest market rates.
L. S. WIDNEY,.....Manager.
CITY YARDS—Foot of Robin St.; Foot of Desire St.; and Corner Valence and Magazine Sts.

The National Photographers' Association

Pronounced the views which were taken by special commission for the

HOLY LAND ART PORTFOLIOS

.....TO BE.....

"The Finest Photographs that Ever Came from the East."

* * * * *

These Superb Views are not confined to Palestine proper, but picture scenes from Egypt and the Nile, the Pyramids, Asia Minor, Greece, Rome,

AND THE Archipelagic Islands.

* * * * *

Over 800 Splendid Photographs

All secured this year and truthfully mirroring as they exist today

Ancient Cities, Magnificent Mosques,
Sacred Shrines, Historic Highways,
Ruined Temples, Traditional Tombs,
Famous Churches, Beautiful Gardens,
Holy Fields, Storied Museums,

Statues, Mummies, Pyramids, Citadels, Castles, Mountains, Valleys, Hospitals, Gates, Towers, Grottoes, Wells, Fountains, Monasteries, Aqueducts, Villages, Rivers, Seas, Fords, Falls, Amphitheaters, Pillars, Columns, Bridges, Cataracts, Markets, Quays, Piers, Harbors, Vases, Panels, Sarcophagi, Monuments, Prisons, Streets, Plazas, Residences, Libraries, Academies, Gymnasiums, Theaters, Altars, Pedestals, Walls, Interiors, Canals, Aquariums, Inscriptions, Forums, Baths, Arches, Obelisks, Driveways, and Panoramic Views of Ancient and Modern Cities as they now appear.

Also picturing the inhabitants of every land visited—all of which are reflected in the new Religio-Educational Fine Art Series,

EARTHLY FOOTSTEPS OF THE MAN OF GALILEE.

* * * * *

How to Secure the Series.

Subscribe for the New Orleans Christian Advocate.
See terms on the eighth page.

FRANTZ & OPITZ.
17 BOURBON ST., near Canal,
Watchmakers and Jewelers,
AND DEALERS IN
DIAMONDS, WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, STATUARY, Opera Glasses, Solid Silver, Plated Ware, Pens and Pencils, Gold Specs, Eye Glasses, Cutlery, etc.
Diamonds and other Precious Stones Reset in the Latest Styles, and all kinds of Jewelry made to order and repaired.

W. W. CARRÉ.
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,
Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... and Coke.
Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS.
nnt feb8

THE OXFORD BIBLE

A whole library of Scriptural knowledge in a small compass, adapted for all classes.

First American TYPE-SET Edition

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' EDITION.

Possession of this edition will obviate the necessity of a number of books, while it will concentrate the mind of the student on his work. MINION, 12mo Size, 5 x 7 x 1 1-2 inches.

From NEW TYPE-SET PLATES made in America. Word for word and page for page, a fac-simile of the Oxford Edition. With References, Helps and Maps.

THIS is not a photo reproduction, but a fac-simile of the English Edition, made from new type set plates and beautifully printed on extra quality of paper. The binding is the desirable Divinity Circuit style from the best American Leather, with leather lining inside, round corners, gold edges and ribbon marker.

The Oxford Helps, contained in this edition and comprising nearly 400 pages, are, as all thorough Bible students well know, the result of years of careful labor and research by the most eminent Biblical scholars and divines of the day, who have brought them to that point of perfection where they are unquestionably the most thorough, concise, authoritative and convenient explanatory Cyclopedia of Biblical Information extant. Few people will care to purchase a Bible without helps, now that a perfect Oxford Bible can be had at a reasonable price.

SPECIMEN OF TYPE.

46 Jacob sendeth Benjamin. GENESIS, 43. Joseph entertaineth his brethren.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Jacob unwillingly sendeth Benjamin. 14 Joseph entertaineth his brethren. 29 He by seeing Benjamin.

Before CHRIST 1707. Before CHRIST 1705.

AND the famine was a sore in the land. a ch. 41. 54, 57.
2 And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.
3 And Judah spake unto him, saying, a ch. 44. 1. b Heb. till a fulness. 1 Sam. 2. 5. c Heb. eat.
16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready; for these men shall dine with me at noon.
17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.
18 And the men were afraid, because they were brought into Joseph's house;

CELEBRATED DIVINITY CIRCUIT LEATHER BINDING.

The Most Perfect Teachers' Oxford Bible

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS,
Forming a Complete SCRIPTURE ATLAS.

OXFORD HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with context, over 40,000 references. Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 references. Scripture Atlas, with Index. Glossary of Bible Words. Bible Calendar. Dictionary of Proper Names, with their meaning and pronunciation. Summary and Analysis of the Old and New Testament.
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry.
A Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

1 The Title of the Bible.
6 The Canon of Scripture.
3 Versions of the Scriptures.
4 Genuineness and Integrity of the Old Testament.
5 Summary of the Books of the Old Testament.
6 Summary of the Books of the Apocrypha.
7 Chronology of the Old Testament.
8 Genealogy from Adam to Jacob.
9 Itinerary of the Journeyings of the Israelites to their settlement in Canaan.
10 Miracles of the Old Testament.
11 Parables of the Old Testament.
12 Special prayers in the Old Testament.
13 Brief Historical Summary of the Interval between the Old and New Testaments.
14 Genuineness and Integrity of the New Testament.
15 Summary of the Books of the New Testament.
16 Harmony of the Gospels.
17 Our Lord's Miracles.
18 Our Lord's Parables.
19 Names, Titles and Offices of Christ.
20 Prophecies relating to Christ
21 Recorded Appearances of Christ after His Resurrection.
22 Family of the Herods.
23 Chronology of the Acts and Epistles
24 Paul's Missionary Journeys.
25 Paul's Voyage to Rome.
26 Special Prayers in the New Testament.
27 Passages from the Old Testament quoted in the New Testament.
28 References to the Old Testament not being exact Quotations.
29 References in the New Testament to Incidents recorded in the Old Testament.

BIBLE LANDS.
(Their Inhabitants, Conformation, Principal Characteristics, etc.)

30 Ethnology of the Jews and their Neighbors.
31 Jewish Sects and Parties
32 The Jewish Year
33 Geography and Topography of the Holy Land.
34 Mountains of the Bible.
35 Rivers, Lakes, etc., of the Bible.
36 Animals of the Bible.
37 Birds found in Palestine.
38 Reptiles of the Bible
39 Aquatic Animals of the Bible.
40 Insects of the Bible.
41 Trees, Plants, Flowers, etc., of the Bible.
42 Geology of the Bible.
43 Precious Stones of the Bible.
44 Music and Musical Instruments of the Bible.
45 Weights and Measures.
46 A Glossary of Antiquities, Customs, etc.

INDICES, ETC.

Words, Obsolete and Ambiguous.
Subject-Index to the Bible.
Concordance.
Dictionary of Scripture Proper Names, with their pronunciations and meanings.
Index to Scripture Atlas.
Scripture Atlas.

It is impossible to give in this limited space more than a brief description of this beautiful American Edition of the Bible, and we may say that this is the first time it has been possible to OFFER IT AS A PREMIUM.

The publisher's retail price of this elegant book is $4.50; and it is cheap at that. Many Bibles no better than this are sold at a price ranging from one to two dollars higher. We will send it postpaid to any address on receipt of price. We will do a great deal better than this for our subscribers. We will send it postpaid to any new subscriber (we mean one who subscribes after this date) for $2. Old subscribers can have it at the same rate, provided they will pay up to June, '96, and provided they have not had the benefit of any previous offer. Those who have had the benefit of other offers can avail themselves of this also by paying up to December, '96 Better still, any subscriber who will pay his own subscription to June, '96, can secure it free by sending us four new subscriptions at the regular rate, $2. Moreover, we will give to each new subscriber thus secured a copy of any one of the fifteen poets, or a copy of any book in the Handy Volume series. If you can not secure four new subscribers, get one or two, and we will allow fifty cents on each.

Better still: For the benefit of those who desire a genuine Oxford Bible at a still lower rate we have made arrangements with one of the leading Bible publishers in America whereby we can offer a beautiful Oxford Bible, four by five and a half inches, pearl type, French Seal, divinity circuit, round corners, as a premium for only two new subscribers. In order to get the benefit of this offer one must be himself a subscriber and must have paid his subscription to June, '96 We will send this Book, postpaid, to any address on receipt of $1.62.

We make no promise as to how long this offer will last. Therefore, don't delay.

Address Rev. W. C. BLACK,
413 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

By a fall of two buildings in the course of erection in New York City, last week, five persons were killed and eight seriously wounded.

The smuggling of whisky into Alaska has reached such dimensions that the government has decided to take a hand in its suppression. The revenue cutter Corwin has been dispatched for the purpose.

The Fifty-third Congress adjourned on March 4. All the appropriation bills were passed and signed. Ex-Speaker Reed refused to vote for the resolution tendering the thanks of the members of the House to Speaker Crisp.

New Jersey has just repealed by an overwhelming majority its law providing for a State Board of Arbitration, which did not arbitrate. The reasons assigned are that the members of the Board drew $3,500 a year for services which were valueless and charged large sums for mileage though riding on free passes.

On last Saturday the first public session of the Louisiana Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, established at the last meeting of the State Legislature, was held, and the proceedings were naturally watched with a good deal of interest. The matter engaging the attention of the Board was the existing labor troubles on the levee in this city, which for some time past have affected the commerce of the port.

With the final passage of the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill by the House of Representatives, on March 2, the payment of eight-tenths of a cent per pound bounty on the sugar crop of 1894 is assured, as well as the full amount of the unpaid bounty claims on the crop of 1893. It is generally believed that, with the payment of these claims, the sugar producers of Louisiana will be enabled to meet all their obligations due to the cultivation and marketing of the last crop.

A gang of white longshoremen, composed of members of the Jefferson Parish Longshoremen's Association, shouldered their guns and marched in solid column to the wharves in Gretna last week, and by dint of threats and firing of Winchester rifles frightened negro longshoremen into fleeing from their work on the Markomannia, a Hamburg-American Line steamship, which was being loaded with cotton seed products at the wharf in that suburb. Almost the same scenes that made memorable the levee riots on this side of the river some months ago were renewed in Gretna.

A powerful element in working the bounty through the House was the personal popularity of the members of the Louisiana delegation, and harmony between them. Usually concert of action in congressional delegations is marred by petty jealousies, the ambition or egotism of individuals, but the Louisiana members and the senators likewise allowed no feelings of this sort to interfere with the attainment of the general result, for which all labored ardently and constantly, believing that in obtaining over $5 000 000 for the State they would be doing the whole community, without regard to section, a great service.

FOREIGN.

A fire in Toronto, on March 3, destroyed property to the amount $1,000,000.

It is believed that the revolution in Cuba is practically at an end. The entire island is under martial law.

A new Irish land bill was introduced into the House of Commons on March 4. The bill is for the protection of tenants.

The influenza epidemic in London is still causing havoc among the prominent men in and out of Parliament. The disease has spread with greater rapidity than any of the previous four epidemics of influenza.

By the death, on March 2, of ex-Prof. John Stuart Blackie, at his residence in Edinburgh, Scotland loses one of her choicest sons, literature one of her brightest spirits, and the world one of her healthiest and most picturesque men. He was born in Glasgow in 1809.

One of the most frightful accidents in the history of the Mexican railroads, resulting in the killing of 104 persons and the serious, if not fatal injury of nearly 100 others, occurred, on Feb. 28, on the Interoceanic railroad, at a point about twenty-five miles from the city of Mexico. The engine left the rails while rounding a curve, and carried three coaches with it over the precipice.

The wealth which George Peabody left for the poor of London in the shape of model tenements now amounts to $5,500 000. Twenty thousand people now live comfortably in the 11,300 rooms he constructed. The average rental of the rooms is but 54 cents a week.

Pure Rich Blood is essential to good health, because the blood is the vital fluid which supplies all the organs with life. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, harmless, effective, do not pain or gripe.

Seashore District.

The following committees for Seashore district for 1895 have been appointed:

License to Preach (Admission on Trial)—T. W. Adams, C. F. Emery, H. D. Howell.

Deacon's Orders—Robert Selby, N. B. Harmon, W. T. Beall.

Elder's Orders—W. G. Forsyth, J. G. Sibley, G. W. Huff.

The Seashore District Conference will be held at Biloxi instead of Columbia. The inaccessibleness of Columbia is the sole reason for the change. C. A. POWELL, P. E.

For Dyspepsia

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. O. I. HALBERT, Waco, Texas, says: "I have used it in dyspepsia, with good effect."

Vicksburg District.

The District Conference will be held in Bolton, and the following are the Committees of Examination:

For License to Preach—C. G. Andrews, W. M. Stevens, C. D. Cecil.

For Admission on Trial—J. P. Drake, J. W. Crisler, H. M. Ellis.

For Deacon's Orders—T. W. Brown, G. A. Guice, W. L. Linfield.

For Elder's Orders—J. D. Crymes, A. D. Miller, F. M. Williams.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

If the hair is falling out and turning gray, the glands of the skin need stimulating and color-food, and the best remedy and stimulant is Hall's Hair Renewer.

Conference Board of Missions, Louisiana Annual Conference.

Received for foreign missions for

Rayne Memorial Sunday-school	$10 69
Louisiana Avenue Sunday-school	16 92
Desoto—Rev. S. S. Holladay, "Do-without Week"	8 15
Lonisiana Avenue—Rev. C. M. Lyons, "Do-without Week"	7 69
Total	$48 45

W. B. THOMSON, Treas.,
233 S. Rampart St., New Orleans.

March 2, 1895.

Secure a Position.

Wanted for office work, on salary, in most every county in the South and West, a young lady or gentleman. Those from the country also accepted. Experience not necessary: in fact, prefer beginners at a small salary at first, say to begin, from $30 to $60 a month.

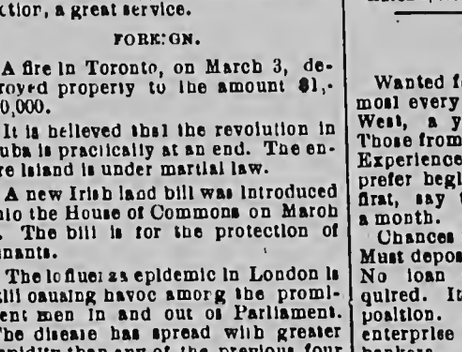
Chances for rapid promotion GOOD. Must deposit in bank cash, about $100 No loan asked; no investment required. It is a salaried and permanent position. (Strictly office work.) The enterprise is strongly endorsed by bankers. Address P. O. Box 433, Nashville, Tenn. (Mention this paper.)

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

An International Congress on Childhood is to be soon held in Florence. The questions to be discussed are the physical, moral and mental elevation of the little ones, children's hospitals, the care of the deaf, dumb and blind, reformatories and mediocrity.



"My Trade will take anything I give them; they believe what I tell them; and I mean to sell them what I make the most on."

That is what one grocer actually gives as a reason for selling washing-powders—imitations—instead of the original and best washing-compound—Pearline. If grocers and customers were all like these, the millions of women who are now blessing Pearline would still be doing useless hard work. But when you come across such a dealer, don't let him put you off with anything except Pearline. 287 JAMES PYLE, New York.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DISTRICT—SECOND ROUND.

Tocapola	Mar. 16, 17
Ebey	23, 24
Tatum	30, 31
Grenada station	Apr. 6, 7
Oxford station	13, 14
Charleston	20, 21
Coffeeville	27, 28
Grenada circuit	May 4, 5
Paris	11, 12
Chapel Hill	18, 19
Pittsboro	22
Atlanta	25, 26
Water Valley station	June 1, 2
Water Valley circuit	15, 16
Minter City and Strathmore	22, 23

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Senatobia	Mar. 9, 10
Hernando	16, 17
Sardis	23, 24
Batesville, at Wesley Chapel	30, 31
Como, at McGee's	Apr. 6, 7
Panola, at Tirzah	13, 14
Morgansville, at Cole Springs	14, 15
Courtland, at Eureka	20, 21
Nesbit, at Eodora	27, 28
Tyro, at Mt Vernon	May 4, 5
Wall Hill, at ——— (Wed.)	8
Cockrum, at ———	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at ——— (Thurs.)	13
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel	18, 19
Pleasant Grove, at ———	25, 26

H. O. MORRHEAD, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

McNutt	Mar. 2, 3
Sidon	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	16, 17
Black Hawk	23, 24

J. B. STONE, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bolivar	Mar. 3
Hollondale	10
Arcola	17
Friar's Point	24

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Stewart circuit, at South Union	Mar. 1
Kupora circuit, at Empora	2, 3
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	9, 10
Chester circuit, at Chester	16, 17
Ackerman circuit, at Liberty Hill	23, 24
Rural Hill circuit, at White Hall	29
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	30, 31

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Summit, at Bayon Chitto	Mar. 16, 17
C. Springs	23 24
Caseyville, at P. Valley	30, 31
Adams, at Bethel	Apr. 6, 7
Martinsville, at P. Ridge	13, 14
Brookhaven (7:30 P. M.)	17
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	20, 21
McComb City	27, 28
Wesson (7:30 P. M.)	May 3
N. Wesson, at M. Chapel	4, 5
Whitestown, at Pisgah	11, 12
Providence	13, 19
Hazlehurst, at ———	25, 26
Pleasant Grove	June 1, 2
China Grove, at Tylertown	15, 16
Magnolia and Osyka, at O	22, 23

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Silver Creek and B. L., at B L (Sat.)	Mar. 2
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	6, 4
Camden, at Sorock Chapel	9, 10
Tranquil circuit at Locust Grove	16, 17
Sharon circuit, at Mount Pleasant	23, 24
Jackson cir., at Flag Chapel (Wed.)	27
Fannin circuit, at Fannin	30, 31

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Indian Mission, at Tell Chniok	Mar. 1
Livewood, at Bethel	2, 3
Neshoba at Mars' Hill	9, 10
Rose Hill, at Missionary	16, 17

R. J. JONES, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ocean Springs and Scranton, at O. S.	Mar. 2, 3
Whittington, at Coleville (Wed., Thurs.)	6, 7
Bay St. Louis, at B St. L	9, 10
Augusta, at Isabella	16, 17
Black Creek, at Mt. Zion	23, 24

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Leakville	9, 10
Williamsburg	16, 17
Mount Carmel	23, 24

L. CARLEY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Westville, at Westville	Mar. 2, 3
Brandon station	9, 10
Steen's Creek and Mis., at Marvin	15, 13
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove	23, 24
Homewood, at Homewood	25
Trenton, at Gasque	29
Montrose, at Montrose	30, 31

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mayersville, at Beulah	Mar. 2, 3
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	9, 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	16, 17
Mt. Olivet, at Bentonia	23, 24
South Warren, at Willes' Chapel	30, 31

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

N. Wilkinson	Mar. 2, 3
Homo Chitto	9, 10
Amite	16, 17
Mesdville	23, 24
Washington	Apr. 6, 7

L. S. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

DELHI DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Oakley and Vidalia, at Vidalia	Mar. 9, 10
Winsboro, at Magnolia	16, 17
Rayville, at Girard	23, 24
Calhoun, at Cadesville	30, 31
West Monroe, at Faulk's	Apr. 6, 7
Monroe, at Monroe	13, 14
Bastrop, at Bastrop	20, 21
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	27, 28
Delhi, at Talluish	May 4, 5
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	11, 12
Water Proof, at ———	13, 19
Harrisonburg, at ———	25, 26
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	June 1, 2

District Conference at Oak Ridge, beginning May 29, and including June 5.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Opelousas	Mar. 2, 3
Lafayette	9, 10
Plaquemine Brulee and Rayne, at P. B.	16, 17
Crowley	23, 24
Prudhomme, at Prudhomme City	30, 31
Lake Charles	Apr. 6, 7
West Lake	13, 14
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	20, 21
Berwick...preaching at 11 on Sun.)	23, 27
Morgan City (preach at night, Sun.)	28, 29
Patterson	May 4, 5
Franklin	6, 7
Jeanerette	11, 12
Indian Bayou	14, 15
Abbeville at Prairie Oregg	16, 19
New Iberia	25 26
Grand Chenière, at Grane Chenière	June 1, 2
Washington	8, 9
Lake Arthur, at Lacasine	15, 16

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Frankinton, at Fisher's	Mar. 2, 3
Amite City, at Roseland	9, 10
St. Helena, at Greensburg	16, 17
Pine Grove, at Pikin's	17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 2, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bosser, at Mount Pleasant	16, 17
Adaicoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G	23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Glenmora	Mar. 2, 3
Atlanta, at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	16, 17
Lecompte, at Lecompte	23, 24
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	30, 31

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 3
Rayne Memorial	10
Tallisheek	17
Felicity Street	24
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vienna, at Vienna	Mar. 2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gansville at Gansville	23, 24
Homer, at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr. 6, 7

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

RUDY'S PILE SUPPOSITORY

Is guaranteed to cure Piles and Constipation or money refunded. 50 cents per box. Send two stamps for circular and Free Sample to MARTIN RUDY, Registered Pharmacist, Lancaster, Pa. NO POSTAGE ANSWERED. For sale by all first-class druggists everywhere. I. L. Lyons & Co., Wholesale Agents, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
California Table Apricots,
3 lb. can 10 cents.

Notice.

The Greenville District Preachers' Association will meet at Gunnisoo, Miss., March 14, 15, 1895.

Following is the program:

1. Denominational Loyalty—E. S. Lewis, J. M. Bradley.
2. Punctuality—J. R. Coonties.
3. The Methodist Idea of Sanctification—J. J. Brooks, J. L. Bowling.
4. Ought a Preacher to Read Largely of History?—T. Y. Ramsey.
5. Wesleyan Arminianism—J. C. Brown, H. P. Crowe.
6. History of Missions—J. C. Mimms.
7. The Outlook for Missions—H. S. Spraggins.
8. Obligation of the World to Support the Church—H. T. Gaines.
9. Enforcement of Discipline—C. H. Pittman.
10. How to Reach and Hold the Children—H. P. Gibbs, R. H. B. Gladney.
11. How to Make Pastoral Visiting Most Productive of Good—J. M. Wyatt, W. H. Sanders.
12. The Church Conference, and How to Hold It—J. A. Randolph.

Sermon on Catholicity by J. C. Brown, D. D.

Sermon on Influence—J. L. Bowling.

A Sermon by W. H. Sanders and H. T. Gaines.

R. H. B. GLADNEY, Secretary.

"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will contain some four or five hundred of these splendid pictures, 8x10 inches in size. The work will be issued in twenty-four parts, pages 11½x13½ inches, with chronological charts and colored maps. Each part will contain sixteen pictures, besides the enchanting pen pictures of these renowned writers. The series will run through twenty-four weeks, one a week, at a regular price of 25 cents each. But the ADVOCATE has made a special arrangement by which it will furnish all its subscribers, new and old, for 10 cents a number. Less than half, but very little more than a third of what you will have to pay if your name is not on our subscription roll. The entire series in this way will cost only $2.40; otherwise it will cost $6. This rule of the publishers of this book is the strictest that only to our subscribers can we make this special offer. For $2.40 you may get what another must pay $6 for if you are a subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Send $2.40, and each of the series will be mailed you as fast as issued. Or ten cents (stamps taken) for one issue—any way you prefer.

W. C. BLACK.

512 Camp St., New Orleans.

BUFFALO {Spring No. 2.}

LITHIA WATER

A SOLVENT FOR CALCULI IN THE BLADDER.

Its Value in Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, the Gouty Diathesis, &c.

Dr. William A. Hammond, Washington, D. C., Surgeon-General U. S. Army (retired), formerly Professor of Diseases of the Mind and Nervous System in the University of New York, etc.

"I have for some time made use of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in cases of affections of the nervous system, complicated with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys or with a Gouty Diathesis. The results have been eminently satisfactory. Lithia has for many years been a favorite remedy with me in like cases, but the Buffalo Water certainly acts better than any extemporaneous solution of the Lithia Salts, and is, moreover, better borne by the stomach. I also often prescribe it in those cases of Cerebral Hyperæmia resulting from over mental work—in which the condition called Nervous Dyspepsia exists—and generally with marked benefit, and as a matter of prime importance it is not to be forgotten that the composition of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER is such, and the experience of its use so complete, that no doubt exists of its great power, not only as a solvent for calculi already in the bladder, but of the diseases of such calculi existing in the blood."

This Water is for sale by druggists generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles $5.00 f.o.b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent to any address.

Thomas F. Goode, Proprietor, Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.

HIGH-GRADE

GRAND AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS.

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN;
AND OTHERS.

Parlor and Church Organs.

Reasonable Prices. Easy Terms.

Special Inducements given to Churches, Schools, Colleges, etc.

Junius Hart,

1001 CANAL STREET.

DISFIGURING HUMORS

Prevented by

Cuticura SOAP

when all Else Fails

CUTICURA SOAP purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, and hair by restoring to healthy activity the CLOGGED, INFLAMED, IRRITATED, SLUGGISH, or OVERWORKED PORES.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. NEWBERY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG & CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

HIGH-GRADE WHEEL for $45

One still better for $35. Both have wood rims, pneumatic tires and all the 1895 latest improvements. 22 to 25 lbs.; strong and durable. Every Wheel Guaranteed to be perfect and as represented or money refunded. Illustrated and descriptive catalogue M mailed free.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
111 to 118 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD OF CHURCH FURNISHINGS
OPERA AND ASSEMBLY CHAIRS.
SCHOOL FURNITURE COMPANY
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

DEAFNESS

and head noises relieved by using WILSON'S CORMOR SYRUP. EAR DRUM. Entirely new, scientific invention; different from all other devices; the only safe, simple, comfortless, and invisible ear drum in the world. Hundreds are being benefited where medical skill has failed. No string or wire attachment to irritate the ear. Write for pamphlet.

THE DRUM IN POSITION

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.
141 Trust Bldg. LOUISVILLE, KY.

CANCER

—CURED WITH—

SOOTHING BALMY OILS.

The Cruel Knife and Burning Plaster Must Go.

Cancer of the FACE, LIPS, MOUTH, NOSE, EAR, EYE, BREAST, UTERUS, RECTUM, etc.

All Cancers, internal or external, yield rapidly to the effects of these MILD and PAINLESS OILS. Also Tumors, Ulcers and Old Indolent Sores, and all Chronic Skin Diseases quickly and permanently cured with our Balmy Soothing Oils. Hundreds of testimonials furnished. The following names are a few of the many cases we have cured who will be pleased to write you concerning these wonderful Oils.

John Hersh, 1336 Jefferson St., Kansas City, Mo.
Mrs. J. M. Sweet, 618 Elmwood Ave.,
Mrs. M. M. Honsiu, Bunie Grove, Mo.
Col. S. K. Ray, Sweet Springs, Mo
Mrs. Phillips Laod, Sweet Springs, Mo.
C. T. Stigleman, Grand Pass, Mo.
W. B. Lewis, Kottawa, Ky.
Mrs. Maud B. Joy, Eddyville, Ky.

Mention this paper

Write us for Question Blank. Address

DR. CASTLE & CO.,
Sole Props. of Balmy Cumulian Oil Remedies.
S. E. Cor. 9th and Wyandotte Sts.,
Kansas City, Mo.

P. S.—Cut this out and send to some afflicted friend.

R. H. Hankney, President. Jno. E. Huffman, Sec'y-Treas.

Union Homestead Ass'n,

New No. 836 Carondelet Street.

NO ADMISSION FEE!

NO WITHDRAWAL FEE!

You Can Always Get Back All You Put In!

Installments of $1 or more per Month received.

Dividends credited in January and July.

Full paid stock is $100 shares bears guaranteed dividends of 6 per cent. per annum, payable in cash semi-annually.

MARRIED WOMEN MAY HOLD AND WITHDRAW THIS STOCK WITHOUT LEGAL RESTRAINT!

Net Assets Jan. 1, 1894 ..... $90,849.98
Net assets Jan. 1, 1895 ..... $119,699.11

Of which amount $116 411.86 was secured by first mortgage and vendor's lien on improved real estate in New Orleans.

Secretary's office hours 9 to 4. Full information cheerfully given. Call, write or send for a copy of charter and by-laws. Membership restricted to citizens of Louisiana.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia,
Good Light Brown Sugar,
40 lbs. for $1 00.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST.

Old No. 170 (New No. 918) CANAL ST.,
NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth	$8
Partial Sets	from $5 to $8
Gold and Porcelain Crowns	from $4 to $10
Gold Filling	from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Filling	from 75 cents to $1.00
Extracting, Painless	50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

THOS. C. KING,
Grocer,
Choice Yellow Clarified Sugar,
30 lbs. for $1.00,
388 Dryades street, corner Thalia.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 10. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2011

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WINNOWINGS.

BY FELIX R. BRUNOT.

Whatsoe'er my earthly losses,
Whatsoe'er life's blessings be,
May my triumphs and my crosses
Bring me nearer, Lord, to thee!

Thou canst make the awful summons
Angel's whisper to mine ear,
Chilling blood and breaking heartstrings
Thrills of joy if thou art near!

Waiting, working, praying, hoping, peals made for missionary labor in their behalf, I can not understand.

The first place visited in Lucknow was Kaiser Bagh, the large palace and gardens where the late ex King of Oude lived in royal splendor before he was deposed and removed to mild exile in Calcutta, on a pension of £120,000 a year, and where he died four or five years ago. This is a rectangular inclosure of several acres, in which flowers bloom and fountains play.

all possible speed he had fought his way to their relief at Lucknow, only to find that death had reduced their numbers from seventeen hundred to about five hundred. There were tears in brave eyes that day. His friend, Sir Henry Lawrence, fell early in the siege, and as he inquired for one and another whom he had known on the field and loved in the camp, the sad answer came, "He is dead." But the great Christian soldier could give only the church. Just outside the church is a grave, in which are buried the bodies of Maj. Vibart and others, who escaped the massacre of the boats, but were captured and killed further down the river.

We drove to the "Memorial Ghat" on the river bank, where the first shameful butchery occurred. To that place the little garrison repaired under terms of honorable agreement with Nana Sahib, in order to take boats for

Your position, brethren, is one of great importance and delicate responsibility. It is not an office of honor merely, nor is it one always to be desired. And yet we need, and must have, good men to fill it. Elected by the Quarterly Conference to this high position, your brethren look upon you as the custodians of interests vital to the church, and as promoters of her welfare.

You stand closely related to the pas-

"Kicking Jim."

In the Tennessee Methodist, of Feb. 21, I believe, there appears a long editorial based upon a garbled extract taken from my article on "Kicking Jim," which for amazing stupidity or willful, unmanly and malicious misrepresentation I have never seen equaled, even in any fourth-rate "pot-house" political paper, to say nothing of a paper claiming a place among the decent Methodist journals of our land.

MAP SUPPLEMENT.

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

VOL. 42.—No. 9. NEW ORLEANS, LA., FEBRUARY 28, 1895. Whole No. 2010.

INTRODUCTION.

THE HOLY LAND, with the regions immediately adjoining, constituting the most sacred of the Bible lands, does not lose its peculiar interest to the most advanced student of history, civilization, biography and human nature, in this last decade of the Nineteenth Century. News from Jerusalem, by cable or post, attracts the attention of both religious and non-religious readers. There was never a time when tourists flocked with more pleasure and curiosity to the haunts and homes of the principal Bible characters. There was never a time when pilgrimages, religious and scientific, were more popular. Again, within a few weeks, the Palestine Exploration Fund of England has secured a permit from the Turkish Government to renew and extend its investigations of the soil underneath and about the Holy City. Within a short time the shrill whistle of the locomotive has echoed among the mountains and valleys of Judea, and but recently a steamboat was launched on the Dead Sea. The European powers keep watch of each other, while all keep ward over the Holy places. And this not merely because of rival religious organizations, which diligently seek advantage in their search for sacred sites or hidden treasures, or build shrines at which to bow in reverent worship, but also that they may guard well this whole region that lies between the North and the South, the Mediterranean highway on the west, and the approach to India on the east.

If Christianity were effete, and simply an historic memory, there would be the same interest in Palestine that classic students now feel in the researches of Schliemann and others, in Western Asia Minor and in Greece; but Christianity is a living verity. Its founder declared that He would draw all men unto Himself, and commissioned his apostles to "Go into all the world, and preach this gospel to every creature," declaring: "I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." The Christianity of the age is vital. It has greater power among men than at its genesis. Its promises have been fulfilled through the centuries. The civilization of which it is the basis and directing force, is the dominating civilization of the world to-day. The Book which records the marvels of His life, who "spake as never man spake," was never studied so critically, thoroughly and enthusiastically as now. Biblical research is the passion of the age. To it Philology, studies in Comparative Religion and Ethics, and Archæology—with spade and magnifying glass—pay constant tribute. The careful student of language, the Biblical exegete, the popular preacher, the Bible class teacher, the private unofficial Christian, turn eager eyes toward these sacred regions, to see every discovery that may shed further light on the Book of Books, and on the life of Him, who, as the ages go by, occupies a larger place in the civilization of our planet.

War, pestilence, earthquake, and all the sources of devastation which, through the centuries, have swept over the eastern world, have removed many landmarks, and destroyed immense quantities of valuable material. But in the Far East, and especially in Palestine, the contour of the country remains. Jerusalem still stands on her high hills, with the valleys of Hinnom and Jehoshaphat round about; with Olivet to the east, and beyond Olivet the desolations of Judea, and below Judea the Ghôr, and the salt waters of the Dead Sea, while beyond them rise in majesty the mountains of Moab, that stretch out in vast tablelands towards the Euphrates. Ebal and Gerizim still stand in the center of Western Palestine; and there, too, is the Plain of Esdraelon, with Tabor and Gilboa, with Nazareth and Tiberias beyond. There, too, rise Hermon—the snow-crowned—and the lofty Lebanon, while at the base of Anti-libanus, amidst the flowing waters of Abana and Pharpar, stands the Pearl of the East, the mother of all cities—the ancient Damascus.

The ages have not materially changed the climate of Palestine. Still the heavy dews fall, the early rain and the later rain come down in their appointed seasons. The hot wind blows from the south and the north wind brings strength and gladness. The fields are still, in their season, white unto the harvest; and from the sea come mist and clouds, the rain, the hail and tempest. It is the old land, the same to-day as in the past yesterdays.

The manners and customs of this Eastern country have not been changed. People dress and eat and sleep and live and labor as they did two thousand years ago. The scenes of the Bible are reproduced with startling fidelity to the old record. One may find feasting and funeral, seed-sowing and harvest, elders in the gate and veiled women, grass on the housetops, sparrows seeking their nests in holy places, the grass of the field that to-day is and to-morrow is cast into the oven. The old customs and costumes remain.

The general scenic features of Palestine render it interpretative of Biblical events and shed light upon difficulties which, but for the perpetuity of its features, would have been unsolvable problems. Every traveler through Palestine discovers and makes report of these features and finds his faith in the Book confirmed. It is this feature which renders so valuable the contribution of the present volume to the illustration of Biblical history. The perfection of photographic art is reached in the production of this book. The land is brought within the purview of every reader. Here, in the fine atmosphere of the Syrian skies, are presented hills, mountains, valleys, plains, water-courses, ruins, towns, cities, fountains, fields, mosques, churches, beasts of burden, flowers of the field, and whatsoever else the sun can copy on the sensitive plate hidden in the camera.

The student is invited to the turning of its pages as to a walk through picture galleries and museums, with the hope by its editors and publishers that the "Land of all Lands" and the "Book of all Books" may gain, through this pleasant ministry, a firmer hold on head and heart than ever before.

The journey made by Dr. James W. Lee and Mr. Robert E. M. Bain in the interest of this work in 1894, it was my pleasure to make twice, the first time in 1863 and again in 1887. The new and charming photographs furnished by the last pilgrimage of Dr. Lee and Mr. Bain give me the sense of having made a third journey to the Holy Land.

John H. Vincent

Chautauqua, N. Y.

...ed in Benares, at the stations along ...s road, and everywhere—the work ... which poor women are engaged. ...ey make cakes of cow-dung with ...eir hands, and stick them against the ...uses to dry. After that they are ...rried in immense baskets on their ...eads and sold for fuel. I have seen ...omen, donkeys and camels loaded ...own with this burden, wearily walk-...g the same street, and the poor ...other and wife the least considered ...f the three. Not until Christianity ...uts its shoulder under the heavy bur-...ens borne by sorrowing woman, does ...he anywhere find rest for her bruised ...nd tired limbs, or experience any ...ense of the queenly dignity and influ-...ence with which she has been crowned ...y our Lord. How any woman in a ...hristian land, with the slightest ...nowledge of her heathen sister's con-...dition, can be indifferent to the ap-

...mains of the building in which the brave garrison of a few hundred held from fifty to an hundred thousand Sepoys at bay for five long months, and wondered how a single person could possibly escape that constant hail of death, we walked out the road to the cemetery, the very road along which Sir Henry Havelock came to the timely relief of that little band. Every footfall awoke a thousand tragic memories, until my nerves quivered with strange emotion. I tried to imagine the scene when that knightly commander, having cut his way through the enemy's lines, marched his tattered legions into the Baillee Gate and looked upon the decimated garrison. He had seen the place of blood at Cawnpore—arriving, as he did, shortly after the massacre—and had heard the story of dreadful torture visited upon defenseless women and children. With

...sary to go farther for interment, and a large number were buried in a well west of the new Memorial Church, and inclosed in a little garden. The old well near the monument referred to above, with its old-fashioned windlass, is interesting from the fact that the besieged depended upon it for water, and many lost their lives while trying to save life from burning thirst under a torrid sun. The Memorial Church, just outside the line of intrenchments, is a handsome Gothic structure, and was built at a cost of £30 000, partly defrayed by the government. The marble floor inside the chancel was given by the Maharajah of Jodhpur—a fact which indicates that not all the natives sympathized with the horrors of that mutiny. The names of all who lost their lives in Cawnpore during that siege are inscribed on tablets in

...ly sheet which covers only the work of a charge or a district, it would argue the utter lack of a connectional spirit. A small paper measures a small church or makes one.—Bishop Hendrix, in St. Louis Advocate.

Correspondence.

Pastoral Address to the Stewards of Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference.

DEAR BRETHREN: One of our excellent stewards, having read my pastoral address to the preachers of the district, suggests that I write one also to the stewards. This brother has the good of the church at heart, is liberal in his gifts, and rejoices in the prosperity of Zion. His church generally pays up its preacher. Acting on the suggestion, I address to you a few brotherly words.

your neighbors and to strangers: "We have a good preacher; come out and hear him." Speak kindly to him. If his sermon does you good, edifies you, tell him so. It may help him to preach even a better sermon next time. Bishop Keener, in his farewell address to the late General Conference, said of the Bishops: "We are children enough to desire to be praised; children enough to be unhappy if we are blamed." This is true not only of our Bishops, but of most preachers. Your pastor needs your encouragement, your words of cheer. Give him a cordial handshake, your sympathy and your prayers. Moses needed to have his hands upheld; Paul said, "Brethren, pray for us." May the cause of our blessed Lord prosper under the hands of his faithful stewards!

Your brother and co-laborer in the work, T. C. WIER, P. E.

...sleeping on a volcano. Pluck flowers and gather pebbles. The awakening will be terrible. Romanism a solid phalanx, Protestantism torn in antagonistic factions.

Rev. Dr. Thwing, of Minneapolis, addressed letters to a hundred decidedly religious young men inquiring as to the constituents of their ideal sermon. All replied. Their phraseology differs, but all agree in this, "The sermon should be short, plain, practical, sprightly, spiritual."

Not all people prevaricate when they fix a value on their property for the tax assessor. The inventory of the possessions of Oliver Wendell Holmes revealed that for several years he has paid taxes on property considerably less valuable than he himself had put it for official cognizance.

IOTA DELTA.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The pupils in the public schools of this city celebrated Washington's birthday last week.

Gov. Morton of New York, on Feb. 23, approved the act to prevent the display of foreign flags upon public buildings in the State.

The Interstate Farmers' Institute, which was held in Vicksburg, Miss., adjourned on Feb. 21, after sleeping.

A Great Occasion.

There will be a great Methodist gathering in Rome next September. The occasion is the opening of a block of buildings for church and school purposes in connection with the mission work in that city. It is proposed to hold services of an ecumenical character, to which delegates will be invited from all parts of the world.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Senatobia	Mar. 9, 10
Hernando	16, 17
Sardis	23, 24
Batesville at Wesley Chapel	30, 31
Com. at Bridge's	Apr. 6, 7
Panola, at Tutwiler	13, 14
Morganville, at Cole Springs	14, 15
Courtland at Keyes	20, 21
Nesbit, at Nesbit	27, 28
Tyro, at Mt. Tyro	May 4, 5
Wall Hill, at ———	(Wed.) 8
Cockrum at ———	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at ———	(Thurs.) 13
Arkabutla, at Hester's Chapel	18, 19
Pleasant Grove, at ———	25, 26

H. C. MORNEHAD, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ashland, at Salem	Mar. 9, 3
Pontotoc	9, 10
Abbeville	16, 17

J. D CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Palma	Feb. 19

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Glenmora	Mar. 9, 3
Atlanta, at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	16, 17
Centerville, at W. B. Springs	30, 31

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 9
Hayes Memorial	16
Tulisbek	17
Felicity Street	23, 24
Pascagoula and Donaldsonville, at P.	30, 31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vienna, at Vienna	Mar. 9, 3
Ruston, at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gatesville, at Gatesville	23, 24
Homer, at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr. 6, 7

J. D HARPER, P. E.

For relieving THROAT DISEASES AND COUGHS, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches"

"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is [illegible]

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

In curing torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors of the Skin, Scalp and Blood when all else fails.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 10. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2011

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WINNOWINGS.

BY FELIX R. BRUNOT.

[illegible]r my earthly losses.

peals made for missionary labor in their behalf, I can not understand.

The first place visited in Lucknow was Kaiser Bagh, the large palace and all possible speed he had fought his way to their relief at Lucknow, only to find that death had reduced their numbers from seventeen hundred to about the church. Just outside the church is a grave, in which are buried the bodies of Maj. Vibart and others, who escaped the massacre of the boats, but

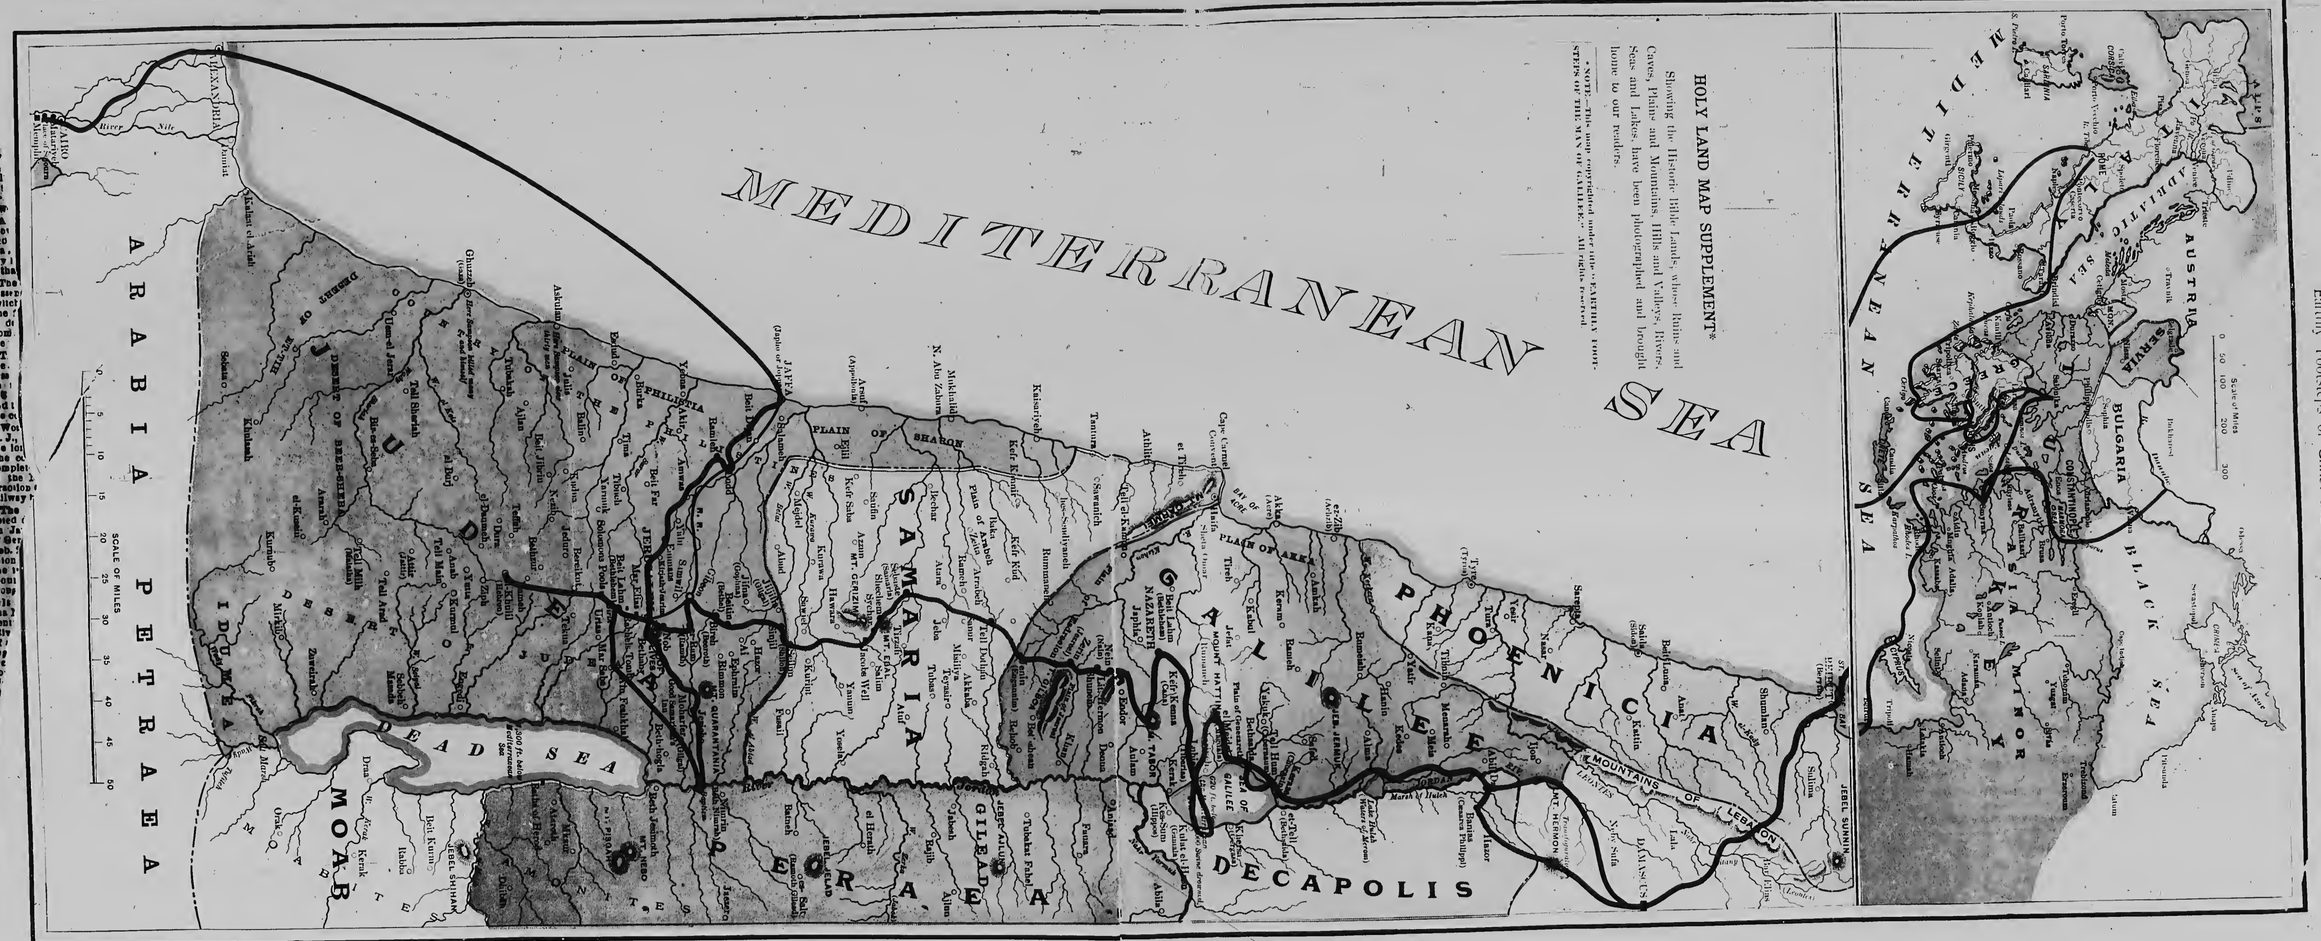
Your position, brethren, is one of great importance and delicate responsibility. It is not an office of honor merely, nor is it one always to be de-

"Kicking Jim."

In the Tennessee Methodist, of Feb. 21, I believe, there appears a long edi-



MAP OF BIBLE LANDS

Showing in red line the journeys of our authors, Bishop John H. Vincent, D.D. LL.D. and James W. Lee, D.D. and photographic artist, Mr. Robert E. M. Bain, in tracing with Note Book and Camera the Earthly Footsteps of Christ and the Apostles.

HOLY LAND MAP SUPPLEMENT*

Showing the Historic Bible Lands, whose Ruins and Caves, Plains and Mountains, Hills and Valleys, Rivers, Seas and Lakes, have been photographed and brought home to our readers.

*NOTE.—This map copyrighted under the "EARTHLY FOOTSTEPS OF THE MAN OF GALILEE." All rights reserved

Are abandoning work. Even those in the greatest need refuse to accept the low wages offered to replace the strikers.

Russia has decided to use only gray horses for artillery purposes, as they have been found to have more strength and endurance than horses of any other color.

The French War Department is experimenting with forage made up in the form of bricks. Hay, oats and bran are mixed and compressed till as hard as a board.

Although two attempts have been made during the two weeks of the present session of the British Parliament to overwhelm the Rosebery Ministry, both have ended in failure.

The French expedition which left Marseilles some months ago, under the command of Commandant Mapnell, for service in the interior of Africa, was surprised and a sanguinary conflict ensued. Three hundred men, comprising half of the force of the expedition, are said to have been killed, while the remainder have been driven from the line of march and their retreat has been cut off.

We never knew a woodman to throw away his plumb line because it did not agree with the wall he was building, but we have known a good many people to throw away the Bible for a similar reason.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething; it soothes the child softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

One strange eccentricity of human nature is the fact that people will flock to hear a reformed drunkard or gambler, and prefer him as a religious teacher to one who from his youth has been an humble, faithful Christian.—Baltimore Advocate.

WALTER BAKER & CO.

The Largest Manufacturers of

PURE, HIGH GRADE COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES

On this Continent, have received

HIGHEST AWARDS

from the great

Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS in Europe and America.

Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

Water Proof, at ——— 13, 14
Harriesburg, at ——— 20, 21
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge ——— June 1, 2

District Conference at Oak Ridge, beginning May 30, and including June 4.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Opelousas	Mar. 9, 3
Lawtonia	9, 10
Plaquemine Brulee and Hayes, at P. B.	16, 17
Drewitt	30, 31
Prudhomme, at Prudhomme City	23, 24
Lake Charles	Apr. 6, 7
West Lake	13, 14
Belaher Mine, at Vinton	20, 21
Merwick—preaching at 11 on Sun.)	20, 27
Morgan City (preach at night, Sat.)	26, 28
Pa'terson	May 4, 5
Franklin	6, 7
Jeanerette	11, 12
Indian Bayou	14, 15
Abbeville at Prairie Grove	18, 19
New Iberia	20, 26
Grand Chenier, at Grand Chenier	June 1, 2
Washington	8, 9
Lake Arthur, at Lacassine	15, 16

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Frankleton, at Fisher's	Mar. 9, 3
Amite City, at Rockland	9, 10
St. Helena, at Greenbrier	16, 17
Pine Grove, at Fly's Ferry	17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	30, 31

F. A. JOHNSON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 9, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bossier, at Mount Pleasant	16, 17
Anacoco and E. Vernon, at Holly G	23, 24

J. L. P. BENTZARD, P. E.

PIANOS.

WEBER, EMERSON, HARDMAN; AND OTHERS.

Parlor and Church Organs.

Reasonable Prices. Easy Terms.

Special Inducements given to Churches, Schools, Colleges, etc.

Junius Hart.

1001 CANAL STREET.

great fertilizer. Makes trees vigorous in growth and free from vermin. Latter part of February the time to apply. I invite correspondence.

WM. B. HINES.

Gloster, Miss.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST,

Old No. 179 (New No. 913) CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, Stern Stubs and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by my own process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth ——— $5
Partial Sets ——— from $2 to $5
Gold and Porcelain Crowns ——— from $3 to $10
Gold Fillings ——— from $1 to $3
Amalgam and Tin Fillings ——— from 75 cents to $1.50
Extracting, Painless ——— 50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Treatment cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Patrons and Friends. [illegible]

A lady has charge of office.

[illegible] Over weary leagues of cultivated field the eye sweeps, with only [illegible]-bearing trees to relieve the monotonous landscape. I suppose the ground is too much needed for the production of food to devote a square [illegible] to the growth of timber.

Another most degrading thing I noticed in Benares, at the stations along the road, and everywhere—the work which poor women are engaged in. They make cakes of cow-dung with their hands, and stick them against the houses to dry. After that they are carried in immense baskets on their heads and sold for fuel. I have seen women, donkeys and camels loaded down with this burden, wearily walking in the same street, and the poor mother and wife the least considered of the three. Not until Christianity has its sunshine under the heavy burdens borne by sorrowing woman, does she anywhere find rest for her bruised and tired limbs, or experience any sense of the queenly dignity and influence with which she has been crowned by our Lord. How any woman in a heathen land, with the slightest knowledge of her heathen sister's condition, can be indifferent to the appeals for missionary labor in their behalf, I can not understand.

The first place visited in Lucknow was Kaiser Bagh, the large palace and [illegible] with marble tablets. Every room, and almost every spot, had felt the stain of blood. There was no alternative but battle or death. To surrender was certain murder; to continue the struggle they could only die, with some faint hope of rescue.

After going over the moldering remains of the building in which the brave garrison of a few hundred held [illegible] fifty to an hundred thousand Sepoys at bay for five long months, and wondered how a single person could possibly escape that constant hail of death, we walked out the road to the cemetery, the very road along which Sir Henry Havelock came to the timely relief of that little band. Every footfall awoke a thousand tragic memories, until my nerves quivered with strange emotion. I tried to imagine the scene when that knightly commander, having cut his way through the enemy's lines, marched his tattered legions into the Baillee Gate and looked upon the decimated garrison. He had seen the place of blood at Cawnpore—arriving, as he did, shortly after the massacre—and had heard the story of dreadful torture visited upon defenseless women and children. With [illegible] monument with this inscription: "This stone marks a spot within Wheeler's intrenchment. It covers the remains, and is sacred to the memory, of those who were the first to meet their death when beleaguered by mutineers and rebels in June, 1857." These were the first to fall, but when deaths became numerous it was necessary to go farther for interment, and a large number were buried in a well west of the new Memorial Church, and inclosed in a little garden. The old well near the monument referred to above, with its old-fashioned windlass, is interesting from the fact that the besieged depended upon it for water, and many lost their lives while trying to save life from burning thirst under a torrid sun. The Memorial Church, just outside the line of intrenchments, is a handsome Gothic structure, and was built at a cost of £30 000, partly defrayed by the government. The marble floor inside the church was given by the Maharajah of Jodhpur—a fact which indicates that not all the natives sympathised with the horrors of that mutiny. The names of all who lost their lives in Cawnpore during that siege are inscribed on tablets in the church. Just outside the church is a grave, in which are buried the bodies of Maj. Vibart and others, who escaped the massacre of the boats, but

Your position, brethren, is one of great importance and delicate responsibility. It is not an office of honor merely, nor is it one always to be de-

"Kicking Jim."

In the Tennessee Methodist, of Feb. 21, I believe, there appears a long edipeaceful nature cover the scars of war, and thus try to make us forget that brothers ever shed each other's blood.

—Nashville Advocate.

The kind of paper which people support is an index to their intelligence. If they are content with a mere monthly sheet which covers only the work of a charge or a district, it would argue the utter lack of a connectional spirit. A small paper measures a small church or makes one.—Bishop Hendrix, in St. Louis Advocate.

Correspondence.

Pastoral Address to the Stewards of Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference.

DEAR BRETHREN: One of our excellent stewards, having read my pastoral address to the preachers of the district, suggests that I write one also to the stewards. This brother has the good of the church at heart, is liberal in his gifts, and rejoices in the prosperity of Zion. His church generally pays up in preacher. Acting on the suggestion, I address to you a few brotherly words.

And we will pay up in full. If a brother repulses you with a rude answer, and refuses to pay anything, possess your own soul in patience. Don't give him up. Go to him again and again, and about the third time he will give you pleasant words and some quarterage.

4. Speak well of your pastor. Say to your neighbors and to strangers: "We have a good preacher; come out and hear him." Speak kindly to him. If his sermon does you good, edifies you, tell him so. It may help him to preach even a better sermon next time. Bishop Keener, in his farewell address to the late General Conference, said of the Bishops: "We are children enough to desire to be praised; children enough to be unhappy if we are blamed." This is true not only of our Bishops, but of most preachers. Your pastor needs your encouragement, your words of cheer. Give him a cordial handshake, your sympathy and your prayers. Moses needed to have his hands upheld; Paul said, "Brethren, pray for us." May the cause of our blessed Lord prosper under the hands of his faithful stewards!

Your brother and co-laborer in the work,

T. C. WEBB, P. E.

Savannah, Ga., who sought to prevent ex-Priest Slattery and wife from lecturing at that place. Led by prominent members of the Ancient Order of Hiberians, the rioters, ten thousand strong, yelled for the blood of the lecturers. Six companies of the militia, with all the police, were necessary to quell the riot. We are sleeping on a volcano. Pluck flowers and gather pebbles. The awakening will be terrible. Romanism a solid phalanx, Protestantism torn in antagonistic factions.

Rev. Dr. Twing, of Minneapolis addressed letters to a hundred decidedly religious young men inquiring as to the constituents of their ideal sermon. All replied. Their phraseology differs, but all agree in this, "The sermon should be short, plain, practical, sprightly, spiritual."

Not all people prevaricate when they fix a value on their property for the tax assessor. The inventory of the possessions of Oliver Wendell Holmes revealed that for several years he has paid taxes on property considerably less valuable than he himself had put it for official consideration.

IOTA DELTA.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The pupils in the public schools of this city celebrated Washington's birthday last week.

Gov. Morton of New York, on Feb. 22, approved the act to prevent the display of foreign flags upon public buildings in the State.

The Interstate Farmers' Institute, which was held in Vicksburg, Miss., adjourned on Feb. 21, after singing "My country, 'tis of thee."

A large fire occurred in Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 22. Nearly a hundred

A Great Occasion.

There will be a great Methodist gathering in Rome next September. The occasion is the opening of a block of buildings for church and school purposes in connection with the mission work in that city. It is proposed to hold services of an ecumenical character for one week. The time has been selected to syn-

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Senatobia	Mar. 9, 10
Hernando	16, 17
Sardis	23, 24
Batesville at Wesley Chapel	16, 21
Com'y, at McGee's	Apr. 6, 7
Panola, at Tirzah	13, 14
Morgansville, at Cole Springs	14, 15
Courtland at Eureka	20, 21
Nesbit, at Eudora	27, 28
Tyro, at Mt. Vernon	May 4, 5
Wall Hill, at ——— (Wed.)	8
Cockrum at ———	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at ——— (Thurs.)	16
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel	18, 19
Pleasant Grove, at ———	25, 26

H. C. MORSHEAD, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ashland, at Salem	Mar. 2, 3
Pontotoc	9, 10
Abbeville	16 17

J. D CAMERON, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fulton	Feb. 23
Tremont	2[illegible]
Amory and Smithville	Mar. 2, 3
Quincy	9
Aberdeen circuit	[illegible]

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Glenmora	Mar. 2, 3
Atlanta at A	9, 10
Montgomery, at M	10, 11
Lecompte, at Lecompte	13, 17
Centerville, at W. S. Springs	23, 24

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lower Coast, at Wesley	Mar. 9
Rayne Memorial	10
Tallisheek	17
Felicity Street	24
Pinquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	31

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vienna, at Vienna	Mar. 2, 3
Ruston, at Ruston	9, 10
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	16, 17
Gansville at Gansville	23, 24
Homer, at Homer	30, 31
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Apr. 6, 7

J. D HARPER, P. E.

For relieving THROAT DISEASES AND COUGHS, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches"

Christ has a yoke for our necks a[illegible]

"Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee."

A new work of Bishop Vincent, and Dr. J. W. Lee (of St. Louis). A great publishing company is just bringing to light the fruit of much toil and outlay of money. They sent an artist photographer, under the guidance of Dr. Lee, to the Holy Land, there to secure the most exact and perfect pictures of the salient scenes of the earthly life of Christ and the Apostles. We have examined a portion of the work and unhesitatingly pronounce it by far the best thing of its kind ever seen by us. The method of photographic reproduction employed is faultless.

The forthcoming book will

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

In curing torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors of the Skin, Scalp and Blood when all else fails.

BABY CARRIAGES for $1.35

If you don't want this

THE ROAD FROM JERUSALEM TO BETHLEHEM. About three miles to the south of this spot lies Bethlehem, where Christ was born; no greater distance to the north lies Jerusalem, where His ministry centered and where His life on earth was ended, on the near-by hill of Calvary. Beyond us are the hills of Judea. What more historic spot than midway between "Bethlehem, the Star of the Orient," and "Jerusalem, the Golden"! At the left of this picture you see the Tower of David, and the road soon passes out through the Jaffa gate and on into Bethlehem. It is introduced here because it illustrates the return of Mary and Joseph from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, where they went to present the Savior in the Temple. This is the road always traveled in going from Jerusalem to Bethlehem. There are always people passing just as you see them now. The people seen with covered heads are Mohammedan women and the people in the English clothes are tourists. The wagons seen are those hired by tourists. The people on the left are looking down into the Valley of Hinnom, which was once used as a place in which they sacrificed children. The roadway seen is a "made" or macadamized road. Our caravan rested here while we photographed the scene shown in the picture.

This picture copyrighted under title of "EARTHLY FOOTSTEPS OF THE MAN OF GALILEE." All rights reserved.

The story is beautifully told in order of date beneath each picture, tracing the Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee in panoramic view and descriptive history.

Brs.

Russia has decided to use only gray horses for artillery purposes, as they have been found to have more strength and endurance than horses of any other color.

The French War Department is experimenting with forage made up in the form of bricks. Hay, oats and bran are mixed and compressed till is hard as a board.

Although two attempts have been made during the two weeks of the present session of the British Parliament to overwhelm the Rosebery Ministry, both have ended in failure.

The French expedition which left Marseilles some months ago, under the command of Commandment Mantell, for service in the interior of Africa, was surprised and a sanguinary conflict ensued. Three hundred men, comprising half of the force of the expedition, are said to have been killed, while the remainder have been driven from the line of march and their retreat has been cut off.

We never knew a workman to throw away his plumb line because it did not agree with the wall he was building, but we have known a good many people to throw away the Bible for a similar reason.

Twenty-five cents a bottle.

One strange eccentricity of human nature is the fact that people will flock to hear a reformed drunkard or gambler, and prefer him as a religious teacher to one who from his youth has been an humble, faithful Christian.—Baltimore Advocate.

WALTER BAKER & CO.

The Largest Manufacturers of

PURE, HIGH GRADE

COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES

On this Continent, have received

HIGHEST AWARDS

from the great

Industrial and Food EXPOSITIONS In Europe and America.

Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

District Conference at Oak Ridge, beginning May 29, and including June 5.

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Opelousas	Mar. 2, 3
Lafayette	9, 10
Plaquemine Brulee and Bayne, at P. B.	16, 17
Crowley	23, 24
Prudhomme, at Prudhomme City	30, 31
Lake Charles	Apr. 6, 7
West Lake	13 14
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	20, 21
Berwick...preaching at 11 on Sun.)	26, 27
Morgan City (preach at night, Sun.)	27, 28
Patterson	May 4, 5
Franklin	6, 7
Jeanerette	11, 12
Indian Bayou	14, 15
Abbeville at Prairie Gregg	19, 19
New Iberia	25 26
Grand Chenieres, at Grand Cheniers	June 1, 2
Washington	2, 3
Lake Arthur, at Lacassine	16, 16

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Franklinton, at Fisher's	Mar. 2, 3
Amite City, at Rostland	9, 10
St. Helena, at Greensburg	16 17
Pine Grove, at Pipkin's	17, 18
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	23, 24

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	Mar. 2, 3
Many, at Prospect	9, 10
North Bosser, at Mount Pleasant	19, 17
Anacoco and S. Vernon, at Holly G.	23, 24

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

WEBER,
EMERSON,
HARDMAN;
AND OTHERS.

Parlor and Church Organs.

Reasonable Prices. Easy Terms.

Special Inducements given to Churches, Schools, Colleges, etc.

Junius Hart.

1001 CANAL STREET.

from vermin. Latter part of February the time to apply.

I invite correspondence.

WM. B. HINES.

Gloster, Miss.

Painless Dentistry.

Dr. VAN WATTS,

DENTIST,

Old No. 170 (NEW No. 918) CANAL ST.,

NEW ORLEANS.

Guarantees, under an entirely NEW TREATMENT, to Fill the most sensitive Teeth, or Extract Teeth POSITIVELY WITHOUT PAIN, without the use of poisonous gases or drugs.

HOURS: 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Old, Aching, Abscessed Teeth, mere Shells and Roots of Teeth, are treated and Filled AT ONCE, and made serviceable for life by new Crown process, WITHOUT PAIN.

PRICES.

Best Set S. S. White Teeth	$8
Partial Sets	from $3 to $6
Gold and Porcelain Crowns	from $4 to $10
Gold Fillings	from $1 to $4
Amalgam and Zinc Fillings	from 75 cents to $1.00
Extracting, Painless	50 cents

Teeth Without Plates and Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Toothache cured instantly. Teeth Extracted Free for Policemen and Firemen.

A lady has charge of office.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 42.—NO. 11. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1895. WHOLE NO. 2012

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER

DAILY.

BY JOHN KEBLE.

If on our daily course our mind
Be set to hallow all we find,
New treasures still of countless price
God will provide for sacrifice;
Old friends, old scenes will holier be,
As more of Heaven in each we see;
Some softening gleam of love or prayer
Shall dawn on every cross and care.

—Exchange.

Selections.

Agra, the City of the Taj.

BY BISHOP CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, D. D.

We reached Agra from Cawnpore in the night, and had a few hours' refreshing sleep. Orders were given, however, to be called at half-past six o'clock. So, with an early chota-hazari (tea and toast), we devoted the morning hours before breakfast, at ten o'clock, to Agra Fort and its many attractions. Built by Akbar the Great 350 years ago, it stands as one of the most robust monuments of the engineering skill and warlike spirit of the whole Mogul dynasty. It has a circumference of one and one-fourth miles, and is located on a high elevation at a bend in the river Jumna, and overlooks that sacred stream. Its solid masonry and frowning parapets and splendid towers and square Hindoo walls have stood the test of centuries, and seem as strong to-day as when the heavy stones were swung into place and became an impregnable defense against all invading armies. I have seen buildings more pleasing to behold and "fairer to the eye of beauty," but nowhere in the East a structure so impressive and imposing as the fort at Agra. It is of red sandstone, and made strong enough to resist any engineery of war known to that period of strife and conquest. A regiment of British soldiers are now quartered there, and English guns are planted on its parapets.

We were first conducted into the palace of red sandstone in which the great Akbar, the restorer of the house of Tamerlane, himself resided. Its numerous apartments and graceful arches and stupendous colonnades, though now much neglected, reflect the strong, granite character of that greatest of Mohammedan rulers. But the glory of the structure has been eclipsed by the marble palaces adjoining, erected by his grandson, Shah Jehan. Here admiration was lost in amazement—everything of purest white marble, save as it was relieved by the flashing facets of inlaid jewels, or the marvelous frescoes of some great master. What affluence of exquisite taste! What magnificent prodigality of architectural splendor! What munificent offerings to the love of the beautiful!

We walked into a marble drawing-room where the king entertained his private guests, where the cares of the empire were laid aside. The massive columns and graceful arches were enriched with delicate and elaborate carvings of flowers and wreaths. The marble ceiling was frescoed, but the harmonious colors had been dimmed by the dust and wear of centuries. A small space, a few feet square, restored and retouched by the government in 1875, on the occasion of the Prince of Wales' visit, at a cost of 700 rupees, indicated how beautiful was the design and how vast was the outlay when the palace was first erected. Adjoining this splendid drawing-room was an open marble court, the galleries around supported by massive columns of purest marble, polished to perfection and glistening like snow in the early morning sunlight. In this open court the king sat to rest, meditate, and enjoy the charming landscape of winding river and green valley, waving with growing crops, and stretching away into the distance for many, many miles. Up the river a short distance, and in full view, was the world-renowned Taj, on which the king looked and wept after the burial of his beloved queen. On either side of the court was a marble sitting-room, in which the ladies of the palace sat and peered through marble screens at the same enrapturing landscape. Thus, however rich her possessions and magnificent her surroundings, woman was discriminated against. She was excluded and secluded, and to her eyes the very hills and valleys were obscured by screens. And this seclusion is carried even into the grave. Some of their splendid tombs are shut off from others by a lattice of stone.

Connected with this court is the king's marble bath, so arranged that the self-indulgent monarch could swim in a crystal sea paved with marble, or luxuriate under gentle sprays from the sacred river conducted through marble fountains.

Near the court also are the apartments known as the Queen's Palace, on which the king lavished wealth and art with munificent hand. All India and the world were searched for jewels and precious stones with which to adorn the home of his beloved queen, for whose sepulture he afterward built the Taj, the costliest mausoleum and most beautiful building probably ever erected by human genius. There is an almost bewildering luxuriance of decoration, especially in the octagonal room at the corner, but without gaudiness or the slightest offense against perfect taste. Amid all the rare tracery of figure and flower, and all the mosaics of inlaid rubies, sapphires, agates, and other precious stones, there is nothing tawdry.

Adjoining these apartments, in a small court, is a marble fountain also inlaid with rarest stones, through which rosewater sent its crystal spray, and perfumed all the atmosphere breathed by the loved and honored queen of Shah Jehan. And connected with the court and its rosewater fountain was a checkerboard drawing-room—the floor checked with white and black marble—for the queen and her ladies in waiting to entertain the tedium of the days in innocent games. The Queen's Bath, of white marble, is inlaid with small mirrors, so arranged as to give the most marvelous effects of light. When our guide brought in a candle, the whole room—walls and ceiling—was ablaze with jewels, and flashed like the facets of a million diamonds.

Another place especially interested me, as it carries out that national idea of woman's exclusion and seclusion. It was the ladies private market. On a rear veranda, and under a marble canopy, the queen and her attendants sat, while the court below was filled with all manner of goods and wares from which to make selection. Though they could not go out, the markets of the world were brought to them, and in that way, I suppose, they were able to keep up with the fashions.

We lingered meditatively for a few moments in a small marble chamber—built originally as a sort of dressing-room to the queen's private apartments—in which the deposed emperor, Shah Jehan, spent the last seven years of his life as a prisoner. Shorn of crown and throne, the proud emperor, and the world's greatest builder of palaces, died a prisoner in the hands of his own inhuman son, and in a marble prison of his own construction. It is said that just before the hour of release came, he begged the privilege of being carried into the large octagonal room, that the last earthly thing on which his eye rested might be the beautiful Taj in the distance, which he had built and jeweled for the resting-place of his faithful and loving wife. There was something strangely pathetic in the story, recalled so vividly as we stood in the historic room. What a mockery of fate! What a bitter revenge of history! He built a palace, which became his prison. He wrought in purest marble, which became cold and cruel as iron in his soul. But he reaped the harvest of his own sowing. He suffered at the very point where he himself had grievously and grossly sinned. He fought against his father, and in turn was deposed and imprisoned by his own son. It is said of his father, the Emperor Jahanjar, that "his reign of twenty-two years was spent in reducing his rebellious sons." What a bitter and suggestive chain of historic facts! For four generations the Mogul dynasty suffered the curse of rebellious sons.

The Pearl Mosque, connected with the palace erected in 1654 by Shah Jehan, and of clearest white marble, is claimed to be "the purest and loveliest house of prayer in the world." I have no disposition to dispute the claim, for it seemed to me a magnificent anthem in stone, faultless in tone, and absolutely perfect in every melodious measure. Over the archways extracts from the Koran are inlaid with black marble. The ladies of the court had a private entrance on one side, and down that colonnade are forty-five separate places for prayer marked off on the marble floor—one for each lady. In the main body of the building, where the men bowed in their devotions, there were 570 separate spaces. Here, as in all Mohammedan mosques, there are no seats, no paintings or images, and no furniture of any kind—only a marble stairway on which the priests stand to read the Koran. Worshipers come in, kneel in their places on the floor, repeat their prayers, and quietly retire.

After breakfast we drove out to Secundra, five miles from Agra, the palace-tomb of Akbar the Great, the real founder of the Mogul Empire as it existed for two centuries. Ascending the throne at fourteen, he reigned for nearly fifty years, and has left all over India imperishable memorials of his greatness as a man and king. The ample grounds at Secundra, adorned with trees and flowers and fountains, are entered through magnificent arched gateways, one on each side of the vast parallelogram. The one in front is itself an architectural wonder—a sort of triumphal arch in red sandstone, tessellated with white and black marble, with lofty columns of white marble from 50 to 75 feet high springing from the four corners. These, however, bear the marks of shell shot by contending armies before the days of the mutiny. Inside of the great gate you stop for a long and charmed view of the tower-palace, four stories high, crowned with domes and numerous small towers of pure white marble, which shone like burnished silver under a vertical sun. Within the building you are amazed at the rich marble paneling, carved with flowers, fruits, and vines, and all adorned with gold leaf. Into the vault below we were conducted by a guide with a lantern, and stood beside the plain marble sarcophagus which contains all that was mortal of one of the greatest heroes in history. In a room on the floor above is the beautiful pure white tomb of Akbar's favorite daughter, while in another were the modest marble coffins of the last King of Delhi and his wife. On the flat roof of the grand edifice, in a court of marble, surrounded by a balustrade of delicate marble screens, each corner surmounted by a dome, is another tomb of the great Akbar, with the most elaborate and exquisite carvings. The longer one looks at that marvelous tracery of line and figure, its beauties continue to appear. There are lilies, chrysanthemums, ferns, and palm leaves, with flitting butterflies—and all preserving the most perfect harmony. This tomb is a solid piece of purest marble brought from Jeypore. At the head of the tomb is a marble urn, in which the celebrated diamond, Koh-i-noor, once worn in his crown, is said to have flashed its myriad and glorious lights, though now the property of England's Queen.

The afternoon was given to the Taj the crown of oriental architecture and the consummate flower of the world's ideal in stone. Many things in nature and art, much lauded and rhetorically described, at first view disappoint an excited expectation. Hopes have been enkindled beyond possible realization. But I have never heard of such an experience of any visitor to this world-famed palace-tomb. The tender story of its inception and construction—the expression of a king's pure and passionate love for his wife, desiring that she should have the loveliest and costliest tomb in which a fair form ever slept—itself fascinates before one gets a first view of this royal dream in marble. For seventeen years he watched the progress of the building, while 20,000 men worked daily from morning till night, and often wondered if he would live to see the last stone put in its place, and the last jewel in the marble casket where his dear one sweetly dreamed. The fifteen millions of treasure expended in its construction were gladly given, and twice the sum would have been but a poor offering of his ardent, grateful love.

The first impression one gets of the Taj, standing inside the grand gateway of red sandstone, is of an exquisitely beautiful and faultless picture. Then, as you examine it in detail—each separate arch, minaret, dome, frieze, and panel, up to the golden crescent on the central spire—everyone seems a perfect piece of art and beyond the faintest criticism. Involuntarily you feel, and are almost ready to say, How beautiful! Too pure for mortal conception; too delicate to be wrought by human hands. It was the dream of a seraph and the handiwork of angels! I stood and gazed and wondered—was almost transported.

From the gateway to the first broad marble terrace there is a long artificial lake, with a paved walk on either side, filled with lotus flowers, on which numerous fountains play and keep them in glorious bloom. Flowers and foliage plants of every name and tint adorn the gardens, which are generously and beautifully kept by the English government.

The building rests upon two platforms, the first of red sandstone about five feet high, 1,000 feet long, and 400 deep; the second of white marble 20 feet high and 400 feet square, with a graceful four-storied marble minaret, 137 feet high at each of the four corners. In the center of this marble terrace stands the palatial mausoleum 180 feet square, with the corners cut off to give it an octagonal expression, and a central dome tipped with a golden crescent, which rises to the height of 275 feet. The sides of the structure are relieved by dome-shaped recesses, each adorned with carved panels that give the most exquisite effect. Over the graceful arch of the main entrance, and on the facings of the doorway, sentences from the Koran, in Arabic characters, are inlaid with black marble. Whether the entire Mohammedan Scriptures are thus inlaid, as is claimed, I can not say.

Under the central dome, and inclosed by a marble screen six feet high, which seemed delicate enough for the finest lace and inlaid with the rarest jewels, are the tombs of the Emperor Shah Jehan, and the queen of his heart, Mumtiz Mahal. These are of solid white marble, inlaid with jewels and precious stones, and all set so as to bring out the most delicate tints of various flowers. Attention was called to one, a poppy flower, which contained no less than thirty different stones. On the tomb of the queen are inlaid Arabic characters in black marble, said to be the ninety-nine names of God. Around the sides of the large octagonal room, for four feet from the floor, there were great carved urns with flowers and foliage plants drooping over their sides, as if mingling their tears with the nation over the loved and honored dead. The bodies are buried in a vault just below, and sleep in marble coffins exactly like those in the room above. There are eight rooms in the building, besides the great rotunda. Those on the corners are octagonal, the others are square, and each finished as elaborately as the one in which the king and queen are laid to rest.

In Agra are seen the contrasts in Indian life. Under the shadow of these wonderful palaces are the mud hovels of the poor, which are cheerless and filthy as the bleak holes of prairie dogs in the great West. And the streets swarm with beggars who have the most forbidding way of displaying their deformities in order to extort charity. So the extremes of life are met together in this once brilliant Mohammedan capital.

The day spent in Agra will ever be notable in the memories of life. Its dawn opened the gates of the hope of years, and the evening twilight rested upon its joyous realization. I am glad and grateful.

Jeypore, Dec. 7, 1894.

—Nashville Advocate.

The Work That Tells.

From various sources the information comes to us that preachers and members of the church are devoting themselves to earnest and solid work for the salvation of the people. The aberration of a few years ago toward novel methods and sensationalism seems to have spent itself, and the disposition to get back to rational and Christian means is strong and healthy. This reaction is not complete by any means, but it is such as to give good hope for the present and more for the future. There are still some men in some quarters who seem, as Goldsmith says, to "pant for the vulgar praise which fools impart." Perhaps they think that such a course is their only chance for coveted notoriety, and perhaps they are right. But we are glad that the church and ministry are moving out from under such shadows.

—Wesleyan Advocate.

The conditions which confront the church are constantly changing. The early Methodists laid the foundations of our denomination in this country in the face of persecution and more. These obstacles have disappeared, but more obstinate hindrances have arisen. The population of both cities and country differs widely from that of former days. A large percentage of our citizens now are either of foreign birth or foreign parentage. Most of them have been molded and fashioned under influences peculiarly hostile to aggressive Christianity. They are exceedingly hard to reach with the gospel. Methods which proved eminently successful among American-born citizens do not affect much among foreigners. The gospel is adequate to the work before us, but our methods have not yet been wisely adapted to these foreign people.—Christian Advocate.

Correspondence.

The Polyglot Petition of the W. C. T. U

The presentation of the polyglot petition to the President of the United States, which recently took place in Washington City, formed a most remarkable epoch in the history of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Several years ago Miss Willard conceived the idea of circulating a petition among the inhabitants of every civilized country on earth praying for the abolition of the rum and opium traffic and all forms of legalized social vice. Since the thought was put into action the signatures, attestations and endorsements of fifty nationalities in forty different languages have been secured, representing adherents amounting, on the whole, to seven and a half million, half a million of whom are citizens of this republic. The petition is now thirty miles long, but it is still being circulated.

On Feb. 15 an immense meeting was held in Convention Hall at Washington preparatory to the presentation of the petition to Mr. Cleveland. An audience of eight thousand assembled, including congressmen, senators, judges on the Supreme Bench, and other leading citizens of the city and nation, beside the foremost women of America who had come to Washington to attend this convocation, as well as the Woman's Council, which met soon after. Miss Willard and Lady Somerset, who were to have been the orators of the evening, were detained in Boston by illness, so their places had to be supplied from the ranks of the national officers of the W. C. T. U. It was an occasion long to be remembered. The mammoth petition was hung in festoons across the hall and rolled in large bundles on the platform; a choir of three hundred voices sang patriotic songs; the speakers were at their best; disappointment melted away, and enthusiasm—quiet, but intense—took possession of the assemblage. Three days of continuous services in the Metropolitan Methodist Church followed this initiation. On Sunday the pulpits of nearly every Protestant denomination in Washington were occupied by the women of the W. C. T. U., morning, afternoon, and evening, and crowds went out to hear them. Saturday, Miss Willard and Lady Somerset arrived, and, although worn and ill, spoke at some of the Sabbath services. On Tuesday a delegation, composed of these ladies and four others, met Mr. Cleveland in the east room of the White House, and presented the petition to him. Mr. Cleveland received it very graciously, and, in answer to Miss Willard's speech, said that he had desired very much to see the ladies whose energy had got together such a great petition. He believed that everyone should hold them in high honor for the good intentions with which the women's temperance society had set about and carried forward its great crusade. In our varying points of view we could not all see alike as to the best methods of temperance reform, but in the nature of the case we must each and everyone desire to help forward that reform according to our best knowledge. In the spheres of life in which we are placed, it was for each of us to do that which would help forward the interests of humanity according to the best of our ability, and, though our outlooks might differ, our hearts should be sympathetic with every good word and work. He was glad to welcome the delegation, and to hope for the movement which these ladies represented such a result as would be for the highest interests of the nation and people and of all humanity. As the petition is signed by aliens, it could not be presented to Congress as a legal document, but Mr. Cleveland promised to do what he could to have it presented as a memorial.

At the close of the interview Mrs. Cleveland requested to see Miss Willard and Lady Somerset, and they spent a delightful half-hour together, during which Mrs. Cleveland declared that she was, and always had been, a total abstainer. She said, further, that she had found no difficulty in carrying out her principles; but that, on the contrary, she had been frequently spoken to on the subject in the most cordial terms, and that it was now considered good form in anyone whose sense of duty might lead him or her to practice total abstinence from the use of intoxicants in social life.

Next June, in Exeter Hall, London, England, demonstrations will be made in honor of the petition, and, later, it will be presented to Queen Victoria, and, through her, to Parliament. A few months after this Miss Willard and Lady Somerset, with one hundred chosen leaders of the W. C. T. U. in this and other countries, will charter a ship and visit every government on the globe, presenting the petition to their rulers, from the Czar of Russia to the Khedive of Egypt. It will be a triumphant pilgrimage. A prophecy of the coming victory, when "the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ."

BELLE KEARNEY.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Col. Henry Watterson, not a mean authority, believes that the fracture of the solid South will be permanent. No tears. Other great changes in American politics would take place.

"Too poor to marry!" is the stereotype utterance of the vast number of bachelors, young and old, when advised to submit to Hymen's bonds. We hold that pride, vanity, dictates the remark. Yes, there are women, extravagant, arrogant, devoid of skill and inclination to make themselves useful, showy. They are indeed an expensive, and hence avoided, luxury. But there are also thousands of young ladies—modest, frugal, cultured, industrious—who would prove a helpmeet to man. A wife of the latter class will make a poor man rich.

The long-felt want will be met. We see the announcement of a new paper called "The Christian Girl." No accounting for taste. Are reminded of the "Christian Glow-Worm," a paper which enjoyed cradle and tomb within six months.

Unrestricted suffrage robs intelligence and virtue of their natural right. It makes demagogism a profession. Office-seekers cater to the prejudices of the illiterate and vicious. Say what you will, men are not equal. The habitual drunkards, vagabonds and unlettered should not be permitted to vote.

According to the Independent, Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, has wittily remarked: "Women have not yet learned to cook well enough to prevent dyspepsia. Failing in this, we dare not entrust them with suffrage and the possible right of governing the State."

Romance is rapidly declining. The Egyptian government has given the franchise to an English syndicate to build a trolley railroad from Cairo to the Pyramids. Bye the bye, the railroad from Jaffa to Jerusalem fails to pay dividends. Traffic and travel insignificant.

Mayor C. S. Denny, of Indianapolis, recommends the introduction of the whipping-post for the cure of the tramp evil. To be sheltered and fed at a prison is what the perambulating vagabond desires. To him prisons palaces prove, in a sense not designed by the poet. But a possible flogging would keep him away.

A few days ago Annie Gould married an impecunious Frenchman, Count de Castellane. Though Miss Annie is a so-called Protestant, she consented to be married by the Roman Catholic Bishop Corrigan. Strange that American heiresses are willing to sacrifice their millions to an empty bubble—a title.

ICH DIEN.

THE MASTER'S WORDS

BY HARVEY REBER

There is a wondrous sweetness
In every word of Thine;
A world of love and beauty,
A melody divine.

Its strains go ringing ever
Through all my daily tasks;
They gently give an answer
To all my spirit asks

As fountains in the desert,
As dews upon the pine;
A balm, a prayer, a blessing,
Are those sweet words of Thine.

—Exchange.

Communications.

A Statement of the Doctrine.

Something less than a year ago I was in company with one of the Bishops of our church, who was reading Tyerman's "Life, Letters, and Literary Labors of John William Fletcher." He had marked a number of rich passages bearing on the subject of Christian perfection, which he read to me. In the conversation which followed he said: "I sincerely hope some man will soon rise up in our Israel and give us a statement of this great Methodist doctrine that all parties will accept."

A few days ago, looking through the February number of our Sunday-school Magazine, I came to D. Tillett's article on "Distinguishing Doctrines of Methodism," and read it with care, interest, and satisfaction. Coming to the fifth point, "The possibility of entire holiness in this life," I remembered the wish of the Bishop. Here is what the Doctor says on this subject: "It is possible for a believer to live without sin in thought, word, or deed; and there is no limitation imposed by God upon his attainment of an entirely holy and evangelically perfect character. The sinner, when converted, is not made perfect in holiness, nor must the believer be content to remain in the state and spiritual condition where mere conversion placed him. There is a higher spiritual life and experience that he may, and must, attain unto. Entire sanctification means an absolutely sinless and holy life, which is made possible to every believer by the grace of Christ. The profession of sanctification and theories concerning what may be attained progressively and what instantaneously, have ever been subordinate and secondary in Methodist theology to the one great truth of the possibility, the privilege, and the imperative duty of every believer living a sinless and holy life. 'Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.' To state all in a single sentence, it is this: The Lord Jesus Christ, by his atoning death, made possible the salvation of the whole human race, every individual of whom, endowed with moral free agency, can, if he will, attain unto a conscious knowledge of personal salvation, which salvation, though it may be entirely lost by sin, yet contemplates and provides for complete deliverance from all sin, both original and actual, and the attainment of entire holiness in character and life."

Well, here is a statement of the doctrine that lay so near the heart of the founders of our church, and that has ever been an integral part of Methodist theology, which, if it is not complete and satisfactory to all parties, certainly makes a near approach to what the Bishop fondly hoped would soon be made.

Dr. Tillett is human, like Wesley, Clark, Fletcher, and Watson; but he is modern and scholarly, and, moreover, high authority, being dean of the theological faculty of Vanderbilt University, and professor of systematic theology. While we all hold that "the Holy Scriptures contain all things necessary to salvation, so that whatsoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man, that it should be believed as an article of faith," still it becomes the most of us to be modest in such a presence. Moreover, let us remember what James said of "the wisdom that cometh from above"—that it "is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy." Let us all, therefore, put away contention and strife, and the censorious and dogmatic spirit, these being wholly incompatible with this wisdom, and "endeavor to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bonds of peace."

W. B. LEWIS.

Bro Lewis' Review.

If I had to be reviewed, I am glad that my brother, W. B. Lewis, has become my reviewer. His gentle Christian manner and uniform courtesy disarms one of all feelings of antagonism, and prepares one to weigh well his utterances. I wish to call Bro. Lewis' attention to a few inaccuracies and a few cases of non sequitur.

My brother, why say, "He admits that one may become holy," etc.? My words should not be thus weakened. I positively assert—I challenge any man to say it more strongly, or maintain it more positively—I assert that, "without holiness no man shall see the Lord."

Please do not make it appear that I merely admit it. I am a Methodist, and believe the Bible. I made it plain to some—I thought I had to all—that there is an experience, or grace, subsequent to regeneration. Who denies this? Why argue it? But I also made it plain from the new Testament that this subsequent grace—call it what you please—was not a subsequent cleansing. Bro. Lewis does not try to disprove this. Why does he not? He objects to my statement that this grace in question is not the baptism of the Holy Ghost. The only disproof he offers is this: "I have never heard or read a full statement of the doctrine of entire sanctification as a work of grace subsequent to regeneration, that did not identify it with the baptism of the Holy Ghost." What proof is there in this? What if Bro. Lewis never heard or read of such a thing, does that mean anything concerning its truth or falseness? What we want is proof, Bible proof.

He thinks I minify this Pentecost event. I do not. The baptism of the Holy Ghost, that which came first on Pentecost, is not the whole work of the Paraclete—not at all. His abiding presence, his guiding and encouraging, etc., are all distinct from this baptism, this initial and repeated enduement of power, this fitting and keeping fitted for one's work. Is the fitting for work, the enduement with power from on high, "a small experience?" Does Bro. Lewis know a grander?

Bro. Lewis quotes from my old friend, Dr. Anderson, of California. Dr. Anderson's utterances are no more authoritative than Bro. Lewis', nor are Dr. Wood's, whom he also cites.

Let Bro. Lewis prove from the Bible that the grace in question is, first, a work of cleansing subsequent to regeneration, and, second, that it is identical with the baptism of the Holy Ghost. When he does this, I will sit at his feet and learn of him. Until he does, I must sweetly, but firmly, decline to accept the sayings of men uninspired where zeal to maintain a theory often exceeds their learning and judgment.

H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

The Difference.

They were brothers, but you would hardly have guessed this fact as they stood before their mother, their little faces scratched in many places, their noses bruised and bloody, their hair all tousled up, their clothes all dirty and torn, and the tears flowing down their little cheeks. They had come to her for the adjustment of the great difference that had come, like a hideous monster, between them, and, snapping the chord of brotherly affection, made them aliens and enemies to each other.

"I told Dick," said Will, through his sobs, as his little fat fist, still clinching the golden strands of his brother's curly head, gouged the tears from one red eye, "that our play-house was ten feet broad, and he"—

But Dick, still confident, though tearful, broke in, "And I said it wasn't—it was ten feet wide."

H. M. ELLIS.

Correspondence.

The Standards.

DEAR BRO. PARKER: I think I am perfectly safe in saying that nearly all Methodists recognize Wesley's sermons as standards of our church, and nobody has ever denied it that I know of, except a few of the brethren who feel called to fight against the holiness movement. Why, Dr. Featherstun, who is on your side of the question, acknowledges it squarely a few issues back.

You say: "I have never denied that forty-two of Wesley's sermons, etc., are standards, or were as long as Mr. Wesley lived. This much I admit." This is enough out of the mouth of two witnesses; every word shall be established. You and Dr. Featherstun will do, and the first volume of Wesley's sermons is sufficient to prove the teaching of Wesley and the Methodist Church on the doctrine of entire sanctification as a distinct second work of the Holy Ghost. Anybody who can pass muster in the Second Reader will readily discover this fact by reading this book of sermons. So, Bro. Parker, the discussion may end.

Yours for full salvation,

ARTHUR C. BURT.

From "Rex B."

MR. EDITOR: Permit me to express my gratification that my reference to that redoubtable theologian, eminent preacher and gifted writer, Rev. A. C. Burt, had the effect to afford a moment of amusement to that distinguished gentleman. It was more than I expected. If I could write something that would cause him to put a lower and truer estimate on his own mental capacity—in other words, if I could cure him of a very pronounced case of "caput magnum," from which he is evidently suffering—I should be more than glad.

To his charge of "bad humor" against me, I have only to say that there is nothing in what I have written that sustains the charge, with the possible exception of my remarks in reference to himself. I am free to confess that I am not burdened with charity for a clerical fledgeling who, too lazy or too dull to pass a creditable examination in the first year's course of study as a minister of the gospel, yet has the presumption to sit in judgment on the acts and utterances of the oldest and best of the fathers of the church. It is too great a breach of the simplest proprieties for me to keep still; hence my remarks, which I hope may yet bear good fruit.

In reply to his conjecture, I wish to say that I know I was converted, that I live daily in the enjoyment of God's love, and that, so far as a second grace is concerned, I have already passed the "second," the number measuring up to that of the days and hours that have passed into eternity since first I saw the Lord. I take salvation in bulk; divine grace as needed.

Yours truly, MR. REX B.

Natchez, Miss.

Selections.

The Best Books.

My rule of judging a book is practically this: A book that leads me to the Bible, and compels me to search again its chapters and verses, is a helpful book, one that will stimulate both mind and spirit. A book that leads me away from the Bible, to question its authority and truth, that appeals from its plain and obvious teaching to the philosophies and speculations of men, however scientific or brilliant, is a book to be passed by as pernicious and harmful. Of course, I am speaking from the standpoint of one who holds the Bible substantially as we have it in our Authorized English and Revised Versions, to be God-given both in matter and method, containing God's chief revelation to man, both in its history and doctrine.

I do not say that we are to read no books that question or criticise the Bible, either directly or by inference. I do not say that we are to read no books that controvert "the faith" we accept, any more than I would say that a general should not reconnoitre his enemy. "O that mine enemy would write a book," is a sentiment not yet to be despised. Besides, we learn much from books written to overthrow our faith—much from books with which we do not agree. But speaking of books that are to be in the end helpful to us, I would say: Put them into the scale with the Bible; test them by its teaching, and if they speak not according to the Word, it is because there is no light in them. The Bible is the real storehouse for every scribe of the kingdom from which to gather things new as well as old. Books that unlock this storehouse are keys of silver and gold; books that do not unlock the treasure-house are worthless as lead to us.—George F. Pentecost, D. D.

Views of Heaven.

A leading divine says: "When I was a boy I thought of heaven as a great shining city, with vast walls and domes and spires, and with nobody in it except white angels, who were strangers to me. By and by my little brother died, and I thought of a great city with walls and domes and spires, and a flock of cold, unknown angels, and one little fellow that I was acquainted with. He was the only one that I knew in that country. Then another brother died, and there were two that I knew. Then my acquaintances began to die, and the number continually grew. But it was not until I had sent one of my little children back to God that I began to think I had a little interest there myself. A second, a third, a fourth went, and by that time I had so many acquaintances in heaven that I did not see any more walls and domes and spires. I began to think of the residents of the Celestial City. And now so many of my acquaintances have gone there that it sometimes seems to me that I know more in heaven than I do on earth."—Exchange.

A cold firebrand and a burning lamp started out one day to see what they could find. The firebrand came back and wrote in its journal that the whole world was dark. It did not find a place, wherever it went, in which there was light. Everywhere there was darkness. The lamp, when it came back, wrote in its journal, "Wherever I went it was light." What was the difference? The lamp carried light with it, and when it went abroad it illumined everything about it. The dead firebrand carried no light, and it found none where it went.

It is in the power of the soul to carry its light with it. Are you hedged in on every side? You have the power, if you know how to use it, of making your circumstances pleasant. Are those fountains from which you have been wont to derive comfort stopped up? You do not need them. You can develop fountains of comfort in yourselves.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Time for Bible Reading.

A class of persons who profess to love the Bible excuse their neglect of it by saying that they have no time for Bible reading. But is there any person in this land who can not command the time to read a chapter from the Scriptures every day? It may be doubted whether there is such a person. There are many who can not do this and at the same time do all that they desire to do in other directions. But that is not a reason for neglecting the Bible. Our Bible reading should be one of the first duties of every day. A good rule is to read nothing else until we have read a portion of the Scripture. If we adopt this rule, and rigidly adhere to it, we shall never lack the time to read at least a few verses from the Bible. This can be done at home, and it can be done abroad: it can be done on a journey. The man of the world can read his newspaper on the cars; if we are as much interested in the Bible as he is in the daily news, we shall be able to read a chapter on a railroad train. And if it is always in mind, we shall find no day too short to read a lesson from the Scriptures.—National Presbyterian.

Weary Work.

The worst part of martyrdom is not the last agonizing moment; it is the wearing, daily steadfastness. Men who can make up their minds to hold out against the tortures of an hour have sunk under the weariness and the harass of small prolonged vexations; and there are many Christians who have the weight of some deep incommunicable grief pressing, cold as ice, upon their hearts. To bear that cheerfully and manfully is to be a martyr. There is many a Christian bereaved and stricken in the best hopes of life. For such a one to say quietly, "Father, not as I will, but as thou will," is to be a martyr. There is many a Christian who feels the irksomeness of the duties of life, and feels his spirit revolting against them. To get up every morning with the firm resolve to find pleasure in those duties, and do them well, and finish the work which God has given us to do, that is to drink Christ's cup.—F. W. Robertson.

Some Pertinent Questions.

Theodore Cuyler quotes a Southern slave of the old times, who replied to one who said, "I hope your master has gone to heaven," with the very wise remark: "I'a afraid he has not gone dar, for I never heard him speak o' dat. When he go to de Norf', or to de Verginny Springs, he alins he gittin' ready for weeks. I never see him gittin' ready for goin' to heben." Dear reader, will anyone have reason to believe you have gone to heaven when you are dead? Do you spend any time in preparation? Where were you last prayer meeting evening? What do you read on Sunday? You go to church, to be sure, but do you wait on God in the sanctuary?—Selected.

The situation that has not its duty, its ideal, was never yet occupied by man. Yes, here, in this poor, miserable, hampered, despicable actual, wherein thou even now standest, here or nowhere is thy ideal; work it out therefrom; and working, believe, live, be free. Fool! the ideal is in thyself; the impediment, too, is in thyself; thy condition is but the stuff thou art to shape that same ideal out of; what matters whether such stuff be of this sort or that, so the form thou give it be heroic, be poetic? O thou that pinest in the imprisonment of the actual, and criest bitterly to the gods for a kingdom wherein to rule and create, know this of a truth, the thing thou seekest is already within thee, "here or nowhere, couldst thou only see!"—Carlyle.

When one thinks that nobody cares for him, and that he is alone in a cold and selfish world, he would do well to ask himself this question: "What have I done to make anyone care for and love me, and to warm the world with faith and generosity?" It is generally the case that those who complain the most have done the least.—Lutheran.

I find the great thing in this world is, not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it—but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

A clever Eastern woman remarked the other day: "I notice that well-bred people now do not talk about the world, the flesh, and the devil. They speak of 'environment, heredity, and circumstances.'"—Bombay Guardian.

Mr. Spurgeon used to say that he never had to exclude from his church a person converted in childhood.

Some people can talk Christianity by the yard, but they can not walk it by the inch.—H. F. Randolph.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison...Shreveport.

All who can not help otherwise are requested by Mrs. Butler to pray for the editor and agents of the Woman's Missionary Advocate, that its circulation, as represented by 13,000, may be changed to 25 000.

Said Rev. G. R. Loehr in a letter to Mrs. Butler: "I believe still that one great reason of the depleted treasury of the General Board is ignorance in regard to missions. When the church is educated properly on this line, there will be a change for the better.

"The Woman's Missionary Advocate and Little Worker fill a place in missionary literature second to none of their kind."

The Evangel, organ of the Scarritt Bible and Training school, Kansas, Mo., published monthly for twenty-five cents per annum, would inform us and keep us in sympathy with one of the most valuable helps in our missionary work.

We are much pleased with the "specimen copy" of the World for Christ. The Children's Department, edited by Daisy Lambuth and Kate Harlan, will be cordially received by the children who read it. Only ten cents per annum. Published by Board of Missions, M. E. Church, South, Nashville, Tenn.

Mission Studies, written by the editor of this magazine, will be ready for sale in book form by the first of December.

"Every page has been carefully revised, and many parts re-written. It has had the cordial approval of Dr. W. P. Harrison, former Book Editor of the Publishing House, and Dr. Tigert has also been kind enough to examine and write an introduction. It was prepared for the use of missionary societies, and it will give more information concerning the origin and progress of missions in all lands, and by all churches and societies, than can be found in any other volume of the same size. The information is condensed, and yet it is not a mass of dry statistics, forgotten as soon as read. It is the book for the libraries of all missionary societies and Epworth Leagues. It will furnish facts and incidents to pastors, and be interesting to all who wish to know the beginnings and the progress of work of missions. Send to the Publishing House of the M. E. Church, South, and secure a copy. Price, $1, with a reduction of ten per cent to those who act as agents." (Editorial, Woman's Missionary Advocate.) Postage, ten cents. Address all orders for books and tracts to Barbee & Smith, Agents, Nashville, Tenn. When ordering books to be mailed, always include the amount for postage mentioned in the list in addition to the price of the book. "Mission Studies" is in the list of "Missionary Books," published monthly in the magazine, that are highly recommended as helps in the study of missions.

Dr. Black's kind offer to furnish the ADVOCATE the remainder of the year for only one dollar, affords a splendid opportunity for us to do something better than express appreciation of his kindness by resolutions of thanks at our annual meetings. Besides, what a blessing we bestow upon the persons secured as subscribers! Let each member secure, at least, one subscriber. Will not each auxiliary kindly insert, in the report sent to the annual meeting next June, the number obtained? We must remember this is a just debt, and the payment is made easy.

"Am I doing what I can?" confronts each of us. With so much valuable help given, and within reach of us, what excuse can we render to our kind heavenly Father for not making better progress?

"The friends of our Indian Mission will be glad to know that Bishop Hargrove has appointed Rev. Mr. Methvin to school and camp work, which will enable him to serve the interests of the Woman's Board to the fullest extent. These Indians will not treat with a woman, and it is, therefore, absolutely necessary for a man to superintend woman's work, and Bro. Methvin has made himself indispensable to our work among them." (W. M. Advocate.)

We extract from a letter of Rev. J. J. Methvin to Mrs. Butler in the Advocate: "I shall, therefore, give myself exclusively to making the school and the camp work as effective as possible." . . . "Our school is in more prosperous condition now than ever, and runs with more satisfaction. There are now fifty-two Indians in the school from the Kiowa, Comanche, Apache, Caddo, and Delaware tribes." . . . "Miss Lottie Davis, of Bosqueville, Texas, has taken the place of Miss Sallie G. Davis. She fills the place most successfully, and I count myself most fortunate in having secured her for this field. With an earnest purpose and consecrated will she goes forward. Miss Swanson is still with us, and with the same devotedness to the work that has all along characterized her. The other employees are all faithful, among them John Dunlop and wife Maggie, Kiowa Indians. I am glad to say that these Indian employees, as far as they know, are as efficient as any we have. I try to give encouragement to all Indians who want employment, and while, for lack of training, they can not compete with the whites, yet some of them are very earnest in their efforts to learn."

(To be continued.)

P. AND H. M. S.

A Word to Pastors.

[The following is a portion of a letter prepared by Gross Alexander. We copy it with a hope that it will be read by every pastor in our Conference.]

If any pastor of the M. E. Church, South, ever had the impression or the suspicion that the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society was a hindrance, and not a help, to his work for Christ and men, he was laboring under a very serious and mischievous mistake—a mistake as hurtful to him and his work as to the society and its work. The name of the society has, perhaps, made a wrong impression. It might indicate that its chief function and work is the building of parsonages. While that may have been true in the beginning, it is not so at present. The home mission feature has been developed to such an extent that it now occupies a position of equal or, perhaps, greater importance.

It has now several distinct departments; but I wish to call attention to one which has been recently added, and which promises to be of great usefulness. I refer to the organization of training classes for Christian workers, the object of which is to give opportunity and furnish facilities for better and broader preparation to those in every charge and church who are anxious to do some sort of Christian work, but do not know what to do, where to begin, or how to proceed. There is a large and increasing number of such persons, young and old, in our churches, and it is intended to meet their desires and provide for their need in these training classes.

The course of study is given in leaflet form and may serve as a guide to pastors who may desire to organize such classes in their charges. Those of the Mississippi Conference desiring such leaflets or other literature can supply themselves by applying to the Conference corresponding secretary.

There must be a co-operation on the part of preachers and people in the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission work, else the desired end can never be attained. In unity there is strength.

Strange Indeed.

It is indeed surprising at this late day to be told that "the mightiest problem of the age is the missionary problem, and the heart of it the parsonage and home work." Yet the strangest problem of all to solve is the utter indifference of many preachers to this work; indeed, we honestly believe that the problematical aspect of this important work is attributable to this very indifference; and if it be true that this indifference grows out of the selfish idea that it may "affect my salary," then the sooner such an one disabuse his mind of this erroneous idea, the better it will be for the church, and for other preachers who are greatly in need of homes, and still others who are not only cramped in the parsonages, but ashamed of them. Many of them can not even exercise hospitality one to another for want of room. If two angels from God were to be passing by, as in Abraham's day, at many of our parsonages the preacher could not properly entertain the heavenly visitants. The Mississippi Conference can boast of over eighty years of organized existence, and of many talented preachers, some of whose names have helted the world of fame and letters, and yet it is necessary to beg and persuade some of these preachers to help in this good work. Brother, if you belong to this class, let us beg of you to alter your ways and give this work your earnest attention. Only give us preachers of broad minds, liberal souls and enlarged hearts, who will push forward this work and who, full of zeal and the true missionary spirit, will "enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations; spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes." If the leaders in the church, if the watchmen on the walls of Zion, take no interest in such work, when that very work looks to their own welfare, how can they expect the women and laity to supersede them?

And when this work is indorsed by the General Conference, and the preacher fails to push forward this work, he is disloyal to the church and the great body of the preachers.

Report of Treasurer

FOR YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1895.

	Dr.	Cr.
To balance from previous years	$ 63	27
To amount collected during year	231	18
	$194	76
By disbursements to parsonages		$100 00
By money expended in local work		97 15
By remittances to general treasurer		19 33
Balance remaining in treasury		78 27
		$294 75

M. J. HOLLOMAN,
Conf. Treas. Miss. Conf.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE

Has been on the market for nearly five years, and cures 98 out of every 100. Many say it is the only absolute cure. It is harmless. Price, $1.00 by mail. Order of

ROSE DRUG COMPANY,

2105 and 2107 Third Ave., . . BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

OUR GUARANTEE.—We offer three Tablets for $2.50, and in case of failure to cure, money will be refunded. We take fair and prefer your good opinion to your money. All we ask is a fair trial, as out of the thousands who have used it, 98 out of every 100 have been cured. Beware of counterfeits. The better an article the more it will be imitated. There are some feeble and nasty imitations of our Cure on the market now.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. R. A. Breland, Camden, Miss., March 6: "I have met every appointment, preached 4 sermons, made 45 pastoral visits, traveled 275 miles, secured 6 new subscribers and 1 renewal to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE."

Rev. J. M. Morse, McComb City, March 5: "We are moving on nicely at McComb. Twenty joined the church last Sunday on profession of faith; 30 have joined by certificate since I came here, making 50 in all. God is blessing us in McComb."

Rev. W. S. Lagrone: "We are on the way to a good year's work. Sunday-school nearly doubled; congregations large; collections in cash and subscription, except a small amount. Prayer meetings number from 60 to 70. An Epworth League of sixty members. People good to the preacher. I am happy."

Rev. E. E. Langford, DeKalb, Miss., March 1: "Our first quarterly meeting of North Kemper charge convened last Saturday and Sunday. Bro. Van Hook, of D Kalb circuit, was present and preached us a good sermon Saturday, and our presiding elder preached for us Sunday. We all like Bro. Jones, and think he is the 'right man in the right place.' The people have given the preacher in charge a warm reception. Pray for our success."

Rev. R. M. Standefer, Columbus, Miss.: "Dr. Steele, editor of Epworth Era, spent ten days in revival services, beginning Feb. 3. It was something new to see seventy-five penitents kneeling at the altar crying for mercy as in the olden time. We had a great revival of the church members, as well as great work among the unconverted. You are a great Doctor and learned in psychology; why is it that people are not as responsive when the mercury is at zero as when it ranges from 70 to 90? I have never enjoyed a more splendid series of sermons than Dr. Steele preached for us during the meeting. He gave us the pure gospel in his own most powerful and splendid style."

Rev. J. M. Wyatt: "We gladly report a visitation of God's power and goodness to Clarksdale, Miss. We began a meeting on Jan. 27. Bro. W. M. McIntosh reached us Monday night, the twenty-eighth, and remained with us two weeks. God signally honored his ministry. Cold and snow did not keep the sunshine of glory from shining in the hearts and warming up the natures, spiritually, of nearly all of our people. We had fifty professions. Twenty-three joined our church; six or seven to be received. Prof. J. D. Patten led the singing with marked ability and with gospel influence. Speaking from my observation and experience, these earnest, zealous men of God will be an incalculable blessing to any community. We feel like a new town. Pray for us, that we may take and keep this magnificent country for Christ the Lord."

Rev. S. J. Davies, Alexandria, La., March 6: "Despite the snow, rain, etc., and consequent bad roads, the Alexandria district moves forward. Bro. Eton Wilson has just closed an interesting meeting at Pollock station, on the St. L., I. M. and S. R. R. Boyce and Colfax adds to the beauty and convenience of the pastor's home. Bro. Hoffpauir is at the helm there, and he has—pardon the expression—'a daisy crew.' When I came to hold Quarterly Conference, he was hammering and smiling. May he so continue to do! Improvement rated at $175 or $200. Materials all on the ground for the West Alexandria Church. About seven carpenters at work on it this morning. Bro. Grace will fold his flock out there in about two weeks. Bro. Turner reports a good meeting at Evergreen with fine results. First Church, Alexandria, has fine congregations and interesting services. This card will hold no more."

Rev. G. D. Anders, East Feliciana circuit, March 5: "I have just returned from Evergreen, La., where I spent four days with Rev. A. W. Turner in a revival meeting. The meeting increased in interest from first service until close. Bishop Turner is in favor with his people, and is planning for a sweeping revival of religion. I have never met a more cordial reception anywhere, and hope to return in the near future, that I may witness a mighty ingathering of precious souls. This is my fourth year on East Feliciana circuit, and would be delighted to stay longer. I have never seen a more propitious time to be religious. We have precious little money, but the grace of God abounds. The hard times have done Christian people good. Many of us feel as grateful as a brother I heard testify in an experience meeting. He said: 'Lord, I thank thee that I am not doing as well as I expected.' Don't you think, elder, that he was in a fine mood?"

Rev. F. B. Ormond, P. C., Herbert, Miss., March 4: "Our first Quarterly Conference has come and gone. It was held with Hopewell Church, March 2, 3. Our good presiding elder has also gone to other fields of labor, and I believe I am safe in saying that the prayers of all Christians who heard him preach on Sunday accompany him as he goes in and out among the people of the Meridian district. His sermon was an earnest, plain, practical one, full of gospel truth, and, no doubt, carried comfort to many souls. Rev. R. J. Jones is the right man in the right place, as he stands to-day the leader of the hosts of Israel in the Meridian district. May God abundantly bless him in his efforts and undertakings! It is very gratifying, indeed, to say that Hopewell Church responded to the claims presented by our presiding elder, and paid her apportionment of the Bishops' fund. The pastor has completed his second round, having met all of his appointments to date in spite of the inclement weather. The prospect for a good year, in every respect, on the Linwood charge are, indeed, flattering. Pray for us, brethren, that we have a gracious time this year with each church. Let every pastor and official member pray that Bro. R. D. Norsworthy's desire may be gratified, viz.: That the collections on every charge for every claim may come up in full, and that each church in each charge in our Conference may have a gracious revival during this year. God bless the ADVOCATE!"

